From the hiring, training, and development of people, to the buying of virtually every item, the Osco management team exercises a great deal of autonomy in their stores. Find out more about an Osco Drug management career.

We will be on campus
Wednesday, March 7th
to conduct initial interviews at General Placement and School of Management.

If you are unable to attend, please send your resume to: Osco Drug/Sav-on drugs (American Drug Stores, Inc.), Attn: Recruiting Department, 1818 Swift Drive, Oak Brook, IL 60521. We are an equal opportunity employer.

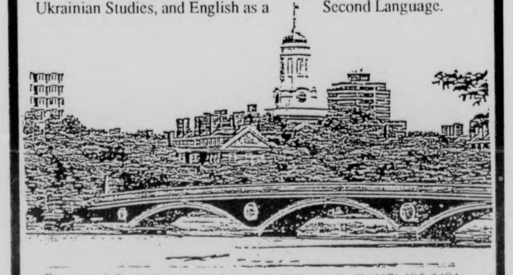
AMERICAN DRUG STORES
Sav-on drugs OscoDrug

HARVARD
SUMMER SCHOOL '90
June 25–August 17

Harvard Summer School offers open enrollment in hundreds of day and evening courses. The curriculum includes courses that fulfill college degree requirements and programs designed for personal and professional development.

Our international student body has access to Harvard's outstanding libraries, museums, laboratories, and cultural activities.

We feature a college-level program for secondary school juniors and seniors*, a Dance Center, and special programs in Drama, Writing, Ukrainian Studies, and English as a Second Language.



*For more information return the coupon below or call (617) 495-2494 (24-hour line). Please allow 3-4 weeks for delivery. (admission required)

☐ YES, please send the 1990 Harvard Summer School catalogue and/or an application form for the following programs:
☐ English as a Second Language ☐ Secondary School Program ☐ Dance Center
Name
Address
City, State, Zip

HARVARD UNIVERSITY SUMMER SCHOOL
Dept. 617, 20 Garden Street, Cambridge, MA 02138 USA

Hampshire Mall
Hadley

Vision Showcase

36 State St.
Shelburne Falls

Your new glasses are ready and your second pair is... FREE!

Buy one pair of prescription eyeglasses at our regular price and get the second pair of the same prescription from our special selection... absolutely FREE.

Choose from hundreds of high quality frames in all of the latest styles, colors, shapes and sizes.

Eye exams on premises by Dr. Robert E. Delaney, Independent Doctor of Optometry 584-6888 (Hampshire Mall) • 625-2370 (Shelburne Falls)

Offer precludes previous discounts and expires April 4, 1990

WITH THIS COUPON
FREE Second Pair of EYEGLASSES
(WITH PURCHASE OF A COMPLETE PAIR)
Buy one pair of glasses at our regular price and get the second pair of the same prescription from our special selection, ABSOLUTELY FREE!
Includes first quality frames and single vision, clear, uncoated, 1st and 2nd division lenses. Offer precludes previous discounts.

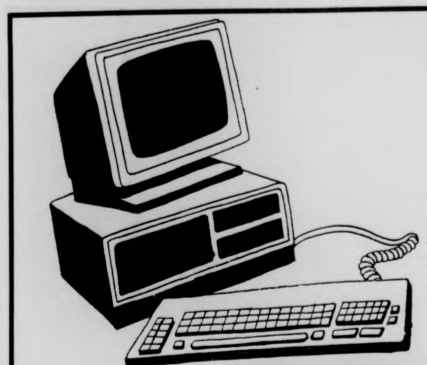
Hampshire Mall
(across from K-Mart)
Hadley
584-8324

Vision Showcase
Coupon expires April 4, 1990

36 State St.
(near Bridge of Flowers)
Shelburne Falls
625-9898

the sugar cubes
with SPECIAL guests
the PRIMITIVES
MARCH 10
8:00pm
STUDENT UNION BALLROOM
$8 UMASS
$11 OTHER

TICKETS ON SALE AT TIX UNLIMITED
FOR THE RECORD (FACES-AMHERST)
MAIN ST. RECORDS NORTHAMPTON
UPC PRODUCTIONS



Selected Computer Books
Special Purchase
50% Savings
Off our regular price

Sale Books Located on Special Sale Tables

OPEN M-F
9-5
Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

WORDPERFECT · LOTUS · DOS · C · D BASE
MAC · PASCAL · AUTOCAD · WORDSTAR
MS WORD · VENTURA · PAGEMAKER · QUATTRO
GRAPHICS · TOOL KITS · APPLE · BASIC

Nancy Jane's
Restaurant & Bakery
Nancy Jane's

36 Main Street
Amherst, MA
"Across from Police Station"

SOUPS • SALADS • SANDWICHES
IN-HOUSE BAKERY
$5.99 Dinner Specials
Wed., Thurs., Fri. 4:30-6:30

Open: M-F 6-6:30 p.m.
Sat 7-5
Sun 7-2

FREE Chocolate Chip Cookie w/ this AD and a $3.00 purchase
Catering Available 253-3343

BREAKFAST ALL DAY SUNDAY!
Moderate Prices—Relaxed Atmosphere—Homestyle Cooking

ACADEMY of MUSIC NORTHAMPTON Opera House 584-8435

4th WEEK! (Arrive 15 mins early for good seating)
ONLY AREA SHOWING—CURTAIN DAILY 7 & 9

DANIEL DAY-LEWIS is superb as the Irish painter and writer Christy Brown, born with cerebral palsy...A TREMENDOUS CELEBRATION OF LIFE.

5 ACADEMY AWARD NOMINATIONS!
Including "BEST" PICTURE-ACTOR-DIRECTOR & SUPPORT. ACTRESS

WINNER! "BEST" PICTURE N.Y. Film Critics Circle

"A TITANIC TRIUMPH! A MOTION PICTURE THAT EXPLODES WITH PASSION, HUMILITY AND LIFE." —REX REED

"ENORMOUSLY ENTERTAINING! TWO VERY ENTHUSIASTIC THUMBS UP!." —SISKEL & EBERT

Daniel Day-Lewis MY LEFT FOOT
A story about life, laughter, and the occasional miracle.
MIRAMAX A Miramax Films Release © 1989 All Rights Reserved R

AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

Jesus: Model or Substitute?

Does it matter how we see Him?

Example
Substitute
Advocate
Refuge
Friend

Explore the Bible to find an answer.
Join other students at this weeks 'TOUCH' meeting, Friday, March 2, 1990
7 pm Campus Center Rm 162

Transforming Ourselves
Under Christ's
Hand

'TOUCH' is a UMASS Student Organization meeting every Friday at 7 pm in the Campus Center for singing, group discussion, support and fellowship.

AEROBICS at the Gym

- Hi-Impact
- Low-Impact
- Mixed Impact & More
- NEO-SHOCK Two phase floor specially designed for high impact Aerobics

for more information, Call 585-5911

The GYM at mountain farms mall
STRENGTH OF BODY, POWER OF MIND

Think twice and save 20 percent.

Name
School Address
City State Zip
Home Address
City State Zip

Northwestern University Summer Session '90
Think or swim.

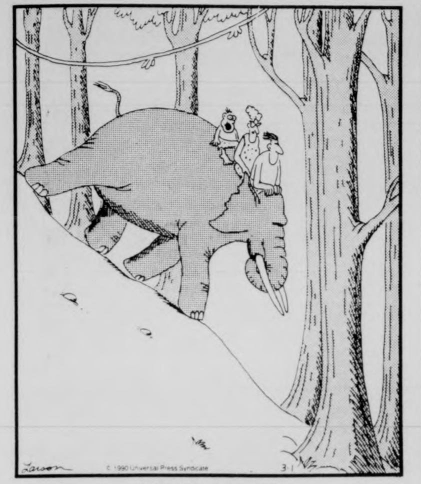
Our multicourse registration discount saves you 20 percent on two courses, 25 percent on three or more.
Call 1-800-FINDS NU (in Illinois, call 708/491-4114) or mail this coupon.

I'm thinking. Send me a free copy of the Summer Session '90 catalog with financial aid and registration information (available in April).
Please send the catalog to ☐ my home. ☐ my school.
Summer Session'90, 2003 Sheridan Road Evanston, Illinois 60208-2650

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
TOLL FREE HOT LINE 800-351-0222
in Calif. (213) 477-8226
Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information
11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

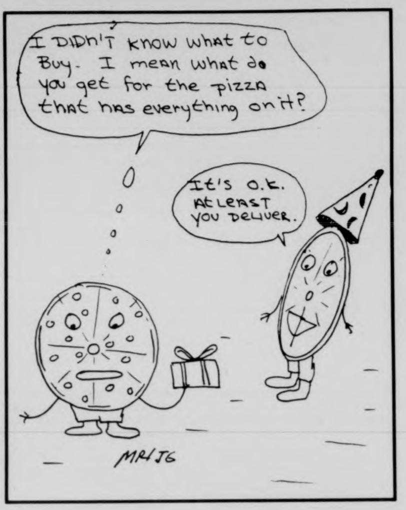
THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



Larson
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-1

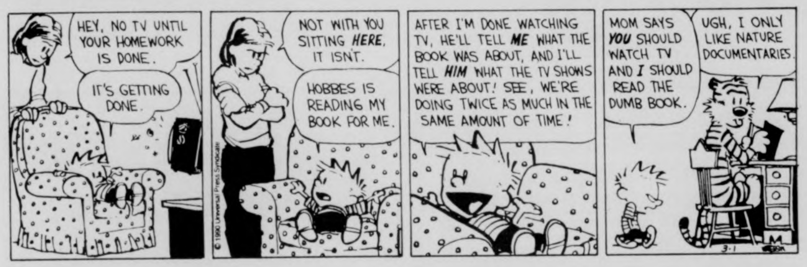
"Coast, Dad, coast!"

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



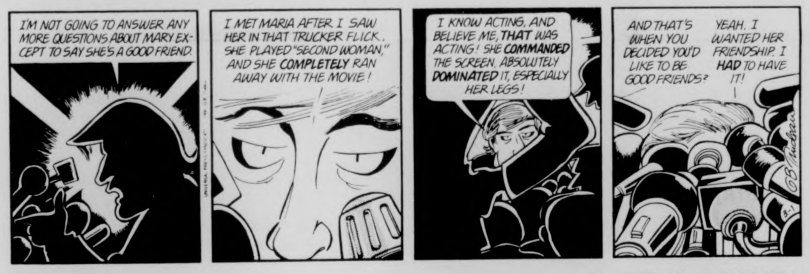
I DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO BUY. I MEAN WHAT DO YOU GET FOR THE PIZZA THAT HAS EVERYTHING ON IT?
IT'S O.K. AT LEAST YOU DELIVER.
MR/JG

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



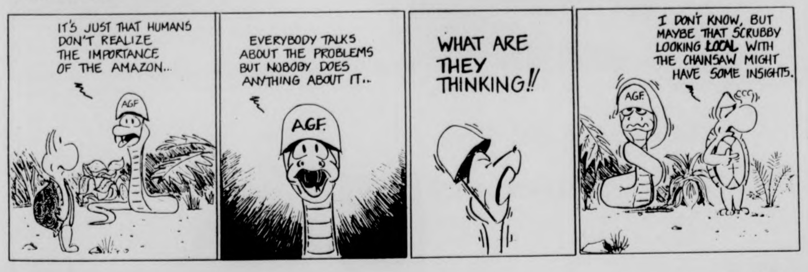
HEY, NO TV UNTIL YOUR HOMEWORK IS DONE.
IT'S GETTING DONE.
NOT WITH YOU SITTING HERE, IT ISN'T.
HOBBES IS READING MY BOOK FOR ME.
AFTER I'M DONE WATCHING TV, HE'LL TELL ME WHAT THE BOOK WAS ABOUT, AND I'LL TELL HIM WHAT THE TV SHOWS WERE ABOUT! SEE, WE'RE DOING TWICE AS MUCH IN THE SAME AMOUNT OF TIME!
MOM SAYS YOU SHOULD WATCH TV AND I SHOULD READ THE DUMB BOOK.
UGH, I ONLY LIKE NATURE DOCUMENTARIES.
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-1

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



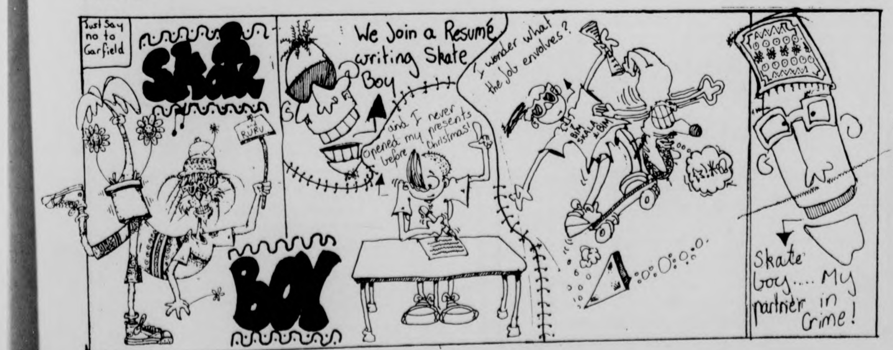
I'M NOT GOING TO ANSWER ANY MORE QUESTIONS ABOUT MARY EXCEPT TO SAY SHE'S A GOOD FRIEND.
I MET MARIA AFTER I SAW HER IN THAT TRUCKER FLICK. SHE PLAYED "SECOND WOMAN," AND SHE COMPLETELY RAN AWAY WITH THE MOVIE!
I KNOW ACTING, AND BELIEVE ME, THAT WAS ACTING! SHE COMMANDED THE SCREEN. ABSOLUTELY DOMINATED IT, ESPECIALLY HER LEGS!
AND THAT'S WHEN YOU DECIDED YOU'D LIKE TO BE GOOD FRIENDS?
YEAH. I WANTED HER FRIENDSHIP. I HAD TO HAVE IT!
GBTrudeau
3-1

IGGMAN
By DREW AQUILINA



IT'S JUST THAT HUMANS DON'T REALIZE THE IMPORTANCE OF THE AMAZON...
AGF
EVERYBODY TALKS ABOUT THE PROBLEMS BUT NOBODY DOES ANYTHING ABOUT IT..
AGF
WHAT ARE THEY THINKING!!
I DON'T KNOW, BUT MAYBE THAT SCRUBBY LOOKING LOCAL WITH THE CHAINSAW MIGHT HAVE SOME INSIGHTS.
AGF

NIPPLE
By PITT



Just Say no to Garfield
Skate
BOY
RURU
We Join a Resumé writing Skate Boy and I never opened my presents before Christmas!
I wonder what the job envolves?
BIM SKALA BIM
Skate boy.... My partner in Crime!

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

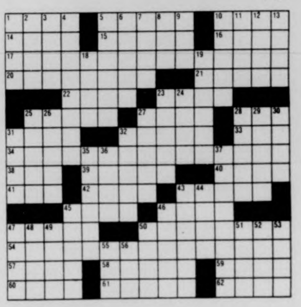
ACROSS
1 Bread unit
5 Dwight's wife
10 — homo
14 Longfellow's bell town
15 Sacred images
16 Seed capsule
17 "The fowl of the air, and —": Psalms 8:8
20 Innkeeper
21 Playwright Joe
22 Sore
23 Soften
25 Nicene —
27 Target
28 I love, to Livia
31 Coin receiver
32 Poet's muse
33 Choreographer Lubovitch
34 San Francisco attraction
38 "— Maria"
39 Claims
40 Pierre's girl
41 Signatures of a sort
42 "— no kick from champagne..."
43 Legendary Greta
45 Slightly open
46 "I've — every little star..."
47 Corkwood
50 Latin case
54 Like — (floundering)
57 Irish lake
58 Romberg's "One —"
59 J.F. Cooper heroine
60 Suit of yore
61 Circus employee
62 Slip or granny

DOWN
1 Plaster backing
2 Roman emperor: 69
3 Olympian hawk
4 Important anniversary for American Ballet Theatre
5 Fooled
6 Had a yen for
7 Use the marina
8 Rubinstein's "Melody —"
9 Part of i.e.
10 Siskel's partner
11 Buyer's concern
12 Nile queen
13 Impetuosity
18 "Able was —..."
19 "The Legend of Sleepy —"
23 Complains
24 Downs
25 Critic Barnes
26 Horse-racing prize
27 Cary or Lee
28 "Meek as —"
29 Governor Cuomo
30 Golden ide
31 Tunisian port
32 Moslem prince
35 Mendelssohn oratorio
36 Baltic Sea port
37 Sea biscuit
43 Links user
44 "There ought to be —..."
45 Black-ink item
46 Steak choice
47 Folksinger Joan
48 Mod hair style
49 Typesetting machine, for short
50 It's often smashed
51 Take — the chin
52 — Beach, Fla.
53 Part of QED
55 Feedbag tidbit
56 Spat follower

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

R	A	C	E	R	■	C	A	R	■	B	R	A	N	T
A	T	R	E	E	■	A	T	E	■	O	U	T	E	R
S	O	U	N	D	■	P	H	I	L	A	T	E	L	Y
E	P	I	■	B	A	R	O	N	E	T	■	M	S	S
■	■	S	E	A	M	A	N	■	T	E	A	P	O	T
S	H	I	R	R	S	■	■	G	O	R	G	O	N	S
H	U	N	A	N	■	G	R	O	U	S	E	■	■	■
E	G	G	■	■	F	A	U	L	T	■	■	Q	U	O
■	■	■	E	D	I	T	E	D	■	P	O	U	R	S
A	P	P	R	I	S	E	■	■	S	A	L	I	N	E
P	U	R	E	S	T	■	T	E	A	S	E	L	■	■
P	R	E	■	P	E	R	I	D	O	T	■	T	R	I
A	S	T	R	O	D	O	M	E	■	I	D	I	O	T
L	U	T	E	S	■	T	E	M	■	M	A	N	S	E
L	E	Y	T	E	■	O	D	A	■	E	D	G	E	R

3/1/90



MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Pizza Tuna Noodle Casserole	Roast Top Round o'Beef Vegetable Chow Mein
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Pizza Tuna Noodle Casserole	Ratatouille Vegetable Chow Mein

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANNE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Favorable financial trends are indicated. Plan carefully for the future. Be objective about on-the-job changes; they could work to your advantage. Use a quiet period today to meditate on a problem.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Money is the key to getting a new busines venture on-track. Approach a potential financial backer with a practical long-range plan. Your mate or partner is very supportive. Show your appreciation.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You gain self-confidence from your work on behalf of a community project. Good will flourishes at work as well as at home. A frank talk with a teenager will improve a parent-child relationship.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A surprise invitation leads you to change your plans. Your business ideas will get a better reception next week. Try to make fewer demands on yourself. Finish projects already under way.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Think twice before changing jobs. Be ware of someone who may resent your popularity with the opposite sex. Keeping your business and private lives separate is essential.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Stick to what you know and you will fare better in the workplace. A newcomer is particularly susceptible to your charm and sense of humor. Subtle persuasion will get you what you want.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): One minute you feel secure, the next insecure. Postpone making any major decisions. Many demands will be made on your time; know your priorities and stick to them. Nurture a romance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Ignoring the work that is piling up will not make it go away. Tackle the most important projects first. Treat yourself with a small purchase. A friend helps you se through false flattery.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your mood changes even faster than the weather. You can handle it. Study magazines or trade papers for job openings. Trust your intuition when you are dealing with people you do not know.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You can make something new out of something old now. Loved one will not be hard to please. Business may be somewhat slow; persevere. Donate time rather than money to a worthy cause.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Someone may exit your life. Do not despair! Pull yourself together and move ahead. The mail or telephone brings good news. Start a study program. Domestic life hums along if you are patient.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your mate or partner will play a prominent role in your business affairs today. Influential people show renewed interest in a pet project. Your home life should be a source of contentment.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor............................Meredith O'Brien
Copy Editor..................................Kerry Herlihy
Layout Technician........................Terry Starmer
Photo Technician........................Dondi Ahearn
Production Supervisor...................Terry Starmer
Typesetter............................Danielle Dowling
Production...........Nicole Dumas, Mark Sturm, Al Kaufman, Ali Woolwich, Lissa Maldonado

SAFA in Washington

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

its fair share of the budget. The other side is cynical, and thinks we'll never get any money until we raise taxes."

Barney Frank (D-Mass.) commented in his meeting with SAFA Tuesday, "If people tell you they support student aid and don't want to cut the military, then they're full of shit. The money just isn't there. And we don't have to raise federal taxes. All we have to do is re-orient funding, essentially away from the military."

Ling talks about bigotry

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

In later years, she said the Korean War and the Vietnam War "created animosity toward Asians."

Ling is optimistic about the future of bicultural citizens. "One out of three people will be non-white. It will be a much more hospitable time for people of a mixed culture," she said.

Ling said she is pleased that in the past 10 years Asians have become more outspoken in the arts.

She said she was disappointed it could not have happened sooner and wishes there were a positive political or artistic role model when she was growing up.

Next week the Brown Bag Lunch Series will feature Joyce Berkman et al on the "Panel for International Women's Day," Wednesday, March 7, from 12:15-1:30 in Campus Center room 917. Complimentary beverages will be available.

Military prohibition on homosexuals

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

peals by a woman who was refused re-enlistment in the Army Reserves because she is a lesbian. They also refused to hear the discharge of a man from the Navy because he said he had homosexual tendencies, letting the decision against them made in the lower court stand.

The Court has also ruled in the past that intelligence agencies have the right to dismiss homosexuals and has ruled that homosexual sodomy is not protected by the constitution.

Because the federal law take precedent over the Massachusetts Gay Civil Rights Bill, passed last November which says employers can not discriminate on the basis of sexual orientation, the military still has the right to refuse gay recruits in Massachusetts.

FROM TAKE OFF
TO PLAY OFF

If you're looking for an entry-level food service career opportunity with strong growth potential, you'll find it with Concession Air or Sportservice. We provide food service at major airports and sporting facilities across the country. We are currently offering the following entry-level positions:

- Food Service Assistant Managers
- Food Service Management Trainees
- Sous Chefs

We operate facilities in high-volume markets like Boston Garden, Busch Stadium, Denver Stapleton Int'l Airport, and Phoenix Colliseum, in addition to over 100 airports and sports / leisure complexes across the country. If you're a recent college graduate, or will obtain a bachelor's degree within the next several months and are interested in an opportunity with a leader in the food service industry — we'd love to talk with you! A degree in Food Service Management or Restaurant / Hotel Management is preferred; those candidates possessing a degree in Business with experience in the food service industry may also qualify.

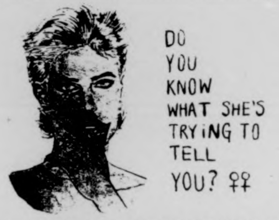
On-Campus Interviews - Monday, March 5th
Please register with the HRI Department
Flint Laboratory
Please present a resume when interviewing

If you are qualified but unable to meet with us during our campus interviews, please forward your resume to Concession Air / Sportservice, Attn: College Relations Department, 700 Delaware Avenue, Buffalo, NY 14209.

* Equal Opportunity Employer
Our company utilizes drug screening

SPORTSERVICE
CONCESSION AIR

COME CLEAN WITH US!
Open 7 days a week 7 a.m.-10 p.m.
Campus Coin Op 107 Sunderland Rd. North Amherst
Speedwash, 11 Pray St., Amherst
South Towne Commons Laundromat 479 West St., South Amherst



Please Wish
Happy Birthday to ARTHUR PARKS!
Have a great day—
Welcome to the real world!
JTP

10 PEARL ST. Pearl Street NORTHAMPTON, MA 413 584 7771
Thurs., March 1—8:30 p.m. 18+
ROCKIN' DAVE & THE RENT PARTY
Minibus Sandwich—The Cowlicks
Fri., March 2—8:30 p.m.
THE STOMPERS
Sat., March 3—8:30 p.m. 18+
THE HORSEFLIES
Mon., March 5—7:00 p.m. 18+
MIGHTY DIAMONDS
The Equalites

Thurs., March 8—8:30 p.m. 18+
WORLD BEAT DANCE PARTY

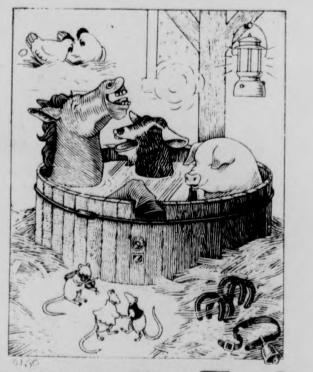
BOP HARVEY
Shockra—Uproot
Fri., March 9—7:00 p.m.
NRBQ
The Walkers
Advance Tickets

Sat., March 10—8:30 p.m.
ROOMFUL OF BLUES
Thurs., March 15—8:00 p.m.
ASLEEP AT THE WHEEL
The Sundogs
Advance Tickets
Tues., March 20—7:00 p.m.
THE J.J. CALE BAND
Advance Tickets
Thurs., March 29—8:00 p.m.
18+ MICHAEL PENN
Toad The Wet Sprocket
Advance Tickets
ADV. TIX. FROM: FOR THE RECORD IN AMHERST AND ALL TICKETRON OUTLETS 1-800-382-8080
RAPCITY IN BRATTLEBORO,
STRAWBERRIES
10 Pearl St., Northampton 413-584-7771

A.J. HOWARD CO.
OFFICE FURNITURE
New & Used
HUGE INVENTORY
- Desks, Files, Chairs
- Computer Furniture
- Drafting Equipment
- Panel Systems
- Executive Suites
774-7581
95 RIVER ST., GREENFIELD

UMass Arts Council
BLOCK GRANT PROPOSAL DEADLINE
The next deadline for submission of grant proposals for Block Grants :
Friday, March 30
Guidelines and application forms are available at the Arts Council Office
UMass Arts Council
125 Herter Hall, 545-0202

Where can you go for quick, convenient walk-in service for car insurance?
Amherst Insurance Agency
253-5555
A Division Of THE NATHAN AGENCIES
Amherst Insurance Agency, Inc.
Amherst Real Estate Agency, Inc.
Amherst Financial Services Agency
• Auto • Home • Renters • Life • Health
for personal and business
Is your VCR Insured?
20 GATEHOUSE ROAD, AMHERST, MA



EAST HEAVEN TUB Co
Luxurious private hot tub room rentals.
33 West St. Northampton
Mondays 4 p.m.-1 a.m.
Tues.-Sun. 11 a.m.-1 a.m.
for reservations
586-6843

UM plucks Hawks

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

Hawks were never able to get within 20 points, and UMass led by as much as 60-28 when sophomore William Herndon took a feed from Cary Herer and flushed it with one-handed authority.

On the play, Herer broke the UMass record for assists in a single season. His 10 dish-offs last night give him 213 for the year, one more than the 212 of Carl Smith in 1983-84. Herer also had five steals and seven points.

Herndon finished with 19 points, shooting 8-for-9 from the floor. Over his last six games, Herndon has shot 67 percent from the field (59-for-88), while averaging 23.2 points per game.

"How about Will Herndon . . ." Calipari said, still showing signs of disbelief at what his 6-foot-3 transfer from Richmond has done in his two months with the team.

Not to be forgotten was sophomore Jim McCoy, whose 20 points were a game-high. He is still looking to be the first UMass player to average 20 points per game since some guy named Erving hit 26.9 back in 1970-71. He is currently on a 20.6 ppg pace.

"Jim McCoy was outstanding tonight," Calipari said.

In essence, the second half turned out to be showtime, much like the Marathon Oil exhibition way back in December. The seniors all made repeat appearances, and everyone got into the scoring column.

Amos, who scorched the Minutemen for 29 points in the Hawks' 81-75 win on Feb. 17 at Alumni Memorial Fieldhouse, was held to 14 points, including just a pair in the second half. Richard Stewart matched that total to help lead St. Joe's, while Mike Shaak tossed in 11 points and a game-high 15 rebounds.

Stuff: For those who are mad about this team, but not adventuresome enough to drive eight hours in a day, the UMass Court Club will be sponsoring a bus to the quarterfinal round of the Atlantic 10 Tournament on Sunday.

The bus will leave at about 7 a.m. Sunday morning for Philly, and will return to Amherst after the UMass game (whenever that is — check tomorrow's Collegian for details). Cost will be $20 per person for the bus, and tickets will be available at the Palestra.

For more information, contact the basketball office in Boyden Building or by calling 545-2610. A down payment will be needed to reserve a seat on the bus. Reservations may be made through tomorrow

Standings

Through last night's games

Temple	14-3
Penn State	13-5
Rutgers	11-6
West Virginia	11-7
Rhode Island	11-7
UMass	10-8
George Washington	6-12
St. Joseph's	5-13
Duquesne	5-13
St. Bonaventure	3-15

Last night's results:
UMass 80, St. Joseph's 57
Penn State 76, Duquesne 58
Rhode Island 75, George Washington 72
Tonight:
Rutgers at Temple

seniors

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

capped off what had been a long and bumpy road, but one that he stuck to. Nelen, a local product from South Hadley, joined the team as a walk-on for the 1986-87 season. He played only two games that year and one the next before then-coach Ron Gerlufsen cut him from the team.

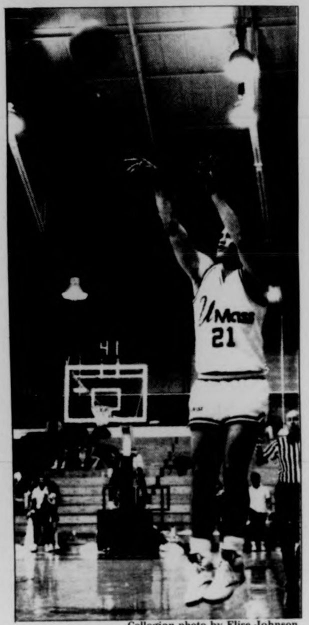
For Nelen, who still has the only palindrome last name (spelled the same forward and backward) in UMass history, he could have given up then and there. But he came back again last season, playing in 17 games and providing solid defense and leadership for Calipari's young club.

"I'm just glad he [Calipari] gave me a second chance," Nelen said. "Then he started to play me, and I ended up playing a lot in the end. It's been a great career."

"What a great kid Sean Nelen is," Calipari said. "He's just a hard worker."

Nelen has totaled only 21 points for his career, just one more than teammate Jim McCoy had in last night's 80-57 win over St. Joseph's University. But he became an inspiration for his never-say-die attitude. Calipari chose Nelen as a game captain (along with Herer) on several occasions.

All four players will be saying goodbye to UMass basketball after this season. But they will never be forgotten for the contributions they have made for this up-and-coming program, on and off the court.



Collegian photo by Elise Johnson

Sean Nelen was one of four seniors who played their final home game last night at the Curry Hicks Cage.

Recycle This Newspaper!

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

AASA GENERAL MEETING
7:30 UACC-Knowlton
ECASU Conference
All members needed

FRENCH CONVERSATION! Brush up your French with The French Club Thurs 7 PM 302 Herter. (Final preparations for Quebec also)

JOIN THE UNIVERSITY DEMOCRATS! Thursday, March 1st, 7:30 pm CC 905

PIONEER VALLEY COMBAT CLUB
Padded Weapon Combat
Thursday 7-10 Saturday 1-3
Boyden 237 All Welcome

PLAN TO BE AT CHABAD for Purim Saturday: 7:30 PM Sunday: 4:00 PM March 10-11 Call Chabad for info.

THE RADICAL STUDENT UNION helps students mobilize for world, social, and economic equality, peace and disarmament. Check office at SU 413A

ANYONE INTERESTED IN Uechiryu Karate Please contact Mike 546-9340 Sherry 542-2572 or Michelle 542-3051

ANNOUNCEMENTS

AUDITION: 3/4, 3/5, 7 PM, Amherst School for the Arts. Environmental Dance/Theatre Performance at FAC. Call 585-8751 for Info.

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

SENIORS
May 26th is near.
Have your four years been a blur?
Preserve your memories
Order an Index in CC 103

AUTO FOR SALE

71 VW SUPERBEETLE Body solid, Engine great. No brakes 253-7873 Joanna

SEIZED CARS, trucks, 4 wheelers, TV's, stereos, furniture, computers by DEA, FBI, IRS, and US Customs. Available in your area now. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext. C-1675

BABYSITTER WANTED

CARING PERSON NEEDED to watch playfull small dog for 2 months. Will pay cash. Call anytime 549-8060

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club. Call Now! 549-3737

EARN $3,000 - $18,000

THIS SUMMER RUNNING your own business. Guaranteed $3,000! Limited territories so call now! 1-800-922-5579

ENTERTAINMENT

DON'T MISS FREE PRESS SAT. 3/3/90 Sheehans Northampton: Outstanding Band

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

RHYTHM OF TIME PRODUCTIONS
Professional D.J. Services
All occasions. 546-4628

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526

FOR RENT

APARTMENT FOR RENT. Downtown Amherst. Cheap! Great location! Take over lease June. Call 253-9124 immediately! This place is hot!

GROUP RENTALS: Spend summer on Cape Cod. Many listings. 2,3, and 4 bedroom houses. Easy payment plan. Call Honey Sperco, Broker 508-398-9367 or 420-1884

LARGE 1-BEDROOM IN NORTHAMPTON
Available immediately
Beautiful-spacious $530/MO
Great for couple-quiet
Call immediately (508) 866-9288
Ask for Rick or leave message

LARGE SUNNY BEDROOM
For 1 or 2 in
Spacious Townhouse.
Two considerate
roommates. Call Cheryl
at 549-7442

FOR SALE

2 JANET JACKSON TICKETS for 3/26/90 B.O. Call after 10 PM 546-8396

BRUINS TICKETS See the best team in the NHL Larry 549-6249

FULL SIZE FUTON AND FRAME
$168
Metawampe Furniture
Free Delivery
549-4787

GUILD ACOUSTIC GUITAR. In perfect condition, w/hard-shell case. Make an offer. Call now! 584-6251

IBM PS/2 MODEL 50 VGA Graphics Call 549-8147

LEATHER SHEARLING three-quarter length, worn three months $499 BO retailed at $899 (413) 546-6465 evenings

PIONEER TOWER SPEAKERS, 150W, $150/pr., firm. Call Mike at 549-7615

REPOSSESSED VA & HUD HOMES available from government from $1 without credit check. You repair. Also tax delinquent fore closures Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext H-2009 for repo list in your area.

ROUND TRIP FLIGHT Boston/New York for Spring Break. Purchased non-refundable ticket can't use. Selling at outrageously low price. Call Evan 546-5627

FOUND

FOUND: Car keys. Tilson/Sylvan Area. Ford GM on royal blue thingie. Go to the info booth in CCC.

FOUND- Plain brown (women's ?) sunglasses last week in Lot 43. Call 546-9408.

HELP WANTED

ARE YOU A THEATER MAJOR at Smith or Holyoke? I would like a student's perspective. Please call 546-9349

ASSEMBLY! Work at home. Computer parts creative crafts, wooden novelties. Excellent Income! 504-646-2335

CAMP COUNSELOR
Have the summer of your life and get paid for it. Top 3-camps organization in the Pocono Mountains of NE PA. Our 59th year. Positions in all areas-water and land sports, fine arts and outdoor adventure. Please call 1-800-533-CAMP (215-887-9700 in PA) or write 407 Benson East, Jenkintown, PA 19046

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for Spring, Christmas, and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext S-1120.

DON'T JUST WORK in another 9-5 boring job this summer. RUN YOUR OWN business, earn up to 18K, and get GREAT resume material! Call 1-800-922-5579 and find out more!!

EARN BIG BUCKS over Spring Break and the rest of 2nd semester! Telefund is looking for energetic students with strong communication skills to raise money for UMASS. Make $5 to $7/hr. Call 545-3509

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY!
Assemble products at home.
Call for information 504-641-8003 Ext. 598

HELP WANTED PART TIME/full time Waitress. Please call Hunan Gourmet at 585-0202.

HOTEL / RESORT / F&B / MANAGEMENT Don't limit yourself to those few companies that recruit on campus. Explore all your possibilities. Call 800-866-8139

JEWISH SUMMER RESIDENTIAL camp seeks counselors and specialists. Capital Camps is located in the Catoctin Mountains one hour from Washington, D.C. If you are interested in the challenges and excitement of working with campers in grades 3-10, we want you on our team. Good salaries, great fun. Our director will be on campus the week of March 5th. For information and an appointment, call 1-800-783-1245

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SUMMER COUNSELORS
Outstanding NYS Co-ed
Resident Camp
Specialist/General
Gail 549-1331

I'LL EDIT YOUR PAPER

PROOFREADING SERVICE. If you have a rough draft, we'll make it something special. Fast and dependable. David 253-2455 and Cosmo 253-9744.

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

LOST

BLUE UMASS ID-KEY holder with license inside. If found please contact Sharon at 546-5087

GOLDISH PRECISION WATCH with black face in Herter Call Glenn 6-8432

IF YOU WERE AT the party on Shumway St. Saturday night and you took a blue and red CB jacket, I would like it back Call 253-3557 No questions asked

KEYS- Blue Maui Opener,
4 keys, lost at night
549-0561

LOST PEARL RING at the Laundry Club! Great sentimental value! If found please call Gail at 253-9193! Reward!

MEN'S 1988 CLASS RING with blue stone, and women's small ring inside it. Lost at Sig Ep on 2/24. Please call 6-4970 or 6-5266

PURPLE AND BLACK NORTH-FACE jacket with keys in pocket. Lost at Puffton party Friday night. Please call 6-6983 No questions asked.

THREE STRAND NECKLACE: beaded, white with brown birds. Between Orchard Hill & Northeast Call 546-5522 Marina

MUSICIANS

BASS PLAYER to play for kicks / possibly play out. Call to discuss schedule. Rock 549-3538

CHRISTIAN ROCK GROUP seeks singer Call Brian at 546-6780

PERSONALS

CHRIS S. - Hey Joey! Relax! I really do like you! Cara
See you big goof-I told you! Keri

CONGRATULATIONS to the newest
SIGMA KAPPA
pledges:
Erica, Brenda, Lucy,
and Jennifer!!
Love, The Sisters

DAHLIA HAPPY 21ST Love All of Us!!

DAHLIA HAPPY 21ST Shokran for being a ISHTA roommate Love, KIMO

DARN- A woman possessed is a woman scorned. And she has the right to do whatever she wants!!

GAMMA BETA SIGMA is proud to announce the 19th Birthday of Jody "Spoon" Trotman.
My G.D. Friend
My G.D. Roommate
My G.D. Neighbor
Let's go crazy and kick some lint.
Wookies and Knookies 4-ever!!!
Love, Ducky, Bump, Gloria, and all of your GBS fans

HAPPY 19TH KIKI - Get psyched for an awesome semester! I'm so glad your my Lil' Hoot. Love ya! Ally

HAPPY HERA DAY to all the Alpha Chis!

XXX HEY AXO, HAPPY HERA DAY XXX
You didn't think I'd forget about our greek goddess did you?! I think I have 3rd V.P. in my blood! I hope it's a great day, remember to smile!
I miss all of you, especially because my 21st Birthday is Sunday and I can't go barhopping with you uptown! Penny, no more worrying! I'll have a little cerveza and sangria to celebrate!
XXXX FELIZ CUMPLEANOS A MI XXXX
Mucho Amor, Lara XOXOXOXO
Happy Hera Day Again! (I wonder if I'll get any calls this year from our founding sisters)

HEY NINTENDO GEEKS in 302. Get a life! --Uncle J.

HEY UMASS - Sarah Kate is 22! Come to tome out to see Dogga in action-Good luck in Beauty School Roomy!

JOSE ANGEL:
Feliz Cumpleanos Espero que tengas un dia bien feliz.
Te quiere mucho
Maria Elena

KIKER
Happy 19th
We love you.
Arribbaa. AYE! AYE! AYE!
Stepho and Jenna.

LIZ
Have a good day on our pretend anniversary! I love you!
-Brad

MARC IN FIELD:
You said we'd get it- what? More interesting evenings with oranges perhaps? Only if you wear a sweater and bring a banana this time.
Your two hot babes downstairs

NEIL CROCKER
Hey do I know you? I must-everyone else at this school does! Anyway Happy 22 B-Day! And by the way this Sat makes four weeks! I'm glad you weren't too shy to make that phone call! I look forward to many more months together. Love, Deb

NELSON If you're as wild as you say you are, find your four best men and we'll show you a real tag team match. Happy Birthday. Love, It takes 2 times 69.

P.J.- Relax...Wishful thinking. She couldn't...She wouldn't. Would you?

ROBYN KRAVITZ!
Happy 21st Birthday!! Tonite we're going uptown!! Lookout.
Love, your Tri-Sigma Sisters

RSC- I love you with all that I am. Jane

SARAH KATE
Happy 22nd! Get legless! We love you lots!

SHERRI, CONGRATULATIONS on becoming an IGU, finally. Thanx for bearing with me. I love you, Eric

SUZANNE BREEDING You've been a very special friend these past 4 years. Hope your birthdays grow more wonderful with each passing year! Love ya! Amy

THE TWO SISTERS:
I thought that you were the same person. Sorry for it.
Yuji

PLEASE, RIDE WANTED!

PLEASE! I need a ride to Cornell or anywhere in the vicinity for the weekend of March 9-11. I will pay for gas. Call Sheila at 549-2982

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

NONSMOKING FEMALE STUDENT needed to share bedroom in Southwood Townehouse. Nice place, CHEAP RENT! $145/mo. Call anytime 549-6075

THE BROOK
$200/month
Male wanted
Call after 3:00
Ask for Mark
253-0975

TWO BEDROOMS IN A great old house in North Leverett. Beautiful area in the hills. $205, Free heat. 367-9861

SERVICES

MASSAGE Treat yourself the gift of relaxation. 546-5227

MAXIGRAPHICS - Super enlargements- B&W and Color
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

NEED RESUME READY in a day
Call 253-7468

RESUMES Let me do your resumes! The local shops are charging outrageous prices. I will do the same work for $10 to $30 less! Call me, Rick, evenings at 586-1642

SHAKLEE Distributor on campus! Please call Lauren at 6-6564

VISA OR MASTERCARD! Even if bankrupt or bad credit! We guarantee you a card or double your money back. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext. M-1207

TRAVEL

$214 COMPLETE 7 NIGHTS
Panama City Beach Florida
Call now!! 253-9112

FLORIDA ONE WAY $49
Two tickets March 15 Hartford to Fort Myers
Call 549-4930 Ext. 277

FROM ONLY $429 complete Spring Break trips to Cancun, Nassau, Jamaica! Going fast! 256-4659

NEED A RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Spring Break Special
$15 One way fare
to Bradley Airport
Call Now!
Limited Seating
Valley Transporter
256-8484

PANAMA CITY BEACH! DON'T GET caught 10 miles away from the action!!
Stay at the only Hotel located on
"the strip". $239-Complete package
$139-Hotel package
Call now- Deb or Pam 549-0840

SPACES STILL AVAILABLE... Jamaica and Cancun. Call now for details. Mary or Karen 549-8166

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING.
$1.75/pg. Campus pickup.
Gloria, 323-5140.

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

DEAD TICKETS Any Albany shows! Please help! Steve D. 549-2833

VINTAGE FENDER AMP such as the Tweed Champ, Deluxe, or Bassman and old tube screamer effects pedal. Call Shawn 545-2804 or David 247-3219.

WANTED 2-3 FEMALES to drive with us to Daytona cheap! Call for details 546-1181

A TYPICAL
HAPPY COUPLE...

SPORTS

Minutemen pound St. Joe's, finish sixth

Herer grabs assist record; UM awaits first-round foe after 80-57 win over Hawks

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

Next time a coach has some players that he wants to get some quality PT, he should be sure to invite St. Joseph's University to be the opponent.

With University of Massachusetts men's hoop coach John Calipari giving his four seniors a start in their final home game last night, the Hawks were more than gracious visitors. After a somewhat shaky start, UMass simply blew the Hawks out of the building.

With its 80-57 victory at the Curry Hicks Cage, UMass now has two straight runaway wins to finish the regular season. And the Minutemen are in better shape entering this weekend's Atlantic 10 tournament than they've been in many a moon. Their 15-12 record is the best since 1977-78, while the 10-8 Atlantic 10 mark is the best ever.

UMass is seeded sixth in the tourney (because Rhode Island knocked off George Washington last night), and the Minutemen will face either Rutgers or West Virginia on Sunday. The opponent and game time will be determined tonight, immediately following Rutgers' clash will league-leading Temple in Philadelphia.

But back to the matter at hand. What remains one of life's unsolvable mysteries is how UMass could have possibly lost to this team just 10 days ago in Philly. The Hawks (7-20, 5-13) attempted only 15 shots in the first half (UMass made 20), and shot a sub-freezing 25.8 percent (8-for-31) in the second half.

"This team beat us on the road, but we came back here and beat them pretty good," said Calipari.

The Minutemen forced 32 turnovers, 19 in the first half when they turned a close game into a giggle-fest in the wink of an eye.

"That's what makes us go," Calipari said of the turnovers. "Our press gets us a lead and then the halfcourt defense holds them off."

St. Joe's actually led, 7-4 after Craig Amos buried a three-pointer. At that point, Calipari went back to his normal starting five, and the Minutemen began to show what was really about to happen.

In the next three minutes, they forced countless turnovers and scored 10 points — while holding St. Joe's without a shot. Oy.

The Hawks crept back to within 16-15 with 11:38 left in the half, but then UMass amassed another 10-point spree, en route to closing the half with an overwhelming 45-25 edge.

There was never much doubt about the second half. The

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Minutemen, 80-57

Massachusetts (80): Tony Barbee 0-6 2-3 2; William Herndon 8-9 3-5 19; Harper Williams 3-4 0-0 6; Cary Herer 1-2 4-4 7; Jim McCoy 9-16 2-2 20; Rafer Giles 1-5 0-0 2; Tommy Pace 1-3 0-2 2; John Tate 2-3 4-6 8; Chris Bailey 2-3 0-0 4; Anton Brown 1-4 0-0 2; Matt Anderson 0-0 1-3 1; Sean Nelen 0-6 1-2 1; Michael Byrnes 2-6 1-2 6. Totals: 30-67 18-29 80.

St. Joseph's (57): Craig Amos 5-13 2-4 14; Mike Shaak 4-14 0-0 11; Marlon Miller 0-1 3-4 3; Chris Gardler 1-4 2-2 5; Richard Stewart 4-5 6-6 14; Ron Vercruyssen 0-1 6-6 6; Ray Washington 1-2 0-0 2; Matt Guokas 0-2 0-0 0; Brian Daly 0-3 0-0 0; Ed Malloy 1-1 0-0 2; Brett McKay 0-0 0-0 0, Mor Naaman 0-0 0-0 0. Totals: 16-46 19-22 57.

Halftime: Massachusetts 45-25. Three-point goals: Massachusetts 2-10 (Barbee 0-1, Herer 1-1, Giles 0-2, Nelen 0-2, Byrnes 1-4); St. Joseph's 6-22 (Amos 2-7, Shaak 3-9, Gardler 1-2, Stewart 0-1, Washington 0-1, Daly 0-2). Fouled out: Amos. Rebounds: Massachusetts 32 (Tate 5); St. Joseph's 44 (Shaak 15). Assists: Massachusetts 21 (Herer 10), St. Joseph's 10 (Gardler 3). Total fouls: Massachusetts 18, St. Joseph's 21. Attendance: 3,610

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

Jim McCoy's game-high 20 points led the Minutemen to an 80-57 drubbing of St. Joseph's last night at the Cage. UMass is seeded sixth in the A-10 tournament which starts Sunday.

UMass seniors given the start in Cage swan song

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

Andy Warhol once said, "Everybody is a celebrity for 15 minutes in their lives."

Last night at the Curry Hicks Cage, a few not-so-famous names got a chance to shine in what was their swan song on campus.

In a true touch of class, University of Massachusetts men's basketball coach John Calipari gave his four seniors, three of whom haven't seen a great deal of playing time this season, a start in their final home games. And though Chris Bailey, Michael Byrnes and Sean Nelen didn't put up blinding numbers, they had their moments of glory nonetheless.

"They deserved it, they've really worked hard," Calipari said.

"It was exciting, I can't even explain it," said Bailey, a four-year player from Springfield. "Just knowing it's my last game here, I almost broke down and cried."

Bailey was a two-time Western Mass. Player-of-the-Year at Springfield Tech, and has earned his coach's praise by accepting a role on the team.

"He's never said a word. All he wants to do is win," Calipari said.

"Mike Byrnes played 20 minutes a game last year."

Byrnes had seen his playing time diminish significantly in '89-90, a victim of this team's solid depth. That made last night's start even more sweet for him.

"It was fun, but I had butterflies," said Byrnes, a Canton native who played here for three years after transferring from St. Francis (Pa.). "We were all a little nervous, but it was fun to be out there."

Both Bailey and Byrnes had started other games before this season, and fellow senior Cary Herer ("the epitome of a blue-collar player, an over-achiever," said Calipari) has been the backbone of the team ever since entering the starting lineup in the second game of the season.

But for one player, the start last night

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Women's track heads to ECACs this weekend

By ADRIENNE MATT
Collegian Staff

Bringing this winter indoor track season to a peak, the University of Massachusetts women's team returns to Boston University's Commonwealth Armory this weekend to compete in the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Championships.

"It's hard to tell what's going to happen," said head coach Julie LaFreniere. "I expect a Nationals-type, quality meet."

Last season the turnout for ECACs was poor, due in part to the quality of the track at Yale University, most schools avoided ECACs and went straight to Nationals, said LaFreniere.

This year, however, with the fast reputation of BU's track, LaFreniere said she expects a healthy turnout and very strong competition. LaFreniere and assistant coach Jim Giroux will bring nine competitors from a 14-member team to Boston.

Both relay teams will compete. Running in the 4x400-meter are senior Julie Muccini, freshman Dana Smith, freshman Lennice Johnson and sophomore LeeAnn Ambrose. The 4x800-meter team will include freshman Maureen Meldrim, junior Cathy Crocker, senior Shana Smith and freshman Becky Johnson.

Individuals competitors are senior Tina White who will throw the 20-pound weight, Becky Johnson running the 1,000-meter and Ambrose in the 400-meter.

"They've got a great attitude," said LaFreniere. "They run with heart, they do it for each other."

Ambrose is looking to beat 55 seconds in the 400-meter. LaFreniere said Ambrose is strong enough to place.

In their brief but arduous winter schedule, the women's track team has broken seven school records and set new personal bests. The women finished 10-3 in their regular season.

The Minutewomen's outlook for finishing depends on who makes an appearance. As in the New Englands, LaFreniere said she expects to finish in the top 10, in the second set of five qualifiers. Repeat competition from Boston area teams and Connecticut is anticipated.

"We're peaking now and we can take it a bit further," said LaFreniere.

Women's gymnastics meet one for the books

By CHRIS MIRACLE
Collegian Staff

Once you think you've seen it all, the University of Massachusetts women's gymnastics team continues to surprise their doubters, if there are any left at this point.

The Minutewomen (9-2) enroute to their eighth consecutive victory Tuesday night, established a new team scoring record, defeating Springfield College 184.90-170.65.

"Alfie and I knew what the girls were accomplishing, but they didn't realize it until the very end of the meet," UMass assistant coach Letitia Selk said.

Keeping the lead throughout the entire meet, the Minutewomen began their domination of the Maroons on the vault. Kristin Turmail bested her teammates, placing first with a 9.55, followed by Tammy Marshall's 9.5 second place finish. Erika Baxter and Kim Grady tied for third, each posting an 8.9.

"This was more of a personal meet for us," Baxter said. "Springfield used to be a big rivalry."

On the uneven bars, the Minutewomen started putting the nails in Springfield's coffin. Turmail, adding to one of her best performances of the year, scored first again with a 9.5. Erin Klier posted a 9.25 to take second. With none of the Maroons breaking the 9.0 mark, Meg Geddes would come the closest to threatening the Minutewomen, hitting an 8.75.

Suffering a terrible performance on the beam, the Maroons just about buried themselves six feet under as their highest score would be Marlo Yorns' 8.85. Turmail, scoring only a 9.0 didn't place in this event, allowing her teammates to shine in the spotlight.

Marshall, hitting a 9.6 took first place followed by Baxter's 9.35 and Erin Klier's 9.3 second and third place respective finishes.

Up 137.7-127.7, the Minutewomen shifted into cruise control for the rest of the meet. On the floor exercise, Marshall, living up to her past great performances on the floor, came through once again, posting a 9.55. Turmail finished off the evening on a high note, raising her all-around score to a total of 37.55 with a 9.5. Baxter and Grady, as on the vault, tied for third with a 9.45.

Looking down the road, the Minutewomen know what they must do in order to make the regionals a reality. Scoring a 184 definitely secured their seventh spot ranking, if not move them up in the standings.

"As long as we keep our scores up around 182, we should make regionals," Baxter said. "We're definitely as good as any other team that will be there."

Sports Notice

The University of Massachusetts rugby club will have a recruiting table on the Campus Center concourse today from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

All those people interested in playing should stop by. There will also be a team meeting in Boyden Gym today at 4 p.m.

Intramural entries for spring softball (men's, women's and co-rec), co-rec soccer and volleyball special are due Tuesday, March 13 in the Intramural Office.

For more information, stop by the Intramural Office at 215 Boyden, or call 545-2693/0022.

THIS WEEKEND

They ain't no second hand news

By DOUG BANKS
Collegian Correspondent

Most of their costumes and props are constructed from materials they've found in dumpsters, alleys and thrift shops. Their boldness in dance and movement can be referred to as "experiments in human architecture." Their choreography has much to do with the trust and affection they feel for each other, and their name has much to do with their feelings about wasting the world's resources.

They are the Second Hand Dance Company, and consist of three young men from Binghamton, New York, and one woman. According to the company's members, Andrew Horowitz, Gregory O'Brien, Paul Gordon, and the recent addition, Valerie Talbot, "There is no single choreographer. Rather, the individual members function as cells nurturing a larger organism. Choreography is set when all agree it feels best."

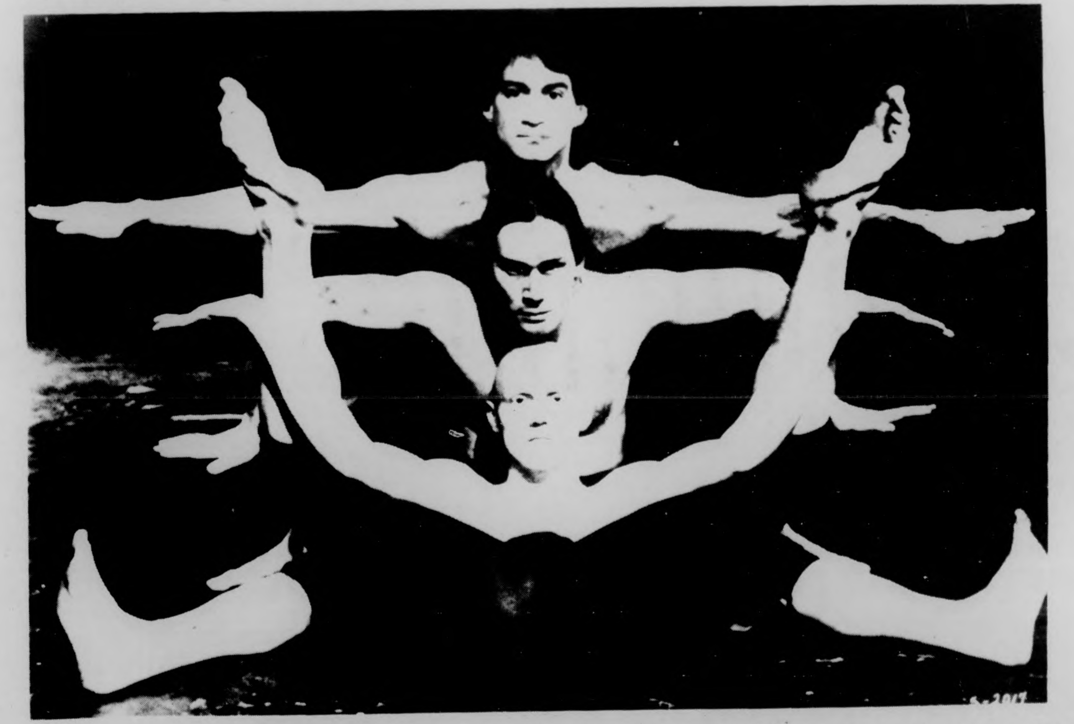
The Second Hand Dance Company has performed at the Ithaca Festival and Performance Space 122 in New York City, and will introduce their zany and uplifting choreography to the Pioneer Valley through a process of improvisational movements on Mar. 2, as they continue the Outer Limits Series at Hampden Theater in Southwest Residential Area.

This unique group is sure to entertain with their zany acting and slow, methodical gymnastics as choreographic sources. Titles such as "From the Depths" and "Clackers" challenge us to conjure up images varying from languid swayings to crisp, bestial dances, and that's only a fraction of what their collaborative skills can produce.

Each design entails complete symmetry of each individual body, but the unexpected path and timing their acrobatic climaxes demonstrate will suspend the audience in disbelief.

This trio, joined by Ms. Talbot, promises to recall both the machine dances of the 1920s and early Pilobolus. With their uplifting and outlandish style of dance, which has been heralded throughout the the greater New York area, their visit to the Valley is sure to be and exciting and interesting one.

Tomorrow night's performance begins at 8 p.m. in Southwest's Hampden Theater. Tickets are $7 general admission and $5 for students.



Doctor, doctor, my funnybone hurts

By ANTONIA MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

The brilliant humor of Moliere comes to the Rand Theater this week in one of his most famous plays, The Imaginary Invalid. Directed by David Watson, with a cast comprised of the UMass Department of Theater, this classic send up of doctors, patients, love and greed is not to be missed.

The protagonist of the story is a man named Argan (played by Rick Martin), a hypochondriac dependent on the dubious talents of his doctor and apothecary. So much so, in fact, that he wants to marry his beloved daughter off to a blithering but budding doctor, so that he may have one right there in the family.

She, of course, is in love with another. This character's name is Cleante (played by David Entwhistle) and is no match for Angelique (played by Robyn Heisey) in Argan's eyes.

The plot thickens as it becomes obvious that Argan's second wife (played by Holly Waite) is feigning her love for her husband so that she alone may inherit all of his money. As Angelique continues to protest the marriage decided by her father, so Argan's wife turns him from his daughter, convincing him to put her in a convent if she does not obey him. Needless to say that several twists to the plot make the play turn out happily, as with all good comedy.

In his direction, David Watson, a second-year student in the Department of Theater's graduate directing program, brings out the broad comedy and visual buffoonery of Moliere's commedia dell'Arte style, despite cutting out two of the characteristic musical Interludes and the typically Commedia character of Pulchinella. This sixteenth and seventeenth Italian pantomime genre makes for basic visual as well as verbal humor, colorful costumes and classic characterizations.

In particular, the The Imaginary Invalid has one of the Commedia's most endearing characters, the zany or mischievous servant. Here, Toinette (played by Marissa Matrone) is the impudent servant whose sharp wit puts the twists in the tale but ultimately holds it all together.

David Watson sees The Imaginary Invalid as commenting on the contemporary world as well as the French Baroque period in which the play is set.

Watson says the play "lampoons the priestly class of medicine, the doctors with their 'secret' knowledge and the hypochondriacs who worship them."

The Imaginary Invalid has been translated by University of Massachusetts professor and Resident Dramaturg Virginia Scott. Scott also translated Moliere's The Miser for the Theater Department's 1985 production.

The Imaginary Invalid also showcases the work of several graduate students and a member of faculty in the fields of scenic, costume,lighting and sound design.

The Imaginary Invalid will be performed in the Rand Theater, March 1-3 and 7-10 at 8pm, with a matinee on Saturday, March 3 at 2pm. Tickets are available at the Fine Arts Center Box Office, 545-2511. Admission is $5 for the general public and $3 for students and senior citizens. The Rand Theater is wheelchair accessible.

Photo by Stephen Long

The hypochodriac Argan (Rick Martin) tells his daughter Anglelique (Robyn Heisey) of the marriage he has arranged for her to a wealthy doctor, as their maid Toinette (Marissa Matrone) listens in, in the UMass Theater Production of The Imaginary Invalid.

THE BLACK SHEEP

79 Main Street
Amherst
253-3442

58 Main Street
Northampton
586-3055

GET RID OF STRESS
AND HAVE A MORE
RELAXING
SPRING BREAK
MASSAGE THERAPY
$5 OFF
NOW THROUGH
MARCH 31
Gift Certificates Available
call 586-1314

AMHERST CINEMA

DEAD
POETS SOCIETY

7:00 & 9:15
F, S & Sun.
7:30 p.m.

$2.50 with
Student ID

253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA

Have you heard? Your favorites cost less at Liquors 44.

BEER
Prices do not include deposit

BUSCH & BUSCH LIGHT $8.79 + DEP. case of 24-12 oz. cans
Grolsch PREMIUM LAGER $14.99 + DEP. case of 24 12 oz. bottles
KRONENBOURG BEER $14.99 + DEP. case of 24-12 oz. bottles
BALLANTINE BEER $6.69 + DEP. case of 2-12 pk. 12 oz. cans

WINE

GLEN ELLEN WHITE ZINFANDEL 750 ML $2.99
INGLENOOK 3.0 LITER CHENIN, FRENCH COLUMBARD, RHINE, BURGUNDY, CHABLIS, BLANC DE BLANC, BLUSH SALE $5.49 MAIL IN REBATE $2.00 $3.49 AFTER REBATE
CINZANO ASTI SPUMANTI $7.99 750 ML
CANEI WINE WHITE & ROSE $4.99 1.5 L.
COKE CLASSIC & DIET COKE $1.09 + DEP. 2.0 L.

LIQUORS

FLEISCHMANN'S PREFERRED WHISKEY $11.49 1.75 L.
BLACK VELVET. $11.99 1.75 L.
Cossack VODKA $8.99 1.75 L.
KAHLÚA $10.99 750 ML

not responsible for typographical errors

LIQUORS 44

9am to 11pm
Monday thru Saturday

HADLEY
Campus Plaza/Route 9
253-9344

◄ TWO ► LOCATIONS

HOLYOKE
30 Lincoln St.
534-4555

SALE PRICES
THUR 3/1/90
THRU WED 3/7/90

VISA master charge
TeleCheck

A HEALTHY
COMPLEXION AND BODY

begins with a deep pore cleansing treatment and a full body massage.
Improves how you look and feel relaxing • refreshing revitalizing
also lash and brow tinting and hair waxing.

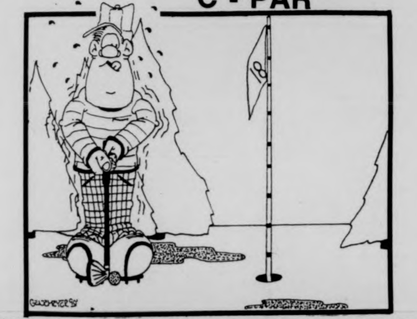
AESTHETICS
THERAPUTIC SKIN CARE
AND MASSAGE
AMHERST ★ 253-9879



INDOOR MINIATURE GOLF
THIS MAN IS PUTTING FOR:
A - BIRDIE
B - BOGEY
C - PAR

BRING THIS AD IN THURSDAY-SATURDAY
GIVE US THE RIGHT ANSWER & WIN A FREE
ROUND OF MINI-GOLF WITH A REGULAR
PURCHASE OF MINI-GOLF.
BIRDIES & BOGEYS
HOLYOKE MALL - LOWER LEVEL - 536-3765
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
OFFER EXPIRES MARCH 31, 1990

Amherst College presents
ALISON KRAUS
AND UNION STATION
TRADITIONAL BLUEGRASS BAND

SUNDAY, MARCH 4
8 p.m.
$7 Public
$1 Amherst College

SUNDAYS AT EIGHT
A Sunday Evening
Coffeehouse Series
In the Campus Center
Info: (413)542-5773

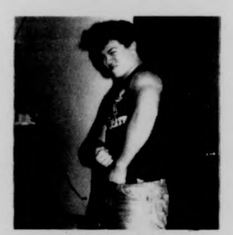
★Mar. 11 - Cindy Kallet, Ellen Epstein and Michael Cicone
★Apr. 1 - Lucie Blue Trembley

Women's Shoes, Clothing & Accessories
Zanna • 187 North Pleasant Street • Amherst
413.253.2563

ZANNA

OUR SOLES
ARE DEPARTING.

WHAT'S LEFT SALE...
ALL WINTER SHOES AND CLOTHES
40-70% OFF



BUFFALO BILLS "NO BULL"

There's a new game in town

"What do you mean we're not going out to eat. I want my Buffalo Bill's & I want it
now!!"

If this is you, come in for a free meal.

50 Main Street, Amherst
253-9223
Open 7 Days at 11 am
'Til 2 am weekends
Breakfast 9-11 am Mon. ► Fri.

Scott's LIQUORS
OPEN
MON-SAT
8 AM-11 PM
Tel. 549-2692
6 University Drive
at Newmarket Center
Amherst
diagonnaly across from UMASS Stadium

Looking for Variety,
Friendly Service, Low
Prices? Shop Scott's!

Rolling Rock 12 pack
12 oz. bottles
$5.99

St. Pauli Girl
24-12 oz. bottles
Light & Dark Beer
$15.99

Jack Daniels Bourbon
750 ml
$9.99

Popov Vodka
1.75
$9.99

Tanqueray Gin
750 ml
$10.99

Southern Comfort
750 ml
$7.99

VISA/MASTERCARD ACCEPTED
ALSO LOCAL PERSONAL CHECKS

Plus many instore and rebate specials!!
Kegs Available
1/2 Kegs starting at $29.00
Sale Good 2/26 thru 3/3

WE WANT TO BE YOUR FAVORITE LIQUOR STORE

CASWELL-MASSEY
SINCE 1752

Toiletries
for men & women

SOAPS • BATH GELS
HAND CREAM
MEN'S COLOGNE
BATH CUBES • TALC

Compliments
Gifts, Gift Baskets, Decorative Accessories
71 N. Pleasant St., Amherst (Above Cafe DiCarlo)
256-1551 • Tues.-Sat. 10:00-5:30

SOMETHING IS ALWAYS HAPPENING AT THE HADLEY PUB
Tonight
Live: "BORDERLAND"
50¢ DRAFTS
Step into the weekend with
New Horizon on Saturday Night
RT. 9 HADLEY next to CAMPUS PIZZA • 586-4444

When it's a matter of taste...
and your waist...
follow the Frozen Yogurt Leader
"Smooth & creamy
No Fat.
No Cholesterol."
"Indulge without the bulge!"
JOE BANANA
BANANARAMA
fabulous frozen YOGURT
Northampton Amherst

SAME DAY FILM PROCESSING
FILM IN BY 10 AM / PRINTS BY 4 PM
1-HOUR SERVICE ALSO AVAILABLE
A Different Money-Saving Special Every Day . . .
MON: 2nd set of prints only 8¢ per print
TUE: Super Prints 35¢ each
WED: 2 Prints for the price of 1
THU: 25% off film and albums
FRI: Large savings on reprints
EVERY DAY: A SECOND SET OF PRINTS AT A SUBSTANTIAL DISCOUNT
The Foto Factory
257 TRIANGLE ST. / AMHERST

Hey, Night Owls!
Whooooooo's open after midnight?
James H. McManus
is open Sun-Thurs 'til 3 A.M.
Fri & Sat ALL NIGHT
appetizers desserts
omelettes light dinners
juicy jumbo beefburgers
sandwiches pancakes
plus chicken, steak, buffalo wings, onion rings and so much more
OPEN SUN-THURS 6 A.M.-3 A.M. 24 HOURS FRIDAY & SATURDAY
James H. McManus eating place
SENIOR CITIZEN DISCOUNT 10% ANYTIME (not with coupon)
Next to Super Stop & Shop Rte. 9 Hadley/Amherst 256-6889

Buy one of our great omlettes and get one free served with Home Fries and Toast
offer expires 3/12/90

R+P LIQUOR STORE
Check out our new location
505 West St. Rte. 116
close to Brittany & Riverdale
1 mile south on 116
Bring us your empties

Special Student & Youth Fares to
EUROPE, SOUTH AMERICA, ASIA
from New York on Scheduled Airlines!

DESTINATIONS	OW	RT
LONDON	$175	$350
PARIS	215	415
BRUSSELS	195	370
ROME	275	550
STOCKHOLM/OSLO	250	500
COPENHAGEN	250	500
ZURICH	215	405
FRANKFURT	215	410
RIO	365	730
TOKYO	495	850

Add on fares Boston, DC, Chicago, Pittsburgh, other U.S. cities. Plus $6 dep. tax; $10 cust/immig fee; $5 security fee may apply in ea. direction.
CALL OR WRITE FOR OUR SPECIAL FARES TO THE SOUTH PACIFIC, AUSTRALIA & AROUND THE WORLD ROUTINGS.
Eurail and Eurail Youth Passes available immediately.
1-800-777-0112 STA
212-986-9470
WHOLE WORLD TRAVEL
17 E. 45th St., Suite 805, New York, NY 10017
Part of the worldwide STA Travel Network

ONE WEEK ONLY 256-8911

LATE NIGHT SNACK
16 INCH 1 ITEM PIZZA
ONLY $7.99 TAX INCLUDED
One Pizza Per Coupon WITH THIS COUPON. Expires 3/15/90
DOMINO'S PIZZA

THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE
LARGE 3 ITEM PIZZA
ONLY $9.99 TAX INCLUDED
One Pizza Per Coupon WITH THIS COUPON. Expires 3/15/90
DOMINO'S PIZZA

FREE PIZZA
SAVE $6.50
Buy any large pizza with 3 or more items and get a 12 inch, one item Pizza FREE.
One Pizza Per Coupon WITH THIS COUPON. Expires 3/15/90
DOMINO'S PIZZA

FEED YOUR ROOMMATES!
16 INCH CHEESE PIZZA AND 12 INCH CHEESE PIZZA
ONLY $9.99 TAX INCLUDED
One Pizza Per Coupon WITH THIS COUPON. Expires 3/15/90
DOMINO'S PIZZA

COMBO - CREATION
16 INCH 2 ITEM PIZZA
ONLY $8.99 TAX INCLUDE
One Pizza Per Coupon WITH THIS COUPON. Expires 3/15/90
DOMINO'S PIZZA

DINNER FOR TWO
12 INCH 2 ITEM PIZZA AND 2 COKES®
ONLY $7.50 TAX INCLUDED
One Pizza Per Coupon WITH THIS COUPON. Expires 3/15/90
DOMINO'S PIZZA

DINNER FOR FOUR ONLY $10.50
16 INCH 2 ITEM PIZZA AND 4 COKES®
ONLY $10.50 TAX INCLUDED
One Pizza Per Coupon WITH THIS COUPON. Expires 3/15/90
DOMINO'S PIZZA

A GOOD DEAL MADE EVEN BETTER!
16 INCH EXTRAVAGANZA PIZZA
9 DELICIOUS TOPPINGS!
$11.99 ONLY TAX INCLUDED
One Pizza Per Coupon WITH THIS COUPON. Expires 3/15/90
DOMINO'S PIZZA

ONLY $4.99
Expires 3/15/90 One Pizza Per Coupon
For A 12 inch Traditonal Cheese Pizza
Extra Toppings ONLY $1.00 each
DOMINO'S PIZZA

ONLY $5.99
Expires 3/15/90 One Pizza Per Coupon
For A 12 inch Cheese Pan Pizza
Extra Toppings ONLY $1.00 each
DOMINO'S PIZZA

ONLY $6.99
For A Large Cheese Pizza
One Pizza Per Coupon
Extra Toppings ONLY $1.50 each
Expires 3/15/90
DOMINO'S PIZZA

ONLY $10.95
For 2 12" Pan or Original 1 Item Pizzas
One Pizza Per Coupon
Extra Toppings ONLY $1.50 each
Expires 3/15/90
DOMINO'S PIZZA

ONLY $12.99
For 2 Large Cheese Pizzas
One Pizza Per Coupon
Extra Toppings ONLY $1.50 each
Expires 3/15/90
DOMINO'S PIZZA

Alternatives to Academics

THURSDAY

The Other Side, a bizarre selection of original one-act plays, is performed by the Holyoke Community College Players in the Leslie Phillips-Butterworth Forum Theater at Holyoke Community College. $4 general public; $3 students and senior citizens. 8 p.m. Also Friday and Saturday.

Julian Bream, the brilliant classical guitarist and lute master, plays UMass Bowker Auditorium. $20, $18 general public; $10, $8 Five College students. 8 p.m.

Iomante, a documentary on the Ainu people, is shown as part of the Japanese documentary film series, at Hampshire College Franklin Patterson Main Lecture Hall. FREE. 8 p.m.

Tulsa Ballet Theater perform at the UMass Fine Arts Center Concert Hall. $22, $20, $18. 8 p.m.

Tulsa Ballet Theater

Going Under (originally entitled True Blue), a "comic drama" set in Australia that deals with the Outback during World War II, is performed by the Smith College Theater Department in Hallie Flanagan Studio Theater at Smith. $4 general public; $2 students and senior citizens. 8 p.m. Also Friday and Saturday.

Z, a Costa-Gravas thriller about the military takeover of the Greek government, is screened in the Amherst Campus Center Frontroom. FREE. 8 p.m.

Nancy Spero, feminist artist, holds a reception for her new newest exhibition at the Smith College Museum of Art. FREE. 4:30 p.m.

The Rent Party, still the best local act, play an 18 and over show with UMass sensations MiniBus Sandwich and The Cowlicks at Pearl Street. 9 p.m.

John Valby, pianist with a dirty sense of humor, brings his trash mouth to Katina's.

The Mess do it up at Sheehan's.

The Mess

Nice People Dancing to Good Country Music, a strange comedy that includes ex-nuns and macho biker bars, is performed at Smith College Theater 14. FREE. 8 p.m. Also Saturday.

Okumlomote: The Yearly Life Cycle of a Mountain Village, a film about a village unchanged by society, is shown as part of the Japanese documentary film series, at Hampshire College Franklin Patterson Main Lecture Hall. FREE. 8 p.m.

Dr. John, New Orleans boogie-woogie master pianist, brings his masterful stage persona to the Iron Horse. $12.50. 7 p.m. and 10 p.m.

Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory, a movie everyone should see before they die, is screened at the Hampshire College Franklin Patterson Hall. $1. 7 p.m., and 9:30 p.m.

Cesar Chavez, president of the United Farm Workers Union, discusses the problems of pesticide use in Amherst College Johnson Chapel. FREE. 7:30 p.m.

Jim Stock, bizarre, hip comic, spreads the laughter among the patrons of Peking Garden. 8:30 p.m. Also Saturday.

Star Wars, a sci-fi movie that really doesn't need an explanation, is shown in the Amherst Campus Center Theater. $1.50. 7:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. Also Saturday and Sunday.

The Imaginary Invalid, Moliere's classic send-up of doctors, patients, love and greed starts a two weekend run at the Rand Theater. $5 at door, $3 for students 8 p.m.

Cyclone Scotty bring their R&B sound to Twister's. $2.

The Rent Party

FRIDAY

New Horizons, the most popular reggae band of the area, jam at Sheehan's.

Supreme Dicks/Oat Pearl play alternative music night at Katina's.

Third Annual Benefit Boogie, featuring rockers Roger Saloom and the Stragglers and jazz greats Marion Groves and Friends, is held by the Northampton Survival Center to relieve area hunger at the Hotel Northampton. $8. 8:30 p.m.

Pete Morton, a critically acclaimed British songwriter, comes to the Iron Horse. $7. 7 p.m.

SATURDAY

Heathers, one of the best movies of 1989. It stars Winona Ryder and picks on all those trendoids from high school. At the Mt. Holyoke Gamble Auditorium. $2. 2 p.m.

The Rent Party make you sweat to their zydeco sound at Twister's. $2.

Horseflies, the favorite band of 10,000 Maniacs, bring their pot pourri of music to Pearl Street. 8:30 p.m.

Carol Hutter, violinist, with flautist Anne Weaver and, harpist Joyce Rice, assisted by violinist Linda Greenbaum and pianist Kenneth Forfia, perform a faculty recital of classical works at UMass Bezanson Recital Hall. FREE. 8 p.m.

John Porcino performs songs and stories for all ages as part of the Saturday's Child Performance at the Deerfield Elementary School. $3. 2 p.m.

Free Press, a slightly crazed band, bring their dance rock to Sheehan's.

Free Press

SUNDAY

Dr. Kate Ezra, associate curator of primitive art, presents a slide lecture, New Discoveries in African Art, in the Smith College Stoddard Hall. FREE. 3 p.m.

Allison Krauss and Union Station, bring their highly energetic bluegrass soundto town as they perform as part of the Sundays at Eight series at the Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom. $7 general public; $1 Amherst students. 8 p.m.

Innocent bring their heavy metal sound to Katina's.

Massachusetts Chamber Players, featuring pianistt Estela Olevsky, violinist Charles Treger, violist Philipp Naegele and cellist Leopold Terapulsky, perform works from Beethoven and Chausson in a benefit for the University Friends and Music Scholarship Fund, at Bezanson Recital Hall. $5 general public; $2.50 students and senior citizens. 8 p.m.

Five Easy Pieces, a movie that includes a classic scene involving Jack Nicholson telling a waitress what she can do with a tuna fish sandwitch, is screened at Hampshire College Franklin Patterson Hall. $1. 8 p.m.

Salaam Bombay, a film about an Indian boys experience in bombay, is screened in the Amherst College Asian Culture House. 9 p.m.

Chet Cramer, UMass graduate, displays his new, abstract paintings in an exhibition entitled Eye Music, at the Amherst Community Gallery, with an opening reception. FREE. 1 p.m.

Jean Carlo Esposito, who starred in Spike Lee's Do the Right Thing (as Bugging Out) and School Daze (as Big Brother Almighty), talks about what it is like to be a Black actor in the Amherst College Converse Hall Red Room. FREE. 8 p.m.

Chai-Lun Yueh, award winning lyric baritone, appears as part of the Young Artist Concert Series, at Westfield State Dever Auditorium. 7:30 p.m.

Civil Rights Vigil, marking the 25th anniversary of the Bloody Sunday march in Selma, Alabama, on the Amherst Common. FREE. 12 p.m.

East Street Concert, with folk, jazz and world beat music from Bad Samba, Afiano, Norman Blaine, Louise Taylor and Sylvia Brallier, is held at the East Street Studio in Hadley. FREE. 12 p.m.-9 p.m.

Warbeke Memorial Concert, featuring clarinetist Esther Lammeck, violinist Yuval Waldman and pianist Thomas Hrynkiw, perform music by Mozart, Milhaud and Stravinsky, at Mt. Holyoke Pratt Auditorium. FREE. 8:15 p.m.

Shakespeare's Henry given a new twist by Kenneth Branagh

By PETER SOKOLOWSKI
Collegian Correspondent

Henry V, a new movie version of William Shakespeare's triumphant hero by Irish actor-director Kenneth Branagh, is easily as successful on the screen as its subject was on the battle field.

> Unlike Olivier's eulogistic figurehead portrayal, Branagh's Henry emerges as a victorious but nevertheless human king.

Calm, understated acting coupled with a series of unaffected, natural settings subtly keep the viewer's attention on the brilliant, fast paced dialogue with no distractions caused by overproduction — the major flaw of Sir Laurence Olivier's film version of the same play in 1944.

Unlike Olivier's eulogistic figurehead portrayal, Branagh's Henry emerges as a victorious but nevertheless human king. The subtleties of humor, pensive self-doubt, and youthful exuberance that lie within Henry's character are more convincing in Branagh's portrayal than in any one of the slew of Americans his age who portray Vietnam-based soldiers journeying through the horrors of war.

What in Olivier's hands is a stiff, bloodless declaration — "I was not angry since I came to France...until this instant," — becomes with Branagh a total and compelling condemnation of French treachery, mixed with the visible agony of a man who has watched his friends and subjects die under his leadership.

This heartfelt anguish is what separates Branagh's interpretation from Olivier's. The campaign of the British is a disturbing image of filth, grime, rain and fatigue under Branagh's direction. He does not flinch at exposing such negative aspects of human conflict as harsh discipline, desertion and treason. The killings on the field of Agincourt are far removed from the heroic demises one associates with medieval combat.

In fact, this film makes it clear that Shakespeare was no war-monger; he taints his hero's victory with more blood than even an Elizabethan patriot could be comfortable with in rationalizing the invasion of France, forcing the question of both characters and audience: Is this war really worth its cost?

The film is made even more realistic by the universal delivery of the poet's words as relaxed, easily spoken, and utterly natural extensions of the characters rather than the preaching, rhyme-conscious recitation so often heard in Shakespearean productions. Other than Branagh himself, Ian Holm's Fluellen and Paul Scofield's Charles VI stand out as strikingly human performances.

The intercharacter relationships of all concerned give a comfortable unity to the entire film. The development of the rapport between Mountjoy, the French Herald, and Henry is the most unique as it progresses from an insulting scorn to a deep mutual respect. Henry's wooing of Princess Katherine must be seen to be believed, containing the most outrageous series of plaints and uproarious proposals in Shakespeare, and a hilarious expose on the awkwardness of young love.

Henry V is also cinematically superb, with outstanding camera work and a stirring musical score that provides a perfect complement to this exhilarating movie. In short, a film representation as successful as this of Shakespeare's exploration of human nature and human relationships would be hard to find.

Henry V opens at Pleasant St. Theater in Northampton tomorrow for a three week run.

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘

The aroma, sound & taste of authentic Chinese cuisine prepared Hunan, Szechuan, Mandarin or Cantonese style—especially for you!

- Ample Free Parking
- Major Credit Cards Accepted
- Full Liquor License
- Open 7 Days A Week
- Take-Out Service Available
- No MSG

585-0202 261 King St., Northampton, MA

THE UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
DEPARTMENT OF THEATER
PRESENTS

The Imaginary Invalid
A comedy by Molière
March 1-3 and 7-10 at 8:00 p.m.
Matinee: March 3 at 2 p.m.

RAND THEATER, FINE ARTS CENTER
TICKETS: FINE ARTS CENTER BOX OFFICE 545 2511

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included.Restrictions apply.One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms.Int'l Student ID'.EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So.Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

No Money For Spring Break

UMASS SKI CLUB
SKI & PARTY WEEK

Killington
VERMONT

JUST $280 Per Person Tax Included
LAST MINUTE SIGN-UPS Accepted
DATES AVAILABLE MAR 18–23

Program Includes:
- 5 Nights Condo Lodging at MOUNTAIN GREEN Condominiums Based on full unit occupancy.
- 5 Day Lift Ticket, Six Mountains
- Services of On-Site Sno-Search Staff
- Free Lessons when you rent skis

CONTACT:
UMASS SKI CLUB
430 STUDENT UNION 545-3437
SKI CLUB TABLE-CAMPUS CTR. CONCOURSE

Spirit Haus
Liquor Store

Catamount—Amber, Gold and Porter $4.69 six pack
Cerveza Tecate $3.99 six pack bottles
Beck's Beer $8.99 twelve pack cans
Stroh's/Stroh's Light $2.69 six pack cans $9.99 suitcase
Jose Cuervo Gold Tequila 750 ml $9.99
Absolut Vodka 80 proof 1.75L $17.99
Kirin Japanese Lager Beer $4.69 six pack
Sun Country Wine Coolers $2.99 four pack
SAMUEL ADAM'S DOUBLE BOCK BEER IS IN!
338 College St. (Rt. 9) Amherst 253-5384

Carbur's This Weeks Drink Specials

Pitchers of Rolling Rock $5.00
Rolling Rock Draft - New 16 oz. $1.25
Frozen Sex on the Beach $2.50
Margarita's $1.75
Leinenkugels $1.25
4-11 PM Monday-Friday at the Bar
Munchie Happy Hour
Potato Skins
Nachos
Buffalo Wings
Soft Tacos
$1.99

The Best in Live Comedy
This week on Stage Live
Bill King * Mark Wilde * Greg Fitzsimmons
Show Time 8:45 call for reservations

The bus stops right in front
Carbur's Restaurant and Lounge
586-1978
Rt. 9 Hadley

CASE SPECIALS

CARLING BLACK LABELS (24 12 oz. Bar Bottles)	6.99 case
BUSCH/BUSCH LIGHT (24 12 oz. cans)	8.99 case

BUD LIGHT SUITCASE (24 12 oz. cans) 10.99
ROLLING ROCK 12 pk. $5.99
SAMUEL ADAMS DOUBLE BOCK HAS ARRIVED

ABSOLUT VODKA 750 ml	9.99
KAHLUA 750 ml	10.99
FOUR SEASONS VODKA 1.75 L	8.99
LEROUX PEACH SCHNAPPS 1.75 L	10.99

Friday Night's Starting Line-Up: Tony, Chris, Paul, Deb
FOUR SEASONS
KEGS—ALL SHAPES & SIZES MC/VISA
Located on Route 9, Hadley—Just beyond Burger King
OPEN MONDAY—SATURDAY 9 a.m. - 11 p.m.
584-8174

UMASS SKI CLUB
SKI & PARTY WEEK
PRESENTS
Killington
VERMONT
for $33 Members (Non-members + $10)
3/3/90 SAT.

Leaves
6:30—T-House
6:45—Hasbrouck
7:00—Southwest

Sign-ups: 545-3437
430 Student Union

BOARD OF GOVERNORS Program Council
PRESENTS
CASINO NIGHT
TO BENEFIT
THE BRAIN TUMOR SOCIETY
Campuses Against Cancer

DATE: Thursday, March 8, 1990
TIME: 8:00 PM-1:00 AM
PLACE: Campus Center Auditorium
COST: $5.00 Admission - Does not include individual wagers at betting tables.
GAMES: Black Jack
Roulette
Wheel of Fortune
Craps
Chuck-A-Luck

LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
REFRESHMENTS & HORS D'OEUVRES WILL BE SERVED
WINNINGS AWARDED IN CASH
PROPER DRESS REQUESTED

CO-SPONSORED BY
THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY COLLEGIAN 99.3 Mr. Tux FORMAL WEAR SPECIALISTS SPRINGFIELD WEST SPRINGFIELD

PRODUCED BY JEFFREY D. GLASSMAN

Alison Krauss: bluegrass legend at age 18

By NICK OSTIS
Collegian Correspondent

When most kids her age were still in the sandbox, Alison Krauss was fiddling with classical violin lessons. As a preteen she won her first state fiddle championship. Cambridge's Rounder Records signed her up at 14 and at 15 she stormed the prestigious Newport Folk Festival.

On Sunday night at Amherst College, the grand old master, now 18, will display her wizardry with her band, Union Station, which includes versatile brother Viktor, 20, on bass, guitar ace Jeff White, 32, and master banjoist Alison Brown, 27.

Individually, they enjoy prolific solo careers; yet, the sum of their talent creates one of the most dynamic aggregations in bluegrass music today. This is an all acoustic ensemble without percussion. The absence of drums, which one hardly notices, is more than compensated for by the melodic interplay of the guitar, banjo and bass. And Alison's soaring fiddle runs are sonic revelations that root in your feet, bud in your heart and blossom through your brain.

Union Station's sound is effervescent and refreshing like a deep snort of a eucalyptus forest. Crisp and clean but not sterile, informal but fluid, this band doesn't rock, it bounces with a sweet, driving sound evocative of a sunny day in a cruising convertible on a tree-lined dirt road with nothing but room to move. Or, on the ballads, of rocking on a porch with your sweetheart gazing out over the meadows and into the mountains. (Or without your sweetheart, lamenting his or her absence on the "love-done-me-wrong" songs.)

Distinctive vocals and harmonies augment the stellar instrumental play. This music is too sprightly to call it "work." Alison Krauss and Jeff White share lead vocals but Viktor Krauss has sung in twenty-three operas, so perhaps he'll contribute as well.

In spite of her tender years, Alison croons many a forlorn tune about shattered romance and lost love, all of which humorously reminds me of a twelve year old Michael Jackson promising, before he reached puberty, of course, that "I'll Be There," among other amorous vows. While looking at 16 year old Alison sitting on a stool at a bar on the album cover of her 1987 release Too Late To Cry, I couldn't help thinking to myself, "Let this girl grow up, guys."

Nitpicking and pop psychiatry aside, Alison Krauss and Union Station are the proud torchbearers of a vital American musical genre. If the audience yields its reserve, expect a barn-burning, hell-raising jam at staid old Amherst College. Picking and grinning at its best. As Bob Allen, host of WMUA's bluegrass show and a musician himself, said "Nobody's going to be disappointed if they go to see them."

About the birth of bluegrass, prior to the arrival of the legendary (and still touring) Bill Monroe and the Bluegrass Boys in 1945, the music was classified as "mountain" or "hillbilly."

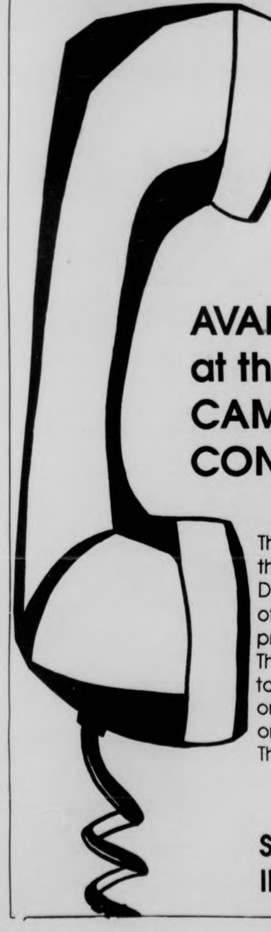
Bluegrass music has perennially occupied a small but comfortable niche outside the more popular triumvirate of pop, rock and even country. But as the distinction between urban and rural begins to blur, bluegrass is becoming more accessible.

Alison Krauss and Union Station perform at the Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom on Sunday at 8 p.m.

Photo courtesy of Rounder

Alison Krauss and Union Station play at Amherst College Sunday night.

TONIGHT
at
CHANGES
DANCE CLUB
SPRING BREAK MONTH
99¢ DRAFTS
Bud/Bud Light & Miller Beer
No Cover Before 10:00 p.m.
256-8284



1989-90
STUDENT
TELEPHONE DIRECTORY
Spring
Supplement

AVAILABLE NOW
at the
CAMPUS CENTER
CONCOURSE

The Spring Supplement of the Student Telephone Directory is a limited printing of 5,000 copies. Distribution priority is given to students. There is no direct distribution to residence halls, administrative, or faculty offices. Please take one copy only.
Thank you for your cooperation.

STUDENT AFFAIRS
INFORMATION SERVICES

Air National Guard part-time membership offers fantastic benefits! Join your local Air Force in Westfield. Several part time jobs available, including aircraft mechanics, medical lab, police, firefighting jobs also available. Other benefits include 100% free college tuition, high pay, G.I. Bill, retirement, free plane travel and more. Men and women without prior service are eligible through age 34. Veterans of all services are usually eligible into their 40's. Call your recruiter to see if you qualify. No obligation, no pressure.
Jobs guaranteed before you enlist.
Call any time, (413) 568-9215 or
1-800-AIR-9151.

TACO VILLA
MEXICAN RESTAURANTS

Great mexican food served quickly and inexpensively in a friendly & casual atmosphere... Try it! You'll like it!

Downtown Amherst and Northampton

FRIDAY

WEATHER

It'll be partly sunny and warm today. Snow or rain tonight, clearing Sat. & cold all weekend.

NEWS

Southwest Area Gov't attempts to break away from the Student Gov't Association. Page 3.

SPORTS

UMass hoop team to battle West Virginia in first round of Atlantic 10 Sunday. Page 12.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1990
COLLEGIAN
VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 23

600 participate in GEO work stoppage

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

Hundreds of graduate student employees took to the picket lines yesterday to protest the administration's refusal to recognize their union.

Wearing blue armbands and urging passers-by to support their cause, protesters marched on campus during the day. The boycott culminated with a spirited rally that drew more than 300 people to the steps of the Student Union building.

"We're thrilled," said Renee Heberle, spokeswoman for the Graduate Employee Organization. She estimated that 600 of the 2,300 graduate students on campus participated.

John W. Cole, president of the Massachusetts Society of Professors, drew cheers at the rally as he read a letter of support from Cesar Chavez, a nationally renown activist scheduled to speak today at noon in the Student Union Ballroom.

Following the rally, some 500 GEO members voted to accept Chancellor Duffey's offer to help faciliate discussions with the Board of Regents of Higher Education, which oversees state colleges and universities.

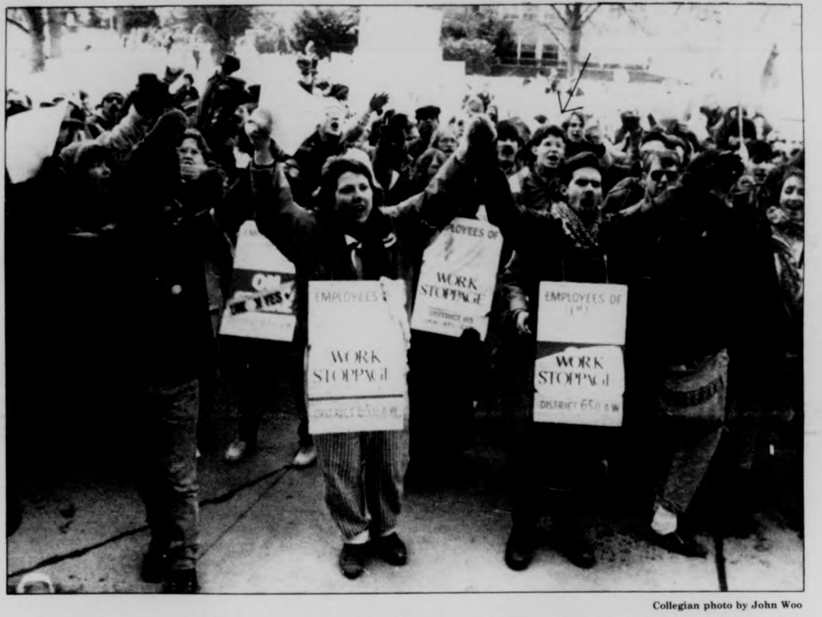
The graduate workers accepted the GEO leadership's recommendation to send a delegation to the regents to request an election to determine whether graduate students support the union and what affiliation they would seek, Heberle said. The union affiliated with District 65/United Auto Workers last spring.

However, the membership voted to amend the leadership's proposal by setting a membership meeting on April 2, where a strike vote could be taken if progress has not been made toward meeting their demands.

Heberle said the leadership was surprised by the amendment motion.

"The graduate students are much more angry than we thought," she said. "They pushed to make the amendment

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10



Collegian photo by John Woo

Graduate students and their supporters at the rally on the Student Union steps yesterday.

Grad support of strike not absolute

By SARAH DEMASTER
Collegian Staff

Eric Findeis, a University of Massachusetts graduate student and a teaching assistant in the zoology department, said he is one of a number of graduate students who did not support the Graduate Employees Organization's decision to hold a one-day work stoppage yesterday.

In a telephone interview Tuesday, Findeis said yesterday's work stoppage was "hopelessly irresponsible," because the GEO looked to the faculty and undergraduates for support, not the graduate students.

"If they have to do that to get support, they're not credible," he said.

He said once the GEO began getting signatures supporting the work stoppage, it assumed the majority of graduate students support the strike and the GEO's bid to become a recognized union.

"[The GEO] may have 500 graduate students at a meeting, which is a lot, but that's not even one-third of the graduate student population," he said. He added, "The GEO has never had a union representative visit the zoology department."

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

Van Meter resident's door vandalized

Homophobic remark found scribbled on sticker affixed to door

By CHRIS MUTHER
and MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

A Van Meter resident reported yesterday that a yellow bumper sticker on the door of his fourth floor room was defaced with a "homophobic" remark.

Brian Oats, a freshman psychology major, told officials at the Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns that a bumper sticker on his door which read "Homophobia is a Social Disease" was altered with black ink sometime between midnight and 7 a.m.

The words "phobia" and "is" were crossed out and the sticker was rewritten: "Homosexuals are a Social Disease."

Oats said he does not know who is responsible for the vandalism but believes that it occurred sometime after he went to bed at midnight.

"I was just shocked. I couldn't believe it," he said.

Oats said he immediately reported the vandalism to the resident assistant on the floor. He said he plans to report the incident to the UMass police.

Oats said he was "shocked" to discover the vandalism, but said he is no stranger to harassment. He transferred to Van Meter from the Sylvan Residential Area this semester because of harassment he received while living there.

"I know it's going to happen," he said. "I've been harassed before as well because I used to live in Sylvan and I had homophobic suitemates."

However, Oats said he had heard the environment in Van Meter was more "open" to diversity. He said he did not expect to be a victim of harassment while living on the floor.

"I thought my floor was very open to it," he said. "I'm not blaming the floor, I'm just surprised that it happened on this floor.

"The people are usually very supportive of me and my roommate," he said.

Grant Ingle, director of the Office of Human Relations, said there were 20 reported cases of homophobic harassment last year, including graffiti.

Felice Yeskel, director of the Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns, said yesterday the program provides support for students who are victims of harassment.

She said harassment happens "every day" but added that many incidents remain unreported.

"Most people don't report this to anyone," Yeskel said. "We help advocate for students and mostly support them."

UMass student hit by auto

A 21-year-old University of Massachusetts junior suffered a skull fracture and was listed in critical condition at the Baystate Medical Center in Springfield last night after she was struck by a car on North Pleasant St. yesterday morning, authorities said.

Tracy S. Frye, of Washington Residence Hall, was struck at 7:50 a.m. near Hasbrouck Laboratory by a 1986 gold Toyota traveling south. Witnesses said Frye was thrown 10 feet after she was struck.

Police said the driver of the car, UMass graduate student Nazeem Muhajarine, 28, of Amherst, was in shock after the accident and was sent home to recover. No charges have been brought against Muhajarine, police said.

Frye's neighbor, junior Maria Harrington, said she dropped Frye off across the street from Hasbrouck Laboratory where she had an 8 a.m. class.

Police who responded to the call said Frye suffered serious visible injuries and facial lacerations. She was taken immediately by Amherst Fire Department ambulance to Cooley Dickinson Hospital in Northampton and transferred to the Baystate Medical Center at 9:20 a.m.

The Toyota's front passenger corner and the windshield were damaged, police said. Police did not have an estimate of the damage.

— LISA SHAPIRO

Quake rocks California

UPLAND, Calif., (AP) – A strong earthquake rocked a 200-mile swath of Southern California on Wednesday, triggering rock slides onto highways, causing scattered structural damage and frightening thousands.

There were no immediate reports of serious injuries in the quake, which had a preliminary magnitude of 5.5 on the Richter scale.

The tremor, which was felt from San Diego to Santa Barbara and swayed high-rise buildings in Las Vegas, 230 miles to the east, sent 70 people fleeing a collapsing warehouse wall and forced evacuation of patients from a hospital.

It was the most severe tremor in California since the October 1989 earthquake in the San Francisco Bay area that killed 67 people and awakened fears of the massive quake scientists predict in the state in coming years.

Aftershocks of varying magnitude continued to occur hours after the earthquake. The strongest, a 4.8 shaker that rattled the Upland City Hall where the City Council was meeting to discuss measures to take in the aftermath of the quake, struck at 7:24 pm.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief....Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor....George Austin
Editorial Editor....Minu Sebastian
News Editor....Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor....Jim Clark
Arts Editors....Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor....Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor....Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor....Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor....Chris Muther
Business Manager....Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager....Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager....Martina Rios
Circulation Manager....Chris Baker
Subscription Manager....Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager....Donna Cusson
Production Managers....Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager....Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business....Lori Black, Brian Harrington
Maureen Majerowski
Graphics....Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

Ortega halts attacks on Contras

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) – President Daniel Ortega declared a halt to attacks on the Contras Wednesday and called again on the United States to help dismantle the rebel force.

President-elect Violeta Barrios de Chamorro, who joined Ortega on Tuesday in asking the U.S.-backed Contras to put down their arms, praised his moves as a step forward.

"The causes of civil war in Nicaragua have disappeared," Mrs. Chamorro told a news conference. "There is no reason for war."

She said the Contras, most of them based in neighboring Honduras, "must lay down their weapons and come home to work for the reconstruction of Nicaragua."

Ortega said in a statement that he ordered all offensive military operations against the Contras to halt. He said the United States should help pay for demobilizing and relocating the rebels.

Mrs. Chamorro upset Ortega in an election on Sunday that he agreed to as part of a Central American plan for ending the war and which he clearly expected to win.

Demobilizing the Contras is the trickiest issue in transition talks that began Tuesday between Mrs. Chamorro's 14-party coalition, the United National Opposition, and the stunned Sandinistas, who have been in power for 10½ years.

Sandinista officials say they cannot give up control of the armed forces and police, both party organs, as long as the 10,000-man Contra army is intact.

Mrs. Chamorro made it clear she expects Ortega to keep his promise to turn over power and that her government plans to run the army and security forces. "I'm the one who is going to give orders," said the silver-haired widow, who was chosen to run against Ortega because of her powerful symbolic value.

The 1978 death of her husband, opposition publisher Pedro Joaquin Chamorro, touched off the revolution that overthrew dictator Anastasio Somoza and put the Sandinistas in power.

She said the Sandinastas "have to turn over everything," including the armed forces - the traditional source of real power in Latin America.

"The minister of defense will be a civilian," she declared.

The current minister, Gen. Humberto Ortega, the president's brother, leads the Sandinista transition team. Mrs. Chamorro's son-in-law and campaign manager, Antonio Lacayo, heads the United National Opposition team.

The transition talks are expected to be complex and delicate.

Carter calls for Contras to give up

WASHINGTON (AP) – Former president Jimmy Carter, who played honest broker in the Nicaraguan elections, called on the Contra rebels Wednesday to lay down their arms and remove "a military force threatening the country."

Carter commented after a 45-minute meeting with Secretary of State James A. Baker III, who told a Senate committee earlier that blending the rebels into the Central American country's political life was a delicate problem but one that would be resolved.

The former president said what happens to the Contras was "the key unresolved factor" in Nicaragua now that President-elect Violeta Chamorro has defeated Sandinista President Daniel Ortega in an election Carter helped monitor after extensive discussions with both sides.

"If you have an army on the edge of your country or in your country that still threatens military action, that's obviously a very destabilizing factor," Carter said. "I don't think there is going to be a guarantee of an orderly transition as long as the Contras are a military force threatening the country."

He commented in a curbside news conference outside the State Department. On Capital Hill, Baker declared that "the war is over" in Nicaragua despite lingering mistrust by longtime foes.

He noted that a bipartisan policy agreement between the administration and Congress last year called for "voluntary reintegration" of the rebels under safe and democratic conditions.

With Sunday's election victory by Mrs. Chamrro and a request by her and Ortega for the rebels to disband, Baker said, "those conditions are now rapidly being created."

However, he added that years of distrust had produced "legitimate fears on both sides that should be addressed."

Baker said he hoped Roman Catholic Cardinal Miguel Obando y Bravo in Managua "would be able to play a role in resolving this issue," along with the United Nations and the Organization of American States.

Recycle this COLLEGIAN

OLD NEWS PAPERS
3 FEET saves
ONE TREE

AMHERST CINEMA
THE MUSIC BOX
PG13
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week

$2.50 with student I.D.

253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA

Self Serve Typewriters
kinko's®
the copy center
220 N. Pleasant St.
253-2543

Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

ROSCO
AND BESS ARE SOUL MATES
I ♡ ROS

Mount Snow
VERMONT
Presents
$18 All day!
Sunday through Friday*
For a Whole lot of Skiing!!
77 Trails - 17 Lifts
Present a valid college I.D. at the Main Ticket Booth.
*Not valid Saturdays or during week of 2/18 - 23/90. $18 price is valid through the end of the 1989-90 Ski Season. For information call 802-464-8501.

Jesus: Model or Substitute?

Does it matter how we see Him?

Example
Substitute
Advocate
Refuge
Friend

Explore the Bible to find an answer.
Join other students at this weeks 'TOUCH' meeting, Friday, March 2, 1990
7 pm Campus Center Rm 162

Transforming Ourselves
Under Christ's
Hand

'TOUCH' is a UMASS Student Organization meeting every Friday at 7 pm in the Campus Center for singing, group discussion, support and fellowship.

LOCAL

SWAG votes to secede

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Members of Southwest Area Government voted 14-3, with 2 abstentions last night, to secede from the Student Government Association in reaction to "consistent attacks" on area governments by the SGA, according to Bob Monaghan, president of SWAG.

Calling the move a symbolic gesture, Monaghan said SWAG objects to a recommendation for the reduction of Student Activities Trust Fund allocations to area governments as presented in a report by SGA Treaserer Laura Filkins at the Undergraduate Student Senate meeting Wednesday night.

The recommendation seeks to streamline expenses of area governments, specifically SWAG and Commuter Area Government. The report outlines a plan which would drastically reduce the SATF allocation to SWAG and CAG.

A report submitted by the Student Activity Trust Fund Planning Committee review stated: "It was felt that the Area Governments, on the whole, have a great deal of money and that that money is often not used to its greatest potential."

Filkins said: "[SWAG] accounts will be frozen by 9 a.m. [this morning]. I am very upset by this. It was an ignorant and uninformed move."

SGA Speaker John Dunlap and and Chair of Budgets Committee Karen Talbot attended the meeting prepared to field questions, but both left shortly after the motion was made.

"It was apparent they weren't interested in discussing anything. If they want to secede, they're going to lose all their money," Dunlap said.

Ross Condit, chair of the Governmental Affairs Committee said: "Our constitution doesn't make allowances for the succession of an area government. The SGA either recognizes an area governmnet or does not. If SWAG considers themselves to be in succession, then I would interpret them as being unrecognized by the SGA."

Susan Church, vice-president of SWAG, interpreted the motion to be a response to the [SATF Planning Committee review] and not as a retaliation against SGA.

"Instead of SGA looking at the move as an attack on itself, we are trying to get them to work with us. But they are a part of the problem, and I doubt they will suddenly turn around and change their minds."

Sen. John Silveria, (Greek Area), and candidate for SGA president, addressed the SWAG senators as well. "We are puppets of this administration. I see this motion as a good precedent, as a symbol to show our dissatisfaction with SGA."

Sen. Angus McQuilken (CAG), candidate for student trustee, and Sen. Natasha Diephuis (Greek Area), candidate for SGA president, said, "We believe SWAG was well-intentioned. But unfortunately, this is student disempowerment, because it takes away the voice of 6,000 people who no longer have an area government to represent them."

Undergrads support GEO one-day strike

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Undergraduate students on campus yesterday were not a telling voice in the one-day boycott of classes called for by the Graduate Employee Organization, but the majority of students polled said they support the work stoppage.

GEO voted for the boycott at a membership meeting Feb. 15 in response to the administration's refusal to recognize GEO as a union.

Several students who attended yesterday's noon rally on the steps of the Student Union building, said they turned out to support GEO because of graduate students' participation during last November's undergraduate student strike held to protest state budget cuts.

"They showed us support during our strike, now it's time to show our support," said sophomore Leah Overton.

Sophomore Carla Bacon, also at the rally, said her criminology professor took advantage of yesterday's lecture period to present an informational session on the one-day stoppage.

Sophomore physics major Ron Gordon, a teaching assistant in Math 121, who was passing through the Hatch during the rally, said he was unable to attend because of work commitments. However, he said he was in support of graduate employees.

"I'm in support of them. As teachers, they have the right to protest, their pay is deplorable," Gordon said.

Junior economics and sociology major Melissa Fay said, "TAs run this place and without them the University could not function." She said her economics discussion was cancelled and her history professor passed out notes for the students who could not attend classes.

A female TA in the anthropology department, who preferred that her name not be mentioned, said that the other three TAs from her discussion section were supporting GEO in different ways.

"We are all participating in any way we can. Some have chosen to go to class and discuss the situation with their classes, some have chosen to boycott classes today," she said.

Senior wood technology major Paul Nagle said he joined the rally because of the support GEO showed throughout the undergradate student strike last fall.

"I feel it's my obligation to be out here today," Nagle said. He said no professors had discussed the work stoppage in any of his classes.

Sophomore history major Jean Meservy, said she had not been following GEO's move toward yesterday's one-day boycott. But, Meservy expects the work stoppage will receive a response similar to those unfavorable reactions expressed last year during the spring demonstrations of defense-funded research.

"They will be saying 'Look at what those kids out at UMass are doing again' instead of saying: 'Look at what those kids have to do to get noticed,'" Meservy said.

Graduate students stand in on Faculty Senate meeting

BY RUSSELL SKELTON
Collegian Correspondent

The course of business at the Faculty Senate meeting yesterday afternoon took an unexpected turn when approximately 75 graduate students, many carrying picket signs and a few holding two large banners, filed into the School of Management Auditorium and stood quietly around the edge of the hall.

The students entered the auditorium soon after the start of the meeting while Provost O'Brien was making a presentation outlining recent interaction between the administration and the Graduate Employee Organization.

O'Brien reported on a meeting of administrators and GEO representatives Tuesday and said the administration offered to sign an agreement formalizing the relation of the GEO and the administration.

He said the administration offered to schedule an election in which graduate student employees could express their unionization preference, and to continue discussion on substantive issues, such as stipends, fees, health care and job security.

O'Brien said these offers had been rejected by the GEO prior to yesterday's one-day work stoppage.

He said administrators and the GEO did agree that Chancellor Duffey would serve as a facilitator for the GEO throughout future meetings with the Board of Regents.

Mark Kenen, GEO coordinating committte member, said that in a GEO meeting held immediately before the Faculty Senate meeting yesterday, the membership had voted unanimously to meet again on April 2, to consider GEO's position.

Kenen did not rule out the possibility of further job actions after April 2, if dealings with the Board of Regents proved unsatisfactory.

In other business the Faculty Senate unanimously passed:

A motion to adopt the Special Report of the Research of the Research Council Concerning Procedures for Dealing with Charges of Misconduct in Scholarly Activities at UMass.

UM officials react to ruling

By MARC RITCHIE
Collegian Correspondent

Administrative officials expressed concern yesterday about "what message" will be sent to the University of Massachusetts community by the acquittal of four people arrested during protests last spring over military-financed research.

"I am concerned how some parts of our community interpret the jury's decision," said Dennis L. Madson, vice chancellor for student affairs.

A Northampton District Court jury acquitted Jonathan Leavitt, John Langford, and Jay Allain Tuesday of trespassing and Randy Viscio of disorderly conduct. The four were arrested last spring during a series of rallies and building takeovers to protest military-financed research at UMass. More than 150 people were arrested during the protests held in April and May.

"The University protects the right to demonstrate and to disagree," Madson said, adding that part of the role of the University is to "encourage dissent."

But, he said, "The University cannot tolerate interruption of school and disruption of the educational process. Change occurs by pressuring within the rules of the University."

BOG to probe Spartacus issue

By DARREN GARNICK
Collegian Staff

In response to Gov. Bill Hewitt's efforts to ban the Spartacus Youth League from the Campus Center and Student Union, the Board of Governors decided last night to further investigate the issue before bringing it to a vote.

Last week, Hewitt proposed to eliminate the league's campus privileges because he said the league had refused to admit some conservative students to a Feb. 20 public forum on German reunification.

Treasurer Garron Carvalho said a BOG hearing involving testimony from both sides is a necessary prerequisite to any Board attempt to resolve the dispute.

"We can't just vote on something like this without talking to the people involved," he said.

In addition, Vice-Chairperson Heather Tupper said since the league is not an official Registered Student Organization, the Board has no jurisdiction over it. She said the Board must focus on the Radical Student Union, the RSO which invited the Spartacists to campus.

Hewitt said he had no intent to ban the RSU. Calling the Spartacists a dangerous and violent organization, he said he wanted league representatives to appear at any Board hearing on this matter.

If the Board has no jurisdiction in this case, it should at least make a public statement condemning the Spartacist's actions, Hewitt said.

RSU member Owen Broadhurst said he resented Hewitt's proposal.

"The Radical Student Union objects strenuously to the recent efforts of the radical right factions in the Board of Governors to put us on trial," he said. "The Board is not a judicial body.

"We consider this an attack and an insult, and demand an apology from these factions in the Board," Broadhurst said.

In other BOG developments last night:

- Tupper said a 35 foot-long campaign banner for SGA presidential candidate Ken Parker did not comply with BOG fire safety regulations. According to Campus Center Director William Harris, the paper banner will be removed by the custodial staff if it is hung on Student Union grounds.
- Gov. Maggie Magner was named the chair of the BOG ad-hoc research committee on the sale of Playboy, Playgirl, and Penthouse magazines in the University store.

Local author Tracy Kidder speaks on education system

By MICHAEL WEBBER
Collegian Staff

"It's the society that improves education, not education that improves society," said Pulitzer Prize winning author Tracey Kidder at Amherst College Wednesday night.

"If I were the czar of everything, I wouldn't just come up with a shiny new curriculum for education reform, I'd do something about the torture so many children suffer outside of school," he said, referring to street violence and child rape as contributing to the poor education many urban children receive.

In his lecture, sponsored by Students for Educational Equality and Teach for America, Kidder discussed educational reform, public education, and his latest book "Among Schoolchildren" before some 75 people.

"Among Schoolchildren" is an account of the year he spent observing an elementary school classroom in Holyoke. The book focuses on one teacher, Mrs. Zajac, and her class of 30 students. During the 178 days he spent in the school, he said he accumulated 10,000 pages of notes.

Kidder, a resident of Williamsburg, said he chose Holyoke because he wanted to observe an urban school without relocating.

"Too often, education is blamed for problems that aren't its fault. Even if we had the best educational system in the world, we might not solve our problems," he said. "It's not a romantic notion to believe that there are already people out there working very hard for their students."

He spoke of one teacher whose students would go to class and fall asleep because beatings, noise, and other problems prevented them from getting any sleep.

Kidder criticized the argument that educational reform is necessary to im-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

TAs speak against work stoppage

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Ray Jones, a second year doctoral student at UMass, and a teaching assistant for the legal studies department and the writing program, said yesterday he agrees the GEO does not represent all graduate students.

"I signed an individual contract," Jones said. "I don't need a non-representative group telling me how my contract should be written."

He said the GEO assumes all graduate students are entitled to full financial support.

"I don't think we should have a special class of graduate students for whom that assumption applies," while others, like Jones, work forty to fifty hours per week at night to supplement their teaching assistantship income, he said.

Last year, Jones said he would have had to pay for a nine-credit course, but he was offered a job as a practicum TA. "I'm getting paid for what I would have paid for otherwise, and now people are saying they're not getting enough money," he said. "There are a lot of deserving graduate students who are desiring of teaching assistantships. If you're paying out of your pocket, just a tuition waiver looks good."

Jones said salary should not be a graduate student's primary concern.

"I'm not sure that in the main [being a TA] is not an educational experience where money is secondary."

However, Findeis said the GEO should help those graduate students who cannot live off their salaries. A minimum wage should be set to cater to those students, he said.

Jones said he questions the GEO's desire to become a union. "I suspect they want legal protection because they intend to strike."

University reacts to acquittals

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

The protesters, however, asserted that they attempted to communicate their concern about military-financed research but were not met with a satisfactory response from administrators.

Of particular concern to the protestors were studies of germs that could be used in germ warfare. The defendants tried to argue that a "greater harm" could result if the studies were not stopped but Judge Edward Shea had not allowed them to use the argument during last week's trial.

Arthur Hilson, executive director of the Department of Public Safety, was in charge of security during the protests last spring. Previous cases have resulted in fines and probations for protestors arrested at the same demonstrations.

Hilson said the "system did not mete out the penalty" for the protestors' actions.

"I am disappointed," Hilson said. "[The acquittal] does send a message that it's okay to stop work and occupy buildings. They were guilty ... [and] should pay the consequences."

Kidder

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

the United State's economic competitiveness.

"'If we fix the schools we'll sell more cars' has gotten really tiresome. Human happiness and welfare are worth more than making money. We don't need a better reason for reform than the children themselves," he said.

Kidder graduated from Harvard, studied at the University of Iowa, and was an Army officer in Vietnam. He has also written "Our House," and "The Soul of a New Machine," for which he won a Pulitzer Prize in 1982.

Railroad Stores SALVAGE
SALE ENDS MAR 8TH
Hampshire Mall, Route 9, Hadley, MA

FURNITURE CLEARANCE
OF ALL FLOOR SAMPLES AND DISPLAY ITEMS AT
10%-50% OFF OUR PRICES
SAVE UP TO 80% OFF NORMAL PRICES
LIVING ROOMS • DINETTES
BEDROOMS • MATTRESSES
ENTERTAINMENT CENTERS
COMPUTER FURNITURE

BROADLOOM CARPET BUY-OUT
SAVE 50% TO 80%
This is a tremendous assortment of partial rolls and roll balances
• DuPont Antron® Nylon • DuPont Certified Stainmaster Carpet • Monsanto Ultron • Nylon Wear Dated® • Monsanto Wear Dated® Gold Label Carpet with Locked-In Stainblocker®
DUPONT CERTIFIED STAINMASTER™ CARPET
ANSO V worryfree FROM ALLIED FIBERS
• Multicolor Cut Loop
• Solid Color Saxony
• Solid Color Cut Pile
• Tailored Cut Pile
• Textured Cut Pile
• Velvet Cut Pile
• Boucle Cut Pile
• Multicolor Saxony
ENTIRE STOCK OF BROADLOOM AT ONE LOW LOW PRICE
VALUE $14.00 TO $35.00
NOW $7.00 SQ.YD.
Assortment May Vary From Store to Store

LADIES SPRING
• SKIRTS
• SLACKS
POLY/COTTON • RAYON
• 100% COTTON
• LINEN LOOK SOLIDS • PRINTS
VALUE $16 TO $20 NOW $6.88
BRAND NAMES

RESTAURANT STRENGTH 15"x25"
TERRY KITCHEN TOWELS
• HEMMED BOTTOM
• MADE IN CHINA
SEVERAL PATTERNS TO CHOOSE
VALUE $5.96
NOW 4 FOR $2.75

70"x72" DELUXE VINYL
SHOWER CURTAINS
FLORALS • GEOMETRICS
METAL GROMMETS FOR STURDY WEAR
Many Patterns to Choose
Butterfly Stripe
Deco Plaid
Desiree
Poppy
Concord
Springtime
Moire
Shimmer
and more
COMP VALUE $9.95-$10.95
OUR $6.99 NOW $4.88

COLORED TRANSLUCENT
WINDOW SHADES
37¼"x6'
SAVE 33%
BLUE
ORANGE
GREEN
RED
LILAC
YELLOW
AND MORE
OUR REG $2.99 NOW $1.99 EACH
SALE SHADES CUT AT NO CHARGE

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK — round trips from

LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID'. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

amc THEATRES
$3.50 TWILITE SHOW LIMITED TO SEATING
MT. FARMS 4 MT. FARMS MALL 584-9153

Men Don't Leave
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:15
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:15
Sun at 12:15, 2:45 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30

Glory Civil War Drama
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:00, 2:30 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:15
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:15
R

TOM CRUISE BORN ON THE FOURTH OF JULY
A true story
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:00, 10:00
Sat at 1:30 (4:15 at 3.50) 7:00, 10:00
Sun at 12:00, 2:30 (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
Mon-Thurs at (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
R

A rebel & his mike.
Roger & Me
Fri at (4:45 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sat at 2:00 (4:45 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sun at 12:15, 2:45 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:30
R

HAMPSHIRE 6 HAMPSHIRE MALL 584-7550

REVENGE
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:00, 9:45
Sat at 1:15 (4:15 at 3.50) 7:00, 9:45
Sun at 12:00, 2:45 (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
Mon-Thurs at (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
R

Hard To Kill
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sun at 12:30, 3:15 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
R

There is no good news.
Madhouse
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sun at 12:30, 3:15 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
PG13

THE HUNT FOR RED OCTOBER
Fri at (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 10:00
Sat at 1:15 (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 10:00
Sun at 12:00, 2:45 (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
Mon-Thurs at (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
PG

DRIVING MISS DAISY
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 1:30 (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:15, 3:00 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
PG

LORI WAS WRONG! NIGHT BREED
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 1:30 (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:15, 3:00 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
R

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

A light of hope lingers

February 26, 1990 was a sad day that will be remembered by Nicaraguans and those in solidarity with their revolution for a long time to come.

The unexpected election results shocked observers on both sides. Reality is slow to sink in while its implications are just beginning to surface and its impact on the country remains to be seen.

Judy Lieberman

While politicians in Washington are congratulating themselves for another foreign policy success, there are many like myself who don't see the overthrow of the Sandinista government as cause for celebration.

The spirit of triumph did not fill the air in the cities and countryside of Nicaragua after the vote. Instead, an atmosphere of stunned disbelief prevailed. The mandate that brought Violeta Chamorro to power as head of a fifteen-party opposition coalition, and ousted Daniel Ortega, is being presented as a choice of democracy over communism, and a validation of U.S. policy.

We who worked against our government's policies of oppression here and in Nicaragua, who were infected with the spirit of grass roots change and possibly even justice, are now expected to be silent. After all, the elections were certified "free and fair" by the Organization of American States, United Nations and ex-president Carter.

The influence of the United States in this outcome cannot be denied.

The opportunity to see what the revolution might have accomplished if given a chance to succeed has now been lost. I saw just one slice of life which embodied both the spirit of the revolution and the impact of the effort against it.

The revolution had touched those lives in many ways directly. It had given them land and made them cooperative owners of the farm on which they had labored for generations.

It brought schools and health centers to their isolated mountain valleys. Most noticeably, it created channels for campesinos to participate directly in shaping the policies which would affect their lives.

On the other hand, it was hard to accept the conditions of poverty that I had to watch.

In the last few years of steady economic decline, progress had been turned backwards, and the struggle for survival intensified. I also heard story after heartbreaking story of so many loved ones lost to the war.

From this contradiction, the Nicaraguan people voted, not with their hearts, but with their empty bellies. The message from a people worn down was "bastante" (enough), and the ideas of the revolution were sacrificed for a pragmatic choice of food, and a chance for peace.

The Nicaraguan revolution, nevertheless, was a light of hope, visible far beyond the borders of that small country.

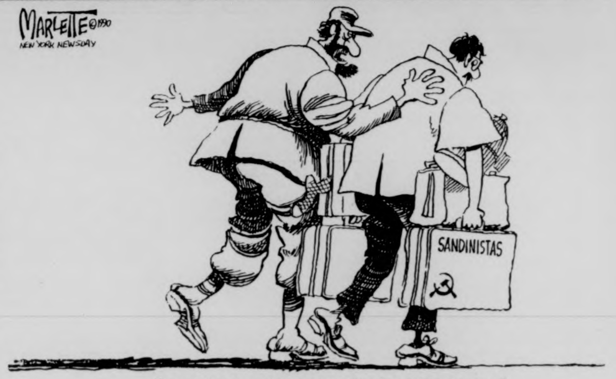
Daniel Ortega continues to be a teacher to us all, in his unwavering dedication to the Nicaraguan people, and the ongoing struggle for true freedom and fairness in his country.

Nobody who has heard him speak could doubt the sincerity that guided the popular Sandinista Front at the "forefront of the defense of the interests of the people. . . at the forefront of the struggle for Nicaraguan self-determination and of that struggle for peace."

Ortega has said that the Sandinista Front will remain a strong force and continue to work from below. So we too should continue in solidarity with the Nicaraguan people to be vigilant that social inroads are not turned back, that peasants can keep the land they won, and that policies that addressed the concerns of women and the poor are not abandoned.

We must continue to speak up and turn our words into action, so that the dream that fueled the revolution may still be realized.

Judy Lieberman is a UMass student



"I TOLD YOU DEMOCRACY DOESN'T WORK!"

Junkyard scavenger ponders lifetime of defunct vehicles

I recently went to an auto salvage yard with a friend. It started out as a normal quest for a spare part on his new imported car, and ended up being much more.

I'm normally not a nostalgic person, but seeing the many heaps of junk that used to belong to people like myself reminded me of the day I brought my car to a similar junkyard.

I don't know much about cars or their innards, but seeing the old drive shafts, axles and shocks strewn about the inoperable vehicles was a unique experience that I will not soon forget. I felt like a child at a huge garage sale that offered hundreds of toys. Unfortunately, all these toys were broken and useless.

It had just rained, so car windows that were still intact gleamed with droplets of water, while the steel frames corroded where they were. The ground, however, which was previously frozen, had begun to thaw. The weight of all these lifeless tons of metal seemed to entrench the entire scrapyard into the mud. It didn't matter much, though, because each car knew, once inside the front gates, there was no hope of driving down a country road again.

It saddened me to be among so many memories, none of which belonged to me. Every car, truck and van had its own unique story.

Whenever the wind blew and an old hunk of metal stirred, it was as if each vehicle was communicating to each other their own distinctive recollections.

I walked in and out of the hollow vans, and it seemed that I was violating someone's privacy. I was looking through a stranger's photo album.

E. Douglas Banks

With every page I turned, another shell of someone's life appeared, inviting me in. But when I stuck my head in the glassless windows, all I could see were broken dashboards, cobwebs and missing front seats.

We were scavengers. "Pull out an odometer here, the emergency brake is good on that one," and then go home in our own functional car.

I asked myself, "How did these cars get here? Did they get into accidents to find their resting place here?" Some of them. "Did they just break down and get abandoned somewhere?" Probably.

The rest have their own story to tell, but we'll never know what they are because all we do is pick the meat off their steel bones like a vulture on a carcass.

I sat down in the driver's seat of a defunct Jaguar, ordinarily my dream car. This time there was nothing but a feeling of emptiness as I looked out the soiled windshield.

Was it because I would never be able to hear the engine roar in this luxury sports car? Even if there was an ignition switch, I never would have turned it.

When I was a little boy, I learned that goldfish, flowers and even the little seeds you plant in your backyard all die. So do our cars, our family and ourselves.

There is a difference between going to a salvage yard and a graveyard, however. People are buried in a graveyard. These cars, truck and vans are left out in the elements, lifeless and corroding.

A few months from now the hot sun will cause their remaining paint to blister and peel, but nobody will notice because they aren't thinking of the cars — only what's in them to take.

All these spare-part scavengers, scurrying in and out of old cars, will probably never know the history behind each hubcap, hood ornament and dashboard panel they are taking as their own. But, boy, that new rear-view mirror would sure look good in my car.

E. Douglas Banks is a UMass student

Jury verdict shows view of residents

On Tuesday, February 28, 1990, a jury of six citizens in the Northampton District Court returned a unanimous decision of "not guilty" on four members of People for a Socially Responsible University.

This "not guilty" verdict says that citizens of the local community are with us in our struggle to see an end to military research and corporate influence at the University. But, the jury's message was not only a local message, it was a national one as well.

In his closing argument, Assistant District Attorney, Fred Bartman, stated to the jury, "You are the conscience of the nation."

The implication is that the "conscience of the country" found us not guilty, and in doing so, brought a symbolic "guilty" verdict against the military and/or the University administration, their priorities and their actions.

We never disputed the facts. By the University administration's standards we were guilty. However, on a moral, political and economic level, we were right and innocent of crime.

We reiterate our demand for a process of economic conversion from military sources to civilian sources of research. We have a unanimous decision — a mandate — to carry out such actions in the future if the University administration continues to refuse negotiations.

Jonathan Leavitt
Randy Viscio
Five College Community

Wait-persons expect courtesy

I have been waitressing at Friendly's and McManus's for two years now, and I have been harassed, hit-upon and insulted by more customers than I wish to remember.

I'm sure that at one point or another you have gone to Friendly's and laughed at the corny uniforms the wait-people have to wear, or have stumbled drunk into McManus's with a group of your friends, being loud and obnoxious.

Lavina Gammon

I understand that these actions can be amusing, but too often people forget to show the courtesy that should be accorded to all human beings.

Perhaps people forget that a wait-person is human. Or a prankster may think that since they are finding themselves funny, everyone else is, too.

I'm not sure what the mentality is behind rude, crude and belligerent customers, but I'm sure that I'm sick of it.

Some people seem to think that they are free to do as they please once they enter a restaurant. They can make a mess, talk loudly and rudely order the wait-staff to do outrageous chores.

I would like to take a moment to give you some tips on what is not cool to do to a wait-person.

Pouring ketchup and the rejected parts of your meal on the table is out. Asking idiotic questions about the menu, food preparation, the bathrooms, prices or any other minuscule detail that ridicules the restaurant is not funny.

When a waitress asks a customer what he wants, she does not want to hear "you, babe." Nor does she want to hear about what sexual acts are your specialty. And she certainly does not want to find your phone number left on the table in place of a tip.

The other night I waited upon a customer. Coming to the end of my shift (about 3:30 a.m.), a woman informed me that she had discovered a piece of sausage in her mushroom and cheese omelette. I apologized and started to move away, but she called me back.

She told me that she wanted a new omelette. Since she had eaten everything on her plate except for the offending sausage, I told her that that would be impossible. She did not take this news too well.

She stood up and loudly refused to pay. After about half an hour, she did pay for half of her meal. Throughout the fiasco, she was rude and abusive to the whole wait-staff and annoyed the other customers.

I don't understand where people get off being so unpleasant. Just because wait-people are supposed to serve customers doesn't mean they are slaves or idiots. Most of the restaurant staffs in the Amherst area consist of intelligent, hard-working, self-respecting students.

It appears that some people feel that since they are paying for their meal, they have the right to abuse their wait-person. Amazingly enough, the most belligerent customers are usually the ones that don't leave any tip or leave less than the customary 15 percent.

The worse part of this situation is that most restaurants maintain the policy that "customers are always right."

Many restaurants will fire a wait-person for talking back to a customer. The only thing a wait-person can do is put on a smile and ignore a problematic customer.

All I can say is that, before you go to a restaurant and harass your wait-person, think twice about what you're doing.

If you've had a hard day, please stay at home.

Don't go to a restaurant and ruin someone else's day.

Lavina Gammon is a Collegian correspondent

Paramount
SPRINGFIELD

The Rocky Horror Picture Show
Saturday, March 10
8 pm & Midnight

Marlboro Music
DAVE EDMUNDS' ROCK & ROLL REVUE
March 13, 7:30 pm
featuring
DAVE EDMUNDS
DION
GRAHAM PARKER
KIM WILSON
and
STEVE CROPPER • TERRY WILLIAMS
PHIL CHEN • DAVE CHARLES • GAVIN POVIE
THE MIAMI HORNS

Alice Cooper
with special guest The Front
March 15, 7:30 pm

Tickets on sale March 3 Dan Seals YZ 92.5
Saturday, March 17, 8 pm

BIG RIVER WMAS 40 BAY STATE
Saturday, March 24, 8 pm

The Temptations
with special guest
Bonnie Pointer
March 25, 7:30 pm

Great White
with special guests
McAuley Schenker Group
and
Havana Black
Saturday, April 7, 8 pm

Tickets on sale March 17.
THE SMOTHERS BROTHERS
FEATURING "THE YO-YO MAN"
$1.00 off per ticket for groups of 20 or more!
Friday, April 27, 8 pm

1700 Main St., Springfield
Box Office (413) 734-5874
Open M-F 10-5 and Sat. 12-5
TICKETRON
TICKETRON PHONE CHARGE
800-382-8080
Presented by LIVE Productions

★ ★ SUN & FUN ★ KIDS & CAMPING ★ ★
★ ★ SWIMMING & BOATING ★ ★
★ OUTDOOR LIVING ★

Timber Trails, a 9 week resident Girl Scout Camp in the Berkshires, is looking for staff...
GYMNASTICS DIRECTOR ★ UNIT LEADERS RIDING STAFF ★ WATERFRONT, PHOTOGRAPHY & RADIO INSTRUCTORS REGISTERED NURSES, COOKS & KITCHEN STAFF

Call or write: Timber Trails, HC 60 Box 158,
Tolland, MA 01034 413-258-4592

ACADEMY of MUSIC
NORTHAMPTON
Opera House 584-8435

4th WEEK! (Arrive 15 mins early for good seating)
ONLY AREA SHOWING—CURTAIN DAILY 7 & 9

DANIEL DAY-LEWIS is superb as the Irish painter and writer Christy Brown, born with cerebral palsy...A TREMENDOUS CELEBRATION OF LIFE.

5 ACADEMY AWARD NOMINATIONS!
Including "BEST" PICTURE-ACTOR-DIRECTOR & SUPPORT. ACTRESS

WINNER! "BEST" PICTURE
N.Y. Film Critics Circle

"A TITANIC TRIUMPH!
A MOTION PICTURE THAT EXPLODES WITH PASSION, HUMILITY AND LIFE."
—REX REED

"ENORMOUSLY ENTERTAINING!
TWO VERY ENTHUSIASTIC THUMBS UP!."
—SISKEL & EBERT

Daniel Day-Lewis
MY LEFT FOOT

A story about life, laughter, and the occasional miracle.
MIRAMAX A Miramax Films Release © 1989 All Rights Reserved R

AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

the COMEDY ZONE
PEKING GARDEN RESTAURANT
Route 9 Hadley
Next to Hadley Subaru

FRIDAY MARCH 2
CRAIG MITCHELL
JIM STOCK

SAT MARCH 3
PRIVATE SHOW
SOLD OUT

SUN MARCH 4, 7:30PM
COMEDY
OPEN STAGE
Think you're funny?
Sign up before 7:15
UMASS' Rowan
Henry will be here!

Monday - Thursday 5 - 8 p.m.
All you can eat
BUFFET
$5.99

COMEDY RESERVATIONS
586-1202 585-8615

11:30 - 3 p.m.
All You Can Eat
SUNDAY BRUNCH
$6.99

SPECIAL EVENT
SUN MARCH 25, 8 PM
One of Top 10
Political Comics in USA
BARRY
CRIMMINS
Featured on HBO,
CNN, 60 Minutes, over
30 TV appearances!
$8.00 tix on sale soon

All Comedy Info
585-8615
20% OFF DINNERS
FOR COMEDY PATRONS
All Ages - All shows

Attention Seniors
Only 68 Reservation Days
Left 'til Graduation!!

Make Reservations Early

Carbur's a Graduation Tradition

Carbur's
Restaurant and Lounge
Rt. 9 Hadley
Between Amherst and Northampton
586-1978

UMASS SKI CLUB
SKI & PARTY WEEK
PRESENTS
Killington VERMONT
for $33 3/3/90 SAT.
Members
(Non-members + $10)

Leaves
6:30—T-House
6:45—Hasbrouck
7:00—Southwest

Sign-ups: 545-3437
430 Student Union

ARTS & LIVING

It's a killer kool Jesus and a poppy Momus

By JON DRUKMAN
Collegian Correspondent

My Life With The Thrill Kill Kult are a Belgian duo who are really making a name for themselves in the industrial dance scene. Recently, Wax Trax released a compact disc which has all their 12' singles compiled on it. It's priced cheap, and for the amount of music you get, it's a real steal. It starts off with their most recent single, "Kooler Than Jesus" which is all pumped up bass and toe tapping beat. Groovy isn't singing much on this track, or its' companion, "Devil Bunnies," leaving most of the vocals to sampled voices or the Kult's collaborators, The Bomb Gang Girls.

Also included are two remixes of "... And This Is What the Devil Does!" from their last album. Although they are both long, and eventually tedious, they are not without some merit.

Rounding out the compilation are the three tracks from their first 12', including a nifty slow atmospheric number called Resisting The Spirit."

DISC JUNKIE

All in all it's a very good batch of industrial dance tunes. Worth your while if that's what you're looking for.

Next we turn to a singer/ songwriter from England named Momus. He is one of our last remaining storytellers. He used to be more traditional, in that he'd strum away on his guitar in a folky fashion and croon his lyrics but on his latest album "Don't Stop The Night," he's gone acid house. Maybe it would be more appropriate to call this acid pop, since it is more like good pop songs combined with techno trickery for effect. Momus' voice, used to be just a little too airy fairy precious for comfort, and while he's still breathy here, he's toned it down just enough to make it more pleasant. It still might take a little getting used to for some people though. Consider yourself warned.

We mentioned earlier that Momus is a storyteller. There are so few of them making good music these days that finding a new one is a joy. The stories he tells are usually involved with sex, and usually some weird sex too. The first track, "Trust Me, I'm a doctor" is about a physician who specializes in "the ailments of the actress." While the acid beat pulses ominously, Momus plays out his tale of seduction. It's very effective.

Other stand-out tracks include "How Do You Find My Sister?" which is a scandalesque tale about a guy who gets his sister to sleep with all sorts of powerful businessmen and politicians, and "The Cabriolet" which is a sick tale about a fellow who unexpectedly finds himself turning into a necrophiliac.

We always knew, deep down inside, that if someone could take the excellent production values of dance tunes and pair them with brilliantly crafted pop songs then something spectaculor would result. Big Audio Dynamite did this last year, and now it seems that it's Momus' turn. Unfortunately, the album is still import only, on England's Creation label. Try to find this album, though. It's well worth the effort.

Abstract art show is symphony for eyes

By LAVINIA GAMMON
Collegian Correspondent

A new exhibition of abstract art entitled "Eye Music" by Chet Cramer, opens Sunday, March 4 at the Amherst Community Gallery. Featuring Cramer's new abstact oil paintings and pastel studies, the show run until Mar. 31.

Cramer graduated from the University of Massachusetts in 1986 with a Master of Fine Arts degree in Painting. Since his graduation, he has been engaged in a private study of American abstract painter Richard Dibenkorn, who Cramer considers to be one of the greatest abstract artists today.

Cramer's paintings are very reminiscent of Dibenkorn's style. His success in abstract painting is due to his concentration on Dibenkorn's abstract techniques.

Originally, Cramer painted representationally, but he soon became intrigued by the manner in which art could leave a mark. "Art can say, 'Look, somebody was here.' Abstract shows this," says Cramer.

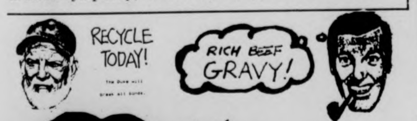
"By carefully analyzing Dibenkorn's style and methods, Cramer was able to break into abstract art. "Abstract art helped loosen me up about how to handle paint, and I loved it so I kept doing it," says Kramer.

Once Cramer discovered abstract painting, he began to learn his own style. Last July he began to put his work together for his current show. Several of his paintings and pastel studies on display are pieces of his work that he built and founded his own style on.

Cramer chose to entitle his exhibit "Eye Music" because he felt it expressed the feeling of his show. He said, "It is like a symphony, rather for your eyes than your ears."

Photo courtesy of Rounder

FLYING HIGH — The Horseflies, the favorite band of 10,000 Maniacs, bring their unique swing, fiddle, new wave folk sound to Pearl Street tomorrow night.



RECYCLE TODAY!
RICH BEEF GRAVY!

Helen's HAIR'UM SALON

A Creative Hair Salon Specializing in:
Wave Nouveau • Leisure Curl
Care Free Curl • Weaves • Extensions
Braids • Color • Permanent Waves
Design Cuts • We have ethnic make-up
228 Triangle Street • Amherst • 549-3999
139 Dwight Street • Springfield • 734-4234
Monday thru Saturday

BRUEGGER'S
BAGEL BAKERY
Bagels • Bagel Sandwiches
Cookies • Brownies • Baked Fresh
All Day • Custom Cream Cheese
Open 7 Days
170 N. Pleasant St. • Amherst, MA
253-5713

Dream Study Group
Modest Fee
Led By Senior Jungian Analyst
Write P. O. Box 60324, Florence, MA

LEGAL PROBLEMS?
Call the Legal Services Center of UMass!
HOUSING · FAMILY · STUDENT RIGHTS · CIVIL RIGHTS · WORKERS RIGHTS · CRIMINAL AND CONSUMER LAW
Call 545-1995

New England Medical Center Hospital: Where Nursing Comes To LIFE.

Student Nursing Internship Program
Open House

The important work of Nurses at New England Medical Center Hospitals made the pages of Life Magazine last October. It's a revealing look at the critical role our nurses play in the patient care decision-making process. Now you can join the people behind this notable method of healthcare delivery by taking advantage of our special Student Nursing Internship Program.

After a 5-week training course, you're ready for a 7-week internship with one of the areas most respected healthcare institutions. You'll get a first-hand look at the respected role of a New England Medical Center Nurse. And you'll gain valuable experience with a first-rate hospital that gets results — and gets noticed.

To explore this special program, stop by our Open House on Thursday March 15, 1990, between 10:00am – 5:30pm at Farnsworth One, Conference Room, New England Medical Center, 750 Washington Street, Box 465, Boston, MA 02111. If you need further information call Lorrie Costanza in Nurse Recruiting at (617) 956-5575. We are an equal opportunity employer, m/f/v/h.

New England Medical Center Hospitals
WE'RE DOING IMPORTANT WORK ALL THE TIME.

Diamonds shine on mightily

By AL KAUFMAN
Collegian Staff

Photo courtesy of Fast Lane

Reggae greats Mighty Diamonds play Pearl Street Monday night.

Take some carbon, squeeze it really tight, and you have a diamond.

Take the music of Bob Marley, mix in the stage mannerisms of the Four Tops, and you have the Mighty Diamonds.

The Mighty Diamonds are a reggae trio whose sweet harmonies have awed reggae lovers for over 20 years. They consist of Donald Shaw (Tabby Diamond), Lloyd Ferguson (Judge Diamond) and Fitzroy Simpson (Bunny Diamond).

After growing up together in Trenchtown, Jamacia, home of countless reggae greats, the group went into Dynamic Studios in 1970. By 1973, the reggae band with the pretty melodies and harmonies had their first hit, "Shame and Pride," under the production of Rupie Edwards.

From then on, the Diamonds chiseled out more gems. They funkified Tom Bell's "Country Living," and recorded the classic album Right Time.

After touring extensively and working with the likes of Sly Dunbar and Robbie Shakespeare, the band finally found their niche in America, signing with Virgin Records.

But it wasn't until they hooked up with producer Gussie Clarke that the Diamonds truly began to sparkle. They recorded the album Changes, which yielded them the world-wide hit "Pass the Kutchie." The song was later redone by Musical Youth (who are to reggae what New Kids on the Block are to pop) under the name "Pass the Dutchie."

While they continued to record their sweet, Motown influenced songs, juxtaposed with often militant lyrics, to great critical acclaim, their earnings would not even buy them a cubic zirconia (The bad puns continue.).

Then came the Reggae Sunsplash Tour of 1986. Crossing the United States with Leroy Stubbles, Judy Mowatt and Black Uhuru, mainstream America finally saw why these Diamonds are so mighty.

Live, they put on a 2 karat (These must stop) performance. Blending their energy packed melodies with synchronized dance steps, their show lasts forever in your mind.

The Mighty Diamonds will be sparkling under the lights of the Pearl Street stage on Monday, Mar. 5 at 7 p.m. Local reggae favorites, the Equalites, will open the 18 and over show. Tickets are $9.

Rapture from the jungle

By SAAD HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

Done By the Forces of Nature
Jungle Brothers
****

Funky New-York hardcore rap/hip-hop trio the Jungle Brothers have just come out with some vicious stuff.

Just in reading the album title, Done By The Forces Of Nature, I knew that this was at least going to be thought provoking. And it is. It's only March, but this record is one of the year's best. These guys have dropped a bomb on the ignorant masses of America, have faced rabid criticism and are now selling lots of records. Just goes to prove that people flock to hear the truth.

The shameful result of this year's Grammys probably means the Jungle Brothers will be nominated and won't win; even more reason to go out and buy this record. How could one pass up an opportunity to listen to such great songs as "Acknowledge Your Own History," "Tribe Vibes," or "J. Beez Commin' Through?" You can tell they've been listening to other creative artists. Few rap acts have used the Bongwater method of blending humor with social consciousness.

In "In Dayz '2' Come," they sampled from a recorded conversation between a radio talk show host and a woman who asked, "Are there any records of Black music these days that are popular, or is it just about rape?" meaning to say "rap." If you didn't know that she was simply ignorant of music, you could assume she was equivocating rap with rape. Much like most socially conscious members of our society, the Jungle Brothers enjoy throwing ignorance in people's faces to make them recognize their own stupidity.

Even more impressive is the song "Black Woman," an ode to the beauty of the African-American female. This song is unique in the respect that no band, rap, rock, country or R and B has paid such compliment to our sisters. Black women in this country are considered to be virtually inferior, when they are amongst the strongest and most determined human beings on this planet. Although musically it sounds like nails scraping against a chalkboard for three and a half minutes, the lyrical content is intense.

As is the whole record. Apart from a couple of songs at the end of the tape that sound like something Young "I'm So Harmless It Defies Description" MC would write, it's generally impressive. And it's much better than that "I Think I Can Beat Mike Tyson" hogwash.

Hardcore hits Hampshire

By RIC OLIVEIRA
Collegian Correspondent

You walk into the Saga dining commons, and all around you the smoke dances up sensually swallowing your body. There is a loud, violent, snarling crunch in the air. Twenty years ago it could have been the Stooges but now it's not. On Saturday Mar. 3, hell's own gates will surround the Hampshire campus as WOZQ and the Hampshire Alternative Music Collective present a punk fest to remember.

Headlining the show will be the LunaChicks. The Lunachicks are a Brooklyn, New York band composed of five street-tough women. Their most recent gigs have been in Europe and L.A., but now they will make their Massachusetts debut at Hampshire.

The Lunachicks are, as one critic put it, "The ballsiest women to ever pick up instruments." Expect to hear the Lunas belch out "Making It With Other Species" and "Get Off the Road." The Lunas state their influences as "the bitchin' '70s stuff," such as Kiss, Alice Cooper and the Stooges.

Also playing Saturday will be the Mad Daddies, who hail from New Brunswick, New Jersey, just south of the Lunas. They are currently on Sub-Pop records and have been touring New York and L.A. Their Influences include the mighty Iggy and the Stooges and the Cramps.

Warming the way for the Mad Daddies will be the Reverb Mother Fuckers. And if that name does not clue you in to their nature then nothing will. The Reverbs are from the Lower East Side of New York and are club favorites there. They have one album out called Route 666 which is on Rage Age records. Expect to hear some new stuff Saturday from their forth coming LP due in March on Rage Records. The Reverbs played here at UMass last year with Bullet La Volta.

To open the show a local Hampshire band, Mister Softee, has been booked. Mister Softee is considered one of the best Hampshire bands around, by their fans, but will have quite a crowd to warm up for.

WOZQ has put together a night of music which will exhume and reap the true spirit of rock 'n' roll rebellion with a vengeance. So you have no excuses, tickets will be on sale at the door. Gates open at 8:30 and are expected to stay open until 1 a.m. It's $1 a band and all of the smoke that you can inhale.

Women's Shoes, Clothing & Accessories
Zanna • 187 North Pleasant Street • Amherst
413.253.2563

ZANNA

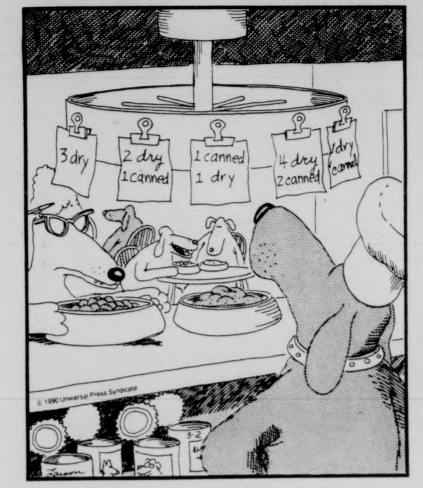
OUR SOLES
ARE DEPARTING.

WHAT'S LEFT SALE...
ALL WINTER SHOES AND CLOTHES
40-70% OFF

INDOOR MINIATURE GOLF
THIS MAN IS PUTTING FOR:
A - BIRDIE
B - BOGEY
C - PAR

BRING THIS AD IN THURSDAY-SATURDAY
GIVE US THE RIGHT ANSWER & WIN A FREE
ROUND OF MINI-GOLF WITH A REGULAR
PURCHASE OF MINI-GOLF.
BIRDIES & BOGEYS
HOLYOKE MALL - LOWER LEVEL - 536-3765
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
OFFER EXPIRES MARCH 31, 1990

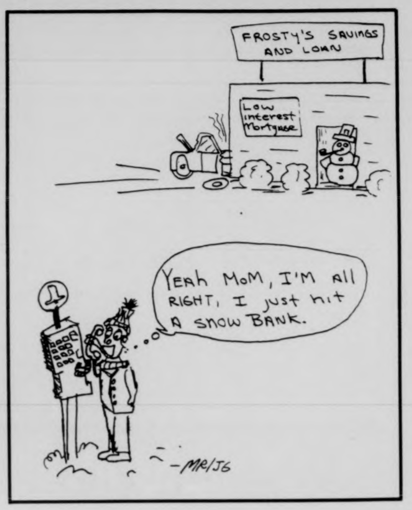
THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



3 dry
2 dry 1 canned
1 canned 1 dry
4 dry 2 canned
1 dry 1 canned
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-2

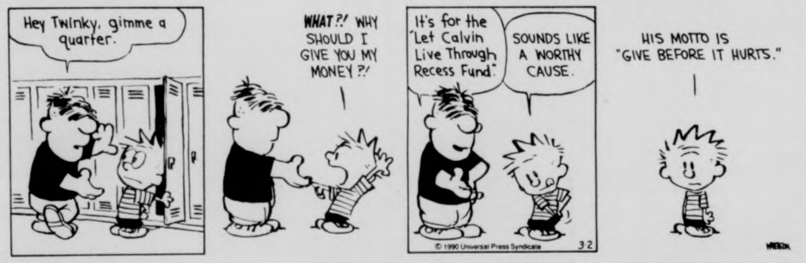
Dog restaurants

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



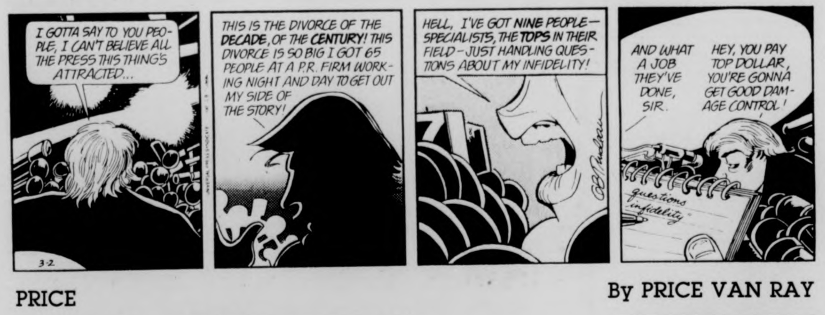
FROSTY'S SAVINGS AND LOAN
Low interest Mortgage
YEAH MOM, I'M ALL RIGHT, I JUST HIT A SNOW BANK.
-MR/JG

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



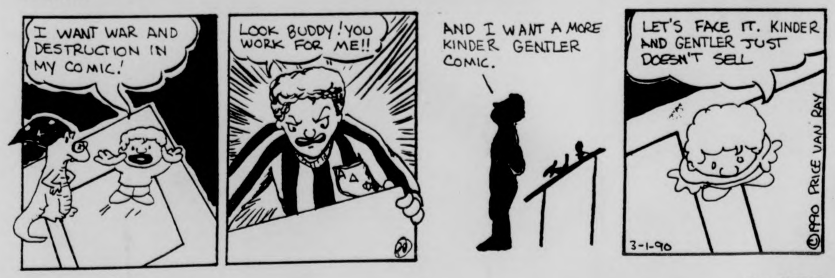
Hey Twinky, gimme a quarter.
WHAT?! WHY SHOULD I GIVE YOU MY MONEY?!
It's for the "Let Calvin Live Through Recess Fund."
SOUNDS LIKE A WORTHY CAUSE.
HIS MOTTO IS "GIVE BEFORE IT HURTS."
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-2

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



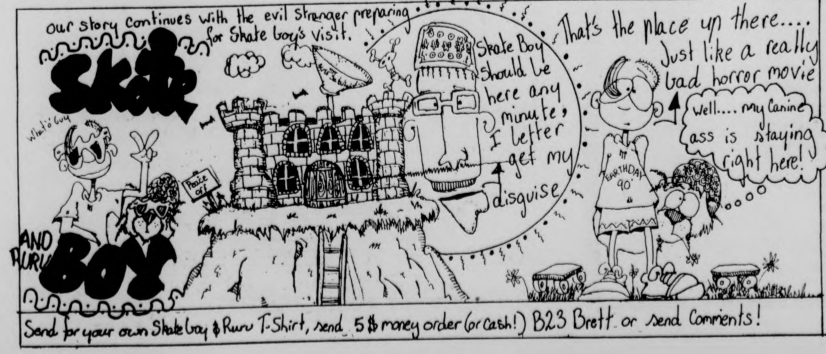
I GOTTA SAY TO YOU PEOPLE, I CAN'T BELIEVE ALL THE PRESS THIS THING'S ATTRACTED...
THIS IS THE DIVORCE OF THE DECADE, OF THE CENTURY! THIS DIVORCE IS SO BIG I GOT 65 PEOPLE AT A P.R. FIRM WORKING NIGHT AND DAY TO GET OUT MY SIDE OF THE STORY!
HELL, I'VE GOT NINE PEOPLE— SPECIALISTS, THE TOPS IN THEIR FIELD—JUST HANDLING QUESTIONS ABOUT MY INFIDELITY!
AND WHAT A JOB THEY'VE DONE, SIR.
HEY, YOU PAY TOP DOLLAR, YOU'RE GONNA GET GOOD DAMAGE CONTROL!
questions infidelity
3-2

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



I WANT WAR AND DESTRUCTION IN MY COMIC!
LOOK BUDDY! YOU WORK FOR ME!!
AND I WANT A MORE KINDER GENTLER COMIC.
LET'S FACE IT. KINDER AND GENTLER JUST DOESN'T SELL
3-1-90
©1990 PRICE VAN RAY

NIPPLE
By PITT



our story continues with the evil Stranger preparing for Skate boy's visit.
Skate AND RURU BOY
Peace off
Skate Boy should be here any minute, I better get my disguise
That's the place up there.... Just like a really bad horror movie
Well.... my Canine ass is staying right here!
EARTHDAY 90'
Send for your own Skate boy & Ruru T-Shirt, send 5$ money order (or cash!) B23 Brett or send Comments!

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

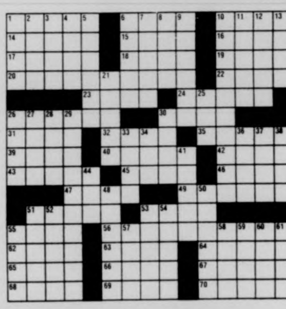
ACROSS
1 Shows surprise
6 Living room feature
10 Dillon of the movies
14 Ne plus —
15 Stuffy
16 Poet Khayyam
17 Footrest
18 Christiania, today
19 Goddess of victory
20 Arena
22 Double curve
23 Air
24 "Bring home the —"
26 Chief Justice: 1953-69
30 One of the 3 B's
31 Medley
32 Otherwise
35 Chaplin character
39 List of persons
40 Role for a Shakespearean actor
42 Pitcher Hershiser
43 Without funds
45 Sound of pleasure
46 Neighbor of Phoenix
47 Container weight
49 Slick
51 Disclosed
53 Wife, in Osnabruck
55 French or Dutch item
56 Hannah, for one
62 Southern constellation
63 Gulf of —
64 Michelangelo work
65 Per —
66 California team
67 Correct
68 43,560 square feet
69 "With this ring I — wed"
70 Singer Newman

DOWN
1 Surge
2 High: Comb. form
3 Cease
4 Bolster
5 Veiled dancer
6 Germ cell
7 Welles of "Citizen Kane"
8 Movie
9 One-celled creature
10 Early television picture
11 Barcelona buddy
12 Caught
13 Corner
21 Type of railroad car
25 Part of 38 Down
26 Jaded
27 Cosmetic ingredient
28 Stravinsky's "The — of Spring"
29 Appian Way, once
30 — and skittles (fun)
33 Gentle gait
34 Tex. school
36 Word with code or rug
37 Hodgepodge
38 Neil Simon product
41 Church instrument
44 Large bovine
48 Bulletin
50 Steering device
51 — acid
52 Okay!
53 Sweetheart
54 Wash out
55 Modern art movement
57 Oriental nurse
58 Avatar of Vishnu
59 Baker's need
60 Take care of
61 MacDonald's partner

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

L	O	A	F	■	M	A	M	I	E	■	E	C	C	E
A	T	R	I	■	I	C	O	N	S	■	B	O	L	L
T	H	E	F	I	S	H	O	F	T	H	E	S	E	A
H	O	S	T	E	L	E	R	■	■	O	R	T	O	N
■	■	■	I	R	E	D	■	M	E	L	T	■	■	■
■	C	R	E	E	D	■	G	O	A	L	■	A	M	O
S	L	O	T	■	■	E	R	A	T	O	■	L	A	R
F	I	S	H	E	R	M	A	N	S	W	H	A	R	F
A	V	E	■	L	I	E	N	S	■	■	A	M	I	E
X	E	S	■	I	G	E	T	■	G	A	R	B	O	■
■	■	■	A	J	A	R	■	T	O	L	D	■	■	■
B	A	L	S	A	■	■	A	B	L	A	T	I	V	E
A	F	I	S	H	O	U	T	O	F	W	A	T	E	R
E	R	N	E	■	A	L	O	N	E	■	C	O	R	A
Z	O	O	T	■	T	A	M	E	R	■	K	N	O	T

3/2/90



1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18 19 20 21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28
29
30
31
32
33
34
35
36
37
38
39
40
41
42
43
44
45
46
47
48
49
50
51
52
53
54
55
56
57
58
59
60
61
62
63
64
65
66
67
68
69
70

Announcement

Workshop, Sunday at 2 p.m.

In the newsroom

Lou Groccia
of the Hampshire Daily Gazette
Mandatory for all EDITORS!!!

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANNE DIXON

CAPRICORN(Dec.22-Jan.19): Your outlook could be pinched by a special obligation. A friend will help you find a way to handle the situation. Communication regarding distant affairs is vexing. Be patient.

AQUARIUS(Jan.20-Feb.18): With few exceptions, everything falls into place where your financial dealings are concerned. Concentrate on routine tasks late in the day. Do not build your hopes too high in the romance department.

PISCES(FEb.19-March 20): Your efforts at work will bring delightful monetary rewards. Someone is too gullible. Make certain you do not become the victim of wrong information. A business associate may have romantic designs on you.

SCORPIO(Oct.23-Nov.21): The business scene is active and somewhat confusing today. An early morning conflict gives you cause for concern. By late afternoon, you are focused on boosting your income. Romance needs nurturing.

SAGITTARIUS(Nov.22-Dec.21): The day gets off to a promising start, thanks to someone who has your best interests at heart. The news about a credit application or an investment is good. A bonus is possible.

LIBRA(Sept.23-Oct.22): Your professional contacts help you crystalize your financial plans. Keep your ambitions in line with reality. A cozy chat with a friend or relative will help heal a recent wound. Forget old grievances.

CANCER(June 21-July 22): Anything linked to travel enjoys favorable influences. You are successful in finishing a project. Artists, writers and composers have a rewarding day. Regular practice will sharpen your skills.

ARIES(March21-April 19): The work scene is complicated today; be cooperative. A prominent person is impressed by your logic. A campaign impressed by your logic. A campaign to pave the way for important changes will benefit from your original thinking.

GEMINI(May 21-June 20): Some of your high hopes could be dashed by events beyond your control. Strangers may be involved. Adopt a more conservative approach in financial matters. A loved one will share good news later today.

LEO(July 23-Aug.22): Seek the services of a lawyer and you could avoid expensive court costs. A letter sheds new light on a close relationship. Resist the temptation to embroider the truth; stick to the facts.

VIRGO(Aug.23-Sept.22): A work project may go awry. Figure out how to improve your presentations. Bank loans are easier to obtain than in the past. Your popularity is on the rise. Romance is favored tonight.

TAURUS(April 20-May 20): Conversations with your co-workers could prove instructive. Ignore office gossips who think they have all the answers. Take direct action in monetary matters. Your instincts will not lead you astray.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor..........Lisa Shapiro
Copy Editor..........Michael David Wester
Layout Technician..........Mikie Wester
Photo Technician..........Richard DuCree
Production Supervisor..........Terry Starmer
Typesetter..........Peter Leon
ProductionArnie Salvati, Sir Dougie, Julie Rogers, Mike Carvalho, and Ware does Terry go every week after work?

GEO strikes for a day

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

stronger."

Administrators downplayed the effects of the work stoppage.

"I think one perspective expressed that it was that it has about the effect of a snow day," said Provost O'Brien. "I think for one day we'll sort of grit our teeth and bear it."

Numerous classes were cancelled or cut short during the boycott.

"Things were certainly disrupted," said Larry Mann, head of the mathematics and statistics department, where 45 teaching assistants work. He said he did not know how many classes were cancelled.

Enid Arvidson, an economics TA, said she walked the picket line not only in support of her colleagues fighting for a union, but also because she wants to see the GEO victorious.

"As much as we are students here we are also employees," she said. "I believe as workers we should be organized. There are a lot of benefits to be gained with it."

Arvidson said she did not hold her economics section of about 15 students today. She said her students supported her action.

"I don't feel guilty not teaching my section," she said. "Particularly because I plan on making myself very available to my students through other sections and increased office hours."

Kurt Stubbs, a economics research assistant, walked the picket line outfitted in a rat costume, which he said symbolize unfair management practices.

"I came down today to help Chancellor Duffey understand that we need a union," he said. "I hope that the administration and the GEO can agree to some reasonable method to negotiate."

The administration contends it does not have the authority to recognize the GEO as a union because of a 1979 precedent set by the state labor commission which rejected a similar move.

The GEO is attempting to gain collective bargaining power to negotiate better wages and benefits. The average salary for teaching assistants is $6,000, according to the GEO.

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

Murray D.Lincoln
Campus Center

Collegian photo by John Woo

Co-spokesman for GEO Renee Heberle addresses the crowd at the Student Union steps yesterday.

Hair by Harlow

A salon for

Men
&
Women

239 Triangle St. Amherst
549-4412 Closed Mondays

Wake-n-Bake
in beautiful
Negril, Jamaica
Hot days & Reggae nights
Travel with the best-
Call Sunsplash Tours
1-800-426-7710
Spring Break Week
starting at $469.00

UMass Arts Council

BLOCK GRANT PROPOSAL DEADLINE
The next deadline for submission
of grant proposals for
Block Grants :

Friday, March 30

Guidelines and application forms are available at the Arts Council
Office

UMass Arts Council
125 Herter Hall, 545-0202

No Money For Spring Break

UMASS SKI CLUB
SKI & PARTY WEEK

Killington
VERMONT

Just $280 Per Person Tax Included

Last Minute Sign-ups Accepted

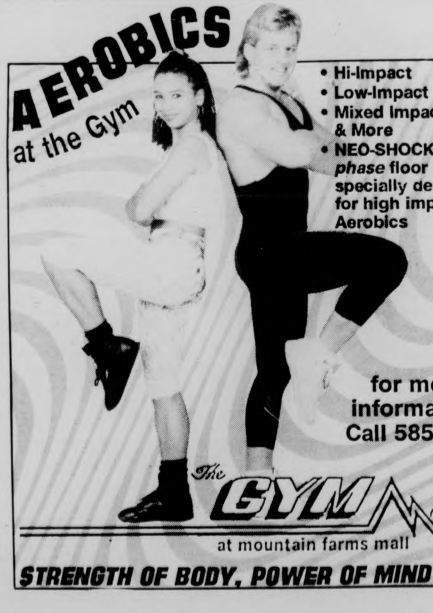
DATES AVAILABLE MAR 18-23

Program Includes:
- 5 Nights Condo Lodging at MOUNTAIN GREEN Condominiums Based on full unit occupancy.
- 5 Day Lift Ticket, Six Mountains
- Services of On-Site Sno-Search Staff
- Free Lessons when you rent skis

CONTACT:
UMASS SKI CLUB
430 STUDENT UNION 545-3437
SKI CLUB TABLE-CAMPUS CTR. CONCOURSE

BRADLEY AIRPORT SHUTTLE
Spring Break Special
$15 FARE*
CALL NOW Limited Seating
VALLEY TRANSPORTER
256-8484
*restrictions apply

ROYAL CRANE ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET
360 College St., Amherst
253-5658
with a large variety of
AUTHENTIC ORIENTAL & INDIAN
• Produce • Sauces & Spices • Noodles • Frozen & Canned Goods • Cooking Implements & Supplies • Homemade take-out food
Sun-Fri 10:00-8:00
Sat 9:00-8:00



AEROBICS at the Gym
- Hi-Impact
- Low-Impact
- Mixed Impact & More
- NEO-SHOCK Two phase floor specially designed for high impact Aerobics

for more information, Call 585-5911

The GYM at mountain farms mall
STRENGTH OF BODY, POWER OF MIND

men's gymnastics

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

season. Although freshmen Steve Christensen has made it through intact, Balocki, senior co-captain John Eggers, and sophomore Cal Booker have suffered various injuries which have either kept them out of action completely or out of all-around competition.

How would the Minutemen fare if their top four were able to perform at once?

"We'd definitely pull off a 265," Balocki said.

"We'd have an awesome team," UMass coach Roy Johnson said.

Although it still hasn't come to fruition, the possibility for all four to compete becomes more and more likely, as only Booker will be unable to compete all-around on Saturday (due to a lingering elbow injury suffered last last Saturday against Army).

"We're deep enough to cover," junior Rich Healey said. "We have guys who can step in and score close to what they can."

For Balocki, who is finally returning to his accustomed all-around form after an early-season infection in his right Achilles heel, the frustrations of the season appear to be finally over.

"I'm just happy to be healthy — that's why I'm so psyched about the season," Balocki said. "The season's just been getting better and better."

UMass last faced Syracuse two years ago, losing a close 265.3-264.55 decision after leading going into the final event, the horizontal bar. Syracuse outscored the Minutemen by a point to take the meet.

The Orangemen are led by a combination of young and old — Syracuse's two top all-arounders are senior captain Craig Scholrich and freshman Chris Kirby. Kirby has scored a 54.5 this season.

The Minutemen's regular-season finale will be their final opportunity to fine-tune their performance before the New England championships on March 10, and the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League (EIGL) finals on March 23-25.

"If we can score well [against Syracuse], we can hold our own and be impressive in the EIGLs," freshmen Rob Thomas said.

For now, UMass will have to take care of the Orangemen.

"We can go 263, at least — if everybody hits and does clean routines," Balocki said. "Hopefully we can get into it and have a lot of enthusiasm and concentration.

"We have to go out and do our thing — that's what you train for," continued Balocki.

The Minutemen will have an opportunity to show off what they've been training for tomorrow.

men's swimming

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

NCAA National meet in the 100- and 50-yard freestyle events. Qualifying for the meet is something very few swimmers do, only about 50 or so actually make the time. McIver is within mere seconds of making the time in the 100 and just tenths of a second in the 50.

"We've prepared ourselves so that we would peak at the end of the New Englands and the begining of this weekend," said Yarworth. "I wanted us to be at our strongest now, so we can show off our stuff. We're a bunch of tough swimmers, and know what has to be done. All we have do is go down and do it."

Editor's note: It was learned late last night that McIver won the 50—yard freestyle in a time of 20.45 seconds.

women's gymnastics

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

"If we just bring up our vaulting scores a little, we have a shot at hitting 184 or 185," he said.

Going against the Lady Knights may be a foreshadowing of what the competition will be like for the Minutewomen at the Atlantic 10 Championships (at UMass, March 24, 6 p.m. at the Curry Hicks Cage). Mitchell thinks his team is capable of reaching a team score of 186 or 187 before season's end.

"We're getting closer and closer to that goal," Mitchell said. "Right now we're fine-tuning. The girls aren't burnt out yet and they're really up for this meet."

If the Minutewomen, ranked fifth now in the Northeast, score above 180 one more time, their only score left below that mark, a 179.95 will be dropped from their team score average, helping UMass to remain fifth or possibly move up in the standings back to their previous fourth spot.

"If we have a couple of more meets around 184, then we can start introducing some new techniques in our routines." Mitchell said.

men's hoop

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

happens," he said. "The thing on a neutral court is the other team, and how they will play."

In the case of West Virginia, they haven't been much of anything outside of the Morgantown city limits. The Mountaineers are a solid 12-2 at home in the WVU Coliseum, but on the road look very human (4-9). Case in point is the loss at St. Bonaventure (UM won by 38 there) just two weekends ago.

West Virginia, though, is just as capable of going all the way, as is Temple, Penn State, Rutgers, Rhode Island . . . and UMass. This is the reason Calipari has set such lofty goals for his team.

"You have to reach for the stars — the stars being the NCAAs," Calipari said. "If you only grab the moon [the NIT], so what?"

NCAA, NIT, whatever. It all starts with West Virginia.

PEPSI
ATLANTIC 10 • Atlantic Ten Conference TOURNAMENT

Tourney schedule

Tomorrow:
(10) St. Bonaventure vs. (7) George Washington, 1 p.m.
(9) Duquesne vs. (8) St. Joseph's, 3 p.m.
Sunday:
(6) UMass vs. (3) West Virginia, 1:30 p.m.
(5) Rutgers vs. (4) Rhode Island, 4 p.m.
SB/GW winner vs. (2) Penn State, 7 p.m.
Duquesne/SJ winner vs. (1) Temple, 9 p.m.

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30,FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

 CESAR! *****
 CESAR! *****
 NOON S.U.B. ***
XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX
Earthday meeting:
Sunday, 8 PM 423B SU

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE new pledges of Alpha Phi Omega! So...Be excellent to each other and Party on...Dudes!

EAST COAST ASIAN Students Union Conference begins today
Dance tonight CCA
Conference, Party Saturday
Register in CC Basement tonight
6:30 - 12:00

ANYONE INTERESTED IN Uechiryu Karate Please contact Mike 546-9340 Sherry 542-2572 or Michelle 542-3051

GOLDEN KEY MEMBERS
General meeting
Tues. March 6
7 PM CC 803

GROW IN YOUR personal relationship with God, or start one with Campus Crusade For Christ. Friday 7:00 PM, Campus Center

LESS THAN ONE MONTH to go
A Chorus Line
March 25 26, 27, 28
One Singular Sensation!

PAGAN STUDENTS MEETING Workshop on: The Construction of Ritual Sunday 7 PM Campus Center Call 6-6283 for info.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA-Open Rush!! Come join us for dinner (March 5-8) and a house tour. 545-1224

UMASS JUGGLING CLUB is low in cholesterol and has no fats, so come learn today, 3-6 in CC162! We're Beatrice!

ANNOUNCEMENTS

AUDITION: 3/4, 3/5, 7 PM, Amherst School for the Arts. Environmental Dance/Theatre Performance at FAC. Call 585-8751 for Info.

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

JAZZHOT PERFORMING DANCE Colloquium Audition Sunday 6 PM Crampton TV Loung Call 6-7334 or 6-3249

UMASS ANIMAL RIGHTS Coalition Meeting Sun. March 4th - 7 PM - Dukes Mtg. Rm. - All interested Welcome to attend.

CASINO NIGHT

THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS Program Council Presents Casino Night to benefit The Brain Tumor Society's Program Campuses Against Cancer.
Thursday March 8. 8 PM - 1 AM
Campus Center Auditorium
Winnings awarded in cash!
Refreshments and Hors D'oeuvres will be served.

AUTO FOR SALE

71 VW SUPERBEETLE Body solid, Engine great. No brakes 253-7873 Joanna

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club. Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

DON'T MISS FREE PRESS SAT. 3/3/90 Sheehans Northampton: Outstanding Band

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR RENT

APARTMENT FOR RENT. Downtown Amherst. Cheap! Great location! Take over lease June. Call 253-9124 immediately! This place is hot!

LARGE 1-BEDROOM IN NORTHAMPTON
Available immediately
Beautiful-spacious $530/MO
Great for couple-quiet
Call immediately (508) 866-9288
Ask for Rick or leave message

LARGE SUNNY BEDROOM
For 1 or 2 in
Spacious Townhouse.
Two considerate
roommates. Call Cheryl
at 549-7442

FOR SALE

BRUINS TICKETS See the best team in the NHL Larry 549-6249

FULL SIZE FUTON AND FRAME
$168
Metawampe Furniture
Free Delivery
549-4787

GUILD ACOUSTIC GUITAR. In perfect condition, w/hard-shell case. Make an offer. Call now! 584-6251

IBM PS/2 MODEL 50 VGA Graphics Call 549-8147

LEATHER SHEARLING three-quarter length, worn three months $499 BO retailed at $899 (413) 546-6465 evenings

PIONEER TOWER SPEAKERS, 150W, $150/pr., firm. Call Mike at 549-7615

ROUND TRIP FLIGHT Boston/New York for Spring Break. Purchased non-refundable ticket can't use. Selling at outrageously low price. Call Evan 546-5627

FOUND

FOUND- Plain brown (women's ?) sunglasses last week in Lot 43. Call 546-9408.

ONE SET OF KEYS attached to purple webbed foot keychain in Bartlett 65. Claim at Collegian

SET OF KEYS that look like they belong to an R.A. Found at Baybank in Amherst Call Sue 6-8920

HAPPY BIRTHDAY JONNY

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to the bestest little brother!! You're the greatest!
I love you- Karen

HELP WANTED

ASSEMBLY! Work at home. Computer parts creative crafts, wooden novelties. Excellent Income! 504-646-2335

CAMP ANDROSCOGGIN- Maine Boys Camp seeking staff to teach full range of activities on land and water. Excellent facilities. Generous time off. If you like kids and being outside, visit us at UMASS Camp Day, write 733 West Street, Harrison, NY 10528 or call collect (914) 835-5800.

CAMP COUNSELOR
Have the summer of your life and get paid for it. Top 3-camps organization in the Pocono Mountains of NE PA. Our 59th year. Positions in all areas-water and land sports, fine arts and outdoor adventure. Please call 1-800-533-CAMP (215-887-9700 in PA) or write 407 Benson East, Jenkintown, PA 19046

COUNSELORS: Camp Arcadia. Maine Residential Girls' Camp Lake setting. Mid-June to Mid-August. Many sports and arts. Job Fair, March 6 or call/write Mrs. John Fritts, Pleasantville Rd., New Vernon, N.J. 07976 (201) 538-5409

HELP WANTED PART TIME/full time Waitress. Please call Hunan Gourmet at 585-0202.

JEWISH SUMMER RESIDENTIAL camp seeks counselors and specialists. Capital Camps is located in the Catoctin Mountains one hour from Washington, D.C. If you are interested in the challenges and excitement of working with campers in grades 3-10, we want you on our team. Good salaries, great fun. Our director will be on campus the week of March 5th. For information and an appointment, call 1-800-783-1245

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SUMMER COUNSELORS
Outstanding NYS Co-ed
Resident Camp
Specialist/General
Gail 549-1331

THE FRESH AIR FUND, a 113 year old independent, non-profit agency, sends 2500 underprivileged New York City Children to summer camp each summer. We are now hiring energetic persons who have completed a minimum of one year of college to work as counselors, waterfront staff, and program specialists, in this challenging summer program. Salary range $1200 to $1800+. To learn more about The Fund and its summer camp opportunities plan to meet with our representative at The UMASS Camp Day on Tuesday, March 6th in The Student Union Ballroom, or contact: The Fresh Air Fund, 1040 Avenue of the Americas, New York, New York, 10018 at 1-800-367-0003.

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

LOST

BLUE UMASS ID-KEY holder with license inside. If found please contact Sharon at 546-5087

GOLDISH PRECISION WATCH with black face in Herter Call Glenn 6-8432

LOST PHYSICS TEXTBOOK (Serway Third Edition) in the Physical Science Library. If found please call Isabel 6-4880 (it has sentimental value!)

WHITE FACE OF Christian Bernard watch. Lost between Bartlett & Library. Please call 549-8226

MUSICIANS

BASS PLAYER to play for kicks / possibly play out. Call to discuss schedule. Rock 549-3538

PERSONALS

6165232
Don't let anyone know who you are or everyone will know I'm crazy...for you
98%4683

ACE - Congratulations!! You're the undefeated champion. Love always, JOKER

AMY L:
Do we all really have a dark side?
Find out on your 21st
Have an excellent birthday
Leave no bar or packey untouched
-VIC

ANNA BANNANA
HAPPY Birthday
YOUR The Greatest
Love always Billrawd Lou

ANNETTE DRATCH! Happy 21st you wild woman! Thanks for being such an awesome friend! -Love Val

CAROLYN BEGLEY
Happy 21st Birthday Chicola!! Love the best roommate you've ever had!! LUCKY
P.S. Hee Haw!!

CAROLYN BEGLEY- Happy 21st. (one day early)! You'd better behave yourself because, as you know, "Ruth must know the truth!" See you uptown in two months and two days! Love, Lauren

DEBBIE Who cares if I'm your teacher, let's go out sometime

EILEEN,
Happy 19. See you in Florida?
Love Cooker & The D.C. Kid

EM, LET'S SEE how reckless you can get! Happy Birthday to the best roommate
Love, J

HAMLIN 3RD FLOOR: Great game you scared us real bad!!! Wildwood Elementary 3 Grade challenges you!!!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY BONNE HILLS!! You're still the best! Lots of love from Fruit Loops

HEY BABY! Hand says Happy 22nd Birthday! (Even though he didn't have a throat!) Have an awesome day!
I...U!!!

KEN, EXPECT IT when you least expect it! You are my world. I couldn't ask for anyone better! Thanks for all you do. Marry me? Love Your Jennifer

LAURIE- Get psyched for tonight!
Get Psyched!
Get Super-Psyched! I am so psyched!
Psyche, Psyche, Psyche!
Psyche me out! Psyche-O-Rama!
Wicked Psyched!
-Pluck

PLUCK
6 months. WOW. You're amazing.
I'm LOOPY!

RICKY MULLINS #2
I love you!
From the AXiD you did.

ROBYN KRAVITZ- Happy 21st!! You'll have a great time tonight! Love, Andy

SIGMAS KAPPAS
get psyched
for DATE PARTY
tonight!!

"SING OUT HARE HARE, dance the (hooch)ie coo," Happy Birthday Barry We All Love You!! Lisa Tam Jen and Abby

T-
Here's to healing, recovery and discovery!
R

TO MY LITTLE SIS Robyn K.
Have a great 21st B-Day
Love ya, Tracey

TURKEY- Cutie, Whatever the deal - Don't play with the Joker....again.

VEG! It's kinda like I wanted to wish you A Totally Awesome Day! Love, like your roommate

WALRUS
Sorry took so long to respond!
Weekend-Roes, Champagne, Candlelight
Really Romantic-but slight snag...
Guess what broke?
Call me for more info.

WHAT IS AN INGER VERKES? I don't know. Ask Lisa. Wish her a Happy Birthday when you see her. She is 5½ yrs old!

YLIME: HAPPY 19TH. Y'ALL have fun!
-D & K

SUE - YOU'RE WONDERFUL!!!

PLEASE, RIDE WANTED!

PLEASE! I need a ride to Cornell or anywhere in the vicinity for the weekend of March 9-11. I will pay for gas. Call Sheila at 549-2982

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

THE BROOK
$200/month
Male wanted
Call after 3:00
Ask for Mark
253-0975

TWO BEDROOMS IN A great old house in North Leverett. Beautiful area in the hills. $205, Free heat. 367-9861

SERVICES

LEGAL QUESTIONS? The Legal Services Center offers free legal assistance to fee-paying students. Contact us at 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

MASSAGE Treat yourself the gift of relaxation. 546-5227

MAXIGRAPHICS - Super enlargements- B&W and Color
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

NEED RESUME READY in a day
Call 253-7468

RESUMES Let me do your resumes! The local shops are charging outrageous prices. I will do the same work for $10 to $30 less! Call me, Rick, evenings at 586-1642

SHAKLEE Distributor on campus! Please call Lauren at 6-6564

TRAVEL

$214 PANAMA CITY Beach Florida one week left call 253-9112

DAYTONA BEACH- $259.00 (quad. occup.) Ten days, March 16-25. Includes transportation and OCEANFRONT, first class hotel. Spring Break '90 World Headquarters. Best location, best hotel, best clubs, best party. Call Yankee Tours M-F, 8-6, 1-800-942-8890 for brochure.

FROM ONLY $429 complete Spring Break trips to Cancun, Nassau, Jamaica! Going fast! 256-4659

NEED A RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Spring Break Special
$15 One way fare
to Bradley Airport
Call Now!
Limited Seating
Valley Transporter
256-8484

PANAMA CITY BEACH! DON'T GET
caught 10 miles away from the action!!
Stay at the only Hotel located on
"the strip". $239-Complete package
$139-Hotel package
Call now- Deb or Pam 549-0840

SPACES STILL AVAILABLE... Jamaica and Cancun. Call now for details. Mary or Karen 549-8166

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING.
$1.75/pg. Campus pickup.
Gloria, 323-5140.

FAST ACCURATE TYPING
Spell Check $1.75/pg.
Call Ashley at 546-6756

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

DEAD TICKETS Any Albany shows! Please help! Steve D. 549-2833

NEEDED: Bio of Cancer notes for Mon. Exam will pay $. 585-0901

VINTAGE FENDER AMP such as the Tweed Champ, Deluxe, or Bassman and old tube screamer effects pedal. Call Shawn 545-2804 or David 247-3219.

WANTED 2-3 FEMALES to drive with us to Daytona cheap! Call for details 546-1181

Helpful hint: Orchard Hill buses run around campus and to Orchard Hill/Sylvan. Campus Shuttle buses run around campus and Southwest. Northampton buses do not go to Orchard Hill, or vice versa.

SPORTS

Minutemen face West Virginia

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

Will Herndon and the Minutemen face West Virginia Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Quarterfinal game Sunday at 1:30 p.m.; Calipari confident

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

One of the good things about a tournament — a team that isn't among the heavy favorites can suddenly get hot and win it all.

Michigan proved that to some extent in the NCAA Tourney last year. Closer to home it was a Rutgers University team that rode a huge wave to the Atlantic 10 conference title in 1988-89.

Ah, fine music to the ears of those affiliated with the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team.

Why? Look up and down the Atlantic 10 roster and figure out who is probably the hottest team in the league entering this year's tournament, which begins tomorrow at the Palestra in Philadelphia.

You can make a pretty sound case for the Minutemen, who barrel into BrotherlyLoveVille with a three-game win streak in tow. Included in that spurt was last week's double OT win over Rhode Island and a pair of monster blowouts of the Saint twins — Bonnie and Joe.

"Right now," said senior forward Michael Byrnes, "We're the hottest team. We have a positive attitude right now, and we proved we can play with anyone."

UMass, seeded sixth in the tourney with its 10-8 conference record (15-12 overall), received a bye into Sunday's quarterfinal round and will face third seed West Virginia at 1:30 p.m. (WHMP 1400-AM, WNNZ 640-AM, WMUA 91.1-FM, SportsChannel). West Virginia moved into the third slot after Rutgers lost to Temple in double OT last night at McGonigle Hall.

Though they are seeded sixth, UMass isn't going to be taken lightly by anyone. The Minutemen are the classic example of a team that can sneak up and surprise anyone on any given night.

"Ask West Virginia or Rutgers who they want to play, and they're going to say Rhode Island," UMass coach John Calipari said after beating St. Joe's Wednesday night.

But UMass can't get too overconfident. It has gotten where it is by playing solid basketball on a consistent basis, and that's what it is going to take to make a dent in this tourney.

Some people can be satisfied with what the Minutemen accomplished in the regular season — their first winning season since 1977-78 and their best A-10 mark ever. Some say one win in the tourney is a positive sign. But for Calipari, there's no sense in holding back.

> "You have to reach for the stars – the stars being the NCAAs. If you only grab the moon (the NIT), so what?
> –UMass coach John Calipari

"To at least make the [National Invitational Tournament], we've got to win two," Calipari said. "But an NCAA tournament bid, that's what I want — for this program and for this school. It might not happen this year, but it's going to happen."

And it can happen. UMass has gotten a good draw, avoiding the prospects of facing Temple until the championship game. Temple is the only team UMass didn't beat this year (and has never beaten in 17 tries), but it gave them two hellacious scares.

"We're going to beat Temple, it's just a matter of time," Calipari said. "I'd like to see this group do it."

But the matter at hand lies with West Virginia. UMass split with the Mountaineers in their two meetings this year. The first came before a sold-out Cage crowd during intersession, when UMass played arguably its best game of the year in taking an 83-79 win. UMass led by as much as 10 in the closing moments.

But the Mountaineers rebounded two weeks later to take a 79-71 win, a game WVU put away at the foul line in the last 30 seconds. UMass can play with this team, and any team in the tournament.

"We've trounced everyone at home and on the road we were close, except against Temple," Calipari said. "We were 2-7 on the road, but we're a pretty good road team. We're just not talented enough to get over the hump.

"Now we'll put them on a neutral court and see what

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

amherst
UMASS

UMass vs. West Virginia

West Virginia (16-11, 11-7) vs. UMass (15-12, 10-8)
Sunday, March 4 at Philadelphia Palestra, 1:30 p.m.

The series: The two teams split their regular season games. The Minutemen took a thrilling 83-79 win on Jan. 13 at the Cage, led by Jim McCoy's 26 points. The Mountaineers returned the favor two weeks later at the WVU Coliseum, pulling away in the final seconds for a 79-71 win.

About WVU: The Mountaineers are considerably more dangerous at home (12-2) than anywhere else (4-9). They are paced by Tracy Shelton (18.2 ppg), Charles Becton (14.1, 7.7 boards), Chris Brooks (13.2), Steve Berger (11.9) and Chris Leonard (10.1).

Women's hoop visits URI; playoff seed on line

By JOHN STEVEN MARPLE
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team plays its final regular season game tomorrow afternoon when it travels to Keaney Gymnasium to battle the University of Rhode Island.

The Minutewomen are battling the Rams for the ninth position in the Atlantic 10 standings. URI is currently 2-15 in the league (3-23 overall) while UMass is 1-16 (4-22).

According to league rules regarding a tie, you first compare conference record, next you look at head-to-head results, finally you compare the records of the two teams against the first place team. If there is a tie there, you proceed to the next team until you find an advantage. If all else fails, a coin is flipped.

Guess what? If UMass defeats URI tomorrow, there will be a coin toss to see who gets the ninth seed in the A-10 playoffs that start on Monday.

However, if URI defeats UMass for the second time this season all of the aforementioned information will be useless; UMass will finish 10th and URI ninth. But, if UMass wins on the road Saturday (keep in mind that only one of the four UMass victories came on the road this season), then wins the coin toss, it will play the eighth-seeded team, Duquesne.

On the down side, if UMass loses to URI, it will play St. Bonaventure, the seventh team.

Either way, the Minutewomen will play their first round game on the road Monday.

Gymnastics teams hit the road

• Minutewomen clash with Atlantic 10 rival Rutgers

By CHRIS MIRACLE
Collegian Staff

Continuing their dazzling road show this season, the University of Massachusetts women's gymnastics team travels to New Brunswick, N.J. tomorrow to take on Rutgers University at 2 p.m.

Meeting the Lady Knights for the first time this season, the Minutewomen don't know what to expect, but they do know that Rutgers is a top-notch team.

"Rutgers is a very strong team with some strong all-arounders," UMass coach Alfie Mitchell said. "They've been scoring around 179, but I don't think they've hit 180 or higher."

Regardless of whatever team they are going against, Mitchell feels that the next few meets are a competition between the Minutewomen and themselves.

"We're looking for another consistent performance like we had against Springfield," Mitchell said. "We need some good scores these next couple of meets."

After scoring a new team record against Springfield College, there is no need to repair anything that doesn't need to be fixed. Mitchell plans to continue with the same rotation to try to eliminate some uncharacteristic falls the Minutewomen have suffered as of late.

"I'm not going to mess with a good thing," Mitchell said.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

• Minutemen put to the test against EIGL foe Syracuse

By JASON GEORGE
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's gymnastics team travels to Syracuse University on Saturday riding a small wave of optimism following Tuesday's 262-257 win over Springfield College.

For that wave to continue building, the Minutemen will have to overcome a Syracuse team that has beached six straight opponents since a season-opening loss to Penn State.

The Orangemen have been averaging 265.91 points this season, with a high of 270 against Southern Connecticut. The Minutemen tied their season high of 262 on Tuesday at Springfield, a performance more indicative of what UMass seems to be capable of than most other meets during this 6-5 season.

"That [Tuesday] was our best team performance of the season," senior co-captain Bart Balocki said. "Right now, we have our best attitude of the season.

"We're getting there, but we still have plenty of room to improve," continued Balocki.

Unfortunately, UMass' top four all-around performers have been unable to perform in tandem throughout the

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Swim team at Easterns

By C.J. ABATI
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's swimming team successfully defended their New England Championship for the fourth year in a row last weekend.

This weekend they try to show the rest of the East Coast just how good they are. The Minutemen, along with 39 other teams travel to West Point, N.Y. to participate in the Eastern Seaboard Tournament. The tourney began yesterday, and runs through Sunday.

"Our goal is to place in the top 10," said head coach Russ Yarworth. "It will be very hard to do, and I don't know if we can."

This tournament has a far better class of teams than at the New Englands. The teams here are some of the best in the country. Princeton is heavily favored to win going into the tourney. Harvard and Penn State should also have a strong showing. Even though they would like to finish in the top 10, realistically, the Minutemen should finish anywhere from 12th to 15th.

"These teams have a lot of elite swimmers, but we've got good swimmers of our own." said Yarworth. "There should be some very strong competition there."

Senior Brian McIver is the big gun for the Minutemen. He has a strong chance to qualify for the

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

WEATHER

Today will be bright, sunny and clear, with temperatures between 30 to 45 degrees.

ARTS

Moliere's Imaginary Invalid broadsides medicine, marriage at Rand Theater. Page 7.

SPORTS

UMass men's hoop topples West Virginia's Mountaineers 78-55, in A-10 Tourney. Page 12.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY MONDAY, MARCH 5, 1990
COLLEGIAN
VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 23

Kerry promotes Earth Day

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

U.S. Senator John Kerry

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

U.S. Sen. John Kerry (D-Massachusetts) Saturday urged students to become active in this year's Earth Day celebration and also to pressure local politicians into passing environmental legislation.

"I hope this can be a moment where this generation says 'We're going to change our future and create an environmental movement,'" he said of the event, scheduled for April 22. "We have to pass this earth on in better condition than we have it now."

Speaking to more than 150 students in the Campus Center, Kerry helped kick off New England's Earth Day pledge card campaign. This year marks the 20th anniversary of Earth Day, a day that is dedicated to "environmental awareness and action." Some 126 nations will participate in the event.

Members of the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group, which lobbies for environmental and consumer issues, have been asking students to sign the cards, pledging their support of environmental issues and legislation.

Recinda Sherman, a Smith College student and a member of MassPIRG's executive committee, presented Kerry with 15,000 student pledge cards.

"Student activism and awareness are crucial elements of the environmental movement's surge towards Earth Day 90 in Massachusetts," she said.

Kerry, who plans to lead the fight on the Senate floor for passage of the Clean Air Bill, said although tensions in the Senate are high, he will try to strengthen a bill which would force car manufacturers to be tougher on emissions control.

Kerry said more than 100,000 Americans die prematurely due to polluted air and half of the nation's population lives in cities that fail to meet clean air standards.

"We've got a $40 billion health care bill related to pollution," he said. "We have to regain control over this situation."

Kerry stressed the importance of pressuring local legislators and businesses into making products environmentally safe.

"What we have to start doing is putting the heat on places like McDonald's that use styrofoam products," he said.

Criticizing companies that use excess plastic packaging on their products, Kerry said he supports the Massachusetts Recycling Initiative, a campaign sponsored by MassPIRG to spur people to recycle. He said he plans to introduce federal recycling and packaging legislation in the Senate in the next few weeks.

Chavez asks for grape boycott

By RUSSELL SKELTON
Collegian Correspondent

Cesar Chavez, founder of the United Farm Workers of America, urged some 300 people at the University of Massachusetts Friday to boycott table grapes, claiming hazardous pesticides are used in California's agricultural Central Valley, where 99.9 percent of America's table grapes are grown.

Chavez, who led two successful table grape boycotts in the 1960s and 1970s, is currently leading the third international grape boycott titled, "The Wrath of Grapes."

He stopped at UMass as part of a week-long tour of colleges and universities in Massachusetts. His visit was sponsored by the UMass chapter of the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group, which lobbies for environmental and consumer issues.

"Pesticides are a very technical issue with very human victims," he said.

Chavez said pesticides cause more than 300,000 farmworkers to become ill every year.

"Pesticides are everywhere," he said. "Their residue can be found all over.

"A farmworker recently collapsed in seizures and died from exposure to Parathion, a deadly pesticide the UFW seeks to ban, in spite of the required protective clothing and apparatus," he said.

In the past few years, a high cancer cluster was found in the Central Valley, where the rate of childhood cancer was eight times higher than the national average for a population that size, he said.

Chavez said he was "coming to the court of last resort, the American consumer," seeking support for the boycott. He said the best way to change "the cycle of poisons and destruction and death" is through economic rather than political action.

"Many think passing a law will solve a problem. That's not the way it works," he said.

"There has to be another way," he said. "Economic action is what strikes and boycotts are all about. Nothing effects people more than running out of money."

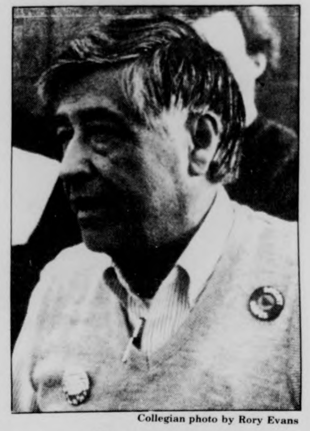
He said the boycott will be successful if between 7.5 and 9 percent of the number of grape buyers drops. Currently, he said, the drop is about six percent.

Chavez suggested people could help the boycott by asking the University not to serve grapes at food service facilities.

Student trustee Eric Nakijima said he was going to check with the Campus Center Board of Governors about dropping grapes from the menus of the food service facilities in the Campus Center/Student Union complex.

Chavez also suggested that students propose a referendum question on the boycott of grapes.

Roberto De La Cruz, a UFW boycott organizer in the northeastern United States, spoke after Chavez and urged students to "take on" their local grocery stores.



Collegian photo by Rory Evans

Cesar Chavez

Injured pedestrian improves

Tracy S. Frye, the University of Massachusetts junior who was struck by a car Thursday across from Hasbrouck Laboratory, has been upgraded from critical to fair condition yesterday at Baystate Medical Center in Springfield, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Frye, 21, of Washington Residence Hall, was struck at 7:50 a.m. by a 1986 gold Toyota as she attempted to cross North Pleasant St. The car was driven by UMass graduate student Nazeem Muhajarine, 28, of Amherst. No citations were issued.

Frye suffered a skull fracture and other "fairly extensive injuries," and surgery was performed on her head and face, the hospital spokeswoman said.

She was transferred this weekend to the hospital's neural observation unit from the intensive care unit, officials said.

"She is definitely progressing or she would've never left the [intensive care] unit," the spokeswoman said.

On Thursday, Frye was taken by ambulance to Cooley Dickinson Hospital in Northampton and immediately transferred to Baystate Medical Center.

Muhajarine was in shock after the accident and was sent home to recover, according to police. Police said the front passenger corner and windshield of the Toyota were damaged. No estimate of the damage is available.

— PRESTON FORMAN

Posters defame SGA treasurer

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Posters denigrating Laura Filkins, treasurer of the Student Government Association, were seen posted in the Southwest Residential Area late Friday night.

"Who the hell is Laura Filkins and why does she want to take away Southwest Week? Call her at [her phone number]," was posted for several hours, according to many witnesses who said they spent the evening tearing down some 85 electric green posters.

Ross Condit, a friend of Filkins and chairman of the SGA Governmental Affairs committee, claimed the posters were a personal attack on Filkins because she recommends reducing budgets for area governments, particularly the Southwest and Commuter areas (see related story, page 3).

"This wasn't directed at her as SGA treasurer," he said. "This was directed at her personally."

The proposal to significantly reduce the allocations was introduced to the senate last Wednesday by Filkins and Karen Talbot, chairwoman of the SGA Budgets Committee.

Filkins, whose phone number was printed on the posters, said she received several obscene phone calls Friday night in response to the posters.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

■ poster incident

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"I did not answer the phone calls," she said. "I will not change my phone number."

Brad Peacock, a senator from the Southwest Area Government, said he saw the posters around midnight and began taking them down.

"I collected about 70 of them," Peacock said. He said about three other people arrived later and helped to remove the posters.

"People came up to me while I was taking the posters down and asked me 'Who is this Filkins and why is she taking it [Southwest area government] away from us?'"

Student Attorney General Jonathan Anastas said: "It was a direct personal attack on her, and I say that as a friend, not as a member of SGA."

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief....Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor....George Austin
Editorial Editor....Minu Sebastian
News Editor....Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor....Jim Clark
Arts Editors....Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor....Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor....Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor....Alexander Nguyen
Bisexual, Lesbian, Gay Issues Editor....Chris Muther
Business Manager....Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager....Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager....Martina Rios
Circulation Manager....Chris Baker
Subscription Manager....Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager....Donna Cusson
Production Managers....Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager....Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business....Lori Black, Brian Harrington
Maureen Majerowski
Graphics....Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

For Your Information

For Your Information is a calendar listing of local announcements and upcoming events published daily by the Collegian as a public service. All submissions must be typed and submitted to the news desk at least one full day beforehand. We reserve the right to edit for space.

MONDAY, MARCH 5, 1990

Education Week — Phi Beta Sigma is sponsoring a Sigma Education Week from 6 p.m. to midnight in Campus Center room 162-75 daily through March 9th. Free.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1990

Movie — "Look Who's Talking" sponsored by Sylvan Area Government will be shown at the Campus Center Auditorium at 5 p.m., 7 p.m., 9 p.m., 11 p.m. Admission is $1.50 for the 5 p.m. show and $2.50 for the late shows.

Meeting — There will be a senate meeting at 7 p.m. in Campus Center room 163C. The event is sponsored by Senate Operations.

THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1990

Video — Dreams, a free video presentation and discussion on "Your Universe of Dreams" will be offered by local students of Eckankar at 7 p.m. at the Jones Library, Gallery Room. The presentation will cover how to remember and understand your dreams for guidance in every day life, and for spiritual insights. This is the first of a three part series. For more information, call 367-9762.

Story telling — Hillel is sponsoring a storytelling session by Diane Wolkstein at 7:30 p.m. at the Memorial Hall. Admission is free.

Lecture — The Office of Third World Affairs is sponsoring a lecture by Jane California Cooper at 7 p.m. in Campus Center room 163C. Free.

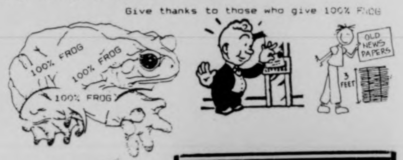
Casino Night — The Board of Governors Program Council is sponsoring a Casino Night from 8 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. in the Campus Center Auditorium. Admission is $5.

Banquet — The Stockbridge Student Senate is sponsoring a Progress Banquet tonight at 6 p.m. in Campus Center room 109. Admission is $6.

Beauty, prestige, respect, and 100% FROG

They're proud to be 100% FROG

Give thanks to those who give 100% FROG



RESUME CONSULTATIONS & PRINTING

• SECRETARIAL SERVICES
- Resume Consultations & Printing
- Cover Letters
- Tax Preparation
- Manuscripts
- FAX Service

• TEMPORARY PERSONNEL
- Always Interviewing for full & part-time employment
- Flexible Hours
- Benefits

• BUSINESS MANAGEMENT SERVICES

DOVE Business Associates, Inc.
79 So. Pleasant St., Amherst
256-1335 • 253-7480

Auto Glass Center
American & Foreign
- SAME DAY SERVICE
- BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE COMPANY
- WINDSHIELDS REPLACED

North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd.
North Amherst, MA
549-2880
Mos' Major Credit Cards Accepted

Self Serve Typewriters
kinko's®
the copy center
220 N. Pleasant St.
253-2543

Selected Computer Books
Special Purchase
50% Savings
Off our regular price

Sale Books Located on Special Sale Tables

OPEN M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

WORDPERFECT • LOTUS • DOS • C • DBASE
MAC • PASCAL • AUTOCAD • WORDSTAR
MS WORD • VENTURA • PAGEMAKER • QUATTRO
GRAPHICS • TOOL KITS • APPLE • BASIC

LOCAL

Civil rights solidarity demonstrated at vigil

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

Some 50 people held a singing vigil on the Amherst Common yesterday to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery, Ala., showing their solidarity to a similar march being held concurrently in Selma, Ala.

The vigil was sponsored by DiversityWorks, a group of social change educators and consultants. The group also was involved with bringing the Children of Selma, a group of 26 young students who spoke at area schools and gave a concert at Smith College last year to the Amherst area.

"At this very moment in Selma, Alabama, people are gathering to commemorate the bloody march on Selma when civil rights protestors were bludgeoned by police officers," said Georganne Greene, a DiversityWorks member.

On March 7, 1965, 525 people marched from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama to petition Governor Wallace for African-Americans right to vote and for an end to police brutality. The marchers were met by the Alabama State police and the National Guard who brutalized them, leaving 70 African-Americans hospitalized and an equal number injured. The publicity of this event is seen by some as the turning point of the Civil Rights Movement when White America realized the brutal treatment of Civil Rights Workers in the South.

"Last year, 26 children stayed in our homes and performed in the elementary and junior high schools," Greene said. 'We're affirming our connections to those people. It's most appropriate to sing so that everyone can hear us in our commitment in what that march means to us today."

The group formed a circle and sang gospel songs from the civil rights era. Eveline McDougall from the singing group Amandla led the group, starting with the classic 'Oh Freedom' and a four-part harmony of a South African song with the same title.

Professor Mangaliso from the School of Management at the University of Massachusetts taught the crowd the song that was sung by the crowds witnessing the prison release of Nelson Mandela. He is also the director of Barwa, an African choral group.

"Our solidarity from Amherst to Selma and from the United States to South Africa shows that we can have solidarity in the entire world," McDougall said.

At the close of the vigil, the singers held hands while singing several verses of 'We Shall Overcome.'

REMEMBER SELMA.
STOP RACISM

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

A sign hangs across the Amherst Common where a vigil was held yesterday.

Nut network fattens growers' income

BY RUSSELL SKELTON
Collegian Correspondent

University of Massachusetts graduate student Jim Hoagland is trying to make good while doing good. A student in agriculture and resource economics and a teaching assistant, Hoagland said, "I have bought into the idea of profits for social change."

Hoagland created his own company in November 1989 for the exclusive purpose of marketing a product called Rainforest Crunch Cashew & Brazil Nuts.

Hoagland said he is committed to contributing 25 percent of his company's profits to local environmental organizations. The rest of the profits are reinvested in his company, he said.

Hoagland said Rainforest Crunch is produced from nuts that are purchased directly from people living in the Brazilian rainforest. The traditional distribution network has been circumvented, which provides the forest people with three to ten times their normal income.

"Paying a premium for the nuts helps to promote the survival of the people indigenous to the rainforest," Hoagland said.

"This is part of a larger project to show that the rainforest can be more profitable as a living rainforest than by cutting, burning and transforming it into plantations and ranches," he said.

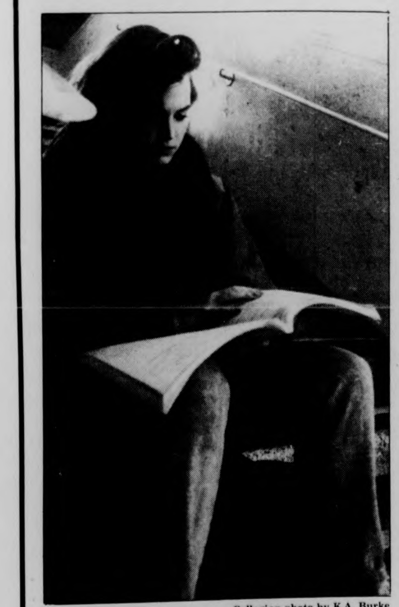
Rainforest Crunch is distributed to some 50 outlets in western Massachusetts, including The People's Market, The University Store, The Student Union Ministore and Munchies at Hampden Dining Commons.

Rainforest Crunch is not inexpensive. An 8 ounce box at the People's Market cost $3.10.

Since many consumers bought Rainforest Crunch as a Christmas gift, sales revenues for December reached $5,300. However, because college students were on break in January, sales slumped, he said. "As a matter of fact, demand for Rainbow Crunch in December significantly exceeded my company's ability to meet it."

A worker at The People's Market, Derek Pardue, said that the store has stocked Rainforest Crunch since about mid-November 1989. Of late, sales have been averaging about a dozen packages per week, Pardue said.

A spokesperson for the other UMass outlets selling Rainforest Crunch said the product has only been stocked in those stores for a few weeks. He said the stores had purchased 72 boxes of Rainforest Crunch, but he did not know how many of these boxes had been sold.



Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

BETWEEN CLASSES — A student reads a book at the bottom of a stairwell.

RSOs challenge fee increase

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Representatives of several Registered Student Organizations came together Friday afternoon to hear both proponents and opponents of a much contested referendum question.

"Do you support an increase in the Area Government share of the Student Activities Trust Fund Fee from $9.60 per student to $20 per student per year, with a House Council allotment of $2 per student per year from their respective area government."

The above referendum question is being spearheaded by Howard Dreyfus, former officer from Orchard Hill Area Government. The question, proposed to appear on the ballot for Student Government Association President and Student Trustee, would mean a drastic decrease in the funds made available to the Registered Student Organizations on campus, said Student Government Association Speaker John Dunlap.

Scott Leber, Chairman of WMUA radio is mobilizing RSOs to work against the passing of the referendum question, and get correct information out to students.

"We're going to start a phone bank on Monday to contact students, and a poster campaign against the referendum," said Leber.

Tim Duffy, treasurer of the Lesbian Bisexual Gay Alliance said, "The people proposing the referendum question have not even suggested what they plan on doing with all that extra money. With their question, close to 70 percent of the campus community doesn't gain anything."

If the allocations to area governments are increased, it would need to be extracted from another area of the Student Activities Trust Fund budget, Dunlap told representatives. The SATF is where the money for both the area governments and Student Activities Office originates, and this office oversees the RSOs.

In the past, RSOs have had to approach larger area governments when they need extra money, Dunlap told the group. A recommendation to cut funding to area governments was submitted by the Chair of Budgets Committee, Karen Talbot, and by the SGA Treasurer, Laura Filkins. "The Talbot/Filkins recommendation puts money back into the initial budget so the RSOs don't have to approach the area governments," said Dunlap.

Druze people enjoy freedom from regulation

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

Dr. Jaber Abu-Rukun, an Israeli Druze historian, said Thursday that more than 80,000 Druze people may be a numerical minority in Israel, but are treated "nearly equally" by the Israeli government.

Once a persecuted religious group, the Druze currently reside in the Northern mountains of Israel enjoying extensive "freedom of faith" from the Israeli government, Abu-Rukun said to a small crowd in the Campus Center.

According to Abu-Rukun, director of the educational cultural department in Isfia, Israel, the Druze religion originated over 3,000 years ago in Egypt. "Most people have the mistaken idea that Druze is an off-shoot of the Islam religion, but it is totally autonomous," he said.

Between the years of 996 B.C. and 1043 A.D. the Druze faith was open to anyone, he said. "But when [the Druze] came in danger of persecution in 1043, they fled to the mountains of Israel, Syria and Lebanon and closed the religion to outsiders, not allowing anyone to convert to it," Abu-Rukun said.

He said the relationship between the Druze and the Israeli Jews is one of "peaceful co-existence" and respect.

"We have many things in common with Judaism. We have no disputes," he said. "The Israelis recognize the Druze as an autonomous, religious community in Israel."

He said because of the mutual respect between the two religions, the Druze are in a "privileged position" in Israel as compared to other minorities in the country.

Abu-Rukun said in 1975 when the United Nations issued a resolution "equating Zionism with racism," the Druze founded the Druze Zionist Council and grew more loyal to the "Jewish state."

"We completely reject the resolution. It was idiotic," he said. "Zionism is a human, national movement. And we need it today to have peace."

In discussing the Palestinian uprising on the West Bank and Gaza Strip, Abu-Rukun held up the Druze community as "a good role model" to illustrate that "there is enough place [in Israel] to live together in peace."

While calling on Jews and Palestinians to follow the Druze model, he said, "Local Palestinian representatives must be able to negotiate with the Israeli government and negotiate peacefully."

He said the Israeli government should give Palestinians free and democratic elections allowing them to choose their own representatives and work toward a "democratic resolution."

University of Massachusetts
CAMP DAY 1990

Summer Employment
Tuesday, March 6
10 a.m.—5 p.m.
Student Union Ballroom

Featuring:
55 Camps
from the Northeast
& Alaska

Massachusetts • New York • Maine
Connecticut • New Hampshire
New Jersey • Boston • Pennsylvania

WILL BE INTERVIEWING FOR
SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Further Information Contact:
The Student Employment Office
243 Whitmore—Walk-ins Welcome

CENTRAL AREA GOVERNMENT PRESENTS
* * * a bus trip to * * *
NEW NY YORK

$20 CENTRAL RESIDENTS;
$25 NON-CENTRAL RESIDENTS.

Sorry: NO CASH,
BUT MAKE CHECKS PAYABLE TO C.A.G.
(DEADLINE 3/7) @ BAKER B-22

I'm gonna get my Spring Clothes in New York City!
Me, too!!
Me, 3!!!

Leave: Haigus Mall
@ 7 a.m.

Return: bus leaves the city @ 6 p.m.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS
Program Council
PRESENTS
CASINO NIGHT
TO BENEFIT
THE BRAIN TUMOR SOCIETY
Campuses Against Cancer

DATE: Thursday, March 8, 1990
TIME: 8:00 PM-1:00 AM
PLACE: Campus Center Auditorium
COST: $5.00 Admission - Does not include individual wagers at betting tables.
GAMES: Black Jack
Roulette
Wheel of Fortune
Craps
Chuck-A-Luck

LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
REFRESHMENTS & HORS D'OEUVRES
WILL BE SERVED
WINNINGS AWARDED IN CASH
PROPER DRESS REQUESTED

CO-SPONSORED BY
THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY COLLEGIAN 99.3 Mr. Tux FORMAL WEAR SPECIALISTS SPRINGFIELD WEST SPRINGFIELD

PRODUCED BY JEFFREY D. GLASSMAN

Attention Seniors
Only 68 Reservation Days
Left 'til Graduation!!

·Make Reservations Early

Carbur's a Graduation Tradition

Carbur's
Restaurant and Lounge
Rt. 9 Hadley
Between Amherst and Northampton
586-1978

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Notes from the Campus Center Basement

Peter Leon

News flash: The building of trenches has begun in Southwest, sandbags are everywhere and the Southwest fields have been mined. Why? Because the Area Government of Southwest has seceded from the Student Government Association. Civil war has come to UMass. . .

****

I actually agree with the statement the people of Southwest are trying to make. You see there is a proposal before the senate to redistribute (what a lovely euphemism) the student trust fund monies. In so doing, according to the proposal I saw, every Area Government, except the Greek Area, would lose some of their allotted funds. The big losers are Southwest and Commuters. Southwest stands to lose about 35,000 dollars, and Commuters will lose 50,000.

The reasoning behind this is that the present system of funding RSOs is inefficient. So the idea is to take away money from the Area Governments and place it in the trust of our illustrious SGA senate (antagonistic overtones intended) to disperse as they see fit.

My feeling is A) the senate is far more inefficient than any Area Government B) student empowerment is a major problem here at the University, economic power is a basis to obtain more empowerment, losing it bad, giving it up is stupid.

****

Yesterday marked the anniversary of the march on Selma. The civil rights movement made a lot of progress, but now has lost ground. I can't fathom how this can be happening when the rest of the world is right now fighting so strongly for freedom and human rights.

I think about this especially after seeing the PBS series Eyes on the Prize. This week was about the desegregation of the Boston Public Schools. For most people this was just a viewing of a historical incident, but for me it was a romp through my childhood.

I remember this time pretty well. I can still see the parents outside my school protesting, and us kids — Black, White, Asian, and Hispanic — inside wondering what the big deal was. I still don't understand any parent who doesn't want their child exposed to different people and cultures.

Yet, as we said when we were graduating, desegregation had worked, integration hadn't.

****

The Supreme Court has made a fool of itself by declaring the United States doesn't need a warrant to invade a foreign territory to arrest someone. They said that it is only necessary while within the United States.

Where does the Supreme Court get off saying this? Does it think it's equal to the World Court? They are saying people only have these rights while in the United States. When did this happen? What about the people who aren't arrested, but are infringed upon during the process?

Anyway, if you did need a warrant, who could issue one — a local circuit court judge. "I, Judge Blahblah, authorize the U.S. military to search Panama and seize one Manuel Noriega." Next . . .

****

Quote of the week for all the ZooMass people: "Public schools are the nurseries of all vice and immorality. "
Henry Fielding.

Peter Leon is a Collegian columnist

Engineering students speak out on defense research funding

We were disappointed to read that the protestors who were charged with trespassing were acquitted on Tuesday, Feb. 27 at the Northampton Distict Court.

We believe in a person's freedom of speech, but when that person knowingly violates State Law and University policy, they must suffer the consequences of their actions.

Tuesday's ruling has told the protestors that they can indeed break the law in pursuit of their self-righteous agenda.

We consider People for a Socially Responsible University to be self-righteous because they feel that since they, a minority on campus, are against militarily funded research, that it should be halted.

That would be a fine goal if the entire campus were with them.

That would also be fine if they fought their cause in their own respective colleges and departments.

But, as engineering students, we see that military funded research as a vital part of our college.

The money from the government is what makes this a top-rated engineering college. Those research dollars have made the microwave engineering department one of the best in the country.

Without that money, this college would slip into the realm of mediocrity into which the state of Massachusetts is pulling us.

The members of the PSRU are doing their best to take away what is necessary for the college of engineering to maintain the quality of education. This is because they believe themselves to be on morally higher ground.

They certainly have the right to express their views and protest what they disagree with.

But to demand an end to the kind of research that has led to developments such as the new Doppler weather radar system is absurd.

Herbert Schlegel
Gary Gleason
Amherst

"MORE BAD NEWS ON THAT ALASKAN OIL SPILL. . . . IT STILL SEEMS TO BE SPREADING! . . ."

Frustrated with the opinions expressed on the Editorial page? Do you feel your point of view has not been cited? Send your two to three page column, typed and double-spaced, to the Collegian offices, 113 Campus Center, c/o Minu Sebastian or come down and talk to Minu, Gayle or Reggie.

'An eternity through teaching'

Ric Oliveira

It was a cold and misty day in April.

The drizzle fell softly from the grey sky.

The darkness was clamping down on the Earth.

We were sitting in class when the head teaching assistant interrupted the substitute professor. History was silent as he spoke, "At about 2:30 this afternoon Dean passed away."

Total quiet followed.

Our teacher had gone. As the weight of his message sank in, the room filled with the sounds of sorrow.

Dean Albertson taught contemporary history at UMass. His class was the type a student never wanted to miss. For many of us it was the best class we had ever taken.

Dean got his degree at Columbia University. Later he went to teach at Brooklyn College where he met his wife, Eva. At Brooklyn College he taught the second anti-Vietnam war teach-in which took place in the nation.

By the late sixties Dean was teaching at UMass. When he first taught here it was in a suit and tie. By 1970 he had discarded the upper class costume and began wearing blue collar shirts and jeans. He explained this as what he was: "A working American."

Dean once flew a fighter plane and dropped bombs. When he taught he often did the same thing, "In my opinion everything the right wing does is wrong, and history proves it!"

Dean had been suffering from cancer for two years before his death. We would watch him in class, his voice echoing out with the force of a drum. Then he would cough, recover and continue.

Dean was a committed man.

He was committed to his students, the environment and education.

His wife described him as "never becoming a patient to his illness".

He went on teaching and living without excuses, only missing two days of classes before his death.

To all that were touched by him, his memory lives on. He will live on through the knowledge he brought and the understanding he showed.

Besides leaving behind thousands of former students, he left behind thousands of burning dreams of "evolution, not revolution."

For all who loved a teacher something is learned.

Dean did not believe in God.

And Dean did not believe in Capitalism.

But Dean Albertson did believe "in eternity, an eternity through teaching."

Ric Oliveira is Collegian correspondent

Denial, apathy roots of rape

Amy Feinstein

It may be terrible that some of the most serious problems in the world today are ignored by many people, but even worse is the refusal by some to acknowledge that problems exist at all.

Sure, you cannot see the ozone layer disappearing with the naked eye, but there is a consensus among world scientists that such a problem exists.

Maybe you've never been raped or sexually assaulted, and don't know someone who has been, but every three minutes that passes another woman is being sexually abused in the United States; a victim of the fasting growing crime in America. [FBI statistics]

Because rape is what the police call a "sensitive" crime, reports of rape are not included in the newspaper's police reports. But imagine if they were.

Imagine the Collegian reporting a rape in between the usual reports of "Joe Shmoe, 21, arrested Friday for driving while intoxicated" and "So-and-So's 400-dollar radio was stolen from their car while it was parked in E lot Sat., no damage to car reported."

It might look something like this: "A nineteen year-old student was raped in the car of her twenty year-old attacker. Reported stolen were the young woman's virginity, her feelings of self-worth and self-respect. Other damages included emotional bruises that should partially heal in a few months, or years, but a memory that might last a lifetime.

Ninety-three percent of rape victims are female, an obvious sign that rape is a crime that discriminates between the sexes and against women. Because rape is seen as a "woman's problem", some people feel they can tuck it away under the title "women's issue" instead of acknowledging it as a violent crime.

Rape is not just an issue for women. The guy who lives next door to me has said, "Women are equal to men and deserve nothing less than respect." How about something more than apathy and denial?

He will not believe that rape is a common crime: One in four women will be raped in her lifetime, and one in two will be attacked. He has also said, "We feel like the men of this generation are being punished for a crime committed by generations before us." Sorry, wrong again. One in twelve college males commit rape . . .

I can't leave out another comment by this highly sensitive neighbor that "most of us have never done anything to merit such a cruel label." The cruel label are names like "chauvinist" or "sexist", which "those feminists" (speaking of labels) have often applied to him.

Wake Up! Who do you think the attackers are? Ninety-eight percent of rapes are committed by men, with nine percent of the 98 being gang rapes.

Remember, rape is not a sexual act, it is an act of violence.

To keep us aware of how serious, common, and unacceptable it is, rape must be reported, and these reports — even if only the number of them — must be published in the paper. Men and women, if you are angry or surprised at the number of rapes being committed, redirect your energies into support for groups dedicated to stopping rape and its causes. Or just talk about it with your friends — educate them.

I'd prefer to be recognized as a woman who is bothered and scared by the apathy, ignorance, and disbelief associated with rape.

I care and want to inform people.

Amy Feinstein is a UMass student

Bruno's
256-0222

Bruno's
LARGE CHEESE PIZZA
$6.25 tax included
ONE COUPON PER PIZZA
NOT VALID WITH OTHER COUPONS OR SPECIALS
Expires 3/31
FREE DELIVERY STARTING AT 11 AM DAILY

Bruno's
LARGE ONE ITEM PIZZA
$7.25 tax included
ONE COUPON PER PIZZA
NOT VALID WITH OTHER COUPONS OR SPECIALS
Expires 3/31
FREE DELIVERY STARTING AT 11 AM DAILY

Bruno's
LARGE TWO ITEM PIZZA
$8.25 tax included
ONE COUPON PER PIZZA
NOT VALID WITH OTHER COUPONS OR SPECIALS
Expires 3/31
FREE DELIVERY STARTING AT 11 AM DAILY

THE
EDWIN M. ROSSMAN
ALUMNI CAREER FORUMS

BDIC

DATE: TUESDAY, MARCH 6, 1990
TIME: 8:00 PM
LOCATION: CAMPUS CENTER 804-808

SPONSORED BY:
MATHER CAREER CENTER
ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
BACHELOR'S DEGREE WITH INDIVIDUAL CONCENTRATION

This is an opportunity to meet with alumni and discuss their experiences in the working world. Don't miss this important panel discussion!

ALUMNI PANELISTS:

Gary Callahan '85 "Communications Design"	Production Editor Boston Magazine Boston, MA
Walter Clune '83 "International Relations"	Assistant to the Regional Director Council on International Educational Exchange (CIEE) Boston, MA
Nancy Cohen '79 "Political Ecology and the Media"	Independent Documentary Producer Diverse Productions Cambridge, MA
Susan Gordon Kaplan '74 "Psychology, Sociology & Education"	President Compensation Consulting Resources Needham, MA

For more information, please contact:
Mather Career Center
545-2224

★ ★ SUN & FUN ★ KIDS & CAMPING ★ ★
★ ★ SWIMMING & BOATING ★ ★
★ OUTDOOR LIVING ★

Timber Trails, a 9 week resident Girl Scout Camp in the Berkshires, is looking for staff...
GYMNASTICS DIRECTOR ★ UNIT LEADERS RIDING STAFF ★ WATERFRONT, PHOTOGRAPHY & RADIO INSTRUCTORS REGISTERED NURSES, COOKS & KITCHEN STAFF

Call or write: Timber Trails, HC 60 Box 158,
Tolland, MA 01034 413-258-4592

SONY • JVC • TECHNICS • AIWA • PANASONIC • SHARP • TDK • MAXELL
STEREO BLUES?
UNDERGROUND SOUND CAN HELP

UNDERGROUND SOUND has been an expert, cost effective repair service for home audio, car audio, video components and musical instrument amplifiers since 1981. We also sell new and used components and install car audio systems at competitive rates. Stop Procrastinating—Get It Fixed—Listen To Music—Be Happy.

UNDERGROUND SOUND • 103 NORTH PLEASANT STREET, AMHERST, MA • 253-9507
WE ARE LOCATED BENEATH PANDA EAST RESTAURANT

Learn German This Summer

June 24—
August 3, 1990

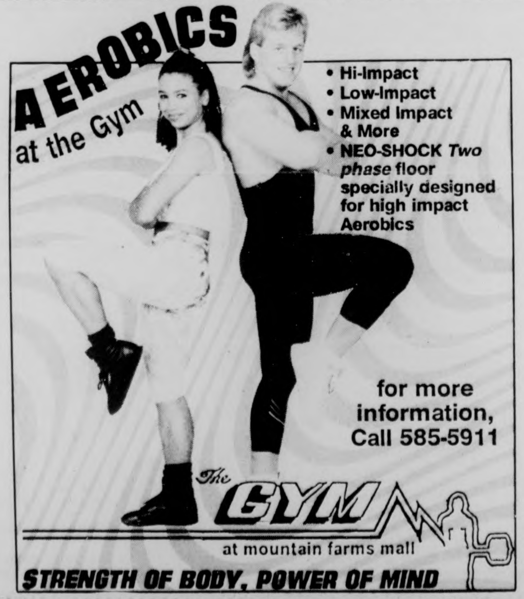
The Ninth Annual German Summer School of the Atlantic at the University of Rhode Island in co-operation with the Goethe Institute Boston.

German will be the sole language of communication, and German life and culture the heart of this six week residency program of intensive language study.

You may earn up to nine undergraduate or graduate credits while living in the beautiful surroundings of our country campus, just minutes away from Rhode Island's magnificent beaches and historic summer colonies.

This program is ideally suited for anyone wishing to enroll in beginning, intermediate, or any level of advanced German. From business people and travelers, to students planning work or study abroad. Take advantage of this rare opportunity to participate in this total German Language experience.

URI
For details: Dr. John Grandin
Dr. Otto Dornberg, Co-Directors
Department of Languages
University of Rhode Island
Kingston, RI 02881 (401) 792-5911



AEROBICS
at the Gym
The GYM
STRENGTH OF BODY, POWER OF MIND

• Hi-Impact
• Low-Impact
• Mixed Impact & More
• NEO-SHOCK Two phase floor specially designed for high impact Aerobics

for more information, Call 585-5911

The GYM at mountain farms mall

ARTS & LIVING

Slamming to a reggae thrash for a Noho boho Renaissance

Free Press
Sheehan's Cafe
Saturday, March 3

"It's not about demanding change but about exposing it," said Chuck Papert, sax man for the tense, sexy, psychotic frenzy of a party called Free Press. By this point a local instition of musical mayhem, the band proved there's a core to all their hype last weekend when they smashed every piece of glass in Sheehan's Cafe. Almost.

Five years old in various stages and about a year old with it's current dance infected sound, Free Press are a fascinating mixture of deceptively mellow reggae spiced tunes, subtley juiced up into a jam that keeps going somewhere short of a sustained climax. Then that song's over and the seven piece launch into more stroking, and before you know it you're off again, lurching around in a maddened state; various instruments, sweat and too many other bodies your only direction.

That sound is led by the bass line of Paul Scarpino, which has been joined to the musical hip of some piercing guitar leads by Ernie "Jones" Wilson for a long enough time to constitute musical marriage. Paul Cress and Bill Rock drum and conga respectively to Amy Fairchild's (a no-show that night) vocals and tamborine as Chuck Papert belts out the sax sound that adds the sweetest spice for grooving. Then there's the guy who writes all the songs, plays a funky rhythmn guitar and occasional trombone, and runs off the stage with a T.V. on his head. On the lead vocals Skelton makes the most sense when singing "Na Na Na . ." Not many people can get away with writing a song about Saad Hopkins. Exactly.

— WILLIAM GEORGIADES

Photo by Wendy Gordon
Chuck and Rob tooting their horns.

Play proves laughter best medicine

By ANTONIA MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

Imaginary Invalid
Rand Theater
Saturday, March 3

The Theater Department's production of Moliere's "Imaginary Invalid," the caustic sideswipe at 17th century medicine and marriage, directed by David Watson, went off this week with pace, style and a profound sense that every member of the cast was having a ball.

Their cohesion and total awareness of each other's characters made for a slick mixture of slapstick and double entendre. In addition, each character's style was elevated by a majestic array of beautifully designed costumes and period wigs, the work of designer Ruth Cooke.

The role of Argan, the hypochondriac protagonist, was superbly played by Rick Martin. His skillful portrayal was suitably blustering with interjections of infantile self-pity, as he screamed abuse at his daughter and her maid and then turned to lap up the false and devious pity of his wife, Beline. His nasal tones and aching bones made him the perfect cranky father and terrified patient.

Holly Waite's Beline, Argan's second wife, proved a successful combination of the beguiling bitch and the doting wife that the role demanded. As she wound him around her finger, with her notary and "friend," Bonnefoi (David Pasto) the sub-plot was set.

One of the most enjoyable characters to watch was Toinette, Argan's maid and his daughter's confidante. Marissa Matrone took the role of the insolent maid and the lovers go-between and really made it her own. Although at times her speech was too fast, she truly mastered the comedy of body language. She held the plot together as much with her sideways glances and her "facial" remarks as with her comic conniving and witty one-liners.

Robyn Heisey's Angelique, Argan's daughter, was played with poise as she challenged her step-mother and later with pathetic despair as she watched Toinette fight her battles for her. With her gallant lover, Cleante, the couple were as enjoyable to watch when they were not the center of attention as when they were. Their "impromptu opera" was one of the high points of the comedy, their mutual infatuation and pathetically love-sick looks never lapsing throughout. David Entwistle's dispiritedness and dejection successfully reserved his place in the hearts of the audience as the worthy lover, his love sick eyes as drooping as his wig.

Argan's choice of spouse for his daughter (Derek Leif) and father (Michael Reisman) as a comic duo, however, stole the show. Michael Reisman's absurd paternal faith in his son and Derek Leif's ludicrous speeches and hilarious gesticulations kept the audience in stitches.

As the play moved into it's final few scenes, the action was propelled by the characters of Argan's amiable brother (Marty Norden) and his fierce doctor, M. Purgon (Ed Jewett). Marty Norden's mischievous eyes and jovial puns on the "absurdities of medicine" prepared for the entrance of Ed Jewett. His compelling performance as the master of medicine and deity of drugs, along with his commanding wrath, deserved the applause as he reduced Argan to a snivelling wreck.

As the imaginary invalid was ultimately convinced that with gown and cap "all babbling becomes wisdom and all foolishness reason," and the lovers were united in true Commedia style, so this extremely enjoyable play ended with an amusing final chorus complete with Commedia masks and pig-Latin.

Performances continue Wednesday through Saturday of this week in the Rand Theater. Tickets are $3 for students and senior citizens and $5 for the general public.

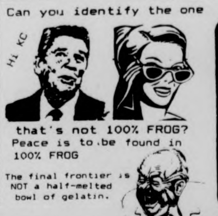
First-rate dance

By DOUG BANKS
Collegian Correspondent
Second Hand Dance Company
Hampden Theater
Friday, March 2

As the program so amiable describes them, the bald guy is Greg O'Brien, the long hair is Andy Horowitz, the red hair is Valerie Talbot, and Paul Gordon is "the other one." Together, they are the Second Hand Dance Company, and on Friday night, they displayed their collaborative skill and innovative acrobatics to create an exciting evening that recalls the anonymity of Mummenshantz and the human sculpture of early Pilobolus.

They derive their name from the fact that their

CONTINUED ON PAGE 8



Can you identify the one
Hi KC
that's not 100% FROG?
Peace is to be found in 100% FROG
The final frontier is NOT a half-melted bowl of gelatin.

EUROPE by CAR
RENT or BUY
LOWEST PRICES
FOR STUDENTS, TEACHERS
EUROPE BY CAR
One Rockefeller Plaza
New York, NY 10020
Phone (212) 581-3040
Mail this ad for Special Student/Teacher Tariff.
☐ RENTAL ☐ LEASE ☐ PURCHASE
school

AMHERST CINEMA
THE MUSIC BOX
PG13
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week

$2.50 with student I.D.

253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available.
Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID'. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

Pizza & Bowl
Special
"Dugout Snack Shack"
Mon. & Wed. Nights
10 P.M. – Midnight
• 2 HOURS BOWLING
• ALL THE PIZZA YOU CAN EAT!
Only $5.00/Person

College Special
with college ID
Every Thurs. Night 9:00 p.m.—12:00 a.m.
3 Games of Bowling and Shoe Rental for
$4.00

Don't Miss Out
Call To Reserve Your Spot!
Northampton Bowl
525 Pleasant St.
584-4830

charlie's
1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11 a.m
7 Days A Week • Call for Take Out
Kitchen Open 'till midnight
New Game Room with 2 Pool Tables
Tonight 10¢ Mozzarella Sticks
9:00 PM - 12:00 AM

Beer of the Month
Beck's Bottles $1.75

Drink of the Week
Whiskey Sour $1.75

FOOD GIVE-A-WAYS
Tues. 10¢ Buffalo Wings 9-12
Wed. 99¢ Nacho & Cheese Platters and 25¢ Cheese Pizza Silces 9-12
Sunday 10¢ Potato Skins 9-12

We accept MC/VISA/AMEX

Party your beads off

By GREG ORME
Collegian Correspondent

Mardi Gras, like all truly great parties, deals in two currencies — sex and intoxication. The event takes place during the week leading up to Ash Wednesday. The insanity increases daily until it peaks and is theoretically stopped for Lent at midnight on Tuesday in a show of strength by the police on Bourbon St.

I travelled down to Louisiana an innocent, interested but detached observer. As I walked into the French Quarter (the epicenter of Mardi Gras), I began by treating the whole experience as some bizarre, 360-degree, improvisational theater. For one day I stumbled around the streets alone, an observer in the throng of parades, drunks, hustlers, the older tourists rubbing shoulders with manic college students, the twisted vaudeville street acts.

"Nawlins" (as Southerners pronounce it) is not a city to put up with this manner of malingering for long. Like a great work of art, Mardi pulls you in until you cease to be an observer and become the event.

An intrinsic part of Mardi Gras is the giving and receiving of useless trinkets. The basic format, is that from the exquisite French Quarter balconies, beads are thrown between the inhabitants of the houses to the screaming crowd below. The object is not the beads but the means of transaction. Usually, this involves the baring of an intimate piece of the anatomy. The penis for men (I'll never forget the woman carrying cards that read "Show me your dick"), and breasts for women. Initially, this behavior seems crass and vaguely amusing, but extremely embarrassing and foolish. Twenty-four hours later, my "dick" had seen the light. It was still foolish, but after a couple of hurricanes (obligatory rum and punch cocktails), under the hot Louisiana sun packed into a crowd of laughing, shouting revellers I really didn't care.

Not all bead begging meant nudity. Loud shouting or simple pleading eye contact does the trick. Begging for something useless from a total stranger has to be good for the ego.

Mardi Gras is an experience to be swallowed and enjoyed, not dissected like an airline salad. Enjoy the international Spanish and French flavor of the city. Jackson Square is a superb Parisienesque center for all the French Quarter street acts — skiffle, jazz, blues bands, jugglers, fire eaters, et al. Eat at least one Cajun meal. Red beans and rice is staple food but splash out on shrimp jambalya or creole for something excellent.

If possible, stay in New Orleans a couple of days after Mardi Gras is finished to appreciate the beauty of the lonely streets. Take a trip to Lake Pontchartrain and spend an evening in the jazz clubs, such as Preservation Hall. If you have a chance to see Mardi Gras, take it — you will never forget the experience.

■ Second Hand Dance Co.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

costumes and props are constructed from materials found in dumpsters and thrift shops. However, the name Hundred Hand Dance Company more adequately describes them. They make it impossible to discern individual body parts at times, yet they consistently leave mouths agape when they totter and crawl in, out and above each other with flawless strength and balance.

In "Mahler 1 and 2" wearing nude body suits, the three men created a two-part study in body symmetry and freestyle gymnastics. Huddled together, they began with slow, languid movements, embryonic and pulsating, then began to move from an amorphous shape to a figure of freedom. The trio soon erupted into a celebration, scampering and frolicking around the stage seperately, yet cohesively. They were then joined by the company's newest member, Talbot, whose presence sometimes caused the group to pair off, weakening the piece's power. Yet Talbot's strong ballet background was inherent in both "Back to Ireland" and "99,000,099 Years Ago," an explanation on the demise of the dinosaurs.

In "Weird Sisters," the group created a human kaleidoscope while cackling like the three fates of Macbeth, while "Ease," a solo by Paul Gordon, featured beautiful and interpretive undulations, though it was not as powerful as the group's dynamic teamwork. "To Arms" was a wonderful parody of the senselessness of violence done to wacky ragtime music.

One of the strongest dances, the hilarious "Clackers," the trio strapped wooden boards to their butts and heels, creating human percussion instruments with each sweep of their legs. This "clacking," in conjunction with their zany facial expressions and impeccable timing, gave new meaning to the term "rhythm."

REAL 100% FROG

Recycle this newspaper

8/11 day 'backroad' tours of BRITAIN & IRELAND

FROM $299

WE SPECIALISE IN THE UNEXPECTED.
SMALL LIVELY GROUPS IN A SPECIALLY CONVERTED VAN.
DRIVEN BY EXPERIENCED AND FUN-LOVING GUIDE/COOKS.
WE KNOW THESE ISLANDS AND OF COURSE WHERE TO FIND THE BEST PUBS.

INCLUDES:
FULL SERVICES OF GUIDE/COOK/DRIVERS.
BED & BREAKFAST, CAMPING, OUTDOOR ACTIVITIES etc.

SPECIAL GROUP RATES, EUROPEAN TOURS IN THE FALL.
REGULAR DEPARTURES, WRITE OR CALL FOR BROCHURE NOW:

NAME:
Street:
City:
Zipcode:
Tel:
DIAL DIRECT: 011-44-749-342274

OYSTER TOURS
27 PETER STREET
SHEPTON MALLET
SOMERSET, BA4 5BL ENGLAND

THEAKSTON
Traditional brewers in North Yorkshire
Est. 1827
THE WORLD IS THINE OYSTER
Cheddar Valley
SOMERSET
Farmhouse
CIDER

TODAY!
Dijon Summer Program in France informational meeting at 4:30 p.m. in Herter Hall 301. Study for six weeks in the beautiful Burgundy of eastern France.

Saint Louis University's Academic Year in Madrid

COMPLETE CURRICULUM: English, Spanish, Liberal Arts, Business & Administration, TESOL, Sciences, Hispanic Studies

SLU in Madrid is a member of AA/EOE

Graduate Courses offered during Summer Session

Apply NOW for Spring, Summer and Fall
More than 1,000 students in the Program.

Saint Louis University in Madrid
Bravo Murillo, 38
Edificio Gonzaga, Planta Baja
Madrid 28015 Spain
Tel: 593-3783

Contact:
Saint Louis University
Study Abroad Coordinator
Admissions Office
221 North Grand Blvd.
St. Louis, MO 63103
Toll-free tel: 1-800-325-6666

This Is No Way To Take Your LSAT

If you've set your sights on law school, there's no better LSAT preparation than Stanley H. Kaplan.

Our LSAT prep course will open your eyes with score-raising strategies and techniques. We'll help you master everything from Analytical Reasoning to Reading Comprehension.

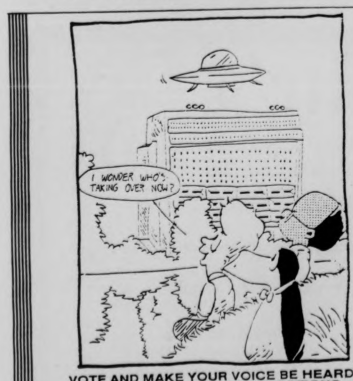
Our classes are live – and lively. All our class and study material is based on the "new" LSAT. And you can review lessons, and get additional help as needed in our TEST-n-TAPE® lab, open days, evenings and weekends for your convenience.

Visit our Center today and see for yourself.
And watch the scales tip in your favor.

STANLEY H. KAPLAN
Take Kaplan Or Take Your Chances

Classes begin March 5-April 11
in Amherst, Springfield
& at Smith College
549-5780

For other locations call 800-KAP-TEST



I WONDER WHO'S TAKING OVER NOW?

VOTE AND MAKE YOUR VOICE BE HEARD
BOARD OF GOVERNORS ELECTIONS
Tuesday, March 13th 11:30AM to 7:00PM:

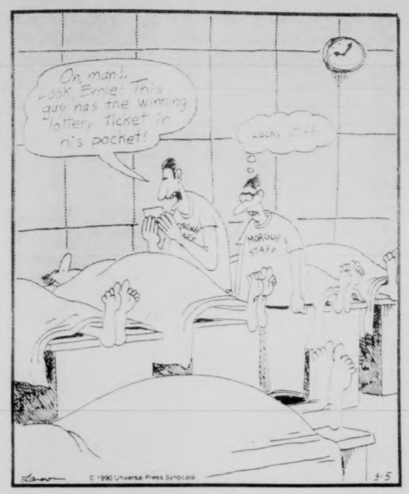
Dining Commons
Berkshire Butterfield
Franklin Hampshire
Worcester

The Hatch
Newman Center

vote wherever you see SGA ballot boxes!

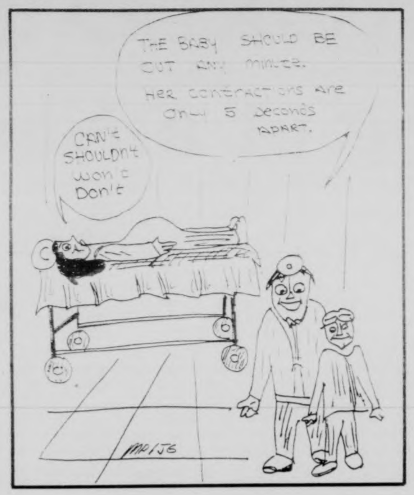
Wake-n-Bake
in beautiful
Negril, Jamaica
Hot days & Reggae nights
Travel with the best-
Call Sunsplash Tours
1-800-426-7710
Spring Break Week
starting at $469.00

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



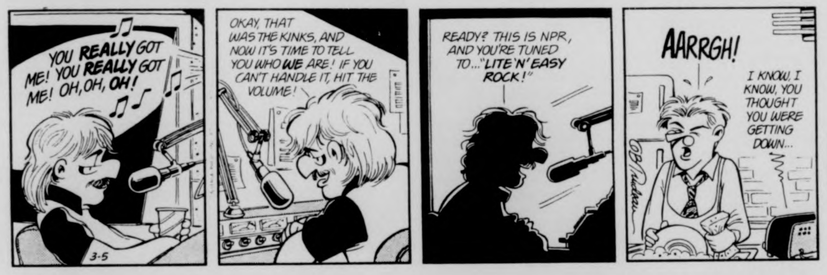
Oh man!.. Look, Ernie! This guy has the winning lottery ticket in his pocket!
Lucky stiff
MORGUE STAFF
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-5

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



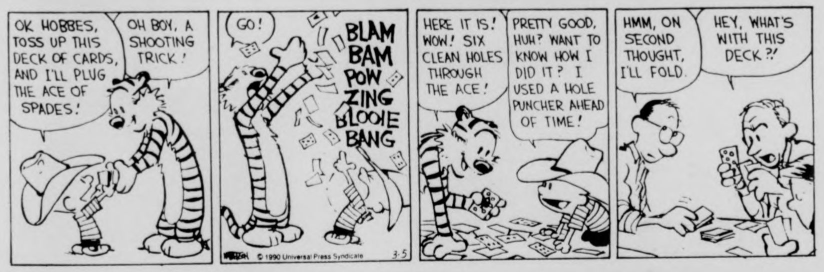
THE BABY SHOULD BE OUT ANY MINUTE. HER CONTRACTIONS ARE ONLY 5 SECONDS APART.
CAN'T SHOULDN'T WON'T DON'T
MR/JG

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



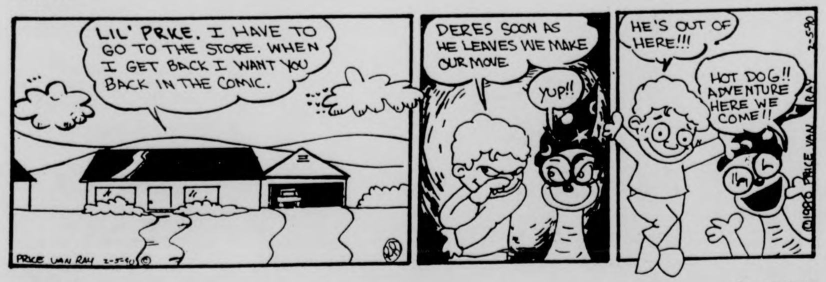
YOU REALLY GOT ME! YOU REALLY GOT ME! OH, OH, OH!
OKAY, THAT WAS THE KINKS, AND NOW IT'S TIME TO TELL YOU WHO WE ARE! IF YOU CAN'T HANDLE IT, HIT THE VOLUME!
READY? THIS IS NPR, AND YOU'RE TUNED TO..."LITE 'N' EASY ROCK!"
AARRGH!
I KNOW, I KNOW, YOU THOUGHT YOU WERE GETTING DOWN...
3-5

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



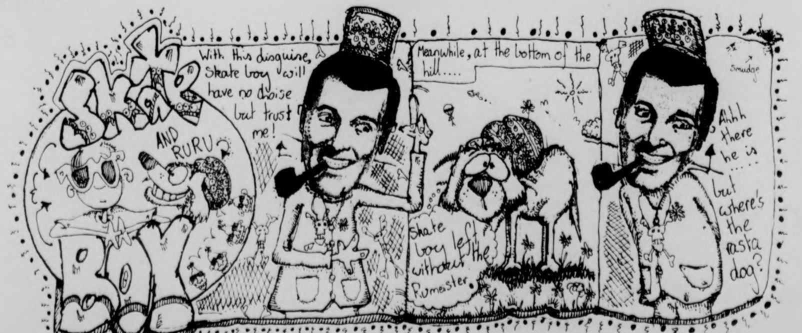
OK HOBBES, TOSS UP THIS DECK OF CARDS, AND I'LL PLUG THE ACE OF SPADES!
OH BOY, A SHOOTING TRICK!
GO!
BLAM BAM POW ZING BLOOIE BANG
HERE IT IS! WOW! SIX CLEAN HOLES THROUGH THE ACE!
PRETTY GOOD, HUH? WANT TO KNOW HOW I DID IT? I USED A HOLE PUNCHER AHEAD OF TIME!
HMM, ON SECOND THOUGHT, I'LL FOLD.
HEY, WHAT'S WITH THIS DECK?!
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-5

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



LIL' PRICE. I HAVE TO GO TO THE STORE. WHEN I GET BACK I WANT YOU BACK IN THE COMIC.
PRICE VAN RAY 2-5-90 ©
DERES SOON AS HE LEAVES WE MAKE OUR MOVE
YUP!!
HE'S OUT OF HERE!!!
HOT DOG!! ADVENTURE HERE WE COME!!
©1990 PRICE VAN RAY
2-5-90

NIPPLE
By PITT



SKATE BOY AND RURU
With this disguise, Skate boy will have no choise but trust me!
Meanwhile, at the bottom of the hill....
Skate boy left without the Rumeister.
Smudge
Ahhh there he is .... but where's the pasta dog?

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

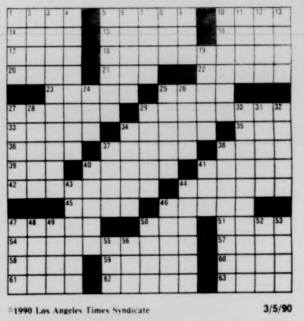
ACROSS
1 Like some pates
5 Wonderland figure
10 Hazard
14 Bassoon's cousin
15 Teasdale and others
16 Singer Adams
17 Triumphs
18 Literary work
20 "— Diamond"
21 Fish-eating bird
22 Mah-jongg pieces
23 Strengthening seams
25 Chastity's mother
27 Cathedral toppers
29 Snow remover
33 Part of a long poem
34 Tenant's contract
35 —-liner (gag)
36 Gambler's concern
37 Seckels
38 Feed the kitty
39 Miners' find
40 Sugar sources
41 Coaxes
42 Hawkers
44 Whole
45 Distrustful
46 Deux follower
47 Reference book
50 Expert athlete
51 Edible mollusk
54 Scottish tea treat
57 Singer's syllables
58 Word with back or baked
59 Lofty abode
60 Results
61 Important times
62 Spherical
63 Coyote State: Abbr.

DOWN
1 Orange or Rose
2 Irish Rose's lover
3 Overly verbose
4 Sweet treats
5 Valuable possessions
6 Actor Bert's family
7 Golf club
8 Hardtop or fastback
9 Atlanta time abbr.
10 Call it a day
11 Superstar
12 Your majesty
13 Openers
19 Actor Martin
24 Pride fellow
25 Singes
26 "Bonanza" hand
27 Ice cream portion
28 Army chaplain
29 Pews
30 Area east of New York City
31 Come in
32 One of the Pee Wees
34 See 45 Across
37 Nobleman
38 Magazine contents
40 Explosion
41 Due preceder
43 Dopey, Doc, Sneezy et al.
44 Worn away
46 Orient Express
47 Wimbledon champ: 1975
48 "— she blows!"
49 "Damn Yankees" role
50 Llamas roam here
52 Actor Alan
53 Cover up of a sort
55 Part of ABA
56 Early auto

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

R	E	F	S	■	D	E	F	I	S	■	D	E	M	O
E	L	A	N	■	E	A	R	L	Y	■	O	V	A	L
D	I	N	I	N	G	R	O	O	M	S	U	I	T	E
S	A	U	T	E	R	N	E	■	■	T	A	L	E	S
■	■	■	■	D	E	S	■	N	A	R	Y	■	■	■
■	P	A	S	S	E	■	A	A	R	E	■	A	F	B
S	I	L	K	■	■	A	N	D	E	S	■	N	E	E
C	A	L	I	F	O	R	N	I	A	S	U	I	T	E
A	N	I	■	A	B	L	E	R	■	■	S	T	E	P
T	O	N	■	R	O	E	S	■	A	H	E	A	D	■
■	■	■	A	M	E	S	■	E	V	E	■	■	■	■
A	M	U	S	E	■	■	O	V	E	R	C	O	A	T
N	U	T	C	R	A	C	K	E	R	S	U	I	T	E
O	L	E	O	■	R	A	I	N	S	■	S	S	T	S
N	E	S	T	■	A	R	E	T	E	■	P	E	A	T

3/5/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/5/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Chicken Puck Bacon-Onion Quiche	Roast Beef Breaded Veal
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Boursin & Sproutwich Chicken Puck	Eggplant Parmigiana Beans & Rice Provencale

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANNE DIXON

ARIES(March 21-April 19): You could be on the verge of an important discovery. Keep it to yourself until you have gathered conclusive evidence. Good timing is the secret to success. Be discreet.

TAURUS(April 20-May 20): Blot out past disappointments and move forward with confidence. Someone whose opinion you respect comes out of retirement to help you. Share the profits with this mentor. A romance may not last.

GEMINI(May 21-June 20): A cash shortage only makes you more inventive. Go all-out to impress an authority figure with your special talents. You can find some real bargains when you shop at outlet stores.

CANCER(June 21-July 22): Financial pressures will ease if you devise a realistic budget and stick to it. Get agreements in writing and stay out of the public eye. Be diplomatic when dealing with an older person's problems.

LEO(July 23-Aug.22): Forgive a trusted friend who acts in an unpredictable fashion. This seemingly odd behavior may be justified. Your mate's or partner's advice will enhance your creative efforts. Romance takes a happy turn.

VIRGO(Aug.23-Sept.22): You could form a close alliance with a member of the opposite sex, but it is strictly business. Make certain your colleagues understand. Visit investors to obtain their financial support.

LIBRA(Sept.23-Oct.22): Those in businesses requiring travel find special financial success today. Avoid making any charges you cannot substantiate. Wearing bright colors this evening will cheer both you and your companions.

SCORPIO(Oct.23-Nov.21): An outstanding day for handling financial matters. Sign agreements. Those at a distance can be especially helpful. Fax letters to confirm a business strategy. Reserve more play time for small children.

SAGITTARIUS(Nov.22-Dec.21): Moderation is the key to progress today. Temper your opinions when dealing with loved ones and co-workers. Start a diet with your doctor's blessing. Curb an impulse to buy a new "toy"!

CAPRICORN(Dec.22-Jan.19): Solicit the help of higher-ups in handling tedious personnel problem. Although your loyalties could be tested, you win a new friend. Enter into agreements with people who live far away.

AQUARIUS(Jan.20-Feb.18): Parental ties are in the spotlight. A family conference could bring about a quick solution to an elderly person's financial dilemma. Avoid acting on impulse. Consult a lawyer if unsure of your rights.

PISCES(Feb.19-March 20): Procrastination is all that stands between you and success. Review your priorities. Get rid of excess emotional "baggage." You do not need any chronic complainers in your life!

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor..........George Austin
Copy Editor..........Adrienne Matt
Layout Technician..........Rick Seto
Photo Technician..........Joel Solomon
Production Supervisor..........Michael Wester
Typesetter..........Arnold Salvati
Production..........Rick Seto, Nessa Richman, Steve Fadden, Mike Scott WareWolf

THIRD WORLD AFFAIRS

The coming of a New Order?

As the 80s rolled over into the 90s, the inhabitants of the Empires of North America, Europe, Russia and Japan were overwhelmed by the magnificent events that they had just witnessed.

Young Germans clambered atop the once-ominous Berlin Wall, delirious with joy, anticipating the rebirth of an all-powerful unified Germany. The Stalinist regimes of Eastern Europe caved in like a house of cards as the winds of change swept all the way from Warsaw to Sofia.

In the Russian Empire, all was not well. The Baltic states were on the verge of seccession. White colonial rule over Asiatic people in "republics" like Azerbaijan and Uzbekistan was threatened by irreversible nationalist uprisings.

Russian cultural imperialism, as seen in the suppression of languages, closing of mosques and forced "Russification," backfired in the streets of Baku. The imperial economy was in ruins. Faced with its deepest crisis since the Nazi invasion, the Bolshevik monarchy scrambled to bury the hatchet with the other Great Powers.

Pratip Dastidar

Across the ocean, the rulers of the United States gloated over the emerging New Order. The States and Japan would rebuild Eastern Europe. The Great Powers would then benevolently dole out largesse to people of color on the rest of the planet, provided they behaved themselves. Errant subjects would be periodically reprimanded. Western values had triumphed. History had ended.

To many in Asia, Africa and Latin America, the view was different. Leaders and people alike watched the emergence of the New Order with growing concern. Historically, Caucasian unity led to war and famine in their lands. Many of these nations had survived by playing-off one cold warrior against the other — so-called Non-Alignment.

The democracy movements of Eastern Europe conspicuously avoided articulating positions on Third World issues. South Africa advertised for white immigrants in East German newspapers, and anti-Arab sentiments were voiced in Rumania and Bulgaria. Improved U.S.-Russia relations permitted Israel to celebrate a huge influx of immigrants, many of whom would end up as settler-colonists in occupied Palestine.

African nations anticipated dramatic cuts in aid resulting from the diversion of funds to Eastern Europe. The Russians seemed ready to abandon Third World movements that had defied the United States, be they the Sandinistas, FMLN, PLO or ANC. Cuba's future hung on the balance as Washington persuaded Moscow to desist from subsidising Cuban sugar.

The 1990s herald the advent of a new and highly sophisticated age of colonial rule. No longer will the white man's burden be shouldered by young Britons or Spaniards living amidst the natives. The New Order will lock people of color in a vice-like grip. The Third World will be manipulated by a superbly-coordinated system of control over banks, technology and trade. From Washington, London, Paris, Bonn, Moscow and Tokyo, the puppet masters will pull strings. The new colonialism will use airborne armies, carrier battle groups, spy satellites and electronic eavesdropping to quell insurrection. Big Brother will be there in 24 hours or you can have your money back.

A grim scenario? Who could have predicted what anguish Vasco da Gama's ships would bring India, as they sailed past the Cape of Good Hope? Or what agony Columbus' vessels would bring Native Americans as they entered Carribean waters?

Who knows what course history would have taken if the Mughal rulers in India had been forewarned of the invention of the mechanised loom? Or if Chinese rulers could see what Europe would accomplish with the very gunpowder that China had invented? Or if Aztecs were warned about the intentions of the Spanish conquistadores?

The transformation of Eastern Europe is indeed a momentous event. To some, it is a magnificent saga of the overthrow of tyrants by the will of the people. To the majority of the planet, however, it has an ominous ring.

AP Photo

West Berlin, FEB. 27 — A young girl climbs over the Berlin Wall from East to West in front of Brandenburg Gate.

Can we afford to neglect momentous changes in Europe once again? Our ancestors have already paid a price in blood for this omission. We must prepare ourselves for the shape of things to come.

To some of us, the events in Eastern Europe have removed the last barrier to the New Order. Just when we thought the age of colonialism had passed, we have come to realize that it has yet to begin.

Pratip Dastidar is a Collegian staff member

ARE YOU READY FOR SPRING BREAK '90??!!

WE ARE & WANT YOU TO BE!!
COME GET
ONE FREE WORKOUT
BETWEEN MARCH 5 - 16 & THEN GRAB

A SPRING MEMBERSHIP FOR ONLY

$25.00!!

GET OVER TO ANY BODY SHOP FITNESS CENTER
(TOTMAN GYM / JOHN ADAMS 19TH FLOOR / KENNEDY 12TH FLOOR)
BETWEEN MARCH 5 - 16 FOR A FREE-NO OBLIGATION WORKOUT
AND PICK UP THE REST OF THE SPRING SEMESTER FOR $25.00

COME ON OVER & GET READY!!

A statement to the United States of America

You finally did it.

You succeeded in crushing the attempts of the Nicaraguan people to seek social justice. For decades, this empire supported and maintained a corrupt and ruthless dictator who grew fat off the labor and blood of the Nicaraguan people. Back then, there were no cries of indignation or for democracy from the United States. But then, he was your puppet.

After years of struggle, the people of Nicaragua, having been pushed to the breaking point, liberated themselves in hopes of creating a nation based on social justice and freedom from American hegemony.

But the psychotic colossus of the North couldn't tolerate the fact that a Latin American nation would not submit to it and would dare to seek independence. So, for 11 years, you subjected Nicaragua to intense economic, political, and military warfare conceived and executed by your government and approved or acquiesced (tacit approval) to by you, the citizens.

Robin Varghese

The U.S. wouldn't trade with Nicaragua, and encouraged other nations to do likewise. You mined its harbors, you attacked its food production centers, and you forced it to spend precious resources in order to defend itself.

In the recent elections, the choices were spelled out clearly to the Nicaraguan people by the United States: peace or continued warfare, open trade or continued sanctions, food or starvation. The people of Nicaragua, in effect, had no choice.

UNO did not defeat the Sandinistas; U.S.-orchestrated state-sponsored terrorism did. Go on, feel victorious. Of course, no nation so wealthy and powerful as the United States would feel victorious about defeating a hopelessly weaker nation such as Nicaragua unless it was devoid of even a modicum of decency.

But know this: Nicaraguans will not permit a return to the conditions it endured under the dictator Somoza. However, next time, be warned, the revolution may not be based on a desire for justice, since the United States consistently demonstrates that such desires and attempts will be responded to with overwhelming force, but rather on a desire for revenge.

AP Photo

Managua, FEB. 22 — Violeta Barrios de Chamorro, currently president-elect of Nicaragua, arrives for a press conference.

So, if you find yourself in the Third World and are inexplicably harassed, beaten up or killed for being an American, it will simply be the chickens coming home to roost, and you will have no one but yourself to blame.

Robin Varghese is a Collegian correspondent

---

men's basketball romps

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

ed itself out. Cary Herer (9 rebounds, 8 assists, 4 steals) broke free from constant defensive pressure and started to run the show, and the whole team picked it up.

McCoy still finished with a game-high 25 points, but he scored just eight in the second half, gladly sharing the limelight with the rest of the squad. Herndon scored 14 of his 16 points in the second half while freshman Tony Barbee also heated up, scoring 13 of his 16 after the break.

On the other side, the Mountaineers just got more frustrated, shooting only 31 percent overall and a sickly 3-for-18 from the three point range. Berger led West Virginia with 15 points, followed by junior forward Charles Becton with 13.

As for tonight's game, and anything else that may follow, Calipari is very cautious not to blow the horn too loudly over his white-hot team (four straight wins, the last three by an average of 28 points per game).

"We're happy we won and we don't care who we play," Calipari said. "It's not them, it's us. Will we come to play? If we play harder, it doesn't matter who we play. If these kids want to do it, they'll do it."

Minutemen, 78-55

Massachusetts (78): Tony Barbee 5-10 5-6 16; William Herndon 7-11 2-3 16; Harper Williams 1-4 0-1 2; Cary Herer 1-2 4-5 7; Jim McCoy 11-20 2-2 25 Rafer Giles 0-3 0-0 0; John Tate 1-1 5-8 7; Chris Bailey 0-0 0-0 0; Tommy Pace 0-0 0-0 0; Anton Brown 0-1 0-0 0; Michael Byrnes 1-2 2-2 5; Sean Nelen 0-0 0-0 0 Matt Anderson 0-0 0-0 0 Totals: 27-54 20-27 78.

West Virginia (55): Chris Brooks 3-10 2-4 8; Charles Becton 5-9 3-5 13; Junior Robinson 1-2 1-2 3; Tracy Shelton 3-15 0-0 7; Steve Berger 5-15 4-5 15; Matt Roadcap 0-2 0-0 0; Chris Leonard 1-7 2-2 5; Chip Rupp 1-3 0-0 2; Mike Yoest 1-1 0-0 2; Totals: 20-64 12-18 55.

Halftime: Massachusetts 26-25. Three-point goals: Massachusetts 4-11 (Barbee 1-4, Herer 1-1, McCoy 1-4, Giles 0-1, Byrnes 1-1); West Virginia 3-18 (Shelton 1-7, Berger 1-4, Leonard 1-7). Fouled out: Brooks. Rebounds: Massachusetts 36 (Herer 9); West Virginia 42 (Brooks 11). Assists: Massachusetts 13 (Herer 8); West Virginia 6 (Berger 3). TOTAL FOULS: Massachusetts 14; West Virginia 23.

men's gymnastics loses

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

perfect and that translated into the Orangemen outscoring UMass 44-42.15 in the last event of the afternoon.

Once again, Syracuse swept the first three places as Chris Kirby (9.2), Dave Kennedy (8.95) and Mark Esposito (8.8) swung well while UMass did not.

"On high bar, we just weren't very clean," Johnson said.

The Minutemen did get a few good performances from individuals. Senior Carl Russ looked good on rings (9.45) where he finished second and freshman Steve Christianson whose 9.1 was good enough for second place in the floor exercise.

"Carl Russ had a real nice ring routine," Johnson said. "Today was a real good day for him."

But Russ and Christianson were the only Minutemen to place in the top three all afternoon. Johnson will bring his troops back to the drawing board this week so they can recuperate in time for the New Englands and EIGLs.

"Perfect practice makes perfect performance," Johnson said.

swimmers finish 18th

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

McIver won the 100-yard freestyle in 44.68 seconds.

Despite his fantastic times, he missed the qualifying cuts in both events for Nationals. The Nationals require a time of 44.44 in the 100-yard freestyle and 20.38 for the 50-yard freestyle.

"This is one of the most prestegious meets in swimming," said Yarworth. "Brian's performance is one of the most incredible events in history for a UMass athlete."

The rest of the Minutemen could not match their top times in either the 400-yard freestyle relay or the 200-yard medley. Finishing 14th, the 400-yard participants included seniors McIver and G.T. Ladd (46.25), junior Jim Robertson (46.90) and freshman Chris Barett(47.33).

"We were trying to get Brian to swim the 100-yard as often as possible, so he could break into the Nationals," said Yarworth. "He had a series of 44s (seconds): 44.93, 44.7, 44.68, 44.62, but he just couldn't get out that extra time.

The 200-yard medley consists of 50 yards of the backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly and freestyle. Seniors Dave Ehle and Pete Koback, Ladd and Robertson swam the medley, finishing 16th.

Collegian Staff member Adrienne Matt contributed to this story.

UM to play Penn State

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

Penn State coach Bruce Parkhill thinks his team is going to have a tough go at it against the charged up Minutemen.

"UMass is so explosive. Jim McCoy is obviously a great player," Parkhill said. "But they're explosive in a lot of other areas. That's why they have the ability to do what they did [yesterday], which was very impressive."

* * *

UMass picked up the most hardware at Friday night's Atlantic 10 Conference Awards Banquet as four players received All-Conference honors.

McCoy, a sophomore guard, was chosen for the first team, the first time in league history that a UMass player has received that honor. Sophomore forward William Herndon was selected for the third team while making the All-Freshman team were Tony Barbee and Harper Williams.

All four players were also honored for having been named either A-10-Player-of-the-Week, or Freshman-of-the-Week during the season.

Rhode Island's Kenny Green was named the A-10 Player-of-the-Year and he and McCoy were joined of the first team by Duquesne's Mark Stevenson, Temple's Mark Macon and Fogell of Penn State.

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8 30-3 30, FRI 8 30-2 30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE. 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

ANYONE INTERESTED IN Uechiryu Karate Please contact Mike 546-9340 Sherry 542-2572 or Michelle 542-3051

CLUB COMMUNICATION meeting Monday March 5th, 7:00 PM in E-37 Machmer. All majors welcome. Dues collected. Plus slating officers.

COME HEAR PROF MALONE speak on careers in sales on Tues. March 6 at 5:00 in Campus Center Room 164

LEGALIZE DRUGS? UMASS Libertarians vs. UMASS Republican Club. Debate Tuesday March 6. 7:00 CC 174-176.

LEISURE STUDIES & RESOURCES
Meeting on March 9 at 7:00 PM in Hills 101
Topic: Special Events

MEDITATION CLASS - TONIGHT
Campus Center Room 903
Tomorrow Room 805-809
7:30 - 9:30 PM Hooray! Namaskar!

MODEL UNITED NATIONS MEETING
Tonight 7:00 PM Sharp in Herter 201
All welcome. For more info call Jill 6-4006

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

JAZZHOT PERFORMING DANCE Colloquium Audition Sunday 6 PM Crampton TV Lounge Call 6-7334 or 6-3249

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA - Open Rush!! Come join us for Dinner (March 5-8) and a Housetour 545-1224

WIN A HAWAIIAN VACATION or big screen TV plus raise up to $1400 in just 10 days!!!
Objective: Fundraiser
Commitment: Minimal
Money: Raise $1400
Cost: Zero investment
Campus organizations, clubs, frats, sororities call OCMC: 1-800-932-0528 / 1-800-950-8472, ext. 10

AUDIO

PIONEER CAR STEREO w/60W Amp and EQ. New was 700.00 asking 475.00 584-3421

CASINO NIGHT

THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS Program Council Presents Casino Night to benefit The Brain Tumor Society's Program Campuses Against Cancer.
Thursday March 8. 8 PM - 1 AM
Campus Center Auditorium
Winnings awarded in cash!
Refreshments and Hors D'oeuvres will be served.

AUTO FOR SALE

1980 HONDA CIVIC good condition. Little rust. Runs great. Best offer. Call Sharan 546-6765

ATTENTION-GOVERNMENT SEIZED vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. A 7627.

GREAT IDEA! Free transportation Spring Break roomy Buick Regal low miles AC new brakes split cost take trip resell 650. Call 549-2606

HONDA ACCORD LX-81 for sale air, stereo/cass Excellent body and runs perfect $1390 Call Barb at 665-8240

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club. Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR RENT

APARTMENT FOR RENT. Downtown Amherst. Cheap! Great location! Take over lease June. Call 253-9124 immediately! This place is hot!

LARGE SUNNY BEDROOM
For 1 or 2 in
Spacious Townhouse.
Two considerate
roommates. Call Cheryl
at 549-7442

FOR SALE

APPLE IMAGE II PRINTER 1-yr. old Ask for 350 Free paper Call evening 549-1019

BAR W/STOOLS 70.00, Busch Neon 60.00 Typewriter electric 50.00 584-3421

COM.64: Keyboard, Disk Drive, Printer Modem, TV, w/manuals. Hundreds of programs. $500 BO Call 546-6788

FULL SIZE FUTON AND FRAME
$168
Metawampe Furniture
Free Delivery
549-4787

LEATHER SHEARLING three-quarter length, worn three months $499 BO retailed at $899 (413) 546-6465 evenings

PIONEER TOWER SPEAKERS, 150W, $150/pr., firm. Call Mike at 549-7615

FOUND

FOUND IN CENTRAL AREA behind Baker two weeks ago
Dolphins key chain
Ford car keys and key to bike lock
Also Dorm keys all this attached on black shoe lace sound familiar
Call 549-0868 and ask for anyone!

ONE SET OF KEYS attached to purple webbed foot keychain in Bartlett 65. Claim at Collegian

SET OF KEYS that look like they belong to an R.A. Found at Baybank in Amherst Call Sue 6-8920

HELP WANTED

ATTENTION: EARN MONEY Reading Books! $32,000/year income potential. Details 1-602-838-8885 Ext. BK 7627

ATTENTION: EARN MONEY Watching TV! $32,000/year income potential. Details 1-602-838-8885 Ext. TV-7627

ATTENTION: EXCELLENT INCOME for home assembly work. Info Call 504-646-1700 Dept. P1307

ATTENTION - HIRING! Government jobs-your area. $17,840-$69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885. Ext R 7627

CAMP ANDROSCOGGIN- Maine Boys Camp seeking staff to teach full range of activities on land and water. Excellent facilities. Generous time off. If you like kids and being outside, visit us at UMASS Camp Day, write 733 West Street, Harrison, NY 10528 or call collect (914) 835-5800.

COUNSELORS: Camp Arcadia. Maine Residential Girls' Camp Lake setting. Mid-June to Mid-August. Many sports and arts. Job Fair, March 6 or call/write Mrs. John Fritts, Pleasantville Rd., New Vernon, N.J. 07976 (201) 538-5409

COUNSELORS WANTED. Trim down-fitness, co-ed NYS camp. 100 positions: sports, crafts, many others. Camp Shane, Ferndale, NY 12734 (914) 292-4045

EARN $300 TO $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. 281

HELP WANTED PART TIME/full time Waitress. Please call Hunan Gourmet at 585-0202.

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SUMMER COUNSELORS
Outstanding NYS Co-ed
Resident Camp
Specialist/General
Gail 549-1331

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT
Camp Young Judaea, Amherst, New Hampshire (Resident, Co-ed, 1 hour from Boston) is in need of Department Directors and Activity Specialists for this summer in: Athletics, Gymnastics, Swim Instruction (WSI), Waterskiing, Sailing, Arts & Crafts, Campcraft, Israeli Dance, Drama, Israeli Folk Song, Riflery, Tennis, Photography, Office Personnel, and Nurses (R.N.) Excellent Salaries and fringe benefits. Please contact Dr. Charles B. Rotman, Director, 81 Kingsbury Street, Wellesley, MA 02181, 617-237-9410.

THE FRESH AIR FUND, a 113 year old independent, non-profit agency, sends 2500 underprivileged New York City Children to summer camp each summer. We are now hiring energetic persons who have completed a minimum of one year of college to work as counselors, waterfront staff, and program specialists, in this challenging summer program. Salary range $1200 to $1800+. To learn more about The Fund and its summer camp opportunities plan to meet with our representative at The UMASS Camp Day on Tuesday, March 6th in The Student Union Ballroom, or contact: The Fresh Air Fund, 1040 Avenue of the Americas, New York, New York, 10018 at 1-800-367-0003.

CAMP COUNSELOR
Have the summer of your life and get paid for it. Top 3-camps organization in the Pocono Mountains of NE PA. Our 59th year. Positions in all areas-water and land sports, fine arts and outdoor adventure. Please call 1-800-533-CAMP (215-887-9700 in PA) or write 407 Benson East, Jenkintown, PA 19046

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

IS MY LIP ALL?

NOW THAT I'VE GOT your attention
If we're brother and sister
What will our kids look like?
Sebastians on the way
Happy Birthday
Love eL victor

LOST

LOST PEARL RING at the Laundry Club! Great sentimental value! If found please call Gail at 253-9193! Reward!

LOST! VERY SAD! About two weeks ago I lost a shirt & cloth pants looks like Karate outfit Blue shirt w/white dragon Please call if you have any info at all 546-6920

WHITE FACE OF Christian Bernard watch. Lost between Bartlett & Library. Please call 549-8226

KILLINGTON CHALET

ROOMS FOR RENT Includes cooking facilities, Color TV, VCR $50. per person per weekend Eve 548-9116

PERSONALS

ALAN
This past year has been the greatest because I've had you. You're the best! Happy Anniversary!
Love Lorraine

ALEX BRIN,
Happy Birthday to
the sexiest man alive
I love you, Pookie

DEBBIE Who cares if I'm your teacher, let's go out sometime

DEBI SUE
You're finally 21! Have a Happy Birthday
Love, Cathy

ERIN CAPUTO: Happy 21st-Belated! We hope Uptown is ready for us!
Drink, Scoop, & Be Merry!
Love, Debbie & Christi

HONEYBUNNY, Someone at UMASS loves you very much!! Live it up! Jason

JULIE
To good friends and great times
Happy 21st
Love, Dawn

KRIS V.
Happy, Happy, Happy Birthday!!
I'm a lucky guy to have such a wonderful friend. So what am I trying to say?...
Love ya gorgeous!!!!
-Steve

LIGHTEN UP AND DANCE...VFW 754 is the new Barsie's

MIKE C.
Bird!
Little Roo

PAM- We "got busy" at Katina's Wed. 2/28. We didn't get a chance to talk. I would like to see you again. Could we meet? Please respond here. Brian SHROOM HAPPY 19TH! Have a drink on us!

Luv The Girls

S.L.D.
Have a SPECIAL 23rd Birthday!
Love You Always.
D.J.K.

TC KEEFE
Happy 19th! Hope you had a great Bday and a blast in Boston.
Love, The Typical Guy

TO JEN IN ENGLISH 362A- The offer to have coffee sometime still stands. Call if you are interested- Jim

PLEASE, RIDE WANTED!

PLEASE! I need a ride to Cornell or anywhere in the vicinity for the weekend of March 9-11. I will pay for gas. Call Sheila at 549-2982

RENE FANTASIA

RENE FANTASIA- Exactly how do you pronounce your first name? Is it like Irene without an I? If so what sort of name is that anyway? Were your parents really into Kafka or something? Oh by the way have you bought your ticket for The Sugarcubes and The Primitives? Rene, these are all highly important questions that require an answer immediately. Give me a call- Jim (CS)

RESUME SERVICE

 #1 RESUME SERVICES *****
Good prices, Rush sevice
We specialize in: Traditional, Designer and Contemporary Resumes
We will work with you to insure your Resume is the best it can be!!!
ALL packages include 30 Professional Laser Prints on Resume Paper
Call Roscoe now for quick service
549-7955

RIDE WANTED

TO LI OR NYC 3/9 to 3/11 Will share expenses please call!! Ellen 549-0553

ROOM FOR RENT

ARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. vailable stop by Puffton Village No.63 or all 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

BEDROOM AVAILABLE in 2-bdrm Apt. $268 per month. Quiet, clean. Call 256-0553 Mornings

SINGLE OPEN IN MAIN ST. Apt. 245/Mo. Gas, heat, bus stop at front door. I will pay your March rent! Call Sue 536-2199

THE BROOK
$200/month
Male wanted
Call after 3:00
Ask for Mark
253-0975

TWO BEDROOMS IN A great old house in North Leverett. Beautiful area in the hills. $205, Free heat. 367-9861

SERVICES

HISTORY TUTOR
American or European History
Reasonable rates. 549-6687

MAXIGRAPHICS - Super enlargements-B&W and Color
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

NEED RESUME READY in a day
Call 253-7468

RESUMES Let me do your resumes! The local shops are charging outrageous prices. I will do the same work for $10 to $30 less! Call me, Rick, evenings at 536-1642

TRAVEL

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

BAHAMAS-CANCUN-JAMAICA
You deserve to go! Last chance 549-3934
Janice

COPPERTONE COMPLETE SPRING Break
Packages: Cancun from $429
Nassau from $499
Still space but getting late!
Call now! 256-4659

DAYTONA BEACH- $259.00 (quad. occup.) Ten days, March 16-25. Includes transportation and OCEANFRONT, first class hotel. Spring Break '90 World Headquarters. Best location, best hotel, best clubs, best party. Call Yankee Tours M-F, 8-6, 1-800-942-8890 for brochure.

NEED A RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Spring Break Special
$15 One way fare
to Bradley Airport
Call Now!
Limited Seating
Valley Transporter
256-8484

PANAMA CITY BEACH! DON'T GET
caught 10 miles away from the action!!
Stay at the only Hotel located on
"the strip". $239-Complete package
$139-Hotel package
Call now- Deb or Pam 549-0840

SPACES STILL AVAILABLE... Jamaica and Cancun. Call now for details. Mary or Karen 549-8166

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING. $1.75/pg. Campus pickup.
Gloria, 323-5140.

FAST ACCURATE TYPING
Spell Check $1.75/pg.
Call Ashley at 546-6756

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

DEAD TICKETS Any Albany shows! Please help! Steve D. 549-2833

REAL 100% FROG
He's proud to be

Solice is not easily discovered in a bathroom fixture.

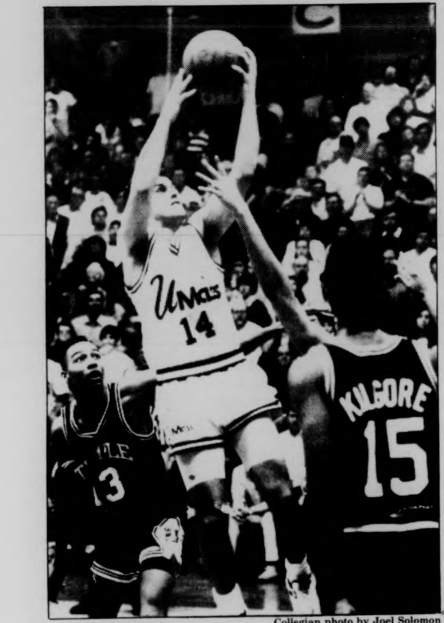
SPORTS

Minutemen thumps West Virginia



Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team beat West Virginia, 78-55, in the first round of the A-10 tourney.

UM advances to 2nd round of A-10 tourney

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

PHILADELPHIA – Come on, admit it. You knew all along that West Virginia didn't have a chance in the world.

It was a given that the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team could be out-rebounded on the first half 25 to 9 and still have a one point lead. And that the Minutemen would play a defense that would have made Chuck Noll turn green.

So it comes as no surprise that UMass took the historic Palestra by storm and cruised to a 78-55 win in the quarter finals of the Atlantic-10 Tournament, right?

Believe what you want, but be sure to understand that this was a victory of HUGE portions for the Minutemen, who advance to the semifinals tonight to face Penn State at 7 p.m.

UMass (16-12) looked like anything but world-beaters in the first ten minutes of the game, falling into a 21-11 hole.

"We're not a good one o'clock team, usually," said UMass coach John Calipari, referring to the early start of yesterday's game. "We've got a bunch of puffy-eyes. We got them up early and got them over here [shoot-around at 8 a.m.] and that's why in the first five minutes, it hurt them."

Then sophomore guard Jim McCoy, who sported a different puffy eye after being bumped by West Virginia's Steve Berger, decided to take control, just as he loves to do against the Mountaineers (16-12).

Paced by a solid defense, McCoy proceeded to score 15 points in a span of ten minutes. At the same time, UMass was holding WVU without a point over 6:43, enough for the Minutemen to pull even.

The crowning point for the defense, and arguably the turning point of the game, came on a WVU possession that lasted over two minutes. West Virginia had five different shots but failed to score, thanks in part to a few rejections by sophomore forward William Herndon (16 points, 8 blocks).

"We came in at the half, and my first words were, 'You guys didn't quit'," Calipari said, pointing out the importance of the big defensive stand. "I said on their third possession, 'They're going to score now,' and they didn't. I said on the fourth possession, 'They have to score now,' and they didn't. That's when I knew we came to play."

Instead it seemed the Mountaineers gave up at that point. McCoy finished with 17 in the first half to pull the Minutemen to a 26-25 lead at the break.

"He's the best player in the league against us," said West Virginia coach Gale Catlett. McCoy is averaging 26 points a game in five career contests against the Mountaineers.

In the second half there was little drama. UMass simply dominated the last 20 minutes.

The key to the second half was that the scoring balanc-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Two UM players named All-Conference

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

PHILADELPHIA – The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team has never made the semifinals of the Atlantic 10 tournament . . . until this year.

The Minutemen, (16-12), overwhelming 78-55 winners over West Virginia yesterday, will take on Penn State tonight at 7 p.m. at the Palestra.

The Nittany Lions (21-7) knocked off George Washington University last night, 83-72.

Penn State is a solid, all-around team, with Ed Fogell, James Barnes, and DeRon Hayes inside, and Monroe Brown and Freddie Barnes on the perimeter.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Women's hoop bows to Rhody

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team ended its regular season with a loss to Rhode Island.

By JOHN STEVEN MARPLE
Collegian Staff

Admit it. You wanted the University of Masschusetts basketball team to win. In a season where losses seem to mount over losses, you wanted the excitement of a coin flip to see who would bag the ninth seed in the upcoming Atlantic 10 Conference playoffs.

If UMass defeated the University of Rhode Island Saturday afternoon, it would have been involved in a coin flip to see who would garner the ninth seed. However, UMass lost 63-58, and must face St. Bonaventure tonight.

The Minutewomen found themselves ahead at the half, 31-23, only to fall behind quickly in the second half, 41-36.

"We just couldn't convert our inside shots," said UMass coach Kathy Hewelt. "We hit a cold spell in the second half."

UMass was led by point guard Michele Pytko, with 17 points.

Teammate Sue Serafini helped the cause with 16 points of her own.

The first time UMass played the Lady Bonnies, the Minutewomen lost, 77-72.

"We have not played well each of the times we've played them," said Hewelt. "Hopefully, with a little luck we can have a chance against St. Bonaventure."

Swimmers finish 18th at Easterns

By C.J. ABATI
Collegian Staff

WEST POINT, N.Y. – The University of Massachusetts men's swim team participated in the Eastern Seaboard Tournament this weekend. The team did not finish as high as they hoped, placing 18th in the 42-team field.

"It's very hard to score points in this meet," said UMass coach Russ Yarworth. "It's good to know that we can come down here and place with the top teams."

Finishing first this year was Princeton University. Pennsylvania State University, Harvard University, University of Pittsburg and the U.S. Military Academy finished in the top five with the likes of Columbia University, Villanova University and Cornell Universtiy not for behind.

"The teams that placed above us were the Ivies and the Academies," said Yarworth. "These are scholarship-oriented schools, historically strong in swimming."

Despite the lower-than-expected finish, the Minutemen did have a big weekend. Senior Brian McIver was honored with the Phil Moriarity Award, given to the swimmer who scores the most points in the tournament. McIver finished with 55 points, beating out a Harvard swimmer by one point.

"Considering the caliber of swimmers there," said coach Russ Yarworth, "it's just incredible that a little guy from Massachusetts could come in and win it. He started out as a freshman and really built himself into a star."

On Thursday, McIver won the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 20.45. He then placed fifth in New York on Friday in the 200-yard freestyle with 1:39.20. Tying up his collegiate career Saturday,

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Minutemen 'fall' to Orangemen on road

UMass finishes up regular season

By GEORGE AUSTIN
Collegian Staff

Going into the championship portion of its schedule, the biggest concern of the University of Massachusetts men's gymnastic team, is going to be landing on its feet — literally and figuratively.

The injury-riddled Minutemen fell below the .500 in the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastic League on Saturday as they dropped a matinee to Syracuse, 268.9 - 255.7 in New York.

With the loss the Minutemen dipped to 2-3 on the year in the EIGL and 6-6 overall after its last dual meet of the season. All that is left is the defense of their New England Championship next weekend and the EIGL Championships over Spring Break.

But if the Minutemen wish to defend their New England title successfully, UMass is going to have to improve upon three areas in which it faltered on Saturday.

"We just had a real poor performance on pommel horse, vaulting and high bar," UMass coach Roy Johnson said.

The Orangemen took advantage in all those events, sweeping the first three places in each. The Minutemen failed to score a nine or better from any one individual in any of those events while Syracuse coasted along.

On the pommel horse, Steve Radt (9.15), Bill McCarthy (8.85) and Craig Scholnick took 1-2-3 for the Orangemen while UMass was struggling along.

"We had a real bad day on pommel horse," Johnson said. "We had a lot of falls, of six guys up, five guys had falls."

The only UMass gymnast not to record a fall on the horse was senior co-captain Bart Balocki. Balocki was first up for the Minutemen in that event. Despite his fall-less performance though, he was awarded just a 7.7 from the judges. Things would not get much better for UMass later.

Radt, McCarthy and Scholnick pulled off the same trick in the vault when their identical 9.05 scores took the first three slots. For UMass, junior Dave Dinucci turned in the best effort in that event, hitting an 8.9.

The rest of the Minutemen had problems keeping their balance on their landing.

"People just weren't landing on their feet without taking steps," Johnson said.

It was also the little things on the high bar that were hurting UMass. UMass got some routines that were far less than

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

WEATHER

There's a 40 percent chance of snow, with temps hovering in the mid-30s.

BLACK AFFAIRS

Actor Giancarlo Esposito tells how to "Do the Right Thing." Page 8.

SPORTS

UMass Men's Hoop knocks off Penn State in A-10 Semi-finals. Page 12.

TUESDAY

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY TUESDAY, MARCH 6, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 24

SGA freezes funds to area govt.

Southwest may lose office after secession

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

In response to the vote by Southwest Area Government to secede from the Student Government Association Thursday, SGA Treasurer Laura Filkins and Ross Condit, Governmental Affairs Committee chair took action against SWAG yesterday.

SWAG was informed that their revenue and Student Activities Trust Fund accounts had been frozen Friday until further notice, in a letter drafted by an SGA coordinating committee meeting Sunday and delivered yesterday. The letter cites SGA guidelines dictating that groups no longer participating in the SATF system forfeit their right to SATF monies.

"Those monies will revert to the SGA, as will any and all capital equipment which the Southwest Area Government has purchased in the past," according to the letter signed by Filkins and Condit.

"As you have chosen to voluntarily withdraw your status, you are no longer entitled to the use off office space designated for the legitimate government body of the Southwest Residential Area."

Filkins expects to hear from SWAG by 9 a.m. this morning with a response to the letter. Late last night, Bob Monaghan, SWAG president, said he had not contacted members of the SWAG executive board.

SWAG was also told of an emergency request for the recoring of the locks to the SWAG office door in Hampden Dining Common. Additionally, the Governmental Affairs Committee may hold elections for new SWAG representatives for "a legitimate Southwest Area governance structure."

The letter states: "We regret your hastily and poorly conceived decision to secede, as we feel that this action will only harm the residents of the Southwest Residential Area, who are now without representation."

Monaghan said: "I don't like it at all. They can try to recore the doors."

The motion to secede resulted after members of SWAG voiced their displeasure with the SGA and general attitude of that body towards the area governments.

A recommendation by the Student Activities Trust Fund Planning Committee proposes the reduction of SATF allocations to area governments, with Southwest and the Commuter areas standing the most to lose.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Collegian photo by Jason Danziger

A SUNFLOWER SHOWER – Maxwell Kullaway, a sophmore Art major at UMass, takes in the rays in the valley of the Dirt Mongoose.

Student gets anti-Semitic note

By LISA SHAPIRO
Collegian Staff

A University of Massachusetts student reported to the Amherst Police Department Friday that he received a piece of anti-Semitic mail at his apartment that afternoon.

The letter addressed in scribbled handwriting read: "You are a rotten Jew — We will be watching you, troublemaker." At the bottom of the note was a skull in between two swastikas and the word 'skinheads' written above the skull.

"Whoever did this must be a real coward if they can't even confront me face to face," the student said yesterday.

The student said he has no idea who sent the letter. He said he plans to report the incident to the Anti-Defamation League in Boston as well as the UMass police department.

Sally Greenberg, spokesperson and counsel for the Anti-Defamation League in Boston, said incidents of anti-Semetism are on the rise.

In 1989, 69 anti-Semitic incidents were reported from 51 college campuses statenwide, marking an increase from the previous year when 54 incidents were reported from 38 campuses, she said.

In Massachusetts, anti-Semitic acts have increased by 171 percent from 1988 to 1989, she said.

Rabbi Saul Perlmutter, of the Hillel Foundation at UMass, said reporting anti-Semitic incidents is important because many people are not aware that this such harassment takes place at the University. It also allows other people who have experienced anti-Semitism to know they are not alone, he said.

"The fact of the matter is that there are still serious expressions of anti-Semitism," Perlmutter said.

Some women don't want a ladies' bathroom

By DARREN GARNICK
Collegian Staff

Margaret Magner doesn't want to be called a lady.

When the Board of Governors decided over January to install new cranberry-red plexiglass signs on the fourth floor of the Student Union, Gov. Magner said she was outraged.

Magner objected to signs which renamed the men's and women's bathrooms to read "Ladies" and "Gentlemen."

What may at first glimpse look like a squabble over word choice, is an issue with deep implications to the feminist movement, she said.

"The term 'lady' carries connotations of what is supposedly feminine," Magner said, "These are stereotypes women have been trying to break forever."

According to BOG Chairperson Susan Gordon, the 'ladies' sign was never installed and she expects a new Plexiglass 'women's' sign will be up soon.

Magner said the board was initially indifferent to her concerns.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

Students fight homophobia

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Some 40 people attended a meeting last night on the fourth floor of Van Meter Residence Hall to examine a homophobic incident experienced by one of the floor's residents.

The meeting was held in response to an incident of harassment experienced by freshman psychology major Brian Oats. A sticker on his door was altered from: "Homophobia is a Social Disease," to "Homosexuals are a Social Disease " Thursday morning.

Police and campus officials said they have no suspects in the case.

Oats said he was pleased with the support he and his roommate have received throughout the incident and said the meeting was comforting.

"I think this mess has brought the floor a lot closer, I felt a real sense of community on the floor," Oats said.

Kathleen Engel, resident assistant on the fourth floor of Van Meter, said she organized the meeting to "add another support system" for her floor.

"We wanted to stop the snowball before it got out of hand, we thought it was important to melt it early before it overtook us," Engel said.

Charri Boykin-East, director of Van Meter Residence Hall, said she was "appalled, very angry, upset, and concerned" about the incident, but said she was pleased with the effort and support she has seen.

"It was wonderful to see the support we got, almost the entire floor was at the meeting, a lot of the staff and we had two people from the gay community there to speak about experiences they have had with harassment," she said.

In addition to Oats, Vivian Ostroski, John Adams residence director and Karen

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

College kids play big siblings

By KRIS DURGIN
Collegian Correspondent

Some University of Massachusetts students have made new, special friends.

The Companion Program, a 15-year old non-profit organization in Amherst and Northampton, has provided children with special friends, some who are UMass students.

The program, similar to the Big Brother/Big Sister organization, pairs an adult and a child for one year and they spend at least three to five hours a week together.

"We ask for a minimum of one year, but we make an exception during summer for the college students," said Amy Bleiweiss, an administrator for the program.

"We have a real need for male volunteers particularly," said Bleiweiss, "but females, are of course, needed as well. There are tons and tons of children on our waiting list, so there really is a big need for volunteers."

Senior Brian Andrews was matched with his companion last September and said his only regret was not becoming involved earlier.

"The program needs people so desperately, and it's a benefit for both of you."

"I'm amazed at the things this program has taught me," Andrews said. "I've really learned a lot about children, and I've come to appreciate a lot about myself.

"I usually spend about eight hours with my friend, I find myself rushing to get him home at his bedtime," Andrews said.

He would like to see more males involved in the program.

"It is work at times, but when you go out, you're out to have a good time, Andrews said. "You can't help but make a friend."

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief........Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor........George Austin
Editorial Editor........Minu Sebastian
News Editor........Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor........Jim Clark
Arts Editors........Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor........Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor........Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor........Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor........Chris Muther
Business Manager........Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager........Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager........Martina Rios
Circulation Manager........Chris Baker
Subscription Manager........Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager........Donna Cusson
Production Managers........Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager........Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business........Lori Black, Brian Harrington
Maureen Majerowski
Graphics........Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

■ secession

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The SATF committee is comprised of: SGA Treasurer, Budgets Chair, President, and one representative from the following groups: Area Governments, Third World Caucus, Student Businesses, Legal Services Office, Office of Third World Affairs, and the Director and Business Manager of the Student Activities Office.

The SATF recommendation, proposed at last week's SGA meeting by Filkins suggests a base allocation of $5,000 per semester to each area government plus a $1 fee per person in each residential area.

An opposing referendum question, put forth by a group of UMass students, senators, and championed by Southwest Area President Bob Monaghan, proposes a $10.40 hike to area government allocations that would necessitate a cut from the funding for campus RSOs.

Manos Stefanakos, president of Central Area Government said that body voted unanimously last night to support the recommendation.

Traci Davis, SGA president said the vote by Central Area Government representatives shows their support for the recommendation.

"It sort of gives us a green light: if that motion were passed in their assembly, it means they would pass it."

Special Student & Youth Fares to
EUROPE, SOUTH AMERICA, ASIA
from New York on Scheduled Airlines!

DESTINATIONS	OW	RT
LONDON	$175	$350
PARIS	215	415
BRUSSELS	195	370
ROME	275	550
STOCKHOLM/OSLO	250	500
COPENHAGEN	250	500
ZURICH	215	405
FRANKFURT	215	410
RIO	365	730
TOKYO	495	850

Add on fares Boston, DC, Chicago, Pittsburgh, other U.S. cities. Plus $6 dep tax; $10 cust/immig fee. $5 security fee may apply in ea. direction.
CALL OR WRITE FOR OUR SPECIAL FARES TO THE SOUTH PACIFIC, AUSTRALIA & AROUND THE WORLD ROUTINGS
Eurail and Eurail Youth Passes available immediately
1-800-777-0112 STA
212-986-9470
WHOLE WORLD TRAVEL
17 E. 45th St., Suite 805, New York, NY 10017
Part of the worldwide STA Travel Network

ANNOUNCEMENT
All Staff Vote
graphics, news, business on new exec. board members
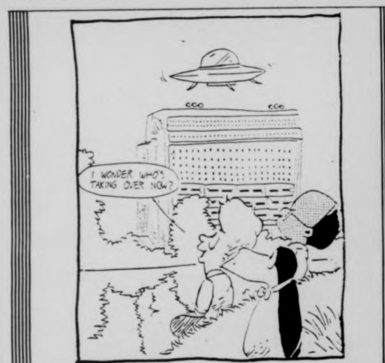
Wednesday March 7, all day.
Be there or be a rhombus



I WONDER WHO'S TAKING OVER NOW?

VOTE AND MAKE YOUR VOICE BE HEARD!
BOARD OF GOVERNORS ELECTIONS
Tuesday, March 13th 11:30AM to 7:00PM:
Dining Commons
Berkshire Butterfield
Franklin Hampshire
Worcester
The Hatch
Newman Center
vote wherever you see SGA ballot boxes!

Self Serve Typewriters
kinko's®
the copy center
220 N. Pleasant St.
253-2543

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

COME ONE
COME ALL
THE T.O.C
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
HAS RETURNED TO THE ELEVENTH FLOOR
THE T.O.C
IS BACK
AT THE TOP!

CANCUN
SPRING Break 90'S
ALL FROM ONLY
$399
PER PERSON
OVER 100 SEATS AVAILABLE
FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL
800-448-2421 or
DONNA & LISA at 413-549-8228

Your Vacation Includes Everything!
- Round Trip Air Transportation
- Airport/Hotel/Airport Transfers
- 7 Nights At Choice Category Resort Hotel
- Welcome Tropical Drink
- Fun and Discount Book
- Assistance of Local Representative
- Tours and Social Activity Assistance
- USA Tax and 15% Room Tax
- Travel Insurance Included For Your Protection

SEND YOUR PAYMENT
TODAY ALONG WITH THE COMPLETED AD AND RECEIVE A $20 DISCOUNT.

HOTEL AMENITIES KEY:
The hotels available will have a minimum of what is shown for each category. All prices are per person.
✱ Air Conditioning, △ Pool, × Snack Bar, ○ Restaurant, + Sports Gym/Club, ● Tennis, ▲ Lobby Shops, ☐ 24-Hour Room Service

Name: ____
Address: ____
City, St., Zip: ____
Phone 1: ____
Phone 2: ____
(Only One Form Per Room Needed)
Departing Weekend Of: ____
From: ____ ☐ ____ ☐ ____ ☐ ____ Other
Travelling with my party are:
Name: ____
Phone: ____
Name: ____
Phone: ____
Name: ____
Phone: ____
College Name: ____
Scheduled Air:* ☐ Only if charter is sold out.
☐ Instead of charter - if available
*You will be notified of the additional charge based on lowest available airfares at time reservation is received.
Signature 1 ____ Signature 2 ____
Signature 3 ____ Signature 4 ____
Room Occupancy: QUAD ☐ 4; TPL ☐ 3; DBL ☐ 2
Hotel Type: Number in order of preference 1-3
(# 1 being your first choice. Availability on a 1st come, 1st served basis)
ECONOMY____ DOWNTOWN____ ACRS____
BEACH-MED____ BEACH-SUP____ BEACH-LUX____

	ECONOMY	DOWNTOWN	ACRS BEACH	BEACH-MED	BEACH-SUP	BEACH-LUX
Quad (4)	399	439	489	509	589	659
Triple (3)	449	469	529	569	639	739
Double (2)	489	509	579	659	769	799

ECONOMY DOWNTOWN	-LA HACIENDA MARIA DE LOURDES -CARIBE INTL -HOTEL AMERICA
ACRS-BEACH	-SINA SUITES -FIESTA INN
BEACH-MED	-CALINDA -RADISSON -CANCUN PLAZA -TROPICAL OASIS
BEACH-SUP	-CANCUN PALACE -RAMADA -OASIS CANCUN
BEACH-LUX	-VILLAS PLAZA -CROWNE PLAZA -CANCUN PLAYA

THE ABOVE ARE ONLY A FEW OF THE HOTELS WE OFFER IN ARE PROGRAM. THEY ARE AVAILABLE ON A FIRST COME FIRST SERVE BASIS ONLY.

SPRING BREAK 90'S, INC.
363 NORTH SAM HOUSTON PARKWAY EAST
HOUSTON, TEXAS 77060-2405

LOCAL

Nicaraguan elections discussed

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

Local residents who recently returned from Nicaragua and observed the elections last week said yesterday that the National Opposition Union won the majority of votes not because of public policies or ideologies, but because of the impact of the Contra rebels and the U.S. embargo of Nicaragua.

Six members of Nicaragua Walk to Witness, a coordinated non-partisan witness program to the Nicaraguan electoral process, spent a month making a 240 kilometer march from Rio Blanco to Managua and observing how the elections were run at several polling places.

On Feb. 25, UNO, headed by Violeta Chamorro received 15 percent more of the popular vote than the ruling Sandinista Front, led by President Daniel Ortega.

"The Nicaraguans were voting with a gun to their head and it was essentially [a United State's] gun," said Chris Seymour, a member of Walk to Witness.

The panel first explained the history of U.S. interference in Nicaragua. Seymour said the United States has invaded Nicaragua nine times since 1853.

He said the United States has 'frustrated' the Central American peace process by ignoring regional agreements to demobilize the Contra insurgency.

He said that last August, five Central American presidents agreed to free elections in Nicaragua if the Contras were demobilized. The panel said that Contra attacks increased as the election day drew closer.

They said the Nicaraguans had no hope in the Contra war or trade embargo ending if the Sandinistas remained in power because of a decade of a hostile U.S. policy.

The degree of poverty and terror of the Contras in the countryside made the Nicaraguans yearn for change and vote for the opposition, they said.

They said the people were also ready to end the mandatory draft of men age 16 or over into the Sandinista Army in order to combat the Contras.

"It's amazing how much pressure the people were under during the elections," said member Harriet Nestel. "There were aerial drops of supplies in Rio Blanco for the Contras the Wednesday preceding the elections.

"The people saw the weapons coming in and knew what it would be like if the Sandinista's won," she said.

Seymour said Ortega's concession to the election results on Feb. 26, the day after the election, was a show for respect for the democratic vote that the government had labored to maintain.

Don Agin, their national coordinator, described the Sandinistas as a political party dedicated to the poor, pluralism and non-allignment.

Orchard Hill radio station back on the air

By LISA MILLEGAN
Collegian Staff

WOCH, the defunct radio station on the first floor of Grayson in the Orchard Hill Residential Area, is getting back on its feet, after three years of false starts and delays, said WOCH publicist and junior Mitch Fillmore.

WOCH plans to take advantage of the University of Massachusetts' new cable system to begin transmitting this fall in time for First Week activities, Fillmore said.

"We were real excited about it," he said. "By using the cable system, we're able to start broadcasting that much sooner, and it's the most effective, costworthy choice."

General Manager and sophomore Chris Teatro said the station ran into problems because it did not have a Federal Communications Commission license. He said until 1979, the FCC did not require radio stations under 10 watts, which includes most college stations, to have licences. The FCC changed this ruling in 1979, but Teatro said he does not know whether the original station managers knew WOCH was broadcasting illegally.

After the Collegian reported that several university radio stations were broadcasting illegally, Teatro said the administration closed WOCH to avoid any conflict with the FCC.

Teatro said last year WOCH asked the Student Government Association about the possibility of transmitting through the electrical system to rooms only in Orchard Hill.

"The SGA said to wait until cable was installed in the fall, because it would be cheaper, and we could broadcast to a larger audience," he said.

Listeners will be able to pick up WOCH by hooking their radios up to cable boxes that will be installed in every dormitory room by this fall, he said.

Because WOCH can only transmit to students who hook up to cable, the station will not be heard off-campus at all, he said.

Teatro said WOCH hopes to attract advertisers because it will cater only to a college audience. He added that no other college station in the area can claim that.

In the meantime, Fillmore said the station is busy in preparation for the fall. WOCH will be accepting applications for disc jockeys until March 15, he said.

March is the time for all women

Working towards giving an inspiration for women today

By CHRISTINE MURPHY
Collegian Correspondent

This week marks the beginning of International Women's Week and National Women's History Month at the University of Massachusetts — a time dedicated to educating the public about women's role in United States history.

International Women's Week runs from March 6-9. A full schedule of events is available at the Everywoman's Center.

Arlene Avakian, head of the women's studies department at UMass, said women's history is an important part of the academic environment.

"It is taking a traditional history and re-evaluating it, including all women into it, and not just taking a lily white perspective," she said.

"It is not judging women on male values, but setting new methods of study with which women can find their own histories," she said.

Women's history was initially celebrated in the form of International Women's Day, which was first held on March 8, 1908. Some 20,000 women demonstrated and went on strike on the lower east side in New York.

The women called for better safety conditions within the factories, an end to child labor and the right to vote. This demonstration was provoked by a fire the previous day that had killed hundreds of women at work in a garment "sweat shop" factory.

The day was expanded to International Women's Week in the early 1970s. UMass started celebrating International Women's Week in 1978, with lectures, workshops and multicultural events.

In 1981, the U.S. Senate and the House of Representatives passed a joint resolution creating National Women's History Week, which ran in conjunction with International Week.

Another recent resolution expanded National Women's History Week to the entire month of March. Last year was the first official celebration of National Women's History Month.

The coordinator of public relations for the Everywoman's Center, Nieve Santana said the goal of National Women's History Month is to educate people about women's history.

"It is a celebration of what women have already done. It shows that we were pioneers too," Santana said.

Santana said National Women's History Month not only shows the value of women in the past but also it serves as an inspiration for women today. "It says women were there and are capable of doing things," she said.

Student charged with destroying magazines lectures on pornography and violence

By LAVINIA GAMMON
Collegian Correspondent

Lierre Keith, one of two University of Massachusetts students facing charges in connection with the destruction of pornographic magazines in the Amherst Newsroom on Dec. 13, gave a lecture and slide presentation on pornography to more than 100 people last night at the Amherst College campus center.

Keith, a self-described feminist and activist in the anti-pornography movement, emphasized her opinion that pornography is correlated with violence against women. She and UMass student Sandra Goodman are scheduled for a pre-trial hearing on March 8 at the Northampton District Court.

"What we must begin to do is start fighting as though our lives depended on it," Keith said, amid cheers from the crowd.

Keith claimed that the "violence and degradation" of women in pornography is helping to perpetuate violence against women in everyday life.

"Pornography is a twenty billion dollar a year industry," Keith said. "It is bigger than the record and film industry combined."

Keith said because pornography is so prevalent it impacts greatly on the American population. She said is "frightened" because she sees pornography as representing women as sexual objects that want to be abused. She said this message causes men to be violent towards women.

Keith told the audience that every nine seconds a women is beaten and every minute a woman is raped. She said pornography has a direct influence on violence against women.

Collegian photo by Richard DuCree

Margaret Magner

■ bathrooms

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

unveiled, [Gov. Tracy Silwa] and I just looked at each other and said 'Isn't that supposed to say women?'" she said.

Fellow BOG members rolled their eyes and laughed, implying that she was overreacting to a trivial issue, Magner said.

"[The general reaction] was that we were going to make a big deal out of this when it is so irrevelant," she said. "People made comments like 'What's the big deal?'"

"More than anything it absolutely shocked me that in a building where there are offices for the LBGA, The Valley Women's Voice and the [Undergraduate Student] Senate Women's Caucus, that they would make these signs so obviously offensive to so many women," Magner said.

Stacy Roth, a coordinator of the Educator/Advocate program at the Everywoman's Center, said the struggle over language is an element of redefining what "womanhood" means.

'Lady' implies women should be obedient hostesses, Roth said.

"[Historically], the lady's role is to be pure, pleasant and fun to look at," she said. "There is a specific place and role for a lady and it is a very narrow mold for women to fit into."

The ladylike role interferes with a woman's self-esteem, Roth said.

Some people who use the terms 'lady' or 'girl' do not intend any harm, but the damage is done at the societal level, she said.

"If we all knew what we meant, sexism wouldn't exist," Roth said. "We need to worry about sexism at all levels. How can we ignore language?"

Magner said although the board was at first indifferent to the issue, they have since been "very compliant and cooperative."

"Once the issue sort of exploded, we were very amenable to change," Gordon said. "We're always open to student concerns."

■ harassment

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Drummey, John Adams assistant residence director, spoke about their experiences with homophobic harassment.

"Homophobia is such a tremendous ugly disease in our society, it's important we send out the message that we as a floor, a cluster, and a University won't stand for it," Engel said.

Beth Patterson, a resident assistant on the third floor of Van Meter, said she was overwhelmed by the turnout and said she was pleased people felt they could talk about the issue.

"It was important that we looked at the problem right away, it's a very touchy subject so I was pleased at the amount of residents and staff that came to the meeting," Patterson said. "We want to tell people that if you mess with one of us, you're messing with all of us, gay or straight."

Engel said a program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns will be presenting a Speaker's Bureau on April 10 to discuss hompphobia.

tidbps

Student Affairs Information Services
Information Data Bank
and the
Taped Information Phone Service

QUESTIONS CONCERNING YOUR MONEY MATTERS???

$$

Call "TIPS" 545-1540 and ask for these tapes by number:

2405 Check Cashing
2410 Emergency Short Term Loans
2412 Financial Aid
1303 Graduate Tuition and Fees
2415 Perkins Loans and Stafford Student Loans
1304 Paying Your Semester Bill and Lab Fees
2404 Pell Grants
2468 Student Federal Credit Union
1321 Undergraduate Fees
2440 Work Study Program

If you have further questions call IDB at 545-1555

Information Data Bank (IDB)
Taped Information Phone Service (TIPS)

THE
EDWIN M. ROSSMAN
ALUMNI CAREER FORUMS

BDIC

DATE: TUESDAY, MARCH 6, 1990
TIME: 8:00 PM
LOCATION: CAMPUS CENTER 804-808

SPONSORED BY:
MATHER CAREER CENTER
ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
BACHELOR'S DEGREE WITH INDIVIDUAL CONCENTRATION

This is an opportunity to meet with alumni and discuss their experiences in the working world. Don't miss this important panel discussion!

ALUMNI PANELISTS:

Gary Callahan '85 "Communications Design"	Production Editor Boston Magazine Boston, MA
Walter Clune '83 "International Relations"	Assistant to the Regional Director Council on International Educational Exchange (CIEE) Boston, MA
Nancy Cohen '79 "Political Ecology and the Media"	Independent Documentary Producer Diverse Productions Cambridge, MA
Susan Gordon Kaplan '74 "Psychology, Sociology & Education"	President Compensation Consulting Resources Needham, MA

For more information, please contact:
Mather Career Center
545-2224

THE SPOKE

Drink Specials

Beer of the Month
Molson Golden Bottles $1.60

Drink of the Week
Kamikazee $1.60

A Drinkery:
To Meet, Relax & Enjoy

Every Tuesday Night
Raffles - Hats, T-shirts, glasses & much more

Wednesday Night
Free Food! 7 PM-?

 Proper ID required
35 E. Pleasant Street

Enlarge reduce
&
copy
copy
copy
til 9

The Xeroxing® facilities at the C.C. Print Shop (2nd floor in the Campus Center) are now open 9 am-9 pm, Monday-Thursday and 9 am-5 pm on Friday.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Self-centered secession

Did I hear correctly?

Secede? (A word I haven't heard since History 150.)

It was reported last week that the Southwest Area Government voted 14-3, with two abstentions, to secede from the Student Government Association.

Meredith O'Brien

In what was called "a symbolic gesture," Bob Monaghan, president of the rebellious SWAG, is the primary advocate of this Confederate move, protesting the streamlining of SWAG's Trust Fund monies.

SGA treasurer Laura Filkins reacted to the proposed secession by freezing SWAG accounts Friday morning and commenting, "I am very upset by this. It was an ignorant and uninformed move."

Now for those of you who are as confused and befuddled as I am by the complex bureaucracy that exists in the UMass student government (remember, in this state, it's hard to escape bureaucracy), the SGA is the conglomeration of representatives from the residential areas and the Third World Caucus.

Orchard Hill has senators. Central has senators, etc. They fight in the main body of the SGA for their "constituency" in the dorms.

Apparently, the senators from Southwest had such a fierce falling out with SGA's treasurer and leadership over cuts in SWAG's funding, that they have intensified this rift with action.

According to a report submitted by the Student Activities Trust Fund Planning Committee, "It was felt that the Area Governments, on the whole, have a great deal of money and that money is often not used to its greatest potential."

Let me get this straight — the SGA is acting on the recommendations of the Committee and waging its own little version of a budget-cutting war and the area governments are getting a little heated about it.

Well, that's understandable. Whenever one bureaucratic body tries to take money away from another, an inevitable fight will ensue.

But secession?

I realize that being an SGA senator must take up a tremendous amount of energy and time from the students' schedules and schoolwork. But sometimes, these senators get too caught up in their own little world and lose their objectivity.

Think about it for a moment. "The Southwest Area Government voted to secede from the SGA."

Not only does this statement conjure up visions of Abraham Lincoln desperately trying to keep the union together, but it also evokes pictures of patriots trying to fight for a country free from the evils of slavery.

Wake up! This dispute is hardly a "civil war." It hardly calls for such a melodramatic move as secession.

In a time of real budget cutting, cutting that is having a devastating effect on the lives and futures of students at this University, how can the SGA bicker over their own little budget?

Students are being forced to drop out of school because of increased fees and tuition hikes, while the SGA continues to bicker over who gets more money for spring concerts.

As representatives of the student body, these senators should not preoccupy themselves with petty disputes and ignore the plight of their peers.

They are student leaders, not actors and actresses in the Amherst soap opera. They should start acting like they give a damn.

Meredith O'Brien is a Collegian columnist

Great Moments in History
1861: The Confederacy secedes from the Union, and loses a long Civil War...
NORTH
SOUTH
Emily J. Reid
SOUTH-
$WEST$
$WEEK$
$HAS$$ $BEEN$ CANCE-$LLED$
$DUE$$ $$TO$$ STUPI-$DITY...
1990: SWAG Secedes from the SGA, and promptly loses all its Funding!
Nuke 'em! Nuke 'em!

Collegiate athletics: beyond the cheers of the crowd

Hank Gathers died Sunday night. He was 23.

If you love college basketball, you had to at least like Gathers, the 6-foot-7 star of Paul Westhead's 40-minute track meet they call basketball at Loyola Marymount. Along with Bo Kimble, the other half of the Philadelphia connection (via USC), the LMU Lions had gone from a quirky sideshow to a dynamo in the West Coast Conference and a certain member of the NCAA Tournament.

Gathers collapsed with 13:36 to play in the first half of a WCC playoff game against Portland. It was an easy game for the Lions, a sure victory over a lesser opponent.

Gathers had already scored several times, as had Kimble and others on this scoring machine.

And then the center went down.

Within hours he was dead.

Gathers had collapsed in a game earlier this season. He had missed several games but, after a series of tests, was deemed healthy to play.

All of which was good for the Lions, who were winning anyway but needed their star, who as a junior had become only the second player in Division I history to lead the country in both scoring and rebounding in the same year.

In the games following his first collapse, Gathers became again a dominant player, averaging nearly 30 points per game and 10 rebounds. He was so good that many scouts felt he was a certain first round pick in this year's draft.

David R. Mark

Maybe even a lottery pick.

But somewhere something went wrong, for Gathers collapsed again Sunday.

Drugs have all but been ruled out.

So why did Hank Gathers die?

If he was sick, why was he allowed to play?

LMU is one of my favorite teams, Gathers one of my favorite players. As I mourn his death, I think not of the tragic case of Len Bias, the Maryland superstar who died after using cocaine, but of an episode of the television show The White Shadow.

In one episode, a player on the team collapses during a practice. The collapse is not taken seriously. The player is deemed healthy. In a later practice, he collapses again.

And then he dies.

The cause of death was not drugs but a brain hemorrhage. I wonder if Gathers had a similar hemorrhage and thus a similar death.

The moral of the television show was that the sick player wasn't taken seriously when he collapsed. When he died everyone said, "How could this happen?"

We are told the player would have died anyway, no matter how many practices he went through, or games he played. Similar questions will no doubt be asked at Loyola Marymount. People will always ask if something couldn't have been done to save Hank Gathers.

May he rest in peace, another great college athlete who died too soon.

David R. Mark is a Collegian columnist

Election results not support for U.S.

The morning after the national elections in Nicaragua, I awoke to news as surprising to me as to my Sandinista colleagues. How was it possible that after so much sacrifice, so many efforts to create a new Nicaragua — grounded in social and economic justice — that the Sandinista National Liberation Front (FSLN) had been defeated by the coalition of forces grouped in UNO (The National Oppostion Union)?

Carmen Deere

As I saw the FSLN's Daniel Ortega conceding defeat to UNO's Violeta Chamorro in the presidential race on national networks, I asked myself the obvious question: had the Nicaraguan people finally had enough?

As I put myself in the position of a Nicaraguan voter, I considered the answers to the three central questions regarding Nicaragua's future:

1. Which group could guarantee an end to the military hostilities and disband the Contras as a fighting force?
2. Which group could assure the lifting of the U.S. economic sanctions against Nicaragua?
3. Which group could most likely attract the massive financial resources needed to rebuild war-torn Nicaragua?

The answer to these queries seemed the same: the alliance backed by the U.S. administration.

One main issue in the campaign had been military draft. But the Sandinistas could only end the draft if peace could truly be achieved, a peace which required the disbanding of the Contras. UNO was more likely than the FSLN to finally settle this issue with the Bush administration.

After all, the Reagan administration created the Contras and financially fueled the war that claimed 40,000 casualties, including some 30,000 deaths. And while the Sandinistas could not be defeated on the battlefield, U.S. destabilization policies — such as the trade embargo and the blocking of international development assistance — slowly bled the country.

The combined effect of these factors in just the 1980-85 period were damages to the Nicaraguan economy in the range of $1.2 to $2.5 billion, damages which accounted for the sharp drop in living standards.

It is hard to maintain national dignity on an empty stomach. And pragmatically, an UNO victory was more likely to fill the national platter with U.S. largesse.

It is now up to the Bush administration to make good on its pledge to support for the democratic process in Nicaragua. The Sandinistas did their part — holding the most intensely observed elections in the history of the Western Hemisphere — and are ready to yield state power.

But this historic event must be accompanied by the massive transfer of resources which the Nicaraguan people deserve and expect from the U.S. government.

The Bush administration should now take a lesson from Gorbachev's hands-off policy in Eastern Europe, and allow the Nicaraguans the opportunity to chart their own future.

UNO is a fragile alliance of fourteen parties whose membership is extremely heterogeneous, ranging from the official Nicaraguan communist party to the right-wing Contras and Somocistas. Their unity was based on an opposition to the Sandinistas rule, rather than on a coherent platform for economic and political change.

The Bush administration would be wise to recognize that UNO's victory says less about support for U.S. policies or the mistakes of the Sandinistas, than something about the determination of the Nicaraguan people to continue to decide their future.

Carmen Deere is a Professor of Economics at UMass

Refusing neutrality

In his book, Profile in Courage, John F. Kennedy gave examples of men who displayed extraordinary courage during trying times. The central theme throughout the book is how certain people stood up for their convictions despite great opposition. What we need in America today are more of these people.

A few days ago I had placed a sign, which was given to me, on a bulletin board in the Student Union that read "Homosexuality is criminal."

An Earthfoods worker, Sarah Getoff, tore down my sign and disposed of it. I witnessed the event and told her that I believed she was denying my First Amendment rights. She dismissed it by saying that she was offended by the sign.

In addition to this a Collegian editorial was written by Saad Hopkins about my actions, claiming that I "would persecute or even harm a human being for practicing an act that I consider abhorable."

I was never consulted by anyone about my views on homosexuality. How can anyone make these allegations? Easy.

It is the prevailing thought in the UMass administration that homosexuality is to be accepted and encouraged in lieu of the University's dedication to diversity.

Diversity is what UMass is supposed to be all about. And yet, when you have a belief that is not held by those in power, it is not to be tolerated (i.e. being against homosexuality).

John Kennedy, quoting Dante, once said, "the hottest places in Hell are reserved for those who, in time of great moral crisis, maintain their neutrality."

There is a great moral crisis going on now, and I refuse to be neutral. Whatever becomes of this episode, I will still be there in the trenches doing what I believe is right: fighting for freedom, liberty and the American way.

Ted Maravelias
Southwest

COMEDY NIGHT

TOP
COMEDIANS
FROM Comedy Clubs
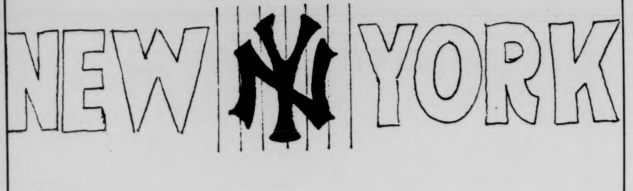
around the country
SPONSORED BY
The Board of Governors
Program Council
APPEARING
Every Tuesday at 9:00 PM
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR STUDENT UNION

CENTRAL AREA GOVERNMENT PRESENTS:
• • • a bus trip to • • •



$20 CENTRAL RESIDENTS;
$25 NON-CENTRAL RESIDENTS.

Sorry: NO CASH,
BUT MAKE CHECKS PAYABLE TO C.A.G.
(DEADLINE 3/7) @ BAKER B-22

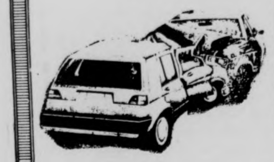
I'm gonna get my Spring Clothes in New York City!
Me, too!!
Me, 3!!!

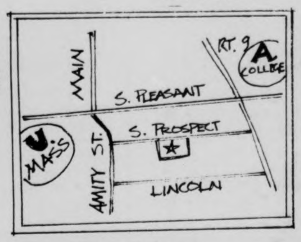
Leave: Haigus Mall
@ 7 a.m.

Return: bus leaves the city @ 6 p.m.

STEINBECK COLLISION REPAIR
& AUTOBODY

53 So. Prospect — Amherst Center
256-8157 256-1385





- Imports & other unibody vehicles are our specialty
- State of art equipment for precision frame and unibody straightening (+ or - ½ mm)
- Over 90 years staff experience
- Accepted by all insurance companies for collision repair or glass replacement
- Advanced European Technology Painting and Refinishing Systems

REMEMBER it's your car and your choice of repair facilities

University of Massachusetts
CAMP DAY 1990

Summer Employment
Tuesday, March 6
10 a.m.—5 p.m.
Student Union Ballroom

Featuring:
55 Camps
from the Northeast
& Alaska

Massachusetts • New York • Maine
Connecticut • New Hampshire
New Jersey • Boston • Pennsylvania

WILL BE INTERVIEWING FOR
SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Further Information Contact:
The Student Employment Office
243 Whitmore—Walk-ins Welcome

ARTS & LIVING

Pianist Valby insults everyone to their delight

By M.J. MURPHY
Collegian Staff

John Valby
Katina's
Saturday, March 3

Katina's played host this Saturday to a man who goes three miles beyond the boundaries of good taste. Of any taste for that matter.

Fans travelled from Springfield, Boston and even upstate New York to see their beloved Doctor Dirty, John Valby, perform his piano-accompanied "dirty" songs. Dirty is an understatement. His tunes make Andrew Dice Clay look like a boy scout.

Taking the stage to the rowdy chant of, "Fuck you. Fuck you," Valby flew into a wide range of female anatomy jokes. Songs like "Puff the Magic Dragon" became "Puff the Magic Tampon." Many of his other titles, and certainly his lyrics, are not suited for publication. But you can use your imagination and guess what he did to other beloved childhood songs like "Nick Nack, Pattie Wack" and the Flintstones theme. It got to the point that the jokes were so crude, people were laughing out of sheer embarassment.

After exhausting the subjects of feminine hygiene products and anal fixations, Doctor Dirty moved on to a knock-knock joke free-for-all, covering such topics as Michael Jackson's sexuality and Roseanne Barr's weight.

Sorry Mr. Valby, it's all been done too many times.

One particular song that seemed to "move" the audience was Valby's thoughts about Kitty Dukakis and her bout with alcoholism. We've heard it all before Doctor.

No one was safe from the wrath of Valby, no nationality, no creed, not even the Beatles. He put in the special themes of herpes and male genitals to the song "Yesterday."

What really got the crowd going was his famed x-rated limericks. Valby boasts of having the special talent of taking any name and incorporating it into a dirty tune. I have to admit he does a great job, managing names from Dick to Juanita. He threw back limericks almost as fast as people screamed up names.

Then the show got really unruly.

Valby called for a man to come on stage and "moon" the audience. A rush of eight men jumped up and proceeded to drop their pants.

If that wasn't enough, Valby called for a woman to come up and either show her breasts or derriere. The crowd chanted obscenities as the woman was carried on stage. As the men in the audience rushed to catch a glimpse of the action up front, a man jumped on stage to help the woman undress. What was scary was that both the men and women in the crowd seemed to be enjoying this.

I called it a night and left.

John Valby doesn't like being called, "Doctor Dirty," so I asked various people in the audience for a new name for him — they came up with "Captain Crazy," "Prince of Porn," and "the Pink Floyd of Comedy" (I swear that's what someone said).

He was described as crude, rude, bogus, disgusting and definitely not the type of show to bring a date to, at least not a first date.

I don't think his performance on this particular night merits any further description.

Photo courtesy of Pal

John Valby

EAST HEAVEN TUB Co
Luxurious private hot tub room rentals.
33 West St. Northampton

Mondays 4 p.m.-1 a.m.
Tues.-Sun. 11 a.m.-1 a.m.
for reservations
586-6843

AMHERST CINEMA
THE MUSIC BOX
PG13
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week

$2.50 with student I.D.

253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA

THE BLACK SHEEP

79 Main Street
Amherst
253-3442

58 Main Street
Northampton
586-3055

Comedy Night
TONIGHT!
Featuring
Dennis Leary
9:00 p.m. in the
HATCH

To assure our consistent high level of quality
in processing your photos, we are the only on-premises lab in the area using
KODAK PAPER
1 Hr. Color Service Available
Same Day Service
FILM IN BY 10:00 A.M. / PRINTS OUT BY 4:00 P.M.
1-HOUR SERVICE ALSO AVAILABLE
The Foto Factory
257 TRIANGLE STREET IN AMHERST
549-6490

BLACK AFFAIRS

Buggin' out Hollywood's racism

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

Giancarlo Esposito, star of "Do the Right Thing," speaks at Amherst College.

By REBECCA BARDIN
Collegian Correspondent

On Sunday night at Amherst College Converse Hall, Black actor Giancarlo Esposito gave an intense and exciting speech about racism and stereotypes in show business. Giancarlo Esposito, best known for his role as the radical "Buggin' Out" in Spike Lee's brilliant Do the Right Thing, is an extremely passionate man. He is emphatic in his thoughts and feelings about racism in our society.

Esposito, a Black Italian American, spoke candidly about his experiences with bigotry in Hollywood and New York. He said that Do the Right Thing, as well as all racial issues, are about choice.

He offered this solution: "Do not forget the we, the us. We are really in it together. We have to learn about the we, the us. We must learn to respect each other, but most importantly, we must respect and love ourselves first."

Esposito said he portrayed stereotypical Black characters such as the pimp or the drug dealer for many years. However, he slowly began to realize that what he saw as "just acting a part and entertaining," was encouraging the racial stereotypes of Black actors.

This made Esposito increasingly angry. It also caused him to ponder the question, "What is entertainment?"

He now defines entertainment as "entertaining a thought."

"In Do the Right Thing, I entertained racism," Esposito said. "I equate it with hate, ignorance, and fear of the unknown."

However, Esposito admits that he gives into racist ideas also, because he is "a product of America."

This is why he allowed himself to take such typecast roles early in his career. "I bought into the American idea of success," he explained.

Esposito's anger was still present as he animatedly talked about Do the Right Thing. He told how difficult it was for him to build his career, and how hard it was for him to discuss it because he could not find his personal awareness.

Esposito said that it was not until Do the Right Thing that he felt like he was talking about himself when he described a character. Although they are not entirely similar, he still feels a better relation to this character because it is different from the other characters he portrayed.

Giancarlo Esposito has also appeared in such films as Spike Lee's School Daze, a film about Black fraternities and awareness problems at an all Black college, and several on and off Broadway plays and has made many film and television appearances.

Famous author to visit UMass

The Office of Third World Affairs of the University of Massachusetts will present Jane California Cooper, March 8, 1990, as a part of International Womens' Day Observance. The program will be held in Room 163-164 Campus Center at 7 p.m. on the campus of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Jane California Cooper is the author of Some Soul to Keep, Homemade Love, A Piece of Mine, cited by the American Library Association as 'one of the Notable Books of the Year' in 1985. Ms. Cooper is a recipient of the 1989 American Book Award, the James Baldwin Award and was selected as the best Fiction Writer of 1989 by the Southwestern Booksellers Association of America. Named 'Black Playwright of the Year' in San Francisco for Strangers in 1978, many of her plays have been produced and performed on the stage on public television and radio and on college campuses. Her readings have had such an extraordinary response that she is frequently invited to reappear often within the same year.

Jane California Cooper is a powerfully penetrating speaker who tells exhilarating and wise stories of simple country people living in small towns, tales full of wonder at the mystery of life, the hardness of fate, and the 'whimsical humor of the Lord, Awed, Bedeviled, and bemused.' The experience of hearing and seeing Jane California Cooper is an experience that is special and motivational. Essence Magazine said that Ms. Cooper is as down-home as Zora Neale Hurston, thank you, and blooming as a skilled storyteller. Cooper's characters are the folk heroes of Black culture. Not the Stagolee's but the Mrs. Eustace B.'s- folks who can fry up some chicken, bake some biscuits and give you wisdom to walk with...tales of triumph that give you reason to keep reading.' The San Francisco Chronicle expresses that Ms. Cooper is "Wry, wise, beautifully written stories by an Oakland playwright who knows how to 'talk' her stories to us, as though each of them is told by a kindly and concerned friend...the sound of them is lovely, memorable, haunting." Ms. Magazine said that Ms. Cooper, "By focusing on the rural Black folk experience, is writing in the traditional of Langston Hughes, Zora Neale Hurston, and Alice Walker. Recommended." Choice said that "both men and women are treated with such bemused love that these tales of passions gone astray are transformed into celebrations of life. For an unforgettable experience, attend the Jane California Cooper's Evening Reading. This program is sponsored by the Student Affairs Cultural Enrichment Fund, Commuter Collective and the Office of Third World Affairs.

Sherwood Thompson is the Director of the Office of Third World Affairs

Collegian photo by John Woo

NAACP's history display during Black History Month on the 25th floor, Tower library, UMass.

The Founding & Work of the NAACP 1909-1954

Black Affairs welcomes submissions

Recycle this Collegian!

This Spring Break learn bartending at Massachusetts' only accredited bartending school.

call today
(617) 247-1600
811 Boylston Street
Boston, MA 02116

New England Bartenders School

Licensed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Education
Accredited by the Accrediting Council for Continuing Education & Training

UMass Arts Council

BLOCK GRANT PROPOSAL DEADLINE
The next deadline for submission
of grant proposals for
Block Grants :

Friday, March 30

Guidelines and application forms
are available at the Arts Council
Office

UMass Arts Council
125 Herter Hall, 545-0202

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included.Restrictions apply.One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms.Int'l Student ID'.EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So.Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

SPECIAL SALE

Copy Paper
8½x11 - $39.95 case

Computer Paper
9½x11 - $29.95 case
15, 18 or 20 lbs.
14⅞x11 - $48.00 case
15, 18 or 20 lb.

POLAROID FORMATTED DISKETTES with FREE Data Rescue Protection and Lifetime Warranty

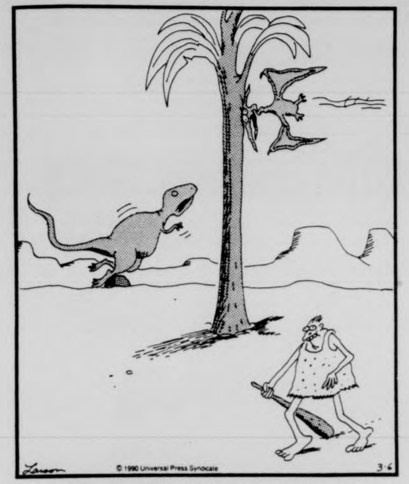
3½
DSDD - $19.99 reg. $27.00
DSHD - $42.99 reg. $71.00

5¼
DSDD $8.99 reg. $16.00
DSHD $18.99 reg. $29.00

ALL PRICES ARE NET

WHALENS
— Since 1958 -
40 Main St., Amherst • 256-3120
141-145 Main St., Northampton • 584-3794
Damon Rd., Northampton • 584-3208

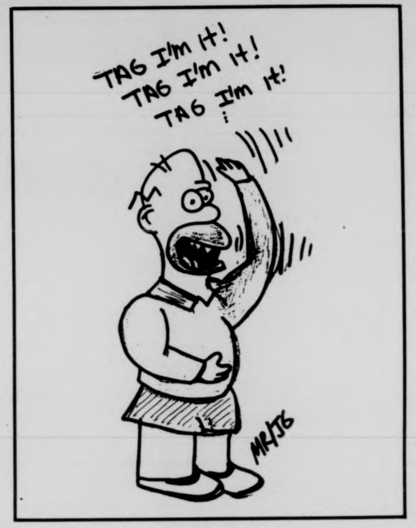
THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



Larson
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-6

Although it lasted only 2 million years, the Awkward Age was considered a hazardous time for most species.

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



TAG I'm it!
TAG I'm it!
TAG I'm it!
MR/JG

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

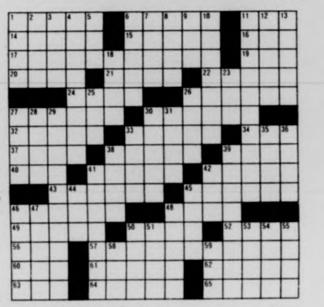
ACROSS
1 Family car
6 "— isn't so"
11 Actress Dawber
14 Court champion
15 Location
16 "Quincy" actor Robert
17 Large tremors
19 Musician's need
20 Snick-a-—
21 Author Leon
22 "...bloom in the spring —"
24 Small deer
26 Positively
27 Escargots
30 Female adviser
32 Man on the move
33 Takes off
34 Extinct bird
37 Donkey, in Mainz
38 Grows pale
39 Trounced, with "down"
40 DDE was one
41 Falk or Fonda
42 Soup server
43 Life's work
45 Best
46 Rang
48 Ran
49 Calhoun of the movies et al.
50 Pair
52 One of the Waughs
56 Hotel's country cousin
57 Measuring instrument for 17 Across
60 Anonymous John
61 Superior scout
62 Shoe size
63 Make a mistake
64 Tricks
65 Beneath

DOWN
1 Understands
2 Author Hunter
3 "— Mable": Streeter
4 Of a main road
5 Extreme degree
6 Offshoots
7 Jai —
8 Tibetan beasts of burden
9 Sabres' surface
10 Canopies
11 Dessert choice
12 "...or nothing —"
13 Eel
18 Part of a test: Abbr.
23 Siamese measure
25 — Faithful
26 Caddoan Indians
27 Cut: Scot.
28 Snoop
29 Church area
30 Senior
31 Will of "The Waltons"
33 Lot
35 Symbols of wisdom
36 Dill, on the Bible
38 — the kitty
39 Variety of orange
41 Laundry worker
42 Prevaricate
44 Before way or where
45 Family pet
46 Self-esteem
47 Word in a marriage vow
48 Parts of a harness
50 Archaelogical areas
51 — of Man
53 Real estate
54 Fencing blade
55 Singe
56 — de cologne
59 African antelope

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

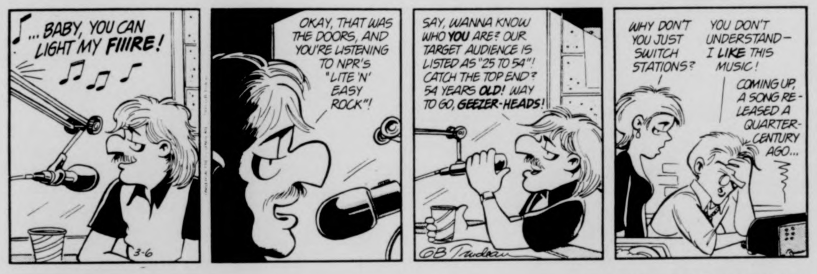
B	A	L	D	■	A	L	I	C	E	■	R	I	S	K
O	B	O	E	■	S	A	R	A	S	■	E	D	I	E
W	I	N	S	■	S	H	O	R	T	S	T	O	R	Y
L	E	G	S	■	E	R	N	■	■	T	I	L	E	S
■	■	■	W	E	L	T	S	■	C	H	E	R	■	■
S	P	I	R	E	S	■	S	H	O	V	E	L	E	R
C	A	N	T	O	■	L	E	A	S	E	■	O	N	E
O	D	D	S	■	P	E	A	R	S	■	A	N	T	E
O	R	E	■	B	E	E	T	S	■	U	R	G	E	S
P	E	D	D	L	E	R	S	■	E	N	T	I	R	E
■	■	■	W	A	R	Y	■	T	R	O	I	S	■	■
A	T	L	A	S	■	■	P	R	O	■	C	L	A	M
S	H	O	R	T	B	R	E	A	D	■	L	A	L	A
H	A	L	F	■	A	E	R	I	E	■	E	N	D	S
E	R	A	S	■	R	O	U	N	D	■	S	D	A	K

3/6/90



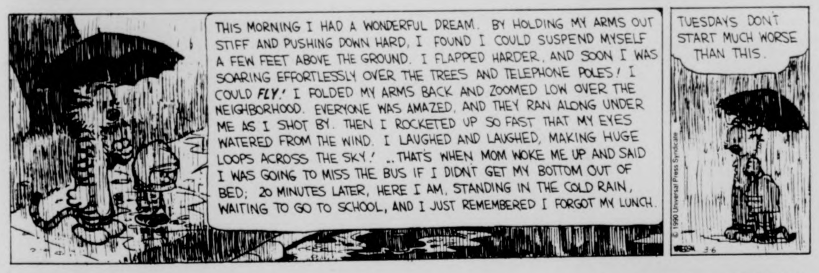
©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/6/90

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



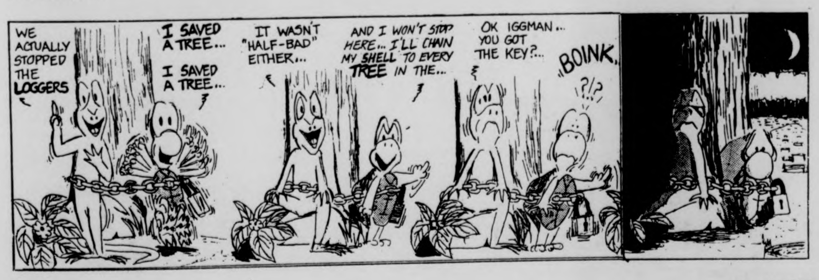
... BABY, YOU CAN LIGHT MY FIIIRE!
OKAY, THAT WAS THE DOORS, AND YOU'RE LISTENING TO NPR'S "LITE 'N' EASY ROCK"!
SAY, WANNA KNOW WHO YOU ARE? OUR TARGET AUDIENCE IS LISTED AS "25 TO 54"! CATCH THE TOP END? 54 YEARS OLD! WAY TO GO, GEEZER-HEADS!
WHY DON'T YOU JUST SWITCH STATIONS?
YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND— I LIKE THIS MUSIC!
COMING UP, A SONG RELEASED A QUARTER-CENTURY AGO...
3-6
GB Trudeau

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



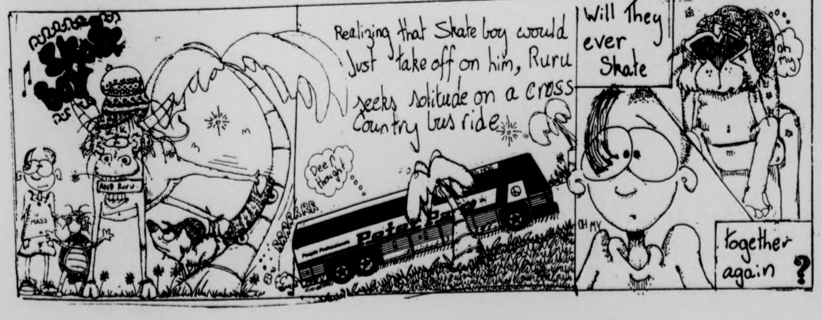
THIS MORNING I HAD A WONDERFUL DREAM. BY HOLDING MY ARMS OUT STIFF AND PUSHING DOWN HARD, I FOUND I COULD SUSPEND MYSELF A FEW FEET ABOVE THE GROUND. I FLAPPED HARDER, AND SOON I WAS SOARING EFFORTLESSLY OVER THE TREES AND TELEPHONE POLES! I COULD FLY! I FOLDED MY ARMS BACK AND ZOOMED LOW OVER THE NEIGHBORHOOD. EVERYONE WAS AMAZED, AND THEY RAN ALONG UNDER ME AS I SHOT BY. THEN I ROCKETED UP SO FAST THAT MY EYES WATERED FROM THE WIND. I LAUGHED AND LAUGHED, MAKING HUGE LOOPS ACROSS THE SKY! ..THAT'S WHEN MOM WOKE ME UP AND SAID I WAS GOING TO MISS THE BUS IF I DIDN'T GET MY BOTTOM OUT OF BED; 20 MINUTES LATER, HERE I AM, STANDING IN THE COLD RAIN, WAITING TO GO TO SCHOOL, AND I JUST REMEMBERED I FORGOT MY LUNCH.
TUESDAYS DON'T START MUCH WORSE THAN THIS.
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-6

IGGMAN
By DREW AQUILINA



WE ACTUALLY STOPPED THE LOGGERS
I SAVED A TREE...
I SAVED A TREE...
IT WASN'T "HALF-BAD" EITHER...
AND I WON'T STOP HERE... I'LL CHAIN MY SHELL TO EVERY TREE IN THE...
OK IGGMAN... YOU GOT THE KEY?...
BOINK
?!?

NIPPLE
By PITT



AND Ruru
Deep thought
Realizing that Skate boy would Just take off on him, Ruru seeks solitude on a cross Country bus ride
Peter Pan
Will They ever Skate
oh my
OH MY
together again ?

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Fishburger on roll Grilled cheese sandwich	Stir fry beef and vegetables Roast pork
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Garden sandwich Grilled chesse on wheatberry	Stir fry vegetables and tofu Cheese spinach squares

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANNE DIXON

ARIES(March 21-April 19): Take advantage of a special relationship to reduce financial strain. Travel could leave you feeling harried. Observe all safety rules. Your confidence begins to rub off on a troubled teenager.

TAURUS(April 20-May 20): Stick to the issues in all business discussions. Insist on getting the facts, not fantasy. A change in your routine will reduce tedium. Take the effort to develop a fuller social life.

GEMINI(May 21-June 20): A troublesome matter will sort itself out if you remain patient and tactful. A moving spiritual experience is possible. Spend a quiet evening with someone special and speak from the heart. Love abounds!

CANCER(June 21-July 22): You could find yourself on a financial roller coaster. A solution is near. Show more confidence in yourself, and your associates will follow suit. Shower loved ones with affection.

LEO(July 23-Aug.22): Someone on a fixed income could get a cost-of-living increase. Pay bills promptly. You make new friends while entertaining for business purposes. Spend time with your children.

VIRGO(Aug.23-Sept.22): A marital problem moves into clearer focus today. Handle your loved ones with kid gloves. Conversations with your children give you new insights into old problems. Break a bad habit. Stop criticizing.

LIBRA(Sept.23-Oct.22): The boss could make an unusual request. You rise to the occasion. Those who are self-employed make excellent gains. You enjoy special rapport with an older member of the opposite sex. Listen closely.

SCORPIO(Oct.23-Nov.21): Your change of attitude could have a ripple effect. Mate will agree to your financial plans. In general, women will fare better than men in business today! Dress attractively but conservatively.

SAGITTARIUS(Nov.22-Dec.21): Playing a waiting game begins to pay off in business. Do not speculate with jointly owned funds. A last-minute invitation holds special appeal. Change your social plans.

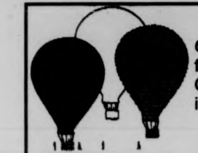
CAPRICORN(Dec.22-Jan.19): Business ventures involving foreign contacts will prove very lucrative. Adopt a commonsense approach to a complex project. Your romantic partner may be trying to use you. Stand up for yourself.

AQUARIUS(Jan.20-Feb.18): Grades rise once students find themselves. Extracurricular activities provide another opportunity to excel. A community project will be rewarding. Romance should be happy adventure.

PISCES(Feb.19-March 20): Family problems cannot be ignored. An intelligent compromise will prevent a major confrontation. Ask mate to work with you in a new business. A teen-ager gets word about college.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor............Beth Gately
Copy Editor............Will Georgiades
Layout Technician............Peter Leon
Photo Technician............John Woo
Production Supervisor............Tricia Hanley
Typesetter............Kim Frisino
Production............Mike Atkins, Carolyn Mills, Jodi O'Rourke



On-campus interviews are available with the following employers; bring your resume to the Career Center by the due date indicated if you are interested in signing up!

EMPLOYER	POSITION	MAJOR(S)	RESUME DUE
Walgreen's	Management Trainee	ECON, ANY	IMMEDIATELY
Hughes Aircraft Co.	Engineers	EE	IMMEDIATELY
Morrison Specialty Restaurants	Management Trainee	HRTA	IMMEDIATELY
Information Management Consultants, Inc.	Systems Analyst	CSE, COINS	IMMEDIATELY
Brooks Drugs, Inc.	Management Trainee	ANY	IMMEDIATELY
John Hancock Financial Services	Actuarial Assistant	MATH, STATS ACTSCI	IMMEDIATELY
Dynamac Corp.	Staff Scientist	A&R EC, GEOL PUBHL, ENT	IMMEDIATELY
Nabisco Foods	Research Associate	FS&N, FD ENG	IMMEDIATELY
City Gardens, Inc.	Horticulturist	ENVSCI, PL&SOIL, LANDARCH, PLPATH, BOTANY, ANY	3/15
Burger King Corp.	Operations Manager	HRTA, ANY	3/15
National SemiConductor	Human Resources Rep.	LABOR RELATIONS	IMMEDIATELY
Digital Logic
American Cyanamid	Chemist	CHEM	3/16

Did you know that the Career Center has a Job Bank of opportunities for you? Some of the jobs received this week that you can read more about in the Library are:

FUNDRAISING COORDINATOR with the Greenfield Area Community Land Trust
CASE MANAGER with the Highland Valley Elder Services, Inc.
RESERVATION INTERPRETER at Boston Harbor Islands State Park
FIELD SALES with the Westinghouse Electric Corporation (Immediate starting date!)
PUBLIC RELATIONS EXECUTIVE TRAINING PROGRAM with Ruder-Finn (for those with advanced degree only)

Remember these events

EMPLOYERS TELL ALL Every Wednesday at 4:00 p.m.
HOW TO FIND A SUMMER OR PERMANENT JOB Every Friday at 10:15 a.m.

AMERICAN GRADUATE SCHOOL OF INTERNATIONAL MANAGEMENT
Presentation on March 6 at 1:30 and 3:00

The Mather Career Center • Fraternity/Sorority Park
University of Massachusetts at Amherst • (413)545-2224
WHERE CAREERS TAKE OFF!

No Money For Spring Break

UMASS SKI CLUB
SKI & PARTY WEEK

Killington
VERMONT

JUST $280 Per Person Tax Included

LAST MINUTE SIGN-UPS Accepted

DATES AVAILABLE MAR 18-23

Program Includes:
- 5 Nights Condo Lodging at MOUNTAIN GREEN Condominiums Based on full unit occupancy.
- 5 Day Lift Ticket, Six Mountains
- Services of On-Site Sno-Search Staff
- Free Lessons when you rent skis

CONTACT:
UMASS SKI CLUB
430 STUDENT UNION 545-3437
SKI CLUB TABLE-CAMPUS CTR. CONCOURSE

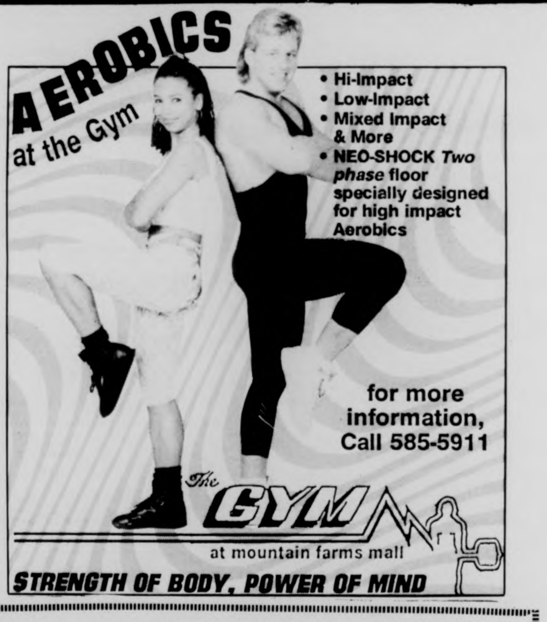
Peter Pan
New England's Largest Bus Line Offers Daily Express Service Throughout the Northeast!

HOURLY EXPRESS SERVICE
• Boston • Springfield
• New York City
• Hartford • Worcester
Connecting Service Nationwide

America's Most Modern Fleet

Amherst to
Boston Student Fare $23.95 round-trip
NYC As Low As $39.95 round-trip

One call does it all:
Peter Pan Bus Terminal
79 South Pleasant St., Amherst
256-0431
U-Mass Hotel 545-2006



AEROBICS at the Gym
- Hi-Impact
- Low-Impact
- Mixed Impact & More
- NEO-SHOCK Two phase floor specially designed for high impact Aerobics

for more information, Call 585-5911

The GYM
at mountain farms mall
STRENGTH OF BODY, POWER OF MIND

"DO I HAVE A CASE?"

The attorneys at your Legal Services Center (L.S.C.) can answer fee-paying UMass students' questions on a variety of legal problems, including:

housing, criminal, University-related problems, civil rights, consumer, labor relations, personal injury, and family law.

The L.S.C. is funded by student fees, and has been offering free legal services to fee-paying UMass students for over a decade.

"DO I NEED A LAWYER?"

The Legal Services Center is your first source of law-related assistance. Whether you need information, advice or referral, call 545-1995 for an appointment.

Located in Room 922 of the Campus Center, the Legal Services Center is handicapped-accessible, and is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Knife fight in Thoreau

By PRESTON FORMAN
Collegian Staff

Police are investigating an assault and battery with a knife that allegedly occurred between two males in the Thoreau Residence Hall sometime between 12:15 and 12:30 a.m. on Saturday. There were no injuries reported. The victim may seek court action.

ARRESTS

- Allen W. Antoniewicz, 19, of John Adams was arrested Friday near Lot 50 on charges of being a minor transporting alcohol.
- Brian R. Lefkowitz, 18, of Plainview, N.Y., was arrested Friday on Governor's Dr. on charges of being a minor transporting alcohol.
- Saturday police responded to a report of a broken window in Webster. Investigation resulted in the arrest of: Haig A. Arkelian, 19, of Longmeadow, Jason Messier, 19, of Marlboro, William P. Nealon, 19, of Newton, and William C. Maier, 19, of Marlboro for being minors in possession of alcohol.
- Eric D. Ricker, 18, and Daniel R. Sarro, 18, both of Mansfield were arrested Saturday near the Southwest Horseshoe on charges of being minors in possession of alcohol.
- Woodrow J. Cushman, 20, of Waltham was arrested on Massachusetts Ave. Saturday on charges of operating after suspension.
- Edward J. Lisi, 18, of Chelmsford was arrested near the stadium on charges larceny of a bicycle. An additional charge against him will be sought through a show cause hearing.

FIGHTS

- Police responded to a report of a past fight at the Malcom X Center. Police said victims felt the fight would occur again and wanted police presence.
- Police observed people exit a vehicle on No. Pleasant St. Sunday, and a fight ensued. Shawn M. Pendergast, 19, of 385 Mass. Ave., Lexington, Mass. was arrested for disorderly conduct.
- Bryant M. Shea, 19, of MacKimmie Residence Hall was arrested Saturday for disturbing the peace after police were dispatched to the second floor of MacKimmie on reports of a fight.

LARCENY

- Campus Center Staff reported Friday four video games were damaged and robbed of $118 in the Campus Center.
- A victim in John Quincy Adams reported Friday that someone entered her unlocked room and stole a leather jacket valued at $250.
- A victim reported Saturday his vehicle parked in Lot 49 was broken into by breaking the door handle. The stereo and tapes were stolen.
- A victim reported Sunday the theft of her jacket from the Campus Center Auditorium. The jacket contained personal items and is valued at $100.
- A victim reported Sunday his vehicle in Lot 22 was broken into and the stereo system stolen. There was damage to the interior and the dash. Value: $350.
- A wooden box was broken off of the wall in Pierpont lobby Sunday and the security receptionist telephone was stolen. Value: $45.

■ companions

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

In addition to sponsoring workshops, the program requires every volunteer to go to the office at least once a month to discuss any problems or questions.

Linda Fackle, a UMass student and intern at the program said: "They give you a lot of help as far as training, a lot of positive reinforcement. Anyone could do it, and you are really changing a child's life."

Fackle said local businesses donate discount coupons for the companions to redeem when they spend their time together. Fackle said the donors play an important role in the program.

"No one can really afford $15 or $20 a week, but the coupons provided by community businesses help a lot. My companion and I go for pizza, ice cream, roller-skating, all with discount coupons," Fackle said.

Sophomore Kathy Stoffle, matched with her companion last September said: "I feel that she helped me as much as I've helped her.

Lea Mermelstein, also a sophomore at UMass, is teaching her companion to speak English.

"Being an education major, helping him to learn English is a learning experience for me as well," she said.

家湘園南湖
Hunan Garden Restaurant
MANDARIN/SZECHUEN CUISINE

The Best Chinese Buffet
MANDARIN/SZECHUAN CUISINE
WE DELIVER IN AMHERST 5-9:30 EVERYDAY
Minimum $15 plus $2 delivery charge

NEW
BUFFET & SUNDAY BRUNCH
Buffet served 5-8 p.m. Sun.-Thurs.
Brunch served Sunday 11:30 a.m.-3 p.m.
ALL YOU CAN EAT $5⁹⁹
Children under 10 - $3.00

1) Hot and Sour Soup
2) Chicken Fingers
3) Chicken Wings
4) Vegetable Chow Mein
5) Pan Fried Ravioli
6) Beef with Green Peppers
7) House Special Chicken
8) Sweet and Sour Chicken
9) Roast Pork Fried Rice
10) Vegetable Fried Noodle
11) Chinese BBQ Pork
12) Broccoli with Oyster Sauce

ADVOCATE BEST of the VALLEY 1987

TAKE-OUT SERVICE—FULL COCKTAIL MENU
10 Belchertown Rd. at Rte. 9, Amherst 256-0252

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

ARE YOU A TRIATHLETE, biathlete, or just like to be in shape? Then come to the UMASS Triathlon Club meeting tonite at 7pm in Boyden 249. Everyone except couch potatoes are welcome.

CHESS CLUB MEETING welcomes all levels men and women Tuesday night 7:00 PM Bluewall sign for 24 hr. Mass Insanity-late April INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS Association (ISA) General meeting March 6, 7:00 PM. CC Room 905-09. All are welcome!

JAPAN AMERICA CLUB General meeting tonight! 7:00 PM at Mary Lyon basement special performance of "KARATE"
All are welcome!

KSA Welcomes all to "Rock the Globe" Mar 10 Sat 9-1 Mary Lyon basement

MEDITATION CLASS
Tonight - Campus Center Rm 805-809
7:30-9:30 PM. NAMASKAR!

TONIGHT
"Women and Judaism" panel discussion with Rabbi Sheila Weinberg and Professor Masha Rudman. 7:30 Memorial Hall. Hillel sponsored. Free

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ANYONE INTERESTED IN Uechiryu Karate Please contact Mike 546-9340 Sherry 542-2572 or Michelle 542-3051

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

CAN'T AFFORD TUITION INCREASES and need solution? Write to Rabb, Box 329 Gilsum N.H. 03448

WIN A HAWAIIAN VACATION or big screen TV plus raise up to $1400 in just 10 days!!!
Objective: Fundraiser
Commitment: Minimal
Money: Raise $1400
Cost: Zero investment
Campus organizations, clubs, frats, sororities call OCMC: 1-800-932-0528 / 1-800-950-8472, ext. 10

AUDIO

PIONEER CAR STEREO w/60W Amp and EQ. New was 700.00 asking 475.00 584-3421

CASINO NIGHT

THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS Program Council Presents Casino Night to benefit The Brain Tumor Society's Program Campuses Against Cancer.
Thursday March 8. 8 PM - 1 AM
Campus Center Auditorium
Winnings awarded in cash!
Refreshments and Hors D'oeuvres will be served.

AUTO FOR SALE

1980 HONDA CIVIC good condition. Little rust. Runs great. Best offer. Call Sharan 546-6765

GREAT IDEA! Free transportation Spring Break roomy Buick Regal low miles AC new brakes split cost take trip resell 650. Call 549-2606

HONDA ACCORD LX-81 for sale air, stereo/cass Excellent body and runs perfect $1390 Call Barb at 665-8240

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club. Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

ROCK THE HOUSE with D.J. Johnny Jamma. Funk, House, Rap Very affordable. Call 549-4479

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR SALE

APPLE IMAGE II PRINTER 1-yr. old Ask for 350 Free paper Call evening 549-1019

BAR W/STOOLS 70.00, Busch Neon 60.00 Typewriter electric•50.00 584-3421

COM.64: Keyboard, Disk Drive, Printer Modem, TV, w/manuals. Hundreds of programs. $500 BO Call 546-6788

FULL SIZE FUTON AND FRAME
$168
Metawampe Furniture
Free Delivery
549-4787

JANET JACKSON TICKETS
Monday March 26 Show-Worcester
Must sell immediately, $40 each
Call: 549-4479

LEATHER SHEARLING three-quarter length, worn three months $499 BO retailed at $899 (413) 546-6465 evenings

PIONEER TOWER SPEAKERS, 150W, $150/pr., firm. Call Mike at 549-7615

FOUND

FOUND IN CENTRAL AREA behind Baker two weeks ago
Dolphins key chain
Ford car keys and key to bike lock
Also Dorm keys all this attached on black shoe lace sound familiar
Call 549-0868 and ask for anyone!

HELP WANTED

ATTENTION: EXCELLENT INCOME for home assembly work. Info Call 504-646-1700 Dept. P1307

CAMP ANDROSCOGGIN- Maine Boys Camp seeking staff to teach full range of activities on land and water. Excellent facilities. Generous time off. If you like kids and being outside, visit us at UMASS Camp Day, write 733 West Street, Harrison, NY 10528 or call collect (914) 835-5800.

CAMP COUNSELOR
Have the summer of your life and get paid for it. Top 3-camps organization in the Pocono Mountains of NE PA. Our 59th year. Positions in all areas-water and land sports, fine arts and outdoor adventure. Please call 1-800-533-CAMP (215-887-9700 in PA) or write 407 Benson East, Jenkintown, PA 19046

COUNSELORS: Camp Arcadia. Maine Residential Girls' Camp Lake setting. Mid-June to Mid-August. Many sports and arts. Job Fair, March 6 or call/write Mrs. John Fritts, Pleasantville Rd., New Vernon, N.J. 07976 (201) 538-5409

COUNSELORS WANTED. Trim down-fitness, co-ed NYS camp. 100 positions: sports, crafts, many others. Camp Shane, Ferndale, NY 12734 (914) 292-4045

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for Spring, Christmas, and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext. S-1120.

EARN $300 TO $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. 281

HELP WANTED PART TIME/full time Waitress. Please call Hunan Gourmet at 585-0202.

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SMALL VERMONT CAMP for girls seeks committed counselors in horsemanship, watersports, photography, wilderness trips, and more. Sherry Osborn Camp Catherine Capers, 25 Shawmut Ave, Apt. UM, Wayland, MA 01778 (508) 650-1866.

SUMMER COUNSELORS
Outstanding NYS Co-ed
Resident Camp
Specialist/General
Gail 549-1331

SUMMER ON CAPE COD - Free room and board in exchange for child care. 30 hr. week. Call Jennifer at 508-771-0412

HEY CATHY!

DINNER SOUNDS GREAT!
I'll bring Pente, you bring Backgammon... and the mud!
By the way, how was your weekend?
-ME

I'LL EDIT YOUR PAPER

PROOFREADING SERVICE. If you have a rough draft, we'll make it something special. Fast and dependable. David 253-2455 and Cosmo 253-9744.

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

LOST

HELP!
Lost my suncensored prescription glasses Beige striped case between North Pleasant and SBA. Lisa 549-6109

KILLINGTON CHALET

ROOMS FOR RENT Includes cooking facilities, Color TV, VCR $50. per person per weekend Eve 548-9116

PERSONALS

FOXTROT
Too bad you missed the fun!
Thanx for the suggestions.
Like, what a wicked imagination!
Smile, I'm still behind you!
Cowboy

HAPPY 3 MTHS. Anniversary Bill
I love you!
Love always,
Mouse

HUNGRY LEE- Ma- You're the greatest! Even though they are going to rip your vocal chords out, you'll still find a way to yell! No, this is NOT a towel. In Sigma heart- Squat

NEIL CROCKER The question is, does Deb know about us?? Happy Belated Bday

TIFFANY SARGENT Congratulations on an awesome SDT Date Party!!
Luv, Pam & Lisa T.

TOM SPELLIOS--Happy Birthday!!
You know, my parents may be right! Thanks for being such a great friend. Have a wonderful birthday!
Love, Andrea

TO THE GIRL ON Oakroom stairs:
You're the hottest thing I've ever seen!

TURK
Did I ever/Take you in my arms/look you in the eye/Tell you that I do?/Did I ever/open up my heart/Let you look inside?/If I never did it/I was only waiting/for a better moment/that didn't come/There never could be/a better moment/Than This One, This One.
I love you. Damage Inc.

PLEASE, RIDE WANTED!

PLEASE! I need a ride to Cornell or anywhere in the vicinity for the weekend of March 9-11. I will pay for gas. Call Sheila at 549-2982

RESUME SERVICE

 #1 RESUME SERVICES *****
Good prices, Rush sevice
We specialize in: Traditional, Designer and Contemporary Resumes
We will work with you to insure your Resume is the best it can be!!!
ALL packages include 30 Professional Laser Prints on Resume Paper
Call Roscoe now for quick service
549-7955

RIDE WANTED

TO LI OR NYC 3/9 to 3/11 Will share expenses please call!! Ellen 549-0553

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

BEDROOM AVAILABLE in 2-bdrm Apt. $268 per month. Quiet, clean. Call 256-0553 Mornings

SINGLE OPEN IN MAIN ST. Apt. 245/Mo. Gas, heat, bus stop at front door. I will pay your March rent! Call Sue 536-2199

TWO BEDROOMS IN A great old house in North Leverett. Beautiful area in the hills. $205, Free heat. 367-9861

SERVICES

HISTORY TUTOR
American or European History
Reasonable rates. 549-6687

MAXIGRAPHICS - Super enlargements-B&W and Color
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

NEED RESUME READY in a day
Call 253-7468

TO SUBLET

SUBLET TWO ROOMS in large house open immediatley behind 7-11 in Sunderland $190 mth & util Call 665-7464 Jim or Byron

TRAVEL

$214 COMPLETE 7 NIGHTS
Panama City Beach Florida
Call now!! 253-9112

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

BAHAMAS-CANCUN-JAMAICA
You deserve to go! Last chance 549-3934
Janice

COPPERTONE COMPLETE SPRING Break
Packages: Cancun from $429
Nassau from $499
Still space but getting late!
Call now! 256-4659

NEED A RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Spring Break Special
$15 One way fare
to Bradley Airport
Call Now!
Limited Seating
Valley Transporter
256-8484

PANAMA CITY BEACH! DON'T GET
caught 10 miles away from the action!!
Stay at the only Hotel located on
"the strip". $239-Complete package
$139-Hotel package
Call now- Deb or Pam 549-0840

SPACES STILL AVAILABLE... Jamaica and Cancun. Call now for details. Mary or Karen 549-8166

TICKET TO FLORIDA Roundtrip Bradley to Tampa March 19 to 23 $125 Call 256-1294 and leave a message.

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

WORDPERFECT, LETTER-QUALITY, Spellcheck-Call Tim 549-0546

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WALRUS

546-5371

WANTED

DESPERATELY NEED "Introduction to DSP" by Prokais Call Sharon at 665-8240

SPORTS

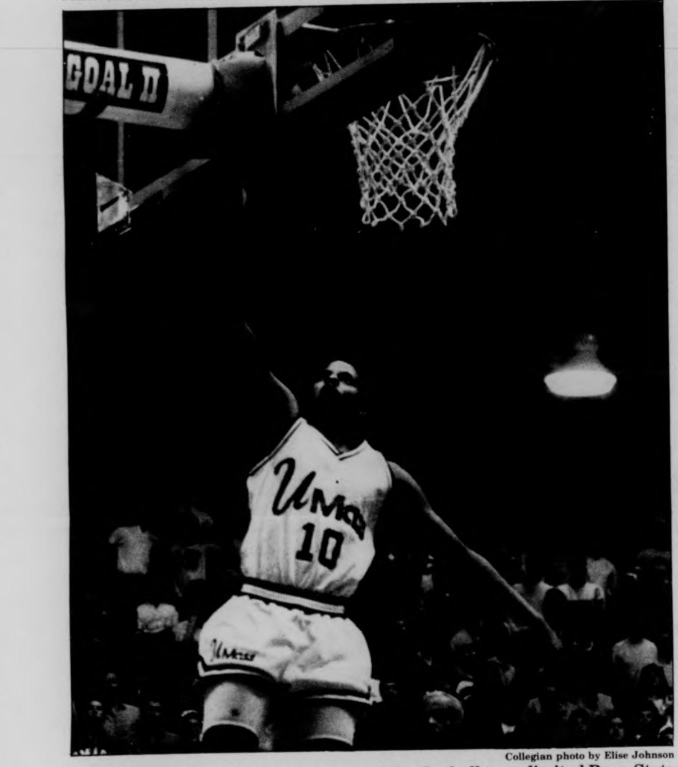
Minutemen stun Penn State, 64-59

Advance to A-10 championship on Thursday

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

Philadelphia — Remember all those games that the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team was losing earlier this year?

Well suddenly, the ball has swung the other way, the shoe is on the other foot, the roller coaster is on the down hill...



Collegian photo by Elise Johnson

The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team limited Penn State to under 40-percent shooting last night.

The Minutemen are in the Atlantic 10 Conference Championship game.

UMass couldn't have picked a better time to start playing some inspired hoop than now. The team's fifth win in a row last night came at the hands of Penn State University, 64-59, in the A-10 tournament semifinals at the charged up Palestra.

The victory sends UMass (17-12) in the finals against Temple, a 65-57 winner over Rutgers in the other semifinal game, Thursday night at 9:30 p.m. at McGonigle Hall. A UMass win at that game would send them to the NCAA tournament for only the second time in school history. The other NCAA berth came in 1962.

"This is a nice win for our program, a nice win for our kids," said UMass coach John Calipari.

For the Nittany Lions (21-8), this may be the last game they play in the Altantic 10, and it was a painful one. Penn State has decided to join the Big 10 Conference and may be voted out of the A-10 this year.

"I think UMass played a great game. They deserve a lot of credit," said Lion coach Bruce Parkhill.

Calipari knew it was just a matter of time before the Minutemen would win one of those nail biters. Down 57-55 with 2:30 left, UMass stepped up and took the challenge from the experienced Lions at the end.

Jim McCoy, who had a game-high 25 points for UMass, threw up an airball from the right corner against fierce defensive pressure. But freshman Harper Williams snagged the errant shot and tucked it home to tie it with 2:18 left.

"I thought Harper (8 points, 8 rebounds) played an outstanding game," Calipari said.

Twenty seconds later, senior guard Cary Herer (seven assists, six steals) picked off a James Barnes pass and led the Minutemen down floor. McCoy was fouled and stuck both free throws to put UMass on top with 1:22 to play.

Penn State's chance to tie failed when Ed Fogell's turn-around shot was short and William Herndon followed with a free throw for a 3-point edge, 60-57, with 30 ticks to go.

Fogell later put in a rebound shot to slice it to one, but UMass hung tough, freshman forward Tony Barbee and Herndon each hit a pair of free throws while Penn State was missing its desperation shots at the end.

"After almost losing the game when he didn't block out, Tony came back and hit two free throws," Calipari said. "He did the job today."

UMass held a 32-30 lead at the half but was in serious danger with Herndon and John Tate each picking up three quick fouls. They both got number four less than four mintutes into the second half, forcing Calipari to change gears.

"I had to go to the big lineup," Calipari said. "I wasn't worried about our offense. The problem is stoppong the other team."

UMass did stop Penn State, but the offense stalled a bit. Penn State grabbed a 53-49 lead with 7:27 to play and the Minutemen looked in trouble.

But then they applied the pressure defense that so often does the trick. Four straight steals didn't produce many points, but set the tempo for the rest of the game. The Lions scored just six points the rest of the way and committed 23 total turnovers. UMass had 15 steals.

"The epitome of this game was Cary Herer diving on the floor for a loose ball and Fogell fouling him," Calipari said. "That is extra effort and these are the things we have to do to win. We're not good enough to win any other way."

"We made some turnovers that I don't think were necessary," Parkhill said. "They made some great plays. It was a combination of things."

"They just outplayed us from the jump," said Penn State guard Monroe Brown.

It didn't look that way early on as UMass got into trouble early for the second day in a row, falling behind by six on three different occasions. But a critical technical foul against Parkhill, his first of the season helped swing the momentum into the Minutemen.

"I was flailing my arms, and I was obviously upset with what was transpiring out there," Parkhill said. "I felt I deserved it."

McCoy hit the two shots and followed them up with a pattened leaner from the left side. McCoy scored 13 points in just under eight minutes to help UMass open up a 17-11 lead.

It grew to as large as nine at 28-19 with 3:29 left in the half. Herer, the one who isn't supposed to be a good shooter, stepped up and nailed a 22-foot 3-pointer as the 45-second clock was expiring to help trigger the run.

But the Lions, who helped their cause by pounding the Minutemen into foul trouble in the first half, were able to slice the margin to two points, closing the half with an 11-4 run.

UMass now looks to keep the momentum going for just one more game.

"We've been underdogs in half the games we've played this year and we'll be big underdogs on the road," Calipari said. "It really doesn't matter who we play."

Minutewomen squeak by Bonnies, 77-72

By TAMIR LIPTON
Collegian Staff

All season long, the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team has taken a back seat to the men's team, and with the men stunning Penn State to advance to the finals of the Atlantic 10 tournament, the women will still play the role of back seaters.

However, give Kathy Hewelt's crew credit, the Minutewomen went into St. Bonaventure as underdogs, seeded last in the conference and stunned the Bonnies 77-72 to advance to the quarterfinals of the A-10 tournament, where they now meet mighty Rutgers who has blown the Minutewomen out twice already this year.

The Minutewomen played inspired basketball, shooting a torrid 64-percent from the floor. The Minutewomen were constantly able to break the St. Bonaventure press and set up their half court offense.

Helen Freeman led the UMass charge, scoring 29 points on 13 for 16 shooting. Freeman along with Keyburn McCusker (16 points and nine rebounds) torched the Bonnies inside, constantly connecting on short jump shots.

"We came into this game thinking that we could win," said Hewelt. "We just had two terrible games [earlier in the season against the Bonnies] and we knew that we could beat them. It's very tough to beat a team three times in the same season, [are you listening Rutgers]."

The win was a struggle from the start. St. Bonaventure dominated the glass, outrebounding the Minutewomen 40-29. The Bonnies also outshot UMass 70-50, but managed only to connect on 29 of those 70 shots.

"We kept our composure, broke their press, and played hard," Hewelt said. "We made our foul shots at the end of the game, and it resulted in a big win."

At the half, St. Bonaventure held a slim 33-29 lead, but UMass came out of the locker room confident and scored on their opening possession. "We came out in the second half and scored first, that says a lot for our team," Hewelt said. "We didn't let the fact that we trailed at halftime get us down, and we came out with a lot of intensity."

Patty Robak (10 points) and Sue Serafini (11) paced the UMass back court, while Michele Pytko ran the offense to near perfection.

This game could easily have been a UMass rout if not for the presence of St. Bonaventure star Sue Shay who lit the Minutewomen up for a team high 27 points. Shay and Freeman waged a personal war on the court that Freeman and the Minutewomen eventually won.

Don't look now but the Minutewomen who finished dead last in the A-10 in the regular season knocked off a team that had previously beaten them twice, and with any luck, the Minutewomen could stage their second upset of the week on Wednesday when they square off against Rutgers.

"We're elated over the win, but we know that in order to beat Rutgers, we'll need to play even better then we did tonight," Hewelt said.

A win against Rutgers may be more of a dream then reality, but for now the Minutewomen are riding high after an emotional tournament win. And although the eyes and hearts of all of UMass may be on the men's team, the women still have a chance to win their tournament.

No team seeded last has ever won the Atlantic 10 tournament, but UMass is in position to make basketball history.

FOULS PLAYER
U MASS VISITOR
BONUS
PERIOD
09:57
33
24
22

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team defeated St. Bonaventure last night to advance to play Rutgers.

WEATHER

Today will be sunny and windy with temperatures in the high 20's.

EDITORIAL

Board of Editors criticizes administration's handling of cultural centers. Page 4.

SPORTS

UMass Minutewomen tackle Rutgers in round two of A-10 tournament. Page 16.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 25

Administration under fire
Cultural center control criticized

By PRATIP DASTIDAR
Collegian Staff

Students at the University of Massachusetts expressed outrage this week over the administration's handling of a plan to transfer administrative control of the six cultural centers from housing services to the Department of Academic Support Services.

Students affiliated with the centers say they are angry because they feel the administration reneged on its promise to include them in the plans by circulating conflicting memos and discussing the situation without student input.

"There are internal political dynamics on the administrative level that seem to be fostering divisions amongst the students," said Tomas Garcia, a student who was directly involved in the early stages of the planning process. "We, as students, must not allow ourselves to be used in this way."

On Dec. 4, 1989, Joseph Zannini, executive director of housing services, circulated a memo to his staff which introduced a proposal to transfer the management of the four cultural centers and two multicultural centers from housing services to DASS.

The cultural centers in question are the Malcolm X Center, the Hispanic Cultural Center, the Dr. Josephine Whiteagle Native American Cultural Center and the United Asia Cultural Center. The multicultural centers are the Martin Luther King Center and the Anacaona Center.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

Collegian photo by John Woo

FASHIONABLY LATE — A woman hurries through the Fine Arts Center, yesterday.

SGA senator calls hearing

Referenda debate may be postponed until signatures are verified

By LISA SHAPIRO
Collegian Staff

A hearing is scheduled today to bring a temporary injunction against the Undergraduate Student Senate to prevent the senate from considering a referendum question until the necessary signatures are verified, according to the Clerk of Courts.

Sen. Jeff Turco (Brown) who requested the hearing against Speaker of the Senate John Dunlap Monday, said: "Considering the question without certification [of the signatures] is unconstitutional in my interpretation."

Signatures are verified by comparing them to a list of valid student identification numbers.

The question, registered with the Student Government Association on Thursday, was written by Howard Dreyfuss, former officer in the Orchard Hill Area Government. The referendum asks: "Do you support an increase in the Area Government share of the Student Activities Trust Fund Fee from $9.60 per student to $20 per student per year, with a House Council allotment of $2 per student from their respective area government?"

Dunlap, who coordinates the agenda for Wednesday night senate meetings, placed the referendum question on tonight's agenda. If the question is discussed, the senate will vote to set the time and place for the question to appear. Students supporting the question hope to see it on the March 13 ballot for SGA president and student trustee.

Article X of the SGA Constitution says: "Referenda may be initiated through a two-thirds vote of the Student Senate, by the SGA President, or by petition of not less than 10 percent of the undergraduate student body." It also says that referendum procedures shall be determined in the SGA by-laws, which require an additional 15 percent of signatures from the student body.

Bob Monaghan, president of the seceded Southwest Area Government and proponent of the referenda, believes today's hearing is unconstitutional. "Student government is trying to deny 2,800 students [who signed the question] their right to expression and the chance for their beliefs to be heard."

Porn destruction pre-trial hearing arranged

Two University of Massachusetts students are scheduled to appear in the Northampton District Court tomorrow for a pre-trial hearing on charges of malicious destruction of property over $250.

The charges stem from a Dec. 13 incident where more than $800 worth of pornographic and adult magazines were destroyed at the Amherst Newsroom.

Sandra L. Goodman and Lierre T. Keith, both of Northampton, pleaded not guilty to the charge Feb. 1. The women had been summoned by the Amherst Police Department after about a dozen women disguised with scarves vandalized the magazines.

On the day of their arraignment, the women released a statement that said pornography "dehumanizes the female body" and "licenses men to do anything to women's bodies; it licenses men to kill women.

"Pornography leaves no room for doubt as to the malicious intent of a misogynist society, men's intention to destroy women," the statement said.

Donna Rose, manager of the Amherst Newsroom, said she identified the two women on in-store videotape and in police-mug shots.

— LISA SHAPIRO

SWAG will realign if six demands are accepted

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Southwest Area Government will realign with the Student Government Association when a list of six demands are met, according to a letter sent to the SGA yesterday.

The letter, signed by the Executive Committee of SWAG, was sent in response to Monday's SGA statement informing them that their funds were frozen until further notice.

SWAG voted last Thursday 14-3 with two abstentions to secede from the SGA.

The letter from SWAG states: "We believe that these demands are both justified and are in the best interests of the student body. We regret that we were forced to take such a drastic act to preserve our own integrity as an area, but we believe that the actions of the SGA left us no other choice."

The following demands appear in the letter:

- Unfreeze SWAG accounts
- Drop area government allocation bylaw change
- Allocate $2 per student to House Councils
- House Councils to be advised by Student Activities Office not Housing
- No cut to concert fund
- Committee established to investigate SGA/SAO waste

"We've attempted negotiations with SGA over the area government allocations since the secession, but they have refused," Monaghan said.

Both SGA Treasurer Laura Filkins and Speaker John Dunlap said that Monaghan had never approached either of them to discuss the allocation issue, and never appeared at any of the Student Activities Trust Fund Planning Committee meetings.

Last February, the planning committee recommended a decrease in Student Activities Trust Fund monies to area governments.

"He was consistently asked to appear at the hearings," Dunlap said. "Meetings were rescheduled to accommodate Mr. Monaghan's convenience, yet he was absent from all of these."

Filkins said there were questionnaires distributed among all area governments to gauge reaction to possible changes in the area government allocations, and that SWAG never returned one of these.

The letter from SWAG expressed a hope that the "SGA will act in a manner which will bring about a rapid resolution to this crisis." SWAG said that they are prepared to take appropriate actions with a higher authority if this does not occur.

"The Board of Trustees does not recognize the constitution of the SGA, therefore we don't recognize the authority of SGA over SWAG," said Monaghan adding this was a primary reason for the secession.

"If they have problems, presenting demands is not the way to go about solving them. They opted not to have input in the first place," said Filkins.

For Your Information

For Your Information is a calendar listing of local announcements and upcoming events published daily by the Collegian as a public service. All submissions must be typed and submitted to the newsdesk at least one full day in advance. We reserve the right to edit for space.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1990

Volunteer — The American Red Cross is looking for a Volunteer Coordinator. Duties include the scheduling of work assignments and seeking other volunteers. Those interested can call Rich Lee, American Red Cross at 584-8887.

Movie — "Look Who's Talking" sponsored by Sylvan Area Government will be shown at 5 p.m., 7 p.m., 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. in the Campus Center Auditorium. Admission is $1.50 for the 5 p.m. show and $2.50 for others.

Meeting — There will be a senate meeting at 7 p.m. in Campus Center room 168. The event is sponsored by Senate Operations.

Speaker — An orator, sponsored by the American Indian Student Association, will speak at 7 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.
Admission is free.

Presentation — Learn what careers in financial services are really like from five top executives in the field. They will answer all of your questions at 7 p.m. in Campus Center room 917. Free.

THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1990

Video — Dreams a free video presentation and discussion on "Your Universe of Dreams" will be offered by local students of Eckankar at 7 p.m. at the Jones Library, Gallery Room. The presentation will cover how to remember and understand your dreams for guidance in every day life, and for spiritual insights. This is the first of a three part series. For more information, call 367-9762.

Story telling — Hillel is sponsoring a storytelling session by Diane Wolkstein at 7:30 p.m. at the Memorial Hall. Free.

Lecture — The Office of Third World Affairs is sponsoring a lecture by Jane California Cooper at 7 p.m. in Campus Center room 163C. Free.

Casino Night — The Board of Governors Program Council is sponsoring a Casino Night from 8 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. at the Campus Center Auditorium. Admission is $5.00.

Banquet — The Stockbridge Student Senate is sponsoring a Progress Banquet at 6 p.m. in Campus Center room 109. Admission is $6.00.

FRIDAY, MARCH 9, 1990

Discussion — "Would You Blow the Whistle?" Come and find out in an informal discussion with Penina Glazer, co-author of The Whistle-Blowers: Exposing Corruption in Government and Industry. Bring a sandwich, beverages provided. Sponsored by Omicron Nu.

Coffee Social — The Lesbian, Bisexual Gay Alliance is sponsoring a coffee social session at 9 p.m. in Campus Center room 803. Free.

Dance — The LBGA is sponsoring a dance from 9 p.m. in the Campus Center Auditorium. Admission is $3.00.

SATURDAY, MARCH 10, 1990

Concert — The Union Program Council is sponsoring the "Sugarcubes" concert with special guest "The Primitives" at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. Admission: $8.00/UMass student, $11.00/general public.

Dance — Bahai Club is sponsoring a "Race Unity Dance" at 9 p.m. in the Bluewall Cafe. Admission is $2.00.

MONDAY, MARCH 12, 1990

Reading — In honor of International Women's Day and Women's History Month, P.O.W.E.R. is sponsoring an afternoon of (open) poetry reading, songs and information-sharing from 1:00 - 5:00 p.m. in the Dukes Room, Student Union.

Lecture — Former CEO of Braniff Airlines will come tell his personal story about business and bankrupcy and the need for ethics in business at 7:15 p.m. in Campus Center room 174. This is a rare opportunity!

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA. 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief — Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor — George Austin
Editorial Editor — Minu Sebastian
News Editor — Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor — Jim Clark
Arts Editors — Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor — Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor — Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor — Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor — Chris Muther
Business Manager — Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager — Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager — Martina Rios
Circulation Manager — Chris Baker
Subscription Manager — Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager — Donna Cusson
Production Managers — Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager — Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business — Lori Black, Brian Harrington, Maureen Majerowski
Graphics — Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

correction

The Collegian incorrectly identified Linda Sackler. The Collegian regrets the error.

Wake-n-Bake
in beautiful
Negril, Jamaica
Hot days & Reggae nights
Travel with the best-
Call Sunsplash Tours
1-800-426-7710
Spring Break Week
starting at $469.00

ALL STAFF
VOTE
Business, News, Graphics

Expansion of Executive Board to include Adv. Manager and Day Graphics Manager.

TODAY
9 a.m.-5 p.m.

$AVE, $AVE, $AVE...
AT SCOTT'S LIQUORS!

Scott's LIQUORS
OPEN MON-SAT
8 AM-11 PM
Tel. 549-2692
6 University Drive
at Newmarket Center
Amherst
diagonnaly across from UMASS Stadium

Sam Adams Bock Beer six-pack 12 oz. bottles $5.49 + dep.
Rolling Rock 12 pack 12 oz. bottles $5.99
Jack Daniels Bourbon 750 ml $9.99
Smirnoff Vodka 750 ml $7.49
O'Keefe Canadian 24-12 oz. bottles $12.99 + dep.
Kahlua Liquer 750 ml $10.99

VISA/MASTERCARD ACCEPTED
ALSO LOCAL PERSONAL CHECKS

Plus many instore and rebate specials!!
Kegs Available
1/2 Kegs starting at $29.00
Sale Good 3/5 thru 3/10

WE WANT TO BE YOUR FAVORITE LIQUOR STORE

MARKETING OPPORTUNITY WITH AT&T
1990 Back-to-School Promotion

AT&T STUDENT CAMPUS MANAGER
Sales-oriented student sought for marketing/promotion position. Management responsibility for campus group. Excellent pay and bonuses. Flexible hours. All work is on campus. Must be available full-time 1-2 weeks prior to the start of classes. Opportunity to work as a Promotions Representative on a project by project basis.

AT&T ASSISTANT STUDENT CAMPUS MANAGER
Student with strong sales/leadership ability needed for seven day program, Fall 1990. Must be available 1 week prior to the start of classes.

STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE/ CAMPUS GROUP
Outgoing, sales-oriented group/individuals needed to represent AT&T products and services on campus. Top pay and bonuses. Must be available 1 week prior to the start of classes.

For more information, send resume to: CDI, AT&T Recruitment, 210 West Washington Square, 11th floor, Philadelphia, PA. 19106, or call (800) 592-2121. Equal Oppty. Employer.

EUROPE by CAR
RENT or BUY
LOWEST PRICES
FOR STUDENTS, TEACHERS
EUROPE BY CAR
One Rockefeller Plaza
New York, NY 10020
Phone (212) 581-3040
Mail this ad for Special Student/Teacher Tariff.
☐ RENTAL ☐ LEASE ☐ PURCHASE

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID' EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

LOCAL

Pornography workshop addresses degradation

By DIANE HICKS
Collegian Staff

Last night students filled the first floor gallery of McKimmie Hall to view the film "Not A Love Story" and participate in a workshop on the effects of pornography.

"Pornography is writing or imagery that objectifies, degrades and brutalizes a person in the name of sexual stimulation or entertainment," said Diane Selig, educator/advocate from the Everywoman's Center.

"Pornography creates a climate in which it is acceptable to objectify and brutalize human beings, particularly women and children," she said.

She noted the abundance of studies connecting violence with exposure to pornographic images, and said: "It is important [for people] to raise a connection between pornography and violence against women."

"Rape is the only violent crime on the rise in the United States today," she said.

Linda Cooper, another educator/advocate with the Everywoman's Center, said it is also important for "people [to] understand how powerful money interests manipulate us into accepting things we ordinarily wouldn't."

The educators said dealing with the issues around pornography and raising consciousness are integral steps in overcoming it's effects.

As author Robin Morgan said in the film, "To be a woman and conscious anywhere on this planet is to be in a constant state of rage." At the same time, she said, pornography can't be ignored.

Doctor of Psychology Ed Donnerstein, who appeared in the film, said, "If you keep watching [pornographic films] you become desensitized, and need more and more violent and different types of material."

Laura Kayes, a Smith College student who attended the workshop, said, "One of the major issues is control, whether it's fluffy pictures or if it's violent or brutal, there's still that issue of control."

The movie did not deal with what Selig called the most violent form of pornography, "snuff films," in which the woman is actually killed before the camera.

Selig said it is also important to consider the effects of child pornography, lesbianism and racism in pornography.

Selig said, "Not A Love Story" will be shown again this semester, adding "I think it's impertant to see."

ACLU attorney promotes gay agenda

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Lesbians, bisexuals and gays live in a land of profound contradictions and rampant and pervasive harassment, according to Urvashi Vaid, an attorney with the American Civil Liberties Union and a director with the Lesbian, Gay Civil Task Force.

Less than 75 cities and counties and only two states have legislation against the discrimination of lesbians, gays and bisexuals, Vaid said to about 100 audience members Monday night at Smith College.

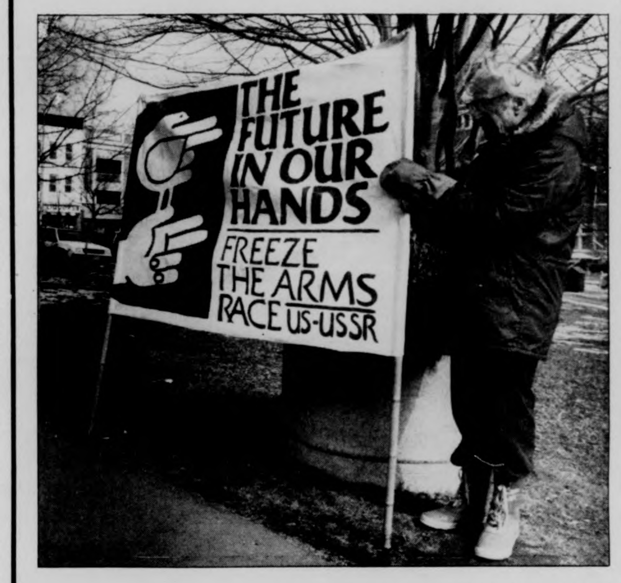
"The reality of lesbian and gay oppression is very bleak," Vaid said noting that 25 states currently have laws banning sodomy.

Violence against homosexuals has been increasing steadily in the past five years, she said.

She said the gay rights movement has been successful in only a few cases because a lack of networking between groups the the short amount of time the movement has existed.

"We really didn't have any highly political organizations until the seventies, and at that point it took another 10 years

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6



THE FUTURE IN OUR HANDS
FREEZE THE ARMS RACE US-USSR

Collegian photo by John Woo

Lee Holt, of Amherst, participates in a disarmament vigil on the Amherst Common, an action he has taken evey Sunday for the past 10 years.

Amherst, UM face lack of local housing

BY LISA SHAPIRO
Collegian Staff

In response to a report presented Monday by the Regional Commission on Affordable Housing Needs of Academic Communities, members of the Town of Amherst Select Board said they plan to work with the University of Massachusetts to increase affordable housing units in the region.

The report, presented by Connie Kruger, a member of the commission, calls for UMass to be a central participant in the long-term solution to the housing shortage.

According to the report, the lack of affordable housing in the Amherst area has forced many residents to spend as much as 40 to 50 percent of their income on housing. The Commission identified Amherst, Belchertown, Granby, Hadley, Leverett, Northampton, Pelham, Shutesbury, South Hadley, and Sunderland as the most heavily impacted by the University community.

It is estimated that 88 percent of UMass faculty, 82 percent of UMass students and 59 percent of the staff live in the 10 impact communities.

Select Board member Elisa Campbell said Amherst should consider collecting a property tax from the University for

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

SGA canidates Monaghan, Silveria present platforms

• Presidential candidate stresses input

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Senior Bob Monaghan is a second-year candidate for University of Massachusetts Student Trustee. If elected, he will serve on a student advisory committee to the Board of Regents that oversees the Student Activities Trust Fund and deals directly with administrative issues.

Monaghan is running on a ticket with John Silveria, candidate for Student Government Association president.

As a freshman, Monaghan was not involved with student government. In his sophomore year, he became president of Moore House Council and has been a senator to the Student Government Association from Moore for two years. Last semester, Monaghan became president of South West Area Government.

Last semester, he implemented the Housing Investigation Task Force that will begin investigating the relationship between Housing and students, especially the function of Resident Assistants. He has also served as the Issues Chair of SWAG.

During the state budget cuts last semester, Monaghan formed a group to lead students in the Southwest area against the cuts. He is presently the Vice-Chair of the Residential Education Committee that concerns itself with Housing Rules and Regulations.

- Monaghan says his number one priority will be safety, and believes his ability to convey that concern to members of the administration is strong.

"It's not going to be a new experience to deal with higher-ups. I feel I can relate well to them because of my past duties. But when it becomes necessary for me to fight for an issue, I'm not afraid to do that."

- Monaghan has come under fire lately because of SWAG's decision last Thursday to secede from the main body of the SGA. He said the reasoning behind this was a desire to put the SGA under scrutiny.

"Get attention focused on SGA and the [Student Activities Office] so people have a visible knowledge of the waste in SGA and SAO," Monaghan said. "I am committed to my campaign for Trustee. I will not sacrifice my area government for trustee, but I won't put aside my beliefs to run for trustee."

- Monaghan said his previous involvement in working against the state budget cuts made him aware of waste in specific areas, and where money may be re-focused.

• Trustee candidate prioritizes safety

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Senior John Silveria, candidate for President of the Student Government Association, said he and his running mate represent the "average students on campus who have chosen to become involved."

Silveria is running on a joint ticket with Bob Monaghan, who is seeking the office of Student Trustee.

Silveria has been extensively involved with Student Government since his freshman year, when he became a senator in the SGA. In his sophomore year, he became President of Orchard Hill Area Government, as well as President of Sigma Phi Epsilon. He has served on the Finance committee, and as a student representative to the Residential Education Board.

He was extensively involved with coordination of the strike of undergraduates last semester in reaction to the state budget cuts.

"I'm more in tune with students, I have the motivation to work with them," Silveria said. "It's time to get rid of apathy and I'm leading by example."

- Silveria believes students should have more input regarding decisions that affect them.

"My biggest role, if elected as president of SGA will be to get students more heavily involved with administrative decisions. We've been left out too long."

- "There are two attitudes on this campus: proactive and reactive. Proactive voices on campus are more effective, they become more involved, they are part of the policy making. Reactive voices are similar to the ones experienced during last Spring's DOD protests: they had no input, so all they can do is react."

- "As a friend of Sharon Galligan, [her murder] was the scariest thing that's happened to me in my life. It's not enough for Provost O'Brien to appear before the Senate body and say we need more money put towards campus safety.

"There is money available. Lighting on campus is poor. It's time for administrators and students to begin looking at trimming budgets, and listening to valuable student information."

- Silveria said he sees a need for the New Students Program to offer an LBGA and Third World Caucus presentation among others during the orientation program for incoming students.

"There should be as many views represented to students during this time as exist on their campus."

These are the people who didn't come to the Jordan Marsh Info Session.

March 8, 1990
7:00pm
Mather Career Ctr.

Don't follow in their footsteps! Instead, bring your ambition and strong work ethic to the Jordan Marsh Info Session and find out if you have what it takes to build a terrific future in retailing.

At the Info Session, you'll learn about The Jordan Marsh Executive Training Program, a company-paid 12 week program that highlights a combination of on-the-job training and classroom seminars. Recognized as one of the top three retailing training programs in the country, this session is just the beginning of the resources and support available to you as a member of one of the most prestigious names in retailing. And if you still wish to further your education, you can take advantage of our tuition reimbursement program.

So mark the date on your calendar, and make sure you go to the JM Info Session!

JM is an equal opportunity employer

Living the good life.
jordan marsh
EST. 1851
MASSACHUSETTS ■ CONNECTICUT ■ RHODE ISLAND
NEW HAMPSHIRE ■ MAINE ■ NEW YORK

FOCUS

■ handling of cultural centers criticized

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Zannini's memorandum read: ". . . it became clear to me that the Department of Academic Support Services needed to take a lead role in the administration of the centers . . . her [Ann Quinley's] department is taking on the role of coordinating many of the essential multicultural services on campus. Fortunately, Ann Quinley has indicated very enthusiastically a willingness to assume this responsibility."

This decision was taken by Quinley, dean of Academic Support Services, and Zannini, without any input from the constituencies or staff of the cultural centers, asserts Kimberly Gonzalez, the teaching assistant for the Hispanic Cultural Center.

> "It was a mistake. At the time we did not see it as impacting the students."
> – Ann Quinley, dean of DASS on the handling of the transfer.

"Students felt very upset and powerless . . . and were still not informed about changes that were to occur at the administrative level," she said. "Also, at this moment the cultural centers are in limbo, and are not sure about their power to decide what future they will have.

"Whether the centers go to housing or DASS is an issue but not the primary one,"

Photo courtesy of OPI

Joseph Zannini, director of housing services

she said. "We would have appreciated being informed of these plans immediately, and then making our own decision. The administrators could have at least sent us a letter, rather than have us find out indirectly."

The students in the cultural centers met on Dec. 12, 1989 and released a statement voicing three primary concerns:

- Discontent with decisions made regarding the cultural centers without their knowledge.

> "There was an understanding to do (the transfer). Once the community of color responded, a decision was made to undo."
> – Rick Townes, dean of the Department of Academic Support Services.

- A request for valid information about the status of the centers.
- A request for discontinuation of all negotiations and every agreement concerning the centers until the beginning of spring 1990, so students could participate in these processes.

Quinley, who was present at this meeting, signed a statement which read: ". . . it was agreed that students needed to define the directions in which the centers would move and the mission that they could undertake. It was further agreed that no actions, plans, hours or programs will be put in place without student input." A meeting of the centers was scheduled for Feb. 20, 1990.

On Dec. 14, 1989, Dennis Madson, vice chancellor for Student Affairs, sent a memo to his staff which said, ". . . It was also planned that principal administrative responsibility for the cultural centers will move from Housing Services to Academic Support Services."

The planned transfer of the centers to DASS, and the appointment of Rick Townes as new associate dean of DASS was confirmed in a news story in the Jan. 5, 1990 issue of the Campus Chronicle. Townes is responsible for the centers' administration.

On Jan. 8, Jose Bou, the staff liason to the Hispanic Cultural Center, sent a memo to Quinley expressing concern over Madson's memo. Bou said Madson's memo seemed to indicate that the decision to move the centers to DASS was going ahead despite an agreement reached with students that no such action would be taken.

Quinley replied to Bou in a memo dated Jan. 22: ". . . my understanding of the centers' current status remains unchanged from our conversation on Dec. 23, 1989, at breakfast in the Faculty Club."

According to Bou, who attended the breakfast meeting, Quinley reaffirmed her commitment to not changing the status of the centers without student input.

Quinley then circulated a message to students associated with the centers to reschedule the Feb. 20 meeting to Feb. 21. Students met anyway on Feb. 20, and released a statement: ". . . Without the consent of those who were present at the Dec. 12 meeting, the date for the February meeting was changed to the 21st."

Gary Lewis, staff liason for the Malcolm X Center was present at the meeting with Quinley on Feb. 21. He said: "A general consensus was reached at the end of the meeting that since the representatives of all the centers were not present, no decision could be made. Subsequent meetings were planned at each individual center."

Even as these events were unfolding, memos continued to circulate. Zannini had received a memo dated Feb. 7, from Karen Shelley, a housing administrator. Shelley wrote: "As per our conversation yesterday, it is my understanding that responsibility for the four identity specific cultural centers and the two multicultural centers currently being run by Residential Education staff will be moving shortly to the Division of Academic Support Services." The document goes on to detail the means by which finances were to be transferred to DASS.

Zannini was contacted for comment. He described the evolution of the decision, and the reasons for the ensuing confusion. He said: "I was meeting with Dr. Quinley and we agreed on the transfer. I felt that this was a good approach. We at Housing would continue to be involved in multicultural activities even though the locus of administration had shifted.

"As per the Dec. 4 letter, there was a notion that we would go ahead [with the transfer]. Housing did a good job with the centers and has an excellent track record," he said. "The centers needed to be coordinated with a variety of activities, many of which were under the aegis of DASS already. We did not see this decision as making any substantive change in how the centers would function and operate."

Quinley said yesterday: "Further consultation with students associated with the centers would be carried out before any decision is made." Commenting on the wisdom of making the transfer proposal without student input, Quinley said: "It was a mistake. At the time we did not see it as impacting the students.

"Once I understood the depth of student concern, I have been involved in a continuous process of consulting with them," she said. "The centers still report to Housing, while we talk to students and attempt to regain their trust."

When asked about the flow of administrative memos that continued after her assurance to students that no further plans would be made, Quinley said: "What I meant by plans was that no planning of programs or activities would take place [over the intersession]."

Photo courtesy of OPI

Ann Quinley, dean of academic support services

> "Whether the centers go to Housing or DASS is an issue but not the primary one. The administrators could have at least sent us a letter, rather than have us find out indirectly."
> – Kimberly Gonzalez, teaching assistant at the Hispanic Cultural Center.

Quinley is currently involved in a series of meetings with individual cultural centers, designed to ascertain what each of them feel their status should be.

Students responding to the situation were generally upset, angry and perplexed. Elba Quinones, a staff member at the Hispanic Cultural Center said: "These decisions wasted our time and energy. We do the work, but are not consulted when decisions are made. I get the feeling that the cultural centers are there to make the University feel good.

"There is no material for us to work with," she said. "Even getting keys to the centers is very difficult. How can we type letters without typewriters or paper? There is no account number for long distance phone calls. The administration makes a big event out of the opening of the centers, and then leaves us up in the air, and makes decisions behind our back."

Antonieta Bolomey, a teaching assistant at the Anacaona center, said: "The situation is stressful and confusing. Housing staff have received orders not to get involved with the centers. This attitude [on the part of the administration] sets up a precedent. Moves have been made without consulting students. It could happen again in the future."

Renee Lopez, who is affiliated with the Native American Cultural Center, said: "We have had a good relation with Housing. Why were these plans made? Why were things conducted in this underhanded way? It seems that politics and personal issues among high-ups is the real problem."

Devita Gross, a concerned African-American student, said: "I have a problem with people making decisions and not contacting student directors of the centers. I have no problem with the movement from Housing. Housing is unreliable — there were originally just four centers under them, and still they were not sufficiently funded. So how do you expect them to take care of six?"

Townes said the historical lack of trust between the administration and the community of color plays a crucial role in the controversy. "I don't think its a question of miscommunication or difference of perception," he said. "There was an understanding to do [the transfer]. Once the community of color responded, a decision was made to undo.

"Distrust for the administration is inherent. This current issue is an arena to allow this distrust to be played out," he said. "It goes back years to incidents such as the administration's buying the case against Yvette Henry [an African American falsely accused of arson], the lack of support for the Malcolm X Center, the negative attitudes in the Collegian."

Townes also pointed out that the real issue is the lack of institutional support and funding for the centers. He concluded that this incident revealed the truth of the Hurst Commission's observation that the administration tended to underestimate the anger of people of color on the campus until events escalate to serious proportions.

Photo courtesy of the Index

Dennis Madson, vice chancellor of student affairs

■ ACLU attorney discusses gay oppression

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

to get the main focus of gay life from the bars to the political arena," she said.

The political movement suffered a set-back in the eighties because of the AIDS epidemic and the increased activity and support for the Christian extremists who "actively sabotaged every piece of gay legislation," she said.

The government is directly resposible for much of the spread of the AIDS epidemic because, she said, they thought it only effected the gay population and lower class drug abusers.

She said for the ninties, the lesbian, bisexual and gay community should work for six things: elimination of discrimination, an end to hate violence, a repeal of sodomy laws, a nondiscriminatory AIDS policy, a secure protection of homosexual families and the creation of a society open to homosexuality.

She said to acheive these goals, the gay community first needs to overcome their fear of themselves and the fears others have of them.

"We live in the closets our whole lives, afraid of our family, friends and employers. In the ninties we'll have no choice but to come out of the closet," she said. "The question won't be if you're out of the closet, it will be how far out you can go."

Gathering more support in the straight population is also important, she said. The struggle for gay rights should receive the same support as the Civil Rights movement of the sixties.

Vaid said the mainstream attitude in the gay community is born out of a fear to make mistakes. "Every step we take with fear, we're afraid others will be critical of us. We can't let fear slow the movement."

■ UMass, Amherst to address housing shortages

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

residential units.

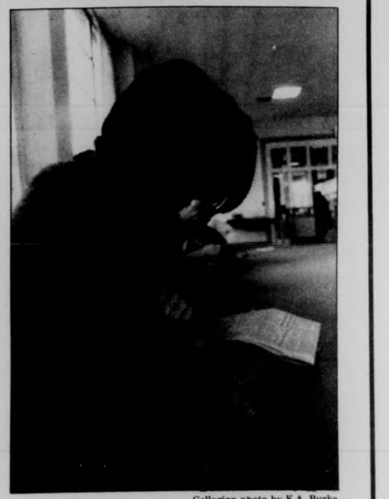
Provost O'Brien said yesterday, it is routine for towns to request taxes from public colleges and universities and although he is "not at all open to paying taxes to the town," he does not resent the suggestion.

O'Brien said the University is anxious to work with the town and looks forward to seeing more housing at moderate rates.

As a public institution, UMass is currently tax-exempt and pays $400,000 per year to the Town of Amherst in lieu of taxes, O'Brien said.

The commission urged the formation of a Regional Housing Partnership to be recognized by the communities and academic institutions included in the region.

The report calls upon UMass to develop a long-term housing project including a plan to develop Fraternity/Sorority Park and the development of 500 new on-campus rental units for students with families and 300 new units for faculty and staff.



Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

LOUNGING – A young woman reads the Collegian in the Cape Cod Lounge.

TEXTBOOK ANNEX

VISA

WE ARE PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE THAT WE NOW ACCEPT VISA & MASTERCARD.

MasterCard

Styles by Deborah welcomes

Leslie Brown
With an Introductory Special
Consultation, shampoo, style, cut and dry for only $12*
reg $18 (with this ad only)
call 549-5610
* with Leslie only

Styles by Deborah
The spa for hair and skin care
65 University Drive, Amherst
549-5610

I WONDER WHO'S TAKING OVER NOW?

VOTE AND MAKE YOUR VOICE BE HEARD!
BOARD OF GOVERNORS ELECTIONS
Tuesday, March 13th 11:30AM to 7:00PM:

Dining Commons
Berkshire Butterfield
Franklin Hampshire
Worcester

The Hatch
Newman Center

vote wherever you see SGA ballot boxes!

Special Student & Youth Fares to
EUROPE, SOUTH AMERICA, ASIA
from New York on Scheduled Airlines!

DESTINATIONS	OW	RT
LONDON	$175	$350
PARIS	215	415
BRUSSELS	195	370
ROME	275	550
STOCKHOLM/OSLO	250	500
COPENHAGEN	250	500
ZURICH	215	405
FRANKFURT	215	410
RIO	365	730
TOKYO	495	850

Add on fares Boston, D.C., Chicago, Pittsburgh, other U.S. cities. Plus $6 dep. tax; $10 cust/immig. fee. $5 security fee may apply in ea. direction
CALL OR WRITE FOR OUR SPECIAL FARES TO THE SOUTH PACIFIC, AUSTRALIA & AROUND THE WORLD ROUTINGS
Eurail and Eurail Youth Passes available immediately

1-800-777-0112 STA
212-986-9470
WHOLE WORLD TRAVEL
17 E. 45th St., Suite 805, New York, NY 10017
Part of the worldwide STA Travel Network

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Divide and Rule

The recent controversy over the fate of the seven cultural centers on campus has become an unfortunate occasion for an unnecessary amount of divisiveness and bitterness within the Third World Community.

The debate over whether the cultural centers will remain in the administrative domain of Housing Services or move over to Academic Support Services is a complex one in which perceived divergences of interest have pitted African Americans, Latino and Asian students against each other.

African Americans, who have had a stormy relationship with Housing Services over the administration of the Malcolm X Center, have good reason to be anxious to move to Academic Support Services, which is perceived as having a warmer relationship with that community.

At the same time, other Third World Communities, which have not had as long and tumultuous a history with Housing, have only the recent past to reflect upon as they ponder this question. Recent events, however, have brought a murky history of broken promises and bitterness between Academic Support Services and the Latino and Asian Communities. As such, these folks see no reason to switch over to a department that is not perceived as having dealt honestly with them.

These contradictions are serious, but not so much so as to put Third World students in conflict with each other. The contradictions are between students and administrators, not between students.

While the motives of the various administrators are unclear, it is apparent that the effect of the events of the last few months has been to divide and conquer Third World students.

It is time for administrators to stop using students as pawns in their Byzantine power games, and it is time that students stop allowing themselves to be pitted against and used against one another in the pursuit of other people's interests.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors

'No' on question saves RSOs

On March 13, the area governments will ask you, by means of a referendum question on the SGA election ballot, to increase their budget over 100 percent. Their campaign states that it puts the money back into the students' hands. What money are they talking about, and where will it come from?

The money comes from your student activities fee, which funds over 40 Registered Student Organizations such as WMUA, Union Video Center, Black Mass Communications Project, Third World Caucus, Legal Services and the LBGA.

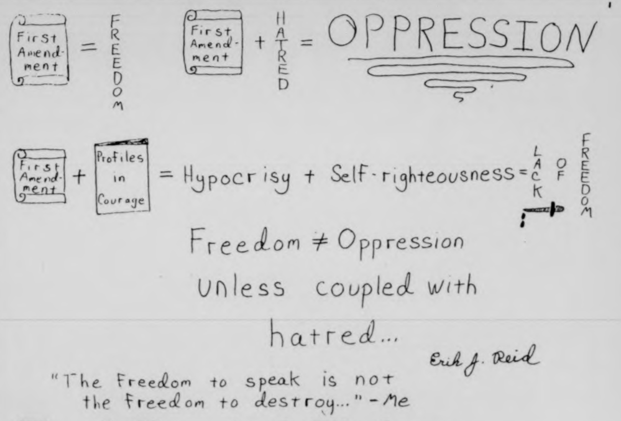
The increase that the area governments are asking for could slash the budget of every SATF-funded RSO by 30 percent. The area governments are not putting money into the students' hands — they're trying to take it out.

How does this affect you? Try to imagine a campus without a student-run radio station or cable station, no student businesses like Earthfoods, People's Market or Student Notes, no minority voice from the gay community, and no Legal Services.

Ask your area government why they need to double their funds and what they're spending money on. We urge you to get the facts about Referendum Question No.1, and to save your RSOs by voting NO.

Heather S. Bell
Spectrum
Richard Francey
LBGA

(Editor's note: nine other people signed this letter)



First Amendment = FREEDOM
First Amendment + HATRED = OPPRESSION
First Amendment + Profiles in Courage = Hypocrisy + Self-righteousness = LACK OF FREEDOM
Freedom ≠ Oppression unless coupled with hatred...
Erik J. Reid
"The Freedom to speak is not the freedom to destroy..." - Me

Foul Frosted Flakes

"We are committed to making the highest quality breakfast cereals available. We do not make generic or store-brand cereals. To insure Kellogg quality inside the box, make sure there is a Kellogg's label outside."

— excerpt from the back panel of a Frosted Flakes box.

Oh, the irony makes me bleed!

Frosted Flakes is religion to countless Americans. Each morning, breakfast disciples bow to Tony the Tiger, hoping he will provide them with essential vitamins and minerals.

Darren Garnick

It is a ritual that cannot be broken.

A colleague of mine recently confided that during serious Frosted Flake shortages, he pours sugar on his cornflakes until "the milk becomes so saturated that a sugary sludge forms at the bottom [of the bowl]."

To Frosted Flake loyalists, Tony stands for brass adventurism, an opportunity to have your cereal and eat it, too.

Imagine then, the grotesque shock I felt when I realized Tony almost murdered my roommate.

On a crisp winter morning not too far in the distant past, my roommate discovered a foreign object in his cereal bowl. It resembled a small chunk of limestone, no larger than his baby toe. After checking the Frosted Flakes box first to see if there was any special geology give-away going on, he concluded that it was indeed a foreign object.

"Parlez-vous francaise? Habla espanol?" he asked the object.

The object, whom my liberal roommate suspected was planted by the CIA in a plot to choke him, refused to talk.

So I contacted the Kellogg's Company to find out how this object eluded their security system. Mailing the death-stone to corporate headquarters in Battle Creek, Michigan, I demanded to find out its origins.

Dear Kellogg's: Yesterday morning, my roommate nearly choked on a petrified sugar nugget. I am sending the nugget along with this letter so you do not dismiss me as some kook.

I do not seek a refund. I cannot be silenced with a $3.59 corporate check. At issue here is trust. How do I know what lurks in a box of Honey Smacks, for instance? Will my roommate be able to digest a crystallized honey gallstone?

Please conduct an investigation on this matter. I will be happy to testify in court should you find any illegal hijinks going on in the quality control lab.

Sally Van Dongen, a Kellogg's agent in the consumer affairs division, said she apologized for any inconvenience my roommate's near-choking may have caused.

"Since Kellogg Company's beginning in 1906, our goal has been to provide consumers with wholesome, high-quality products," Van Dongen wrote. "From the delivery of raw material through the completion of finished goods, our manufacturing facilities enforce stringent quality control measures to insure high standards.

"Laboratory testing of the sample you returned revealed that the substance is an accumulation of sugar which may have stuck together inside the processing equipment. . . . We have forwarded this information to the appropriate company official for further investigation."

Laboratory testing? I sought an investigation of lab security. Why the hell are Kellogg scientists researching sugar blobs?

The two foreign countries I have been in, Israel and Mexico, have horrendous breakfast cereal selections. Probably because their scientists are too busy researching agriculture and solar power.

Darren Garnick is a Collegian columnist

The 'real' John Silber speaks

As the campaign for governor ensues, we (as voting citizens) should be looking at potential candidates very critically.

In the wake of fiscal crisis and racial tensions in the state of Massachusetts, one thing that was missing was leadership. We need a leader with an open-mind, intelligence and sensitivity. We need someone whom we know we can trust and who speaks with depth and sincerity.

John Silber is not one of these people.

Open-mind?: "Why has Massachusetts suddenly become so popular for people who are accustomed to living in the tropical climate? Amazing. There has got to be a welfare magnet going on here, and right now I am making a study to find out precisely what that magnet is." — Worcester Telegram and Gazette

What the hell kind of statement is this? Referring to a group of people as coming from a "tropical climate" displays ignorance and prejudice. And implying that immigrants are coming to Massachusetts for welfare is arrogant and stupid.

Intelligence?: Deborah Weinstein, executive director of Massachusetts Human Services Coalition, has said that welfare benefits are staying even and in many instances are declining as a result of the budget crisis.

In addition, of the 89,800 people receiving AFDC, the state's largest welfare entitlement, 54 percent are White, 24 percent are Hispanic, 18 percent are Black and 4 percent are other, some of which are Asians. — Worcester Telegram and Gazette

Wake up, John Silber! Before you go insinuating that Cambodians are coming here for welfare benefits, get the facts. Only 4 percent of those receiving welfare could be Cambodians.

Minu Sebastian

Sensitivity?: "Why should Lowell be the Cambodian capital of America? It is extraordinary. Why should they all be concentrated in one place? This needs to be examined." What needs to be examined is your mind, John Silber! Do you realize what you are saying? Your cynical and racist ideology disqualifies you from any kind of leadership role.

Depth?: "When you're speaking freely — as I am now — without the use of a text, I can obviously, quite easily say something that may manage to offend somebody . . ." — Boston Globe.

Wow. I guess what he's saying is that occasionally we can catch a glimpse of the real John Silber, but he'd rather we only pay attention to his manufactured self, when his media consultants have taught him what to say and how to say it.

Sincerity?: "I know as a candidate I should kiss your ass, but I haven't learned to do that with equanimity yet." — to reporters, Newsweek

I think this statement says it all. John Silber is in the process of learning how to say what we want to hear.

Instead of spending time trying to figure out how to manipulate us (his voters), he should examine his conscience, educate himself and rid himself of his racist, arrogant and cynical ideology.

He should be assuring communities that they will not be discriminated against and that all will be treated fairly and justly.

He should also be explaining how he proposes to get Massachusetts out of its fiscal mess.

What we need is a leader with intelligence, guts, compassion, sincerity and depth.

There is no room for ignorance, arrogance and apathy in the Statehouse.

The Statehouse has enough of that already.

Minu Sebastian is a Collegian columnist

In celebration of Jewish Arts Festival Month,
International Women's Week, and Purim....
B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation presents:

Storyteller
DIANE WOLKSTEIN
"The Story of Esther"

Thursday, March 8
7:30pm
Memorial Hall, UMass
Free

Pizza & Bowl Special

"Dugout Snack Shack"
Mon. & Wed. Nights
10 P.M. – Midnight

- 2 HOURS BOWLING
- ALL THE PIZZA YOU CAN EAT!

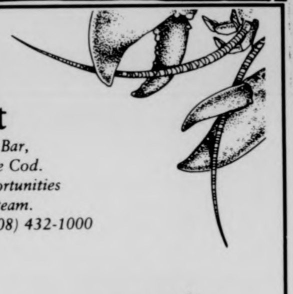
Only $5.00/Person

College Special
with college ID
Every Thurs. Night 9:00 p.m.—12:00 a.m.
3 Games of Bowling and Shoe Rental for
$4.00

Don't Miss Out
Call To Reserve Your Spot!
Northampton Bowl
525 Pleasant St.
584-4830



Summer!
Make it the Best

Work with us at Thompson's Clam Bar, the finest seaside restaurant on Cape Cod. We currently have outstanding opportunities for talented individuals to join our team. Candidates should call Cheryl at (508) 432-1000 to arrange an interview.

* Dining Room Waitstaff
* Cocktail Waitstaff
* Bartenders
* Bus Persons
* Porters
* Cashiers
* Dishwashers
* Prep Cooks
* Line Cooks

Thompson's CLAM BAR

Snow Inn Road • Harwichport, MA 02646 • 508-432-1000

Summer!
Make it the Best

Work with us at the Wychmere Harbor Hotel and Beach Club, the finest seaside resort on Cape Cod. We currently have outstanding opportunities for talented individuals to join our team. Candidates should call Cheryl at (508) 432-1000 to arrange an interview.

* Waitstaff (Full and Part Time)
* Security (Day and Night)
* Commissary
* Beach Attendants
* Receptionists
* Snack Bar
* Busing
* Porters
* Bellhops
* Front Desk Staff
* Cashiers
* Laundry
* Housekeeping
* Breakfast Cook
* Cold Prep
* Line Cooks
* Assistant Night Line Supervisor
* Dishwashers

WYCHMERE HARBOR
Hotel and Beach Club

Snow Inn Road • Harwichport, MA 02646 • 508-432-1000

BOARD OF GOVERNORS
Program Council
PRESENTS
CASINO NIGHT
TO BENEFIT
THE BRAIN TUMOR SOCIETY
Campuses Against Cancer

DATE: Thursday, March 8, 1990
TIME: 8:00 PM-1:00 AM
PLACE: Campus Center Auditorium
COST: $5.00 Admission - Does not include individual wagers at betting tables.
GAMES: Black Jack
Roulette
Wheel of Fortune
Craps
Chuck-A-Luck

LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
REFRESHMENTS & HORS D'OEUVRES WILL BE SERVED
WINNINGS AWARDED IN CASH
PROPER DRESS REQUESTED

CO-SPONSORED BY
THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY COLLEGIAN
99.3
Mr. Tux FORMAL WEAR SPECIALISTS SPRINGFIELD WEST SPRINGFIELD

PRODUCED BY JEFFREY D. GLASSMAN

AN EVENING WITH
J. CALIFORNIA COOPER

RECIPIENT OF THE 1988 JAMES BALDWIN AWARD FROM THE INTERNATIONAL BLACK WRITERS AND ARTISTS, INC.

Playwright & Author of three books of short stories:
A PIECE OF MINE
HOMEMADE LOVE
SOME SOUL TO KEEP

International Women's Day Observance
Thursday, March 8, 1990
Time: 7:00PM
Location: 163-164 Campus Center
University of Massachusetts

This program is free and open to the public.
For additional information contact:
545-2517

SPONSORS: Student Affairs Cultural Enrichment Fund * Commuter Collective * OTWA

ARTS & LIVING

Hampshire shines at film festival

By NOA BEN-YEHUDA
Collegian Correspondent

Hampshire College will be basking in the limelight at the 15th Annual New England Film/Video Festival's award ceremony next May.

Joan Braderman and Abraham Ravett, both media arts instructors at Hampshire, and Natalie Sternberg, former Hampshire student, won the kudos (and cash prizes that accompany them) of four prominent media arts critics during the three day festival judging, held at the Boston Film/Video Foundation.

Entries poured in from all six New England states. Along with many independent entrants, 14 schools were also represented. Of the eight awards given, half, totalling over $5,500 went to Hampshirites.

The fantastic success of Sternberg's video One Banana, Two Bananas was the surprise of the weekend. Upon hearing the great news from festival coordinator Pam Korza, Sternberg was choked up and could only say, "I can't believe it!" She began the video for an introductory video production class at Hampshire. Now it will be recognized as the year's Best of Festival and Outstanding Social Documentary. The subject of this moving piece is Natalie's mother, who because of Multiple Sclerosis was slowly deteriorating both mentally and physically. It was completed before her mother's death in January.

Critics used words like "raw," "powerful," and "daring" to describe One Banana, Two Bananas. It was unpretentious, pretention being one of the most common flaws found among the 254 works submitted.

The Boston Globe's Michael Blowen gave the newspaper's Critics Choice Award to Joan Braderman for her fast paced Thirty Second Spot, a blazing commentary on freedom of speech in America. Braderman delivers a colorful tirade for 11 minutes, barely breaking for breath.

The Globe is the festival's biggest supporter, donating $20,000 every year plus large amounts of publicity and free advertising.

Abe Ravett's black and white experimental documentary Everything's For You won the award for outstanding independent film. Footage of Abe's father is interspersed with everything from animation to segments of Abe and his infant son taking a shower. The narration is mostly in Yiddish with subtitles.

The judge's panel also included New York-based experimental video artist Edin Valez, BU film and video criticism professor Julie Levinson and African film expert Francoise Pfaff. Joan Braderman was a panelist last year.

Other winners included: Outstanding Independent Video, Marie France Alderman for Prayer Flags, Outstanding Independent Film, Assad Fouladkar for Kyrie Eleison/God Have Mercy, Outstanding Student Video and Jennifer Fuchel for Sammy Visits Boston Harbor.

The festival was created as a venue for media artists and media art students living of studying in the New England region. Screenings are scheduled for May 17 and 18 at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston and May 19 at Emerson College's Majestic Theater. For ticets and information contact the Arts Extension Service at 585-2360.

Baldwin by Baskin at the R. Michaelson

Starting Friday, the R. Michaelson Galleries in Amherst will be displaying portraits of James Baldwin and other works by Leonard Baskin. Reffered to as "one of the most important art events to come to the area," this exhibit proves to be a very special occasion as Baskin rarely shows his work in the Valley, his home area.

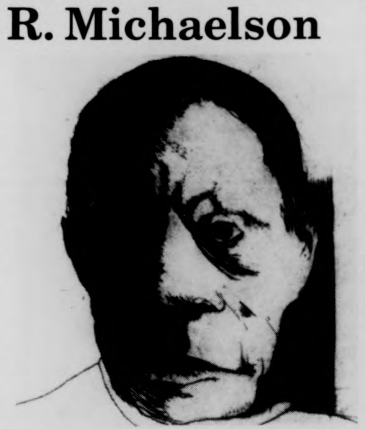
Baskin has been a dominant figure in the world of art for over 40 years as a sculptor, print-maker, watercolorist, essayist and book designer for the Gehenna Press. He is the recipient of numerous awards, including a Guggenheim Fellowship and a Tiffany Fellowship. His work is in the permanent collection of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, The Museum of Modern Art and The Vatican Museum in Rome among others.

Due to his admiration and respect for Leonard Baskin's work, James Baldwin donated a selection of his unpublished verse to the Gehenna Press. Unfortunately, Baldwin's untimely death halted the completion of the book.

As a memorial to James Baldwin, this work The Gypsy and Other Poems will be presented at the gallery along with Baskin's portraits of this influential American writer. Leonard Baskin will be present at the opening reception which is tonight from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the Amherst gallery.

As both Baskin and Baldwin have taught at the five colleges, this exhibit is more than a tribute to these accomplished, internationally recognized artists. It is also a celebration of a community which continues to thrive with artistic excellence.

— LINDA WOODS



Graphic courtesy of R. Michaelon Galleries

One of Baskin's portraits of Baldwin

Just a little 'Alternative' dickin' around

By RAYMOND CONNIFF
Collegian Correspondent

The Supreme Dicks and friends
Katina's
Thursday March 1

Speaking to a somewhat dead audience at the start of their set, lead guitarist and singer for the Caroline Know, Steve Rand quipped, "What you people don't realize is that we're the leading post-modern band in the Valley." Things lit up for this band several tunes later, and The Caroline Know ended their set with cries from the audience for more. In response the band played several hot encores.

Oat Pearl, with lead guitarist David Beaupre, and keyboardist Yvonne Pepez, entertained an enthusiastic audience with "Raised by Wolves," and a great finale, "Pink Flamingoes from Hell." Beaupre sounds like Robert Smith of the Cure and the music was exciting.

Finally The Supreme Dicks, featuring guitarists Sam Dylan, Dan Oxenberg and Stevie Shavel, bassist Rich Lee, drummers Mark Hanson and Ernie Gaffney, kazooist Rich Rushfield and vocalist "Wavy"Davey Taub performed a multi media rock show, complete with slides and 16mm film.

In honor of the anniversary of the Space Shuttle Challenger disaster, Rushfield, wearing a space helmet made of a lampshade adorned with tin foil, introduced the band members one by one as "Neil Aremstrong, Buzz Aldren," etc. Rushfield and Shavel played a duet of the theme from "2001: A Space Odyssey" on kazoo accompanied by slides of galaxies.

The Dicks then blasted their audience with "Show Me What You Like," a devastating cover of "American Woman" (Guess Who), and "Vegatable," the Dicks' love song to Karen Anne Quinlan. David Taub sang a stream of consciousness song about space travel and trancendence that included parts of Elton John's "Rocket Man" and David Bowie's "Star Man."

New York film maker Piero Heliczer, the "lost sixth member" of the Velvet Underground, was billed as a special guest, but power to the microphones was shut down by the management as he made his way on stage to address the audience.

The First 30 Years of Church History

6:30-8:00 PM

Wednesday March 7

Campus Center

United Christian Foundation

40+ MPG CARS!!

PELHAM AUTO SALES has good selection of extremely economical cars with EPA mileage ratings over 40 mpg and all priced BELOW Bluebook including:

1989 FORD FESTIVA L PLUS
A/C, tape deck, 8,000 mi
"Surprising Comfort in a Small Package"
#7329 $4995.00

1988 FORD FESTIVA LX
5 speed, tape deck, 26,000 mi
"Great Shape, Great Deal"
#7329 $3995.00

1988 HONDA CIVIC HATCHBACK
4 speed, A/C, 9000 mi
"Honda Dependability and 43 mpg"
#7688 $6395.00

"Seventeen Years of Automotive Experience"
PELHAM AUTO SALES
Open Mon.-Fri.
8 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Sat. 9 a.m.-1 p.m.
1315 Federal St.,
Rt. 9 Belchertown/Amherst Line
(at Pelham Auto Service),
253-9811 or 253-5435
"Limited Inventory UNLIMITED Integrity"

WITH THIS COUPON

FREE Second Pair of EYEGLASSES

(WITH PURCHASE OF A COMPLETE PAIR)

Buy one pair of glasses at our regular price and get the second pair of the same prescription from our special selection, ABSOLUTELY FREE! Includes first quality frames and single vision, clear, uncoated, 1st and 2nd division lenses. Offer precludes previous discounts.

Hampshire Mall
(across from K-Mart)
Hadley
584-8324

Vision Showcase

36 State St.
(near Bridge of Flowers)
Shelburne Falls
625-9898

Coupon expires April 4, 1990

Join The Commuter Collective

What does Ralph Nader have in common with Dennis Miller and Cesar Chavez?
He to will be brought to UMASS by commuters

Nomination Papers open for:

Treasurer, President, and Vice President
Seven governing Board seats open
(Papers Due March 12)

ALSO HIRING FOR WORKSTUDY AND NON-WORKSTUDY POSITIONS

Commuter Collective 404 Student Union 545-2145

THE
EDWIN M. ROSSMAN
ALUMNI CAREER FORUMS

DEPARTMENTS OF MICROBIOLOGY AND BIOCHEMISTRY

DATE: THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1990
TIME: 8:00 PM
LOCATION: CAMPUS CENTER 101

SPONSORED BY:

MATHER CAREER CENTER
ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
DEPARTMENT OF MICROBIOLOGY

This is an opportunity to meet with alumni and discuss their experiences in the working world. Don't miss this important panel discussion!

OPEN TO ALL STUDENTS IN THE BIOSCIENCES

WINE AND CHEESE WILL BE SERVED

ALUMNI PANELISTS:

Diane Crawford Biochemistry '88	Laboratory Technologist Children's Hospital Boston, MA
Rocco Iocco, DMD Microbiology, '81 Medical Technology '82	Private Dental Practice Lynnfield, MA
Joan Shankle Medical Technology '77	Manager of Regulatory Affairs & Compliance Seragen, Inc. Hopkinton, MA
Anita Arnum Microbiology '86	Emergency Medical Technician & Firefighter Acton, MA
Robert E. Burrier, Ph.D. Biochemistry '79	Senior Principal Scientist Shering-Plough Research Bloomfield, NJ

For more information, please contact:
Department of Microbiology 545-2553
Mather Career Center 545-2224

DISTINGUISHED
FACULTY
LECTURE SERIES

You are cordially invited to attend
a special lecture by
Jules Chametzky
Department of English
"Beyond Melting Pots, Cultural Pluralism, Ethnicity — or Deja Vu All Over Again"

The terms "melting pot," "cultural pluralism," and "ethnicity" — all invented in this century — have been widely used and often abused in efforts to define and comprehend the diversity of American life and culture. Current pressures to go "beyond" these categories are ambiguous, as no real "beyond" is discernable as regards the diverse and heterogenous elements in U.S. culture. Continuing social change and conflict call for flexibility and openness, and a sympathetic awareness of the historical fluidity of our interethnic and composite selves.

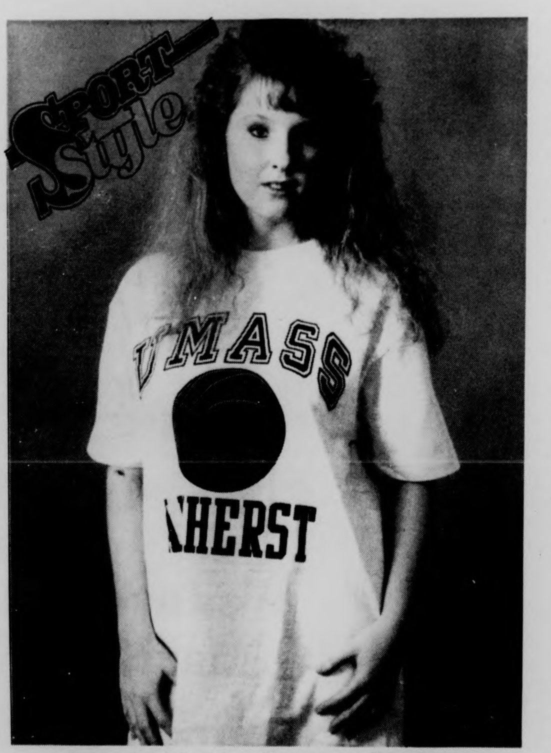
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Bowker Auditorium, March 8, 1990
8 P.M.

Reception immediately following, Faculty Club

Sponsored by contributions from alumni of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst

---

UNIVERSITY STORE



Located in the Campus Center
OPEN
M-F 9-5

Photo By
Buck Stewart

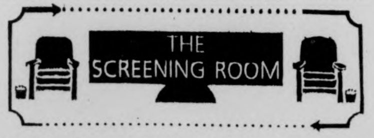
Making movie fluidity out of the pain of loss

By GEORGE LENTZ
Collegian Staff

There's a moment in Paul Brickman's Men Don't Leave when the little boy asks his mother if the hurt will ever go away. "About losing your dad?" she asks. "No," he says. "About losing you."

Men Don't Leave is more than just a film about dealing with the loss of a loved one; it's about being a survivor and dealing with the fear of losing whatever sense of stability you still have.

When her construction worker husband is killed in a gas explosion, Jessica Lange and her two sons, Chris O'Donnell and Charlie Korsmo, find their picturesque suburban life violently jolted. Left to pay off her husband's debts, Lange sells the house and heads to Baltimore where she finds work delivering luncheon baskets for a gourmet pasta shop.



Enter Arliss Howard, an amiable divorcee who befriends Lange when she spills her basket and his lunch at his modern music rehearsal. Howard is wonderful, channeling his attraction to Lange through his wit and understanding. His wanting to help her never crosses the line of interfering with her emotions; when she needs space, he backs down despite his desire to be closer to her.

But Howard's sensitivity isn't enough to free Lange from her fear of reinstating sexual intimacy. With her bearings gone, she slips into depression while her sons search out their own means of reentering the world. Seventeen-year-old O'Donnell gets into an odd relationship with screwball Joan Cusack while kid brother Korsmo finds shelter by living out old memories with a friend's family.

Although Brickman's images of suburban domesticity are idealistic, he balances them out with immensely appealing performances. He successfully avoids manipulative tear-jerker dialogue by getting more genuine emotions by letting his camera dwell on the faces of his actors. One look into Jessica Lange's empty eyes is enough to reveal the utter loneliness and heartbreak that is dwelling inside her. She has an understanding of facial expressions as a means of communicating emotions and is most effective in the scenes where she has no dialogue.

Complementing the film's engaging performances is Brickman's own unique style of composition. He doesn't just create a mood, he generates a feeling from the rhythm of his shot selection and music. His camera glides in slow-mo with such ballroom precision, we eagerly go along without skepticism, welcoming the images he has to show us. Brickman engages his topics (teenage paranoia and emotional survival) with the freshness of a fall breeze, stimulating our senses while awakening us to the lighter side of our fears and apprehensions.

Men Don't Leave is Brickman's first film since 1983's Risky Business and I only hope we don't have to wait another seven years before we hear from him again.

NOTES . . . Opening this week is the long awaited Rob Lowe film, Bad Influence. The film has been shrouded in controversy and interest since it sparks such strong comparisons with Lowe's sexual exploits in an Atlanta hotel room last year. In the film, Lowe plays a drifter who draws James Spader's yuppie exec into the L.A. underworld. The controversy surrounds a scene where Lowe videotapes Spader having sex. Written by USC grad David Koepp, Koepp insists the film was conceived long before Lowe's affairs were made public and that Lowe's casting in the film was purely coincidental and not a marketing strategy.

Photo courtesy of Triumph

Rob Lowe, being a Bad Influence

Sunday's pop fun

By DARREL WAUGH
Collegian Correspondent

Forming in early 1988 and debuting in the British club scene that same summer, pop band The Sundays' distinctive sound quickly created enough hype to land them on the cover of the "Melody Maker" in January of 1989. It was apparent that they had quickly become the latest "next big thing," though they didn't release their first single till the end of that month: "Can't Be Sure" b/w "I Kicked a Boy." Supporting Throwing Muses on their winter 1989 tour of Britain gave them the chance to live up to the expectations suggested by those two tracks.

Numerous local gigs later, the band entered the studio last August, and proceeded to work till October on what was released last month as Reading, Writing, and Arithmetic. It's safe to say that the album's title is the only lame part of this effort.

A first hearing of The Sundays immediately conjures up comparisons to their now-defunct label-mates, The Smiths and, yeah, the initial elements are all there: polished, chiming acoustic guitar pushed up front, steady bass and drum-kit sound keeping time: pristine and perfect pop music. But comparisons end right there. Whereas the horribly pretentious singer/songwriter Morrissey whines out gloomy self-indulgent laments, lead Sunday Harriet (and isn't it about time there's a "Harriet" in the pop scene?) Wheeler's pure, rich, and sometimes child-like voice positively soars over the razor-sharp mix. How else to describe their sound; Cocteau's with words and hooks? Sugarcubes meet the Darling Buds? Hmmm, maybe.

The lyrics speak of celebration of life's beautiful bits and pieces amidst the ordinary, yet they never delve into cliche territory. Standout tunes like "My Finest Hour" ("My finest hour/ was finding a pound/ on the underground") and "Here's Where the Story Ends" ("People I know/ places I go/ make me feel tongue-tied") are tremendously exciting. From the opening strains of the droning and oddly catchy "Skin and Bones" to the final longings of "Joy," the band perfectly captures and transfers a sense of exuberance, wonder and yearning. Actually, "joy" and "joyous" are probably the most fitting words I can use to describe The Sundays and their music.

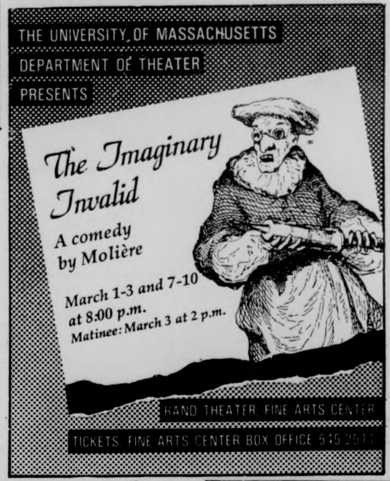
When's the tour?

RESTAURANT
classé café
BAKERY

NOW SERVING WINE & BEER
with the Valley's Best Burgers
(Vegetarian Burgers Too!)
Homemade Desserts
Soups & Salads

Monday - Saturday 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Sunday Brunch 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.

168 N. Pleasant St., Amherst, MA 253-2291



THE UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
DEPARTMENT OF THEATER
PRESENTS
The Imaginary Invalid
A comedy by Molière
March 1-3 and 7-10
at 8:00 p.m.
Matinee: March 3 at 2 p.m.
RAND THEATER, FINE ARTS CENTER
TICKETS, FINE ARTS CENTER BOX OFFICE 545-2511

UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICES
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS/AMHERST

NOTICE

There is a large outbreak of MEASLES in Florida, California and Texas at present. All Students going to these areas over Spring Break should check their measles immunization status before going, with their private physician at home.

You should have two immunizations, the 1st immunization should have been at 12 months of age or after. If it was before 12 months of age, it does not count.

The 2nd immunization should have been received any time after one month following the first immunization.

It is important that you have the two documented doses to consider yourself adequately immunized before going to a high risk area.

UHS will be providing a Special Immunization Clinic on Monday and Tuesday, March 12 and 13, 8:30 a.m.—12 noon and 1:00—4:00 p.m.

Please call to schedule an appointment 549-2600.

THERE WILL BE A $20.00 CHARGE FOR IMMUNIZATION

A.J Lardner, RN
Public Health Nurse

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

Legal Services has positions available for legal assistant interns for the Fall 1990 semester. This is a challenging opportunity for students from a variety of majors and disciplines to gain valuable legal experience.

Responsibilities include:
- client interviewing
- attendance at hearings
- preparation of court forms
- maintenance of continuing caseload
- investigations and research

Legal-Services-Center
university of massachusetts, amherst, ma. 01003

Up to 15 credits may be earned. Apply early! Contact Legal Services, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995. Start the application process today!

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

Central Area Government is now accepting applications for a Student Judiciary Position. Submit name to B22 Baker in Central Area

Mime speaks out on the creative process

By NICK OSTIS
Collegian Correspondent

Robert Rivest evokes the tenderness of a child, the tenacity of a mountain climber and the philosophical nature of a grandparent. He knows exactly what he wants and speaks volubly, which is slightly ironic because he is a mime. From March 8-10 at 8 p.m. in the Music and Dance Building at Hampshire College, he will present a 90 minute program of his current works, ranging from the outrageous "Wide World of Sports" to the poignant "Slave Ship."

In addition, he will world premiere "Creation/Evolution," "A work that explores the relationship of various creation myths and evolutionary theory."

Speaking of evolution, but a personal evolution, Rivest, who has been delighting audiences professionally for a decade, says, "I have been trying to put limits and boundaries and definition to mime, but most recently I'm not. I realize the boundaries are as wide as dance. The performance will be a variety within the art of mime because I've studied under seventeen different performers between mime, theater and dance. So you'll see a fusion of the three which I don't think anyone else is doing. What I'm trying to do is show the human experience; the joy of life but also the struggle."

Robert Rivest before

As a youngster, Rivest was attracted to comedy, particularly that of George Carlin, Steve Marin and later, Red Skelton.

"At that time I was doing a lot of voices. I could do cartoon characters, but I was also acting out all these comic riffs with funny business, funny movement. Later on, I started taking dance classes and that wasn't it. Some people said, 'Man, you're a natural mime. Why don't you take mime?' I started taking mime and I fell in love with it. I found out in this medium, I felt so natural. In this one and a half hour program, that's home. I feel I can't do wrong in that space."

The Connecticut-born Hampshire College student aims to accomplish one principal goal in his craft. "I perform because I'm trying to share. I love living and I love what I've seen. We all have our own inner worlds that we take from the outer world. Every day I get images, ideas and thoughts and I like to share these. I like also to look at myself and laugh at the things I've done that are funny or human."

As is the case with most performers in any endeavor, the audience is important to Rivest, who has studied with mime's most illustrious performer, Marcel Marceau, and its' most highly regarded instructor, Maximilen DeCroux.

"It's magic for me that in total silence I can be with 500 or 600 people and they'll know exactly what I'm doing. They'll laugh at the same time the audience before did and project an intense silence during the most dramatic piece. To know these people are with me, not because of sound, props or images they've seen on a TV screen, but just because of my movement and expressions — that they are with me in that moment — that's incredible."

Rivest understands why some people have misconceptions about mime or might never attend a show such as his.

"People have seen it on TV, but mime is a living art, a performance art and so when you see it on TV that's missing. The mime creates magic, but people who are watching TV say, I've seen more than this done with special effects, so that magic isn't there. Also, people have seen street performers who have been obnoxious or haven't been trained well, They're not pursuing the art of mime but more the gimmick."

"People come up to me after almost every performance and say, 'I don't like mime, but I like what your do,' so that tells me people aren't aware of what the art form is or what can be done with it."

A breakthrough is imminent. He feels strongly that he is attaining another level as a performer. Anything could happen. And soon. However, he doesn't care to abandon the classes and workshops he conducts. "People always say, 'I love what you do but I could never do it.' So people are afraid of the classes. What I'd like to see is people take mime classes the same way they take dance classes. Not always to become a dancer, but to move creatively. To move the spirit, to condition the body, to use the imagination and creativity. Because the mime classes offer improvisation. Not to become mimes, just to enjoy."

The Robert Rivest Mime Theater is at 90 Metacomet St. in Belchertown and the phone number is 323-4094.

Photos by Robert Rivest

. . . and after

THE SPOKE
Drink Specials
Drink of the Week
Kamikazee $1.60
Beer of the Month
Molson Golden Bottles $1.60
Every Tuesday Night
Raffles - Hats, T-shirts, glasses & much more
Wednesday Night
Free Food! 7 PM-?
A Drinkery:
To Meet, Relax & Enjoy
* Proper ID required
35 E. Pleasant Street

Central Area Government is now accepting nomination papers for Officer positions
Pick them up outside B22 Baker
Due Wednesday March 28, 1990

TWISTERS TAVERN
The Uptown Alternative!
Wed Reggae Night MARCH 7
New Horizons
Thurs College Night MARCH 8 with the
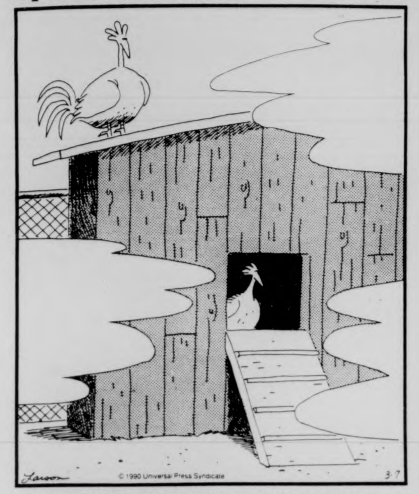
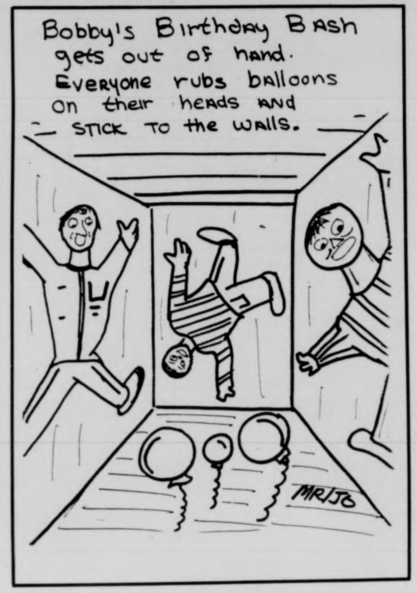
RAY MASON BAND
FREE ADMISSION with COLLEGE I.D.
Danceable Rock & Roll
FRI SOUTH END MARCH 9
JAZZ BAND
7-10 pm
SAT WORLD BEAT MARCH 10
NIGHT
All the way from Brazil
YES BRAZIL!
Hot Salsa Band
Great Food Served Daily
Are you turning 21?
Twister's would like to buy you lunch or dinner. Call for info. Reservations required.
30 Boltwood Walk Amherst, MA 01002 • 253-2663

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



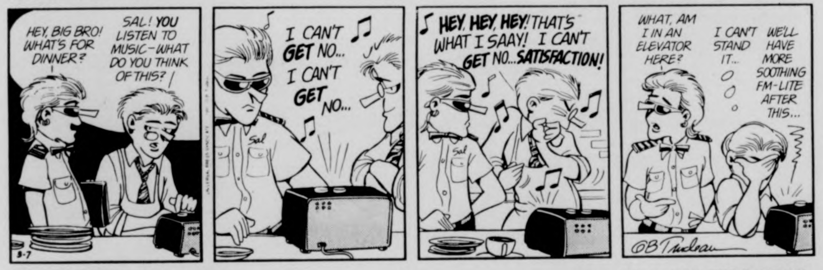
The rooster stared back at me, his power and confidence almost overwhelming. Down below, a female paused warily at the coop's entrance. I kept the camera running. They were beautiful, these "Chickens in the Mist."

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



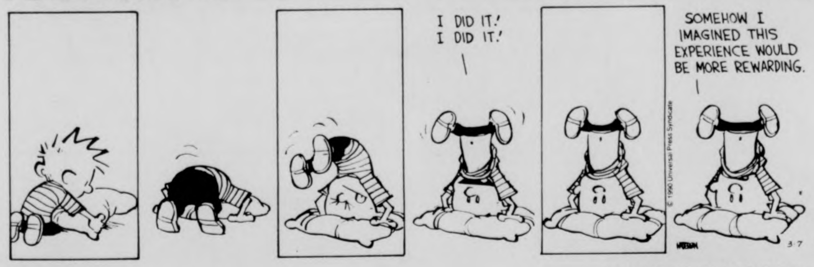
Bobby's Birthday Bash gets out of hand. Everyone rubs balloons on their heads and stick to the walls.
MR/JG

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



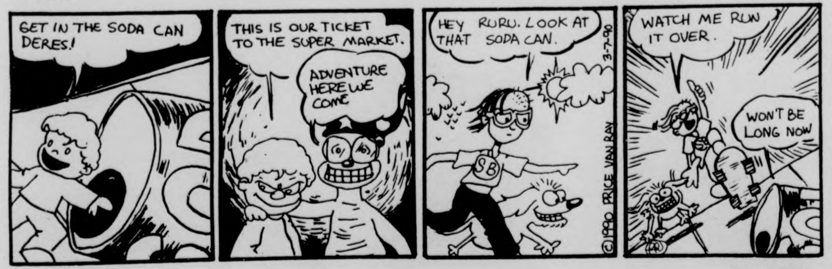
HEY, BIG BRO! WHAT'S FOR DINNER?
SAL! YOU LISTEN TO MUSIC—WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THIS?
I CAN'T GET NO... I CAN'T GET NO...
HEY, HEY, HEY! THAT'S WHAT I SAAY! I CAN'T GET NO...SATISFACTION!
WHAT, AM I IN AN ELEVATOR HERE?
I CAN'T STAND IT...
WE'LL HAVE MORE SOOTHING FM-LITE AFTER THIS...
Sal
3-7
©B Trudeau

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



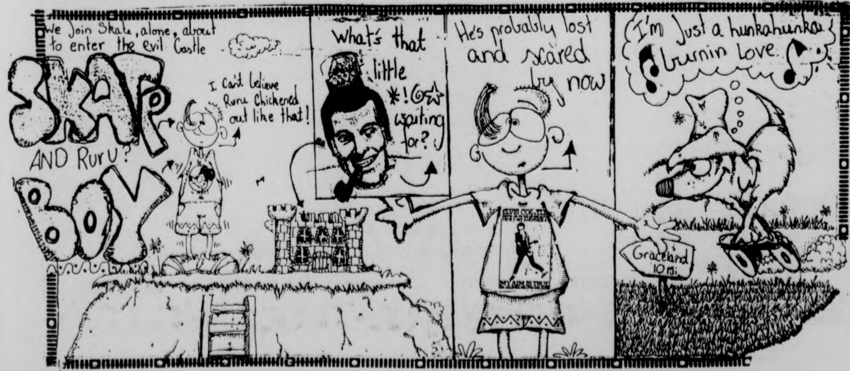
I DID IT! I DID IT!
SOMEHOW I IMAGINED THIS EXPERIENCE WOULD BE MORE REWARDING.
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
WATTERSON
3-7

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



GET IN THE SODA CAN DERES!
THIS IS OUR TICKET TO THE SUPER MARKET.
ADVENTURE HERE WE COME
HEY RURU. LOOK AT THAT SODA CAN.
3-7-90
© 1990 PRICE VAN RAY
SB
WATCH ME RUN IT OVER.
WON'T BE LONG NOW

NIPPLE
By PITT



We Join Skate, alone, about to enter the evil Castle
SKATE
AND RURU?
BOY
I Can't believe Ruru Chickened out like that!
What's that little *!@☆ waiting for?
He's probably lost and scared by now
I'm Just a hunkahunka burnin love.
Graceland 10 mi

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

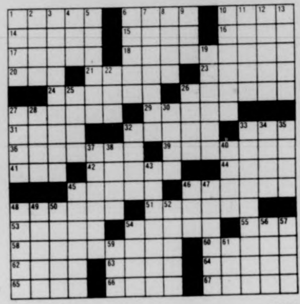
ACROSS
1 Factions
6 "La Douce"
10 Spill the beans
14 Luigi's love
15 Existing
16 Lifeline, e.g.
17 Armed forces careerist
18 Helicopter
20 Mischievous child
21 Climbing plants
23 Saltpetre
24 Football figure
26 Most ancient
27 Poorly defined
29 Parts of the street scene
31 Tears
32 Olive family trees
33 Word with faced or fisted
36 One more
39 Beg
41 Gain possession
42 Render harmless
44 Notorious spy of WW I
45 Large constrictor
46 Lucky strikes
48 Mel and Mont
51 Wilde play
53 Pain: Comb. form
54 Woman's coverup
55 Much-used article
58 Must for a camper
60 Parts of fences
62 Augury
63 The Louvre's Mona
64 Cove
65 Denials, in Dogpatch
66 Person of the courts: Abbr.
67 Miss Quested in "A Passage to India"

DOWN
1 Store sign
2 Jannings of the screen
3 Java container
4 Three, to Pavarotti
5 Tennis player, at times
6 Goddess of peace
7 Governors
8 Reading material, for short
9 Vestment for the clergy
10 Pigtails
11 Lehmann or Lenya
12 Copycats
13 Atelier wear
19 Go into service
22 Poison —
25 Continue
26 Beasts of burden
27 Blow one's horn
28 Party policy
30 Attention-getting sound
32 Composer Khachaturian
33 Whistler in the kitchen
34 Merchandise
35 Name in elevators
37 Part of a wheel
38 Baseball's Slaughter
40 Baba au —
43 Most adventurous
45 Negative particles
46 Winter ailment
47 Actor Robert —
48 Roger or Francis
49 Animal of the Andes
50 Spiro —
52 Body of soldiers
54 State of agitation
56 Cad
57 ¿Como —?
59 Guido high note
61 Ampersand

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

S	E	D	A	N	■	S	A	Y	I	T	■	P	A	M
E	V	E	R	T	■	P	L	A	C	E	■	I	T	O
E	A	R	T	H	Q	U	A	K	E	S	■	E	A	R
S	N	E	E	■	U	R	I	S	■	T	R	A	L	A
■	■	■	R	O	E	S	■	■	R	E	A	L	L	Y
S	N	A	I	L	S	■	E	G	E	R	I	A	■	■
N	O	M	A	D	■	F	L	E	E	S	■	M	O	A
E	S	E	L	■	F	A	D	E	S	■	M	O	W	N
G	E	N	■	P	E	T	E	R	■	L	A	D	L	E
■	■	C	A	R	E	E	R	■	F	I	N	E	S	T
P	H	O	N	E	D	■	■	H	I	E	D	■	■	■
R	O	R	Y	S	■	D	I	A	D	■	A	L	E	C
I	N	N	■	S	E	I	S	M	O	G	R	A	P	H
D	O	E	■	E	A	G	L	E	■	N	I	N	E	A
E	R	R	■	R	U	S	E	S	■	U	N	D	E	R

3/7/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/7/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Pizza	Scrod Sweet and Sour Chicken
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Pizza	Scrod Vegetables with dill

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES(March 21-April 19): In a strange way, your competitors help you land new contracts! A loan comes through without a hitch. Romance may contain some problems. Time and patience will help heal a recent misunderstanding.

TAURUS(Aprio 20-May 20): Try not to be so demanding. You will lose your bounce unless you lighten your load. Cut down on night life and concentrate on work that can advance your career. Avoid overindulgence.

GEMINI(May 21-June 20): During the next few days, you will tend to view life through rose colored glasses. A stronger appreciation for art and music is part of the picture. Devote more time to self-improvement activities.

CANCER(June 21-July 22): It is never too late to build a foundation for the future. Be more open when talking with a child. A loving heart is a special gift. You profit from someone else's mistakes.

LEO(JUly 23-Aug.22): Improving your personal appearance could win you that special job. "Woman power" affects the outcome of a competition. Travel is best postponed. A platonic relationship intensifies.

VIRGO(Aug.23-Sept.22): Take control of a situation that could affect your future before it is too late. Redouble your efforts to reach a cherished goal. Travel is favored. The arts influence your outlook and your spending.

LIBRA(Sept.23-Oct.22): There are many things you can do to improve your work record before an important decision is made. Listen to the advice of experts. Your romantic partner makes a request you should honor.

SCORPIO(Oct.23-Nov.21): This is no time to act laid back. Strike out in new directions! You now have the Midas touch when it comes to making money. Purchase adequate homeowner's insurance.

SAGITTARIUS(Nov.22-Dec.21): Your goals are suddenly within your grasp. Do not leave a single stone unturned if in need of a loan. Help will come from a close friend. Communication between family members improves.

CAPRICORN(Dec.22-Jan.19): You have a better chance of reconciling with a friend or relative now. Your skills and perceptive observations are exactly what an influential person wants. You shine at a special meeting or party.

AQUARIUS(Jan.20-Feb.18): If romantic partner blows hot and cold, back off for a while. Attention to detail is essential if you are to achieve your business goals. A flight of fancy triggers an idea.

PISCES(Feb.19-March 20): A new pet could do wonders for your spirits. You will enjoy pursuing new interests. A Sagittarian brings wonderful humor into your life! Try a different approach. Look for the good in people.

TODAY'S STAFF
Night Editor........................Janine Warner
Copy Editor..........................Adrienne Matt
Layout Technician...................Chris Ashe
Photo Technician......................K.A. Burke
Production Supervisor...............Chris Ashe
Typesetter...................................Sue Kent
Production......Mike Scott, Paul Specht, Meg Trudell, Michael DeLorey

UM student in calendar

By NICOLE BAKER
Collegian Correspondent

Although Carrie Collins had no prior modeling experience, she was chosen to be Miss April in the First Annual 1990 College Women of Spring Break Calendar, to be sold in Florida during spring break.

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

Civil engineering major Carrie Collins will appear as Miss April in the 1st Annual 1990 College Women of Spring Break Calendar.

Collins, a senior civil engineering student at the University of Massachusetts, will appear in the calendar featuring 14 full-time college women selected from colleges on the East Coast.

In January Carrie said she saw an advertisement in U. The National College Newspaper to model for the calendar. She said she had never modeled before, but had a portfolio and decided to give it a trv.

"I never thought I would be called. I really was quite surprised. My parents are estatic and my friends are also getting a kick out of saying they know Miss April."

In July Carrie met with photographer Wayne Pearsell in Hyannis, where she was living for the summer.

"I used different backgrounds like the ocean and seagulls. I brought my own bathing suits and also used props such as a hat and balloons," Collins said.

"I really didn't think it was for real," Collins said. "I sent in some pictures and information just to give it a try."

The calendar search focused on finding attractive "real" students and not professional models.

Collins applied along with 25 other students from UMass and was notified in March.

"Right now I'm trying to save up money to make it down to Daytona," she said. In travelling to Florida, Collins said she will try to help public relations by signing the calendars.

Collins said she will try to have the calander sold on the Campus Center Concourse.

Man arrested at stadium

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

James M. Roberts, 19, of Coolidge Residence Hall, was arrested Monday in E Lot at the Warren G. McGuirk Stadium for breaking and entering with intent to commit a misdemeanor. He was also charged with attempted larceny.

NARCOTICS VIOLATION

- Police investigated a narcotics complaint Monday on the ninth floor of the John Adams Residence Hall. A show cause hearing will be sought in district court.

ANNOYING BEHAVIOR

- A man reported to police Monday that he was approached on two occasions by a male subject who made derogatory remarks to him. Police located the subject and warned him about his behavior.

LARCENY

- Staff at the Hampshire Dining Commons reported Monday the theft of a chair. Value: $150.

- Faculty in Bartlett Hall reported that a desk was broken into and keys were taken. The coffee fund, containing $20, was also taken.

- A man reported that he left his calculator in a classroom in Hasbrouck on March 1. When he returned the calculator was not there. Value: $200.

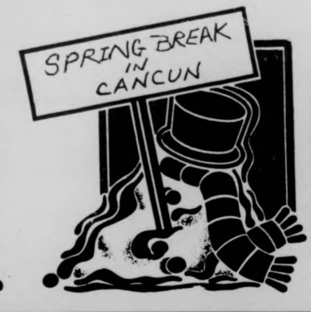
VANDALISM

- The janitorial staff in Melville Residence Hall reported graffiti written on walls and a blackboard.

NEWS PAPER HERE
BOTTLES
CANS
Recycle cans here

CANS
Bottle

SPRING BREAK IN NOME, ALASKA

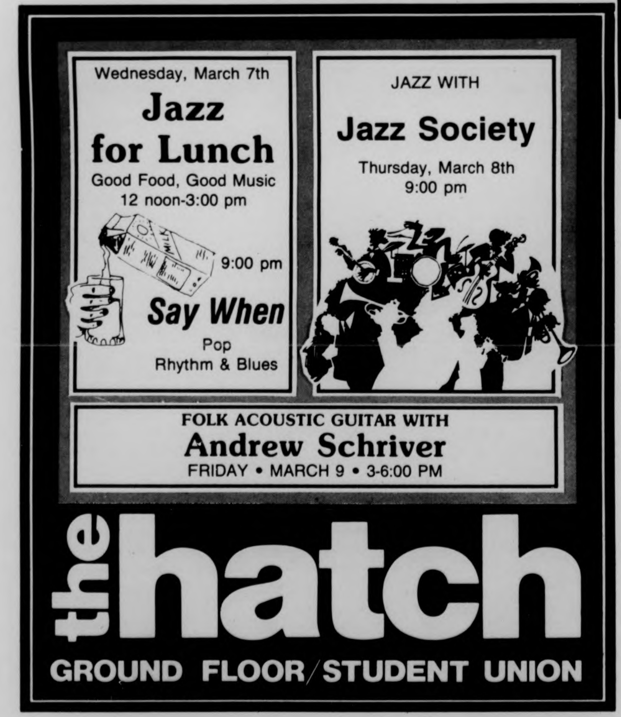


Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

Self Serve Typewriters
kinko's®
the copy center
220 N. Pleasant St.
253-2543

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
TOLL FREE HOT LINE 800-351-0222
in Calif. (213) 477-8226
Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information
11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

AMHERST CINEMA
THE MUSIC BOX
PG13
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week
$2.50 with student I.D.
253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA



Wednesday, March 7th
Jazz for Lunch
Good Food, Good Music
12 noon-3:00 pm
9:00 pm
Say When
Pop Rhythm & Blues

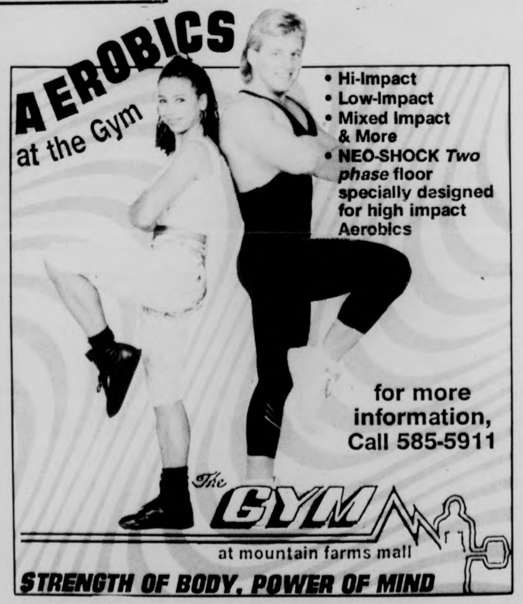
JAZZ WITH
Jazz Society
Thursday, March 8th
9:00 pm

FOLK ACOUSTIC GUITAR WITH
Andrew Schriver
FRIDAY • MARCH 9 • 3-6:00 PM

the hatch
GROUND FLOOR/STUDENT UNION



AEROBICS
at the Gym
- Hi-Impact
- Low-Impact
- Mixed Impact & More
- NEO-SHOCK Two phase floor specially designed for high impact Aerobics

for more information, Call 585-5911
The GYM
at mountain farms mall
STRENGTH OF BODY, POWER OF MIND

A-10 tourney notes

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 16

slicing through the lane for a lay-up to give the Scarlet Knights an 80-79 win.

- The statistical wonder of the tournament was Temple's performance Sunday against Duquesne, in which the Owls committed only six fouls and three turnovers. In stark contrast, Penn State matched those numbers in a span of 6:17 to start the second half against UMass.

- Among those spotted at the Palestra Sunday were Los Angeles Clipper stars Danny Manning and Charles Smith. Manning (Kansas) and Smith (Pittsburgh) both played under Calipari, and Smith is a cousin of UM forward Harper Williams. The two were in town with the Clippers, who lost to the Philadelphia 76ers Monday night, 128-105.

women's hoop vs. Rutgers

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 16

Like most opponents have done this year, Rutgers figures to come out and press UMass. When the two teams played in January Rutgters forced 29 UMass turnovers. The Minutewomen have had trouble handling pressure this season but got the job done Monday night.

"We kept our composure against [St. Bonaventure] and that allowed us to break their press," said Hewelt.

Not many people (anyone?) give UMass a chance of winning tonight. After all, Rutgers has flirted with the top 25 all season. And UMass? — well, they only won a single league game all season. What chance could they possibly have?

Stranger things have happened. Just ask the St. Bonaventure players.

Gathers remembered

LOS ANGELES (AP) — More than 8,000 friends, family members and classmates gave basketball star Hank Gathers a final, thunderous ovation yesterday on the same court where he played his last game.

"Every time I pick up a basketball for the rest of my life, Hank will be there with me," said Bo Kimble, Gathers' friend and teammate at Loyola Marymount University. Gathers died Sunday after collapsing during a game.

"It's so difficult right now to be here speaking of my beloved friend and brother," Kimble said during the memorial and Mass at the Catholic university. "Hank, I love you so much, you mean the world to me. I know Hank would want to hear one more cheer here in his house."

The crowd at Loyola Marymount's Albert Gersten Pavilion then rose to their feet, cheered and applauded for several minutes. Gathers' mother, Lucille Gathers, rushed to the front and hugged Kimble.

Less than 72 hours earlier, Gathers had collapsed on the court. He was pronounced dead less than two hours later in a nearby hospital.

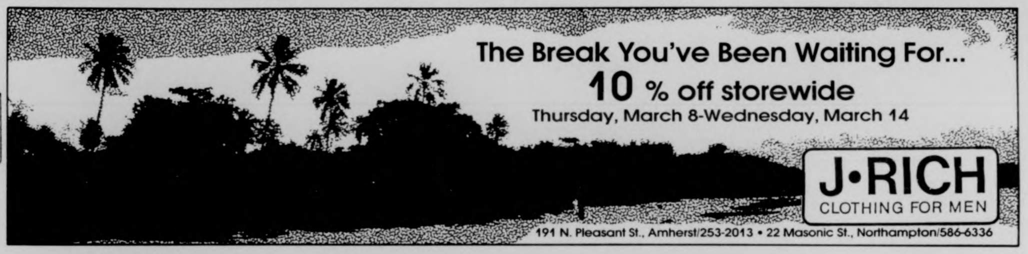
Gathers, who fainted during a game on Dec. 9 and was diagnosed as having an irregular heart beat, was 23. The cause of death has not yet been determined.

Gathers was remembered by the Rev. Thomas Higgins as a stirring player who battled to overcome an impoverished and disadvantaged background.

After reciting a passage from Hamlet, Higgins turned the words to fit Gathers.

"What a piece of work was Hank," Higgins said. "Hank was a very bright, intelligent man. He didn't have many educational advantages. It took courage to go to class, but Hank was a hero every day."

Recycle this COLLEGIAN



The Break You've Been Waiting For...
10 % off storewide
Thursday, March 8-Wednesday, March 14
J•RICH
CLOTHING FOR MEN
191 N. Pleasant St., Amherst/253-2013 • 22 Masonic St., Northampton/586-6336

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8 30-3 30,FRI 8 30-2 30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE. 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

FINANCE & INVESTMENT CLUB
Meeting of old and new officers
Wednesday, March 7 at 7:30 in SBA 109

FIND OUT ABOUT a Trip To Broadway at the UMASS Music Theatre Guild Meeting tonight at 7:00 in CC Rm. 165-169

HAVE A MOST EXCELLENT SPRING BREAK! Steamboat Killington Jamaica Barbados. Bodacious trips at most triumphant prices. UMASS Ski Club 545-3437

JEWISH STUDENTS: Remember to fast on The Fast of Esther. From tomorrow dawn until 6:25 PM Remember the miracles!

LEISURE STUDIES AND RESOURCES
Committee meeting: Wednesday March 7 at 7:00 PM in Hills 105

ROCK THE GLOBE!
Party, Friday, Mary Lyon Lounge 9-1 AM All Welcome! Free Refreshments
VSA- Moi cac ban den choi.

SNPS Why go uptown? Stay on campus for all your copy needs
401 Student Union Building Weekdays 9-5

TAE KWON DO CLUB
Learn self-defense & teamwork
Mon. & Wed. 6:30 - 8:30 PM
For info call Pete 6-5245 or Marty 6-4078

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ANYONE INTERESTED IN Uechiryu Karate Please contact Mike 546-9340 Sherry 542-2572 or Michelle 542-3051

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

MORTAR BOARD MEETING
Tuesday March 13th at 7 PM in SOM 112
Call 256-1062 if you have a conflict

TRI-SIGMA OPEN RUSH!!
Come for dinner and a housetour! March 5th-8th at 5:15 PM Call 545-1224
JUST DO IT!

AUDIO

PIONEER CAR STEREO w/60W Amp and EQ. New was 700.00 asking 475.00 584-3421

CASINO NIGHT

THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS Program Council Presents Casino Night to benefit The Brain Tumor Society's Program Campuses Against Cancer.
Thursday March 8. 8 PM - 1 AM
Campus Center Auditorium
Winnings awarded in cash!
Refreshments and Hors D'oeuvres will be served.

AUTO FOR SALE

1980 HONDA CIVIC good condition. Little rust. Runs great. Best offer. Call Sharan 546-6765

1986 HONDA CIVIC FOR SALE. $3500 Exc. condition. 546-6831

GREAT IDEA! Free transportation Spring Break roomy Buick Regal low miles AC new brakes split cost take trip resell 650. Call 549-2606

HONDA ACCORD LX-81 for sale air, stereo/cass Excellent body and runs perfect $1390 Call Barb at 665-8240

IS IT TRUE...... Jeeps for $44 through the Government? Call for facts! 1-708-742-1142 Ext. 5931-A

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club. Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

ROCK THE HOUSE with D.J. Johnny Jamma. Funk, House, Rap Very affordable. Call 549-4479

FOR RENT

HALF A HOUSE two blocks from campus $275 inclusive 549-4183

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR SALE

AMPLIFIER EG 60 WATTS Hardly used Call Joe 549-4146 $135

BAR W/STOOLS 70.00, Busch Neon 60.00 Typewriter electric 50.00 584-3421

CLASSIC T-SHIRTS Where the Wild Things Are-UMASS $10 546-9260

COM.64: Keyboard, Disk Drive, Printer Modem, TV, w/manuals. Hundreds of programs. $500 BO Call 546-6788

IBM PORTABLE PC w/printer & printer adaptor. Call Bob 546-9619- $1150/or B.O.

PIONEER TOWER SPEAKERS, 150W, $150/pr., firm. Call Mike at 549-7615

HAPPY 21ST!

BETSEY BOO- Happy Happy Birthday, Baby! You're legal, it's not fair. I hope that you do not neglect us minors, cuz we still love ya! -Jenny & 12A

HEATHER GRANT

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to the best roommate ever! Thanks for all you've done! I'm not even going to warn you about Madam Dogface...Remember: Te quiero, es necessario! Here's to many great times to come w/the rest of the G's!! Only 2½ months to go!! Love, Joya

HELP WANTED

ATTENTION: EXCELLENT INCOME for home assembly work. Info Call 504-646-1700 Dept. P1307

ATTENTION SORORITIES, FRATERNITIES, AND STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS!!!
Earn up to $2000 in one week helping with on and off campus marketing projects. Call immediately. Space is limited. Stuart 549-1864. Leave a message.

CAMP COUNSELOR
Have the summer of your life and get paid for it. Top 3-camps organization in the Pocono Mountains of NE PA. Our 59th year. Positions in all areas-water and land sports, fine arts and outdoor adventure. Please call 1-800-533-CAMP (215-887-9700 in PA) or write 407 Benson East, Jenkintown, PA 19046

COUNSELORS WANTED. Trim downfitness, co-ed NYS camp. 100 positions: sports, crafts, many others. Camp Shane, Ferndale, NY 12734 (914) 292-4045

HELP WANTED PART TIME/full time Waitress. Please call Hunan Gourmet at 585-0202.

LOOKING FOR A Fraternity, Sorority or Student Organization that would like to make $500-$1,000 for a one week On-Campus Marketing Project. Must be organized and hardworking. Call Elizabeth or Myra at (800) 592-2121.

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SMALL VERMONT CAMP for girls seeks committed counselors in horsemanship, watersports, photography, wilderness trips, and more. Sherry Osborn Camp Catherine Capers, 25 Shawmut Ave, Apt. UM, Wayland, MA 01778 (508) 650-1866.

SPRING BREAK IN AMHERST? Telefund needs energetic students to raise $ over Spring Break and the rest of 2nd semester. Make $5 to $7/hr. Call 545-3509.

SUMMER COUNSELORS
Outstanding NYS Co-ed
Resident Camp
Specialist/General
Gail 549-1331

SUMMER ON CAPE COD - Free room and board in exchange for child care. 30 hr. week. Call Jennifer at 508-771-0412

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

KAREN T.

YOU ARE EVERYTHING a treasurer and friend could be. Looking forward to being even happier-ethereal joy and thank you. Me

LOST

LOST BLACK SPORT COAT at Thur. Semi-formal in CC Please call 6-4708 evening

KILLINGTON CHALET

ROOMS FOR RENT includes cooking facilities, Color TV, VCR $50. per person per weekend Eve 548-9116

MAKE MONEY

SELL MY EARRINGS on commission, make xtra cash! Call Heather 549-1674

PERSONALS

4TH FLOOR CANCE: To everyone who's been here to comfort me-especially Sherry-I want to thank you. Also, Paul Kernan and my brother John- All the support helped me more than I can say.
Thanks, Beth
J.V.O.-I Will Miss You

ATTENTION SILLIES
Party SSEB this weekend
Whadda ya think?

CELIA MARIA MIGUEL CAJUDA - Happy 20th Roses are red, Violets are blue, we're glad you're our friend and we know you are too! Love, Mary, Melina, Jen, Aimee, and Kristen

CONGRATULATIONS TO CHI OMEGA'S PLEDGES: Shari, Kristin, Kiki, Terry, Jennifer, Liz, Traci, Monique, Celeste, Amy, Marci, Andrea, Keri, Beth, Laura, Lisa, Cathie, Tracey. Thanks for the awesome raid!
Love, The Sisters of Chi Omega

DANIELLE MICUCCI- Happy 19th Birthday Sally!! Your birthday will be great, R.W.B.'s on us!! We love ya- Deb, Leo, & Amy

FOXTROT
Too bad you missed the fun!
Thanx for the suggestions.
Like, what a wicked imagination!
Smile, I'm still behind you!
Cowboy

HAC You know how I feel about you
Love T.R.

HAPPY BELATED BIRTHDAY Tom Wellman Sorry it's late! Hope you had a good day
Love TATO

HAPPY BIRTHDAY EVE!!
Sorry this is late, Lori's fault as usual.
Love, Melissa & Lori

HI PRINCESS!! Hope you're having a great little vacation here at UMASS! Now kiss me!!! Love, Your KISA

J
Can we do this everyday?!
Thanks for all the fun and good times together!!
I love you
M

JEN TABEEK
Happy 20th Birthday!
Don't forget to make a w"ISH"!!
I'm making pork chops & applesauce for you, me, "Jerry", & of course WAN LEE!
Ain't that schwell??
Have a great one!
Love ya! Jerry & Web

MELISSA FORGOT TO hand this in...
Happy Birthday Anyway!
We Love You!
Lori and Melissa

OAKIE- You're sooo nice! But would you really want a Lazyboy recliner with heat massage? If so there's a sale at Jordan's Furniture.

SONNY, TRACY AND JAMES. Thank you for making my birthday special. I can't ask for any better friends than you guys.
Love, Tonia

STAN THANX FOR making each day the best it can be. Happy Anniversary. I love you Always. Love Amy
P.S. Send Joey my love!

THANK YOU ST. JUDE my prayers have been answered

TO MY DKU SISTER: GET PSYCHED for this weekend

TO YOU KNOW WHO-
Roses are red
Violets are Blue
Someone's gonna have a party
Though she doesn't have a clue!
Shhh!

TRACEY Here's a personal just for you! Now you can't say that you have never gotten one. I love ya! Dena

TRI-SIGMA WELCOMES It's newest pledges! Becky, Abby, Kim and Laurie - We Love You

VIP
Looking in your eyes makes my knees weak.

WINNY
1095 days ago we meet-give or take a few.
I wouldn't change any of them
I love you and Always will Pooh

RESUME SERVICE

 #1 RESUME SERVICES *****
Good prices, Rush sevice
We specialize in: Traditional, Designer and Contemporary Resumes
We will work with you to insure your Resume is the best it can be!!!
ALL packages include 30 Professional Laser Prints on Resume Paper
Call Roscoe now for quick service
549-7955

RIDE WANTED

NEED A RIDE to either New London Conn. or anywhere in RI

RIDE NEEDED TO BOSTON- Fri 3/9 back on Sat. or Sun.-Please! Will pay for gas 546-7167

RIDE NEEDED TO MONTREAL 3/16/90
Please call Jenn at 256-6740 soon

TO LI OR NYC 3/9 to 3/11 Will share expenses please call!! Ellen 549-0553

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

BEDROOM AVAILABLE in 2-bdrm Apt. $268 per month. Quiet, clean. Call 256-0553 Mornings

SHARE A ROOM in Townhouse Apts. Rent is $181.25. Move in A.S.A.P. 549-0541

SINGLE OPEN IN MAIN ST. Apt. 245/Mo. Gas, heat, bus stop at front door. I will pay your March rent! Call Sue 536-2199

TWO BEDROOMS IN A great old house in North Leverett. Beautiful area in the hills. $205. Free heat. 367-9861

SERVICES

HISTORY TUTOR
American or European History
Reasonable rates. 549-6687

LEGAL QUESTIONS? The Legal Services Center offers free legal assistance to fee-paying students. Contact us at 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

MAXIGRAPHICS - Super enlargements-B&W and Color
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

SUMMER RENTALS

CAPE COD-Need two girls to share house in Hyannis for summer with other guys/girls. 546-8643

TO SUBLET

SUBLET TWO ROOMS in large house open immediatley behind 7-11 in Sunderland $190 mth & util Call 665-7464 Jim or Byron

TRAVEL

$214 COMPLETE 7 NIGHTS
Panama City Beach Florida
Call now!! 253-9112

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

BAHAMAS-CANCUN-JAMAICA
You deserve to go! Last chance 549-3934 Janice

COPPERTONE COMPLETE SPRING Break
Packages: Cancun from $429
Nassau from $499
Still space but getting late!
Call now! 256-4659

DAYTONA BEACH- $259.00 (quad. occup.) Ten days, March 16-25. Includes transportation and OCEANFRONT, first class hotel. Spring break '90 World Headquarters. Best location, best hotel, best clubs, best party. Call Yankee Tours M-F, 8-6, 1-800-942-8890 for brochure.

NEED A RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Spring Break Special
$15 One way fare
to Bradley Airport
Call Now!
Limited Seating
Valley Transporter
256-8484

SPACES STILL AVAILABLE... Jamaica and Cancun. Call now for details. Mary or Karen 549-8166

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

FAST ACCURATE TYPING
Spell Check $1.75/pg
Call Ashley at 546-6756

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus. Affordable. Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

DESPERATELY NEED "Introduction to DSP" by Prokais Call Sharon at 665-8240

SPORTS

Third time the charm for women's hoop?

Minutewomen meet Rutgers in quarterfinal

By JOHN STEVEN MARPLE
Collegian Staff

Few people around the Atlantic 10 gave the University of Massachusetts women's basketball team much of a chance in the conference tournament, and with good reason. The Minutewomen won only one league game the entire season.

Yet, UMass now finds itself in the quarterfinals by way of a 77-72 victory against St. Bonaventure Monday night. Tonight the team will play Rutgers University at Louis Brown Athletic Center.

Rutgers finished 16-2 in the league, which tied them for first place with St. Joseph's. However, they lost the coin flip and were forced to assume the number two seed in the tournament.

The Lady Knights have already handled UMass twice this season, winning by a combined 35 points.

"In order to beat Rutgers we'll have to play a lot better than we did the first two times," said UMass coach Kathy Hewelt.

Rutgers relies on forwards Vicky Picott and Tanya Hansen.

Picott leads the team in scoring and rebounding (16.7 and 8.2, respectively) while Hansen comes into the game averaging 14.4 ppg and 7.9 rebounds.

"The two of them are really tough," said Hewelt. "It's very important that we contain them." That means that defensive stopper Keyburn McCusker must once again be up to the task at hand.

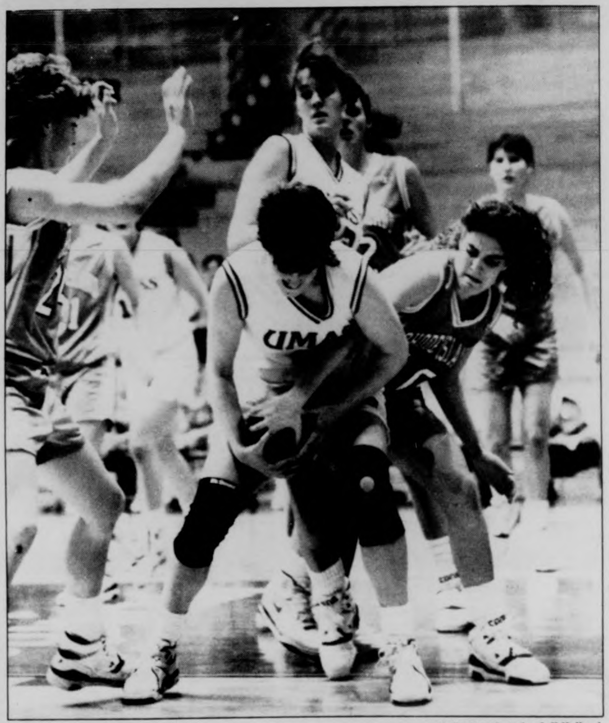
"She's our best inside player. We need a big effort from her in order to have a chance," Hewelt said.

Offensively, when UMass has the ball it will look, as always, to center Helen Freeman. The senior pumped in 29 points in the win over the Lady Bonnies. She torched the nets with a 13 for 16 shooting night.

"She has really come into her own this season. She definitely deserves to be first team [All-Conference]," Hewelt said.

With Freeman doing damage in the paint area the perimeter game opens up for the UMass guards. The Minutewomen took advantage of this Monday night as Sue Serafini (11 points) and Patty Robak (10 points) were able to find themselves with some open space to hit some jumpers.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 15



Collegian photo by Jeff Holland

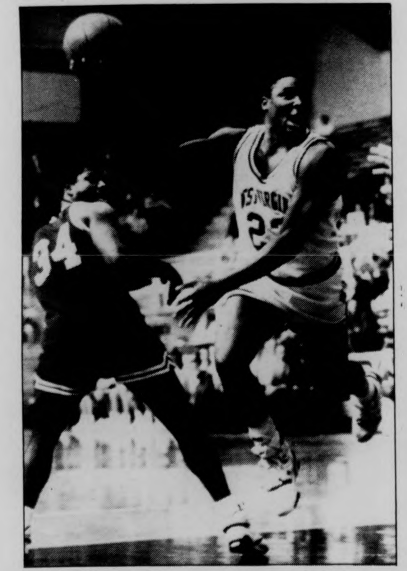
Michele Pytko and the Minutewomen will scrap with Rutgers in the quarterfinals of the Atlantic 10 tournament tonight in Piscataway, N.J.

Minutemen win over historic Palestra

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

Some thoughts and observations from spending three days in one of basketball oldest shrines — the University of Pennsylvania Palestra, where a sportswriter once said that "when you walk in, you can smell the ghosts."

This building was, for the second year in a row, the home of the first three rounds of the Atlantic 10 Conference men's basketball tournament — where the University of Massachusetts has staged its latest series of surprises for this season.



AP photo

William Herndon (34) watches as West Virginia's Chris Brooks drives to the hoop during Sunday's quarterfinal game at the Palestra.

The championship game will shift to McGonigle Hall, home of No. 1 seed Temple University, tomorrow night at 9:30 p.m. The format has been praised by some (usually those affiliated with TV or money), and questioned by others (usually the one who winds up as the visitor).

How does UMass coach John Calipari feel about having to suddenly move to a hostile environment for arguably the biggest hoop game in the school's history? Would he prefer to play on a neutral court?

"To tell you the truth, I'd rather play at the [Curry Hicks] Cage," he quipped.

UMass got to the final game with a couple of solid efforts. First, the Minutemen manhandled West Virginia on Sunday, 78-55, before surviving a hard-fought 64-59 affair with Penn State the following night.

But there was plenty of other basketball during the three-day span, as well as some other news.

● If you have any unused greeting cards lying around, you may want to take the time to send them in the general direction of New Brunswick, N.J.

The Minutemen, who did have a small assembly of their own fans for the two games, got a big lift from the beloved and obnoxious "RAC Pack," the Rutgers zanies who can rival some of the meanest basketball crowds.

Sunday, the red-clad Rutgers backers utilized their hatred for West Virginia to support UMass. Monday night, it was the fact that a UMass win was the only avenue for Rutgers to possibly host the championship game (Rutgers lost, which killed that idea) that helped make the rooting decision an easy one.

As William Herndon stepped to the foul line with one second left, a loud chant of "Thank you, Mass." rose up.

How 'bout, "Thank you, Rutgers?"

● Penn State's loss may have spelled the end of its Atlantic 10 stay, following its announced intentions to join the Big 10 Conference. According to A-10 Commissioner Ron Bertovich, the University of Miami is the prime candidate to fill the vacancy, although further expansion can't be ruled out yet. DePaul and LaSalle are other names that have been kicked about on the rumor circuit.

● The best game of the weekend was the Rutgers-Rhode Island tilt on Sunday. The lead changed hands four times in the final 47 seconds, with Rutgers guard Earl Duncan

CONTINUED ON PAGE 15

Buses planned for tourney final

For those of you who have been wondering, and were planning to make the trek to Philadelphia for tomorrow night's Atlantic 10 title game against Temple, there will be buses going down.

The UMass Court Club, as it did for the Temple regular season game as well as Sunday's quarterfinal game against West Virginia, has arranged for as many buses as it can fill. Simply put, the Minutemen want as many people as they can get to come down to McGonigle Hall and help out the cause.

Even if you're just jumping on, or jumping back on to the bandwagon — and you know who you are — don't feel bad. UMass needs your help against the tough Owls.

"We need to get a lot of people down here," said UMass coach John Calipari yesterday. "The place seats 3,900, and if we can get 1,000, the cheerleaders and maybe the band, now it's not so much of a home court advantage anymore."

Cost for the bus is $25, and reservations can be made at the basketball office in Boyden Building. A deposit must be made to guarantee a spot on the bus. The Court Club plans to run as many buses as it can fill, so don't worry too much about being shut out. However, people are encouraged to make sure they are able to purchase a ticket first, before making a reservation for the bus.

Tickets are $4 apiece for students, $15 for non-students, and are available at the Ticket Office in Boyden Building.

The buses will leave from Boyden at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow for the five-hour trip to Philly. They will then return immediately following the game tomorrow night.

WEATHER

We've seen the lion, now we'll get a glimpse of the lamb. Sunny with highs in the 40s.

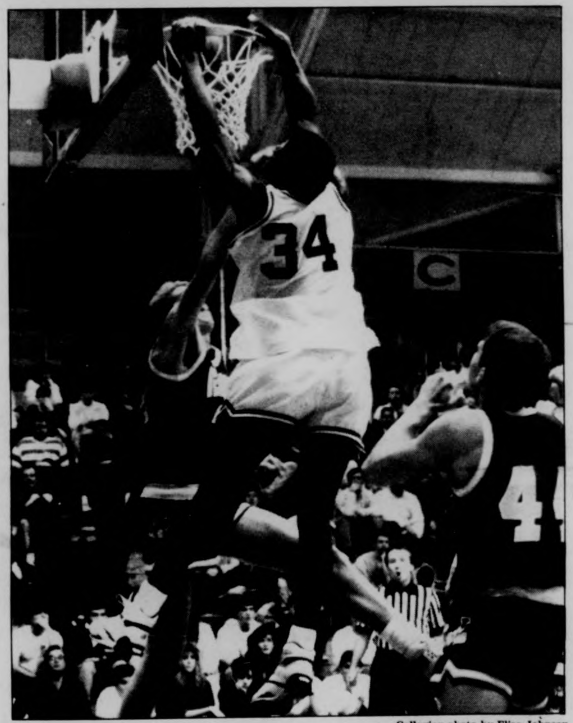
NEWS

Going on Spring Break? Watch out for measles in Miami or risk more than a tan. Page 3.

THIS WEEKEND

Taking a chance with lady luck to give others a chance to live. In our winning pullout.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1990
COLLEGIAN
VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 26



Collegian photo by Elise Johnson

William Herndon (34) and the UMass men's hoop will try to capture their first Atlantic 10 Conference title tonight against Temple. See story on page 16.

System flooded with sex stories

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

The largest mainframe computer at the University of Massachusetts is home not only to software for computer courses but also to scores of non-academic forums, at least three of which are devoted to the exchange of sexual fantasies and escapades.

John Dubach, acting director of the University Computing Center, which oversees all computing at the University, said Tuesday that the mainframe computer, called "CYBER," is to be used only for "instructional and research activities."

See related story, page 5

However, three forums titled "SEX," "CyberLust" and "Sexstories" are part of the heavily-used electronic mail system on the CYBER, one of the most powerful computers on campus.

A forum, called a "notesfile" on the CYBER, is a computer file which can contain several individual files or documents.

A frequent user of the system, a student who requested anonymity, said the sex stories are "good sex stories, in some cases better than you would read in Penthouse Forum."

As of Monday, there were 140 separate files in the SEX forum, 120 in the CyberLust forum and 36 in the Sexstories forum. Most are extremely graphic stories.

Anyone with a CYBER account and access to a computer which has a modem, a device which allows one computer to communicate with another via telephone, is able to access these forums.

Students who are enrolled in a class that requires use of the CYBER or others who pay a $10 per semester fee are authorized to use the system. Those who opt to pay the $10 fee are required to sign a document stating that they will use the system only for academic purposes.

Dubach said he did not know of the existence of the forums until he was contacted by the Collegian.

He said because of a lack of staff, no one in the center monitors the contents of the mail system.

But a UCC employee said yesterday he monitors the SEX forum.

Peter R. Defriesse, assistant manager of computer operations in the UCC, acknowledged that he is responsible for managing in the "SEX" forum. According to Dubach, a manager is responsible for removing harassing files or those which depict violence.

Defriesse said he manages "SEX" but did not create the forum.

"I do not do this as part of my regular work," he said of his involvement with the forum. "I do not do this while I work for the state." He declined further comment.

Dubach said although he feels the the sex stories are an improper use of the CYBER, and unless the stories are used to harass another person he does not have the authority to remove them.

"I agree that they are an improper use but it is not my jurisdiction to remove them," Dubach said. "Only the person who owns the file can remove them.

"Unless a proper authority — in this case probably [Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs Dennis] Madson — tells us to remove the files, they will remain," he said.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

Areas support SWAG

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

The Orchard Hill Area Government and the Commuter Area Government this week announced their full support of Southwest Area Government's secession from the Student Government Association and its list of six demands released Tuesday.

In a letter to the SGA, SWAG asked for the following demands: the unfreezing of SWAG accounts, the dropping of the area government allocation by-law change, the allocation of $2 per student to House Councils, the establishment of the Student Activities Office as advisor to House Councils, no cutting of concert funds, and the establishment of a committee to investigate SGA/SAO waste.

SGA Treasurer Laura Filkins said she thought it was unlikely that the SGA would meet any of the SWAG demands.

Tim Smith, a member of the Commuter Area Governing Board, said the Board found the list of demands very reasonable and has offered SWAG the use of their office if they are locked out of their offices in Southwest.

"The central issue is a question of control of student money, the SGA is taking money away from the area governments and adding to their own funds at a time when the areas need it most," Smith said.

Smith said the Board feels it is important the SGA meet the demand that a committee be established to investigate SGA/SAO waste. He added not enough student funds are not going to the Area Governments.

The spring concerts, where Smith said is the only place students generally see any of the activities fund they pay each semester, will also be cut dramatically if the SWAG demands are not meet.

Adam Scaramella, president of the Orchard Hill Area Government said he felt "it was about time" this list of demands surfaced.

"It's like we're fighting for our survival, this is the first step toward regaining some of our power," he said. "The past couple of years we've been fighting back and forth for funds and power."

The SGA has been taking on the role of boss, not supervisor, Scaramella said adding that the SGA should be working responsibly with the Area governments, not attempting to strip them of their power.

SGA nominates speaker, treasurer

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

In a lively Undergraduate Student Senate meeting last night, Dan Chesnicka was nominated as speaker of the Student Government Association, in a 46-4-1 vote and Karen Talbot was unanimously nominated as treasurer of the SGA.

Ted Chambers and Michael Currier, senators from Commuter Area Government, and Frank Martin a senator from Moore were all nominated for the position of speaker.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

Melley to replace Ling

Chancellor Duffey yesterday named Daniel Melley as the interim vice chancellor for the University Relations and Development.

Melley, director of University relations since 1983, will replace Dierdre Ling who is leaving her post in mid-May to head the leadership of Middlesex School in Concord.

Provost O'Brien said he was "delighted" Melley accepted the position.

"I am certain that with [Melley's] long experience in the University Relations and Development division and with the confidence expressed by his colleagues that he will do an outstanding job in these particular times," he added.

Ling said Melley's 29 years experience in the public affairs department will benefit the University as it tries to recover from its budget crisis.

"His knowledge of the University and its key constituencies will serve him and the institution well," she said. "Dan will provide stability and continuity to the division, which is sorely needed during these trying times."

Melley, a 1955 University of Massachusetts alumnus, has worked at the Amherst campus since 1961 serving as assistant news and publications editor, news director and director of public affairs.

— MEREDITH O'BRIEN

Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual Forum

The Lesbian Bisexual Gay Counseling Collective is now open for free, confidential counseling. Office hours for the spring semester are: Monday 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., Wednesday 1 p.m. to 7 p.m., Thursday 3 p.m. to 7 p.m., Friday 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. The office is located in room 406 of the Student Union or call 545-2654.

Thursday March 8
AWARENESS WEEK PLANNING COMMITTEE — An Awareness week planning committee to help plan Awareness Week for the spring will meet in the LBGA office, 413 Student Union from 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
FILM — The film "Desert Hearts" will be shown at 7 p.m. in Herter Hall room 227.

Friday March 9
COFFEE SOCIAL — The LBGA will sponsor a coffee social Friday 3-6 p.m. in the Campus Center. Free refreshments will be served and all are welcome.
BOWLING — The graduate student group will be bowling at the Noho Bowl in Northampton at 7 p.m. Meet there.
DANCE — The Lesbian Bisexual Gay Alliance is sponsoring a dance in the Campus Center Ballroom from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. A $3.00 admission fee will be charged.

Tuesday March 13
LBGA MEETING — The LBGA will have a business meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the LBGA Office, Student Union room 413. SPEAKERS BUREAU TRAINING — A speakers bureau training session will be held for gays, lesbians, bisexual men and women and heterosexual allies from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the campus center. Call 545-4824 for more information.
LBWU MEETING — The Lesbian, Bisexual, Women's Union will have a meeting at 8:30 p.m. in the LBGA Office, Student Union room 413.

Wednesday March 14
FACULTY/STAFF GROUP MEETING — A faculty/staff group meeting will be held from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the Campus Center.

GAY AND LESBIAN TASK FORCE — A workshop will be given by Kevin Berrill of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force. This workshop will identify safe and sane personal strategies for responding to harassment. The workshop is scheduled for 8 p.m. in Campus Center room 917.

RAP GROUP — The LBG Counseling Collective will sponsor a rap group Wednesday evening, 8 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., Student Union room 413. Gay men, lesbians, bisexual men and women or those questioning their sexuality are welcome.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief — Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor — George Austin
Editorial Editor — Minu Sebastian
News Editor — Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor — Jim Clark
Arts Editors — Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor — Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor — Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor — Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor — Chris Muther
Business Manager — Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager — Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager — Martina Rios
Circulation Manager — Chris Baker
Subscription Manager — Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager — Donna Cusson
Production Managers — Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager — Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business — Lori Black, Brian Harrington, Maureen Majerowski
Graphics — Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

FROM ACROSS A CROWDED ROOM, THEIR EYES MET...

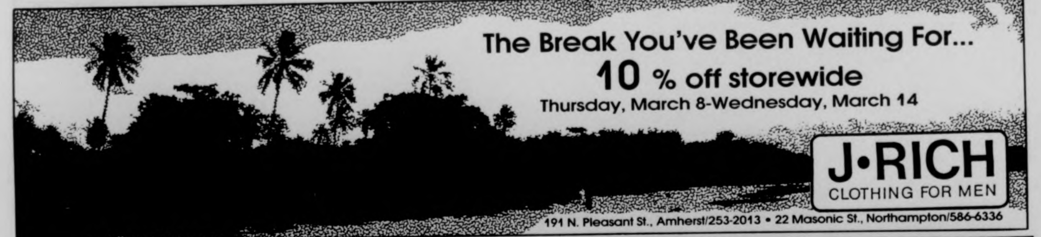
A HEALTHY COMPLEXION AND BODY
begins with a deep pore cleansing treatment and a full body massage.
Improves how you look and feel
relaxing • refreshing
revitalizing
also lash and brow tinting and hair waxing.
AESTHETICS
THERAPUTIC SKIN CARE AND MASSAGE
AMHERST ★ 253-9879

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

FYI

For Your Information is a calendar listing of local announcements and upcoming events published daily by the Collegian as a public service. All submissions must be typed and submitted to the newsdesk at least one full day beforehand. We reserve the right to edit for space.

THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1990
Volunteer — The American Red Cross is looking for a Volunteer Coordinator needed to work as a volunteer. Duties include schedule work assignments, seek other volunteers and can work your own hours. Those who are interested, can call Rich Lee, American Red Cross, at 584-8887.
Video — Dreams a free video presentation and discussion on "Your Universe of Dreams" will be offered by local students of Eckankar at 7 p.m. at the Jones Library, Gallery Room. The presentation will cover how to rmember and understand your dreams for guidance in every day life, and for spiritual insights. This is the first of a three part series. For more information, call 367-9762.
Story telling — Hillel is sponsoring a storytelling session by Diane Wolkstein at 7:30 p.m. at the Memorial Hall. Admission is free.
Lecture — The Office of Third World Affairs is sponsoring a lecture by Jane California Cooper at 7 p.m. at Campus Center room 163C. Admission is free.



The Break You've Been Waiting For...
10 % off storewide
Thursday, March 8-Wednesday, March 14
J•RICH
CLOTHING FOR MEN
191 N. Pleasant St., Amherst/253-2013 • 22 Masonic St., Northampton/586-6336

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
TOLL FREE HOT LINE 800-351-0222
in Calif. (213) 477-8226
Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information
11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

Embarrasingly low prices...every week at Liquors 44!

BEER — Prices do not include deposit
COORS & COORS LIGHT case of 24 12 oz. cans $10.59 + DEP.
HARP LAGER FROM IRELAND case of 24-12 oz. bottles SALE $15.99 MAIL IN REBATE $5.00 $10.99 + DEP. AFTER REBATE
Hopfenperle SWISS BEER $13.99 + DEP. case of 24-12 oz. bottles
PIELS DRAFT BEER case of 24-12 oz. cans $7.49 + DEP.
SEVEN-UP & DIET SEVEN-UP $2.99 + DEP. 12 PACK CANS

WINE
BERINGER WHITE ZINFANDEL 750 ML $3.99
CORVO RED FROM ITALY $5.79 750 ML.
MOREAU BLANC FRENCH WHITE WINE $4.99 1.5 L
GALLO WHITE ZINFANDEL $4.59 1.5 L
J. ROGET SPARKLING WINES EXTRA DRY, BRUT, PINK, SPUMANTE, COLD DUCK $2.29 750 ml

LIQUORS
JAMESON IRISH WHISKEY SALE $10.59 MAIL IN REBATE $2.00 $8.59 750 ml AFTER REBATE
POPOV VODKA 1.75 L. $8.99
Captain Morgan ORIGINAL SPICED RUM $13.99 1.75 L.
CANADIAN L.T.D. SALE $11.49 MAIL IN REBATE $3.00 1.75L $8.49 AFTER REBATE
PEACHTREE SCHNAPPS $5.79 750 ML

not responsible for typographical errors
LIQUORS 44
9am to 11pm Monday thru Saturday
HADLEY Campus Plaza/Route 9 253-9344
◄ TWO ► LOCATIONS
HOLYOKE 30 Lincoln St. 534-4555
SALE PRICES THUR 3/8/90 THRU WED 3/14/90
VISA master charge TeleCheck

MARKETING OPPORTUNITY WITH AT&T
1990 Back-to-School Promotion

AT&T STUDENT CAMPUS MANAGER
Sales-oriented student sought for marketing/promotion position. Management responsibility for campus group. Excellent pay and bonuses. Flexible hours. All work is on campus. Must be available full-time 1-2 weeks prior to the start of classes. Opportunity to work as a Promotions Representative on a project by project basis.

AT&T ASSISTANT STUDENT CAMPUS MANAGER
Student with strong sales/leadership ability needed for seven day program, Fall 1990. Must be available 1 week prior to the start of classes.

STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE/ CAMPUS GROUP
Outgoing, sales-oriented group/individuals needed to represent AT&T products and services on campus. Top pay and bonuses. Must be available 1 week prior to the start of classes.

For more information, send resume to: CDI, AT&T Recruitment, 210 West Washington Square, 11th floor, Philadelphia, PA. 19106, or call (800) 592-2121. Equal Oppty. Employer.

LOCAL

'Biology of cancer and AIDS' draws students

Humor and energy keep Reiner's class the largest on campus

By JOSEPH M. MONTAGNA
Collegian Correspondent

It's 11:15 on a Friday morning. Some 500 students anxiously wait for class to begin in Mahar Auditorium at the University of Massachusetts. Suddenly, the lights dim and the class comes to attention as Microbiology Professor Albey Reiner begins his lecture on the "Biology of cancer and AIDS."

Large numbers of students have been drawn to Microbiology 160 for the past several semesters, according to Reiner.

"The class is always oversubscribed," he said, adding there are about 575 students this semester. "I try to stuff as many in [Mahar] as I can, because that's the biggest room."

The course deals with several topics, including the roles of individual cells, the immune system and viruses as well as how cancer and AIDS progress.

However, Reiner said "Biology of Cancer and AIDS" differs from most classes in that he tries to go beyond the facts.

"Education doesn't teach us about the unknown and how mysterious it all is," he said. "This class is honest about the mystery. It faces it."

He added he tries to personalize the information by relating it to individual public health issues. For example, Reiner told his class Friday about the dangers of moldy nuts in peanut butter, and how they can cause cancer.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

Professor Albey Reiner

One of Reiner's students described the class as, "very interesting. He gets the students involved."

Reiner comes across in lecture as laid back, but still involved with what he discusses. Speaking in front of a large class Friday, which he said he likes because of its "great energy," Reiner mixed humor with specific examples to relay information on the day's topics, and began and ended the class with a joke.

"This guy is a riot," said another student.

Reiner was born in Brooklyn, N.Y. in 1941 and has been at UMass since 1971. He said he became interested in microbiology and genetics after his undergraduate career in chemistry at Princeton University and a graduate career at Oxford University.

"It was love at first sight," he said, of his collegiate experience.

After doing molecular research for several years, Reiner said he found there was not a "lot of heart" in it, and decided instead to become a microbiology professor.

"It seemed like a great thing to make a living while continuing to learn," he said.

Sitting in his office in Morrill Science Center, surrounded by potted plants and 60s memorabilia, Reiner comes across as quiet but intelligent and individualistic.

When he's not teaching, Reiner said he enjoys sports and backpacking. He also described himself as "liking people but also liking solitude." He added he plans this summer to camp alone in Utah for 10 days.

Reiner said his long-term goals are to continue what he's doing while learning more and increasing his understanding of people.

Of his course, Reiner said subjects such as cancer and AIDS are fascinating because they engage the whole person and not just the mind.

"They make you understand the fact that you're going to die," he said. "It changes your life and puts you in a position where you can really live."

UHS circulates measles warning

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

An outbreak of measles in spring break hot spots has prompted the University Health Services to issue a campus-wide warning to students urging them to check their immunization records before traveling to California, Florida or Texas.

A prime target of the virus is Daytona Beach, a popular spot which attracts thousands of students annually for spring break.

Estelle Maartman-Moe, director of nursing at health services, said yesterday Daytona Beach reportedly has an unusually high number of measles cases this month.

"If you've not had two immunizations and you're going to Daytona, I would highly recommend that you get a booster [shot]," Maartman-Moe said. Also, people who have already had measles now have lifetime immunity from the virus, she said.

College-age students are particularly at risk because their first immunizations are beginning to wear off, she said. People who were born before 1957 probably are not at risk because it is likely they have already had the disease, she said.

Measles is a highly contagious virus which is spread via airborne water droplets, such as those circulated by coughing. It usually lasts one week and is accompanied by a red rash which begins at the face and eventually covers the person's entire body. Symptoms include high fevers, red and irritated eyes, and a cough. Rare side effects include encephalitis, inflammation of the brain.

To avoid catching the disease, students should have two immunizations. The first immunization should have been before 12 months of age and the second should have been one month after the first immunization, Maartman-Moe said.

Health services is offering a special immunization clinic for students from 8:30 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., on Monday, March 12 and Tuesday, March 13. There will be a $20 charge for immunization. Call health services for an appointment.

Also, today and tomorrow, all members of UMass spring athletic teams, some 88 people, will participate in a mandatory immunization at UHS, Maartman-Moe said.

She said members of athletic teams are particularly at risk because of frequent travels to other universities where measles cases could be contracted. Nurses and others who work in public health also are in a high risk category, she said.

It is not mandatory for people to receive a second vaccination, however Maartan-Moe said the recent upswing in measles cases has made it apparent that one immunization is not enough.

"The state is at a point where they're recommending that people get two vaccinations," she said. "I'm sure that in the next two years it will become mandatory."

Students were shocked by news of the outbreak yesterday but said the virus will not deter their travel plans.

"I'm still going to go anyway," said Andree Dorr, a UMass sophomore traveling to Los Angeles to visit her family.

UMass judiciary grants injunction for referendum

By LISA SHAPIRO
Collegian Staff

The University Judiciary granted an injunction yesterday against the Undergraduate Student Senate from considering a referendum question until the necessary signatures are verified.

The referendum question asks for student support for an increase from $9.60 to $20 in area government monies from the Student Activities Trust Fund, per student per semester. It also asks for support of a $2 per student allocation to the house councils.

The injunction, requested by Sen. Jeff Turco (Brown) required Speaker of the Senate John Dunlap to remove the referendum question from the agenda of last night's senate meeting.

Howard Dreyfus, who wrote the referendum question, said he is not dropping the issue and is seeking legal counsel.

The SGA Constitution states that referendum questions may be initiated through two-thirds of the senate, by the SGA president or by petition of not less than 10 percent of the undergraduate student body.

In the opinion, Justices Ericka Dewey, Nancy Miranda and Jill Davidson said, "We feel the initiation of

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

Candidates vie for SGA trustee, presidential positions

• McQuilken expresses eagerness to learn

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Junior Angus McQuilken, who is seeking the office of student trustee, said if elected his greatest initial challenge will be learning the structure and functions of the board of trustees.

McQuilken is running with Natasha Diephuis, one of three candidates for Student Government Association president.

Last semester, McQuilken, a senator from the Commuter Area Government, was involved with organizational aspects of the undergraduate student strike protesting state budget cuts to higher education.

He also serves on the Registered Student Organization Registration Committee, which deals with campus groups that wish to be recognized as RSOs. He is currently a senator from the CAG.

After serving on the Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group for two years, McQuilken said he has strong initiative and has gained "priceless" experience through organizing events for MassPIRG, and lobbying the Statehouse regarding environmental issues.

McQuilken coordinated two programs for MassPIRG, one concerning recycling and the other handling an environmental survey. In his sophomore year, McQuilken served on the Issues Committee in Southwest Area Government.

● If elected, McQuilken said his goal will be to offset the continuing effects of the state's budget crisis on students.

"We'll have to go to the Statehouse to get that funding. I think we'll be at an advantage, there will be a new [governor], and a real opportunity to organize," he said. "It's time for students and the administration to work together, and see that students' priorities are realized."

● McQuilken said the University's first priority should be safety on campus. "Attacks should be something that are reported to the students. Both men and women aren't cautious, because they don't see anything in the papers. It is something students demand to know, and it's up to the police to see that it's done. It's also up to the administration to see that there is funding."

• Diephuis aims to create student awareness

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Natasha Diephuis, candidate for Student Government Association president, said she believes if elected her primary role would be to represent students in the SGA body as well as to the administration.

Diephuis' running mate is Angus McQuilken, candidate for student trustee.

Currently treasurer of the Panhellenic Council — the governing board for sororities — Diephuis also serves as an SGA senator from the Greek Area. She is a member of the CASIAC Curriculum Committee serving as designee of current SGA President Traci Davis.

Diephuis formally held the position of assistant treasurer of the Sigma Delta Tau sorority. She was also a representative to Washington Tower House Council, and served as House Council secretary.

Diephuis canvassed the state as a representative of the Massachusetts Public Research Interest Group several summers ago.

● Diephuis said her primary concern is changing attitudes of students toward women's issues, safety, minority rights and understanding by creating awareness.

"Keeping information out of the students' reach does more harm than anything. [For instance] the actual numbers of attacks on campus versus the number of those reported is very different."

"It's becoming easier to report, it's recognized as 'okay.' But there are a greater number of reported cases to the Every Woman's Center as opposed to the campus police."

● Through her work on the CASIAC Curriculum Committee, Diephuis has been vocal in decisions regarding course offerings.

"We deal with experimental courses, and I've found it exciting. I'm actively working with issues that affect students' lives," she said.

Learn German This Summer

June 24—
August 3, 1990

The Ninth Annual German Summer School of the Atlantic at the University of Rhode Island in co-operation with the Goethe Institute Boston.

German will be the sole language of communication, and German life and culture the heart of this six week residency program of intensive language study.

You may earn up to nine undergraduate or graduate credits while living in the beautiful surroundings of our country campus, just minutes away from Rhode Island's magnificent beaches and historic summer colonies.

This program is ideally suited for anyone wishing to enroll in beginning, intermediate, or any level of advanced German. From business people and travelers, to students planning work or study abroad. Take advantage of this rare opportunity to participate in this total German Language experience.

For details: Dr. John Grandin
Dr. Otto Dornberg, Co-Directors
Department of Languages
University of Rhode Island
Kingston, RI 02881 (401) 792-5911

URI

AEROBICS
at the Gym

- Hi-Impact
- Low-Impact
- Mixed Impact & More
- NEO-SHOCK Two phase floor specially designed for high impact Aerobics

for more information, Call 585-5911

The GYM
at mountain farms mall
STRENGTH OF BODY, POWER OF MIND

TONIGHT

BOARD OF GOVERNORS
Program Council

PRESENTS

CASINO NIGHT

TO BENEFIT

THE BRAIN TUMOR SOCIETY
Campuses Against Cancer

DATE: Thursday, March 8, 1990
TIME: 8:00 PM-1:00 AM
PLACE: Campus Center Auditorium
COST: $5.00 Admission - Does not include individual wagers at betting tables.
GAMES: Black Jack
Roulette
Wheel of Fortune
Craps
Chuck-A-Luck

LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
REFRESHMENTS & HORS D'OEUVRES WILL BE SERVED
WINNINGS AWARDED IN CASH
PROPER DRESS REQUESTED

CO-SPONSORED BY
COLLEGIAN 99.3 Mr. Tux FORMAL WEAR SPECIALISTS SPRINGFIELD WEST SPRINGFIELD

PRODUCED BY JEFFREY D. GLASSMAN

TONIGHT

Self Serve Typewriters
kinko's
the copy center
220 N. Pleasant St.
253-2543

AMHERST CINEMA
THE MUSIC BOX
PG13
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week

$2.50 with student I.D.

253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID'. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT! FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

Computer mainframe provides insulting forums

System serves as party line, tunnel guide

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

The mail system on the CYBER mainframe computer provides access to at least 81 additional forums ranging from one where insults are exchanged, to one on photography, to a resource guide for students seeking to explore the tunnels in the university's underground waterworks.

However, sources familiar with the system say there are hundreds of forums yet undisclosed because of the complexity of the system.

The most recent forum was created Feb. 22 and is titled "Music Forum, sf, Polls." It is, as its name suggests, a forum to discuss musical tastes.

Another forum is the "Tunnel," created last October by an unidentified person using the alias "Sewer Rat." According to Sewer Rat, the forum was created to provide a place "where tunnelers in general can converse, brag, plan or whatever for expeditions into the depths of UMass."

Although the forum has not received mail this semester, two letters were received last semester detailing entrances around campus into the underground system of the University.

The mail system also includes a forum titled "Filth," which seems to be a takeoff on the Monty Python "I'd Like to Have an Argument" skit, in which actor Michael Palin pays actor John Cleese to argue with him to relieve pent-up tension.

The arguments exchanged in this forum are mainly one-liners, many of them containing expletives. The first file introduces the forum as the place "to let off steam.

"Yes, that's right!!! You can say whatever the [expletive] you want here, but people can be equally nasty back, so remember what you say CAN hurt you, but it might get something out into the open," the file read.

One of the most popular forums on the system is "CONFER," which is similar to a computerized party line.

CONFER has often been called a "community within the university community" by students who use the system regularly.

One student, who has contributed to CyberLust, said CONFER was a place where people who have difficulty communicating with other people meet.

"A lot of people [on the CYBER] are a little socially inept but in CONFER they feel comfortable perhaps because you don't see faces," said the student, who has requested anonymity for privacy purposes. "It's really its own little subculture."

The mail system also has forums for people to discuss Christianity, paganism, Star Trek, concert information, photography, cars and even a file for the history of the CYBER system at UMass.

"SEX" is presently the oldest forum in the mail system with a creation date of Feb. 27, 1986. A new forum has been created nearly every week since last September.

Anyone with a CYBER account and access to a computer which has a modem, a device which allows one computer to communicate to another via telephone, is able to access these forums.

■ CyberLust sex stories

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Dubach said a complaint would have to be filed with Student Affairs before the forums would be investigated.

Madson did not return calls from the Collegian yesterday.

The forum CyberLust began last October when Sarah F. Jahn, a freshman journalism major, decided to create, "something more interesting than [the forum SEX]. It was getting old and boring.

"You're in college. This is what most people think about most of the time, so why not?" she said. "People enjoy reading it. It's anonymous if you want me to take your name off of it and no one is hurt by it."

Eric Ludlam, a sophomore COINS major who is Jahn's boyfriend, said that CyberLust has been accessed or read more than 3,500 times since February.

Ludlam, who said he checks the CYBER at least once a day, said that even if the forums are removed, a new one will probably start up. "We get three or four mailers [new stories] a day," he said. "I don't think it is going away and I'm not going to take it down until I graduate."

At press time, it was unknown who created Sexstories.

One student, who, like most, discovered the forums while looking through the mail system, said he sees nothing wrong with sex stories on the system. The student, who requested anonymity, compared the system to the sale of pornographic magazines in the University Store.

"If you don't want to look at the magazines, don't go over to that corner of the store," he said, explaining the analogy. "It's the same with the CYBER, don't look at it."

Another student, who also wished to remain anonymous, echoed this thought. "If you choose to look at a file called 'CyberLust' you know what you are getting into," he said. "If you are offended by it, get out."

The CYBER, which can support hundreds of users at one time, is used as sort of a clearinghouse computer on campus. Its power allows it to be used by many departments throughout the University for a variety of of purposes such as word processing, electronic mail and number crunching.

■ Referendum injunction

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

a referendum question begins when the signatures are verified by the appropriate SGA body." Signatures are verified through name and student identification number.

Bob Monaghan, president of the seceded Southwest Area Government and candidate for student trustee, reported that some 2,800 signatures had been collected in support of the question.

Dunlap placed the question on the agenda so the senate could vote on the time and date for students to vote on the question because he believed he was required to act on the request within five days.

The decision said [once the signatures are verified] the five-day time allotment to present the question to the senate begins.

Dunlap said if the time for the question were set, the signatures would be verified by the Governmental Affairs Committee before the question appeared on a ballot.

■ Speaker, treasurer nominee

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Currier declined the nomination, while Chambers accepted and then withdrew after voicing his support for Chesnicka. Martin withdrew his acceptance as well.

Chesnicka said, "I'm excited to be in this position at this time, because I feel the senate is on a real upswing." Chesnicka has served on the Governmental Affairs Committee and the Nominating Sub-Committee for two years.

He has served as president of Wheeler house council and on the SGA Co-ordinating Committee.

Chesnicka will take office March 30 after current Speaker John Dunlap steps down.

New SGA Treasurer Karen Talbot is now serving as Chair of the Budgets Committee. During the fall of 1988, she was a senator from Dickinson. She is currently on the Student Activities Office Council and SGA Co-ordinating Committee.

Talbot will also take office March 30, when existing treasurer Laura Filkins' position concludes.

- Traci Davis, SGA president condemned the recent harassment of female officers of the senate. "I'm asking you all to be watching things. This is an extremely personal issue.

"There have been a second round of posters circulated on campus directed at Treasurer Filkins," Davis said. "There have been direct, personal attacks at me: on my door in my dormitory and late night phone-calls."

The posters Davis referred to are demands printed and posted last Friday night in Southwest. Friends of Filkins' saw the posters and tore them down.

The posters demanded to know "Who the hell is Laura Filkins?" included her telephone number and encouraged students to ask her about the loss of Southwest week by phoning her at home.

A second round of posters, again encouraging phone calls to her home asking why she "has dodged the issue of Southwest Week '90," were discovered by members of the Southwest residential area Tuesday night.

Filkins said she took both posters to the campus police last night and filled out a police report. "I have clear ideas of who is responsible, so I gave the police these names."

Pearl Street
10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA
413 584 7771

Thur., March 8—8:30 p.m. 18+
SKA/REGGAE DANCE PARTY
BOP HARVEY
Shockra
Uproot

Fri., March 9—7:00 p.m.
NRBQ
The Walkers
Downstairs, following the show—
Check, Please!

Sat., March 10—8:30 p.m.
ROOMFUL OF BLUES

Tues., March 13—8:30 p.m.
Musical Free-For-All hosted by Rob Skelton & Free Press
Open Mic—No Cover

Thur., March 15—8:00 p.m.
Texas Swing—
ASLEEP AT THE WHEEL
The Sundogs

Fri., March 16—8:30 p.m. 18+
IN THE FLESH
Fifth Business

Sat., March 17—8:30 p.m.
DUKE ROBILLARD BAND

Tues., March 20—7:00 p.m.
THE J.J. CALE BAND
Chris Smither

Mon., March 26—8:00 p.m. 18+
HELIOS CREED
Gobblehoof—SWAT

Thur., March 29—8:00 p.m. 18+
MICHAEL PENN
Toad The Wet Sprocket (Advance Tickets)

Coming: 4/1 The Malarians • 4/5 Blues Traveler
4/12 Urban Blight • 4/21 The Chills

ADV. TIX. FROM: FOR THE RECORD IN AMHERST AND ALL TICKETRON OUTLETS 1-800-382-8080
RAPCITY IN BRATTLEBORO,
STRAWBERRIES
10 Pearl St., Northampton 413-584-7771

Hey, Night Owls!
Whoooooo's open after midnight?
James H. McManus
is open Sun-Thurs 'til 3 A.M.
Fri & Sat ALL NIGHT
appetizers desserts
omelettes light dinners
juicy jumbo beefburgers
sandwiches pancakes
plus chicken, steak, buffalo wings, onion rings and so much more

OPEN SUN-THURS 6 A.M.-3 A.M.
24 HOURS FRIDAY & SATURDAY

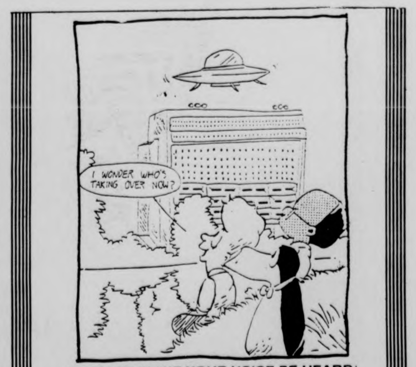
James H. McManus
eating place

SENIOR CITIZEN DISCOUNT 10% ANYTIME (not with coupon)

Next to Super Stop & Shop Rte. 9 Hadley/Amherst 256-6889

Buy one of our great omlettes and get one free

served with Home Fries and Toast
offer expires 3/12/90



I WONDER WHO'S TAKING OVER NOW?

VOTE AND MAKE YOUR VOICE BE HEARD!
BOARD OF GOVERNORS ELECTIONS
Tuesday, March 13th 11:30AM to 7:00PM:

Dining Commons
Berkshire Butterfield
Franklin Hampshire
Worcester

The Hatch
Newman Center

vote wherever you see SGA ballot boxes!

Umina campaigns at UM

Gubernatorial candidate supports higher ed.

By MICHAEL WEBBER
Collegian Staff

With a caravan of motor homes and heavy equipment trucks bearing slogans of "Taxachusetts is revolting," and "Umina for Governor," gubernatorial candidate Len Umina arrived at the University of Massachusetts Monday evening.

Umina says he does not intend to make a career out of politics, "I just want to get in, fix the mess and get out."

With money saved through the elimination of state waste, he said free higher education and increased social services are "absolutely possible." He added that the elimination of a sales tax and a high-speed intra-state railroad system would also be possible.

"The amount of money wasted in our state government is phenomenal, because the people can't effectively monitor what is going on," Umina said. "Almost no one knows what's going on in the government, so the ones who do have tremendous power to manipulate."

Umina, who graduated from UMass in 1974 with a degree in electrical engineering, currently works for Digital Equipment Corporation in Maynard.

A UMass graduate, he left the Republican party recently to run as an independent candidate. "We now finally have a two-party system in Massachusetts, because I'm running as an independent," he said, claiming that both Democrats and Republicans will continue the wasteful practices of state government.

Although he was originally a Republican candidate, he said he was stifled by the Republican party when they learned of his proposals. Umina said his policies would destroy the excessive, greedy lifestyle led by the ruling elite.

"They didn't like what I was doing, so they did all they could to deny my candidacy," he said in an impromptu interview yesterday.

Umina proposed an enormous state computer network in which the expenditures and activities of every state agency would be processed and recorded. The public would have complete access to the system through computers in libraries, schools and their own homes, he said.

He cited patronage, the process by which elected candidates reward their supporters with government jobs, as a major source of wasted money.

"Our system is so full of waste, that if we get it under control we'll have more money than we know what to do with," he said.

He proposed tax-free status for small businesses until they accumulate $50,000 in profits as a way to give poor people a way out of their poverty. "The trickle-down theory didn't work. We need to help people from the bottom up."

Umina said that allowing people access to a decent living would reduce the demand for and dependency on drugs. He also proposed a system of "drug-free" programs in high schools, which students would volunteer to join. Students would be given drug tests periodically, and those who remained in the program would be rewarded with state-sponsored rock concerts and parties.

"I've never seen punishment be effective. What we need is a system of positive motivation," he said.

Umina says he is personally pro-life except in instances of rape, incest and threat to the life of the mother, but that the decision about abortion laws should be in the hands of the courts, not the legislature. He says he would propose a ban on abortion that would force the issue into the courts "once and for all."

Umina also proposed free registration and special insurance rates for cars that get over 50 miles per gallon, improved public transportation including a train system like those in Japan and Europe.

He said that sales tax should be eliminated because it hits families the hardest, and encourages people to drive to New Hampshire to shop. This extra driving is harmful to both the economy and the environment, he said.

Derailment causes deaths

Philadelphia subway mishap hospitalizes 130

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A subway derailed and smashed into a support beam during yeasterday morning's rush hour, shearing one car "like a sardine can." The crash killed three people, injured 130 and left some trapped for hours.

Officails said it is the worst accident in the 21 years the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Autority has operated regional commuter system.

Doctors amputated the right leg of one woman to free her from the wreckage of the six-car train. But the woman died four hours later of complications from a second broken leg and severe chest injuries, said Hahnemann University Hospital spokewoman Linda Clossey.

Of the 130 people treated at hospitals, five were in critical condition at the Universtiy of Pennsylvania Hospital, and 35 were discharged by Wednesday afternoon.

All three of the dead were among seven passengers trapped in the wreckage, authorities said.

Rescuers, aided by a mobile surgical team and special cutting equipment, freed the last two people nearly five hours after the accident, said Police Commissioner Willie Williams.

Transit officials said they were looking into a report that a dragging electric motor on one of the cars may have caused the derailment.

Conductor Steven Young said the train had just left the station when it suddenly pitched to the left. A tunnel support beam crashed through the side of his car and into a group of people.

"One was alive and I watched him die," Young said. "I tried to comfort him."

The train hit two support beams two blocks from its last station stop. A preliminary inspection indicated there was no danger of a cave-in, said Transit Inspector James Sweeney.

"I was in the first car and as we went through the station, you could hear the train hit something, like something was dragging. It went bam, bam, bam," said Mark Robinson of Philadelphia, on his way home from an overnight cashier's job.

"We got moving pretty good and then it seemed like it got bumpy all of a sudden," said Ray Baker, headed to a teaching job in west Philadelphia.

Inspectors said they found splintered ties in the right side of the tracks. They said the last three cars apparently jumped the rails and fishtailed into the support beams.

"The second and third cars were bent and the whole side of the second car was torn off," Robinson said. "It was peeled like a sardine can."

The train had pulled out of the 30th Street station after an 8:30 a.m. stop. The station links with Amtrak trains and commuter trains serving the suburbs.

"People were screaming," said passenger Robert Rogers. "It was dark and people were going left and right and were falling off the tracks and stuff."

The power in the subway tunnels was cut off to protect rescue workers.

The transit authority said it had no passenger count for the train. The capacity for each car was listed at 200 people and passengers said there was standing room only.

Traffic in the area was virtually shut down as emergency vehicles arrived on the scene. The transit authority had to shut down the east-west subway line and also trolleys that go underground four blocks away from 30th Street station to complete their trip to downtown.

I TOLD YOU TO WRITE FOR THE COLLEGIAN!

R+P
LIQUOR STORE
Check out our new location
505 West St. Rte. 116
close to Brittany & Riverdale
1 mile south on 116
Bring us your empties

GET RID OF STRESS
AND HAVE A MORE
RELAXING
SPRING BREAK
MASSAGE THERAPY
$5 OFF
NOW THROUGH
MARCH 31
Gift Certificates Available
call 586-1314

This Spring Break learn bartending at Massachusetts' only accredited bartending school.
call today
(617) 247-1600
811 Boylston Street
Boston, MA 02116
New England Bartenders School
Licensed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Education
Accredited by the Accrediting Council for Continuing Education & Training

Special Student & Youth Fares to
EUROPE, SOUTH AMERICA, ASIA
from New York on Scheduled Airlines!

DESTINATIONS	OW	RT
LONDON	$175	$350
PARIS	215	415
BRUSSELS	195	370
ROME	275	550
STOCKHOLM/OSLO	250	500
COPENHAGEN	250	500
ZURICH	215	405
FRANKFURT	215	410
RIO	365	730
TOKYO	495	850

Add on fares Boston, D.C., Chicago, Pittsburgh, other U.S. cities. Plus $6 dep. tax, $10 cust/immig fee. $5 security fee may apply in ea. direction.
CALL OR WRITE FOR OUR SPECIAL FARES TO THE SOUTH PACIFIC, AUSTRALIA & AROUND THE WORLD ROUTINGS
Eurail and Eurail Youth Passes available immediately
1-800-777-0112 STA
212-986-9470
WHOLE WORLD TRAVEL
17 E. 45th St., Suite 805, New York, NY 10017
Part of the worldwide STA Travel Network

COME CLEAN WITH US!
Open 7 days a week
7 a.m.-10 p.m.
Campus Coin Op 107 Sunderland Rd. North Amherst
Speedwash, 11 Pray St., Amherst
South Towne Commons Laundromat
479 West St., South Amherst

THE UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
DEPARTMENT OF THEATER
PRESENTS
The Imaginary Invalid
A comedy by Molière
March 1-3 and 7-10
at 8:00 p.m.
Matinee: March 3 at 2 p.m.
RAND THEATER FINE ARTS CENTER
TICKETS FINE ARTS CENTER BOX OFFICE 545-2511

ARTS & LIVING

Milt Jackson and a new modern jazz quartet

By BILL ROSENBLATT
Collegian Staff

March is definitely coming in like a lion with respect to the jazz concert scene during the month. Between the Iron Horse in Northampton and the Magic Triangle series here on campus, there will be plenty of opportunities to see great music in the coming weeks. This Sunday night, vibraharpist Milt Jackson brings a quartet to the Horse for two shows at 7 and 10 p.m.

Jackson, nicknamed "Bags," is probably the most important mallet man in jazz today. He plays the vibraharp, a bigger cousin to the more common vibraphone. He is best known as a member of the Modern Jazz Quartet, a very long-lived group (nearly four decades) that has created controversy that belies its quiet, subtlety-laden music.

The MJQ turned heads in the mid-1950s by wearing tuxedos, playing concert halls, acting prim and proper on stage, and generally adopting the trappings of European classical music. The mission of John Lewis, the group's pianist and leader, was to remove jazz from its "seedy" image and bring to it the same kind of dignity as classical music is afforded. Lewis also wrote many tunes with distinct European overtones ("Vendome," "Blues on Bach," etc.).

Valley Jazz

In certain quarters, the MJQ was criticized for its Eurocentric image — some even called them "Uncle Toms" when the racial climate began to heat up in the 60s and their music fell temporarily out of favor. But few ever criticized their musicianship: while Miles Davis was steamin' and Cannonball Adderley was preachin', the MJQ brewed up a quiet storm of exquisite musical beauty and delicacy. The 1960 double live album European Concert is a representative sample of their sound.

An important aspect of the MJQ's success was the musical tension between the effete Lewis and the earthy Jackson; while the former was writing fugues and counterpoint, the latter contributed blues numbers such as his signature tune, "Bags' Groove." In fact, much of the criticism the group received amounted to pleas for Lewis to let Jackson stretch out more. However, Jackson has had plenty of opportunity to do so in his contemporaneous career as a leader.

Jackson plays an instrument that one would think lends itself better to ballads than to the blues. Yet he is a consummate blues player, as much influenced by tenor sax titan Coleman Hawkins as by earlier vibes players like Lionel Hampton.

Outside of the MJQ, Jackson has recorded with such undeniable blues masters as Hawkins, John Coltrane and Ray Charles. He has also recorded prolifically as a coleader with bassist Ray Brown, and has appeared as a sideman on dates with Horace Silver, Thelonious Monk and many others. A good summary of his non-MJQ efforts in the late 50s can be found on the Atlantic anthology The Art of Milt Jackson.

Now that the MJQ is only an occasional concern, Jackson is out on his own more often. The quartet he will bring to the Iron Horse includes three "young lions:" pianist Mike Ledonn, bassist Ira Coleman and drummer Kenny Washington. Those who saw the MJQ's wonderful Bowker Auditorium gig a couple of years ago should expect to see and hear a different side of Milt Jackson's music this Sunday night.

Red Letter bundles up past experience to deliver a powerhouse show of R'n'R

Red Letter will be bringing their intense and unique sound to Sheehan's this Friday night. The all original quartet hails from Ithaca, N.Y. and has been developing its own style of pop music since 1987. Their reputation in the Upstate New York area is that of an exciting live band that combines drop dead playing with highly unique songwriting.

The band includes Robby Aceto on electric guitar, programmed synth, and vocals; Rich Martinez on bass and vocals, William King on drums, and Frank Martinez on electric violin. All four members are accomplished musicians and have worked extensively with other avante garde bands in developing their own unique talents which fuse together perfectly. In 1986 the band Adult Western, which included King, DePaulo and Martinez; was one of twenty bands out of 3000 entries to receive honorable mention in Musicians Magazine's contest for best unsigned band. Rob Aceto became involved in experimental music in the early 70s and has worked extensively with David Sylvian's touring band and the group Japan.

They play only their own songs which can often be 6 minute ventures in rhythmic texture. The band's passionate sound comes from extensive sonic experimentation and adventurousness and a high degree of technological sophistication. Red Letter is a good listening band. So if you're looking for a new kind of pumping psychedelic rock music that is both exciting and powerful, check out Red Letter.

— RICH BAILEN

Red Letter

Wall St. on board

By JODY GABIN
Collegian Staff

If you need to make a little extra money this weekend, you don't have to go farther than 163 Campus Center. At 7 p.m. on Friday, Leigh Audrey, creator of the game Speculation will be offering anyone interested the chance to win up to $500, just for spending the evening playing his game.

According to Grace Sullivan, UMass sophomore English major and Speculation promoter, "The idea of Speculation is pretty straightforward. Basically, it's Monopoly with a Wall Street twist."

Audrey's idea for the game arose from his experience in dealing with Wall Street after college. He graduated from Yale University in 1982, and became involved with the stock market by trading securities for Prudential Bache. After realizing that becoming a player just wasn't for him, he moved to West Newbury Mass., with his wife Catherine, and formed Cayla Games. He was out raking leaves one day when he came up with the idea for Speculation.

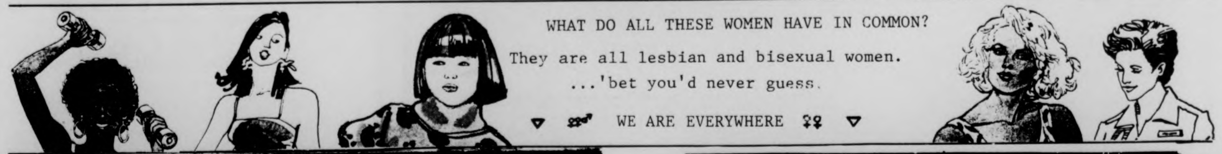
"The game is pretty much self-explanatory," Sullivan said. "You don't need any knowledge of the stock market to play."

Speculation takes approximately an hour-and-a-half to two hours to play. Each player starts out with a $10 million portfolio that's divided up into $600,000 cash and $400,000 in crude oil, gold, treasury bonds and blue chips. Players buy and sell as the market goes up and down.

Participating in the tournament on Friday night is also a good way to learn more about the stock market and how things work on Wall Street.

"The major difference between the game and the real world is that in Speculation, players rely on Market Mover Cards to tell them where the game is heading," Sullivan

CONTINUED ON PAGE 8



WHAT DO ALL THESE WOMEN HAVE IN COMMON?
They are all lesbian and bisexual women.
...'bet you'd never guess.
▽ ⚣ WE ARE EVERYWHERE ⚢ ▽

Casino Night
TONIGHT!
Win Cash
8 pm - 1 am
Campus Center Auditorium

TONIGHT
at
CHANGES
DANCE CLUB
SPRING BREAK MONTH
99¢ DRAFTS
Bud/Bud Light & Miller Beer
No Cover Before 10:00 p.m.
256-8284

Changing the Hadley Pub to a low-cover music club

By ALEXANDRA RAYNOLDS
Collegian Correspondent

Anyone looking for a good night out this weekend, might want to stop by the Hadley Pub. Recently under new ownership, the Hadley Pub has added live bands three nights a week and, come spring, may extend live entertainment to five nights.

The new stints started back in December, when Manager Dave Hunt approached local favorites Minibus Sandwich. The band brought in a good-sized crowd and had as much success their second run.

They were followed by Fifth Business, and the rest of this story took off from there. After Fifth Business, Hunt says, bands started approaching them for gigs.

"We started out with bands one night a week and had a very quick response. So we decided to have bands two nights and now three." The Pub used to be a local bar frequented mostly by college students, but now, Hunt says, the Pub attracts a wider audience. "Having bands has made people more aware that we're here."

And a good dose of publicity may be just what the Hadley Pub needs; hidden behind Stan the Vegetable Man is not an ideal spot for any thriving night spot, and the Pub has a lot to offer.

The tavern has a relaxed atmosphere with two pool tables, a basketball shoot and two t.v.s Pool tournaments happen every Monday night. The restaurant, Campus Pizza, separated from the bar, is low-key, comfortable, and attractively decorated. A compact disc jukebox for the bar is on its way and, Hunt says, they've been gradually fixing the place up.

Aspiring bands may apply here; the Pub books local bands from UMass, Northampton and also greater Boston and Connecticut. As to the musical variety, we may see all types including reggae parties in the spring, says Hunt.

The Pub is strictly over 21, and cover charge to see the bands is $2. The Pub is on the bus line, to boot. Hunt adds they would like to make the Hadley Pub a comfortable, hang-out type place where people can go without having to spend a great deal of money.

The Hadley Pub, Hunt says, wants to attract an integrated crowd. If this weekend is any indication of what's to come, they just might succeed. Thursday and Friday nights, the Pub hosts Savor, an established band from Connecticut that plays the sounds of Santana and The Allman Brothers. Saturday is blues night with Arthur James and The Truth. Sunday night is, as yet, "bandless' but if history repeats itself, that may change by this weekend; Minibus Sandwich returns next Wednesday; cover will be $2.

■ Speculation

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

UMass Speculation promoter Grace Sullivan

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

explained. "After players land on Market Mover Squares, they buy and sell with the exchange, according to what the card tells them. If you were an actual Wall Street investor, you'd have to make an educated guess as to where the market was heading. Speculation makes it simpler and also helps you understand the forces that effect the real market."

Whether you're interested in playing for money or to learn more about the investment business, participating in Friday's tournament is well-worth the time.

"There's no entry fee," Sullivan said. "And four people will be money-winners — one person will win $500 and three others will win $50. Also, anyone who plays will get a free Speculation t-shirt."

In addition to a cash prize, the four winners will have the opportunity to challenge students from other colleges.

"The exact date of the inter-collegiate tournament isn't set yet, but it will happen sometime in April," Sullivan explained. "The four winners from UMass will compete for a $2,000 prize with students from Boston University, Trinity and Yale."

If you're interested in trying your luck at Speculation before Friday night, the game is on sale at the University Store.

A helping hand for anyone interested in the arts

By NICK OSTIS
Collegian Correspondent

A little-known but very important institution, the Arts Extension Service has existed on campus since 1973. Largely the brainstorm of now State Rep. Stan Rosenberg (D-Amherst), the AES provides invaluable service to artists, arts organizations, communities and individuals with visions of careers in arts production and management. For its innovative programming, among other specialties, AES has received six national awards. States as far away as Hawaii, Arizona and Wyoming have employed AES expertise to help develop and enhance their own arts communities.

In addition, AES offers its own state-of-the-art publications, access to its Artist Business Library and is a national leader in arts education programs, technical assistance programs and special projects — The New England Film and Video Festival, for one.

Staff Director Barbara Schaffer Bacon wants artists, community organizers and business-oriented people to be aware of AES resources. "We work with all artists-in literature film, video, performing arts, dance and visual arts. We have an Artist Business Library. We sit down and talk about what an artist's resume might look like and what are the steps to approaching a gallery, an agent or the government.

"Secondly, we offer courses and workshops in artist business management which, through sponsorship of the University Arts Council, are available to students. We offer an arts management course which provides an introduction to arts management education to students who are considering it for a career, but also to improve the management of an on campus arts organization.

"An artist looking for information on grants and fellowships, for example, could come here and check out a file where they might learn about their own discipline, or they could get a basic handout on grant writing and fundraising. Beyond that, we have directories in the office with lists of those places that provide funds to individual artists. We have a book that explains business practices for the artist."

One doesn't have to be an artist to be employed in the field. For instance, arts management is a field that's expanding. There are now about twenty-four graduate degree programs across the country in arts management. Students can get an undergraduate degree here in arts administration through BDIC by combining business, education and arts.

Bacon has something to say about the recent public controversies in terms of censorship and funding. "I think controversy of and about the arts is wonderful. It keeps us in the news. It keeps people talking about what art is. It keeps people paying attention. We really believe public funding for the arts is critical. It's very much a concern in Massachusetts where, along with the higher education budget being chopped at, they've actually eliminated the Massachusetts Council for the Arts and Humanities at this point this fiscal year."

Ultimately, in good time or bad, Bacon wants people knocking on her door (604 Goodell Building) and calling on the phone (545-2360). "We want to be the first place within the university community people think of to call. If you're involved in the arts and you're trying to get money to promote something or figuring out how to promote yourself, or trying to get some information, call AES first or stop by. Faculty can do that, students can do that and artists in the community can do that. What you may find is we have a workshop that will help you; or a publication or some resources in the library. Every summer we offer a program on campus for three days and this is what the nature of that is.

"I think there is a misconception that the arts are basically for people who are rich and have to do with black ties and gala events. This is what we work against. We're working for the fact that people should encounter art in their everyday life and recognize what art is in their everyday life. And feel at whatever educational or economic level they're at, they have the right and opportunity to enjoy that or express themselves."

Scott's LIQUORS
OPEN MON-SAT
8 AM-11 PM
Tel. 549-2692
6 University Drive
at Newmarket Center
Amherst
diagonnaly across from UMASS Stadium

$AVE, $AVE, $AVE...
AT SCOTT'S LIQUORS!

Sam Adams Bock Beer six-pack 12 oz. bottles $5.49 + dep.
Rolling Rock 12 pack 12 oz. bottles $5.99
Jack Daniels Bourbon 750 ml $9.99
Smirnoff Vodka 750 ml $7.49
O'Keefe Canadian 24-12 oz. bottles $12.99 + dep.
Kahlua Liquer 750 ml $10.99

VISA/MASTERCARD ACCEPTED
ALSO LOCAL PERSONAL CHECKS

Plus many instore and rebate specials!!
Kegs Available
1/2 Kegs starting at $29.00
Sale Good 3/5 thru 3/10

WE WANT TO BE YOUR FAVORITE LIQUOR STORE

The Foto Factory

Film in by 10 a.m.
Prints out by 4 p.m.

1 hour service available for Black & White Film
(Northampton Only)

1 hour service available for
Color Film
(Amherst & Greenfield Only)

224½ Federal Street • Greenfield, MA 01301
774-5464
257 Triangle Street • Amherst, MA 01002
549-6490
62 King Street • Northampton, MA 01060
584-2274

Main St RECORDS
213 MAIN STREET NORTHAMPTON MA 01060 413-586 5726

UMASS vs. TEMPLE
LIVE TONIGHT at
CASINO NIGHT
8:00 p.m. CCA

Join The Commuter Collective

What does Ralph Nader have in common with Dennis Miller and Cesar Chavez?
He to will be brought to UMASS by commuters

Nomination Papers open for:
Treasurer, President, and Vice President
Seven governing Board seats open
(Papers Due March 12)

ALSO HIRING FOR WORKSTUDY AND NON-WORKSTUDY POSITIONS

Commuter Collective 404 Student Union 545-2145

TACO VILLA

MEXICAN RESTAURANTS

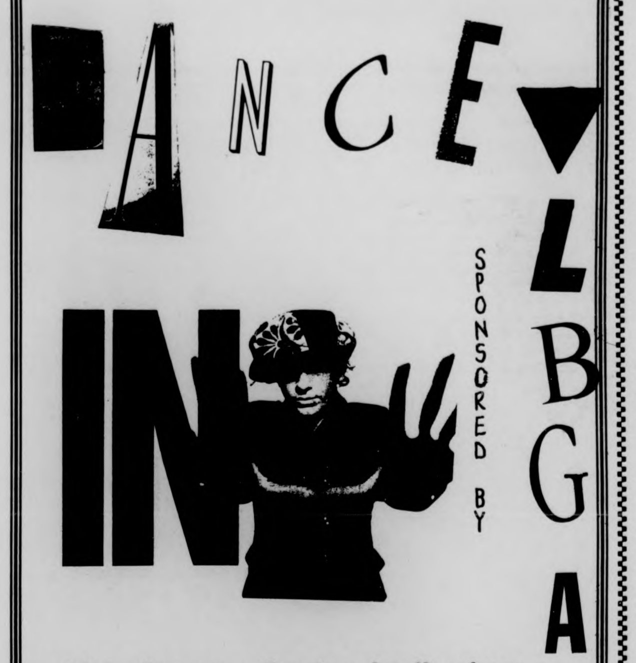
Great mexican food served quickly and inexpensively in a friendly & casual atmosphere...
Try it! You'll like it!

Downtown Amherst and Northampton



The Campus Center Auditorium
March 9, 1990 9:00 p.m.-1:00 a.m.

MUSIC BY MAX
EVERYONE WELCOME!

$3.00 Donation at the Door

THE
EDWIN M. ROSSMAN
ALUMNI CAREER FORUMS
DEPARTMENTS OF MICROBIOLOGY
AND BIOCHEMISTRY

DATE: THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1990
TIME: 8:00 PM
LOCATION: CAMPUS CENTER 101

SPONSORED BY:
MATHER CAREER CENTER
ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
DEPARTMENT OF MICROBIOLOGY

This is an opportunity to meet with alumni and discuss their experiences in the working world. Don't miss this important panel discussion!

OPEN TO ALL STUDENTS IN THE BIOSCIENCES
WINE AND CHEESE WILL BE SERVED

ALUMNI PANELISTS:

Diane Crawford Biochemistry '88	Laboratory Technologist Children's Hospital Boston, MA
Rocco Iocco, DMD Microbiology, '81 Medical Technology '82	Private Dental Practice Lynnfield, MA
Joan Shankle Medical Technology '77	Manager of Regulatory Affairs & Compliance Seragen, Inc. Hopkinton, MA
Anita Arnum Microbiology '86	Emergency Medical Technician & Firefighter Acton, MA
Robert E. Burrier, Ph.D. Biochemistry '79	Senior Principal Scientist Shering-Plough Research Bloomfield, NJ

For more information, please contact:
Department of Microbiology 545-2553
Mather Career Center 545-2224

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Victims of a senseless society

"I want to be a kid again."

How many times, when the pressures of the day have set in, have you cried this out in frustration?

How many times have you looked for old friends like Grover, Clifford the Big Red Dog and Snoopy?

Gayle Long

And your parents? Haven't they too reminisced about the days when you were too small to climb the stairs, eat with a fork or perhaps even speak? Ahh, yes, the good old days.

For some reason, other than the liberties which come with age, I am glad to be grown up.

This year in Boston alone, 25 children have died. These children had been under the supervision of the Department of Social Services, but once again the system has failed.

Why are these children dying?

Doesn't anyone care about children anymore? Don't parents care about their children?

In February, there were nine deaths. Two are under investigation? Why only two? Perhaps people are afraid of what they might find.

The Boston Globe reported on March 6 the causes of the deaths of the February fatalities. Here are a few examples:

1) Cardiac arrest took the life of a three-year-old infant. (Why would a baby's heart stop beating? Little young hearts are supposed to be strong?)

2) A nine-month-old baby died of dehydration. WHAT? Was the child living in the desert? Come on! A child that wasn't given sufficient liquids? For some reason, that doesn't sit well with me. But then again, children shouldn't be dying — any reason isn't going to sit well with me. Especially when the child lives in a city with an ample water supply.

3) Suicide. 14-year-old children know how to kill themselves, they want to kill themselves, and they are capable of doing it. When I was 14, the biggest thing on my mind was Michael Jackson moon-walking across the stage at the Apollo Theatre. Suicide wasn't even a vocabulary word — let alone something to take seriously. This says something about the future of this generation, doesn't it?

Children are supposed to be treasured, cherished and loved. For these children to die, or want to die, is a sad statement about society.

The Department of Social Services must deal with some of the heart-wrenching, terrifying and horrible scenes of America today. They witness the neglect, abuse and deaths of the future of America. Their jobs must be so frustrating, so painful and probably the least rewarding of any I could picture.

But at least they are there.

The deaths of these children are a terrible sign of an insensitive and self-centered world. For a parent to give life and then not love that part of them only exhibits that the child was not a product of love; rather, one of a harsh reality. They are the products of a society concerned with drugs, rape, murder and hate. We no longer live in a world that is filled with love. Naive, you say? You bet.

These deaths are mourned for what these children could have been, and mourned because their parents didn't care.

Gayle Long is a Collegian columnist

Minute-madness takes over

"There are five seconds to go in the game. The home team is down by one. The coach is sending in Number 10 Galitsky. He comes off the bench limping. As you recall, he scored 48 points in the first half before getting fouled and spraining his ankle. But this team needs him desperately now. The crowd goes insane.

Josh Galitsky

The ball is inbounded. Galitsky is quadruple-teamed, 4-3-2, he dribbles out of the wall of players and throws up a desperation 88-footer with one second left on the clock. The ball sails across the Civic Center. Swish! Providence College wins the NCAA championship. Number 10 has done it again! (This was when I was young, before the three-pointer. The possibilities with my Nerf Basketball set-up would have been even more endless.)"

Who hasn't had a dream resembling this? It's in the blood of any true sports fan. Winning the big one. Being carried off by an ecstatic, adoring crowd. Taking part in a miracle.

When I was about 7, my dad took me to see my first Providence College basketball game. I didn't even know what a Friar was, but it didn't matter to this Jewish kid from eastern Mass. All I know is I loved everything from the greasy hot dogs with mustard and over-salted pretzels to the way the old vendors at the entrance used to grunt loudly through their cigars, "programs, line up here." It was college basketball. And it was the magic of my childhood.

I saw all the big games. I was there when PC beat number one ranked Michigan by a last second shot in double overtime. I saw the PC—URI wars. I was there at the beginning of the Big East. And I was there for the NCAA.

The Patrick Ewings and Danny Ainges, the Notre Dames and North Carolina States, the opening rounds and the Eastern Regionals. I've been there for the tournaments. It was one of the most wonderful things I can remember about my youth.

There were always four teams, four sets of cheerleaders, four bands, four colors of that school's fans, four waves of pom-poms in the stands. Four different versions of "When the Saints Go Marching In."(or is it Come Marching In? Nobody seems to know.)

I would go to the game and root for the underdog with my heart and soul. I would fall in love with the spirit of the game, the excitement of the band and the fans, and the cheerleader third from the left. Everything I knew about what college would be like was from watching college hoop. I couldn't wait to grow up. I couldn't wait to be part of that experience from the inside.

But I got to UMass and the experience never materialized. We were a poorly-coached team with wasted talent and dreams holding only past glory in the name of Julius Erving. It was very sad.

But now my school is on the verge of a journey. A magical mystery tour. I never thought I would see it. I never thought the day would come when destiny would at last be in our hands.

Imagine the chill up your spine hearing Brent Musburger pointing to the big tournament board and saying, "this Cinderella team from little Amherst, Mass. is making basketball history."

One game away. One game. Yeah, so it's Temple. Big deal! We haven't beat Temple in umpteen tries. Big deal! Who has scared the less-than-mighty Owls all season long? Who will be hungrier?

It is bitter cold right now. There is no hope in the air for anything except catching the flu. And suddenly, the UMass basketball team is on the verge of performing a miracle. Dr. J must be sitting somewhere and smiling.

Minute-madness is here. Let's tear down the Temple and go to the big show. It's great to be reliving my childhood in my last year of school. The only problem is, what if we play PC?

Josh Galitsky is a Collegian columnist

"YOU HEARD ME—TAKE ME TO 'MARLBORO COUNTRY'!"

Banner reflects hatred not rights

We at the LBGA feel compelled to address the current controversy surrounding Ted Maravelias' banner reading "Homosexuality is criminal." He claims denial of his First Amendment rights in the ripping down of this banner by an offended student, as well as intoleration of his own "diversity" in "being against homosexuality."

The distinction that needs to be drawn here is between freedom of speech and harassment. As we see it, expression of views in places in which people have the choice to partake of them or not (i.e. in the Minuteman itself, the Minuteman office, or a public forum), constitutes free speech.

However, a three to four foot banner strung on University property down the main drag of the Student Union is harassment.

Homosexual people encountering the message could not help but receive the full impact of the hatred — a sign of this prominence offers no opportunity to turn away and not read — and this must have been Maravelias' intention exactly.

If this message had been directed at another group (i.e. Jews or people of color), the administration would likely be conducting an investigation into the possibility of suspension/expulsion on charges of harassment of one Ted Maravelias.

The great dilemma among liberals these days is about how far to tolerate intolerance itself. We feel no obligation to accept this particular brand of blatant intolerance.

UMass Lesbian, Bisexual and Gay Alliance

Putting life into perspective at the Penn Palestra

I returned recently from five days in Philadelphia.

I was there to cover the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team, as it challenged for the Atlantic-10 Championship. Originally, that was the sole item on the itinerary. But I got a lot more out of the trip.

It was about 8:30 Sunday night. I was seated on press row, high above courtside at the Pennsylvania Palestra, watching as Penn State University and George Washington University played basketball on the floor below.

Suddenly a man came rushing up the steps, a look of concern and excitement blanketing his face.

"Hank Gathers collapsed again on the court tonight," he shouted.

That concern spread among the writers and radio broadcasters. The game below became secondary as everyone rushed to collect information on the condition of this star. Surely, all of America waited eagerly. But here, it was a much, much deeper matter.

Eric "Hank" Gathers grew up in South Philadelphia, in a rough neighborhood off 23rd Street. He was a friendly face in the city, loved and respected by everyone for his athletic talents and his off-court personality.

They couldn't believe it when, an hour later, it was confirmed that Gathers had died.

The 23-year-old Gathers displayed the image of being a power on the court, a sturdy 6-foot-7, tough as nails. When he played, running the floor non-stop for 40 minutes, making the rim vibrate, it was as if he stood with lightning bolt in hand. A show of strength and youth. Immortal, perhaps.

Jim Clark

Dead? Just like that?

Collectively, an entire city was thrown into shock at the loss of a hero. I was surrounded by the emotion, and couldn't help but be caught in it myself.

Duquesne University star Mark Stevenson left the Palestra floor late Sunday night after losing to Temple in his final collegiate game. Reason enough for sadness, but totally overshadowed when Duquesne Athletic Director Brian Colleary informed Stevenson of his friend's death.

Stevenson was a teammate of Gathers in junior high school. He and Temple All-American Mark Macon were close friends. The three played in summer leagues together.

At the usual post-game press conference, Stevenson made no attempt to fight back tears.

"We all kept in touch whenever we were in town," he said. "It's just a tremendous shock to me right now."

Temple coach John Chaney, as competitive as they come, found it easy to forget his team's win in the aftermath.

"This basketball game meant nothing tonight . . . the kid was a soldier for a lot of kids, and a champion of a lot of causes. How unfair."

A lot of athletes had been taken unfairly in the past. The names like Len Bias — victims of drug use — don't qualify for this category. I speak more of tragic occurrences that could not be avoided.

A name that comes to mind is Normand Leveille, a bright prospect for the Boston Bruins. One minute skating on the ice of Vancouver's Pacific Coliseum in October 1982, falling to a cerebral hemorrhage the next. Leveille survived, but is not the person he was, or could have been. Doctors said it could have happened if he sneezed while walking down the street. Totally unavoidable.

Which make the words of Macon, words to live by:

"So many times, people, as well as myself and maybe some of you, take life for granted," he said. "Thinking it's OK, that we're all going to wake up tomorrow. But some people don't wake up. I hope it helps the guys and all of us here put our lives in perspective. Knowing that tomorrow isn't promised to anyone."

I learned a lot from this trip to Philadelphia.

Jim Clark is a Collegian columnist

It is time to dump the 'Beacon Hill Brat Pack'

So you've thought (I hope) about who you are going to elect governor of Massachusetts on November 6. You have witnessed the neo-Nike sneaker advertisement of Frank Belotti jogging around his block, read newspaper articles about Silber and Murphy, and seen television news profiles of the rest of the pack.

Now the question becomes: "Who do I vote for?" The answer, for me anyway, has increasingly become "none of the above."

I have been fortunate enough to meet and hear two candidates who came to Framingham State College in the past few months: Evelyn Murphy and Steven Pierce, and frankly, I wasn't impressed with either of them.

Both Pierce and Murphy pride themselves in giving students lip service when it comes to supporting public higher education, especially Pierce. Neither candidate said it was priority as far as funding was concerned.

Pierce revealed recently that he supports the CLT (Citizens for Limited Taxation) petition drive to cut the state's revenues by $1 billion, a move that might cripple the state and send the budget deficit soaring to three times its current level.

Weld, Silber, Flood and Umina simply do not impress me in the least. Most of the candidates now running for governor have been in Massachusetts politics so long that their offices are equipped with shovels and wading boots to handle the amount of "waste" flying around the Statehouse. In fact, none of the candidates now running for the office of governor have shown that they have true staying power with the students, let alone the general population.

I think I've found an alternative to the litany of bum-kissing, rhetoric-spewing, cry-baby members of the Beacon Hill Brat Pack: Stan Rosenberg.

Geoff Richelew

Stan who?

Stanley Rosenberg, the State Representative from Amherst has been a leading advocate of public higher education for several years now.

I am going to write him in for governor come November because he has a proven track record of supporting the things students care about, rather than those of a privileged few who can afford dozens of highly paid lobbyists to sell their programs, whether they serve the public interest or not.

Now, I admit that one of the reasons Rosenberg is such a big fan of our cause is because the district he represents is dominated by five colleges, the largest of which is none other than UMass/Amherst.

My critics must note, however, that the other four colleges (Amherst, Mount Holyoke, Hampshire and Smith) are all private institutions. In spite of this last fact, Rosenberg has repeatedly supported initiative petitions and bills which aid public higher education.

He has also worked closely with the student-run lobbying group S.S.A.M. on occasion to keep the issue of affordable higher education in the spotlight on Beacon Hill.

The only problem is that Stan Rosenberg is not running. He is probably content to continue representing his district without getting into the uncomfortable business of holding statewide office.

So why waste a ballot on someone who isn't running? I don't see my action as being a waste, but rather a calculated attempt to send a message to Beacon Hill that we're mad as hell and we're not going to take any more (I know it's a cliche).

If enough people in this state decide to reject the old-line politicians and their out-of-date ways of running state government, then we may finally be able to move forward into the 1990s, and take our place as a leader of the industrial state of this country.

And how do we get rid of those representatives who have out-stayed their welcome?

Contact your local representative and find out whether they are committed to quality, affordable public higher education and other issues affecting students.

If they don't, or will not give you a straight answer, then there's only one logical thing to do in November: Vote 'em out of office.

Geoff Richelew is a member of the Gatepost newspaper at Framingham State College

Students with children depend upon future of day care

It's a common dream for many of us at UMass to get our degree, establish our career and when we are ready, get married and begin a family of our own.

The reality for many of us at UMass is that the dream doesn't always unfold with this chronology.

Along the way to graduation, many of us may end up with children. The students on campus who already have children must handle the pressures of pursuing an education and career while providing the nurture and finances to raise their child.

This is obviously a more than difficult task and is why the maintenance of University Child Care (U.C.C.) is vital to all graduate and undergraduate students who attend UMass.

The U.C.C. has provided students, as well as faculty and staff, with quality day care at an affordable rate for more than fifteen years. In the panic of the school's recent financial crisis, the future of U.C.C. has been placed in jeopardy.

Since the fall, university officials have discussed offering the Child Care program to a vendor service independent of UMass.

Although a vendor would relieve the University of a financial burden, it would be certain to lower the quality of day care, while eliminating benefits such as cultural diversity in the centers, the low fee rate and U.C.C.'s tuition assistance program.

Craig Berger

To explore other possibilities, the Child Care Options Advisory Board, comprised of parents, teachers, Child Care administrators and University administrators was established.

The board is faced with the challenge of making a recommendation to Dennis Madson as to how University Child Care can remain a service on campus.

According to U.C.C. Administrative Director Alicia Smith, the board has proposed a viable option. The plan to save our child care program is called Model C.

Model C will bring operation costs to a workable figure by making modest cuts in many areas of department expenditures.

The plan would work by collapsing unnecessary administrative positions, raising the child to teacher ratio in the day care centers, reducing some worker benefits, raising parent fees slightly and changing parent pick-up time options.

If Madson likes Model C, he will need to convince the ultimate decision makers, Chancellor Duffey and Provost O'Brien, that the plan will work.

Although Model C is an apparent solution, the University officials may still be tempted by the easy and cheap option of giving the U.C.C. facilities to an outside vendor.

The parents who rely on U.C.C. have made it clear that they do not want an outside company providing day care to their children.

Further, in is unlikely for a vendor program to succeed if it is unwanted by parents and has no financial support from UMass.

For these reasons, it is the obligation of Madson, Duffey and O'Brien to work U.C.C. in the future of this school.

It is also their obligation to make it realistic for parent/students to pursue their education while bringing up their children.

Craig Berger is a Collegian correspondent and an Assistant Teacher for U.C.C.

Letters to the Editor

Area gives reason for break

We have come to believe that the current SGA leadership has consistently geared policies toward minimizing the effectiveness of Area Governments.

The Talbot-Filkins motion calling for the reduction in area government funding is the most recent in an endless array of acts which we consider aggression.

The Southwest Area Government (SWAG) has been accused of not being open to discussion around the Talbot-Filkins motion. This is categorically untrue. We wholeheartedly advocate opening up a dialectic with the SGA leadership. Unfortunately, this does not seem possible at this time.

The SGA will tell you that your Area Government, the organization that sponsors both social and cultural programming in every area, is failing to distribute your money properly. You know these programs in the form of Octoberfest, Bowl Day, Pig Outs, Sylvan Day and Southwest Week.

The SGA asserts that your elected officials aren't representing you. It is blaming various factors of the proposed cut to area governments, including the state budget crisis.

SWAG believes that the undergraduate students at the University have sacrificed enough due to the budget crisis. We have had to fight for classes and pay increased tuition and fees.

We have made our statement by seceding from the SGA. We now ask that you make a statement. Find out about the Talbot-Filkins motion. Let your SGA senator, Area Government and House Council representatives know how you feel.

We believe that it is no longer acceptable to allow our financial autonomy to be questioned. You, the students, need to take a stand before all the activities in your area cease to exist.

Southwest Area Government Executive Staff

Military bias outdated concept

There is a new wave of bigotry on this campus. Homophobia is on the rise, and it is now infecting our academic programs.

The ROTC program has long been a contributor to the level of diversity on this campus, by giving students interested in the military sciences an opportunity to pursue this as a major and as a career field. However, by barring lesbian, bisexual and gay students from their program, they have disregarded the tradition of diversity.

I do not question their legal right to uphold this misguided policy. However, I question their moral right and their right to conduct such practices on this campus.

At UMass we do not make divisions based on race, religion, class, gender, ethnicity or sexual orientation. We don't do it, whether or not the federal government says we can, because it is unacceptable.

According to the Supreme Court, homosexual sodomy is not protected by the Constitution, due to outdated attitudes and misinformation. However, it is important to remember that homosexual couples are essentially the same as heterosexual couples.

They hold hands, they walk together, they spend time together. They are no more explicit or sexually active than a heterosexual couple. They do not deserve to be persecuted by ignorance.

Major Moore of the ROTC program says that "Homosexuality is not allowed," and "We don't discriminate against anyone." If that makes sense to you, then disregard this letter. If not, question this policy, and fight to have it changed.

Letters should be addressed to Provost O'Brien, Whitmore.

Angus G. McQuilken
SGA Senator

Generating fuss over nothing

I could not believe that the story about the vandalized bumper sticker got a big front-page write up.

It's not that unusual when people write on posters hanging on doors — which are never reported.

So what makes Mr. Oats so special? The fact that he is gay?

The Collegian is a bigger rag than I ever imagined.

Was it nice that the "victim's" bumper sticker was written on? No, but the world isn't all that nice either.

So, as soon as Mr. Oats and the Collegian wake up to reality, maybe they won't make such a big deal out of someone's thoughtless prank.

The person that did it probably never imagined the fuss that would be generated over nothing.

When is the Collegian going to start printing stories that affect the majority of students on this campus, rather than those selfish special interest groups that can't function in our society?

A real newspaper would!

Tom McLaughlin
Amherst

Complaints due to budget cuts

I want to thank Meredith O'Brien for her editorial ("Self-centered secession," March 5) in which she wrote, "In a time of real budget cutting, cutting that is having a devastating effect on the lives and futures of students at this University, how can the SGA bicker over their own little budget?"

What Ms. O'Brien does not realize is that the Area Government issues and budget cuts are very much related.

As part of budget cutting measures, the state has made the decision to charge each trust fund a percentage of the fringe benefits costs for its professional employees. Like the tragic cuts that the state made to the UMass budget directly, this decision, too, was made in the middle of the year.

For the Student Activities Trust Fund, these fringe costs amount to approximately $90,000 for this fiscal year and another $200,000 for next year. As if that were not bad enough, the University is also decreasing its enrollment by 1,000 students for next year.

Since all trust funds receive their revenue from student fees, the fewer students there are, the less money the trust funds take in.

We alone did not request an increase because we did not want to burden students with another fee increase for this already troubled fiscal year.

The alternative then is to make cuts in our present operations. Budgets Chair Karen Talbot and I have prepared the Senate's trust fund for about $40,000. That is not enough.

As a result, we and the other members of the Student Activities Trust Fund Planning Committee have forwarded recommendations to the Undergraduate Student Senate, which include changing the funding levels of Area Governments and of the Board of Governors.

These are not recommendations that we enjoy making, but they are extremely necessary if students are to be spared from yet another round of fee increases.

Unfortunately, no one seems to be making that connection. Let me say it again — the Area Government issues are directly related to the Student Government Association's decision to not ask for a fee increase to the Student Activities Trust Fund.

So, for all who think that the Area Government issues are nothing more than a petty internal battle, think again.

They are a direct result of the state's fiscal disaster and a direct result of the SGA's attempt to save students money.

Laura Filkins
SGA Treasurer

Our Prices
Beat the Mall's on Namebrand
Athletic Footwear

asics GEL
mitre
AVIA
Asahi
Reebok
Saucony
adidas
NIKE
HEAD

Western Village
Ski & Sports
32 Main St., Northampton, MA 584-3620
Open Daily 9-5:30, Thurs. 'til 8:30 P.M.

WHERE?

VALLEY BICYCLES Ltd
VALLEY BICYCLES Ltd

...do I go to see the value-packed GIANT line of bikes?
Valley Bicycles!
...do I go to learn all about the new All-Terrain bikes?
Valley Bicycles!
...do I go for courteous, professional bicycle service?

VALLEY BICYCLES LTD.
319 Main Street, Amherst
256-0880
Store Hours: Monday-Saturday 10a.m.-6p.m.

Nancy Jane's
Restaurant & Bakery

36 Main Street
Amherst, MA
"Across from Police Station"

SOUPS • SALADS • SANDWICHES
IN-HOUSE BAKERY
$5.99 Dinner Specials
Wed., Thurs., Fri. 4:30-6:30

Open: M-F 6-6:30 p.m.
Sat 7-5
Sun 7-2

FREE Chocolate Chip Cookie w/ this AD and a $3.00 purchase
Catering Available 253-3343

BREAKFAST ALL DAY SUNDAY!
Moderate Prices—Relaxed Atmosphere—Homestyle Cooking

"Who is Worthy to Break the Seals and Open the Scroll?"

"Worthy is the Lamb who was slain, to receive power and wealth and wisdom and strength and honor and glory
and praise!" Rev. 5:2, 12

God has a plan and it includes you!
Join other students at this weeks 'TOUCH' meeting, Friday, March 9, 1990
7 pm Campus Center Rm 805-809

Transforming Ourselves
Under Christ's
Hand

'TOUCH' is a UMASS Student Organization meeting every Friday at 7 pm in the Campus Center for singing, group discussion, support and fellowship.

An MBA degree that gives you a degree of experience.

The Northeastern Co-op MBA program enables you to earn your degree in just 21 months and still earn money for your education—paid professional work experience is an integral part of the curriculum.

Northeastern University, one of the country's leaders in cooperative education, has offered this outstanding educational option to MBA candidates for over 20 years.

The Co-op MBA program begins in June and January. Application deadlines are April 15 and November 1, respectively. For details, return the coupon below.

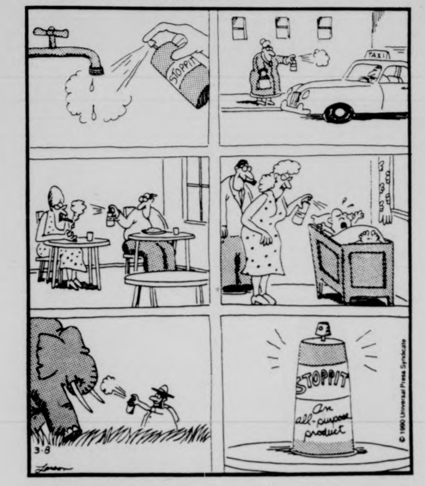
Yes, I'd like to find out more about a Northeastern Co-op MBA degree. Send to: Graduate School of Business Administration, 205 Hayden Hall, Northeastern University, 360 Huntington Ave., Boston, MA 02115.

Name
Address
City State Zip

Northeastern University is an equal opportunity affirmative action employer. The College of Business Administration is accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business.

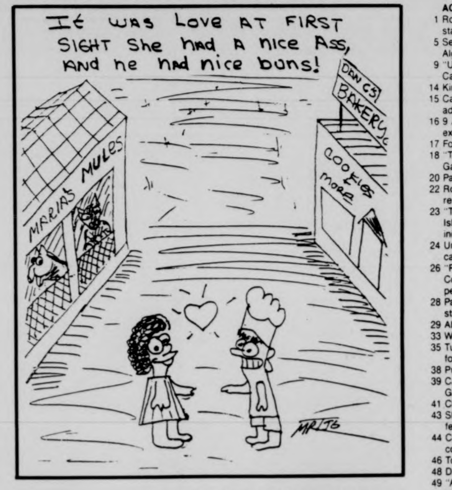
Northeastern University
UM 20
C O - O P M B A

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



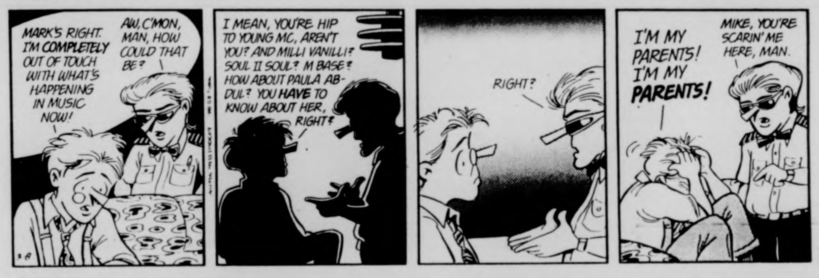
STOPPIT
TAXI
STOPPIT
An all-purpose product
3-8
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



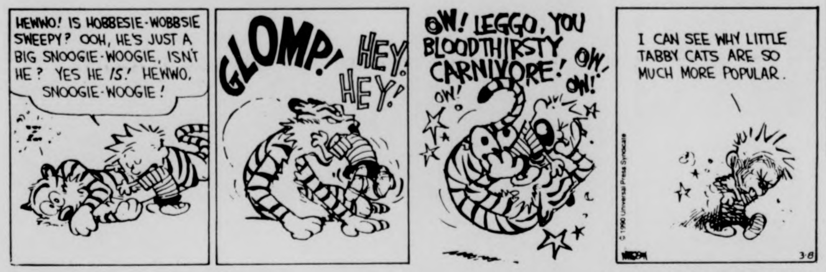
It was Love at FIRST SIGHT She had a nice Ass, and he had nice buns!
DAN G'S BAKERY
COOKIES & MORE
MARIA'S MULES
MR/JG

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



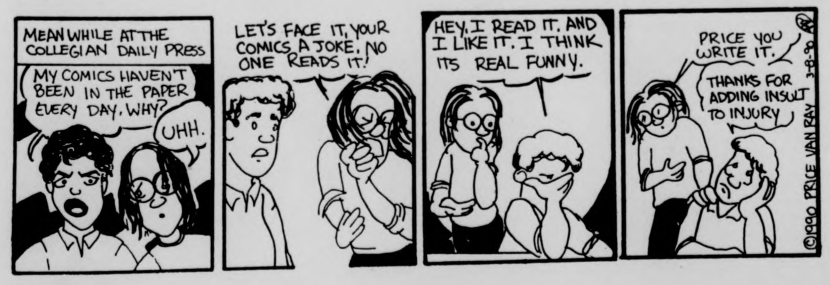
MARK'S RIGHT. I'M COMPLETELY OUT OF TOUCH WITH WHAT'S HAPPENING IN MUSIC NOW!
AW, C'MON, MAN, HOW COULD THAT BE?
I MEAN, YOU'RE HIP TO YOUNG MC, AREN'T YOU? AND MILLI VANILLI? SOUL II SOUL? M BASE? HOW ABOUT PAULA ABDUL? YOU HAVE TO KNOW ABOUT HER, RIGHT?
RIGHT?
I'M MY PARENTS! I'M MY PARENTS!
MIKE, YOU'RE SCARIN' ME HERE, MAN.
3-8

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



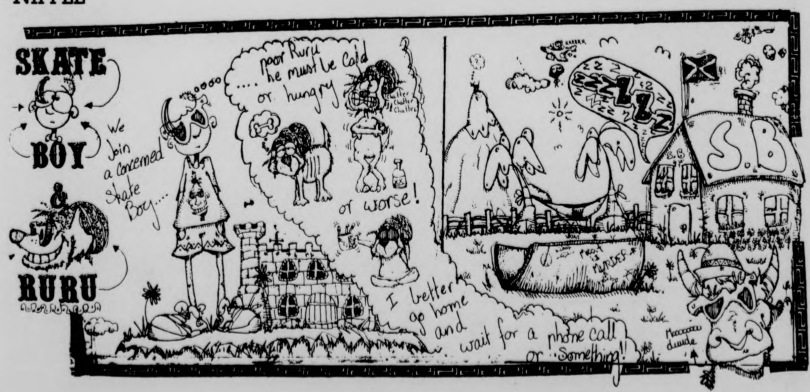
HEWWO! IS HOBBESIE-WOBBSIE SWEEPY? OOH, HE'S JUST A BIG SNOOGIE-WOOGIE, ISN'T HE? YES HE IS! HEWWO, SNOOGIE-WOOGIE!
GLOMP!
HEY! HEY!
OW! LEGGO, YOU BLOODTHIRSTY CARNIVORE! OW! OW! OW!
I CAN SEE WHY LITTLE TABBY CATS ARE SO MUCH MORE POPULAR.
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-8

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



MEANWHILE AT THE COLLEGIAN DAILY PRESS
MY COMICS HAVEN'T BEEN IN THE PAPER EVERY DAY. WHY?
UHH.
LET'S FACE IT, YOUR COMICS A JOKE. NO ONE READS IT!
HEY, I READ IT. AND I LIKE IT. I THINK ITS REAL FUNNY.
PRICE YOU WRITE IT.
THANKS FOR ADDING INSULT TO INJURY
©1990 PRICE VAN RAY 3-8-90

NIPPLE
By PITT



SKATE BOY & RURU
We Join a concerned Skate Boy....
.... poor Ruru he must be Cold or hungry or worse!
Chatter Chatter Chatter
I better go home and wait for a phone call or Something!
S.B
MEAT IS MURDER
Mooooooo duude

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

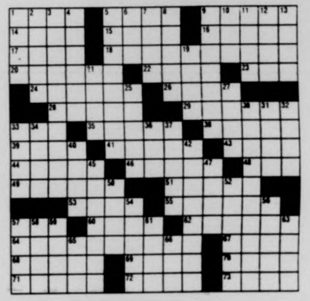
ACROSS
1 Roman statesman
5 Seaport near Algiers
9 "Uncle Tom's Cabin" author
14 Kind of exam
15 Camera adjustments
16 9 Across, for example
17 Foundation
18 "The Great Gatsby" writer
20 Paraffin
22 Roll call response
23 "Treasure Island" author's inits.
24 Units of capacity
26 "Portnoy's Complaint" penman
28 Part of a staircase
29 Abounded
33 Wiretap
35 Turn: Comb. form
38 Prepared
39 Carney and Garfunkel
41 Checks
43 Shoreline feature
44 Colosseum combatants
46 Toast starters
48 Digs
49 "A House — Home"
51 Island off Venezuela
53 Major part
55 Worry
57 Marble
60 "Two Years Before the Mast" author
62 Iran before 1935
64 "An Eye for the Dragon" author
67 "The Fountainhead" writer
68 Mistreat or maltreat
69 Port on the Adriatic
70 "Picnic" playwright
71 Did a garden chore
72 Scanty
73 Parisian seasons

DOWN
1 Caesar's comic sidekick
2 On — (going great)
3 "Penrod" penman
4 Acidic salt
5 Those making sacrifices
6 Reine's mate
7 Protein hormone, for short
8 "My Life in Court" author
9 Less tart
10 High craggy hill
11 Gen. Bradley
12 Author Hersey's "The —"
13 Pass catchers
19 Cave, to Coleridge
21 Salamander
25 Laziness
27 Observe
30 "The Necklace" author, with "de"
31 Writer Ferber
32 Changed color
33 Denpasar's island
34 "Exodus" novelist
36 "The Purloined Letter" penman
37 Winfrey of TV
40 Uppity one
42 High order of angels
45 Like some tires
47 Free from doubt
50 There ought to be —
52 "Peter Pan" playwright
54 Door parts
56 Scorch
57 Skier's transport
58 Goya's duchess
59 "The Caine Mutiny" novelist
61 Soviet sea
63 Hoosier humorist et al.
65 Full of: Suffix
66 Numerical prefix

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

S	E	C	T	S	■	I	R	M	A	■	B	L	A	B
A	M	O	R	E	■	R	E	A	L	■	R	O	P	E
L	I	F	E	R	■	E	G	G	B	E	A	T	E	R
E	L	F	■	V	I	N	E	S	■	N	I	T	R	E
■	■	E	L	E	V	E	N	■	O	L	D	E	S	T
B	L	E	A	R	Y	■	T	A	X	I	S	■	■	■
R	I	P	S	■	■	A	S	H	E	S	■	T	W	O
A	N	O	T	H	E	R	■	E	N	T	R	E	A	T
G	E	T	■	U	N	A	R	M	■	■	H	A	R	I
■	■	■	A	B	O	M	A	■	F	L	U	K	E	S
B	L	A	N	C	S	■	S	A	L	O	M	E	■	■
A	L	G	I	A	■	S	H	R	U	G	■	T	H	E
C	A	N	O	P	E	N	E	R	■	G	A	T	E	S
O	M	E	N	■	L	I	S	A	■	I	N	L	E	T
N	A	W	S	■	A	T	T	Y	■	A	D	E	L	A

3/8/90



1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11 12
13
14
15
16
17
18 19 20 21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28
29
30
31
32
33
34
35
36
37
38
39
40
41
42
43
44
45
46
47
48
49
50
51
52
53
54
55
56
57
58
59
60
61
62
63
64
65
66
67
68
69
70
71
72
73

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Deli Ham on Rye	Roast Turkey
Barbeque Beef on a Bun	American Chop Suey
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Flat Bread Sandwich	Scalloped Macroni and Tomatoes
Pinnaple Yougurt Stuffed Pepper	Roast Turkey

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your intuition guides you to new success now. Say "yes" to an unusual financial opportunity. It is high time those you have helped help you. Review your investments and insurance policies.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Confidential chats with someone brilliant could lead to a new alliance. Pursue a special dream! Stick to traditional values even if your peers try to persuade you to do others. Give mate your wholehearted support.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Coordinate everything you are responsible for at work or someone's mistakes could cost you. You must have faith in what you are doing before you can convince others. Give mate your wholehearted support.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You will fare best on your own today; make all final decisions personally. Joint financial matters take a turn for the better. Learn to read between the lines when dealing with relatives.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A rush job will challenge your creativity. You can make a terrific impression on an influential person. Try not to be so sensitive. A business or social date could be cancelled. Remain calm.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Being discreet about a business matter will impress a VIP. Stay cool if someone tries to get a rise out of you. Welcoming constructive changes makes you a winner. Your family is supportive.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your business life seems to be in the hands of Fate. Investment of dividends could increase if you handle things right. Seek experts' advice. A sibling plays a major role in a matter that affects your future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Unconscious anger could be influencing your decisions. Make a special effort to think positive. Something you thought lost forever will turn up. Seek a reconciliation with a loved one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Staging a lively event will improve the bottom line in business. A visitor offers top dollar for a creative project. A conversation with member of the opposite sex gives you wonderful insights.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Review your investments and consult experts if necessary. Someone whose actions are unreasonable may not feel well. Think twice before committing yourself to a major project.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your partner's success is something to crow about! News from those at a distance should be favorable. Return calls and answer your mail promptly. Spend time with a friend who shares your interests.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Put your anger to constructive use. Check your bank statement for possible mistakes. You enjoy workless communication with a family member or romantic partner. Show respect. Be on time to all appointments.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor............................Meredith O'Brien
Copy Editor..............................Adrienne Matt
Layout Technician.........................Peter Leon
Photo Technician.........................Dondi Ahearn
Production Supervisor..................Terry Starmer
Typesetter............................Danielle Dowling
Production...........Nicole Dumas, Mark Sturm, Al Kaufman, Ali Woolwich, Lissa Maldonado, Terry Starmer

Professor reports equipment theft in Thompson

By PAMELA PERRAULT
Collegian Correspondent

A professor in Thompson Hall reported yesterday that his office was entered sometime after 5 p.m. Monday and his computer, printer and monitor were stolen, police said.

The loss is estimated at $2,000, police said.

In other police reports:

LARCENY

- A person who was allegedly acting "suspiciously" near the art department in the Fine Arts Center was confronted by staff and students about the theft of wallets yesterday.

He reportedly fled the building and was chased by students. Based upon a description given, the alleged suspect is known to the police. Police said they will seek court complaints.

POLICE LOG

- A man reported that an attempt was made to kick the window out of his vehicle parked in Lot 32. There was no entry gained.

ACCIDENT

- An eastbound vehicle making a left turn across Massachusetts Avenue collided head-on with an approaching vehicle. The operator of the first vehicle received a moving violation citation. There were no injuries reported. The estimated damages were $1,500.

MEDICAL EMERGENCY

- A student slipped on an icy pathway between Eastman Lane and Thatcher Way. He injured his foot and was taken to University Health Services by ambulance.

SUSPICIOUS PERSON

- A man in Washington Residence Hall reported the theft of cash and a credit card from his room. He furnished the police with a possible suspect who was later identified and interviewed. The report is under investigation.

FIRE

- Environmental, Health and Safety personnel called police to the sixth floor of Cashin Residence Hall reporting a poster that had been set on fire. There was no damage reported.

Guidelines set for drug testing

BOSTON (AP) — Union leaders endorsed guide-lines for drug testing in the workplace yesterday, in what one union official described as a radical snift from past opposition to all employee drug testing.

"The last position was no drug testing at all," said Mary Sullivan, an attorney representing the Massachusetts AFL-C10. But the union, which represents about 400,000 workers statewide, agreed to change its stand because drug testing appears inevitable. "Our concern is that it happen right," Sullivan said.

Sullivan and officials from other unions endorsed a compromise bill that would permit pre-employment testing and testing of workers who are observed using drugs on the job.

The measure would also permit testing of current employees if there is evidence their performance is impaired.

With some exceptions, the bill would prohibit random drug tests. And the measure proposes payment of $1,000 in damages to an employee already working for a company if a test comes back negative.

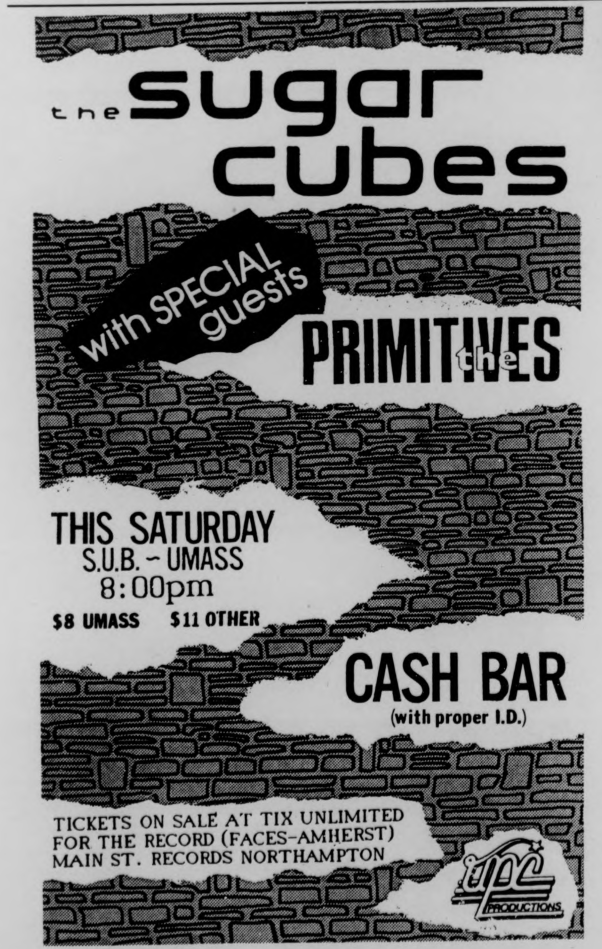
Employees who test positive would be offered an opportunity for drug rehabilitation.

The Legislature's Joint Committee on Commerce and Labor is reviewing a number drug testing bills, including several that were filed last year. The bill endorsed by the unions is a compromise measure, hammered out over several months, Sullivan said.

Officials from the Internaional Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the Massachusetts Building Trades Council also endorsed the compromise measure.

Collegian photo by Susan Corneliussen

FOLLOW THE LEADER – A band of children hold onto a rope encorporating a large buddy-system while walking in Amherst center.



the sugar cubes

with SPECIAL guests

the PRIMITIVES

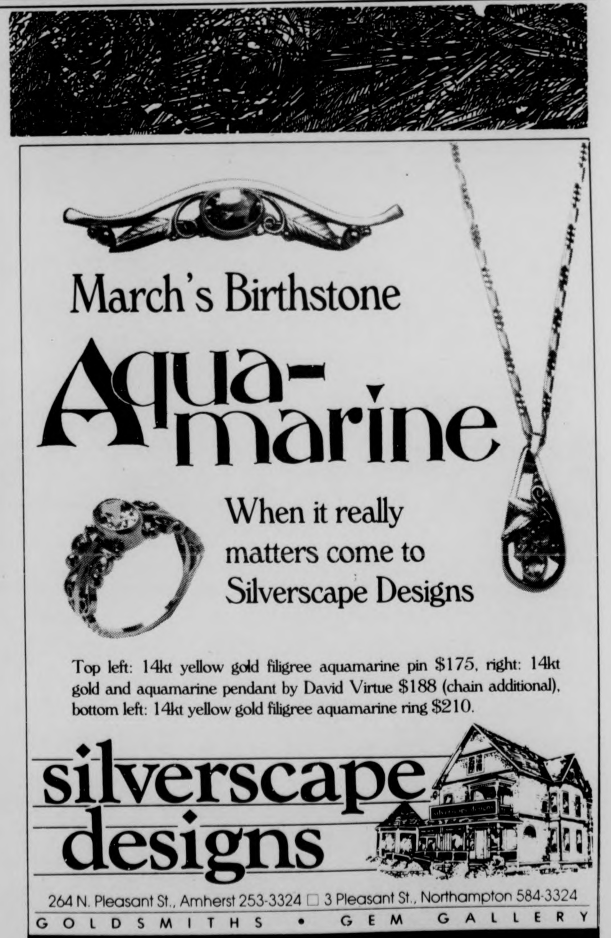
THIS SATURDAY
S.U.B. - UMASS
8:00pm

$8 UMASS $11 OTHER

CASH BAR
(with proper I.D.)

TICKETS ON SALE AT TIX UNLIMITED
FOR THE RECORD (FACES-AMHERST)
MAIN ST. RECORDS NORTHAMPTON

UPC PRODUCTIONS



March's Birthstone

Aqua-marine

When it really matters come to Silverscape Designs

Top left: 14kt yellow gold filigree aquamarine pin $175, right: 14kt gold and aquamarine pendant by David Virtue $188 (chain additional), bottom left: 14kt yellow gold filigree aquamarine ring $210.

silverscape designs

264 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-3324 □ 3 Pleasant St., Northampton 584-3324

GOLDSMITHS • GEM GALLERY

UMass-Temple at a glance

	UM	TU
Jan. 12, 1983	54	73
Mar. 2, 1983	64	91
Mar. 8, 1983	54	78
Jan. 12, 1984	66	83
Feb. 27, 1984	46	65
Jan. 10, 1985	39	65
Feb. 23, 1985	48	50
Feb. 1, 1986	38	69
Feb. 27, 1986	47	58
Jan. 21, 1987	60	72
Feb. 2, 1987	59	74
Dec. 7, 1987	71	89
Jan. 21, 1988	52	71
Jan. 12, 1989	68	89
Jan. 24, 1989	66	93
Jan. 20, 1990	69	86
Feb. 11, 1990	82	83 (3OT)

Jan. 20, 1990: Temple 86, UMass 69

UMass ran out to a 37-32 lead and scored the first six points of the second half to extend that margin to 11.

But the Owls stepped up with man-to-man defense and held the Minutemen off. UMass shot just 10-of-34 (29.3 percent) in the second half. Jim McCoy led UMass with 24 points.

Feb. 11, 1990: Temple 83, UMass 82, triple overtime

In a wild affair before a national cable audience, marred by an altercation between UMass coach John Calipari and Temple coach John Chaney, the Owls pulled out a draining win.

UMass led through most of the first two overtimes, but watched as Michael Harden's three-pointer with 19 seconds left gave TU the win.

■ UMass guns for A-10 title

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 16

gressive, we lose by 35 or 40," Calipari said. "If we play aggressive, at least we'll be in the game."

Aggressive also means doing the little things, like grabbing the loose balls, hustling, blocking out and rebounding well.

"It'll be who wants it the most," Calipari said. "[Temple is] going to come to play. It's going to be a battle. We like to go out and kick people in the shins and bite kneecaps — that's what we do best. We're going to dance by the band that got us there and see what happens."

If that doesn't work, he could try omens.

"I walked in to the West Virginia game and found a penny heads up. We won," Calipari said. "Against Penn State, John Tate found a quarter — heads up. Then my academic coordinator, believe it or not, found a silver dollar heads up. We've got kids looking all over Philadelphia for coins heads up.

"If we find one, we've got a chance."

Yet, Calipari said last week, "We're going to beat Temple. It's just a matter of time. I just hope this is the group that does it."

Tonight, they get that chance.

What the coaches are saying . . .

It'll be who wants it the most. [Temple is] going to come to play. It's going to be a battle. We like to go out and kick people in the shins and bite kneecaps – that's what we do best. We're going to dance by the band that got us there and see what happens.

– UMass coach John Calipari

As far as I'm concerned, this is the first time we've seen Massachusetts. We're looking at a very, very tough situation, as most teams do in tourney time. We're facing a team for the third time, and that's a difficult thing, especially with a team people didn't think would be where they are.

– Temple coach John Chaney

UMASS vs. TEMPLE
LIVE TONIGHT at
CASINO NIGHT
8:00 p.m. CCA

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8 30-3 30,FRI 8 30-2 30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE,120¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA Little Sister Rush tonite 8:30

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA Mens Open Rush tonite 7-9 PM Tel 253-9032

PIONEER VALLEY COMBAT CLUB
Come participate in padded weapon combat Thursday 7-10 Saturday 1-3
Boyden 237

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

HISTORIANS HONOR SOCIETY accepting applications Herter 608 Req. 12 credits History 3.1+, 3.0 in 2/3 others. Deadline March 16.

PLAY $PECULATION! Friday Night and win 500 dollars! All contestants will receive a free t-shirt. 7 PM Rm 163 Campus Center

SENIORS-
It's almost May 27th!
Have your four years been memorable?
Preserve your memories, order an Index in 103 CC TODAY!

THE POWER OF A professional IMAGE meeting #3 will be held on 5:30 PM Thursday (pizza too) Call 256-4122 Undergraduate Business Club.

CASINO NIGHT

THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS Program Council Presents Casino Night to benefit The Brain Tumor Society's Program Campuses Against Cancer.
Thursday March 8. 8 PM - 1 AM
Campus Center Auditorium
Winnings awarded in cash!
Refreshments and Hors D'oeuvres will be served.

AUTO FOR SALE

1980 CHEVY MALIBU A/C, Cass, Runs excellent, No rust, $2000 OBO 665-7927

1980 HONDA ACCORD Sedan, 5-speed, Air PS, cloth $850/BO, 253-2171

1986 HONDA CIVIC FOR SALE. $3500 Exc. condition. 546-6831

GREAT IDEA! Free transportation Spring Break roomy Buick Regal low miles AC new brakes split cost take trip resell 650. Call 549-2606

HONDA ACCORD LX-81 for sale air, stereo/cass Excellent body and runs perfect $1390 Call Barb at 665-8240

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club. Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR RENT

HALF A HOUSE two blocks from campus $275 inclusive 549-4183

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR SALE

AMPLIFIER EG 60 WATTS Hardly used Call Joe 549-4146 $135

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS MaryKay Cosmetics at wholesale Call Alison 253-2462

GUITAR AND AMP for sale. Early 70's Less Paul, Sunburst. Great condition. Peavey renown 400 Amp-200 Watt, two channels. Effects pedals also. Call Russ 546-7900

IBM PORTABLE PC w/printer & printer adaptor. Call Bob 546-9619- $1150/or B.O.

KAYPRO PC IBM compatible 512K dual 3½" floppy disk drives, monitor $500 B.O. 549-3641

NEW ACOUSTIC STUDIO Monitor Spks. 200 W. $250/pr. Reg. $600. Call Jim 549-6527

PIONEER TOWER SPEAKERS, 150W, $150/pr., firm. Call Mike at 549-7615

ROUND TRIP TICKET to California 230 or B/O Call 586-8152 before 10 PM

SIT WITH US
Lounge with us
Sleep with us
Metawampe Furniture Futons from $158
549-4787

WOMEN'S CHIC, petite, lightweight, leather jacket. Cinched waist, broad shoulder pads. Only worn once. $75 or best offer. Call Chris 253-2357.

FOUND

FOUND ON HAIGAS MALL 3/2 Two UMASS Rm Keys on small metal chain. Left them at CC Info Desk

FRIDAY NIGHT!

LIVE ROCK AND ROLL and rhythm & blues at the Seven O's on Route 116 8PM-Mid in Sunderland with Edgemere!!!!
21 and over only positive ID required

HELP WANTED

ATTENTION: EXCELLENT INCOME for home assembly work. Info Call 504-646-1700 Dept. P1307

CAMP COUNSELOR
Have the summer of your life and get paid for it. Top 3-camps organization in the Pocono Mountains of NE PA. Our 59th year. Positions in all areas-water and land sports, fine arts and outdoor adventure. Please call 1-800-533-CAMP (215-887-9700 in PA) or write 407 Benson East, Jenkintown, PA 19046

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for Spring, Christmas, and next Summer Breaks. Many positions. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext. S-1120.

EARN $300 TO $500 per week.
Reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B281

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY!
Assemble products at home. Call for information 504-641-8003 Ext. 598

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SMALL VERMONT CAMP for girls seeks committed counselors in horsemanship, watersports, photography, wilderness trips, and more. Sherry Osborn Camp Catherine Capers, 25 Shawmut Ave, Apt. UM, Wayland, MA 01778 (508) 650-1866.

SUMMER COUNSELORS
Outstanding NYS Co-ed
Resident Camp
Specialist/General
Gail 549-1331

SUMMER ON CAPE COD - Free room and board in exchange for child care. 30 hr. week. Call Jennifer at 508-771-0412

THE NIGHTS ARE BETTER at Telefund! Students are needed for Spring Break and the rest of 2nd semester to raise $ for UMASS! Earn $5 to $7/hr. Call 545-3509.

HOUSING

QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR Lease/Security Deposit deductions? Questions about subletting/assigning leases? Questions about the conditon of your new house or apartment? Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

I'LL EDIT YOUR PAPER

PROOFREADING SERVICE. If you have a rough draft, we'll make it something special. Fast and dependable. David 253-2455 and Cosmo 253-9744.

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

LOST

LOST BLACK SPORT COAT at Thur. Semi-formal in CC Please call 6-4708 evening

LOST! Eyeglasses in light brown or pink case. Call 546-7147 if found. REWARD!

KILLINGTON CHALET

ROOMS FOR RENT Includes cooking facilities, Color TV, VCR $50. per person per weekend Eve 548-9116

MARTHA'S VINEYARD

SEEKING TWO HOUSEMATES for summer. Single rooms. House in Edgartown Call 546-7079

PERSONALS

4TH FLOOR MARYLYON, Thank you for your thoughtfulness. You guys are totally awesome!
Love ya! TL

COMING SOON The Adventures of JBoy in Japan, JMan in England!!
Congratulations!!

DAVID ORTIZ- Where have you been? We've missed you!

LEIGH CONNOR Bubba w/his very large haircut wishes you a Happy 22nd B-day!
Let's not raise our limbs so we can see the eclipse next time!
We love you!!
Lulu and Kazan
PS Take off your bikini before going to bed!

LINDA,
It's been a great month
Happy Anniversary
I love you
Luke

MIKE (STUDMUFFIN)
Your the man! Absolutely, Positively, something Alidotious! Thanks for everything you've done for me! Your the best! Love Tina

TONIA:
Don't be a bag lady, it doesn't become you!
Come to Katina's on Saturday night.
-Rags

TRAVIS (IN BAKER)
Married? Prefer brunettes?
Keep up the eye contact.
You have my attention -RT

TR- Do you have blue balls?
RC- Can you hand me that drill?
The After Hour Girls

RESUME SERVICE

 #1 RESUME SERVICES *****
Good prices, Rush sevice
We specialize in: Traditional, Designer and Contemporary Resumes
We will work with you to insure your Resume is the best it can be!!!
ALL packages include 30 Professional Laser Prints on Resume Paper
Call Roscoe now for quick service
549-7955

RIDE WANTED

NEED A RIDE to anywhere in R.I. or New London CT. 549-0541

RIDE NEEDED TO BOSTON- Fri 3/9 back on Sat. or Sun.-Please! Will pay for gas 546-7167

RIDE NEEDED TO MONTREAL 3/16/90 Please call Jenn at 256-6740 soon

TO LI OR NYC 3/9 to 3/11 Will share expenses please call!! Ellen 549-0553

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

BEDROOM AVAILABLE in 2-bdrm Apt. $268 per month. Quiet, clean. Call 256-0553 Mornings

SHARE A ROOM in Townhouse Apts. Rent is $181.25. Move in A.S.A.P. 549-0541

SINGLE OPEN IN MAIN ST. Apt. 245/Mo. Gas, heat, bus stop at front door. I will pay your March rent! Call Sue 536-2199

TWO BEDROOMS IN A great old house in North Leverett. Beautiful area in the hills. $205, Free heat. 367-9861

SERVICES

HAIRCUTS ONLY $5.00 Four years experience No razor Call Brenda 546-9103

HISTORY TUTOR
American or European History
Reasonable rates. 549-6687

MAXIGRAPHICS - Super enlargements-
B&W and Color
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

 RESUME TYPESETTING *****
2 yrs. experience. Lowest rates.
Professional results guaranteed.
Scott 586-5822

SPEND THE SUMMER AT LAKE WINNIPESAUKE!

INDIVIDUALS NEEDED to work in giftshops at Weirs Beach. Some heavy lifting involved. Free Room! Call Debby 665-7555 leave message.

SUMMER RENTALS

CAPE COD-Need two girls to share house in Hyannis for summer with other guys/girls. 546-8643

GROUP RENTALS: Spend summer on Cape Cod. Many listings, 2,3 and 4 bedroom houses. Easy payment plan. Call Honey Sperco, Broker 508-398-9367

THE BROOK
Furnished, air conditioned, swimming pool, bus route 253-0754

TO SUBLET

SUBLET TWO ROOMS in large house open immediatley behind 7-11 in Sunderland $190 mth & util Call 665-7464 Jim or Byron

TRAVEL

$214 COMPLETE 7 NIGHTS
Panama City Beach Florida
Call now!! 253-9112

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

COPPERTONE COMPLETE SPRING Break
Packages: Cancun from $429
Nassau from $499
Still space but getting late!
Call now! 256-4659

NEED A RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Spring Break Special
$15 One way fare
to Bradley Airport
Call Now!
Limited Seating
Valley Transporter
256-8484

ROUNDTRIP TO TAMPA, FLA
Only $95
Leaving March 15..To 26th.
For info 6-6746

SPACES STILL AVAILABLE... Jamaica and Cancun. Call now for details. Mary or Karen 549-8166

TICKET TO NASHVILLE Roundtrip Hartford to Nashville 3/16 to 3/26 Paid $300-selling for $150. Call 546-1245

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

WORDPERFECT, LETTER-QUALITY Print, Spellcheck, Fast. Call Tim 549-0546.

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

DEAD TICKETS! Any Albany shows! Please Help! Steve D. 549-2833

DESPERATELY NEED "Introduction to DSP" by Prokais Call Sharon at 665-8240

DO YOU HAVE an extra Jesus & Mary Chain ticket? We want it! Please call 546-8811 or 8849!!!

SPORTS

THIS IS IT!!!!!

UMass vs. Temple

Atlantic 10 Conference Championship, McGonigle Hall, Philadelphia, 9:30 p.m.
What's at stake: The winner receives an automatic bid for the NCAA Tournament, which begins next Thursday
The Series: Temple leads, 17-0
Television: ESPN – Fred White (play-by-play), Ed Stefanski (color)
Radio: WHMP 1400-AM, WNNZ 640-AM – Tim Ashwell (play-by-play), George Miller (color); WMUA 91.1-FM – Scott Klane (play-by-play), Tom Roche (color)

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

Just think.

Exactly 100 days ago, the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team opened its 1989-90 season, a season that had everyone brimming with optimism.

Then the Minutemen lost to Lowell, a middle-of-the-road Division II team, 70-69.

Who would have thought after that loss that the Minutemen would be playing tonight for the Atlantic 10 Conference championship? Buster Douglas had better odds.

"I've always said we might not play well, but we'll come to play," UMass coach John Calipari said. "The Lowell game, we didn't do that. I was embarrassed and hurt that we did not come to play."

But, as Calipari said, his team has shown character to bounce back from adversity. And for the past week, UMass has come to play . . . in a big way.

After a pair of high-powered wins earlier this week, the Minutemen enter the A-10 championship game tonight against heavily-favored Temple University at 9:30 p.m. UMass has never reached the A-10 title game.

A win tonight would give the Minutemen an automatic bid into the NCAA Tournament, a goal they have reached just once in school history – back in 1962. UMass still has a good shot at an NIT bid if it loses.

Can UMass win?

"Anything can happen," Calipari said. "Will it happen? I doubt it."

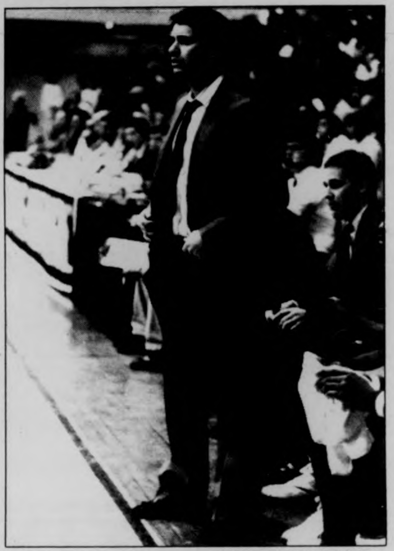
That may sound like negative vibes to the untuned ear. However, Calipari has specialized in downplaying the talents of his team, and the guys have been known to turn around and make him look silly – not that he minds in that situation.

The fact that UMass is considered "Team Underdog," as it was referred to this week in the Philadelphia Daily News, takes away all of the pressure.

"This is not a big game," Calipari says bluntly. "If we win, it is. If we lose, it isn't. We're supposed to get buried. We're at Temple."

UMass has never beaten the Owls in 17 tries, and Temple has won 33 straight games at McGonigle Hall. The cards don't look good for the Minutemen, but sometimes the stats plain lie.

"As far as I'm concerned, this is the first time we've seen Massachusetts," said Temple coach John Chaney. "We're looking at a very, very tough situation, as most teams do in tourney time. We're facing a team for the third time, and that's a difficult thing, especially with a team people didn't think would be where they are.



Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

Second-year coach John Calipari has led his team into the Atlantic 10 title game, which is at 9:30 tonight against Temple.

"Massachusetts is a very good team," Chaney said. "A lot of our players have never experienced championship play. In that sense, we're looking at UMass as they're looking at us."

Some say UMass is due. The Minutemen could have won either game against the Owls this year. On Jan. 20, the Minutemen frittered an 11-point lead at McGonigle, and Temple won going away. A month later, an electrified Cage watched as UMass stood inches from finally pulling it off before the Owls snatched it once again at the last moment.

"If we're supposed to win, we will," Calipari said. "If not, we won't.

"It's like Temple at our place. We had four chances to win, lay-ups, and someone was on the rim tipping them out. Hopefully someone will be there tipping them in tonight."

Emotionally, UMass is as sky-high as any team around. The Minutemen humiliated West Virginia in Sunday's quarterfinal, and hit the crest of the wave with Monday's last-minute victory over Penn State. They are hoping to carry that momentum over to tonight.

The key for UMass, as it has been all year, is defense. The team got this far by pressing and generally getting under the opposition's skin. Sunday, UMass held the Mountaineers scoreless for 6:43, while Monday it forced 23 Penn State turnovers.

The task at hand is to clearly stop, or at least contain, Temple stars Mark Macon and Donald Hodge. Macon torched UMass for 35 the last time the teams met, while Hodge has been an awesome presence against the smaller Minutemen.

"I don't think we can stop either one. Maybe hold them down a little bit," Calipari said. "We're playing against guys a level above us."

"Mark Macon offers more than one dimension to our team," Chaney said. "He's certainly one of the best rebounding guards in the country, and you know what he demands from the other team as far as focus and concentration.

"To say you're going to stop him, that's hogwash," he said. "You can stop him from scoring, but he brings more to our team."

Macon has shown signs of vulnerability in his shooting at times this year. But Hodge is the big worry. At 7-feet, nobody on UMass can match him.

"We don't match up with Temple at all," Calipari said. "We're starting our small lineup again."

But where UMass lacks Temple's size, Chaney fears the quickness that the Minutemen possess.

"[Legendary UCLA coach] John Wooden once said he'd rather have quickness than bulk," Chaney said. "They have quick, great offensive tools in [Rafer] Giles, [Tony] Barbee and [Jim] McCoy."

Calipari feels his quickest (aside from assistant coach James "Bruiser" Flint) is William Herndon, the 6-foot-3 leaper extraordinaire.

"Probably the key to our press is Will Herndon," he said. "He's got long arms. He's just 6-3, but his arms make him 6-6. And he's quick.

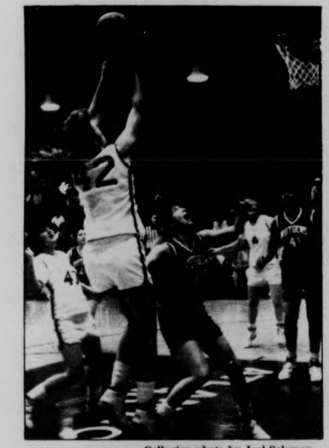
UMass is going to have a hard time pressing the talented Owls, and Calipari is totally rejecting the notion of getting into a running game. Solid defense is the only way to go.

"We can't worry about foul trouble. If we don't play ag-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 15

Women's hoop eliminated from tourney

Minutewomen fall to Rutgers, 86-55 in Atlantic 10 quarterfinal



Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

Helen Freeman played her final collegiate game last night. UMass fell to Rutgers, 86-55 in the A-10 tournament.

By TAMIR LIPTON
Collegian Staff

Blowout! This one wasn't close.

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team traveled to Rutgers University for the quarterfinals of the Atlantic 10 tournament just to encounter a Rutgers team which played much like UMass played on Monday night in St. Bonaventure.

Rutgers came out like gangbusters, opening up a 15-4 lead in the first five minutes of the game which it would never surrender. In fact, the Lady Knights went ahead 30-10 before the game stabilized into a somewhat competitive contest.

Maybe it was the emotional letdown suffered from the big win against the Bonnies, that caused the poor performance from the Minutewomen. But most likely the reason for the UMass loss was that they played a far superior Rutgers team that can hold its own on the court with the best teams in the country, and probably will receive an invitation to the big show (the NCAA tournament).

UMass was paced by Keyburn McCusker who scored 14 points, grabbed 12 rebounds, and dished out three assists. The down side to McCusker's performance were her eight turnovers.

In all UMass turned the ball over 23 times, far too many to stay close to Rutgers. Each time the Minutewomen coughed up the rock, Rutgers forward Vicky Picott (19 points), and guard Lyn Ust (17) burned them from the outside.

The Lady Knights shot a consistent 50 percent from the floor, while the Minutewomen struggled to shoot 37 percent. This game was decided early, in fact by halftime the game was out of reach, as Rutgers held a commanding 50-25 lead.

UMass never quit and actually managed to play Rutgers close to even in the second half (36-30). But the end result was the same as the teams' previous two meetings, a third Rutgers trouncing of UMass.

Helen Freeman, who played her best game of the season Monday by scoring 29 points on 13-of-16 shooting, led UMass with 19 points. Freeman played hard but struggled to score thanks to the tenacious defense of LaTonya Johnson, who constantly forced Freeman to take shots from further out than she is accustomed to shooting.

Sue Serafini managed 11 points in her final collegiate game. UMass coach Kathy Hewelt will miss Serafini's outside bombs that often loosened up the inside scoring for Freeman.

In reality, no one expected the Minutewomen to get this far in the tournament and just to beat St. Bonaventure was accomplishment enough.

For now, the fans of UMass basketball can look forward to tonight's mens game in Temple, and be happy with the achievements of this year's women's team in the A-10 tournament.

Rutgers, 86-55

Massachusetts (55): Gloria Nevarez 1-2 0-0 2; Patty Robak 0-5 0-1 0; Keyburn McCusker 6-12 2-3 14; Kim Kristofik 3-7 1-2 7; Lisa Ireland 1-3 0-0 2; Sue Serafini 3-10 2-2 11; Helen Freeman 7-18 5-10 19. Totals: 21-57 10-18 55.

Rutgers (86): Glorisa Catala 2-4 0-0 6; Alicia Rodgers 2-3 0-0 4; Brenda Steward 0-3 0-0 0; Lynn Ust 5-7 4-6 17; Suzanne Cooper 6-10 0-1 13; Vicka Green 1-4 1-2 3; C'ta Mitchelson 1-1 1-2 3; Vicky Picott 8-12 3-4 19; Tanya Hansen 4-10 2-3 10; Mandy Valentine 1-7 1-2 3; LaTonya Johnson 4-7 0-0 8. Totals: 34-68 12-20 86.

Halftime: Rutgers, 50-25. Three-point goals: Massachusetts 3-5 (Serafini 3-5); Rutgers 6-12 (Catala 2-4, Ust 3-4, Cooper 1-3, Green 0-1). Fouled out: Valentine. Rebounds: Massachusetts 42 (McCusker 12); Rutgers 41 (Hansen, Johnson 9). Assists: Massachusetts 14 (three with 3); Rutgers 22 (Catala 5). Total fouls: Massachusetts 13; Rutgers 18. Attendance: 1,271.

THIS WEEKEND

Taking a chance for a good cause

By AL KAUFMAN
Collegian Staff
and DEBBIE RANKELL
Collegian Correspondent

When a person gambles, the goal is to win. At tonight's Casino Night in the UMass Campus Center Auditorium, the goal should be to lose, as all profits from the event will go to the Brain Tumor Society.

The Brain Tumor Society was founded by Bonnie Feldman, after her son Seth, a 17-year-old Dartmouth freshman, was struck down by a brain tumor in Dec. 1988.

Seth Feldman, who played high school football while undergoing chemotherapy, left all his savings to the Brain Tumor Fund at the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, where he was treated. While alive, he often spoke at benefits on the Institute's behalf.

After her son's death, Bonnie Feldman founded the Brain Tumor Society. She remains its president today. She said that when she started the entirely volunteer organization, there were only three others like it in the country. But now, things are changing.

"We have had a tremendous response to the organization," Feldman said. "It grows by about six names a day."

The group currently has over 200 members, including doctors who treat brain tumors. Their objective is to raise funds for research and care, as well as educate patients and families and offer support.

Today, there are four such support groups in the state and Feldman is promoting the foundation for more.

The year before he died, Seth worked the finish line of the Boston Marathon with his friend, Mike Silverstein. The next year, Silverstein ran the 26 mile race in memory of Seth. He raised $30,000 for Dana-Farber with his run, $3,000 coming from UMass.

An outgrowth of Silverstein's marathon run is Campuses Against Cancer. "College students today are much more socially aware, sophisticated and concerned than they used to be," Feldman said. "They also have a great deal of energy and creativity."

One of the energetic people of whom Feldman speaks is Jeff Glassman, a senior finance major and chairman of the Board of Governors Program Council. Glassman was a friend of Seth's and was instrumental in raising money on the UMass campus for Silverstein's marathon run. He is currently spearheading Casino Night.

"Ever since Seth died, I felt that something had to be done to create awareness of this dreaded disease," he said.

This year alone, 36,000 Americans will be diagnosed as having a brain tumor, and 1,500 of these people will be children under the age of 15. Brain tumors account for 25 percent of cancer deaths in children.

UMass is one of six universities in the Northeast that are involved in Campuses Against Cancer. Each campus coordinator is responsible for coming up with the fundraising activity. Casino Night is the first of the college activities.

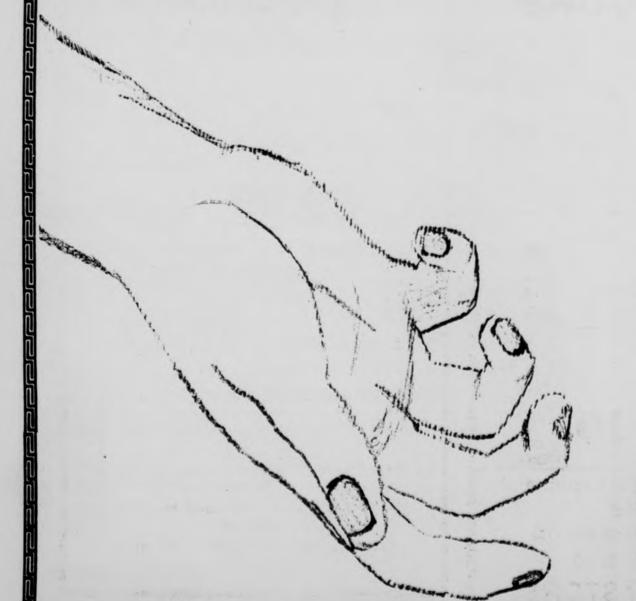
"This is the kickoff event," said Feldman. "We're very excited about it and Jeff has been doing a remarkable job." Glassman will be receiving a plaque of recognition from the Brain Tumor Society for his tireless efforts.

Casino Night games include black jack, roulette, wheel of fortune, craps and chuck-a-luck. Tables were rented from a professional casino company in Boston. Student dealers will run the various games, and winnings will be awarded in cash if players choose to cash out. Entertainment will be provided by the big band sound of Jeff Holmes. Refreshments will be served.

Bonnie Feldman will also be there. "I'll be the big spender," she said.

The event is co-sponsored by the Collegian, WHMP 99.3 FM, Mr. Tux and Kinko's Copies, which is covering the cost of the programs.

Casino Night is held tonight in the UMass Campus Center Auditorium from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Television monitors will be set up to show the UMass Temple basketball game. Admission is $5.



BUFFALO BILLS "NO BULL"

There's a new game in town

If this is you, come in for a free meal.

"Get away from me you...you...you... GRIMACE. I'm loyal to Buffalo Bills!!"

50 Main Street, Amherst
253-9223
Open 7 Days at 11 am
'Til 2 am weekends
Breakfast 9-11 am Mon. ► Fri.

UMASS vs. TEMPLE 9:30 at

Get There Early!

TWISTERS

FREE APPETIZER BUFFET
10' BIG SCREEN—5 T.V.'s
Twister's Knows College Hoop
30 Boltwood Walk • Amherst, MA 01002
253-2663

Amherst College presents

CINDY KALLET, ELLEN EPSTEIN and MICHAEL CICONE
VOCAL/INSTRUMENTAL FOLK TRIO

SUNDAY, MARCH 11

8 p.m.
$7 Public
$1 Amherst College

SUNDAYS at EIGHT
A Sunday Evening Coffeehouse Series
In the Campus Center
Info: (413)542-5773

★ April 1: Lucie Blue Tremblay ★ April 15: Paul Geremia

SPECIAL SALE

Copy Paper
8½x11 - $39.95 case

Computer Paper
9½x11 - $29.95 case
15, 18 or 20 lbs.
14⅞x11 - $48.00 case
15, 18 or 20 lb.

POLAROID FORMATTED DISKETTES with FREE Data Rescue Protection and Lifetime Warranty

3½
DSDD - $19.99 reg. $27.00
DSHD - $42.99 reg. $71.00

5¼
DSDD $8.99 reg. $16.00
DSHD $18.99 reg. $29.00

ALL PRICES ARE NET

WHALENS — Since 1958 -
40 Main St., Amherst • 256-3120
41-145 Main St., Northampton • 584-3794
Damon Rd., Northampton • 584-3206

TEXTBOOK ANNEX

VISA

WE ARE PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE THAT WE NOW ACCEPT VISA & MASTERCARD.

MasterCard

Spirit Haus
Liquor Store

Catamount Fine Ales—Amber/Gold/Porter
$4.69 SIX PACK

Molson Light/Molson Golden
$7.39 TWELVE PACK BOTTLES

Rolling Rock
$5.99 TWELVE PACK BOTTLES

Knickerbocker
$3.99 TWELVE PACK CANS

Peachtree Schnapps 750ml
$6.49

Jagermeister German Cordial 375ml
$6.99

Myer's Original Dark Jamaican Rum 750ml
$9.99

Priviet Russian Vodka 750ml
$7.99

338 College St. (Rt. 9) Amherst 253-5384

Culture Clash fights prejudice through comedy

Photo courtesy of New World Theater

Culture Clash perform The Mission tomorrow and Saturday night.

By ANTONIA MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

American Indian are a minority group who, like most other minority groups, have been put into a stereotype.

Ever since men such as Jeffrey Amherst succeeded in the genocide of many Indian nations, White Americans have attempted to assuage their guilt by portraying the American Indian as the noble, strong and high-cheek boned Shawmut figure.

Entertainment has a unique way of confronting issues such as this however, since the players have the attention of a sizeable number of people and can subject their audience to series of images that will, if successful, affect their views.

The cultural stereotype of Native Americans is the issue tackled by the New World Theatre in a play entitled The Mission, which is produced, written and performed by a comic trio known as Culture Clash.

The play is basically a comic review about American Indian stereotypes, with a focus on the entertainment business. Beginning against a backdrop of the early Californian missions, the play documents the alleged ill-treatment of the Costoanian Indians by Padre Junipero Serra. The play juxtaposes this time with the present day with a unique time travel sequence and an "Indian rap peyote" dream piece. The action ends up at the home of three Latino comics struggling to survive in the Mission District of San Francisco.

The comedy links with the past as the three struggling actor-comedians decide to audition for a nationally televised show commemorating the controversial beautification of Serra.

Slapstick and misadventure are coupled with the serious and tragic in this play. Richard Montoya, Herbert Siguenza and Ricardo "Slic-Ric" Salinas make up the trio who first mounted the show in San Francisco's Intersection for the Arts Theater in the fall of 1988, before beginning their national tour in 1989.

The show also coincides with March being American Indian Awareness Month, the purpose of which is to promote sensitivity towards the minority culture through a series of lectures by American Indian speakers.

As a sensitive issue about stereotypes, however, no stones are left unturned, as the satirical and irreverent Culture Clash perform their hilariously funny but poignant play.

The Mission will be performed on Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Bowker Auditorium. Tickets are available at the Fine Arts Center Box Office at $5 for the general public and $3 for students and senior citizens. Bowker is wheelchair accessible. For more information, call 545-2511.

RUSSELL'S
DISCOUNT LIQUORS DISCOUNT
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Featuring IMPORTED Beers at Domestic Pricing

Bushmills Irish Whiskey 12.99 750 ml

Foster's Lager 3.99 six 14.95 cs.

Popov 80° 9.99 1.75L

Rolling Rock 5.99 12 pk. bots.

Pilsner Urquell 4.99 six 18.99 cse.

Absolut 80° 17.99 1.75L

1/2 Kegs Beer 23.95 and up

Red/White/Blue 3.99 12 pk.

Beer of the Month
Swiss #1 HOPFENPERLE
3.70 6/pk.; 13.99 cse.

Leroux Schnapps CLOSE OUT 3.99 750 ml 8 Flavors to choose

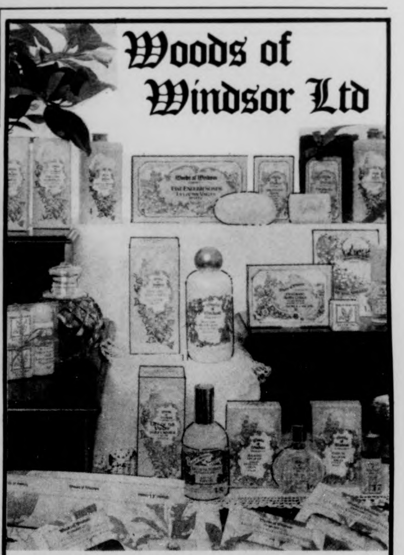
Busch Suitcase 9.99

Off Campus Delivery 253-5441

Paul Masson 3.99 1.5 Liter
Chablis Rose Rhine Burgandy

ALL BEERS PLUS DEPOSIT

Woods of Windsor Ltd



Fine Soaps, Talcum Powder, Bath Cubes, Bath & Shower Gels, Eau de Toilette, Shampoo, Body Lotions & Drawer Liners.

Compliments

Gifts, Gift Baskets, Decorative Accessories

71 N. Pleasant St., Amherst (Above Cafe DiCarlo)
256-1551 • Tues.-Sat. 10:00-5:30

UPC show: something sugary, something Primitive

By JODY GABIN
Collegian Staff

The Sugarcubes are surrounded by a certain degree of mysticism, due in part to the fact that they come from such a unique background.

A book appropriately entitled Iceland, lists some "statistics" about the country: 70 percent of Icelandic females claim to have had psychic experiences, 55 percent have visited fortune tellers, and 73 percent believe that spirits called Fylgjur exist.

Until recently, the Sugarcubes have been reduced to critical catch phrases. Rolling Stone called them "the coolest band in the world" after their first album, Life's Too Good, was released in 1986.

The same happened in Britian, following the release of their first single, "Birthday;" it shot to the top of the indie chart, and the general consensus in England was that these enigmatic Icelanders had changed the future of rock. Some reviews claimed Life's Too Good to be "the Sgt. Pepper of the '80s."

Well, one-hit wonders are born out of this kind of critical hype, and the Sugarcubes didn't have to be an exception; after all, there's no denying the fact that they play off their image.

Lead singer Bjork Gudmundsottir comes across as childlike, her vocals vaguely disjointed, her appearance coyly devious. As a collective, they have been made out to be naive and unpredictable, a personification of the "it's cool to be alternative" thing.

However, with the release of their second album, Here Today, Tomorrow Next Week, the Sugarcubes have proven that one can become sophisticated without being slick.

The band has somehow managed to do the impossible – not coast on their success. It would have been easy to put out Life's Too Good Part II, but instead, the Sugarcubes have chosen to grow and challenge their audience. While the current single, "Planet" may be the type of quirky, clever song that their fans have come to expect, other cuts like "Eat the Menu" and "Pump" bring a new dimension to their sound. Some like it, some don't. But what's important is that these eccentric Northerners are continuing to break the walls of musical limitations.

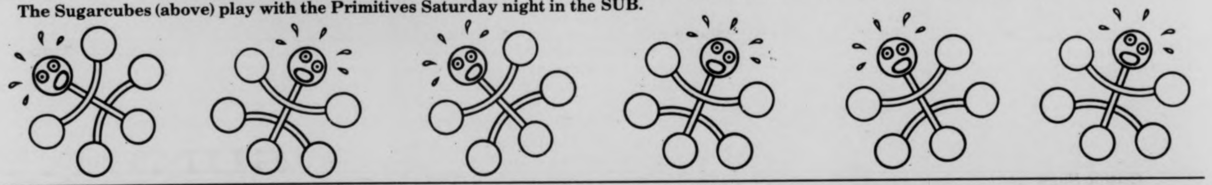
Appearing along with the Sugarcubes will be the Primitives. Hailing from Coventry, England, the Primitives, led by perky lead singer Tracy Tracy, released their debut album, Lovely in 1988, and quickly rose to the top of the British charts with their hit single "Crash."

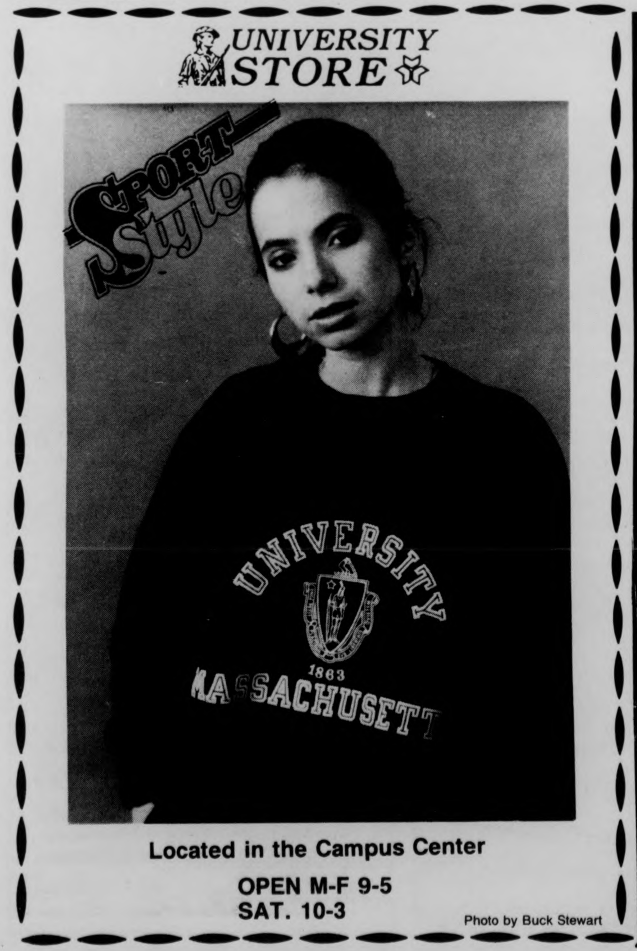
Recently they have released their second effort for RCA Records, Pure, to widespread critical acclaim. Singles such as "Sick of it All" have firmly established them as a "star" underground band.

The Sugarcubes and Primitives play the Student Union Ballroom on Saturday, March 10. The show is sponsored by UPC, tickets are $8 for UMass students and $11 for the general public. Doors open at 8 p.m.

Photo courtesy of Electra

The Sugarcubes (above) play with the Primitives Saturday night in the SUB.





UNIVERSITY STORE

Sport Style

Located in the Campus Center
OPEN M-F 9-5
SAT. 10-3

Photo by Buck Stewart

HOUSING EXEMPTION APPLICATIONS

Freshmen, Sophmores and Stockbridge students who wish to live off campus for the Fall 1990 Semester should apply for an exemption from the on-campus housing regulation. Housing Exemption Applications are now available in the Housing Assignment Office, Room 235 Whitmore.

Applications are due no later than Wednesday, March 28, 1990. Please submit all applications to the Housing Assignment Office, 235 Whitmore.

IMPORTANT NOTES: PLEASE READ CAREFULLY
*THE EXEMPTION COMMITTEE WILL ONLY MEET ONCE. THIS IS THE ONLY OPPORTUNITY YOU WILL HAVE TO APPLY FOR OFF-CAMPUS PERMISSION FOR THE FALL 1990 SEMESTER. APPLY IN TIME.

*Signing a lease is not valid grounds for receiving an exemption from the on-campus housing requirement. DO NOT SIGN A LEASE UNTIL YOU RECEIVE AN EXEMPTION. Any student sho signs a lease without prior approval from the Housing Assignment Office is responsible for all on-campus fees and will be required to reside on-campus.

*Students who are granted an exemption will lose their housing assignment for the Fall 1990 on the last day of the semester, unless prior arrangments are made with the Housing Assignment Office. Thank you.

Alternatives to Academics

THURSDAY

Paul Langland, innovative multi-media dancer and performance artist, conducts a workshop at the Amherst College Old Gym. FREE. 2 p.m.

Bop Harvey, a New England based world beat band, play an 18 and over show at Pearl Street. Uproot and Shockra open. $5. 8:30 p.m.

Bop Harvey

Coffee Break, a play written by UMass student Nick Nyhan, and directed by UMass student Melanie Armer, is performed in the UMass Hampden Theater. 8 p.m. Also Friday and Saturday.

Robert Rivest, mime, performs his unique act of theater and dance at the Hampshire College Main Dance Studio. $3. 8 p.m. Also Friday and Saturday.

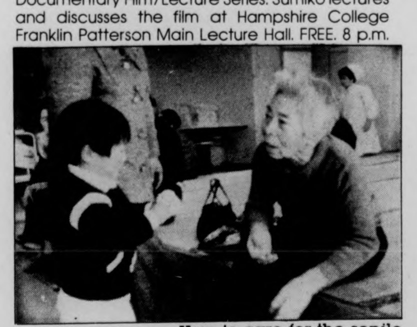
Casino Night, with proceeds going to the Brain Tumor Society, takes place in the UMass Campus Center Auditorium. $5. 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Catherine MacKinnon, of Yale, gives a lecture entitled Law in Everyday Life of Women, at the Amherst College Converse Assembly Room. FREE. 8 p.m.

Ray Mason Band bring their rock sound to Twister's for College Night. $2 general public. FREE with college I.D..

Bill Lowe/Andy Jaffe Repertory Big Band, featuring vocalist Kitty Kathryn, perform as part of the Jazz-U-Like-It series in the Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom. FREE. 8:30 p.m.

How to Care for the Senile, a film by Haneda Sumiko about the lives of people suffering from senility, is screened as part of the Japanese Documentary Film/Lecture Series. Sumiko lectures and discusses the film at Hampshire College Franklin Patterson Main Lecture Hall. FREE. 8 p.m.



How to care for the senile

Minibus Sandwitch take the stage at Sheehan's.

The House of Bernarda Alba, a psychological play of women oppressed by cuture and tradition, is performed in the Mt. Holyoke College Lab Theater. $4 general public; $2 students and senior citizens. 8 p.m. Also Friday through Sunday.

International Women's Week Art Exhibit, featuring the paintings, photographs and computer images of eight prominent local artists, Phyllis Brown, Rachel Folsom, Helena Dooley-Mehta, Sharon Harper, Rosa Ibarra, Jacqueline Maidana, Ann Mancini and Judy B. Messer, holds its opening reception at UMass Wheeler Gallery. FREE. 4:30 p.m.

Andrea Ayvazian, director of the Diversity Project of Northampton, delivers a lecture entitled Toward Liberation: Why Work for Social Change, in which she teaches people how to become more socially active, at Mt. Holyoke College Blanchard rm 207. FREE. 7 p.m.

UMass Wind Ensemble and Symphony Band, under the direction of Malcolm W. Rowell, Jr., perform at Smith College John M. Greene Hall. FREE. 8 p.m.

Hershler Brothers, bring their rock 'n' roll to the Iron Horse. $4. 7 p.m.

Julie Blackman, of the New School of Social Research, talks on Emerging Images of Battered Women in the Criminal Justice System, at Smith College McConnell Hall Auditorium. FREE. 7:30 p.m.

Diane Wolkstein, local storyteller, recites the Story of Esther, in celebration of the Jewish holiday, Purim, and of International Women's Week, at UMass Memorial Hall. FREE. 7:30 p.m.

The Imaginary Invalid, Moliere's classic comedy on the medical profession, is performed at the UMass Fine Arts Center Rand Theater. $5 general public; $3 students and senior citizens. 8 p.m. Also Friday and Saturday.

Ballet Folclorico Nacional de Mexico, featuring the bright costumes and enewrgetic dances of Mexico, is performed at the UMass Fine Arts Center Concert Hall. $22, $20, $18 general public; $11, $10, $8 Five College students; $5 children 12 and under. 8 p.m.

FRIDAY

Shades of Difference: Images of American Women, an art exhibit featuring many artists, holds its opening reception in the Amherst College Mead Art Museum. FREE. 4 p.m.

Luther Guitar Jr. Johnson, former lead guitarist for Muddy Waters, plays the Iron Horse, $8, 7 p.m.

Edgemere bring their classic R and B sound to The Seven O's in Sunderland. 8 p.m.

NRBQ, the band that's been around forever, but always have a fresh, new sound, play Pearl Street. 7 p.m.

Neighbors, John Belushi's last movie, filled with dark humor about what happens to a typical middle-class neighborhood when a "different" couple moves in, is screened at Hampshire College Franklin Patterson Main Lecture Hall. $1. 7:30 p.m. and 9 p.m.

South End Jazz Band jams at Twister's. $2. 7 p.m.

The Bull Horns keep it loud at Katina's

The Romantics tell you "What I Like About You" while you're "Talking in Your Sleep," as they take the stage at Katina's.

Touch of Evil, a classic Orson Welles suspense film, also starring Charlton Heston and Janet Leigh, is screened in the Amherst College Campus Center Theater. $1.50. 7:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. Also Saturday and Sunday.

A Girl from Hunan, a Xie Fei and U Lan film depicting Chinese life through the eyes of a teenage girl, is shown in the Smith CollegeWright Hall Auditorium. FREE. 7:30 p.m.

The Mission, a tragi-comedy play put on by Culture Clash that examines the prejudices Latinos face in today's society, is presented by New World Theater in UMass Bowker Auditorium. $5 general public; $3 students and senior citizens. 8 p.m. Also Saturday.

Godspell, the musical that places Jesus in modern time, is performed, directed and produced by Smith students at Smith College Helen Hills Chapel. $2-4. 8 p.m. Also Saturday and Sunday. Proceeds from Sunday's performance go the the homeless shelter, Jessie's House. $10 suggested donation.

Ode to Mount Hayachine, a Japanese film by Sumiko Haneda, depicts the customs and practices of Iwate Prefecture villagers. Haneda introduces the film, which is shown as part of the Japanese Documentary Film/Lecture Series, at Smith College Wright Hall Auditorium. FREE. 8 p.m.

Red Letter play Sheehan's.

Randy Levin, comedian, goes for laughs at the Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom. $5 general public; $1 Amherst students. 9 p.m.

In the Flesh play a semi-formal dance party at Mt. Holyoke College Mary Woolley Chapin Auditorium, with a cash bar. $5. 10 p.m.

SATURDAY

Pajama Slave Dancers, a monster band in the alternative music world, play Sheehan's.

Yes Brazil perform during World Beat Night at Twister's

Roomful of Blues, the critically acclaimed blues band, heat it up at Pearl Street. 8:30 p.m.

Sugarcubes/Primitives, the coolest band in the world and one of the best underground pop bands around team up for this killer double bill produced by UPC, at the UMass Student Union Ballroom. $11 general public; $8 UMass students. 8 p.m.

Regional Synchronized Swimming Championships, featuring solo and team competition, is held in Smith College Dalton Pool. FREE. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Akiko: Portrait of a Dancer/Cherry Tree with Gray Blossoms, two films by Haneda Sumiko, are shown, with an introduction by Sumiko, as part of the Japanese Documentary Film/Lecture Series, at Amherst College Stern Auditorium. FREE. 7:30 p.m.

The Bowery, play their life experienced rock 'n' roll at Mt. Holyoke Porter Hall. Cash bar. $3 students; $2 Mt. Holyoke students. 10 p.m.

The Bowery

Tish Hinojosa a Southwestern songwriter who reminds many of Linda Ronstadt, plays the Iron Horse. $6. 7 p.m.

Five College Symphony Orchestra presents the world premiere of Daniel Warner's "Symphony ℞1" and other classical works at Mt. Holyoke College Chapin Auditorium. FREE. 8:15 p.m.

The Clancy Brothers and Robbie O'Connell/Northeast Winds,bring their Irish folk music to the UMass Fine Arts Center Concert Hall. $22, $20, $18 general public; $11, $10, $8 Five College students; $5 children under 12. 8 p.m.

SUNDAY

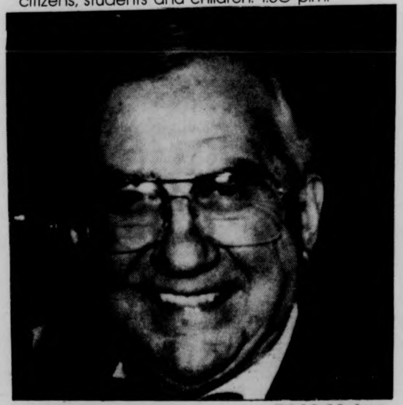
The Tokyo Trial, a four-hour compilation film by Kobayashi Masaki about the International Military Tribunal for the Far East, is screened as part of the Japanese Documentary Film/Lecture Series, at the Smith College Seelye Hall rm 10. FREE. 1 p.m.

A Great Wall, the first Chinese/US co-produced film, about a Chinese-American family's visit to China, is screened in the Amherst College Asian Culture House 4th floor lounge. FREE. 9 p.m.

Cindy Kallet, Ellen Epstein and Michael Cicone perform their beautiful harmonies as they sing traditional and contemporary music of the British Isles and America, as Part of the Sundays at Eight series at the Amherst College Campus Center Frontroom. $7 general public; $1 Amherst College students.

Milt Jackson Quartet, a great new jazz quartet, play the Iron Horse. $15. 7 p.m. and 10 p.m.

Eddie Kiss Me Goodnight, a performance piece that features the Young at Heart Chorus, and includes the college groups Town and Gown, Smith College Smithereens, Celebrations, Amherst College Zumbyes and the ladies of Delta Sigma Theta, all in the fictitious story of attempting to woo Ed McMahon into putting them on his Star Search program, is performed in the Northampton Academy of Music. $6 general public; $3 senior citizens, students and children. 1:30 p.m.



Ed McMahon

Spee Dee
OIL CHANGE & TUNE-UP
RAPID • RELIABLE • REASONABLE
NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED
MIDWEEK SPECIALS*
Tues. - Wed. - Thurs. - ONLY

OIL CHANGE AND MORE. FOR LESS.
$2 OFF
- Up to 5 qts. of Mobil • 10W30 or 10W40
- New Oil Filter
- Check & top off all essential fluids (up to ½ pint)
- Check tires
- Clean front & rear windows
- Vacuum vehicle interior
- Check wipers and air filter
- Validate new car warranties
- All work GUARANTEED

$19.95
10W30/ 10W40 Reg. $21.95
9 MINUTE OIL CHANGE/FILTER/LUBE.

TUNE-UP WITH A TIMELY SPECIAL.
$5 OFF
- New resistor spark plugs
- Idle speed adjustment
- Electronic ignition system check
- Inspection of Rotor, Distributor Cap. PVC Valve, Ignition Wires, Air EMC and Gas Filters
- Validate new care warranties
- 3 month/3,000 mile GUARANTEE

$40.95
Reg $45.95 4 Cyl.
COMPLETE 30 MINUTE TUNE-UP.

OFFICIAL MASS. INSPECTION STATION #4518
Pleasant St. (Next to Car Wash) Northampton Mass
413-586-5640
Service while you wait - No Appointment Necessary- Store hours Mon.-Fri. 8 A.M.-6 P.M., SAT.8 A.M.-5 P.M.
Offer good thru Tues.-Wed.-Thurs. only
Not valid with any other offer, No cash value — Each location independently Owned and Operated
*you must bring this ad with you

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

Legal Services has positions available for legal assistant interns for the Fall 1990 semester. This is a challenging opportunity for students from a variety of majors and disciplines to gain valuable legal experience.

Responsibilities include:
* client interviewing
* attendance at hearings
* preparation of court forms
* maintenance of continuing caseload
* investigations and research

Legal-Services-Center
university of massachusetts, amherst, ma. 01003

Up to 15 credits may be earned. Apply early! Contact Legal Services, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995. Start the application process today!

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
The aroma, sound & taste of authentic Chinese cuisine prepared Hunan, Szechuan, Mandarin or Cantonese style—especially for you!
- Ample Free Parking
- Major Credit Cards Accepted
- Full Liquor License
- Open 7 Days A Week
- Take-Out Service Available
- No MSG

585-0202 261 King St., Northampton, MA

Office for Cooperative Education
Summer & Semester Job Opportunities
Don't delay - new listings daily!
March/April On-Campus Interviews

Mar.	Employer	Majors	Semester
9	Pratt and Whitney	ME,IE,SOM	6 MO,FALL
12	Town of Wayland	Wild. Bio, Nat. Res.	Summer
13/14	Int. Foundation Employee Benefits	MGT	Summer
15	Price Waterhouse	Acct	Summer
27	Deloite and Touche	Acct	Summer
April
3	Walt Disney World	HRTA, Fash. Mkt, Comm	Summer, Fall
5	JC Penney	Fash, Mkt., SOM	Summer
20	Bankers Trust	A&S, SOM	6 mo, Fall

OVER 200 OTHER SUMMER AND SIX MONTH PORTUNITIES ARE LISTED AT THE CO-OP OFFICE. COME SEE US AT THE MATHER CAREER CENTER 545-2224

tips idb
Student Affairs Information Services
Information Data Bank
and the
Taped Information Phone Service

Call 545-1540 for "TIPS" about some of the many STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS and SERVICES
Ask for these tapes by number:
2801 Campus Mail
2349 The Collegian
2450 Craft Shop
7002 Computer Services
2700 Dyslexic Student Organization
2680 Hillel
2695 Newman Center
2670 Notary Services
1977 SGA Communications
1607 Writing Center and Workshops

If you have further questions call IDB at 545-1555
Information Data Bank (IDB)
Taped Information Phone Service (TIPS)

No Money For Spring Break
UMASS SKI CLUB
SKI & PARTY WEEK
Killington VERMONT
JUST $280 Per Person Tax Included
LAST MINUTE SIGN-UPS Accepted
DATES AVAILABLE MAR 18-23
Program Includes:
* 5 Nights Condo Lodging at MOUNTAIN GREEN Condominiums Based on full unit occupancy.
* 5 Day Lift Ticket, Six Mountains
* Services of On-Site Sno-Search Staff
* Free Lessons when you rent skis

CONTACT:
UMASS SKI CLUB
430 STUDENT UNION 545-3437
SKI CLUB TABLE-CAMPUS CTR. CONCOURSE

Indian dance through time

By NICOLE GONZALEZ
Collegian Correspondent

Ancient Indian dance and modern choreography join forces in the premiere performance of "Moksha" is presented by acclaimed artist Ranjana Devi and her Nataraj Dance Company this weekend.

The Nataraj company, based in Hadley, has performed throughout New York and Massachusetts. Their dance drama has been called "a charming piece that did honor to both ancient and modern sensibilities."

Also performing with Nataraj will be Nataraj Jr., dancers from ages 7-14, who are trained under the same direction, at the New England Dance Conservatory in East Long Meadow.

"Moksha" tells a story of a Western dancer struggling for a deeper understanding of mind and movement. Guided by visions, the dancer arrives at the ruins of an ancient Indian temple. Here, the story continues with live classical Indian music, elaborate costumes, and lyrical dancing, all fashioned to likeness of the period: 12th century A.D.

Inspired, the dancer ventures on beyond physical movement to meditation, the dance of the mind. Here, she experiences "Moksha," which means "release or liberation from every day living into a more spiritual world."It is there that she sees that the entire universe also moves in its own eternal dance. She envisions Shiva, the god of the rhythm of the universe, which is demonstrated through a theatrical solo. Leaving with an enlightened mind, she takes with her the revelation that movement is inherent in every action of the Universe.

The Nataraj Dance Company is led by artistic director, Ranjana Devi, from New Dehli, India, who choreographs in two different Indian dance styles, Odissi and Kathakali. For their performance of "Mosha," guest Lynn Frederiksen of Boston choreographed the Western modern dance sequence.

Among the dancers in Nataraj, there are several Five College students, including Yaaminey Mubayi (Mount Holyoke), Norman Traum (Hampshire) and Radhika Jha (Amherst). Three other dancers are former Five College students: Martha Furman Kojro (UMass '87), Holly Silva (Smith '87), and Joelle Garfi (Smith '85).

With live music and haunting melodies of India, original costumes, traditional and modern dancing, "Moksha" is a show not to be missed.

"Moksha" will be performed Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m. at The Theater, Amherst Junior High School. Advance tickets are available in Amherst at the Royal Crane Asian Grocery on College Street and at the Northampton Center for the Arts, or by calling (413) 586-8974. Tickets are $10 general public, $8 senior citizens and students and $5 children under 10.

Photo by Diblo

Ranjana Devi and her helping hands perform at Amherst Jr. High.

When it's a matter of taste...
and your waist...
follow the Frozen Yogurt Leader
"Smooth & creamy No Fat. No Cholesterol."
"Indulge without the bulge!"
JOE BANANA
BANANARAMA
Northampton fabulous frozen YOGURT Amherst

RUSH LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
TONITE 7-9 pm

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA FRATERNITY

Maybe you thought you would have too much work. Or maybe you thought fraternities weren't for you. Well, now maybe you've realized otherwise. We're Lambda Chi, and we're ready for you. Are you ready for us? We're having one more rush night so you can tell for sure. Check us out, you'll be glad you did.

—Superior housing and meals at the same price as the University!
—Reigning UMASS Intramural Football Champions
—Currently third in overall Greek area intramurals
—Located in the heart of the Greek area
—Raised over $300 for Amherst Dept. of Public Safety last semester —Collected over 2,000 lbs. of food for Amherst Survival Center last semester
—Full cable tv and pool table

GO GREEK

374 North Pleasant Street
253-9032

TRY US. WE'RE SO SURE YOU'LL LIKE US THAT WE HAVE A MONEY BACK GUARANTEE!

Increase the ODDS of Finding A Cure
Come to
Casino Night
to Support
Campuses Against Cancer
8 pm - 1 am CCA

SOMETHING IS ALWAYS HAPPENING AT THE HADLEY PUB
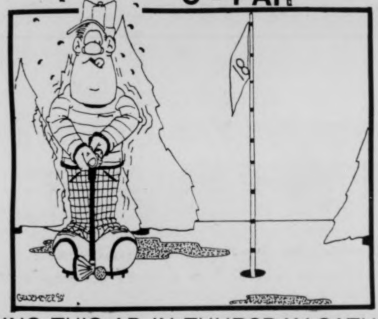
$1.00
Vodka Drinks
Thursday & Friday night
Live: "Savor"— The Santana Experience
Saturday: Blues & Beyond w/Arthur James & Truth
RT. 9 HADLEY next to CAMPUS PIZZA • 586-4444

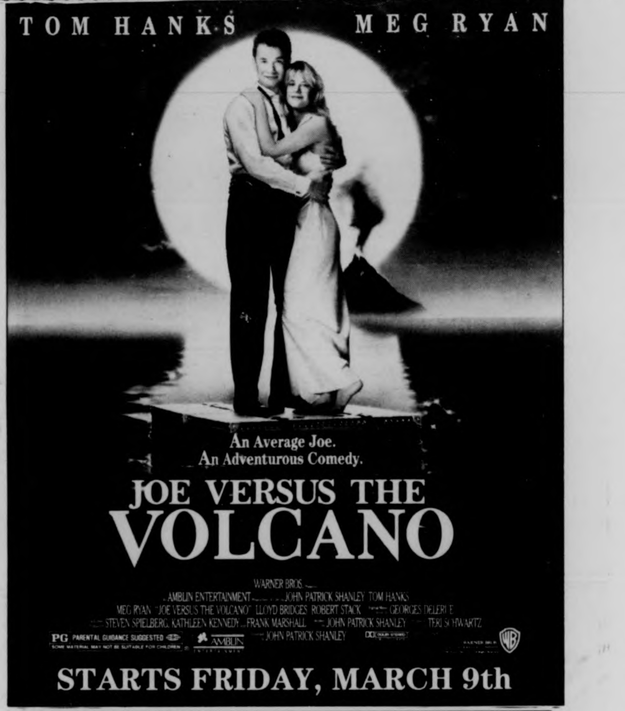
THE BLACK SHEEP
79 Main Street
Amherst
253-3442
58 Main Street
Northampton
586-3055

廣 KWANG CHOW 州
Chinese Fast Food Restaurant
Mandarin & Szechuen Cuisine
Luncheon Specials served from 11:30 am - 3 p.m. (except Sunday)
A. Beef with Broccoli, Fried Rice.
B. Sliced Chicken with Vegetables, Fried Rice.
C. Vegetable Lo Mein, Egg Roll.
D. Lobster Sauce, Egg Roll, Fried Rice.
$2.19
Special Combination Plates served all day, 7 days a week
Take out service available—Large party order welcome
430 Russell St., Rt. 9, Hadley, Mass. 253-2571, 253-2572
Mon. thru Sat. 11:30—10:00 p.m. Sunday 12:00—10:00 p.m.

INDOOR MINIATURE GOLF
THIS MAN IS PUTTING FOR:
A - BIRDIE
B - BOGEY
C - PAR



BRING THIS AD IN THURSDAY-SATURDAY
GIVE US THE RIGHT ANSWER & WIN A FREE
ROUND OF MINI-GOLF WITH A REGULAR
PURCHASE OF MINI-GOLF.
BIRDIES & BOGEYS
HOLYOKE MALL - LOWER LEVEL - 536-3765
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
OFFER EXPIRES MARCH 31, 1990



TOM HANKS
MEG RYAN
An Average Joe.
An Adventurous Comedy.
JOE VERSUS THE VOLCANO
WARNER BROS.
AMBLIN ENTERTAINMENT
JOHN PATRICK SHANLEY TOM HANKS
MEG RYAN "JOE VERSUS THE VOLCANO" LLOYD BRIDGES ROBERT STACK GEORGES DELERUE
STEVEN SPIELBERG KATHLEEN KENNEDY FRANK MARSHALL JOHN PATRICK SHANLEY TERI SCHWARTZ
PG PARENTAL GUIDANCE SUGGESTED
JOHN PATRICK SHANLEY
STARTS FRIDAY, MARCH 9th

rob lowe
james spader bad influence
nothing is free but trouble.
epic productions and sarlui/diamant present a producer representatives organization/steve tisch production a curtis hanson film rob lowe james spader bad influence music by trevor jones edited by bonnie koehler production designer ron foreman director of photography robert elswit co-producer bernie goldmann executive producers richard becker and morrie eisenman written by david koepp produced by steve tisch directed by curtis hanson
R RESTRICTED TRIUMPH
Starts Friday, March 9th At Theatres Everywhere

BEFORE YOU LEAVE ON YOUR WELL-DESERVED SPRING BREAK ... COME INTO HAMPDEN CREAMERY FOR ...
Shamrock Cookie
One Emerald Green Dollar buys you a homemade cookie that will turn your friends green with envy!
All Shakes whether large or small will be 17% off our regular price
St. Paddy's Shake
HAMPDEN Creamery IN SOUTHWEST
OPEN DAILY: 11:30 AM-11 PM
SPECIAL IN EFFECT FROM SUNDAY, MARCH 11TH TO FRIDAY, MARCH 16TH.

WEATHER

Today: sunny, temps 45-50, tonight — 20s. Weekend: 50s with plenty of sunshine.

NEWS

Hungry for green eggs and ham? There's a new Dr. Suess club on campus for you! Page 3.

ARTS

Marat/Sade modernist theatre opens at Hampshire College this weekend. Page 7.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY FRIDAY, MARCH 9, 1990
COLLEGIAN
VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 28

Minutemen fall in A-10 final, 53-51

UMass loses a tight game against Temple University

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

PHILADELPHIA – OK, no the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team didn't win the Atlantic 10 Conference championship.

So what? What's wrong with being runner-up, especially when you look back to the start of the season and recall exactly what the expectations were for this team.

Most people felt they could accept the team's first .500 record in 11 years. But the Minutemen did more than that. They got into the championship game last night, a game that they fought hard in until the bitter end until host Temple University pulled out a 53-51 win at McGonigle Hall.

NCAA? Who thought back on Oct. 15 that the NCAAs were even a longshot for this team?

The Minutemen (17-13) did themselves proud by battling a talented and national-known team to the wire in a foreign building. And chances are, UMass will get an invite to the National Invitational Tournament when bids are announced Sunday night.

"I was happy. This was a good game for our team," said UMass coach John Calipari. "This was our first opportunity to play in a championship game, and it won't be our last."

The Minutemen were being written off by many as a team that didn't stand much of a chance against the mighty Owls (20-10). The "experts said that UMass couldn't match up to with Temple, and the Minutemen did nothing to dispel those thoughts by falling into an 11-point hole at halftime.

But the trademark of this team this year is that it never quits. Last night was no exception. UMass could never get over the hump, but did claw its way back into the contest and went out like a lion instead of a lamb.

"I'm proud of our kids, and we'll be back in this game," Calipari said. "Hopefully not at McGonigle Hall."

Temple got its usual performance from All-America and Tournament MVP Mark Macon, who banged home 20 points. UMass was successful in taking Donald Hodge (3 points) out of the offense, but in his place stepped Mark Strickland, who came alive for 13, including a big 11 in the first half.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 12

Reactions to CYBER sex forums varied

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts administrators said yesterday that they do not plan to address the issue of the non-academic forums on the CYBER mainframe computer until Monday when they hope a faculty committee will discuss a possible course of action.

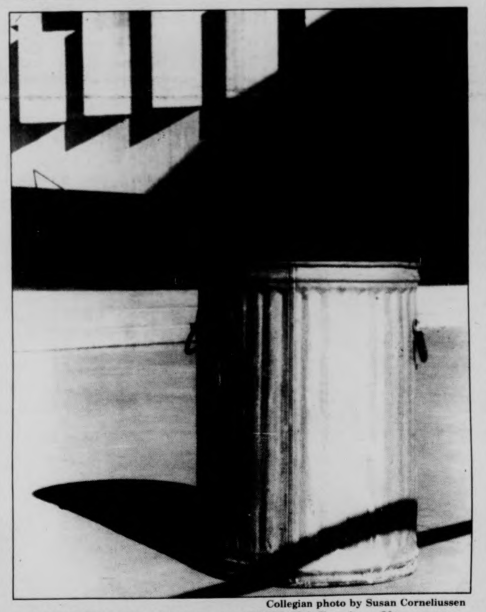
It was discovered this week that the CYBER, one of the most powerful computers on campus, was home to at least three forums devoted to sexual fantasies and stories. Other non-academic forums such as insult exchange forums, dating forums and car forums were also uncovered.

John Dubach, acting director of University Computing Center, said an investigation of the heavily-used electronic mail system conducted by his staff unconvered approximately 250 other forums.

On the CYBER system, a forum is called a "notesfile." Each forum can contain several individual files or documents.

Dubach said he found another sex story forum called, "Lusty Ones," on CYBER

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2



Collegian photo by Susan Corneliussen

GETTING TRASHED AT THE FAC - A solitary garbage can waits for concerned citizens to fill it with refuse.

Candidates questioned on WMUA

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Candidates for Student Government Association president and student trustee fielded questions from WMUA and the Collegian in the Campus Center last night in a two-part forum dealing with campus issues.

The forum, broadcast by WMUA, was moderated by SGA President Traci Davis. The six candidates answered questions with individual follow-ups. Cross-debate was prohibited.

Presidential candidates were asked the questions: how would you maintain a working relationship between administration and students; what is your perception of the cultural centers on campus; and do you see a connection between campus rapes and the sale of pornographic material on campus.

In her opening remarks, Sen. Natasha Diephuis, (Greek Area), said she believed there was no need to cut funding to University child care or the escort service.

In an individual question, she was asked where the cuts should come from.

"I don't believe that the question is what to cut as opposed to where to find the money for the funding of vital campus concerns. That funding should come form the state."

Sen. Ken Parker, (Orchard Hill Area Government), explained his approach to working with the administration. "I would tell Chancellor Duffey to listen to our complaints, because students have very valid things to say."

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

Committee wants state-funded child care, not private

By LYNN MORELLI
Collegian Correspondent

The Child Care Options Advisory Committee, which comprises administrators, staff and parents, has initiated a proposal to maintain state-financed child care services at the University instead of welcoming a private vendor, said University child care administrator, Alicia Smith.

The committee is currently working on a plan to cut costs from within the child care system. It is the committee's believes that if the budget is balanced, there will be no need for outside contractors, Smith said.

"I am optimistic that there will be a University child care system that is University run," Smith said.

The deadline for the proposal March 23, at which time Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson will review the plan, and balance it against the bids from the private contractors.

He said that a final decision will be reached no later than the end of this semester.

The proposal includes reducing administrative costs by combining jobs. Employees would not be laid off, but relocated to other jobs within the University administration, Smith said.

Another component of the plan is to reorganize the center by restructuring the four pre-school classes into three larger classes, Smith said. To increase revenue, service fees would be raised about 10 percent, she said.

Smith said if the proposal is accepted, the two day care centers may save as much as $140,000 in the new fiscal year.

However, the projected deficit for the new year is $180,000, approximately $90,000 more than in previous years, she said.

Smith and Madson said the increase in the deficit is due in part to the budget crisis, and partly because of the new University policy that 25 percent of all University employee benefits must now be paid by agency trust funds.

"This 25 percent is substantial when you're dealing with a deficit the size of the child care center's," Smith said.

Sarah Boy, special assistant to vice chancellor for student affairs, said each year University child care center is allotted $250,000 through state funds. Since this is not sufficient to balance their budget, University child care has been given an additional $90,000 from excess University budget funds.

Three private vendors submitted bids to the University on Feb. 23 as a possible solution to the lack of funds for child care.

However, according to Boy, the three bids seemed to meet the University's expectations outlined in a 23-page request for proposals circulated to prospective vendors by the Child Care Advisory Board.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief	Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor	George Austin
Editorial Editor	Minu Sebastian
News Editor	Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor	Jim Clark
Arts Editors	Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor	Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor	Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor	Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor	Chris Muther
Business Manager	Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager	Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager	Martina Rios
Circulation Manager	Chris Baker
Subscription Manager	Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager	Donna Cusson
Production Managers	Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager	Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business	Lori Black, Brian Harrington Maureen Majerowski
Graphics	Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

For Your Information

For Your Information is a calendar listing of local announcements and upcoming events published daily by the Collegian as a public service. All submissions must be typed and submitted to the newsdesk at least one full day beforehand. We reserve the right to edit for space.

FRIDAY, MARCH 9, 1990

Discussion — "Would You Blow the Whistle?" Come and find out in an informal discussion with Penina Glazer, co-author of The Whistle-Blowers: Exposing Corruption in Government and Industry. Bring a sandwich, beverages provided. Sponsored by Omicron Nu.

Coffee Socials — The Lesbian, Bisexual Gay Alliance is sponsoring a coffee social session at 9PM at CC803.

Dance — The LBGA is sponsoring a dance from 9 p.m. in the Campus Center Auditorium. Admission is $3.00.

Vote — Board of Governors elections. Tuesday March 13 11:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Ballot Boxes are located at the Hatch, The Newman Center and all of the dining commons except Hampden.

Banners — The Board of Governors is now accepting banners to be hung on the garage. For more information concerning the garage banner policy and its requirements, contact the Board of Governors in Campus Center room 817 or call 545-0198.

■ administration on CYBER findings

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

yesterday while looking through the system. Operators are now looking over the system for additional non-academic forums, he said.

"We cannot police these forums on a regular basis," he said. "We don't have the staff and there are million files on the system."

Dubach, who did not know of the existence of the sex story forums on the CYBER system until he was contacted by the Collegian Tuesday, said he will go before the University Computing Committee of the Faculty Senate on Monday. He believes the committee will determine what his office should do in response.

"Until I get a proper definition of what constitutes proper use or abuse of the system, I'm going to wait," he said. "I'm going to get guidelines from the committee before I take any action."

Dubach said he did not know what actions he would take if the committee does not come back with recommendations.

William Weitzer, assistant vice-chancellor for student affairs, said that until Dubach informed his office, he was unaware of the presence of the sex stories on CYBER.

He said his office will not take any action unless a violation of the Code of Student Conduct is committed or a student is harassed in one of the forums.

Weitzer said although the stories might be offensive, he does not believe the would incite harassment. "I doubt there is a violation of the Code of Student Conduct on the system today," he said.

Mike Chludzinski, a sophomore in the School of Management, who has never used the system, said he was not offended by the forums.

"It just sounds like someone having fun," he said. "But if it isn't supposed to be on there maybe it should taken off the system."

Brian Abasciano, a devout Christian, said he was "disgusted" by the forums.

"It seems sinful to me and [reading the stories] gives way to lust and sin," said the sophomore history major. "I think it leads to unnatural acts, sexual sin, premarital sex and rape."

Debra Reiff, a 1985 graduate of UMass who was selling jewelry on the concourse yesterday, said, "My point of view is that this is a gross injustice on the academic purpose of the University to use public equipment for pornographic purposes."

■ child care

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Boy said the bids make allowances for sliding fee scales, which are currently incorporated into the child care program, and for keeping the present staff, should their bid be accepted.

Madson said because of the budget crisis, this year there are no excess University budget funds.

When asked about a preference for a private or University run childcare system Madson said, "The University is absolutely committed to educational child care systems right on campus, and is in favor of sound programs that are affordable and accessable."

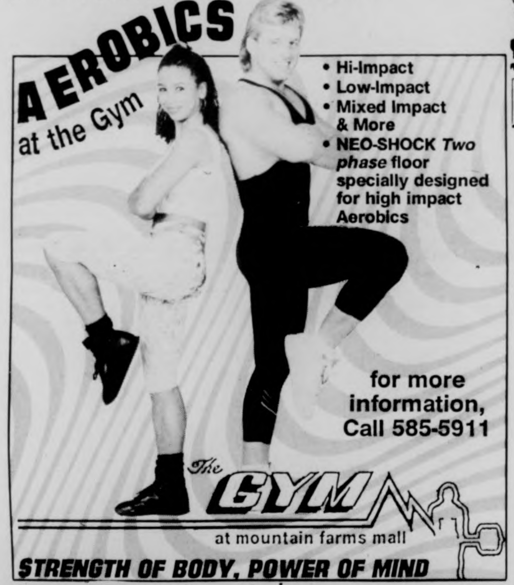
Smith said: "The administration understands the issue, . . .the University child care program is one of the few places where cultural diversity is represented regularly on this campus, given the program curriculum, and the wide variety of families involved."

CORRECTION

Part of the immunization requirements for measles was incorrectly reported yesterday. People who are traveling to Florida, California or Texas should have two immunizations. The first should have been at 12 months of age or after. If it was before 12 months, it does not count. The second immunization should have been received any time after one month following the first immunization.

From across a crowded room, their eyes met.
We are everywhere.
We're 100% frog and 42% cow.

Cyber Cow
Exploding cows.
Peace, liberty and
Any Brain Any Time Fast!
It happens.



AEROBICS at the Gym
• Hi-Impact
• Low-Impact
• Mixed Impact & More
• NEO-SHOCK Two phase floor specially designed for high impact Aerobics
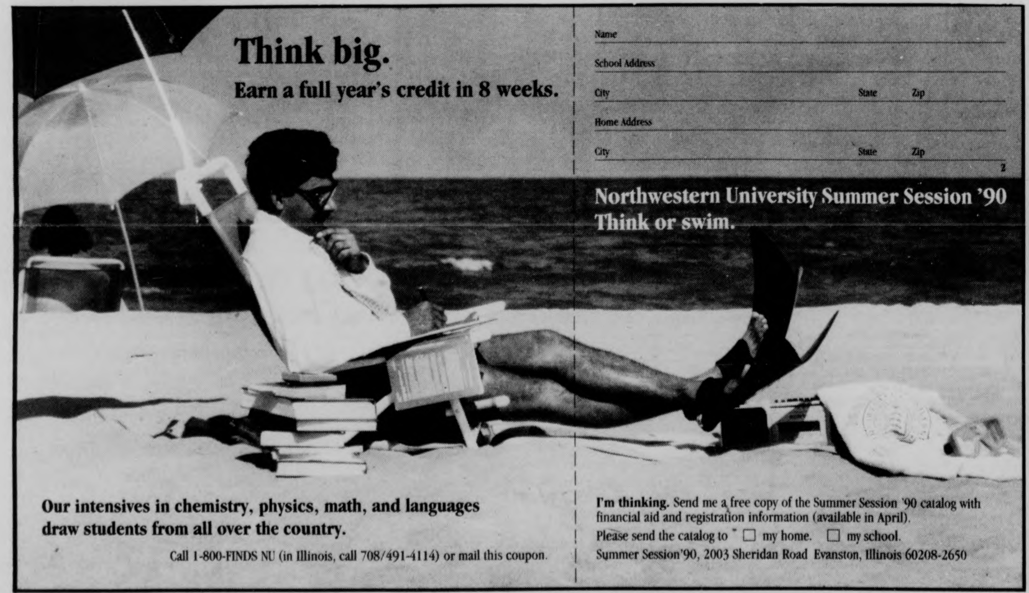
for more information, Call 585-5911
The GYM
at mountain farms mall
STRENGTH OF BODY, POWER OF MIND

AMHERST CINEMA
THE MUSIC BOX
PG13
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week
$2.50 with student I.D.
253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA



Think big.
Earn a full year's credit in 8 weeks.

Name
School Address
City State Zip
Home Address
City State Zip

Northwestern University Summer Session '90
Think or swim.

Our intensives in chemistry, physics, math, and languages draw students from all over the country.
Call 1-800-FINDS NU (in Illinois, call 708/491-4114) or mail this coupon.

I'm thinking. Send me a free copy of the Summer Session '90 catalog with financial aid and registration information (available in April).
Please send the catalog to ☐ my home. ☐ my school.
Summer Session'90, 2003 Sheridan Road Evanston, Illinois 60208-2650

CONDOMS
ORDER BY MAIL AND SAVE!!!
Please RUSH in UNMARKER PACKAGE
12-piece Condom Sampler $5.99
(Sampler contains a selection of TROJAN BRAND CONDOMS including TROJAN RIBBED, TROJAN ENZ, and TROJAN PLUS)
Complete Condom Catalog (with purchase) FREE
Catalog includes the TROJAN BRAND LINE, COLLEGIATE LINE (Condoms in your school colors) and the EROTICA LINE (Condoms for those special moments you don't want forgotten.)
Send check or money order to: National Health Products
P.O. Box 15658 SD, CA 92115

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included.Restrictions apply.One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms.Int'l Student ID'.EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So.Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

LOCAL

Club celebrates Dr. Suess and his creations welcomes sneeches of all kinds

By DARREN GARNICK
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts juniors Christl Hansman and Betsy Flack are looking for people who love green eggs and ham.

Hansman and Flack, founders of the UMass Dr. Suess Club, said they want to honor the celebrated children's author through parties and group readings. Currently, the club has 30 members.

Dr. Suess is the pen name of Theodore Seuss Geisel, author of more than 40 books including The Cat in the Hat, How the Grinch Stole Christmas, and Green Eggs and Ham.

"Just about anyone can quote Dr. Seuss," Flack said. "He is a symbol of our generation. I don't think I know anyone who hasn't grown up on his books."

"The stories seem so simple, but they're really not," she said.

Hansman cited several Seuss works which she said are political allegories for social change: The Lorax (environmental conservation), Bartholomew and the Oobleck (toxic waste), The Butter Battle Book (nuclear arms race), Horton Hears a Who (social equality), and Yertle the Turtle (power and exploitation).

We hope to be a kind of [activist] voice in a way," Hansman said, "But we also are doing this for our own self-enjoyment. We love Dr. Seuss."

Among the "fun stuff" Hansman and Flack have planned are: Dr. Seuss costume parties, animated films, a Green Eggs and Ham brunch (the meal will be doused with green food coloring), and a writing workshop, they said.

"We want to create a team of people to write Dr. Seuss-style editorials for newspapers and editorial cartoons, like a star-bellied sneech with a Ronald Reagan head," Flack said.

"If we can get people at different schools to form their own clubs, we can have a national Dr. Seuss convention at his house," Flack said. "Maybe we'll camp out on his lawn."

Flack said the next logical step is to create a Seuss literature class at UMass. Flack said she plans to invite professors to club meetings where they may read and interpret their favorite Dr. Seuss books.

Hansman said the Dr. Suess club also might put on plays for Amherst elementary school children. "We can keep coming up with ideas forever," she said.

The UMass Dr. Seuss Club has not contacted their mentor yet, but plan to do so soon, Hansman said.

According to Flack, her brother Jesse is the co-president of the "Dr. Seuss Mutual Appreciation Club" at Bard College in Annendale, New York Dr. Seuss wrote a letter to her brother endorsing the club, she said.

"[Dr. Seuss and the Bard club] mutually appreciate each other," Flack said. "We haven't gotten that far yet, but we hope some day he will appreciate us too."

Saturday, March 3, was Dr. Seuss' 86th birthday. Hansman and Flack said they wanted to throw a costume party to honor the author, but few of their friends were willing to dress up as Seuss characters. If club membership explodes, they said, future Seuss events will not flop.

Hansman said that joining the club involves no commitment. "You just have to show up and have a favorite book," she said.

Flack said so far student reaction has been positive.

"Everyone we talked to has urged us on," she said. "Most people are really psyched that we're doing this."

Collegian photo by Richard DuCree
Catherine MacKinnon

MacKinnon: law oppresses women

By DIANE HICKS
Collegian Staff

An audience of 200 roared last night at Amherst College as Catherine MacKinnon pronounced the legal system to be an oppressive body controlled by men and controlling women.

A former Smith College student who holds advanced law degrees, MacKinnon, along with Andrea Dworkin, co-authored anti-pornography ordinances in four U.S. cities.

While pornography was a major theme of her lecture, she also discussed battering, rape, prostitution, reproductive and custody rights of women. She said: "Women seldom have much to say about these matters."

Noting the setting of precedents she said: "New crimes must look like old crimes, or men's crimes against men to be taken seriously" adding "[in crimes against women] you have to defer to a law made at a time when women couldn't even vote."

She pointed to rape trials in the early 1970s, when female victims were unable to testify on their own behalf, yet male defendants were assumed credible enough to take the stand.

Since then she said, women have won a few battles including the law of sexual harassment. She said it is important, even though men still harass women, that women can confront it with dignity, and possibly stop it.

"There is controversy about whether law matters" she said, asking "Does law make life or life make law?" Then she answered, "No change in one produces no change in the other."

In response to the action against selling pornography on the University of Massachusetts campus MacKinnon said: "I think it's a great idea."

Because pornographers own distribution networks, they may force illegal "tie-in" sales, meaning Time and Newsweek could be withheld unless Hustler and Penthouse are accepted in the package, MacKinnon said.

"I'm for civil disobedience and destruction of property in the furthering of the political goals I've suggested" she said, "but I'm not in favor of hurting people."

There was a glimmer in her eye when she said, "I think [destructive protest is] wonderful, empowering, and dangerous" adding "It's not something I would advocate, it's something you should think about."

In response to the recent incident at the Amherst Newsroom where more than $800 worth of pornographic magazines were destroyed, she said, "It is that everyday life which produces change in law."

Anti-porn trial continued

NORTHAMPTON — In a pre-trial conference at the Northampton District Court yesterday, a second pre-trial conference was scheduled for April 26 for two University of Massachusetts students charged with malicious destruction of property over $250.

Senior Sandra Goodman and junior Lierre Keith, both of Northampton, were charged following an Dec. 13 incident at the Amherst Newsroom where more than $800 worth of pornographic and adult magazines were reported destroyed.

Both women entered a piea of not guilty when arraigned Feb. 1.

— LISA SHAPIRO

Cow stars in crew team lottery drawing

By SARAH DEMASTER
Collegian Staff

It's not hockey, but it does involve pucks.

In an effort to raise money for the University of Massachusetts men's and women's crew teams, on Saturday morning team members will map out a grid on the field next to Warren G. McGuirk Stadium, lead a cow into the middle at 1 p.m., and let it walk around until it "drops a puck" on one of the one square yard spaces, according to crew team Head Coach David Trond.

The team members will award $2,000 to the person who holds the ticket for that space, said Trond, a University graduate student in exercise science.

"Luckily, it's supposed to be warm out on Saturday," he said. "Hopefully it will be fun to come and watch if nothing else."

Trond says the team has sold about 900 raffle tickets so far, at $5 apiece. The team will be selling tickets Saturday as well, up until 12:30 p.m., he added.

The crew team hopes to raise about $3,000 from the event to purchase a trailer to transport its boats to races and to send some 80 team members to the national competition in Philadelphia in May.

Candidates for trustee and SGA president speak out

• Clement stresses campus safety

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Sophomore Victoria Clement, candidate for student trustee, has been heavily involved in Student Government since her freshman year at the University of Massachusetts.

Currently Clement is Orchard Hill Area Government vice-president, and a senator from Grayson to the Undergraduate Student Senate body. She also serves as co-chair of the Student Government Association Rents and Fees Committee, which reviews trust fund allocated money and submits a report to the vice chancellor's office for consideration.

Clement has served as the floor representative to Grayson House Council and as Orchard Hill Area Government Dormitory representative.

● Clement stressed campus safety and said there is insufficient lighting in parking and dormitory areas.

"As trustee, I would try to revise the funding of the escort service to make it more a responsibility of the University to fund it as opposed to private funding.

"The proportion of [campus] police on duty between day and night is unequal. The police have a direct responsibility to the students to let them know about incidents that happen on our campus."

● Clement explained her belief on student awareness: "Student empowerment, to me is awareness of what's happening, to really understand what's going on. That means in the leadership, and the students."

● Clement reported that after working on several committees, and in dealing with the administration, there are numerous committees that have openings for students. "I think if people are really interested in making a change, they have to be willing to work for it."

● Clement maintains that the Student Code of Conduct is not well representative of the entire student body, in that the rules applying to all campus residents also incorporate off-campus residents as well. She said she would work against issues such as those found in the Code of Conduct she believes are not in the best interest of all students.

• Parker: unified student body important

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Ken Parker, one of three candidates for president of the Student Government Association, said he first became interested in the way student government functions when he was a new student going through the orientation process.

"I got the SGA booklet and memorized it. I haven't missed one meeting since I was a freshman," Parker said. He said he recognizes there are problems to be overcome in SGA, but believes there are people who are accomplishing tasks effectively, and hopes to aid in this process if elected.

Parker is a newly elected senator from Orchard Hill Area Government. In the past, he has worked as an intern coordinating literacy efforts across the United States, and as an intern in Rep. Barney Frank's office (D-Mass.) He will serve as a delegate from Ward 6 to the 1990 Democratic gubernatorial convention.

● Parker said there are many ways for students to become involved and come together as a unified student body. "We have to have one strong voice such as the issue of the escort service, and University Without Walls. We have to show we are concerned.

"There has to be a nature of compromise between the administration and students."

● Parker believes there are voices on campus that have been stifled, people who have been abused, and out-of-state students who feel uncomfortable and unwelcomed by the University.

"There are three means [to assure these voices are not stifled]: repercussions from the administration on acts of racism committed by students; education through General Education requirements and the residential system; and finally to draw in more minority students."

● Parker said he believes the University should move toward not needing the escort service by offering educational programs, and publicizing attacks.

● Parker said he would propose a requirement that if the administration wants to change a policy, they must give notice to students and an opportunity to respond.

SGA candidates debate

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Sen. John Silveria (Greek Area), responded to a question regarding the sale of pornographic material on campus. "It's the students' decision. I think we should get rid of it."

The questioning period of trustee candidates was shortened because of time constraints, and so individual questions were directed at these candidates.

Sen. Victoria Clement (Orchard Hill Area Government), said her role as trustee would be more than just a liason as she would have an actual vote on the board of trustees. "I'll be there to lobby on [students'] behalf. We need the administration's money for safety and recruitment."

In response to a question regarding a projected enrollment decrease at UMass because of budget cuts, Sen. Angus McQuilken,[where]] said: "UMass at Amherst is an integral part of this state. I plan on bringing the issue [of budget cuts] into the judiciary system of the state." He said by April a breach of contract lawsuit [I think this should read 'may be filed']will be filed with the state.

Sen. Bob Monaghan, (Southwest Area Government), said, "It's time for a change at UMass and I think I an that change."

He said his role as trustee is to represent all students, including graduate students. "They need representation as well."

CATCH THE TOP AT THE TOP!
8:00 PM
Fri., Apr. 28th
BOSTON CELTICS VS BULLETS
Plus Hockey - Sat.: Bruins v. Islanders at 7:30; Sun.: Bruins v. Whalers at 7:00
TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE
Monday-Friday 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 a.m.
Saturday & Sunday 5:00 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.
11th FLOOR CAMPUS CENTER

BRADLEY AIRPORT SHUTTLE
Spring Break Special
$15 FARE*
CALL NOW Limited Seating
VALLEY TRANSPORTER
256-8484
*restrictions apply

Come Ride With Us.
Interceptor™
• Motorcycles
• Scooters
• A.T.V.'s
• Power Equipment
Valley Motorsports
216 N. King St., Rte. 5
584-7303
731-9965
Northampton, MA
The 1989 Honda Motorcycles are ready for viewing.
ALWAYS WEAR A HELMET, EYE PROTECTION AND PROTECTIVE CLOTHING

Railroad SALVAGE Stores
SALE ENDS MAR 15TH
Hampshire Mall, Route 9, Hadley, MA
CARPET BUY-OUT
This is a tremendous assortment of partial rolls and roll balances
• DuPont Antron® Nylon • DuPont Certified Stainmaster Carpet • Monsanto Ultron • Nylon Wear Dated® • Monsanto Wear Dated® Gold Label Carpet with Locked-In Stainblocker®
DUPONT CERTIFIED STAINMASTER CARPET
ANSO V worryfree FROM ALLIED FIBERS
• Multicolor Cut Loop
• Solid Color Saxony
• Solid Color Cut Pile
• Tailored Cut Pile
• Textured Cut Pile
• Velvet Cut Pile
• Boucle Cut Pile
• Multicolor Saxony
ENTIRE STOCK OF BROADLOOM AT ONE LOW LOW PRICE
VALUE $14.00 TO $35.00
NOW $7.00 SQ.YD.
Assortment May Vary From Store to Store
FURNITURE CLEARANCE OF ALL FLOOR SAMPLES AND DISPLAY ITEMS AT 10%-50% OFF OUR PRICES
SAVE UP TO 80% OFF NORMAL PRICES
LIVING ROOMS • DINETTES
BEDROOMS • MATTRESSES
ENTERTAINMENT CENTERS
COMPUTER FURNITURE
COLORED TRANSLUCENT WINDOW SHADES
37¼"x6' SAVE 33%
BLUE ORANGE GREEN RED LILAC YELLOW AND MORE
OUR REG $2.99 NOW $1.99 EACH
SALE SHADES CUT AT NO CHARGE
70"x72" DELUXE VINYL SHOWER CURTAINS
FLORALS • GEOMETRICS
METAL GROMMETS FOR STURDY WEAR
Many Patterns to Choose
Butterfly Stripe Deco Plaid Desiree Poppy Concord Springtime Moire Shimmer and more
COMP VALUE $9.95-$10.95
OUR $6.99 NOW $4.88
SPECIAL PURCHASE
IT'S NOT JUST LUCK. Lucky Tops. AND IT'S NOT JUST TOPS
A HUGE ASSORTMENT OF SKIRTS SLACKS VESTS BLOUSES JACKETS
ALL AT ONE LOW PRICE!
POLYESTER & POLY/COTTON MACHINE WASH
VALUE $4.00 - $12.00
SIZES 6-16 NOW $2.22 EACH

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

amc THEATRES
$3.50 TWILITE SHOW LIMITED TO SEATING
MT. FARMS 4 MT FARMS MALL 584-9153
Tom Hanks Meg Ryan
Joe vs. the Volcano
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:15
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:15
Sun at 12:15, 2:45 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
PG
Special Engagement - No passes or Coupons accepted
Glory Civil War Drama
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:00, 2:30 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:15
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:15
R
TOM CRUISE BORN ON THE FOURTH OF JULY
A true story
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:00, 10:00
Sat at 1:30 (4:15 at 3.50) 7:00, 10:00
Sun at 12:00, 2:30 (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
Mon-Thurs at (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
R
A rebel & his mike.
Roger & Me
Fri at (4:45 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sat at 2:00 (4:45 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sun at 12:15, 2:45 (6:00 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:30
R
HAMPSHIRE 6 HAMPSHIRE MALL 584-7550
REVENGE
Fri at (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 9:45
Sat at 1:15 (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00 9:45
Sun at 12:00, 2:45 (5:30 at 3.50) 6:15
Mon-Thurs at (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
R
Hard To Kill
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sun at 12:30, 3:15 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
R
There is no good news.
Madhouse
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sun at 12:30, 3:15 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
PG13
THE HUNT FOR RED OCTOBER
Fri at (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 10:00
Sat at 1:15 (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 10:00
Sun at 12:00, 2:45 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:15
Mon-Thurs at (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
PG
DRIVING MISS DAISY
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 1:30 (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:15, 3:00 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
PG
Jessica Lange Joan Cusack
Men Don't Leave
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 1:30 (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:15, 3:00 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
PG13

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

A man's feelings on rape

The failure of police on this campus and others to report rape is an inexcusable failure by the police to "protect and serve" the community. It leads to a false sense of security and probably fosters careless habits that could lead potential victims into dangerous situations.

William Catania

Reporting rape in some detail or even just stating when and where such things happen would do a lot toward helping potential victims to protect themselves.

Imagine what reporting rape would do toward fostering safer behavior.

I was, until age 18, one of the men that "never knew anyone who got raped." Then a very close friend of mine was raped, and she chose me as the person to turn to. It was an unbelievable learning experience.

After having gone through that experience I inquired more into the experiences of other friends. I was able to talk about rape and better understood its implications.

For women to share those experiences with men can be humiliating and frightening, among other things. But it can also do amazing things toward fostering an awareness and understanding.

It may be true that men rape women not the other way around and that "1 in 12 collegiate men rape women," but that still leaves 90 percent of the male population as non-rapists.

Creating a solidarity between women and the 90 percent of us men would be a powerful force toward change.

You may ask who to trust. No one can give you an easy answer to that.

Granted, I am male. I don't really have to be worried about being raped and I'm innocent until proven guilty.

Experience with some common sense, however, is a good rule of thumb. It's fundamental to our legal numbers and helps to break down prejudice in our daily lives if consciously applied.

Please tell your male friends what has happened to you even if they are condescending or ignorant. Even make would-be rapists think twice in the future. It isn't easy but it's important.

Rape cuts across all aspects of society. It affects everyone. It's not just a woman's issue.

Most men have mothers, maybe sisters, friends, classmates and lovers, who are all potential victims. If there is such a thing as sides in an issue like rape, the majority is on the side of the victim, not in sympathy with the perpetrator. I hope.

To the men: Your friends and relatives are being raped and assaulted by some of our numbers. Are you or some of your friends or relatives among the rapists? What are you going to do about it? I find the situation intolerable, how about you?

If it happens to a friend of yours, are you ready to deal with it or are you just going to add to the problem?

To the women: What do you know about your male friends? What don't they know that they should know? Are they in some kind of fantasy world concerning women? If so, destroy it.

For instance, do men challenge others in their company who exhibit aggressive behavior towards women?

Do men force their women friends into compromising situations through ignorance or laziness?

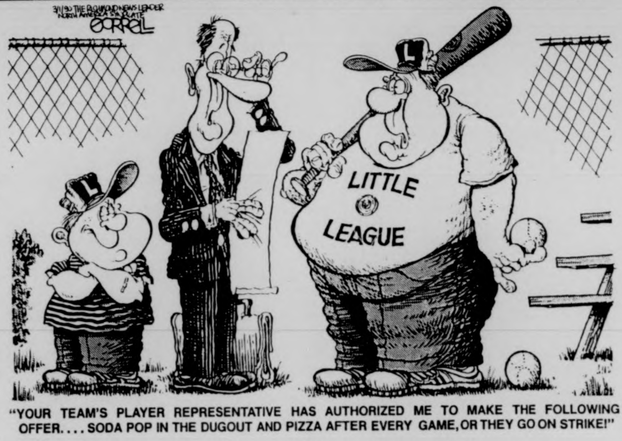
Do men compound the emotional damage of a woman victim by their preconceptions?

If you enlighten them about the harsh reality of rape, you could turn these potential accomplices (before and after the fact) into worthy allies in the future.

If everyone was as strongly emotionally stirred up as I was by learning about the reality of rape, this world would become a very dangerous place for the rapist. As it should be.

Something to think about.

William Catania is a UMass student



3/1/90 THE RICHMOND NEWS LEADER NORTH AMERICA SYNDICATE
GORRELL
L
LITTLE LEAGUE
L

"YOUR TEAM'S PLAYER REPRESENTATIVE HAS AUTHORIZED ME TO MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER.... SODA POP IN THE DUGOUT AND PIZZA AFTER EVERY GAME, OR THEY GO ON STRIKE!"

Voices from the past

Richard Nixon — the very name conjures up different images for various people.

To some, he is a man who abused his power, a political pariah who permanently tarnished the sanctity of the Oval Office and left the nation with a mistrust in government and its processes.

Sam Coleman

To others, he was a political master. A man who could maneuver in such crisis situations as Vietnam or use such tactics like the "checkers" speech for his political survival. To them, he was one of the great statesmen of the presidency, who opened the door to China and lay the groundwork for detente and S.A.L.T. I.

But Mr. Nixon has more tenacity (or the public has amnesia) than many would have believed.

He is a low-level phoenix. From the ashes, Nixon is now considered a savvy foreign policy analyst. The Reagan and Bush administrations have courted his knowledge of China and other matters more than once. He also writes frequently in various journals including the Hill's must-read, Foreign Affairs.

Enter "Z" — the mysterious writer who recently came out with a scorching political history of the Soviet Union in the Massachusetts-based journal Daedlus. In it "Z" outlines the background of the various players in Soviet ideology through time and leads the reader with this conclusion: no matter how well-intentioned Gorbachev may seem, he, along with the communist apparatus, must be left to fall and under no circumstances deserve U.S. help of any kind.

The article sent Washington abuzz with rumors and de Tocqueville's opinion that "The most dangerous time for a bad government is when it starts reforming itself" was on the smiling lips of many a Hill conservative.

Who was "Z?"

Was he an administration higher-up, letting out policy the same way the mysterious "X" let out the policy of Kennan's idea of containment in the 1950s?

We might never know for sure but an American Spectator article leads to a natural conclusion: Richard Nixon.

Now, this may all seem insignificant and of concern only to a few. But it poses an incredible threat to those who wish to see the realization of peace in our time.

It seems Nixon's agenda is being carried out by the Bush administration. "Tricky Dick" has found an impressionable ear in George Bush, and the actions of our president prove it.

Where once he proclaimed Gorbachev as a friend, promised much-needed help and initialized that process, now he seems to be doing everything not to help the Russians.

The U.S. was the lone voice in a 17-nation trade group to voice opposition to easing sanctions on the Soviets. The U.S. insisted on keeping 225,000 troops in Europe and the Soviets took a subservient number of 195,000. Also, take into account the recent coup in Kabul that may have been at CIA instigation.

The only problem with all this is that it strengthens the power of the military hardliners in the Soviet Union to overthrow Gorbachev. It will not be the people who win, but the generals.

The largest arsenal in world history will not be taken apart like the Berlin wall. It will be wielded in the power vacuum that will sure to follow the fall of Gorbachev and inevitably start us down the path of another world war.

And it will all be because of a ghost who wouldn't die — the President and his men who listened to tales of a greater apparition, and the people who didn't care enough to stop witch stories until it was too late.

Sam Coleman is a UMass Exchange student

Accident waiting to happen

The recent (March 1) car-pedestrian collision on N. Main Street opposite Hasbrouck was a tragedy waiting to happen.

During a brief period, shortly after I came to campus in 1965, there were two fatalities recorded for that area of the street extending past the GRC. One fatality involved a young member of the Music faculty. The other was a student.

Ever since then, when the campus transit system was later inaugurated and I had a chance to observe traffic from the sanctity of the bus stop shelters, I have been made keenly aware of the hazards to both pedestrians and cars on this highly-trafficked roadway.

Drivers too often ignore the Motor Vehicle Code that says they must give way to pedestrians in crosswalks. And jaywalking ordinances that proscribe foot traffic from dancing with motorists on the run are equally ignored.

During the brief reign of Provost Puryear some years ago, the attempt was made to convert us to a pedestrian campus, including that section of North Pleasant Street that bisects. But the delivery people objected (how were they to get the Coke bottles to the vending machines?) and the Town of Amherst protested that North Pleasant was their street.

So the idea was dropped as being fiscally and physically unfeasible. Meantime, Amherst solved its own midtown traffic hazard by installing a traffic light at St. Bridget's Church and raising stanchion signs in the middle of the crosswalks that warn motorists that pedestrians in the crosswalks have the right of way.

Now that the hazards of crossing North Pleasant on the campus have once again been proved, to the discomfort of its latest victims (student in critical condition and the driver in shock), it would appear that the UMass Public Safety people should take the initiative and at least erect stanchions warning drivers of erratic pedestrian traffic.

Otherwise, North Pleasant-via-Campus will remain an accident waiting to happen, again.

Dario Politella
Journalism Department

Acceptance more than tolerance

The sudden release of Nelson Mandela on February 11th from Victor Verster Prison in South Africa was an unprecedented event for those who have struggled long and hard against apartheid.

The racist power structure has flexed its muscle at the expense of the indigenous majority for centuries with absolutely no regard for human rights.

Jeff S. White

Black South Africans have sacrificed and been robbed of their blood, sweat and tears to overcome a system which denies them the right to vote and to participate in their own government.

They have been beaten, tortured and murdered by the savages who dare to call themselves policemen.

They have literally been hostages of an inhumane prison system, which routinely "detains" people indefinitely without trial. Many people, including young children, have died at the hands of this barbaric government.

It will be very difficult to rise above this legacy and develop positive social, economic and political interracial relationships.

The potential for massive bloodshed is immense and, as some would say, "What comes around, goes around."

Looking beyond this fact, however, a truly amazing thing is occurring in South Africa.

Nelson Mandela is now freer than his oppressors will ever be. He has transcended his personal anger toward his oppressors and has become strongly empowered in his country's struggle for unconditional equality and justice.

Though legendary in stature to people all over the world, Mandela insists that he is not the sole savior and leader of Black South Africa. Rather, he is a part of the African National Congress (ANC), the major political party seeking to transform South Africa into a free and democratic nation that it should be.

While changes in policies made by President F. W. deKlerk have been welcomed by Black South Africa, let us not forget that apartheid still dominates every aspect of South African society.

Mandela was just one prisoner of the system.

There are many thousands more in jails throughout the country who await their release from the stranglehold of the White racist government.

Oppressors never yield power to the oppressed unless those in power have something to gain from it.

South Africa's major international trading partners took a stand for human rights, thereby placing heavy economic sanctions on companies doing business there.

Although the U.S. and British governments took the usual, weak, half-hearted stand — while still catering to South African business interests — there is a definite increase in consciousness and action resulting from mass awareness and boycotts.

Any Black South African truly committed to the betterment of their country will tell you that economic pressures do indeed work because it is the present economic order which perpetuates apartheid.

The ultimate goal, however, is not simply to change the rules of the game by ending the apartheid system and creating laws which promote interracial harmony.

What we desperately need is a new and expanded mentality which reaches above and beyond what the South African government, and many of us here, are operating on.

Tolerance is not enough.

Total, unconditional acceptance of people, whatever their attributes, is the key.

Jeff S. White is a UMass Graduate student

Attention Seniors

Only 50 Reservation Days
Left 'til Graduation!!

Make Reservations Early

Carbur's a Graduation Tradition

Carbur's
Restaurant and Lounge
Rt. 9 Hadley
Between Amherst and Northampton
586-1978

Air National Guard part-time membership offers fantastic benefits! Join your local Air Force in Westfield. Several part time jobs available, including aircraft mechanics, medical lab, police, firefighting jobs also available. Other benefits include 100% free college tuition, high pay, G.I. Bill, retirement, free plane travel and more. Men and women without prior service are eligible through age 34. Veterans of all services are usually eligible into their 40's. Call your recruiter to see if you qualify. No obligation, no pressure.

Jobs guaranteed before you enlist.

Call any time, (413) 568-9215 or
1-800-AIR-9151.

THE AMHERST DELICATESSEN

Can we build one for you?

Serving—Sandwiches, Foot Long Subs, Bagels & Lox, Fresh Soups & Salads

★ DELIVERIES CALL 549-6314
★ Open until 2 a.m. ★

HAPPY ST. PATS

BEER SPECIALS

GUINNESS 6pks	4.99
HARP 6pks.	3.99
PIELS 12 oz btls case	6.99
BUD LIGHT 12 oz cans case	10.99

LIQUOR SPECIALS

BAILEYS IRISH CREAM 750ml	13.99
CORK GIN FROM IRELAND 750ml	10.99
GREEN MARTINIS? GREEN GIN & TONICS?
FOUR SEASONS VODKA & GIN 1.75L	8.99
BETTER THAN HOMEMADE
ABSOLUTE VODKA 750ml SUPER SPECIAL	9.99

FOUR SEASONS

KEGS—ALL SHAPES & SIZES MC/VISA
Located on Route 9, Hadley—Just beyond Burger King
OPEN MONDAY—SATURDAY 9 a.m. - 11 p.m.

584-8174

SPORT Style

Photo by Buck Stewart

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
UMASS

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

Located in the Campus Center

ARTS & LIVING

Marat/Sade: a lunatic fringe

By ADAM TIMRUD
Collegian Correspondent

Marat/Sade, a key work of modernist theater, humbles most directors who take it on. Staging it at the university level may be too quixotic an ambition, for the play is a monster. Done well, it can be so rich and beautiful that it can leave us at once exhausted and exhilarated, but its structural complexities also leave it hellishly prone to dissolution.

The Hampshire College production doesn't fall apart quite so graphically. The chaos is carefully ordered, the performers deter from self-indulgence. Director Ted Simpson has a knack for polish, his work always looks professional. But the production seems to have squashed his imaginative faculties. It feels undernourished and tinny. Simpson and producer Matt Ward's slick conservative artistic choices reduce it to an impersonal trifle.

The full title of Peter Weiss's play is The Persecution and Assassination of Jean-Paul Marat as Performed by the Inmates of the Asylum of Charenton Under the Direction of the Marquis de Sade, and that's its essence. It is a profoundly complex work, for we are always aware that we are watching mental patients portraying personalities of the French Revolution and that the whole debate has been engineered by the Marquis de Sade for an 1808 audience living under Napoleonic rule.

At its best Weiss' play is a grandly organic construct of text and music and images, but Simpson gives it no pulse. It emerges as a series of vignettes instead of Weiss's intended "total experience." Actors scurry to center stage, do their bits, and retreat, each vignette neatly identified for our delectation by the inevitable Brechtian slide shows. The director, a former set designer, is deft with composition and technique, and the play rolls right along. But as a director Simpson isn't really an artist. His pretty pictures don't give a distinct point of view — they're just watchable images. The most effective scenes — de Sade being whipped, Marat's nightmare, the lusty rendition of "Fifteen Glorious Years" and the ensuing riot — are inherently sensationalistic, the play's loaded set pieces. Yes, they are effective, but as written how could they not be? They're nothing but set pieces here.

The play screams for a nexus to organize its complexities. The questions raised about the nature of revolution in the running debate between Marat and de Sade are lost on the audience through the galling lack of focus and the marked emphasis on the flashiest kind of mise en scene. The trickiest aspect of directing the play is uniting its brace of seemingly disparate elements into a coherent whole and making the politics comprehensible to the audience with no primer of the French Revolution at hand. The task requires phenomenal control and an ability to clarify confusing issues. This production instead skirts the play's historical ironies, with the names of revolutionary figures thrown about.

Simpson's reaction to this dissolution is to jack up the spectacle and sound, veiling his lack of concept with technique. The actors are subordinated to the flash and dazzle. This is particularly troubling in Marat/Sade, where the tactile nature of the setting should spill over onto the ensemble. As the narcoleptic inmate playing Charlotte Corday, Peg Aloi has a lovely, clear voice that carries her musical numbers, but demonstrates very little physical presence.

The title characters fare somewhat better. With dark gimlet eyes and a quivering body that seems on the verge of self-destruction, Claude Choukrane's Marat has presence. Choukrane is scarily convincing as a paranoiac, and he demonstrates the ability to draw focus whenever necessary despite being shunted upstage for much of the piece. While he doesn't yet have a vocal range to match his physical presence, he is always interesting to watch. Paul Donovan explores different tack portraying de Sade; his Marquis is so weighted down by alienation and enervation that he scarcely lifts his chin from his chest. Donovan projects weird intensity in his torpor and anomie, which pays off when he unfolds to full height above the stage during the riot sequence, shaking his arms in a sensualist's hosanna.

This gesture is atypical of the production, for it is a powerful detail that we readily absorb from a larger composition. Simpson is good at creating such tableaux, but he gets his wires crossed staging action. This Marat/Sade lacks spacial continuity, the sense of multiple planes of ongoing activity in the scenes. As Simpson has set it up, the actors remain huddled against the upstage wall, peering out at us from behind ladders, emerging only for their scenes. This tends to direct our focus to center stage in the conventional manner, and with the bulk of the cast clumped together in the background their actions are lost.

The ineptitude of the staging might have been offset by strong musical numbers, but choreographer Darcy Cosper is the wrong match for Ward and Simpson. The numbers are mostly botched; the plodding choreography seems to impale the performers onto the stage and the same movements are used over and over again.

The play is not an unequivocal failure, but there simply isn't much at work here except the pretty pictures. When Marat dies, he collapses into David's classic portrait. This is in the script, but Simpson bludgeons the point home by flashing the actual portrait on the screens. Watching a good play reduced to a slick bauble is extraordinarily frustrating. The production begins to evaporate from our consciousness as soon as it's over.

Marat/Sade runs everyday this weekend at Hampshire College.

Pop with an edge from Down Under

By JON DRUKMAN
Collegian Correspondent

Caterwaul had all the hallmarks of being another in a long line of generic major label crud, but, while reading the press kit, our eye happened upon the intelligence that their new album "Portent Hue" was co-produced by Skinny Puppy producer David Ogilvie. We pressed play and were shocked to hear a heavy HEAVY mass of grinding guitar backed with a plexus shattering drum track. It sounded like gold seen through a kaleidoscope. Then Betsy Martin, the lead singer, began to wail away in a voice reminiscent of Nina Hagen crossed with Siouxsie Sioux. Like anything worth listening to, it took a little getting used to, but eventually we found ourselves glued to the tape deck, constantly replaying the album.

DISC JUNKIE

After the first two songs played out, we worried that they had found one gimmick and were going to milk it out for the whole record, but there are some pleasant surprises. "Small Things In Heaven" and "This Regret" are both plaintive, mostly acoustic songs, featuring just strummed mandolin and Betsy giving it her all in a voice that reminded us, this time, of Jane Siberry.

There really aren't any terrible tracks on this record, just some that don't reach the heights of the better songs. The innovative use of effects on the guitars and the great production job really makes this more than just another girls 'n' guitars record. The songs are about all sorts of odd topics, including one about Alex, the protagonist of A Clockwork Orange. We would definitely recommend this album.

Moving more than halfway across the world, to the land Down Under, and a million miles away in theory, we chance upon Severed Heads most recent album "Rotund for Success," which has been out for a few months now, but continues to remain largely obscure.

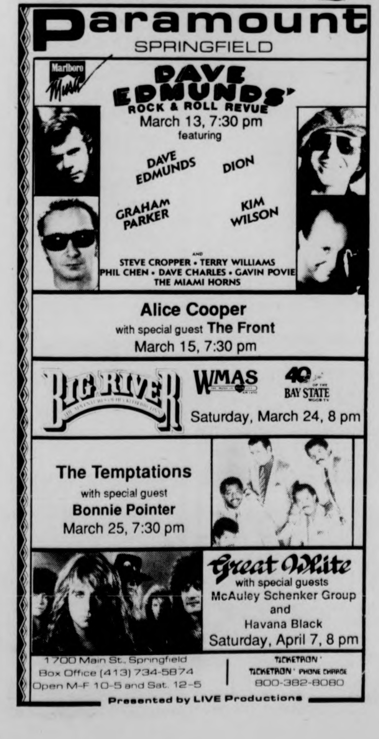
It's a shame, too, because Tom Ellard, twisted genius behind Severed Heads has a lot to say. Most of the time, we have no idea what it is that he's saying, but he's saying it nonetheless.

Although Severed Heads used to be a strange tape-loop oriented outfit, they have been mutating towards a more pop approach, which has led to several comparisons with New Order. Well, we don't think that anybody will accidentally mistake them, but you never know. Certainly, the dance beat and big bass synth could come from those cheery Mancunians, but the vocal and lyricxal approach are uniquely Australian. If song titles like "Triangle Tangle Tango" and "Midget Sings" don't convince you, just a few lines of Ellard's skewed singing should leave no room for doubt.

At first, the album sounded just a little too smooth for comfort, but the pointy edges are there if you listen closely enough, and after a few spins, some of those songs just impale themselves in your brain, never to be dislodged. "Big Car," for instance, with it's inane "shine a light on me" refrain is destined to remain forever in our synapses. Try out some Severed Heads today and see if you can't damage your brain as well!

ORAL R?
I LOVE BOB!
DUCKON BIKE

RELIGION VS. RELIGION
DAISY
OHHH DAISY!! WHAT'S GOTTEN INTO 'YA HEAD ?
ORAL ROBERTS IS MY FLESHY DEITY/ SATANIC TUPPERWARE DISTRIBUTER



Paramount
SPRINGFIELD

Marlboro Music

DAVE EDMUNDS' ROCK & ROLL REVUE
March 13, 7:30 pm
featuring
DAVE EDMUNDS
DION
GRAHAM PARKER
KIM WILSON
AND
STEVE CROPPER • TERRY WILLIAMS
PHIL CHEN • DAVE CHARLES • GAVIN POVIE
THE MIAMI HORNS

Alice Cooper
with special guest The Front
March 15, 7:30 pm

BIG RIVER
WMAS
40 BAY STATE
Saturday, March 24, 8 pm

The Temptations
with special guest
Bonnie Pointer
March 25, 7:30 pm

Great White
with special guests
McAuley Schenker Group
and
Havana Black
Saturday, April 7, 8 pm

1700 Main St., Springfield
Box Office (413) 734-5874
Open M-F 10-5 and Sat. 12-5

TICKETRON
TICKETRON PHONE CHARGE
800-382-8080

Presented by LIVE Productions

Hair by Harlow

A salon for

Men
&
Women

239 Triangle St. Amherst
549-4412 Closed Mondays

Wake-n-Bake
in beautiful
Negril, Jamaica
Hot days & Reggae nights
Travel with the best-
Call Sunsplash Tours
1-800-426-7710
Spring Break Week
starting at $469.00

NRBQ, young at age 20

By M.J. MURPHY
Collegian Correspondent

NRBQ play Pearl Street tonight. Photo courtesy of Virgin

NRBQ is one band who can boast shamelessly of their strange yet energetic style — a musical blend of country, deep-cut rockabilly and pop silliness. Celebrating their 20th anniversary together, the band has one amazingly diverse musical resume.

They have performed at the 1984 Berlin Jazz Festival, the New York Jazz Fesival, the Grand Olde Opry and with acts ranging from BB King and Tina Turner to Alice Cooper and Deep Purple. Their music was featured in the Care Bears movie and children's television special, and they have several tunes covered by such stars as Dave Edmunds, Bonnie Raitt, Allman Brothers and Hank Williams Jr. Bassist Joey Spampinato was chosen by Keith Richards to play in his dream band for the film Hail, Hail Rock 'n' Roll.

Yet even with 15 albums under their belt and a following of fans that have included Ray Davies, Elvis Costello, Pat Metheny, the Replacements, Penn and Teller and even Jimi Hendrix, NRBQ still remains in the obscure shadows of mainstream popularity. They have been waiting to hit the Big Time.

"A certain amount of success isn't what keeps us together," said keyboardist Terry Adams in a recent interview, "It's not our purpose in life. But it's something that this band deserves to have. People think we've tried on purpose to stay sub-underground, but we've always tried to have a hit record. We've always given labels singles. We've always had high hopes of being on the radio, being on the charts. Maybe the timing just wasn't right. Maybe it didn't happen then so it could happen now."

With the release of their first studio album in six years, It's A Wild Weekend, it certainly looks like it's going to happen. Wandering in the NRBQ style from pop ballad to zydeco stomp, the album includes the title track, originally a '60s instrumental hit by the Rocking Rebels.

The band added lyrics and a nine bar bridge plus a debut video with a decent rotation on MTV. Other tunes include Terry Adams' love song for his favorite car called "Little Floater." Al Anderson contributes "Boy's Life" which might be a look at NRBQ's life on the road and Joey Spampinato displays his mastery of the love song with "If I Don't Have You." The legendary father of the zydeco sound, Boozoo Chavis, joined the group effort in a song written especially for him, "Boozoo That's Who."

With their trademark of humor, zaniness and over 600 songs in their repertoire, NRBQ lives for surprise and improvisation with their live performances. Avoiding set lists, sound checks and the usual habit of promoting all new stuff, the band is known to occasionally devote their entire show to the old favorites.

As Adams described, "Lee Marvin said in 'Paint Your Wagon,' 'they civilized freedom so nobody's free.' I think sometimes that's what's happened with pop music. It's good to hear someone improvise a little out of tune every once in a while. A band has to be relaxed. They can't be thinking about how much money they're going to make that night, or will they get the record deal, or all these other things people could be thinking about under pressure."

"Wherever rock 'n' roll goes, NRBQ have been there and left," stated one critic.

The band was the first to shock the musical world by bringing in wrestling captain Lou Albano to their live shows. Sorry, it wasn't Cyndi who make that wrestling and rock connection. Other wild stage antics have surpassed back flips and flashy pyrotechnics by tar and feathering Cabbage Patch Dolls, then blowing them up. Despite the live craziness, it is the music that is most important to the band.

Anderson described is best, "I equate us with a stainless steel diner on a row of trashy fast food restaurants. You go to the franchises, you get the same thing every night. You know what you're going to order from the minute you walk in. And that's most other bands. We use fresh ingredients. We have Blue Plate Specials. So it's fresh every night. For the audience and for us."

NRBQ is playing Pearl St. this Friday night

The Valley Arts celebrating international women's week

By NICK OSTIS
Collegian Correspondent

If the quality and originality of Viewing Ourselves, the Valley Women's Artists exhibit at Hampden Gallery, in Southwest, is any indication, then the Pioneer Gallery is a fertile bed of creativity.

The compositions of the 50 artists are diverse and wide, ranging in form, color, size, medium and subject matter as are the philosophies and temperaments of the talents who gave birth to them.

There are conventional but nonetheless exquisite still life's of fruit and flowers; abstract paintings of oil, acrylic and pastel; portraiture, animals and nature scenes, both realistic and impressionistic and terrific sculptures of clay, paper-mache, wood, bronze, steel, terra cotta, plaster and ceramic (raku fired, too). Photographs, prints, handmade paper and inventive collages round out a spectrum of art that encompases images of apocalype and utopia; of longing for the past and hope for the future; of anger, loss, need, and injustice but also whimsy, humor, peace and order, too.

The viewer may want to refer to the Artists' Statement booklet, the contents of which contains articulate and informative responses which may broaden or alter one's initial impression of a certain piece. My favorite is one not in the booklet, but one overheard at the reception on Sunday evening, an opportunity to chat with the artists.

It was, "My survival (read: emotional) depends on it."

Perhaps it's not important, but for the record, it is not obvious in the least that this show is comprised of works solely by women. Those predisposed to judge a show because of supposed limitations can expect to be surprised and impressed.

Gallery hours are Mon-Fri, 3-7 p.m. and Sun 2-5 p.m. until March 14. The Valley Women's Advocate is a local chapter of the Women's Caucus for Art, a national organization.

Meticulous gallery director, Margaret Curley Clay, organizer Harriet Diamond and assitant Sheryl Jaffe can be proud in every way of their nicely hung, professional exhibit.

Of an equal stature but lesser in scope and size is the eight women exhibit at Wheeler Gallery on campus, being shown in conjunction with International Women's Week. This also is a show worthy of scrutiny. By any means, go out of your way to see UMass student Rosa Ibarra's bracing oil paintings. She is a blossoming talent for whom recognition awaits.

Genius flows from her hand. Also, take note of Rachael Folsom's remarkable watercolors which are so life-like one may mistake them for photographs.

The exhibit runs until April 1, and is open Monday-Thursday 4-8 p.m. and Sunday 2-5 p.m. It will be closed during spring break.

Arts' screw ups

Arts screwed up a lot yesterday.

The Mission, performed by Culture Clash and presented by New World Theater, is a Latino-Chicano comedy. It will be held tomorrow night only in Bowker Auditorium.

The Bull Horns are at Katina's tonight. The Romantics are not.

James Baldwin portraits by Leonard Baskin holds its opening reception tonight at 6 p.m. at R. Michaelson Galleries in Amherst.

The Collegian regrets these errors, but we're bound to make a slew more in the near future. Pleaes bear with us.

COMEDY ZONE
PEKING GARDEN RESTAURANT
Route 9 Hadley
Next to Hadley Subaru

From SHOWTIME CABLE'S "funniest Person in America"
He tours w/ LEON REDBONE regularly!
RICH CHALFIN
Special Guests
Re-scheduled from Feb. 8-9
Wendy Liebman
Sarah Sepkowitz

BARRY CRIMMINS
$8 advance tix on sale soon
$10 at door
Sun.March 25 8 p.m.
One of the Top 10 Political Comics in USA
• over 30 appearances
• opened for Steven Wright at Paramount in Feb.

All Comedy Info
585-8615
20% OFF DINNERS FOR COMEDY PATRONS
All Ages - All shows

ROYAL CRANE ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET
360 College St., Amherst
253-5658
with a large variety of
AUTHENTIC ORIENTAL & INDIAN
• Produce • Sauces & Spices • Noodles • Frozen & Canned Goods • Cooking Implements & Supplies • Homemade take-out food
Sun-Fri 10:00-8:00
Sat 9:00-8:00

Self Serve Typewriters
kinko's®
the copy center
220 N. Pleasant St.
253-2543

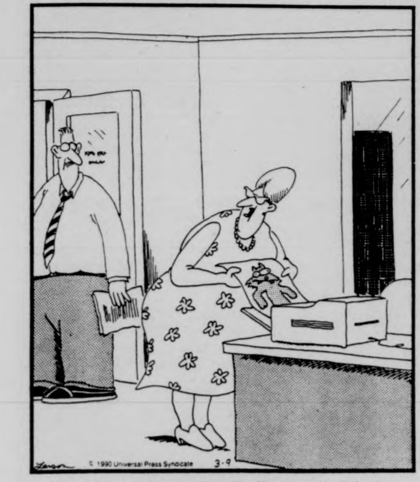
CARBURS
Restaurant & Lounge
Route 9, Hadley 586-1978
EAT...
'til your heart's content at our famous Sunday Brunch
$9.95
11a.m. to 3p.m.
Enjoy a magnificent feast of Carved Meats, Hot & Cold Delicacies, and a tantilizing array of Sweets & Desserts.

Belgium waffles, eggs, & omelettes made for you in our dining room

The Valley's Best Brunch!

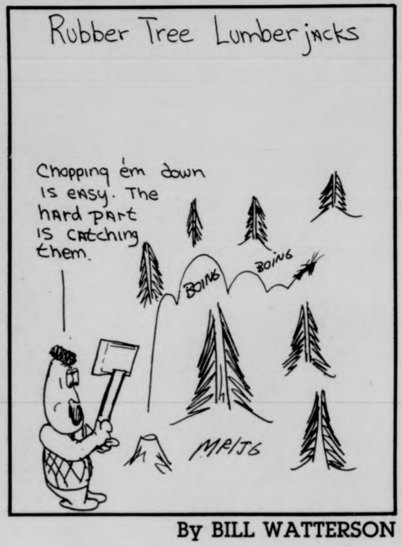
Helen's HAIR'UM SALON
A Creative Hair Salon Specializing in:
Wave Nouveau • Leisure Curl
Care Free Curl • Weaves • Extensions
Braids • Color • Permanent Waves
Design Cuts • We have ethnic make-up
228 Triangle Street • Amherst • 549-3999
139 Dwight Street • Springfield • 734-4234
Monday thru Saturday

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



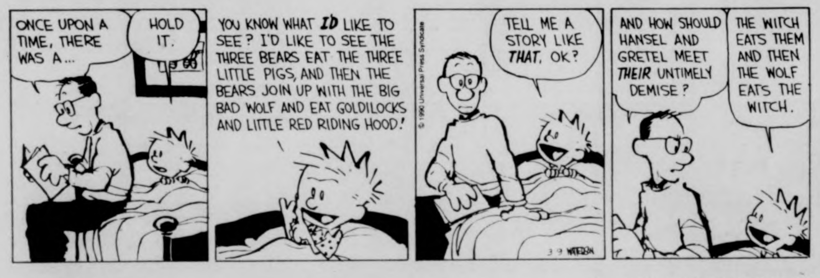
"It's a fax from your dog, Mr. Dansworth. It looks like your cat."

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



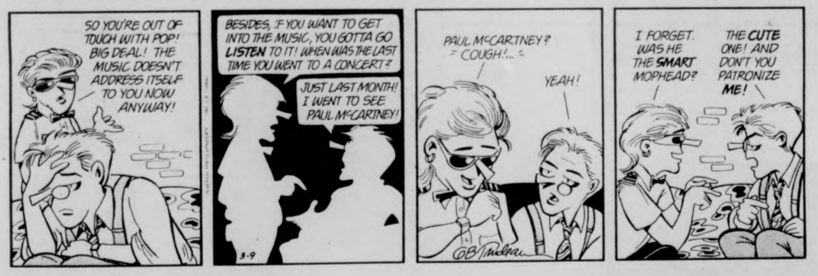
Rubber Tree Lumberjacks
Chopping 'em down is easy. The hard part is catching them.
BOING
BOING
MR/JG

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



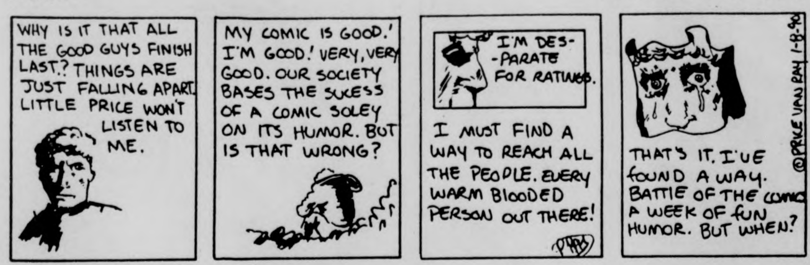
ONCE UPON A TIME, THERE WAS A...
HOLD IT.
YOU KNOW WHAT I'D LIKE TO SEE? I'D LIKE TO SEE THE THREE BEARS EAT THE THREE LITTLE PIGS, AND THEN THE BEARS JOIN UP WITH THE BIG BAD WOLF AND EAT GOLDILOCKS AND LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD!
TELL ME A STORY LIKE THAT, OK?
AND HOW SHOULD HANSEL AND GRETEL MEET THEIR UNTIMELY DEMISE?
THE WITCH EATS THEM AND THEN THE WOLF EATS THE WITCH.

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



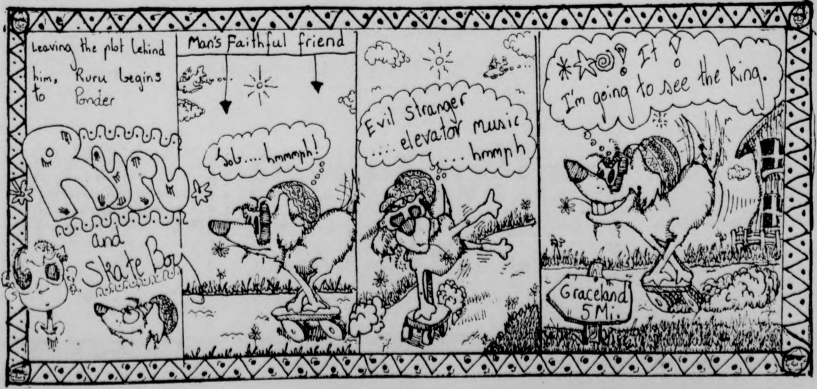
SO YOU'RE OUT OF TOUCH WITH POP! BIG DEAL! THE MUSIC DOESN'T ADDRESS ITSELF TO YOU NOW ANYWAY!
BESIDES, IF YOU WANT TO GET INTO THE MUSIC, YOU GOTTA GO LISTEN TO IT! WHEN WAS THE LAST TIME YOU WENT TO A CONCERT?
JUST LAST MONTH! I WENT TO SEE PAUL McCARTNEY!
PAUL McCARTNEY? = COUGH!... =
YEAH!
I FORGET. WAS HE THE SMART MOPHEAD?
THE CUTE ONE! AND DON'T YOU PATRONIZE ME!

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



WHY IS IT THAT ALL THE GOOD GUYS FINISH LAST? THINGS ARE JUST FALLING APART. LITTLE PRICE WON'T LISTEN TO ME.
MY COMIC IS GOOD! I'M GOOD! VERY, VERY GOOD. OUR SOCIETY BASES THE SUCESS OF A COMIC SOLEY ON ITS HUMOR. BUT IS THAT WRONG?
I'M DES-PARATE FOR RATINGS.
I MUST FIND A WAY TO REACH ALL THE PEOPLE. EVERY WARM BLOODED PERSON OUT THERE!
THAT'S IT. I'VE FOUND A WAY. BATTLE OF THE COMICS A WEEK OF FUN HUMOR. BUT WHEN?
©PRICE VAN RAY 1-8-90

NIPPLE
By PITT



Leaving the plot behind him, Ruru begins to Ponder
Ruru and Skate Box
Man's Faithful friend
Sob.... hmmph!
Evil stranger ..... elevator music ..... hmmph
*☆@! It !
I'm going to see the King.
Graceland 5 Mi.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

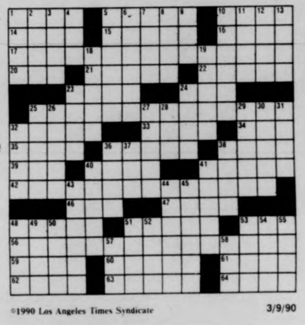
ACROSS
1 Bridge
5 Of the feet
10 H.H. Munro
14 Bubbly drink
15 Revere
16 Idi
17 Bridge over NYC's East River
20 Sixth sense, for short
21 Young girl
22 Convenient
23 Storage boxes
24 Tiny —
25 See 42 Across
32 Hurdy-—
33 Coup d'—
34 Bullring cry
35 Culture medium
36 Michaelmas daisy
38 Place to dock
39 Soak flax
40 Singing voice
41 Fudge or taffy
42 Another East River span
46 Francis Scott —
47 Tractor-trailers
48 Shallow
51 Protozoan: Var.
53 With-it person
56 Hudson River span
59 Jai-—
60 Indian corn
61 Grand or little
62 Bro. and sis.
63 Circle or sanctum
64 "Why meet we on the bridge of —...?" R.F. Burton

DOWN
1 Unit of area
2 Aussie animals
3 Hoof sound
4 Owns
5 Road surface
6 Black Sea port
7 $$
8 Bohemian
9 Garland
10 Spicy sausage
11 "— for All Seasons"
12 Species
13 The — 500
18 Bronte or Dickinson
19 Jersey
23 Civil eng.
24 Structural beam
25 More vast
26 Muse of love poetry
27 Range of the Rockies
28 Summer, in Cannes
29 Active
30 European kite
31 Uncanny
32 Attire
36 Associate
37 Porker's place
38 Cushions
40 Cub Scout leader
41 Cheroot or corona
43 Giraffelike mammals
44 Gentle wind
45 Joker
48 Luminary
49 Healthy
50 October birthstone
51 Muslim call to prayer
52 "Meet — St. Louis"
53 1551, in old Rome
54 Old Irish script
55 Unit of local government in old Greece
57 Middle nameless: Abbr.
58 Adherent: Suffix

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

C	A	T	O	■	O	R	A	N	■	S	T	O	W	E
O	R	A	L	■	F	O	C	I	■	W	O	M	A	N
C	O	R	E	■	F	I	T	Z	G	E	R	A	L	D
A	L	K	A	N	E	■	H	E	R	E	■	R	L	S
■	L	I	T	E	R	S	■	R	O	T	H	■	■	■
■	■	■	N	E	W	E	L	■	T	E	E	M	E	D
B	U	G	■	T	R	O	P	O	■	R	E	A	D	Y
A	R	T	S	■	S	T	O	P	S	■	D	U	N	E
L	I	O	N	S	■	H	E	R	E	S	■	P	A	D
I	S	N	O	T	A	■	A	R	U	B	A	■	■	■
■	■	■	B	U	L	K	■	H	A	R	A	S	S	■
T	A	W	■	D	A	N	A	■	P	E	R	S	I	A
B	L	O	O	D	W	O	R	T	H	■	R	A	N	D
A	B	U	S	E	■	B	A	R	I	■	I	N	G	E
R	A	K	E	D	■	S	L	I	M	■	E	T	E	S

3/9/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/9/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Burgahz Tuna oriental	BBQ'ed ribs Fisherman's plate
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Oatburgahz Tuna oriental	Tofu nutty loaf Fisherman's plate

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES(March 21-April 19): Your words can be lucky if you put them on paper! New financial gains come through old friends or college chums. A spiritual experience leaves you refreshed, ready to face an inspiring challenge.

TAURUS(April 20-May 20): The steps you take now to secure your future will bolster your self-confidence. A cottage industry begins to show a profit. Keep your car in good repair to avoid costly delays.

GEMINI(May 21-June 20): Falling for someone's vague schemes could jeopardize your resources. Changes are in the wind at your place of employment. A vote of confidence from friends and family members bolsters your ego.

CANCER(June 21-July 22): Diversify your investments. Better communication will help you solidify family ties. Acquiring specialized knowledge will increase your earning power. Renew a friendship with an old pal.

LEO(July 23-Aug.22): Listen to a teen-ager before passing judgement. Those in promotional work can score big gains today. Seek experts' advice before making any new investments. A small gift is an effective peace offering.

VIRGO(Aug.23-Sept.22): Seize a golden career opportunity. A member of the opposite sex wants to be friends but is too shy to say so. Do not take a message too literally.

LIBRA(Sept.23-Oct.22): A permanent domestic change will bring new stability to your life. Hard work and a stroke of good luck lets you make record financial gains. Your children and friends need extra encouragement.

SCORPIO(Oct.23ONov.21): Discarding outmoded methods will increase your profits. Working side by side with your mate or business parnter will strengthen your alliance. Romantic involvement is a real possibility.

SAGITTARIUS(Nov.22-Dec.21): Arrange your work schedule to suit your lifestyle. Give an inexperienced person the benefit of the doubt. Your anxiety about a relationship is unfounded! Take the initiative in romance.

CAPRICORN(Dec.22-Jan.19): Use a "second chance" to perfect your technique. A computer can help you bring vital records up to date. Someone behind the scenes is working on your behalf. Show your gratitude.

AQUARIUS(Jan.20-Feb.18): Be careful not to offend those whose support you need. Use your writing skills to impress those in authority. Small financial gains add to your security. A "white elephant" could be a real treasure!

PISCES(Feb.19-March 20): You cannot afford to ride roughshod over your co-workers. Your inventive, original outlook makes you seem more independent than you really are.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor.......Lisa Shapiro
Copy Editor.......Michael David Wester
Layout Technician.......Pierre Leon
Photo Technician.......Richard DuCree
Production Supervisor.......Terry Starmer
Typesetter.......Peter Leon
Production.......Strappin' — Dug, Mike Carvalho, Mark Sturm, Paul Molak, and by the light of the moon Terry becomes the Ware-wolf

■ women's gym

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

Championships, the Minutewomen must remain focused. Mitchell plans to stay with the same routines for one more week in order to secure their ranking in the Northeast. Right now the Minutewomen are third, only behind Ohio State and Penn State. Mitchell and the Minutewomen would like a score above 180 in order to erase their lowest home score of the season.

"If we keep up our consistent performances we should hit anywhere between 183 and 186,"UMass coach Alfie Mitchell said. "If we do well enough and Penn St. and Ohio ST. have poor meets, we could have a chance of being first in the Northeast."

After last weekend's record breaking performance against Rutgers University, breaking the 180 mark shoudn't be a problem at all. The Minutewomen established a new team total record of 185.2 against the Lady Knights. If the past few meets are any indication, the Minutewomen will probably set a few more records this Saturday.

At the Rutgers meet, it was the Kristin Turmail and Tammy Marshall show as Turmail placed first on the vault and the uneven bars. Turmail and Marshall tied for first on the floor exercise with a 9.45. The Minutewomen set two new school records on the vault with a 46.4 and a 47.15 on the balance beam. Turmail and Marshall placed first and second in the all-around, followed by a career high performance third of 37.10 by Kim Grady.

■ men's gymnastics

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

successful conclusion of their season?

"When we add up everyone's potential scores, we're a 270s team," Johnson said. "If everyone clicks at New Englands, we'll have a great finish to an average season."

Among the five other teams competing, UMass has beaten Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dartmouth and Southern Connecticut with ease. The Minutemen haven't faced the University of Vermont yet this season, although the 4-5 Catamounts haven't scored anywhere near UMass' level.

The biggest obstacle to the Minutemen's hopes of becoming New England championships is Springfield College, a team UMass beat 262-257 two weeks ago.

"We're favored to win it and we'd like to win," Johnson said. "If we have an average to good day, we should beat Springfield."

The Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League (EIGL) finals on March 23-25 are looming on the horizon for UMass after New Englands.

"We don't want to look past New Englands — they're a good checkpoint before EIGLs," Johnson said. "But EIGLs are our main goal."

"I think we'll have our best meet of the season at EIGLs and finish strong," junior Dave Dinucci said.

A strong performance tomorrow will go a long way toward reaching that end.

ACADEMY of MUSIC
NORTHAMPTON
Opera House 584-8435

5th WEEK! (Arrive 15 mins early for good seating)
Ending Thursday March 15—CURTAIN DAILY 7 & 9

DANIEL DAY-LEWIS is superb as the Irish painter and writer Christy Brown, born with cerebral palsy...A TREMENDOUS CELEBRATION OF LIFE.

5 ACADEMY AWARD NOMINATIONS!
Including "BEST" PICTURE-ACTOR-DIRECTOR & SUPPORT. ACTRESS

WINNER! "BEST" PICTURE
N.Y. Film Critics Circle

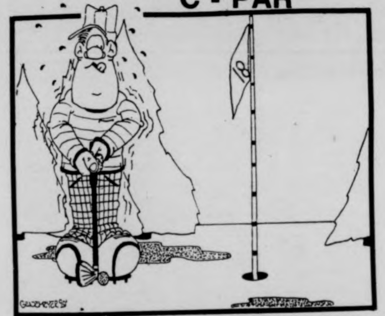
"A TITANIC TRIUMPH!
A MOTION PICTURE THAT EXPLODES WITH PASSION, HUMILITY AND LIFE."
—REX REED

"ENORMOUSLY ENTERTAINING!
TWO VERY ENTHUSIASTIC THUMBS UP!."
—SISKEL & EBERT

Daniel Day-Lewis
MY LEFT FOOT
A story about life, laughter, and the occasional miracle.
MIRAMAX A Miramax Films Release © 1989 All Rights Reserved R

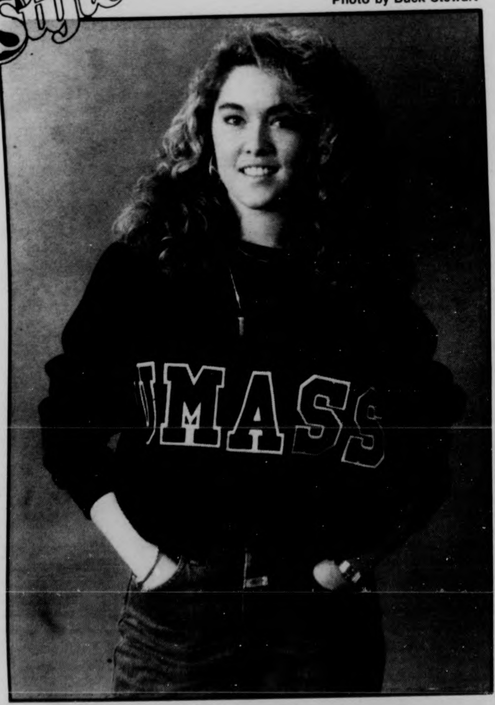
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

INDOOR MINIATURE GOLF
THIS MAN IS PUTTING FOR:
A - BIRDIE
B - BOGEY
C - PAR



BRING THIS AD IN THURSDAY-SATURDAY
GIVE US THE RIGHT ANSWER & WIN A FREE ROUND OF MINI-GOLF WITH A REGULAR PURCHASE OF MINI-GOLF.
BIRDIES & BOGEYS
HOLYOKE MALL - LOWER LEVEL - 536-3765
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
OFFER EXPIRES MARCH 31, 1990

SPORT Style
Photo by Buck Stewart



Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE
Located in the Campus Center

March's Birthstone
Aqua-marine

When it really matters come to Silverscape Designs

Top left: 14kt yellow gold filigree aquamarine pin $175, right: 14kt gold and aquamarine pendant by David Virtue $188 (chain additional), bottom left: 14kt yellow gold filigree aquamarine ring $210.

silverscape designs
264 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-3324 □ 3 Pleasant St., Northampton 584-3324
GOLDSMITHS • GEM GALLERY

■ men's hoop

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

"I am so disappointed," said Patrick Johnston, a junior economics major. "They showed so much heart. I wanted so badly for them to win."

It was too easy to believe — to hitch on to the Minutemen's magic and allow this team to pull us away from mundane activities, classes, the D.C. and everyday life.

Last night, the fans that would be winners watched Temple take the magic back. Dejectedly, they filled out of the lounge back to reality, and away from the season that almost was.

"I am very upset because I knew we had a chance, " said Gianna Simmons, a junior legal studies major.

"We're really proud of the boys," she said. "We're exceptionally good this year."

However, in spite of the disappointment, optimism and pride abounded.

"We'll do it next year," said Katie Lust, a sophomore pre-school education major. "We're great."

UMass has never defeated Temple," the announcer said.

Maybe next year.

* * *

Hold the commercials, please —

ESPN didn't score any points last night with the number of interruptions during the first half of The Game. The crowd was indignant then grew incensed by the abundance of commercials.

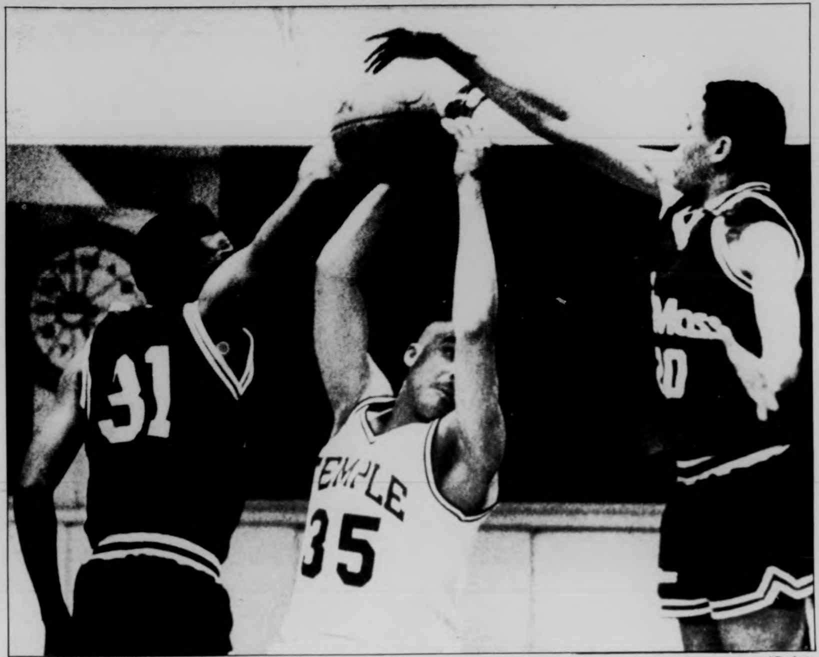
But then ESPN added insult to injury by switching to the neck and neck Florida State vs. Cincinnatti (Cincinatti won in OT.)

"Why, why are they doing this to us?" asked Christopher Belanger, a sophomore architecture major. "I definitely didn't come here to watch Florida State."

* * *

Quotes of the game: "Over time. We need an over time."

"And finally, "Nooooo . . ."



AP photo

UMASS TURNS ON THE HEAT - Temple's Donald Hodge is double-teamed by Harper Williams (31) and Jim McCoy in the first half of their Atlantic 10 championship game last night.

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30,FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

AM I AFRAID to care for my AIDS patient?
AIDS Conference
Campus Center Auditorium
March 14 from 8:30-4:00 PM

ANIMAL RIGHTS COALITION - Meeting Sunday March 11 at 7PM in Dukes Meeting Room in Student Union

EARTHDAY
Planning Meeting
Sunday 8 PM 423B S.U.

FINANCE AND INVESTMENT CLUB Presents the Speculation Trading Game tonight in Campus Center Room 163 at 7 PM. 1st place: $500. Top 4 players go to finals for the college tournament

GREENOUGH SNACK BAR eat there, it's Good Food

GROW IN YOUR PERSONAL relationship with God, or start one with Campus Crusade for Christ Friday 7:00 PM, Campus Center

HAPPY INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S Day! Come to P.O.W.E.R.'s CC table today - info on campuswide events/Boston repro rights rally

HILLEL PURIM PARTY Saturday March 10
Megillah reading 7PM
Party! After reading
Come in costume
Games Music Food
All welcome

LET'S ROCK THE GLOBE
Dance sponsored by Asian Student Organizations Saturday 9:00-1:00 AM Mary Lyon Basement All are welcome

ROCK THE GLOBE!!
This Saturday March 10
Mary Lyon's Basement
From 9 PM to 1 AM

TAROT READINGS TODAY Campus Center Concourse 9am-5pm Call 546-6283 for info sponsored by UMASS Pagan Students

THE RADICAL STUDENT UNION helps students mobilize for world social and economic equality, peace and disarmament. Check office at SU 413A

VOTE AND MAKE YOUR VOICE BE HEARD! BOARD OF GOVERNORS ELECTIONS
Tuesday, Mar. 13 11:30 AM-7:00 PM
Hatch, Newman Center and DC's

YOU! YES, YOU, reading this! Do you know how to juggle? Learn how today 3-6, CC Concourse, with the Juggling Club!

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

HISTORIANS HONOR SOCIETY accepting applications Herter 608 Req. 12 credits History 3.1+, 3.0 in 2/3 others. Deadline March 16.

PLAY $PECULATION! Friday Night and win 500 dollars! All contestants will receive a free t-shirt. 7 PM Rm 163 Campus Center

AUTO FOR SALE

1979 VW SCIROCCO - A/C, Pirellis, Many new parts. Very good condition in and out. $700. Call Joe, 1-535-1549.

1980 CHEVY MALIBU A/C, Cass, Runs excellent, No rust, $2000 OBO 665-7927

1980 HONDA ACCORD Sedan, 5-speed, Air PS, cloth $850/BO, 253-2171

1986 HONDA CIVIC FOR SALE. $3500 Exc. condition. 546-6831

GREAT IDEA! Free transportation Spring Break roomy Buick Regal low miles AC new brakes split cost take trip resell 650. Call 549-2606

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club. Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR RENT

GOING AWAY FOR BREAK? Nonsmoking male needs a place to live as dorms are closed 546-4309

HALF A HOUSE two blocks from campus $275 inclusive 549-4183

ROOM FOR RENT Large room in nice house 250/mo & 1st,last & sec. 253-9104 or 256-8109

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR SALE

AMPLIFIER EG 60 WATTS Hardly used Call Joe 549-4146 $135

FOR SALE: IBM Proprinter II like new $275 259-1786

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS MaryKay Cosmetics at wholesale Call Alison 253-2462

GUITAR AND AMP for sale. Early 70's Less Paul, Sunburst. Great condition. Peavey renown 400 Amp-200 Watt, two channels. Effects pedals also. Call Russ 546-7900

IBM PORTABLE PC w/printer & printer adaptor. Call Bob 546-9619- $1150/or B.O.

KAYPRO PC IBM compatible 512K dual 3½" floppy disk drives, monitor $500 B.O. 549-3641

NEW ACOUSTIC STUDIO Monitor Spks. 200 W, $250/pr. Reg. $600. Call Jim 549-6527

ROUND TRIP TICKET to California 230 or B/O Call 586-8152 before 10 PM

SIT WITH US
Lounge with us
Sleep with us
Metawampe Furniture Futons from $158
549-4787

WOMEN'S CHIC, petite, lightweight, leather jacket. Cinched waist, broad shoulder pads. Only worn once. $75 or best offer. Call Chris 253-2357.

FOUND

FOUND ON HAIGAS MALL 3/2 Two UMASS Rm Keys on small metal chain. Left them at CC Info Desk

FRIDAY NIGHT!

LIVE ROCK AND ROLL and rhythm & blues at the Seven O's on Route 116 8PM-Mid in Sunderland with Edgemere!!!!
21 and over only positive ID required

HELP WANTED

ATTENTION: EXCELLENT INCOME for home assembly work. Info Call 504-646-1700 Dept. P1307

DAY CAMP IN FALMOUTH area of Cape Cod has openings for counselors to teach children about farm animals, ocean ecology, or environmental education. Prefer Animal Science or other related background. Contact Ed Powers P.O. Box 265 Boston MA 02117 or Call 617-426-9170

EARN $300 TO $500 per week. Reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B281

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SUMMER COUNSELORS
Outstanding NYS Co-ed
Resident Camp
Specialist/General
Gail 549-1331

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

DO YOU HAVE QUESTIONS about your rights? Do you think your civil rights have been violated? Find out! Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

 LEGAL INTERNSHIPS **

FALL 1990 INTERNSHIPS with the Legal Services Center; get hands-on experience in the legal field--work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits. No experience in the legal profession necessary--training provided. Apply early! Contact Legal Services today: 545-1995, 922 Campus Center. Start the application process now!

LOST

LOST BLACK SPORT COAT at Thur. Semi-formal in CC Please call 6-4708 evening

LOST! Eyeglasses in light brown or pink case. Call 546-7147 if found. REWARD!

MALE RIMLESS EYEGLASSES w/brown case. It's my only pair!
Please contact 546-9048

PERSONALS

ALEXANDRA - I'm psyched you're my little sister! I'm looking forward to the fun times ahead! In Sigma Love, Lori

CONGRATULATIONS LORI, SHARON & JODI Welcome to sisterhood. Your sisters love you very much. Love, AXO

ERIC Remember me from Saturday night? HONEST ENGINE, who was the drunkard this time? Let's sober up!
From, the "Spoiled Brat"

FROM ONE TWIN to the other - Happy 21st Birthday!

GARY STUD, nice eyes
Life is a Four Leta Word
MINT DATE PRTY-mine even beta.
FIRM

GINA VANARIA! We're all thinking of you on your birthday--23 tomorrow? Mary & Joseph! All our love, David, Bruce, Deb, Danny & Juanita. Nub you!

HAPPY 19TH BIRTHDAY ANDREA!
What's an afghan?
We love you goon!
Lau, Dana, Jes, Michelle, and Karen

HAPPY 20TH BIRTHDAY Annie P.! Who loves you, Thumb? Celebrate! Love, Julie

HAPPY 23RD BIRTHDAY Mark Engleman! Even though you're getting old, you can still drink you're face off! Enjoy it while you can! Love Dana and Val.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!!!
Kyna
Today is your Birthday, what a great way to start a weekend!!!
---EDDY---

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, LAUREN!
Hope this year is your best ever. Thanks for being such a terrific friend.
Love, Juliana.

HEY SANDY!
Happy 19th! Make this weekend count-(Dave). Maybe we can walk in on you soon! (Sorry it's late.)
Luv, the blond, Studly, and the Mello Lover V.

IT'S IN YOUR HANDS!! Thankyou. I'll smile when I get my prize. Your buddy

JASON,
Happy Anniversary!
You mean the world to me.
I love you.
Caroline

JON M
Wanted by the UMASS Music Department.
Go Jon!
Go Jon!
Get Drummin!
Get Drummin!
Good luck tomorrow, shnookielumps.
Love your sex slaves, Christina, Meg, Gina, Cindy, Lindsey, and Ryan

KARA - ok, um, don't tell me, oh yea, ok: Happy 20th Birthday! Love, Roxy

LISA PARSONS
Happy 20th Birthday
Live it up!
Love Laura

LOVERBOY, I AM SO glad you're here! I love you-always! Love, MB Flatnose, Private Eye

MARTHA ARE YOU about 26 or 27? Happy Birthday! Have a great weekend
Love ya, Pam

NANCY, KIM, STACY-Get psyched for a wild time in Florida!

ROY-Surprise-Happy 21st
Hope your birthday is filled with many MAGIC moments. I love you always! FYG

SCOTT,
Happy 19th Birthday!
Yours Truly

SCOTT,
Happy Anniversary!
Thank you for always being there, you are very special to me. So, what is your next step in making me Irish?
I love you!
Penelope

SNAPS isn't the name of the game, but Mike Weise is because it's his birthday on Sunday!! Love, Jean, Giselle, Ginger, Meri and Mo.

STAN Hey nice guy Happy 19th! Tonight will be full of surprises. Don't worry, you won't be shafted. Love your bed buddies. Carie and Candy.

TO THE GUY I MET 2 years ago in Cashin, you helped me look for batteries, and I found alot more. What happened to you? I miss you alot....
Love, The girl in the basement

RESUME SERVICE

 #1 RESUME SERVICES *****
Good prices, Rush sevice
We specialize in: Traditional, Designer and Contemporary Resumes
We will work with you to insure your Resume is the best it can be!!!
ALL packages include 30 Professional Laser Prints on Resume Paper
Call Roscoe now for quick service
549-7955

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

SHARE A ROOM in Townhouse Apts. Rent is $181.25. Move in A.S.A.P. 549-0541

SINGLE OPEN IN MAIN ST. Apt. 245/Mo. Gas, heat, bus stop at front door. I will pay your March rent! Call Sue 536-2199

TWO BEDROOMS IN A great old house in North Leverett. Beautiful area in the hills. $205, Free heat. 367-9861

SERVICES

HAIRCUTS ONLY $5.00 Four years experience No razor Call Brenda 546-9103

HISTORY TUTOR
American or European History
Reasonable rates. 549-6687

MAXIGRAPHICS - Super enlargements-B&W and Color
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

SUMMER RENTALS

THE BROOK
Furnished, air conditioned, swimming pool, bus route 253-0754

TO SUBLET

SUBLET TWO ROOMS in large house open immediatley behind 7-11 in Sunderland $190 mth & util Call 665-7464 Jim or Byron

TRAVEL

$214 COMPLETE 7 NIGHTS
Panama City Beach Florida
Call now!! 253-9112

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

COPPERTONE COMPLETE SPRING Break
Packages: Cancun from $429
Nassau from $499
Still space but getting late!
Call now! 256-4659

NEED A RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Spring Break Special
$15 One way fare
to Bradley Airport
Call Now!
Limited Seating
Valley Transporter
256-8484

ROUNDTRIP TO TAMPA, FLA
Only $95
Leaving March 15..To 26th.
For info 6-6746

TICKET TO NASHVILLE Roundtrip Hartford to Nashville 3/16 to 3/26 Paid $300-selling for $150. Call 546-1245

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING.
$1.75/pg. Campus pickup.
Gloria, 323-5140.

FAST ACCURATE TYPING
Spell check $1.75/pg
Call Ashley at 546-6756

TYPING WORD PROCESSING, Dissertations, Reports, Resumes Laser printing 259-1786

WORDPERFECT, LETTER-QUALITY Print, Spellcheck, Fast. Call Tim 549-0546.

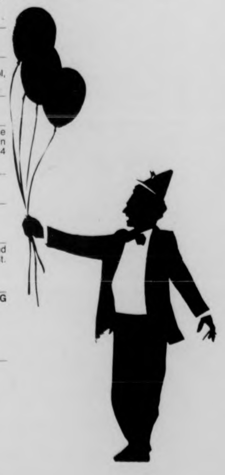
TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

DEAD TICKETS! Any Albany shows! Please Help! Steve D. 549-2833

DO YOU HAVE an extra Jesus & Mary Chain ticket? We want it! Please call 546-8811 or 8849!!!



SPORTS

Surprise ride comes to a close

■ Minutemen loose to Temple by two

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"We took Hodge out of the game, but Strickland played heckuva game," Calipari said.

Behind Strickland, Temple jumped pout to a 34-23 lead at the half. Part of the problem was a stifling defense on UMass guard Jim McCoy, who had just two of his 11 points in the first half.

McCoy came flying out of the chute in the second half, though. He nailed three straight shots that helped keep the Minutemen close until they could put together some sort of run.

Calipari felt that if the Minutemen waited long enough, they could take control. Temple coach John Chaney didn't put in a substitute until almost five minutes left in the game. He used only six players, and four played the full game.

It looked like the effects may have been showing when UMass started to chip away. Down 38-27, McCoy buried a shot from the right corner and then hit a three-pointer. William Herndon (team- high 13 points) then hit a free throw to make it 38-33 with 13:23 left.

Macon tipped in his own missed shot to stop the run, but Rafer Giles connected twice from downtown and suddenly the Minutemen were within one, 40-39.

UMass never did get over the hump, though. It failed on its next possession for a chance to take the lead for the first time since the game was only six minutes old. Temple was then able to push the lead to five points, and it stayed that way until there were less than two minutes left.

Herndon had just tipped in a miss to make it 50-45, and then drove the lane for hoop and a foul with 1:28 left. The usually steady Herndon missed the free throw, though. He was just three of seven from the line in the game.

Temple was able to hold onto the ball, thanks to a couple of huge offensive rebounds by Mike Kilgore. Michael Hardon was finally fouled with 21 seconds left, and hit one to make it 51-47.

Giles responded with two freebies with 15 seconds to play, but Kilgore came back in the clutch, hitting two more that iced the win.

McCoy's three-pointer with seven ticks left went in and out, and that was officially the end. Cary Herer's lay-up at the buzzer completed the scoring, but it was too late.

Herer, who had had a stellar tournament going into last night, had just one assist and three turnovers, but did an admirable job of guarding the tough Macon.

UMass came out firing behind the hot shooting of freshman forward Tony Barbee. Tipping in his own rebound and then burring a three-pointer, Barbee sent the Minutemen out to a quick 5-2.

Macon answered with a trey of his own, and Temple was tough to stop from there. A series of points from Strickland, who usually isn't a big threat for the Owls, pushed Temple to a 13-9 lead. The Minutemen cut it to 13-11 and 18-15 at points, but then temple stepped up the pressure. Strickland stuck another jumper and a short pop off an inbound pass to increase the lead to 10, and Kilgore's three-pointer pushed the margin to as much as 13, at 32-19 with 1:14 left in the half.

Herndon rallied with a pair of dunks, before Kilgore hit a leaner at the buzzer that sent the Owls into the locker room with a comfortable 11 point lead, 34-23.

Stuff: There will be a rally to welcome home the Minutemen at 12:45 p.m. at the Curry Hicks Cage.

UMass
TEMPLE

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

UMass performd valiantly against Temple, but ended up two points shy of the A-10 championship.

Students gather to watch The Game

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collgian Staff

"Maybe, just maybe, it will be our night," the ESPN announcer said.

And it was. Accept for those two elusive points that kept the dream at bay.

For the 100-plus crowd that filled the second floor lounge in Gorman Residence Hall last night for The Game, it was a night filled with shouts of joy, cries of frustration, and another year without The Win.

The fans traded books and term papers for more than two hours of popcorn and cheering in front of a big-screen tv fully equipped with cable.

All the elements were there for success. A cheering crowd that would not quit, not even when we were down by 11 at the half. Not even when UMass failed to pull ahead when the score was 40-39. And not Will Herndon missed the two foul shots that would have dropped Temple's lead to three. He was nervous, they said, he's doing fine.

But success wasn't there for the elements.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Basketball fans travel in droves to lend support to hometown team

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

PHILADELPHIA — At last, we've found a Division I basketball facility smaller than the Curry Hicks Cage.

With just 3,900 seats, McConigle Hall was the host to last night's Atlantic 10 Conference championship game between the University of Massachusetts and Temple University.

And with a building of that size, it wouldn't take a great number of fans to make an impact.

The Minutemen had themselves quite a sizeable contingent on hand, some of whom are long-time veterans, starved for a successful team for over a decade. Others may have just jumped onto the bandwagon, but there was no shame in that on this festive night.

Thanks to the UMass Court Club, four buses full of fans left from Warren G. McGuirk Alumni Stadium at 1:30 p.m. yesterday for for the five-hour trip to the City of Brotherly of Love. Another bus brought along the UMass cheerleaders and pep band.

Regardless, the spirits were high well before tip-off.

The noisy pack began filing into McConigle at about 7:30 p.m. and immediately started to whoop it up. Chants of "Temple Sucks" began to drown out Genesis and Billy Joel piped-in music over the PA system, prompting the authorities to turn up the volume. Even that wasn't enough to stop the fans, a signal of moral victory.

They were all there, including the famous Blues Brothers, plastic horns in hand and ready to taunt anything related to the opposition.

Shortly thereafter, the "heroes" emerged, and thus was maybe the first standing ovation for pre-game stretching. The fans didn't care. It was the A-10 finals, it was on ESPN, and being a UMass hoop fan was fun again.

On the other hand, nary a Temple fan could be found until just before game time. Of course, success is old hat to the Owls, not making the NCAA Tournament is considered an off-year. Maybe they didn't take these upstart visitors for the north seriously. Whatever, the Minute-fans did their best to give the home folks a rude awakening.

The intensity will never rival that of a typical Duke crowd. After all, those are the maniacs who wait in line for two days to get tickets to a game that has little importance whatsoever. They are professionals.

But there was no need for companions on this night. Just recognizing the matter at hand was all that was necessary. A large group of people were showing their school spirit for a worthy cause, proving you didn't need to be on the Student Union steps to get a big crowd. This was big-time basketball, a chance for nation recognition. Being a UMass basketball fan was fun again.

Gymnastics teams gearing up for big weekend

● Minutemen travel to New England meet

CHRIS MIRACLE
Collegian Staff

What will the Minutewomen pull out of their bag of tricks next this weekend as the University of Massachusetts women's gymnastics team takes on the University of Vermont(4-6) in their last regular season home meet at Boyden Gym (2pm).

The Minutewomen,(10-2) hope to increase their nine meet winning streak and maybe establish a few more school records, which has been the norm as of late.

The Catamounts of UVM shouldn't be taken lightly by the Minutewomen. Coming in after their 176.35-173.35 victory over Springfield College last Saturday, the Catamounts have a little confidence factor going for them. In the SC meet, their number one all-arounder, Brooke Taft placed first with a 35.95. Laura Speery, ranked second on UVM's depth chart, earned the second spot with a 35.2.

"Last season, we had a poor meet against Vermont and we embarrased ourselves,"Mitchell said."We were concentrating on the A-10's before we got there. I'd like to avenge that."

With only two meets to go before the A-10

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10

● Minutewomen host Vermont, Ball State

By JASON GEORGE
Collegian Staff

According to an old saying, we should judge someone not by where they are today, but by how far they've come. The University of Massachusetts men's gymnastics team hopes that that standard will be applied to them after Saturday's New England championships at Southern Connecticut State University.

Although the team brings a mediocre 6-6 record into the championships, a strong performance there will help erase some of the frustrations of the 1989-90 season.

"We've had an average season — not too many people have peaked at the same time," UMass coach Roy Johnson said. "Each individual has given it their best shot, but a few injuries combined with everybody's understanding of what they have to do and this (the season) is what you end up with.

"We're trying to get everyone in the gym to have the same aim and direction — when that happens, momentum takes over," continued Johnson.

Is it too late in the season for a wave of momentum to carry the Minutemen to a

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10

WEATHER

The forecast today calls for rain and drizzle with high temperatures of 45 to 50.

ARTS

The Sugarcubes sprinkle a little sweetness in the Student Union. Page 7.

SPORTS

The UMass men's hoop team receives bid to play Maryland in first round of NIT. Page 12.

MONDAY
THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY MONDAY, MARCH 12, 1990
COLLEGIAN
VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 29

Students say elevator play is common

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Students in Kennedy residence hall were shocked by the death of resident Joel B. Mangion, who died after falling down one of the building's elevator shafts yesterday.

Although students were stunned by news of the accident, Kennedy residents said "elevator surfing," or riding on top of elevators, is not an uncommon practice.

A Kennedy resident, who wished not to be identified, said it is very easy to climb on top of the elevators and ride them.

He said he has ridden the elevators this way and knows several other people who also "surf."

The resident said he felt "safe" on the top of the elevator, but added that he was riding on the "supervator," a single-shaft elevator which stops at every floor.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Student dies in fall

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

An 18-year-old freshman at the University of Massachusetts died early yesterday morning when he fell down an elevator shaft in Kennedy residence hall.

Joel B. Mangion, of 1617 Kennedy, died sometime between 4 and 4:30 a.m. when he fell down the shaft shared by two cars, according to the UMass news office.

Mangion and a friend were riding on top of the elevator when the accident occurred, said Karin Sherbin, UMass spokeswoman. Mangion is from West Newton.

Police arrived at the scene at 5:10 a.m. after a call from a Kennedy resident. It is believed the death was accidental, she said.

Mangion's body has been taken to the medical examiner's office in Springfield for an autopsy, she said.

The UMass Department of Public Safety and state police assigned to the district attorney's office and the state's Division of Elevator Inspection in Boston are investigating.

Mangion's death is the second in 10 years at the University in connection with the elevators, said Lt. Michael Grabiek, who is in charge of the Civil Disorders Unit and the UMass detectives bureau.

Also, one year ago, a student was seriously injured when he fell 30 feet down an elevator shaft in Washington residence hall.

"I have heard that kids ride on top of the elevators and kids are jamming doors, but that's all hearsay," Grabiek said. "I don't know how big of a problem it is . . . [but] evidently, it is [a problem.]"

One of Mangion's neighbors, Jerome Guerard, of 1612 Kennedy, said yesterday he felt "disbelief and denial" at Mangion's death. Guerard described Mangion as "a great friend."

Guerard said the floor, which is all-male, met early yesterday morning to discuss the accident with the building's resident director, Julie McCrea, and counselors from UMass mental health services. The floor's resident assistant was home for the weekend.

Two of the three elevators in Kennedy are closed off to public use until UMass public safety and Division of Elevator Inspection officials allow them to reopen, Grabiek said.

Sherbin said the elevators are equipped with "safety features" which include an "escape hatch" in the ceiling that is designed to be opened only from the outside. Also, she said the elevator doors are "hooked into a system" to insure that the cars will not move when the doors are open.

Collegian staff member Chris Muther contributed to this story.

Administrators remove sex stories from CYBER mainframe

Four forums judged "improper use" of system

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts administrators last Friday removed the four forums devoted to sex stories on the CYBER mainframe computer although original plans were to leave the forums on the system until Monday when a faculty senate committee is to examine the existence of the forums.

John Dubach, acting director of the University Computing Center, said the forums were removed: "On the grounds that they constitute 'improper use' of the [University Computer Service] facilities...If [the faculty committee] recommends that these files are, instead, 'proper use,' we will restore them that afternoon."

The four forums, titled "CyberLust," "SEX," "Sexstories" and its newest addition, "Lusty One" were uncovered by last week by the Collegian. The forums resided in the CYBER's heavily-used electronic mail system.

Dubach said that the forums were removed after he had a meeting with the associate vice chancellor for computing information, Douglas E. Abbott.

Abbott recommended that the forums be shut down until Monday when the University Computing Committee of the Faculty Senate is scheduled to examine the use of the system for non-instructional non-research purposes, Dubach said.

Abbott was not available for comment.

"It was his call," Dubach said. "We took them off the system and on to tape [storage device]. The people who own these files can come and get them at any time."

Dubach had said last week that the CYBER, one of the most powerful computers on campus, is to be used only for instructional and research activities.

On the CYBER system, a forum is called a "notesfile." Each forum can contain several individual files or documents.

He said that preliminary estimates, based on the size of the files involved, indicate that the sex stories constitute approximately 0.002 percent of total system usage.

The University Computing Committee of the Faculty Senate is scheduled to meet Monday at Lederle Graduate Research Tower Room 419B at 1:30 p.m.

Election rule violated by two campaigns

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Last night, the Bob Monaghan campaign for student trustee and the John Silveria campaign for SGA president, were found to be in violation of the Student Government Association Constitution and Bylaws.

Both campaigns were assessed $7.50 for printing costs of campaign posters made sometime last week in the Office of Greek Affiars, located in Crampton Residence Hall.

After more than two hours of deliberation, five of the eight members present voted "aye," with three abstentions finding the two campaigns guilty of violating Chapter 10, paragraph III, section b 11 of the SGA Constitution and Bylaws. This section states: "Any and all materials must be purchased at fair market price and all candidates must have access to these materials at the same price." This lowest market price, determined by Orchard Hill Area Government, is set at $.01 per copy, according to Ross Condit, chair of the governmental affairs committee.

Dave Shafkowitz, campaign worker for the Silveria/Monaghan campaigns said he made approximately 1,500 campaign posters for the campaign in the Office of Greek Affairs. Shafkowitz said he had no knowledge

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

READING FOR PLEASURE—Kerstin Becker, a freshman music education and theater major reads a magazine in the mild weather at the Fine Arts Center on Friday.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief....Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor....George Austin
Editorial Editor....Minu Sebastian
News Editor....Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor....Jim Clark
Arts Editors....Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor....Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor....Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor....Alexander Nguyen
Bisexual, Lesbian, Gay Issues Editor....Chris Muther
Business Manager....Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager....Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager....Martina Rios
Circulation Manager....Chris Baker
Subscription Manager....Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager....Donna Cusson
Production Managers....Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager....Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business....Lori Black, Brian Harrington, Maureen Majerowski
Graphics....Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

For Your Information

For Your Information is a calendar listing of local announcements and upcoming events published daily by the Collegian as a public service. All submissions must be typed and submitted into the news room at least one full day beforehand. We reserve the right to edit for space.

MONDAY, MARCH 12, 1990

Workshop — There will be a Recycling Workshop at Butterfield Lounge 8 p.m. Find out more about recycling at UMass and our country, the hows and whys of recycling and how you can help save the earth! If anyone is interested in having a workshop put on in their Residential Cluster or would like more information, please call the Recycling Office at 545-1960.

Banners — The Board of Governors is now accepting banners to be hung on the garage. For more information concerning the garage banner policy and its requirements, contact the Board of Governors at Campus Center room 817 or call 545-0198.

Vote — Board of Governors elections will take place tomorrow from 11:30 a.m.-7 p.m. Ballot boxes are located at the Hatch, the Newman Center and all of the Dining Commons except Hampden.

Exam Schedule — The Spring 1990 Final Examination Scheduie will be available beginning Thursday, March 15, 1990. Copies will be delivered to students in the residence halls, and will available to off-campus students in the Registrar's office (213 Whitmore) beginning Thursday.

Reading — In honor of International Women's Day and Women's History Month, P.O.W.E.R. is sponsoring an afternoon of (open) poetry reading, songs, and information sharing from 1 p.m. 5 p.m. in the Dukes Room, Student Union.

Lecture — Former CEO of Braniff Airlines will come tell his personal story about business and bankrupcy and the need for ethics in business tonight at 7:15 p.m. in Campus Center room 174.

Volunteer workers — The American Red Cross is looking for a volunteer coordinator whose duties include scheduling work assignments, seek other volunteers and he/she can work his/her own hours. Those who are interested, please call Rich Lee, American Red Cross at Northampton area 584-8887.

■ elevator accident

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The resident said typically, one student would stop the elevator halfway between floors from the inside by propping open the doors. People can then crawl on top of the elevator, the resident said.

Mangion and a friend were riding on an elevator which shares a larger shaft with another car, according to UMass spokeswoman Karin Sherbin.

Susan Beckett, of 807 Kennedy, said she often hears of people who ride the tops of the elevators. She said she heard it is "easy to do."

"Usually on the weekends when people are drunk, you hear about someone who went 'elevator surfing,'" she said.

But Robert Connelly, of 2007 Kennedy, said the elevators in the building are safe. He said he has not heard of anyone having a bad experience in the elevators.

"The only way to get hurt in the elevators is if you purposely abuse the elevators," he said.

■ violation

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

that his action were wrong.

"Personally, I didn't know whether I was right," said Shafkowitz.

Shafkowitz said when he approached Gregory R. Herbert, Inter-Fraternity Council advisor, last week and asked to use the photocopy machine in the office, he was told the action was permissible.

A memo sent out by Herbert to the Greek Area Sunday said: "The machine is open to all members of the greek area, free of charge, to use for individual and group projects." The memo further stated that users provide their own paper because of limited supplies. Shafkowitz stated he supplied his own paper.

Natasha Diephuis, candiate for SGA president and treasurer of the Panhellinc Council, (governing body of the sororities) reported a conversation to the committee in which Terri Lee Carabillo, secretary in the Office of Greek Affairs, said there is a policy regarding the use of the photocopy machine for the Greek Area that limits use to copies of minutes of Greek Area meetings and small amounts of copying. Monaghan said, "I didn't do anything wrong. But it's a fairer decision than what could have happened, we could have been disqualified."

Styles by Deborah welcomes
Leslie Brown
With an Introductory Special
Consultation, shampoo, style, cut and dry for only $12*
reg $18 (with this ad only)
call 549-5610
* with Leslie only
Styles by Deborah
The spa for hair and skin care
65 University Drive, Amherst
549-5610

SPORT Style

Photo by Buck Stewart
UNIVERSITY STORE
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
Located in the Campus Center

VOTE VOTE VOTE
VOTEVOTE
COMMUTER ELECTION
TUESDAY MARCH 13
11 AM-4 PM
VOTE IN THE HATCH
(Referendum Question on Our Money to be Voted on)
VOTEVOTE
VOTEVOTE VOTE

ATTENTION: SGA ELECTIONS FOR PRESIDENT, TRUSTEE, AND OPEN SENATE SEATS IS TO BE HELD ON MARCH 13, FROM 10:30 a.m. - 7 p.m. IN THE FOLLOWING PLACES; PENDING NORMAL OPERATING HOURS.

Voting is to be held in the following places: for Commuter Area residents, the Hatch; for Greek Area residents, the Newman Center; for Sylvan and Northeast Area residents, the Barracks side of the Worcester D.C.; for Orchard Hill and Central Area residents, the dormitory side of Franklin D.C. outside of the Munchies Store; Butterfield Residence Hall; for Southwest South residents, Berkshire D.C.; for Southwest North Area residents, Hampshire D.C.; and the New Africa House.

LOCAL

Administrators react to students' charges

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

Several administrators Thursday reacted to charges that they reneged promises made to students regarding the six cultural centers at the University saying it was not their intent to exclude students from decision-making processes but there have been many communication problems.

Last week, students affiliated with the six cultural centers expressed outrage over the administrative control of the centers by Housing Services and the Department of Academic Support Services.

Ann Quinley, dean of Academic Support Services, said she is "devastated" at the conflict surrounding the centers, adding there are not enough students making decisions regarding the cultural centers.

"It was never our intention to exclude or harm students," she said. "These centers are clearly something I feel strongly about. I want them to work."

Quinley said communication problems arise when administrators simultaneously work on the cultural centers without telling each other what they are doing. "This creates a climate of confusion," she said.

"It is critically important that the cultural centers be student-run and student-owned," she said. "[The administration] needs to establish trust with the students."

Dennis Madson, vice chancellor of Student Affairs, said he was disappointed at the controversy surrounding the centers because "even with the budget crisis, the University has been able to make them function."

Madson said while he understood the student complaints that they have been left "in the dark" about matters concerning the centers he felt having the administration serve as the central authoritative voice was intended to be in the "best interests of students.

He said a "three-way support system" consisting of Housing Services, Academic Support Services and student leaders is the most efficient way to run the centers.

"These centers are a priority of Student Affairs," he added. "The University has been working on the recruitment and retention of students of color. . .and these cultural centers offer a welcoming place and warm environment for these students."

The six cultural centers are the Malcolm X Center, the Hispanic Cultural Center, the Dr. Josephine Whiteagle Native American Cultural Center, the United Asia Cultural Center, the Martin Luther King Center and the Anacaona Center.

Student senators expect a trouble-free election

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Undergraduate Student Senate officials are expecting smoother election returns in this semester's election because of a new policy which will remove SGA senators from office who fail to man a ballot box, according to Ross Condit, government affairs chairman.

Condit said there have been problems in the past with ballot boxes being unstaffed and as a result, election returns being falsified.

"We're expecting this election to go a lot better than past elections," he said. Condit said the Government Affairs Committee oversees the entire voting process of the election and is responsible for making arrangements before the elections and counting the final results.

He said so far this year's elections have been quiet compared to other years.

"We've had difficulties with every election, somebody always brings up problems," he said.

Condit said there has been a low number of disciplinary problems with the candidates in this election. Candidates can be removed from the election or the entire election can be disqualified if they break the code of conduct set by the Government Affairs Committee, which says that: candidates shall not deface University property, candidates shall not actively campaign within fifty feet of a polling place on election days, no signs may be placed on University buildings, except where specified, no person shall interefere with the orderly conduct of any election by disturbance, loitering, or interfering with an election official.

Students can write in votes on the ballot by writing the name of the candidate on a sticker and placing it beside the candidate of their choice, Condit said. The vote will count only if the name is legible.

The election will be considered final only if it is approved by the Senate, after a report is given by the Chairman of Governmental Affairs, which must contain the results, an evaluation of the elections and any recommendations and formal complaints and the actions taken as a result.

STUDENT POLLING PLACES FOR MARCH 13
Commuters - Hatch
Greeks - Newman Center
Sylvan/North East - Worcester Dining Commons(barracks side)
Central/Orchard Hill - Franklin Dining Commons
South West South - Berkshire Dining Commons
South West North - Hampshire Dining Commons
There will also be absentee ballot boxes in Butterfield Residence Hall and the New Africa House

Astronaut criticizes proposed mission to Mars

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

A former space shuttle astronaut criticized the proposed mission to Mars and suggested instead that NASA concentrate on making the shuttle more cost-efficient Saturday.

Tony England, a professor of computer science and electrical engineering at the University of Michigan, flew on space shuttle Challenger on July 29, 1985 for a week-long SpaceLab mission. England presented 'The Civilian Space Program: Is Mars the Answer?'

"NASA wants to relive the Apollo program (1969 mission to the moon) through the Mars program," England said. "They want an umbrella program to develop new technology for the national 'feel good' role of NASA."

England said Congress would fund the Mars proposal based on NASA's promises and President Bush's recent endorsement. He said the first phase of the program would be an umbrella for many additional programs; however, because of NASA's poor past achievement record, the Mars program's funds will be peripherally cut, eliminating all side programs.

"We will end getting to Mars with expensive technology that can't be used for anything else," England said.

He said NASA would benefit more from making a simpler, safer space shuttle. Presently, the space shuttle system has the fixed cost of $4 billion, he said. He said the shuttle could be developed to use less energy and to be more reliable.

"NASA should get the shuttle simpler to maintain, safer to operate so that it's costs are more competitive," England said.

England said the American people assume that NASA is the 'driver' of Aerospace technology with direct investments in space travel and aircraft research. In fact, he said, the space shuttle was developed with 'off the shelf' technology as compared to the Apollo program, which invested in technology. Out of the 1989 $10.9 billion fiscal budget, only $0.79 billion went to aerospace research and development.

"We haven't finished what we started with the space shuttle," England said. "We have more pressing matters than the mission to Mars.

"The shuttle isn't finished," he said. "We can't afford to go to Mars."

UM student files statement about defamatory posters

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

A University of Massachusetts student said he filed a statement with the UMass police last night in connection with a harassment charge filed by Student Government Association Treasurer Laura Filkins last Wednesday night.

The statement last night, contained information linking junior Josh Gordon to a set of posters aimed at Filkins distributed throughout the Southwest residential area the evening of Feb. 23 and last Wednesday night.

UMass police Sgt. Mark Labranche said a confirmation on that statement would have to be confirmed with the UMass Police News Bureau, which would not be available until today.

The posters included Filkins home phone number, and a request to call her. They stated: "Who the hell is Laura Filkins? And why is she trying to take away Southwest Week from us? Call her and ask her about it." The second round, posted last Wednesday night demanded to know why she hadn't "answered us." Filkins said she had received obscene phone calls as a result of the first poster.

The posters were aimed at Filkins after a recommendation by the Student Activities Trust Fund Planning Committee was submitted to the Undergraduate Senate body by her during the weekly senate meeting, Feb. 21. The recommendation cited figures that would decrease the funding made available to area governments, including the Southwest and commuter areas.

A source close to the Gordon situation stated sighting the two posters directed at Filkins hanging on Gordon's Amherst apartment wall within the past two weeks.

Collegian photo by Nathaniel Rastallis

A UMASS ERECTOR SET—The Lederle Graduate Tower is viewed through the steel grid of a campus construction site.

Anti-Semitic notes may be linked to students' politics

By LISA SHAPIRO
Collegian Staff

Anonymous anti-Semitic notes received recently by two University of Massachusetts juniors may be linked to the targeted students' political activities.

Jeremy Levinson received a note at his Amherst apartment Thursday that read: "You are a stinking Jew Hitler Bait — We will be watching you suck on Jay Allain the faggot queer."

Levinson's note was almost identical to one received by Nathan Krystall at his Amherst apartment on Feb. 2.

Krystall's note, which was reported in the March 6 Collegian without the use of his name, said: "You are a rotten Jew — We will be watching you, troublemaker."

Scrawled at the bottom of both notes, was a skull in between two swastikas. Above the skull the word 'skinheads' was written.

Both students were arrested last April in connection with anti-military protests on campus. On Feb. 8, Levinson received a suspended six-month jail sentence from the Hampshire County District Court on a charge of disorderly conduct. Krystall, arrested for trespassing, was granted a one-year continuance without finding.

Florence resident and UMass graduate Jay Allain, named in the letter Levinson received, was acquitted Feb. 27 in the Northampton District Court for trespassing following the April demonstrations on the UMass campus.

Levinson's letter appears to be a full-size photocopy of the letter Krystall received on note paper.

Krystall said: "I feel this is a direct attack on my political beliefs through my religion. This is symptomatic of a pathological individual(s). I only hope this person is not in a position of authority."

Both instances have been reported to the Amherst Police department.

Levinson and Krystall plan to meet today to decide on a possible course of action and issue a statement on the letters.

Summer Jobs in Amherst
TOWN OF AMHERST
LSSE
Leisure Services and Supplemental Education

Adventure Playground Day Camp
(for 7-12 year olds)
Camp Director ($6.53-$7.56/hour)
Asst. Camp Director ($5.41-$6.57/hour)
Art Director ($5.16-$6.90/hour)
Counselor II ($5.43-$5.99)
Counselor I ($4.70-$5.45/hour)
Leaders-in-Training ($3.88-$4.49/hour)

Adventure Tots Day Camp
(for 3-4 year olds)
Camp Director ($6.53-$7.56/hour)
Counselor II ($5.43-5.99/hour)
Counselor I ($4.70-$5.45/hour)
Leaders-in-Training ($3.88-$4.49/hour)

Early Adventures Day Camp
(for 5-6 year olds)
Camp Director ($6.53-7.56/hour)
Asst. Camp Director ($5.41-$6.57/hour)
Counselor II ($5.43-$5.99/hour)
Counselor I ($4.70-$5.45/hour)

Aquatics Program
Pool Manager ($6.85-$8.33/hour)
Asst. Pool Manager ($5.68-$6.90/hour)
Instructor/Lifeguard ($5.19-$6.01/hour)
Lifeguard/Water Safety Asst. ($4.70-$4.94/hour)
Cashier ($4.27-$4.94/hour)

Tennis Program
Program Supervisor ($10.00-$13.00/hour)
Tennis Instructors ($8.00-$10.00/hour)

Adult Softball League
Softball Maintenance Worker ($5.00-$6.00/hour)

Job Descriptions and applications available at Amherst Leisure Services, 446 Main Street, Amherst or at Summer Jobs Information Table on the UMass Concourse on March 13 and March 28. Preferred application deadline is Wednesday, April 11.

GOOD JOBS...GOOD TIMES...GOOD FRIENDS...GOOD MONEY

Pizza & Bowl Special
"Dugout Snack Shack"
Mon. & Wed. Nights
10 P.M. – Midnight
• 2 HOURS BOWLING
• ALL THE PIZZA YOU CAN EAT!
Only $5.00/Person

College Special
with college ID
Every Thurs. Night 9:00 p.m.—12:00 a.m.
3 Games of Bowling and Shoe Rental for
$4.00

Don't Miss Out
Call To Reserve Your Spot!
Northampton Bowl
525 Pleasant St.
584-4830

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

Legal Services has positions available for legal assistant interns for the Fall 1990 semester. This is a challenging opportunity for students from a variety of majors and disciplines to gain valuable legal experience.

Responsibilities include:
* client interviewing
* attendance at hearings
* preparation of court forms
* maintenance of continuing caseload
* investigations and research

Legal-Services-Center
university of massachusetts, amherst, ma. 01003

Up to 15 credits may be earned. Apply early! Contact Legal Services, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995. Start the application process today!

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

THE EDWIN M. ROSSMAN
ALUMNI CAREER FORUMS

CIVIL ENGINEERING

DATE: WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1990
TIME: 8:00 PM
LOCATION: CAMPUS CENTER 168C
SPONSORED BY:• UNIVERSITY PLACEMENT SERVICE • CIVIL ENGINEERING • ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

This is an opportuity to meet with alumni and discuss their experiences in the working world. Don't miss this important panel discussion!

ALUMNI PANELISTS

Robert A. Benson (CE 70)	Associate Fay, Stafford, and Thorndike, Inc.
Stephen M. Pause (MSEVE 83)	Director of Engineering Corporate Environmental Advisors, Inc.
Daniel N. Adams (CE 86, MSCE 88)	Geotechnical Engineer Haley and Aldrich, Inc.
David A. Bohn (CE 77, MSCE 78)	Associate Vanasse Hangen Brustlin, Inc.

For more information, please contact:
University Placement Service, University Career Center

NEED CASH ?
SELL YOUR BOOKS:
AT THE
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
MARCH 13 - 15
9:00 AM - 4:00 PM
MARCH 16
9:00 AM - 1:00 PM

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Call me what you will

I gave in to society. I got an answering machine last semester.

But I was excited. I even offered prizes for my first lucky callers. However, when days went by before my first call came in, my suspicions were confirmed: you've all been lying — all you people who used to keep telling me, "I've been trying to call you. Really, but you're never home." You've all been lying. Now I know if you call me.

Bob Bobala

And it may not be my answering machine's fault that my friends have nothing to say to me, but the machine teases me. I get home from a tough day in academia, walk into my dark room, and there it is, with its little red light flashing. I got a call! I'm so important. It's probably a message from the Chancellor, or from someone who wants to give me a job come May, or maybe that interesting woman I met at a party last week somehow got my number. This is better than mail!

I hit the message playback button in wild expectation, but the only thing on the tape is dead silence. Whoever called hung up before saying anything.

What torture. I sit down and try to analyze what type of person would do this to me. Who would call and hang up? Maybe it was my father. The first time my dad called my machine he left me a detailed explanation of why he didn't like my new piece of phone technology: "Uhh . . . (breath of disgust) . . . I hate talking to these damn machines! . . . Uhh . . . (sigh) . . ."

I switched the recordings around and used his message as the outgoing one so anyone who did call me could hear a man's struggle against the technology that's destroying him. So, maybe he's the one who calls and hangs up all the time. He's just getting even.

But how do you talk to these machines? You have to speak clearly because you're being recorded over the phone. But that's especially difficult if you talk too fast, are prone to mumbling, and you haven't quite mastered the pronunciation of your own name yet. "Hi, this is Bob Bobaba, Bobalaba, Bobalala — uh, forget it. Maybe I'll call back later."

Then there's the fear that the person you've called is really home, sitting there listening to you make a fool of yourself. Or, there's the fear that they are screening their calls and you're one of the people they don't want to talk to. Or, there's the fear that your voice sounds so stupid when its recorded that no one will take you seriously enough to call you back.

But here's some advice: it's helpful to pretend you're talking to a person rather than a stupid tape recorder. I stand there talking to Big Bird on my Sesame Street poster. That's the only way I get through it.

Then there's the wrong numbers. Personally, I've never called the wrong number and gotten an answering machine. But plenty of people with dialing deficiencies call me. My phone number is different by one digit from that of an office at the School of Management, so people are always calling my number trying to get through to SOM.

A while back, a woman called from the Boston area and left an extensive message on my machine for Thomas O'Brien, the dean of SOM. I was overjoyed because she set the record for the longest incoming message on my machine, and I'd be pleased to talk to her any time. But I still stop and wonder how anyone could think they were leaving a message at SOM when the machine they reached promptly said, "If you can say 'Bob Bobala five times fast, you can leave a messge for as long as you want.'"

She didn't even try to say my name once.

Bob Bobala is a Collegian columnist

"THINGS ARE GETTING BAD! . . . IT USED TO BE I ONLY GOT BITTEN BY THE DOGS!"

Jello-shot slides uptown

I am terribly afraid.

There is a new fad lurking uptown, threatening to replace the most common staple in our college lives.

I am alerting the public of the presence of THE JELLO-SHOT.

And, of course, its threat to eradicate beer and become the new favorite hobby.

Alise Harfield

It was a blue moon this weekend, and as such, time for me to head uptown (or shall I say downtown, from my North Amherst perspective). Nearly everywhere I went, walls of our favorite bars were donned with multi-colored, obviously painstakingly-made signs screaming, "Jello-shots!! One dollar!!"

Where was I, on a Bill Cosby commercial?

What happened to good ol' pitchers of Lite? Draughts of Miller? Bottles of Bud?

Could jello-shots be great tasting? As Mom used to say, "There's always room for jello." Yes, but did that automatically make jello-shots less filling?

Then I saw it . . . what looked like an experimental petri dish full of liquid agar, complete with a floating amoeba on top. (These are easily found on yet another building on campus, I think Morrill.)

Yes, there it was. In front of a fellow drinker's mouth was the first jello-shot ever to appear before my eyes. I was dumbfounded. Half fascinated, anything but thirsty.

The unidentified consumer-to-be jammed his index finger in the agar, I mean jello, I mean drink, and ran it around the outside to loosen the sticky stuff from its plastic home. Then, he opened his mouth and plopped the glossy gook in, whole, and swallowed merrily.

Did he like it?

"Yeh, it slid right down. Pretty good."

So, what are the pluses of the jello-shot? From what I could see, they clearly are:

- No bitter aftertaste.
- Disposable shot "glass."
- Sticky hands, but a good excuse to stick your finger in your mouth.

So what is it about jello-shots anyway?

"We make ours with flavored liquor, gelatin, a little vodka to give it flavor and food coloring," said John Cappadona, a bartender at Delano's in Amherst. "We usually sell a tray full of 60 or so in a night-time," he said.

Jello-shots at the Pub in Amherst are dressed up with whipped cream, and "served with a spoon on the side," said Bob Dearing, a bartender. Sounds fancy. But could they ever take the place of beloved beer?

"Jello-shots are just a fun additive to our menu. They'll never replace beer," Dearing said. And Cappadona agrees. "It's just fun. Easy goin' down, cheap, and a lot of fun."

Yet my fear remains. I can see it now: Superbowl Sunday. Potato chips. Pretzels, mustard. A Bundt cake, and a jello mold.

"Hey, could you cut me another slice of, hmmm, lite lemon? Great game! Go Pats! Hey, would you pass the fork?"

If this happened, the consequences would include: no more pitchers, kegs, taps, or spills. No more beer burps, beer belches, beer breath, beer slides. And no more Spuds Mackenzie.

Instead? "This is Bill Cosby for Jello Brand Jello-shots. Jello Brand Jello pops, jello-shots on a stick. In pudding. With stripes. Now in the 21-and-over section of your grocer's freezer. . ."

Look out. It's the jello-shot. And it's on the rise. . .

Alise Harfield is a Collegian columnist

Hasty comments prevent progress

After reading "A Statement to the United States of America," (Robin Varghese, March 5) we came up with a few questions and comments that we feel are relevant.

The first is this: are you an American citizen? If not, why do you remain in this "psychotic colossus" if you despise its actions so intensely?

If you are an American citizen, how can you possibly justify your use of the second person when referring to the deeds of Americans? We are curious to know how you would explain sentences such as " .. for 11 years, you subjected Nicaragua to intense economic, political, and military warfare ..."

By writing in this manner, you effectively shift the blame for all of these alleged actions onto every American citizen, with the exception of yourself. What makes you right, and all others, regardless of their actions or opinions, wrong?

Perhaps the most offensive statement in this egregious article is that Americans are only receiving their just desserts when they are "inexplicably harassed, beaten up, or killed" by citizens of Third World countries.

After condemning the U.S. for its military interference in Nicaraguan affairs, you conveniently turn and condone violence against innocent American citizens who are visiting Third World countries.

If people would refrain from making such hasty judgments the world's leaders could better serve everyone's needs.

Jennifer A. Olsen
Charlotte E. Giddings
South Hadley

Notes from the Campus Center Basement

The railroad of democracy is once again underway, and heading directly where the SGA wants it to.

****

Hey, did you guys notice those tiny little ads in the paper about the elections tomorrow? NO? Wonder why . . .

****

Of course, you've noticed some of the posters about campus asking you to vote for certain candidates, they never list reasons why to do so, but hey . . . what do you want?

Dirty politics has been a factor, though. Posters supposedly supporting Angus McQuilken were put up by the "Young Communist League," which so far as I've heard didn't do this. Could it be another attempt by the conservatives to slander a candidate such as with the campaign of Silkoff/Rabinowitz?

And how could you miss that banner for Ken Parker visible through the wall of windows in the Hatch. Wasn't that a little BIG? Did it belong there? Was this kosher by all election rules and regulations? Who has these answers?

I think I'll be writing in Tim Smith for SGA president, a long-time senator and student activist. Though he's not running, he is probably the best person for the job. He thinks.

Just when I thought things were crazy enough with a proposal to slash area government budgets, someone else decides to play "one up-manship" by proposing a really stupid idea. Certain senators and other "in people" want to double the area government allotment, thus destroying all the funding for RSOs that serve the whole campus community. Ever hear of WMUA?

Peter Leon

Now I realize times are tough with the budget, and many people are asking "Why is it that Tracy Davis, SGA president, gets less money a week than any area government president?" So yes, money that should be going to the students is being "improperly" distributed (euphemism).

But whatever happened to moderation? Trim a little here, give some more there. I call it common sense. I also have to ask why SAO is getting so much money. It has a larger staff than ever, yet services fewer RSOs than ever. (The senate did do a good thing by eliminating a lot of ghostly-RSOs.)

****

A final question from an old guy in this basement: Whatever happened to the lawsuit against the Board of Trustees for taking the interest from the Student Activities Trust Fund? You know, that three point something million dollar account that we, the students, fill, and could pay for SAO with the interest, but don't get the interest off of?

But enough of this. . .

****

Reminder: those of you who actually enjoy going to this University, but need financial help, get your forms into financial aid, even if you want a loan! Or you may be spending a long time with your parents and family.

****

Quote of the week: When caught flipping through the Bible, who said "I'm looking for loopholes?"
[flush right]W.C. Fields, of course.

****

Spring break is already here, and it looks like Amherst is a lovely place to be.

****

Until March 26, a day with probably little meaning for most, enjoy!

Peter Leon is a Collegian columnist

Collegian photo by John Woo

SWOOOOSH—A UMass student schedules some early morning laps in the Curry Hicks Cage.

Prof receives recognition for service to UM

By NOA BEN-YEHUDA
Collegian Correspondent

Jules Chametzky, director of advanced studies and humanities, received the chancellor's medal for his distinguished service to the University after he gave a lecture entitled "Beyond Melting Pots, Cultural Pluralism, Ethnicity or Deja Vu All Over Again" at Bowker Auditorium last Thursday.

His topic was cultural diversity and the attempts people have made to come to terms with it.

He used the terms "melting pot" and Jesse Jackson's "patchwork quilt." He used Horace Kallen's "symphony of civilization" and the latest, attributed to New York Governor, Mario Cuomo, "Brilliant, colorful, mosaic."

The term melting pot was (borne) when David, a Jewish character in a Russian playwrights 1913 said to Vera, his gentile lover, "America is a great crucible, the great melting pot. God is the great alchemist" in a play written in 1913. Chametzky went on to read the entire scene for the sake of "schmaltz."

Cultural and social assimilation and racial amalgamation seemed inevitable in the days of David and Vera, Chametzky said.

But some 60 years later the melting pot theory became less popular, said Chametzky. In the seventies the Afro-American movement gained speed and people tried to distinguish themselves by their cultural ancestry, he said. There was even an "invention of ethnicity." In the 1980 census 83 percent of the American people filled in a blank line left for ethnic background. Growth in the number of

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10

Student arrested for violations

David S. Cheetham, 21, of John Q. Adams was stopped Thursday on Fearing St. for an expired rejection sticker. He was arrested for operating after suspension of his license.

In other police reports:

LARCENY

- A woman left her purse in a room Thursday in Thompson Tower and returned later to find it missing. The purse was later found in a hallway but missing $70 in cash.

CONFISCATION

- Police investigated two persons in a vehicle at the Stadium maze and confiscated alcohol that was in the possession of minors.

— PRESTON FORMAN

Recycle this newspaper

Recycle this newspaper

Self Serve Typewriters
kinko's
the copy center
220 N. Pleasant St.
253-2543

THE WORLD FOR SALE
from NEW YORK — round trips from
LONDON $338
BERLIN 438
BRUSSELS 398
VIENNA 438
TOKYO 749
CARACAS 318
RIO 730
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID'. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

AMHERST CINEMA
THE MUSIC BOX
PG13
Fri., Sat. & Sun. 7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week
$2.50 with student I.D.
253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA

BEFORE YOU LEAVE ON YOUR WELL-DESERVED SPRING BREAK ... COME INTO HAMPDEN CREAMERY FOR ...
Shamrock Cookie
One Emerald Green Dollar buys you a homemade cookie that will turn your friends green with envy!
St. Paddy's Shake
All Shakes whether large or small will be 17% off our regular price
HAMPDEN Creamery
IN SOUTHWEST
OPEN DAILY: 11:30 AM-11 PM
SPECIAL IN EFFECT FROM SUNDAY, MARCH 11TH TO FRIDAY, MARCH 16TH.

I WONDER WHO'S TAKING OVER NOW?

VOTE AND MAKE YOUR VOICE BE HEARD!
BOARD OF GOVERNORS ELECTIONS
Tuesday, March 13th 11:30AM to 7:00PM:
Dining Commons
Berkshire Butterfield
Franklin Hampshire
Worcester
The Hatch
Newman Center
vote wherever you see SGA ballot boxes!

ARTS & LIVING

Sugarcubes show much too sweet

By AL KAUFMAN
Collegian Staff

Sugarcubes/Primitives
SUB
Saturday, March 10
UPC Production

Remember Gary Coleman of Diff'rent Strokes? He was a cute, funny kid the first couple of shows. Then, after awhile, you wanted to kick him in the teeth every time he said "What you talkin' about?" The same is true for the latest, and only, Icelandic sensations, the Sugarcubes.

Looking about 12-years-old, lead singer Bjork Gudmundsottir (complete with red bow in hair) was in fine voice. She made it obvious that her wide range is not the stuff of studio wizardry.

Yet Gudmundsottir was constantly upstaged by the playful antics of singer Einar Orn. Orn energetically raced around the stage while screaming his lyrics. But his between song banter turned him into an obnoxious twirp.

Bouncing onto the stage amid Lawrence Welk-like bubbles, the band immediately sent the crowd, who started dancing to the undanceable music, into rapture.

Yeah, the Cubes are cute. And they have those endearing accents, but enough is enough. Smearing lipstick all over one's face and bashing Dukakis are all tired gags, especially when so obviously scripted.

In all fairness, the psychedelic light show was incredible, and, when they didn't go off making a bunch of strange sounds, most of their songs were done well. "Eat the Menu" came off much better live than on record, and their much anticipated encore of "Birthday" was technically flawless.

Opening act, the Primitives, made the mistake of starting their set on time, while most of the sold-out crowd was still coming in. But they soon captivated the crowd as they smoked through 15 songs in rapid fire succession.

Lead singer, the diminutive Tracy Tracy, occasionally fell into the trap of baiting the "too cool for their own good" crowd, who only wanted to see the Cubes. She asked questions like, "Who is booing?" which didn't do much to warm the crowd to her.

But the band's pop tunes, full of "la la"s and "do do do"s, got everyone dancing. "Secrets," "Crash" and "Way Behind Me," performed back to back to back, ignited the crowd.

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

Icelandic cuties, the Sugarcubes, in action.

Before the concert, guitarist Paul Court said he was dissatisfied with the "glossy" image in which RCA portrays the band. He said he thinks of the band as more "enigmatic." But this band's forte is obviously short pop songs, and they wisely shied away from their more psychedelic tunes, like "Shadow."

Regardless of what Court thinks, the Primitives are a pop band, and a damn good one.

East and West combined in dance

By NICOLE GONZALEZ
Collegian Correspondent

Nataraj Dance Company
Amherst Junior High School
Sat. March 10

Imagine yourself visiting the crumbling ruins of an ancient Indian temple where suddenly statues of gods and worshippers come to life! The dance performance of "Moksha," led by Ranjana Devi, did not only reawaken dance forms that have a 2000 year Indian tradition. Joining forces with guest modern choreographer, Lynn Frederiksen of Boston, "Moksha" is a meeting of two ideas, East and West.

Also performing with Nataraj was Nataraj Jr., dancers from ages 7 to 14, who are also trained under Rajana Devi, at the New England Dance Conservatory.

In the first scene, "Seeking Twelve," four modern dancers, dressed in black, kneel in a circle in the center of the stage. To the clockwork beat of live percussionist, (Eric Galm) each dancer tries to move in harmony with each other. Each begin by raising their arms, slowly moving the palms of their hands back and forth. They extend their legs and rise up, standing high on their toes with arms stiffly out to their sides. They move too mechanically to the music, and one dancer in particular breaks through this hold, lying face down on the floor with palms spread out.

In the second scene, a dream like piece, the same dancer finds herself at an ancient ruin. She enters and is amazed by the sculptures of temple dancers. As she examines each one, they begin to move around her, still keeping the grace of a solid statue. Forming a circle around the dancer, the "devadasis' playfully "trap" her in the center and welcome her into their dance.

Wrapped in the mood of her new experiences, the dancer ventures on, even beyond physical movement, to meditation, the dance of the mind. Keeping perfectly still with her head just slightly bowed, this dancer made stillness look as strong as movement. Here, she experiences "Moshaka," which means release or liberation from every day living, into a more spiritual world where she sees that the entire universe moves, too, in its own eternal dance. She envisions Shiva who rises in the center of the stage and performs a theatrical solo. With his solid, binding steps, he demonstrates more strength and weight than his devadasi temple dancers.

With the realization that dance is inherent in every action of the universe, the Western dancer slowly walks off the stage and into the audience, symbolizing that she will take his information with her wherever she goes in life.

Among the dancers in Nataraj, there are several five-college students, including Yaaminey Mubayi (Mount Holyoke), Norman Traum (Hampshire) and Radhika Jha (Amherst). Three other dancers are former five college students: Martha Furman Kojro (UMass '87), Holly Silva (Smith '87) and Joelle Garfi (Smith '85).

An inspiring piece for lovers of both dance and music, "Moksha" is the meeting of traditional and modern, and music is the basic link between East, West and the entire universe.

Casselberry-DuPree jam for equal rights

By AL KAUFMAN
Collegian Staff

Casselberry-DuPree
SUB
Friday, March 9

One of the great things about the Student Union Ballroom is it's nothing more than a wide open space with plenty of room to dance. There could not be a better place to participate in the raw fire power that makes up a Casselberry-DuPree show, who were on hand to help celebrate International Women's Week.

It was a major letdown, to say the least, to walk into the SUB and see the place lined with chairs.

But the powerful reggae, funk, gospel duo from New York were hardly going to let that stop them. Dressed in colorful African attire, it took the barefooted duo until their encore to get some of the patrons off their asses, but the majority began dancing in the aisles about three songs into the night.

This was a special night for Casselberry-DuPree. Not only were they there to celebrate International Women's Month ("They gave us a week, but we took a month," boasted Jaque DuPree.), but the concert also marked the ninth anniversary that their sensational,but often overlooked multi-percussionist, Annette Argentina Aguilar, joined the band.

The trio (bassist Toshi Reagon was absent due to a previous commitment) were clearly enjoying themselves. Their love for each other and their work was evident as they openly and genuinely laughed and joked with one another.

They got serious, too. Although the event was sponsored by both the Hampshire Women's Center and UMass Everywoman's Center, Casselbery-DuPree did not limit themselves solely to women's issues, but to issues of oppression in general.

DuPree reduced the release of ANC leader Nelson Mandela to nothing more than tokenism on the part of the de Klerk government when she declared, "Nelson Mandela has been released, but he is not free."

Before getting into "King James Version," a song that chastises the traditionally racist issues taught in school, Judith Casselberry spoke about a western civilization class she is taking at Berklee, calling it "three credits of lies."

Casselberry's honey rich vocals complemented the powerful screams of DuPree to perfection on everything from gospel to reggae.

Coffee Break needs caffeine

By JOSH GALITSKY
Collegian Staff

Coffee Break
Hampden Theater
Sat March 10

Juan Valdez would have picked something else.

Coffee Break, a Student Valley Production experiment plagued with a half-comedy, half-drama identity crisis, never really brewed as a solid, entertaining play.

Director Melanie Armer had her hands full with this pseudo-surrealistic, on-the-fringes-of-funny one-act. The main problem lied in a script that talked itself to death, confined its actors, and never really arrived at a destination.

The storyline (if one could deduce a plot at all) was a salute to coffee and its effects on the human spirit of the regulars that frequent the Grill. The downfall of this play was that it was chock full o' cliched dialogue, half-written characters, and a seemingly endless supply of talking without action.

UMass student Nick Nyhan wrote the play and its a worthy idea. His main failure is that he gives little for the actor to act. The dialogue was slow and sluggish and in overabundance. The corny jokes were less painful only when the characters themselves acknowledged their corniness.

Most of the play just didn't go anywhere. The first half tried desperately to explore ten (count 'em ten) characters with dialogue that could only occasionally be defined as truly funny. It wasn't until the caffeine (and better writing) set in that the play became almost exciting. Unfortunately, by the time the actors had something to play, it was almost time to go.

There were several acting bright spots that saved Coffee Break from being a complete downer.

Kristie Tincher who played the horn-rimmed, cleanliness-freak Vera was a scream. Her brand of physical comedy and explosive energy peppered the play with lively and sometimes compelling action. Cathy Katona was also impressive as the hyena-laughing, flirtacious Maureen whose caffeine-intake went directly to her hormones. Cathy was always connected and was especially fun to watch when others were saying their lines.

Also shining were Adam J. Roth who waded his way through stereotypical lines and created the facially and physically amusing, cigar-chomping character named Bud. Todd A. Groemling was also hilarious as the pony-tailed Officer Leary who was high on himself and his role as protector. Groemling's jittering and facial contortions were akin to the crazy Barney Fife.

The play itself had one moment of glory when Ralph (Mark F. Beliveau) tormented Vera by spitting coffee on the floor and beckoned her to clean it up. In the context of a better first half, this scene could have been terrifying. This should serve the playwright as a reminder of what makes for quality conflict. This scene set up some tension that carried the audience until the end.

Laughing at stereotypes

By ANTONIA MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

The Mission
Bowker Auditorium
Saturday March 10

Born out of improvisation, slapstick and close personal experience, the Culture Clash performance of "The Mission" on Saturday kept the audience in stiches as they bombarded them with a hilarious but poignant send up of Latino - Chicano stereotypes.

The comedy trio, Richard Montoya, Ricardo Salinas and Herbert Siguenza who wrote and performed the play set the mood at the start against the back drop of the early Spanish missions in California. Siguenza's portrayal of the self righteous and sadistic friar who allegedly committed the genocide of the Costoanian Indians was both funny and frightening as Salinas and Montoya pronounced him "a seriously bogus dude."

The trio never allowed the audience to stop laughing as Siguenza moved from there into a hilarious time travel rap, fed by peyote. Arriving at the home of three unsuccessful Latino comics in the Mission District of San Francisco, they emphasized that they had been forced to do stereotypes since the only people who could afford to pay for entertainment were white and even plays about Latinos had a stereotype prerequisite.

From there the trio ran into a series of skits as the comics auditioned for tacky commercials as a last resort, before deciding to audition for the CBS special on the canonization of Father Serra, featuring Julio Inglesias. Siguenza's brilliant impersonation of "the bastard son of that bastard Serra," and the groups decision to kidnap him from the CBS studios made for hilarious slapstick with serious ironic undertones. As he fell asleep in front of a show of their 'Chicano dogma' the parallel was drawn between Serra himself and the Spaniard with no idea about struggle of Latino-Chicanos.

In a discussion after the show, the group explained that they feel comedy and improvisation are their best medium for tackling the issue of stereotypes from all cultures and presenting a crossing over of cultures as successful as Spike Lee's "She's Gotta Have It." They were right.

Collegian photo by John Woo

Black Jack — Students helped raise over $ 8,500 for the Brain Tumor Society during last Thursday's Casino night. The event was presented by Campuses Against Cancer and the UMass Board of Governor's Program Council.

Mime fills 90 minutes of silence with language of the body

By NICK OSTIS
Collegian Correspondent

Robert Rivest, in a 90 minute, ten skit performance, introduced his latest mime show last week at Hampshire College. The culmination of a year long effort to mold a show which once and for all bears his own personal stamp, he embraced the profound and the ridiculous, the psychological and the lighthearted.

The success of a venture like Rivest's, rests on his ability to act or over act, to employ masterful body control and to be at least a casual but accurate observer of the human condition. And succeed it does, as he combines a dancer's strength, grace, balance and body control with the emotional range and believability of a schooled actor and the mime's ability to define space, sometimes isolating moving body parts in two of three different directions at once.

In the "Factory Worker" and "Rabbit Hunter," Rivest examines the psyches of two men in crises. The former is carefree when punching in or conversing with his mates, but loses himself in the repetitive drudgery of lifting and moving boxes. Rivest gradually speeds the movement of the worker until he is an automaton, boxed in by his predicament. When the adorable ball of fur with the pink eyes rubs against his leg, the rabbit hunter, wielding his cold steel rifle, must reexamine his motive. Will he ever hunt again after this close encounter?

Rivest treated the audience to a world premiere of "Creation/Evolution," which he condenses the history of all time into eight minutes. Using his undulating body, he treks through time as an unformed mass or batch of dust particles through air, wind and fire an on to higher life as an insect, snake, primate and early ancestors of man. He abruptly concludes with man walking upright as he does today. Discussing that ending in a post-performance reception with the audience, Rivest remarked that in terms of the evolutionary clock, human life is equivalent to about the last three seconds of a 24-hour-day.

The first half was commmendable, although in spots not fully realized. Not so of part two, which was enthralling and in the case of "The Ski Accident: His Version/Her Version," sidesplitting. A bragging blowhard recounts for his friend how he came to be on crutches. In the man's memory, he is a debonair, swashbuckling hot- dog with all the right moves who has suffered the indignity of a freak accident. However, his girlfriend recalls a nervous, bumbling oaf, an accident about to happen. Rivest's simulation of a day on the slopes is precious, physical comedy at its best.

His "Birdwatcher" becomes so attuned with the winged creature he views through his binoculars that he takes flight himself. "Slave Ship" depicts a shackled slave who offers his mate a drink of water, only to be beaten for it. The attempted generosity is stifled by their captor, whose barbarity causes the slave to die of thirst. Rather than meet the same ignominious fate, the surviving slave rises up and bashes the captor with his oar. The vindictive master beats him to death, but in the process the slave's spirit or soul is liberated. Finally he is free.

The presentation concludes with a whimsical, innocent vignette, "The Ice Cream Parlor," in which a young child, who can hardly see over the counter, overcomes one challenge after another, turning each potentially frustrating problem into a game.

One of the keys to Rivest's triumph in conveying these slices of life is his pliably emotive face (lightly made-up), throughout the show a perceptive mirror of the total human experience. During the show, not a word is spoken, not a note of music heard. I had my doubts. I don't have them anymore. The slender but deceptively muscular Rivest accomplished what I thought he could not: captivate the audience for 90 minutes.

ARE YOU CONCERNED ABOUT EATING PROBLEMS?
Anorexia Nervosa
Bulimia or
Compulsive Eating

If so, come find ways to help yourself or a friend.

Single Session

When: Thursdays, 5:30-6:30 p.m.
February 8 - May 11

Where: University Health Center,
Room 304

General information on eating disorders
Film
Information on resources and self help groups on and off campus.

10 week series
(Come to any one or all ten.)

When: Tuesdays, 4:00-5:00 p.m.
March 6 - May 1

Where: UMass Campus Center
Room 917

March 13 - Breaking the Binge/Purge Cycle
March 27 - Using Food Diaries
April 3 - Stress, Academic Pressures and Eating Behavior
April 10 - Exercise

Confidential and supportive atmosphere.

No Charge - No Registration - Just Drop-In

Programs Sponsored by University Health Services 549-2671 x 181.

AIM HIGH

HIGH-LEVEL CAREERS ARE LAUNCHED WITH AIR FORCE ROTC.
SOPHOMORES! TWO-YEAR FLYING SCHOLARSHIPS NOW AVAILABLE!

Flying a 15-ton jet is not for everyone. But for those who can meet the challenge, it's a thrill that no other career can offer.
How about you? If you're thinking about life at Mach 2, think about Air Force ROTC immediately. It will launch the leadership skills you'll need as an Air Force officer – skills that will serve you for a lifetime. FAA-approved flight lessons will get your feet off the ground for the first time.
Start now. Contact
AIR FORCE ROTC
413-545-2437
AIR FORCE ROTC
Leadership Excellence Starts Here

Wake-n-Bake
in beautiful
Negril, Jamaica
Hot days & Reggae nights
Travel with the best-
Call Sunsplash Tours
1-800-426-7710
Spring Break Week
starting at $469.00

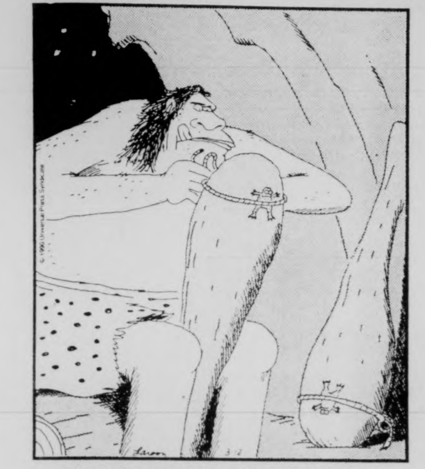
This Is No Way To Take Your LSAT

If you've set your sights on law school, there's no better LSAT preparation than Stanley H. Kaplan.
Our LSAT prep course will open your eyes with score-raising strategies and techniques. We'll help you master everything from Analytical Reasoning to Reading Comprehension.
Our classes are live – and lively. All our class and study material is based on the "new" LSAT. And you can review lessons, and get additional help as needed in our TEST-n-TAPE® lab, open days, evenings and weekends for your convenience.
Visit our Center today and see for yourself.
And watch the scales tip in your favor.
STANLEY H. KAPLAN
Take Kaplan Or Take Your Chances

Classes begin March 5-April 11
in Amherst, Springfield
& at Smith College
549-5780

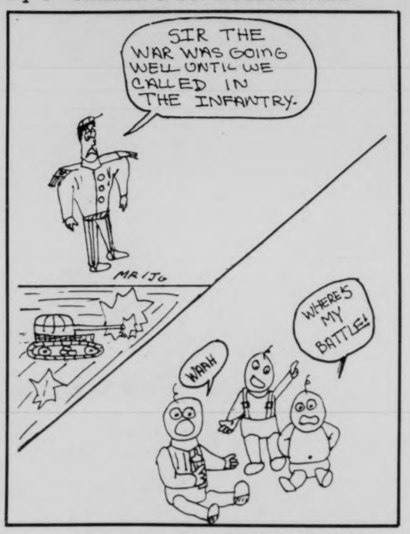
For other locations call 800-KAP-TEST

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



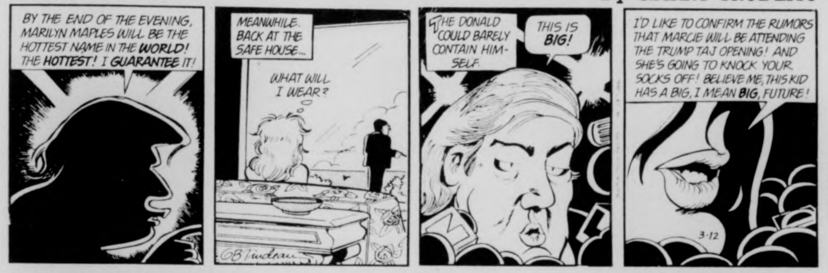
The night before the hunt, Neanderthals would carefully prepare their weaponry — often employing the help of the deadly club-poison frogs.

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



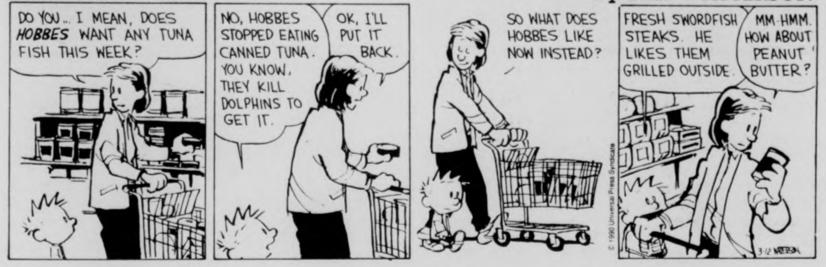
SIR THE WAR WAS GOING WELL UNTIL WE CALLED IN THE INFANTRY.
WHERE'S MY BATTLE!
WAAH

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



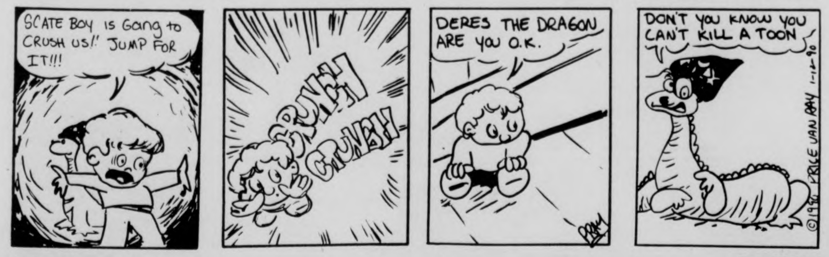
BY THE END OF THE EVENING, MARILYN MAPLES WILL BE THE HOTTEST NAME IN THE WORLD! THE HOTTEST! I GUARANTEE IT!
MEANWHILE, BACK AT THE SAFE HOUSE...
WHAT WILL I WEAR?
THE DONALD COULD BARELY CONTAIN HIMSELF.
THIS IS BIG!
I'D LIKE TO CONFIRM THE RUMORS THAT MARCIE WILL BE ATTENDING THE TRUMP TAJ OPENING! AND SHE'S GOING TO KNOCK YOUR SOCKS OFF! BELIEVE ME, THIS KID HAS A BIG, I MEAN BIG, FUTURE!

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



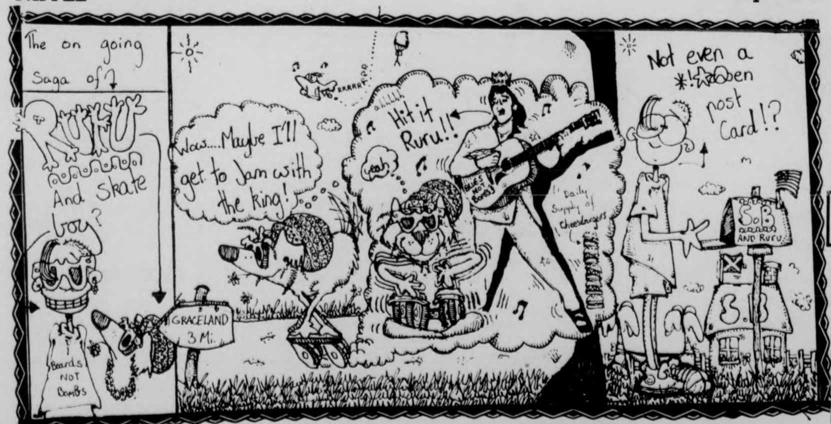
DO YOU... I MEAN, DOES HOBBES WANT ANY TUNA FISH THIS WEEK?
NO, HOBBES STOPPED EATING CANNED TUNA. YOU KNOW, THEY KILL DOLPHINS TO GET IT.
OK, I'LL PUT IT BACK.
SO WHAT DOES HOBBES LIKE NOW INSTEAD?
FRESH SWORDFISH STEAKS. HE LIKES THEM GRILLED OUTSIDE.
MM-HMM. HOW ABOUT PEANUT BUTTER?

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



SCATE BOY IS Gang to CRUSH US!! JUMP FOR IT!!!
CRUNCH CRUNCH
DERES THE DRAGON ARE YOU O.K.
DON'T YOU KNOW YOU CAN'T KILL A TOON
©1990 PRICE VAN RAY 1-12-90

NIPPLE
By PITT



DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

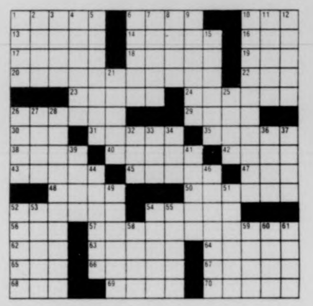
ACROSS
1 Rear
6 — to (takes care of)
10 Command to Dobbin
13 Comic Fred
14 Less unruly
16 Fled
17 Blanched
18 Greet the day
19 "Bright — button"
20 Brother's wife
22 Snood
23 They are often split
24 Word with East, West or America
26 Declare
29 Author Ambler
30 Iota
31 Actor George
35 Namesakes of a nymph
38 Items on tap
40 Heroic tales
42 It has a string attached?
43 Cowboy, at times
45 Arboreal primate
47 Chaney
48 Come together
50 Repaired
52 Wall Street figure
54 Inner contentment
56 Ignited
57 Aunt's child
62 Alas, in Mainz
63 WW II craft
64 Incensed
65 Last letter
66 Singer Reese
67 Theater areas
68 Miscalculate
69 Actress Sylvia
70 Stable sound

DOWN
1 Knocks
2 USSR range
3 Misfortunes
4 Fume
5 Makes beloved
6 Flight of steps
7 Merits
8 Jannings or Ludwig
9 Street or seed
10 Offspring's offspring
11 Atelier support
12 Growing outward
15 Fix an electrical device
21 Ceremonies
25 A Smothers brother
26 Slightly open
27 Fly without an instructor
28 Dad's second wife
32 "Sleepy Time —"
33 Stone or Iron
34 Take it on the —
36 Western Indian
37 Transmit
39 Look for
41 Poison ivy's cousin
44 Shortened a sail
46 Flinches
49 Erie and Huron
51 Nerve cell
52 Paul Newman film: 1989
53 Kitchen utensil
54 Biblical song
55 Miss Kett and others
58 —-poly
59 Kind of palm
60 Chariot's way
61 Aviary residence

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

B	C	D	■	■	A	P	S	E	■	■	O	S	L	O
A	L	E	E	■	G	R	O	V	E	■	S	M	O	G
L	A	N	D	■	R	O	L	E	S	■	S	A	M	S
L	I	V	E	N	O	T	O	N	E	V	I	L	■	■
A	R	E	N	A	■	E	S	S	■	E	E	L	E	R
D	E	R	■	R	E	S	■	U	S	R	■	E	T	O
■	■	■	B	R	A	T	■	P	A	S	A	S	A	P
U	N	S	E	A	T	■	■	■	P	E	S	T	L	E
R	O	T	A	T	O	R	■	C	O	M	E	■	■	■
I	S	R	■	O	N	E	■	O	R	E	■	B	A	N
S	H	E	A	R	■	S	M	U	■	N	A	I	V	E
■	■	W	A	S	I	T	A	R	A	T	I	S	A	W
P	A	I	R	■	N	O	D	A	L	■	D	E	L	E
A	R	N	O	■	D	R	A	G	O	■	E	C	O	L
S	I	G	N	■	■	E	M	E	U	■	■	T	N	S

3/12/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

3/12/90

MENU

LUNCH
Meatball Grinder
Monte Christo Wich

DINNER
Fried Chicken
Pan Shish Ka

BASICS LUNCH
Turkey & Swisswich
Falafel Pocket

BASICS DINNER
Polynesian Veggie & Tofu
Fried Chicken

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANNE DIXON

ARIES (March 1-April 19): A piece of a puzzle is still missing. Check your date book and you may find a clue. Someone close to you continues to cause difficulties. Your sense of humor helps saves the day.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Take advantage of a golden opportunity to form a new partnership or expand your present operation. Valuable seed money is available. Someone massages your ego. Take any flattery with a grain of salt.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You can accomplish almost anything you set out to do today. A partnership or other close relationship becomes more upbeat. Issues you have not had the courage to address can be discussed with ease.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A fresh beginning can be positive and lucky. Go after the new contracts or clients you need. Long hours begin to pay off. A new relationship awakens strong romantic feelings. Slow down!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Seek the advice of a financial counselor if trying to unravel complicated monetary transactions. A loved one has a lot to discuss with you. Find a tactful way to lend your support.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Welcome a resurgence of energy. A feeling of well-being prevails. Focus your attention on a cherished goal.- no obstacle can stop you now! Ulterior motives may be behind an offer of help.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Show your willingness to expand your horizons. A financial offer could be better than it sounds. Postpone making a financial decision until more figures are available. Resist unreasonable demands.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A romantic triumph has you walking on air. Those in authority will quickly bring you down to earth if you do not complete work assignments on time. Fulfil your obligations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Put a job hunt on hold. A loan will help you deal with a temporary financial bind. Make a business compromise; seek experts' help. Do not get overly anxious - things will fall into place.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): An assertive approach will help you open doors faster. Be strict with yourself. Staying on schedule will allow you to achieve the results you seek. A romantic situation remains uncertain.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Take stock of your assets and consult financial experts when planning for the future. Avoid making tricky arrangements. Devote more time to self-analysis. Seek peaceful surroundings.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Curb a tendency to find fault. Keep your eyes open for fresh opportunities and ideas. A personal crusade could be highlighted this afternoon. A new relationship makes you rethink a romantic commitment.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor..........George Austin
Copy Editor..........Rory Evans
Layout Technician..........Rick Seto
Photo Technician..........Joel Solomon
Production Supervisor......Michelle Gemme
Typesetter..........Arnold Salvati
Production..........Rick Seto, Nessa Richman, Steve Fadden, Mike Scott WareWolf

Former Air Force sergeant blasts military intelligence

By MICHAEL LINSKEY
Collegian Correspondent

Last Thursday night, Hampshire College hosted a talk by Daniel Cobos, a former sergeant in the United States Air Force. Cobos, who served in Central America as a Spanish cryptological linguist - a soldier who intercepts Spanish secret codes and translates them to English - from 1983 to 1987, spoke candidly about his aversion to his job and his subsequent departure from the military. Cobos began his speech by recalling his attendance at a benefit dance held in Omaha, Nebraska to aid people in Central America. There, Cobos met and befriended an El Salvadoran man who confided to Cobos that he had fled his homeland because he had been targeted by death squads for his involvement with student unions there. His friend's stories of the atrocities committed by the death squads were indelibly stamped on the brain of a horrified Cobos, who learned days later that he was to be sent to Panama to collect secret intelligence for the CIA and Nicaraguan Contras attempting to overthrow their government, Cobos said.

Cobos said that he was stricken by the destitution he saw in Central America. While he had personally sympathized with the plight of the common people, it soon became evident that he was in the minority among his fellow servicemen, he said. Cobos said, "We were listening to death counts from some of the action that was taking place [in Nicaragua]... My co-workers thought it was really funny. They were referring to [the Contras] as 'Third World Idiots.' These were people we were supporting, so it was like, 'This is the way you feel about the people who are supposed to be bringing democracy to this part of the world?' I just couldn't believe their blatant racism."

Shaken by the conditions he was witnessing, Cobos returned to the U.S. and attended another Central American benefit in Omaha. There, he was reunited with his curious El Salvadoran friend, who asked Cobos where he had been. When Cobos said that he had been in the U.S. military in Central America, his friend gasped, "So you're the one who has been bombing my country!"

These two incidents helped Cobos to realize that he could no longer stand idly by, allowing himself to be used as a pawn by his own government, he said. Thus, on May 5, 1987, Daniel Cobos applied for Conscientious Objector (CO) status, which would essentially pave the way for his discharge from the Air Force.

Yet, peace of mind was not meant to be for Daniel Cobos. "Eventually," he said, "[my story] came out in the press, which was very upsetting to the Air Force...My commander called me into his office and told me that I had been placed under investigation and I was facing charges [of espionage and treason]," After nine interminably long months, though, the Air Force realized that they didn't have sufficient evidence to charge Cobos with any crimes, and he was honorably discharged in November of 1987.

Jane California Cooper reads from her work

By RIC OLIVEINS
Collegian Correspondent

She started off with "swimming to the top of the rain." In a Southern accent in the form of a language she called "Common talk" Jane California Cooper spoke.

"You don't go to the rain, the rain comes to you, unexpected. And if the rain keeps coming down you have to swim right up it, and look above those black clouds and see the beautiful sun shining down."

Jane Cooper read her works to a group of about 50 people. She wore a plain yellow dress with spring-like flowers of green and white scattered across it. She said she did this so as to be able to represent the characters without distractions. The crowd was diverse and very appreciative of her writing ability. After every story, she received a long loud applause. Cooper told her stories as if possessed by every character. She changed voices and tones.

In her second story "$100 Out of Nothing," she delved into an unhappy marriage situation. In her last story the watcher was from the point of view of a woman who monitors her neighborhood for sinners. "I don't fear nothing but God and white folks. God is the boss, and the white folks run this world. And they do not know what they is doing." This character ends up losing more than she ever imagined would befall the sinners whom she gossiped and disturbed.

Jane Cooper was born in Berkeley in California. She never attended College and feels she "coulda saved 15 years of my life if I had known there were people out there who liked her writing." After her readings she went on to talk about the world. She stressed that she felt the most important lesson one should know was that everyone "should build their own world and not depend on others to build it for them."

Cuba-U.S. discussed

Historian analyzes relations

By JARED KELLEHER
Collegian Correspondent

The facility of contact and the ease of travel allowed for United States involvement in the Island of Cuba according to the renowned author and historian at the University of South Florida, Dr. Louis Perez.

In a talk sponsored by the Latin American Studies Program at the University of Massachusetts, Perez addressed a small group of students in Machmer Hall about the history of Cuba-U.S. relations last Thursday.

Perez explained how in the late 19th and early 20th century, Cuba realized that its future was to be linked to the U.S., and that they developed a "taste for northern attire and looked at the U.S. with awe and admiration."

Conversely, Americans found Cuba to be of utmost importance. As Perez said, "A golden ghetto" for the American corporations and tourism.

In the 1920's, with prohibition tormenting many Americans, Cuba was a haven for organized tourism. "A place of exotic promiscuity, where conscience takes a holiday to quench U.S. thirst" Perez said.

Moreover, he maintained that U.S. corporations in the sugar plantations engulfed the land, the people, the politics and the economic future of Cuba. "Hegemony," Perez said, "assumes many forms, humanity is one of them. They (the corporations) became states within states. They developed into privileged enclaves: corporate entities dominating the land."

The overriding reality in the 20th century was that the cleavage of Cuban society corresponded to race. While U.S. business exploited Cubans in their homeland, Cubans simultaneously were being discriminated against in the U.S. Derogatory name calling like "Cuban nigger and spic" Perez said, were common place.

Cuba-U.S. relations is not, however, something of the past. The foray of recent international events can attest to that. "The events of the past six months should humble anyone in terms of predictions. But we are now in the latest round of Cuba bashing" Perez said.

■ chancellor's medal

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

claims to non-European ethnicity is expected for 1990, he said.

This was the "patchwork quilt" age. Chametzky deemed this "too static an image" for the "dynamic" cultural activity of the United States.

He also challenged Kallen's symphony metaphor (all ethnicities are instruments. Each creates its distinct and beautiful sound in the universal orchestra) Here Chametzky asked, "If we are playing a symphony, is there a conductor? Who wrote the score?" And, he added, "Will the brass section not drown out the piccolo?"

There was a late seventies/early eighties backlash to the era of ethnic pride. "The era of "Kiss me, I'm Irish" and "Ukranian is Beautiful" bumberstickers was gone," Chametzky said. Progenitor of this idea, Nathan Glazier, found that the common culture of America became more important than the factors that separate.

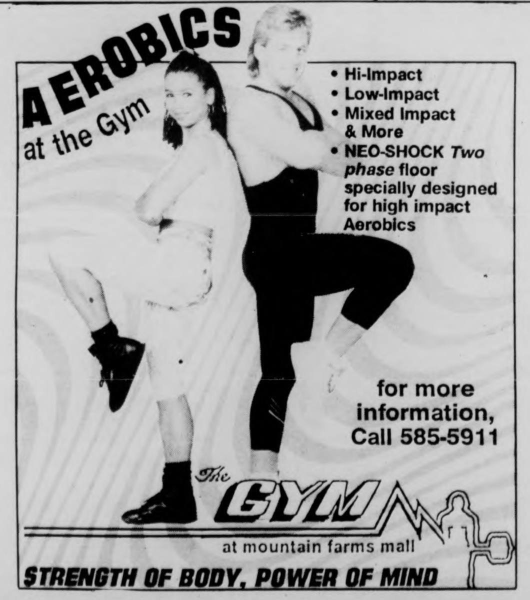
Chametzky challenged the idea that a polarity exists between cultural pluralism and assimilation saying there was a commonality between the two. Both are groping for an "empirical reality of American diversity."

"The self, our selves are always in the process of constructing or deconstructing our identities" Chametzky said. And the nineties, or the "brilliant mosaic" age, will be full of change in cultural identity and awareness.

Chametzky brought in some modern, however fictional, examples of ethnic assimilation. Superman, he said, was the "superethnic" coming to Earth, adopting its culture and working for betterment of that culture. He commended the television series "Alien Nation" for its treatment of barriers not only between nationalities (and Galexalities?) but gender as well.

And then there is Alf. Alf, Chametzky said, has that "post-modern hip awareness that we are all a little alien."

Recycle cans here



AEROBICS at the Gym
• Hi-Impact
• Low-Impact
• Mixed Impact & More
• NEO-SHOCK Two phase floor specially designed for high impact Aerobics
for more information, Call 585-5911
The GYM at mountain farms mall
STRENGTH OF BODY, POWER OF MIND

CELEBRATE
SPRING BREAK '90
IN FT. LAUDERDALE AT
SUMMERS on the beach
FT. LAUDERDALE'S PREMIERE CONCERT AND DANCE CLUB
18 YEARS AND OLDER ADMITTED
10 A.M. to 6 P.M. POOLSIDE PARTIES
LIVE D.J. EMCEEING POOLSIDE CONTEST • WATER VOLLEYBALL TOURNAMENT • FREE T-SHIRT RELAYS • THE BELLYFLOP CONTEST AND CLIMAX THE DAY WITH . . . THE WETTEST, WET T-SHIRT CONTEST FEATURED IN PLAYBOY MAGAZINE • CASH PRIZES • FREE T-SHIRTS AND OTHER GIVEAWAYS SUMMER GAMES VIDEO NOW ON SALE AS SEEN ON CABLE T.V.
7 P.M. to 8 P.M.
COLLEGE HAPPY HOUR
U MASSACHUSETTES PARTY * MON., MARCH 19
FREE SPRING BREAK '90 T-SHIRT WITH PAID ADMISSION FOR ABOVE COLLEGE STUDENTS BETWEEN 7 AND 8 P.M. WITH PROPER COLLEGE I.D.
ALL BAR DRINKS AND DRAFT BEER 75¢
COMPETE IN CONTESTS FOR PRIZES!
EVENINGS
SUMMERS ON THE BEACH PRESENTS . . . FURY
FT. LAUDERDALE'S FINEST ROCK 'N ROLL BAND
NIGHTLY PLAYING THE BEST DANCE MUSIC . . .
PLUS 6 BARS TO SERVE YOU!
CLIP & SAVE -- CLIP & SAVE
U MASSACHUSETTES PARTY * MON., MARCH 19
ONE FREE BAR DRINK OR DRAFT OR SOFT DRINK
GOOD FROM 7-8 P.M. NIGHTLY
(LIMIT ONE PER CUSTOMER)
Summers on the Beach • 219 S. Atlantic Blvd. • Ft. Lauderdale, FL • (305) 462-8978
(LOCATED 1/2 BLOCK NORTH OF LAS OLAS BLVD. ON A1A)
ADMISSION POLICY: 18 YEARS OR OLDER WELCOME
SPRING BREAK '90

EUROPE by CAR
RENT or BUY
LOWEST PRICES
FOR STUDENTS, TEACHERS
EUROPE BY CAR
One Rockefeller Plaza
New York, NY 10020
Phone (212) 581-3040
Mail this ad for Special Student/Teacher Tariff.
☐ RENTAL ☐ LEASE ☐ PURCHASE

Auto Glass Center
American & Foreign
• SAME DAY SERVICE
• BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE COMPANY
• WINDSHIELDS REPLACED
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd.
North Amherst, MA
549-2880
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

■ Minutemen get welcome home

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

"They improved a lot," said Marwin Alicea, a business graduate student. He attended the rally "to give them support."

Jonathan Mack, a senior finance major, said: "they did us proud."

Chancellor Duffey, who planned the event, said: "That team is on of the better things that's been happening in the Commonwealth.

"They have really meant a great deal to this campus because of what they've been through this season," he said.

He also lauded the players for the team's cumulative grade point average: 2.7.

The Minutemen's playing days aren't over, however. They will play in the National Invitational Tournament, facing the University of Maryland Thursday in College Park, Md.

The Minutemen currently have a 17-13 record. It is the team's first .500 finish in 11 years.

* * *

House Council fans: Minutemen fans in Gorman residence hall whooped it up Thursday night as a result of careful planning by their House Council, which provided food, a big-screen TV fully-equipped with cable, and a raffle with a prize of $20.

■ women's gymnastics

house on their best event, the balance beam. Marshall, wanting to enjoy first place like her teammates, cranked out a 9.6 of her own to shine at the top. Pushing each other to their limits it seemed, Turmail, right on Marshall's heels, hit a 9.55 to take second. Adrenaline pumping from her 9.5, Baxter rolled on to post a 9.4 for third.

The Minutewomen, leading 139-131.45, could have finished the rest of this meet with their eyes closed if they had to. Turmail led the way again as she tallied a score of 9.55 on the Minutewomen's last event, the floor exercise. Baxter, going out of what would be her and fellow teammate Lynne Morris' last meet in front of the home fans (besides the A-10 Championships, Mar. 24, Curry Hicks Cage) in style, gave it all she had to produce a spectacular 9.5 performance.

"We had an excellent meet," assistant coach Letitia Selk said. "Nothing is secure though as for the regionals until after the A-10's. The girls are getting a little bit tired, but we must remain focused."

Getting closer and closer to their ultimate goal of attending the Northeast Regionals at Ohio State, the Minutewomen's 185.45 will certainly help in securing their current ranking of third in the Northeast. To stay atop of the heap, the Minutewomen must get through next week's dual meet against Temple University and Northeastern University.

"Northeastern should be out for revenge after we beat them earlier this season." Baxter said.

Oh, no . . . it's back!!!

Hoop contest on tap again

We here at the Collegian sports department were sitting around recently, trying to figure out just how we were going to spend our Spring Break.

Since our weekly pay would probably only get us bus fare to Holyoke (as long as it isn't on Greyhound), chances are it will be a boring week's vacation.

Fortunately, the last three years we have discovered something to provide us a refuge from those things we dread during our time off — such as sleep, relaxation, etc.

Ergo, the Fourth Annual "We Have Nothing Better to Do Over Spring Break than to Count These Stupid NCAA Hoop Contest Entries" Contest.

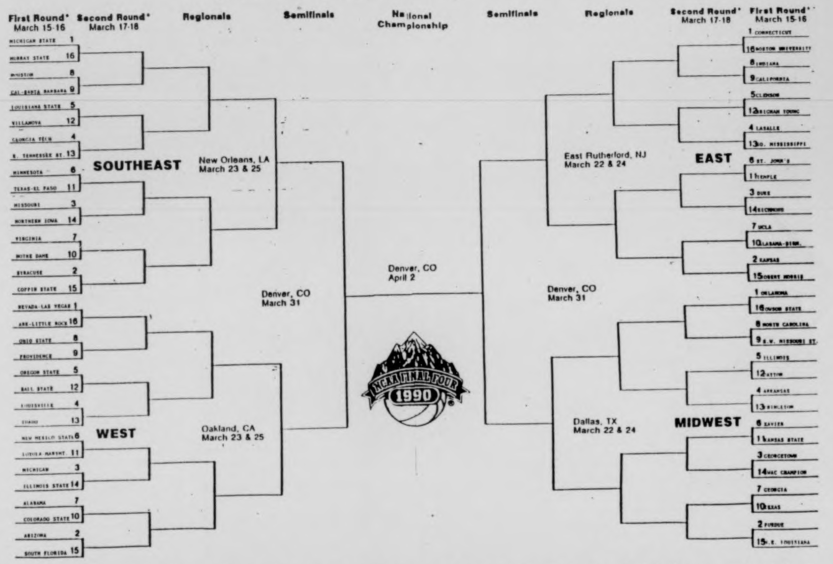
Or for short, HoopContest IV (just like Bud Bowl and Rocky).

The rules are simple. Provided at right is the NCAA Tournament Bracket — as best as we could do at deadline (if you think the Southwest Conference winner can beat Georgetown . . . then again, everyone said the same last year about Princeton).

All you have to do is fill the form out and turn it in before the tournament starts. For fairness, let's set deadline at 11 a.m. Thursday (first games at 12:07 Thursday). Any forms turned in late will be discarded. Honest.

Remember to pick a winner; that's important, unless you don't want to win. To make things easy, list the two finalists above and below the center line, and circle the winner.

Finally, there will be prizes. We don't know what yet, but we'll know soon. As for the scoring breakdown (a headache in the past), that will be decided before Thursday, as well.



Here it is — our fourth annual attempt at entertaining you during March Madness and giving you something to think about besides sun and fun during Spring Break (yeah, right). Just fill it out (if you can read it; we'll try to run it bigger tomorrow — sorry) and turn it in by 11 a.m. Thursday. Prizes and scoring to be announced at a later time. Have fun.

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE. 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

AM I AFRAID to care for my AIDS patient?
AIDS Conference
Campus Center Auditorium
March 14 from 8:30-4:30 PM

ATTENTION PRO-CHOICERS: Organizational meeting for May first Boston Commons Student Walkout for choice tonight room and time will be posted in CC Info Desk

CAPE VERDEAN ALLIANCE Meeting Monday Mar. 12 at 7 PM in the Suffolk Room Student Union info about Cape Verdean Awareness

MODEL UNITED NATIONS MEETING
Tonight 7:00 PM Sharp
in Dukes Room in Student Union
More info call Jill 6-4006

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

HISTORIANS HONOR SOCIETY accepting applications Herter 608 Req. 12 credits History 3.1+, 3.0 in 2/3 others. Deadline March 16.

HOLOCAUST MEMORIAL COMMITTEE is taking submissions for arts publication: poetry, prose, photos, artwork. Due March 30 in Hillel office.

START YOUR OWN BUSINESS! Easy! Vending carts (hotdogs, soda, etc...) Build, Licensing & operation. Complete step by step instructions. $9.95 to Bissett Enterprises 156B St. George St. Duxbury, MA 02332 or call (617) 934-5971

WIN A HAWAIIAN VACATION or big screen TV plus raise up to $1400 in just 10 days!!!
Objective: Fundraiser
Commitment: Minimal
Money: Raise $1400
Cost: Zero Investment
Campus organizations, club, frats, sororities call OCMC: 1-800-932-0528 / 1-800-950-8472, Ext. 10

APARTMENT SPECIAL

A LIMITED TIME ONLY, Northwood Apts. is offering a 2 Bdr. apt. for the price of a 1 Bdr. For more information on this special offer, please call Lanice at 665-3856. Rent an apt. for March and receive $100.00 off our first months rent. We have student short term leases and free bus service every 15 minutes on weekdays to UMASS and Amherst. (Available to new residents only)

AUTO FOR SALE

1979 VW SCIROCCO - A/C, Pirellis, Many new parts. Very good condition in and out. $700. Call Joe, 1-535-1549.

1980 CHEVY MALIBU A/C, Cass, Runs excellent, No rust, $2000 OBO 665-7927

1986 HONDA CIVIC FOR SALE. $3500 Exc. condition. 546-6831

PURCHASING A USED CAR? Having your car repaired? Do you know your rights? Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

HOTEL / RESORT / F & B / MANAGEMENT Don't limit yourself to those few companies that recruit On Campus. Explore all your possibilities. Call (508) 943-8807

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club Today! Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR RENT

GOING AWAY FOR BREAK? Nonsmoking male needs a place to live as dorms are closed 546-4309

ROOM FOR RENT Large room in nice house 250/mo & 1st,last & sec. 253-9104 or 256-8109

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR SALE

AMPLIFIER EG 60 WATTS Hardly used Call Joe 549-4146 $135

FOR SALE: IBM Proprinter II like new $275 259-1786

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS MaryKay Cosmetics at wholesale Call Alison 253-2462

HEY! I've got two NCAA Tourney Tickets for Hartford, March 15 asking for $40 for ticket and ride there. Call John 549-5936

IBM PORTABLE PC w/printer & printer adaptor. Call Bob 546-9619- $1150/or B.O.

ROUND TRIP TICKET to California 230 or B/O Call 586-8152 before 10 PM

VARIOUS STUFF, multifunction TOA/KD3 amp system, 5-band EQ, 4 stereo inputs etc, $350; Hewlitt Packard 28C calculator, $75; Quik-lok keyboard stand, $40; 2 pairs of 7X50 Bushnell binoculars, $25 each. Talk to Dave, 253-2535

WOMEN'S CHIC, petite, lightweight, leather jacket. Cinched waist, broad shoulder pads. Only worn once. $75 or best offer. Call Chris 253-2357.

FOUND

LADIES' GRUEN QUARTZ WATCH
Near Franklin D.C. 3/6
Call 6-9881 to identify

HELP WANTED

EARN $300 TO $500 per week.
Reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B281

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SUMMER COUNSELORS
Outstanding NYS Co-ed
Resident Camp
Specialist/General
Gail 549-1331

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

LOST

LOST BLACK SPORT COAT at Thur. Semi-formal in CC Please call 6-4708 evening

MALE RIMLESS EYEGLASSES w/brown case. It's my only pair!
Please contact 546-9048

NICK AND ALAN

COFFEE BREAK was a beautiful thing! We're proud of you guys. Love, Jess and Dina.

PERSONALS

AMY CHERVIN Happy 21 B-Day! Party hard Love your roomies, Marci, Julie, Cidgem, & Gus.

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND Mike Weise is available for your sexual needs. Call 1-800-LUV-SHACK for details! Hope you had a great birthday!

HAPPY BELATED BIRTHDAY to: Cat, Kim, Beth,
Coutter, Susan, and Squat!
Love, The Sisters
and Pledges of
Sigma Kappa!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY Shnooglepuss!!
I Love You!

HEATHER SOUSA! Yes you! Thanks for being such a good friend. You make my anxiety much more fun! Love, Kelly

HEY MARTA! I don't have an apple-so here's a personal for the teacher. Thanks for listening. Love, Kelly

JOYCE: Okay, call me a stupidhead! I'm late as usual. Happy Birthday anyway. Love, Sue. P.S.: Isn't it in October??

STEVEN L. Happy one year anniversary hon! Thank you for all the love & support you have given me. Love you always. Michelle

SUSAN MURRAY! Happy 21 B-Day! You finally caught up to me! Love, Tara

THANKS, RAY!! You have the undying gratitude of a redhead and her brown Celica! Sorry about your hand! -Kathleen

TO MY SUPREME RULER, You've got me babe and I've got you Dave. Happy Anniversary I Love You - A whole bunch
Love, Your Girlfriend (Who's always right)

TO THE GUY WEARING Camaflouge pants and looking for political economy of slavery at Tower Reserve. Come by to say Hi.

PIZZA

COLLEGE PIZZA
SPRING SPECIAL
small cheese $3.50
large cheese $5.99
2 additional toppings
ONLY $1 more
GOOD only Sun-Thurs
!Must Mention This Ad!

RIDE WANTED

RETURNING TO UMASS from Maine after Spring Break. Will share $. Call Nicky, 546-4869.

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

LOOKING FOR FEMALE for 2 bedroom Apt in Southwood Apts., Sunny, next to bus stop, fully equipped kitchen, 1½ bathrooms, new carpet, great place, more info call 546-7354

TWO BEDROOMS IN A great old house in North Leverett. Beautiful area in the hills. $205, Free heat. 367-9861

SERVICES

HAIRCUTS ONLY $5.00 Four years experience No razor Call Brenda 546-9103

MAXIGRAPHICS - Super enlargements- B&W and Color
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

RESUMES! I will do your resumes for $10 to $30 less than the local print shops! Call me evenings! Rick 586-1642

 RESUME TYPESETTING *****
2 yrs. experience. Lowest rates. Professional results guaranteed.
Scott 586-5822

SUMMER RENTALS

CAPE COD
2 bedrooms in house near Seagull Beach in Yarmouth-$2000 per room-can fit up to 4 per room-females-call Bill at 549-3831 between 5:30 and 6:00 weeknights

THE BROOK
Furnished, air conditioned, swimming pool, bus route 253-0754

TRAVEL

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

NEED A RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Spring Break Special
$15 One way fare
to Bradley Airport
Call Now!
Limited Seating
Valley Transporter
256-8484

ROUNDTRIP LOGAN TO PALM BEACH 3/18-23. $175 or BO Call 549-0892

ROUNDTRIP TO TAMPA, FLA
Only $95
Leaving March 15..To 26th.
For info 6-6746

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING.
$1.75/pg. Campus pickup.
Gloria, 323-5140.

FAST ACCURATE TYPING
Spell check $1.75/pg
Call Ashley at 546-6756

TYPING WORD PROCESSING, Dissertations, Reports, Resumes Laser printing 259-1786

WORDPERFECT, LETTER-QUALITY Print, Spellcheck, Fast. Call Tim 549-0546.

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

DEAD TICKETS! Any Albany shows! Please Help! Steve D. 549-2833

DO YOU HAVE an extra Jesus & Mary Chain ticket? We want it! Please call 546-8811 or 8849!!!

SPORTS

(N)ext (I)n line for UMass: (T)errapins

Minutemen get postseason bid, face Maryland Thursday

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

About 10 minutes earlier, the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team had just been beating by Temple University at McGonigle Hall, thus eliminating the possibility of making the NCAA Tournament.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

UMass coach John Calipari, shown here at Friday's rally, badly wanted an NIT bid for his team. He got it, against Maryland on Thursday at College Park, Md.

UMass coach John Calipari, his team's fate seriously in doubt, stood at the front of the gathered media at the postgame press conference and put in a plea for his team.

"We're going to the [National Invitational Tournament] — hopefully," Calipari said, before adding, "Is anybody here from the NIT? Please take us."

Maybe the walls had ears, or someone of influence was there. In essence, it probably didn't matter. Last night, it was learned, Calipari was granted his wish.

For the first time since 1977, UMass is NIT-bound.

The Minutemen, 17-13 and runners-up in the Atlantic 10 Conference, travel to College Park, Md. Thursday for a meeting with the University of Maryland. Game time was not set at deadline.

Maryland was a team that many thought may make the NCAA Tournament field of 64, which was also announced yesterday. However, the Terrapins were hit last week with penalties for violations committed two years ago under former coach Bob Wade, which may have been a factor in the decision.

Maryland was 18-13 this season while playing in the Atlantic Coast Conference. They bowed out of the ACC Tournament in the quarterfinal round last week, losing to Duke.

For UMass, this will be the seventh trip to the NIT Tournament. It has posted a record of 2-6, beating Seton Hall in '77 and Missouri in '73.

Calipari could not be reached last night for comment on his team's latest tournament chances.

But for the Cinderella Minutemen, the season did not end at McGonigle Hall last Thursday night.

NIT Notes: UMass is one of three teams from the Atlantic 10 in the 32-team NIT field. Penn State, which at 21-8 was hoping for an NCAA bid, instead gets a home game against Marquette on Thursday. Rutgers meanwhile, was pulling for NIT and got it. The Scarlet Knights host Holy Cross, also on Thursday.

Minutemen return to a warm welcome

By MARIA SACCHETTI
Collegian Staff

More than 300 basketball fans ranging from elementary school children to students and administrators turned out Friday for an hour-long rally at the Curry Hicks Cage to welcome home the men's basketball team.

The Minutemen, who lost their bid for the NCAA tournament Thursday in the finals for the Atlantic 10 Conference tournament against Temple University, were cheered for their efforts as they were introduced by coach John Calipari.

The players and Calipari were dressed in white, blue and green warm-up suits and held court like celebrities. They signed autographs and posed for pictures with fans.

"I'm just excited that they showed the kind of support they did," said Calipari, who is in his second year as coach. "They've been great fans."

"The support's great," said Cary Herer, a senior guard for the Minutemen majoring in sports management. "It's good to see everyone is supporting us even though we didn't win."

Arija Maynard, a freshman business major from Ann Arbor, MI, attended the rally to get a glimpse of the players, whom she called "celebrities."

"They're famous," she said. "Even though they lost, it was such a great game. They're great."

Several students said they were impressed by the great strides the Minutemen have made in the past year.

Gymnasts do it with style this weekend

• Women set another record to beat UVM

By CHRIS MIRACLE
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's gymnastics team continues to do the right thing as the Minutewomen (11-2) proved by defeating the University of Vermont 185.45-174.20 this past weekend in their final regular season home meet.

Leading the Minutewomen to another team total school record (185.45), Kristin Turmail displayed a peak performance as she broke her previous individual and UMass school record of 37.70 set in January, posting a lofty score of 38.05.

"Kristin put it all together," UMass coach Alfie Mitchell said. "She went 4-for-4 in all of her events."

Confident of winning the meet from the start, the Minutewomen never had to look back on the Catamounts. On their first event, the vault, Turmail began her day's tantalizing tyrade, posting a 9.65 to take the top spot. Following close behind, Tammy Marshall's 9.5 earned her a second place finish. The only threat from the Catamounts would be Brooke Taft's third place 9.25.

"The girls have really been pulling together,"Mitchell said."It was a total team performance."

Continuing to turn up the heat, the Minutewomen never let up as they went to work on another school record, a 45.9 on the uneven bars. After a poor performance on the vault, Erika Baxter went gangbusters, scoring a 9.5 for first place, enroute to a career high performance of 37.1 in the all-arounds. Turmail's 9.3 and Erin Klier's 9.15 placed them second and third,respectively. UVM's Laura Sperry's 8.75 would be the closest to come as the Catamounts failed to break the 9.0 mark.

"I had trouble on the vault because I'm trying a new routine," Baxter said. "My goal has always been to break 37."

Up 91.85-87.75 after two events, knowing they had a shot at another team record, the Minutewomen dug deep and went

SSACHUSETTS GY

Collegian photo by Eric Goldman

The women's gymnastics team established a new team record for points in beating the University of Vermont Saturday at the Boyden Gymnastics Center.

• Minutemen roll to win at New Englands

By JASON GEORGE
Collegian Staff

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Although the University of Massachusetts men's gymnastics team took a positive step in winning the New England championship meet on Saturday, the Minutemen aren't ready to call their season a success yet.

UMass scored 260.95 points, with runner-up Springfield College tallying 255.50. Vermont took third, scoring a team-record 218.20 points.

"We're improving a little," senior co-captain John Eggers said. "It's kind of late [in the season], but better now than never.

"Our attitude is a little better — in the gym, we're still lacking enthusiasm in our training," continued Eggers. "If we're lacking it [enthusiasm] in the gym, we'll be lacking it in meets."

Southern Connecticut junior Hector Salazar dominated the individual competition, outscoring all other individuals with a 56.00 in all-around competition. Salazar is a member of the Peruvian National gymnastics team and competed in the 1987 World Championships in Rotterdam, Holland.

UMass freshman Steve Christensen took second with a score of 53.2, while senior co-captain Bart Balocki was fourth (51.05). Junior Dave Dinucci rounded out the top individuals, taking sixth overall with a score of 50.15.

"I had a few mess-ups; all my routines still need work," Christensen said. "If all goes well, I might add a new release on my high bar routine."

Dinucci has had an injury-plagued season, suffering from a hip flexor problem and several other nagging injuries which have prevented him from returning to top form.

"I went up all-around and I got through it," Dinucci said. "I wanted to do better on high bar and vault.

"If I stay healthy, I'll have my best meet at EIGLs [Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League finals on March 23-25]," continued Dinucci.

The Minutemen also placed at least one individual in the top three of all six events. Senior Carl Russ won the still rings with a score of 9.35, edging out teammates Eggers and Christensen. Christensen won the pommel horse with a score of 9.3.

Sophomore Cal Booker tied for first place in the floor routine with Southern Connecticut junior Shawn Simpson, each scoring a 9.45. Booker was originally awarded a 9.5, but the two judges consulted, and his score was brought down.

"His move from a spindle-flair to handstand was performed sloppily," said head judge Peter Bacon, explaining Booker's reduction. "I wanted to be sure that the other judge had seen that — other than that, the routine was performed very well."

Booker sustained an elbow injury two weeks ago in a meet against Army, which he said affected his routine. "I can't support my body [due to the elbow]," Booker said. "I usually don't miss that move — I was kind of scared when I went up; I didn't know what was going on.

"I didn't think they were going to go down — it shocked me that they did," continued Booker.

Although five individuals will compete in the East Coast Athletic Conference Championships on Saturday at William and Mary College, the rest of the team will be off until March 23, when the Minutemen travel to Temple for the EIGL championships.

"We took a medal in every event and scored 260.95 with a nine-man team — that's our high with nine guys," UMass coach Roy Johnson said. "Our pommels [the pommel horse event] are looking better; but we still have a ways to go there.

"We have to try to clean up some problem areas," Johnson said.

"We have two weeks to rest and get better — the foremost thing is for our best people to get healthy," freshman Rob Thomas said. "If we can do that, we'll be all set."

"You can add in one or two skills you can use during finals [during the layoff period]," Balocki said. "John's [Eggers] ankle can get better, Cal's [Booker] elbow can improve — these kind of things can happen."

If they do happen, the Minutemen will be able to show off their best gymnastics of the season when it counts — at the end.

WEATHER

Spring is here!!! Today will be sunny and warm, with highs in the mid-70s.

NEWS

A last minute look at candidates for Student Trustee and SGA President. Page 3.

WOMEN'S ISSUES

A UMass lesbian couple looks to Legal Services for security in their relationship. Page 5.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY TUESDAY, MARCH 13, 1990
COLLEGIAN
VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 30

Elevator reopens

State investigation follows student's death

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

One of the elevators in the shaft where an 18-year-old freshman fell to his death resumed operation yesterday after passing inspection by the state Department of Public Safety.

The second elevator will remain sealed until an inspection is completed, officals said.

The elevators, which share a common shaft in the residence hall, were sealed after Joel B. Mangion, of 1617 Kennedy, plunged to his death between 4 and 4:30 a.m. Sunday. He and a friend were riding on top of an elevator when the incident occurred.

Autopsy results yesterday determined that Mangion died of multiple injuries, said Jerome Wilder, technical supervisor at the Springfield Medical Examiner's office.

A sample of Mangion's blood has been sent to a Boston toxicology laboratory to check for traces of alcohol or drugs, Wilder said. The test results are expected to be released next Thursday, he said.

State police Lt. Edward Harrington said he does not believe the elevators are defective and is investigating the causes of the incident.

The accident is the second fatality to occur in connection with the elevators.

Also, last February, a UMass student was seriously injured when he fell 30 feet down an elevator shaft in Washington Residence Hall.

UMass spokeswoman Karin Sherbin said University officials from the student affairs, public safety and environmental safety departments will meet today to determine what can be done to prevent further accidents in the residential area elevators.

Paul Lawler, director of elevator maintenance at the physical plant, said the elevators are checked annually by state inspectors in conjunction with certified University inspectors.

Sherbin said Sunday that the elevators are equipped with "safety features," including an "escape hatch" in the ceiling and a system to insure that the cars will not move when the elevator doors are open.

The University will provide buses for students to attend visiting hours today from 2-4 p.m. at the Lyons, Haynes Memorial Home in Mangion's hometown of West Newton.

A memorial service will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Second Church in West Newton.

Floormates remember Mangion

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

Joel Mangion was in search of the "eternal challenge," his resident assistant, Matt Germino, said last night.

He lived on the edge, some 20 friends and floormates said last night, as they gathered in Kennedy Residence Hall to mourn the loss of the 16th floor resident, who died Sunday after he fell down an elevator shaft in the dormitory.

But there is more to Joel Mangion that is lost in the shock and media attention following his death, his friends assert.

"I miss his presence the most," said Robert Stokinger, Mangion's floormate. "He could just be sitting in the room and say something or think of something crazy and we'd all laugh."

The 18-year-old from West Newton was one of two floor representatives to the Kennedy House Council, a dormitory government, and was also a representative of the Southwest Area Government. He was running for election as a representative to the Student Government Association in voting set for today.

He was a poet and an Honors student; an ambitious man with a "goofy" smile and an endearing sense of humor, friends said.

His floormates described him as intelligent and determined. Mangion was debating between being a biology or biochemistry major. His favorite pastimes were football, computer games and expressing himself through writing.

Stokinger remembers Mangion as being funny and analytical. He said Mangion once attempted to find a "scientific explanation" for the bad taste of pizza from the dining commons.

Kelli Ling, a Kennedy resident, said: "During finals, I had pneumonia . . . he had finals too, but he still helped me."

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10

Students sponsor race for runaways

Benefit 10K event plans to donate $15,000 to children's shelter

By MICHAEL WEBBER
Collegian Correspondent

The gun will sound April 7 for the 11th Annual Run for Runaways 10K road race, with a fund-raising goal of $15,000.

Formerly known as the Run for Ritter, the event will raise money for Covenant House, a shelter for homeless and runaway children.

The house was founded by Father Bruce Ritter in 1968. It provides basic human needs, support for pregnant teenagers and education and job assistance.

According to Zach Galvin, co-director of the race, the name was changed because "this race is for the children, not for Ritter. Every cent raised goes to the Covenant House."

Father Ritter resigned as President of Covenant House last year due to failing health and allegations of sexual misconduct and financial mismanagement.

The run is organized by the Newman Students Association at UMass but Amherst College, Smith College and Amherst High School students will help with registration and generating publicity for the race.

Participants will raise money through "sponsors" who agree to donate a certain amount of money for each kilometer completed. $11,200 was raised last year, according to Galvin.

People can either run the race, or simply walk the route, which begins and ends at Alumni Stadium and passes through Amherst and Hadley. Gift certificates from local businesses and other prizes will be awarded to top runners.

Registration for the run will be held at the Newman Center from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. today and tomorrow, and in the Campus Center Concourse after spring break.

Collegian photo by John Woo

FIDDLER ON THE ROOF — Tom Sworley bangs out a tune while enjoying the inclimate weather this weekend.

Injunction filed against SGA

By LISA SHAPIRO
Collegian Staff

Two representatives from WMUA yesterday filed a second injunction with the Clerk of Courts against the Student Government Association for considering a referendum question that proposes to increase area government monies from the Student Activities Trust Fund from $9.60 to $20 per student each semester.

The injunction was filed on behalf of WMUA, by WMUA Chair Scott Lever and WMUA Programmer Kevin Mitchell. They believe the question is in "direct violation of the SGA Constitution" and would "cause irreparable harm to students of color and other historically oppressed and under-represented students."

Lever said the question violates the portion of the constitution that states SGA's purpose of "promoting a sensitivity of the diverse social and educational needs of the University community" and "developing and implementing methods of exposing and combatting human oppression."

SGA Treasurer Laura Filkins said the passage of the question, written by student Howard Dreyfus, would redistribute SATF money, resulting in a 30 to 40 percent cut to all Registered Student Organizations.

The first injunction barred the question from appearing on the agenda for the March 7 meeting of the Undergraduate Student Senate. The hearing was sought by Sen. Jeff Turco, (Brown), because the signatures necessary to make the question official had not been verified.

Lever said he filed an injunction because the first injunction was granted on the "small procedure of verifying the signatures."

"They will at some point verify the signatures. The larger issue [being that most RSOs service under-represented students] wasn't dealt with," Lever said.

Lever said other RSOs have pledged to sign onto their injunction or may file their own.

A date for the hearing has not been scheduled.

Bob Monaghan, candidate for student trustee, and John Silveria, candidate for SGA president, said they support the referendum question. The other candidates have spoken against the proposal.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF
Editor in Chief.....Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor.....George Austin
Editorial Editor.....Minu Sebastian
News Editor.....Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor.....Jim Clark
Arts Editors.....Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor.....Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor.....Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor.....Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor.....Chris Muther
Business Manager.....Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager.....Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager.....Martina Rios
Circulation Manager.....Chris Baker
Subscription Manager.....Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager.....Donna Cusson
Production Managers.....Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager.....Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF
Business.....Lori Black, Brian Harrington
Maureen Majerowski
Graphics.....Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

Photographs
&
Memories
last a lifetime.
1 Hour Color Service
Available

Come in for our daily specials

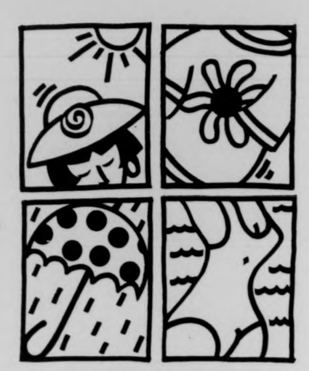
Passport Photos
Available

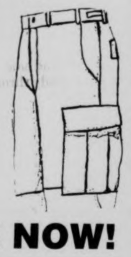
The Foto Factory

257 Triangle Street in Amherst
549-6490



Chona Springs Eternal

CHONA
CLOTHING AND ACCESSORIES FOR WOMEN
150 MAIN ST., THORNES MARKETPLACE,
NORTHAMPTON
413 584 7803



AMHERST DROP ZONE
ARMY/NAVY STORE
at 103 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst ★ 256-0039
(behind Barts/Next to Panda East)

SHORTS
IN STOCK!
Spring Break
Specials!
German Fatique
shorts $19.95
GI Fatigue
shorts $9.95
ON SALE NOW!
OPEN 7 days a week
Mon-Sat 10-6pm Sun 12-5pm

This Is No Way To Take Your
LSAT

If you've set your sights on law school, there's no better LSAT preparation than Stanley H. Kaplan.

Our LSAT prep course will open your eyes with score-raising strategies and techniques. We'll help you master everything from Analytical Reasoning to Reading Comprehension.

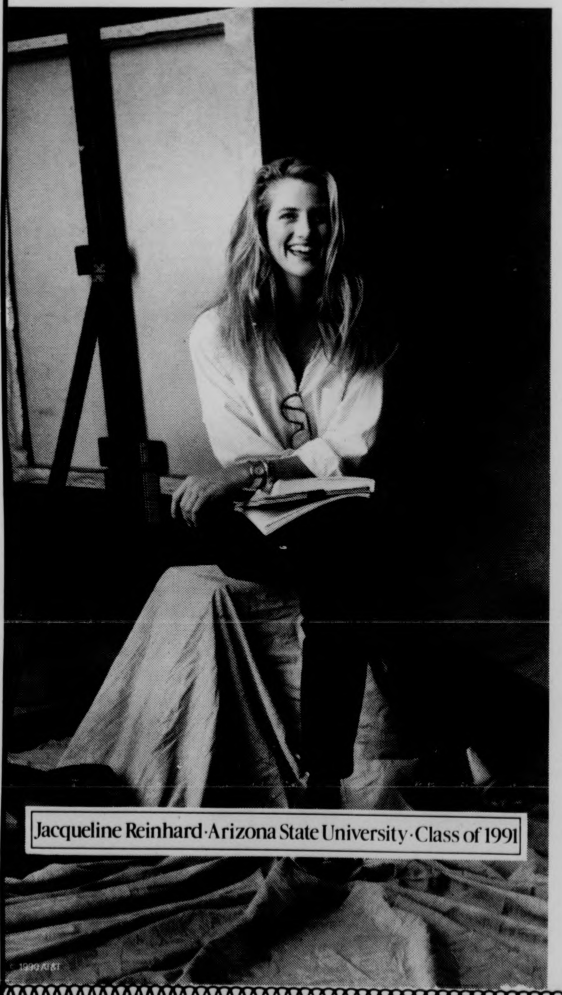
Our classes are live – and lively. All our class and study material is based on the "new" LSAT. And you can review lessons, and get additional help as needed in our TEST-n-TAPE® lab, open days, evenings and weekends for your convenience.

Visit our Center today and see for yourself.
And watch the scales tip in your favor.

STANLEY H. KAPLAN
Take Kaplan Or Take Your Chances

Classes begin March 5-April 11
in Amherst, Springfield
& at Smith College
549-5780

For other locations call 800-KAP-TEST



"When I call Mom,
she either wants
to talk art or football.
Usually football."

Jacqueline Reinhard · Arizona State University · Class of 1991

Go ahead, call her up and let her know the score.

A 10-minute coast-to-coast call, dialed direct anytime, any day with AT&T, costs less than $3.00.* And with fast connections and immediate credit for wrong numbers, how can you miss?

For more information on AT&T Long Distance Service, and products like the AT&T Card, call 1 800 525-7955, Ext. 100.

*Add applicable taxes and surcharges.

AT&T
The right choice.

© 1990 AT&T

Candidates for president, trustee

Collegian photo by Matt Kahn

Victoria Clement

TOP CONCERNS

Clement said the most important role she will play as student trustee is be a representative from the students to the administration. She thinks student involvement is the vital aspect involved with getting students' ideas across to the administration.

"It's really important for students to offer input, especially when it comes to the fee process, so that the fees are set in the best interest of the students."

EXPERIENCE

Clement is currently co-chairperson of the Rents and Fees Committee of the SGA and in this position has worked directly with the student trustee and has gained an understanding of the Student Activities Trust Fund. Clement is also the vice-president of OHAG. She said she has been involved with different Registered Student Organizations and area governments. Clement said she is politically unbiased, a characteristic she thinks is invaluable.

Collegian photo by K. A. Burke

Angus McQuilken

TOP CONCERNS

Angus McQuilken, junior, said he will continue to see there are no further tuition hikes or fee increases. He said he foresees great possibilities for UMass students and "a new age of activism" through students using their voice and vote to affect change.

McQuilken, running on a ticket with Natasha Diephuis, stated it is also extremely important for a high level safety to be maintained on the campus, and will work to see this achieved.

EXPERIENCE

McQuilken believes his foremost experience and qualities that enable him to perform the best in the office of Student Trustee are his lobbying experience and his ability to work with people. He cites his integrity and perseverance as two strong qualities of his personality that will enable him to do the best job as student trustee. Presently, he is a senator from the Commuter Area Government.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

Bob Monaghan

TOP CONCERNS

Bob Monaghan said as student trustee, he would try to make this campus as safe as possible for every woman and man by working to get proper funding for the escort service. He said he sees a definite need for increased lighting and safety boxes on campus.

He is running on a ticket with presidential candidate John Silveria. Monaghan expressed the need for students to work for change on campus.

EXPERIENCE

"I am truly dedicated to the students of this campus," Monaghan said.

He said he has had many successes in student government, such as a revision last year regarding the Halloween policy allowing guests versus the proposed "no guest" policy, Monaghan said. He is currently president of Southwest Area Government.

"I'm just a regular student who's fed up with student government and I want to see a change for the students of this campus."

Collegian photo by K. A. Burke

Natasha Diephuis

TOP CONCERNS

Natasha Diephuis said while she and running mate Angus McQuilken were going door to door during their campaign, the main concern expressed by students was safety on campus. Diephuis said the escort service should be the responsibility of the state.

"I am totally against the funding for this being taken out of the Student Activities Trust Fund," she said.

If elected, she said she will attempt to keep the budget cuts from affecting the Everywoman's Center.

EXPERIENCE

Diephuis is presently a senator from the Greek Area to the Undergraduate Student Senate as well as the Panhellenic Council treasurer. She has served on the College of Arts and Sciences Information Advising Center Committee. While on the Academic Affairs Committee she has met several times with Provost Richard O'Brien. She believes this, in conjunction with her extensive work make her the strongest choice for SGA president.

Collegian photo by K. A. Burke

Ken Parker

TOP CONCERNS

If elected president of the Student Government Association, independent candidate Ken Parker said the three primary issues he wishes to address are directly linked.

The first, student empowerment, he said can be obtained through the second: assurance of human rights on campus.

"The recognition of students as adults by the administration will enable them to have more input into what programs are cut, and which are not," he said, citing student input as his third focal point.

EXPERIENCE

A current senator from Orchard Hill Area Government, Parker said he worked as an area coordinator for the Dukakis presidential campaign and interned for Congressman Barney Frank on Capitol Hill. Last semester, throughout the budget crisis Parker organized various lobbying trips to the Statehouse and a legislative forum on campus for professors and area legislators to discuss the budget crisis.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

John Silveria

TOP CONCERNS

John Silveria believes there has to be more tradition at UMass, and said this can be achieved through student unification.

"There has to be more campus-wide events to keep students participating," Silveria said. He said he has seen what UMass has done for its students and thinks it can do more.

Silveria is running on a ticket with trustee candidate Bob Monaghan. Silveria said there is an absolute need for increased measures to ensure the safety of students on the campus; such as increased funding for the escort service.

EXPERIENCE

Silveria thinks his term as Vice-President of Orchard Hill Area Government and having been the President of Sigma Phi Epsilon are two diverse qualifications that give him a broader view of students on this campus. He is presently a senator to the Undergraduate Student Senate representing the Greek Area.

STUDENT POLLING PLACES FOR MARCH 13 – voting times 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Commuters – Hatch
Greeks – Newman Center
Sylvan/Northeast – Worcester D.C.(Barracks side)
Central/Orchard Hill – Franklin D.C.
Southwest South – Berksire D.C.
Southwest North – Hampshire D.C.

There will also be absentee ballot boxes in Butterfield Residence Hall and the New Africa House.

SPRING BREAK!
THIS ONE'S FOR YOU
TAD
GROUCHO!
·RECYCLE·RECYCLE·
RECYCLE!!

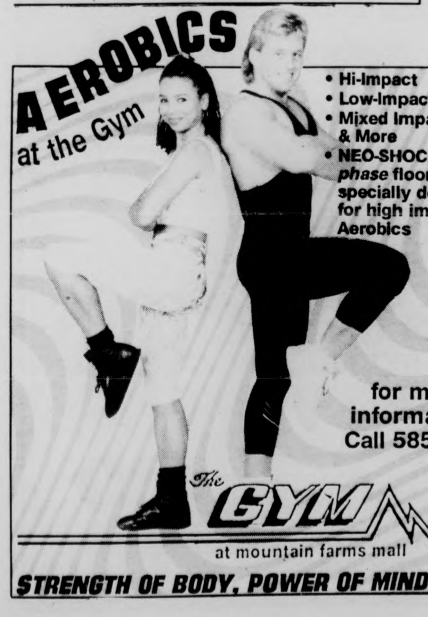
TODAY!
I WONDER WHO'S TAKING OVER NOW?

VOTE AND MAKE YOUR VOICE BE HEARD!
BOARD OF GOVERNORS ELECTIONS
Tuesday, March 13th 11:30AM to 7:00PM:

Dining Commons
Berkshire Butterfield
Franklin Hampshire
Worcester

The Hatch
Newman Center

vote wherever you see SGA ballot boxes!



AEROBICS
at the Gym

- Hi-Impact
- Low-Impact
- Mixed Impact & More
- NEO-SHOCK Two phase floor specially designed for high impact Aerobics

for more information,
Call 585-5911

The GYM
at mountain farms mall
STRENGTH OF BODY, POWER OF MIND

Self Serve
Typewriters
kinko's®
the copy center
220 N. Pleasant St.
253-2543

THE
WORLD
FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID'. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

NEED CASH ?

SELL YOUR BOOKS:

AT THE

TEXTBOOK ANNEX
MARCH 13 - 15
9:00 AM - 4:00 PM
MARCH 16
9:00 AM - 1:00 PM

SPORT Style
M

Photo by Buck Stewart

Located in the Campus Center

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

THE BLACK SHEEP

79 Main Street
Amherst
253-3442

58 Main Street
Northampton
586-3055

You Can Become A

Doctor of Chiropractic

Find Out How...

Royal Sonesta

Sat., March 24, 1990 • 2:00 PM
5 Cambridge Pkwy, Cambridge • Rm. 'Univ. A'

A Palmer College of Chiropractic West Admissions Representative will discuss:

- Careers in Chiropractic
- Palmer West's Program and Facilities
- Admissions Procedures
- Financial Aid Opportunities

PALMER
COLLEGE OF CHIROPRACTIC
WEST
Santa Clara, CA

For further information on this Palmer West Prospective Student Meeting, call toll-free:

1(800) 44-CHIRO

BACK at the TOP

The T.O.C. Restaurant is celebrating its return to the 11th floor by offering —

Lunch Specials for $3.95
Dinner Specials for $6.95

The T.O.C. Lounge is also back at the top with TOP Action —

Celtics vs. Hawks
at 8:00 pm

Plus this week's drink specials —

Tequila Sunrise
Pearl Harbor
Seven & Sevens

TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE

Lunch served Mon.-Fri.: 11:30 am-2:00 pm
Dinner served Tues.-Sat.: 5:00 pm-9:00 pm

Lounge hours: Mon.-Fri.: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat. & Sun.: 5:00 pm-12:30 am

Telephone: 549-6000 ext. 7639 Casual Dress

11TH FLOOR • CAMPUS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
AT AMHERST

WOMEN'S ISSUES

Lesbians seek legal aid

By ALI WOOLWICH
Collegian Staff

Meg Kroeplin, a University of Massachusetts student and Sharon Povinelli are a lesbian couple who have decided to seek help from the UMass Legal Services in order to legally validate their relationship.

They have been together as a couple for about a year now and have been living together since August of 1989. They have "come out" as lesbians to their families.

"I know my family would not allow Sharon to see me or be with me if I were ever in the hospital, and if they ever had any control over the two of us being together they would exert it and separate us, and I don't ever want that to happen," said Kroeplin.

Povinelli added, "I don't know what my family would do, but I would like to think that my parents would let Meg see me.'

Kroeplin and Povinelli have deciced to execute a Durable Power of Attorney contract and an Affidavit of Domestic Partnership. Sheila Casey Kelley, assistant director of UMass Legal Services, said: "A Durable Power of Attorney document assigns a particular person to express medical decisions regarding types of life-sustaining treatment in the event that the person who executed the document were to become incapacitated."

An Affidavit of Domestic Partnership certifies the validity of "a couple that is not married, not related by blood, shares the common necessaries of life and has been living together for at least six months."

The couple was influenced by the precedent-setting case of Karen Thompson and Sharon Kawolski.

In 1985, Thompson, a professor at St. Cloud University, went to court to gain visitation rights and the right to have control over her lover's medical care and treatment. This was due to an accident that made her lover, Sharon Kawolski, a parapelegic.

Kawolski's parents prevented Thompson from seeing her for more than a year. The couple had been involved for a number of years, and had even exchanged rings to show their committment to each other.

Photo by K.A. Burke

Sharon Povinelli and Meg Kroeplin

Unmarried homosexual and heterosexual couples can register as domestic partners. An Affidavit of Domestic Partnership extends the same priviledges to gay couples as to heterosexual couples.

"I don't feel particularly free because I don't have to get married," said Kroeplin.

"It's that I'm not allowed to get married—there's a big difference."

Often if a person is unable to make his or her own medical decisions, a hospital or doctor will only acknowledge the ill person's closest biological family member to make those decisions. Married spouses are automatically recognized as the closest family member, but because gay couples cannot get married they are denied that recognition.

Kroeplin said, "It may sound technical, but if you don't do it (file a Durable Power of Attorney) you may never see your lover again if anything ever happens to you."

"I see the new Gay Rights Bill as a real gateway for this type of thing," said Kroeplin.

Korean-American feminist creates new colloquium

By AMY HENRY
Collegian Staff

Sharon Park, a Korean-American feminist is not prone to inaction.

Park facilitates a one-credit colloquium at the University of Massachusetts that she created about Asian-American women. She is a first semester senior majoring in both women's studies and social thought and political economy (STPEC).

Park said she wanted to have her own space to address Asian-American women's issues.

"There wasn't a consciousness in promoting awareness about Asian-American people let alone women," Park said.

Park said for a while she felt like the only Asian-American feminist. Eventually, Park discovered literature by Asian-American women feminists through independent studies and classes on Asian Americans.

In the mid-1960s, Park's parents left Korea to come to Houston, Texas. Her brother and two sisters did not arrive until a couple of years later because her family could not afford to bring them to the United States, she said.

Park's family moved back and forth between Miami, Florida and Connecticut. When Park was 16 her family finally settled in Northborough, Massachusetts.

She said there was a real difference in the amount of racism she encountered in the north compared to the south.

"People were very blatantly racist in the south," she said. "The racism in the north is more subtle."

In the first four classes of Park's colloquium, the students learn about Asian-American women's history. She focuses on East Asian-American women which includes Koreans, Chinese, and Japanese.

She said in the mid-1800s to the early 1900s, most Asian women were brought to the United States for two reasons: marriage and prostitution. Park said many of them were promised marriage and good jobs but what they encountered was "sexual slavery."

"Even some of their husbands would prostitute them," she said.

Park said many Asian women were also manipulated into coming to the United States through "picture brides." The women were given an outdated picture of a man that was usually much older and they were also told that he was very rich, she said.

When they came to the United States they discovered that their husbands were poor, their houses were shabby, and that they also had to work in the fields with their husbands, she said.

In the second half of the colloquium, Park addresses several issues such as Asian culture, the experience of growing up in America, political and social activism throughout history to the present, and Asian-American women's identity.

One section addresses typical Asian-American stereotypes, such as the "model minority" and the "Suzy Wong." The Suzy Wong stereotype comes from a movie called "The World of Suzy Wong," which is about an Asian woman who was a prostitute.

Park said the "model minority" stereotype results from generalizations about Asian-Americans. Typical stereotypes include that all Asian-Americans are successful, hard working and middle to upper class people.

She also said the stereotype resulted because much of the data gathered about Asian-Americans has been interpreted out of context. For example, the stereotype that Asian-Americans are affluent often does not include the fact that the families usually have two wage earners, she said.

In another section, Park focuses on political activism generated by Asian-American women's associations in the United States.

"There are tensions between Asian-American women's organizations and mainstream women's organizations," Park said.

"That is because they don't feel their issues are being addressed," she said. "The Asian-American women's organizations also have tension between other Asian-American organizations."

In the future, Park said she would like to see Asian-American organizatons and women's organizations make education on Asian-American women's issues a priority.

Peter Pan
New England's Largest Bus Line
Offers Daily Express Service
Throughout the Northeast!

HOURLY EXPRESS SERVICE

• Boston • Springfield
• New York City
• Hartford • Worcester

Connecting Service Nationwide

America's Most Modern Fleet

Amherst to
Boston Student Fare $23.95 round-trip
NYC As Low As $39.95 round-trip

One call does it all:
Peter Pan Bus Terminal
79 South Pleasant St., Amherst
256-0431
U-Mass Hotel 545-2006

UMASS MUSIC THEATRE GUILD
PRESENTS

A CHORUS LINE

MARCH 25, 26, 27 & 28 8:00 P.M.
FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

TICKETS ARE AVAILABLE AT THE
FAC BOX OFFICE 545-2511,
ON THE CAMPUS CENTER CONCOURSE,
AND AT THE DOOR

$3 STUDENTS
$5 GENERAL ADMISSION

Presented Last Year's
EVITA and WEST SIDE STORY

Student Affairs Information Services
Information Data Bank
and the
Taped Information Phone Service

Call 545-1540 for "TIPS"
About Your HEALTH
AND SAFETY

Ask for these tapes by number:

0669 AIDS Information
2600 Basic Student Health Plan
2657 Condoms and Spermicides
2658 Genital Herpes
2650 Kaiser Permanente Health Plan
2660 Medical Emergencies
2655 Problem Drinking and Drug Use
2659 Sexually Transmitted Diseases in Gay Men
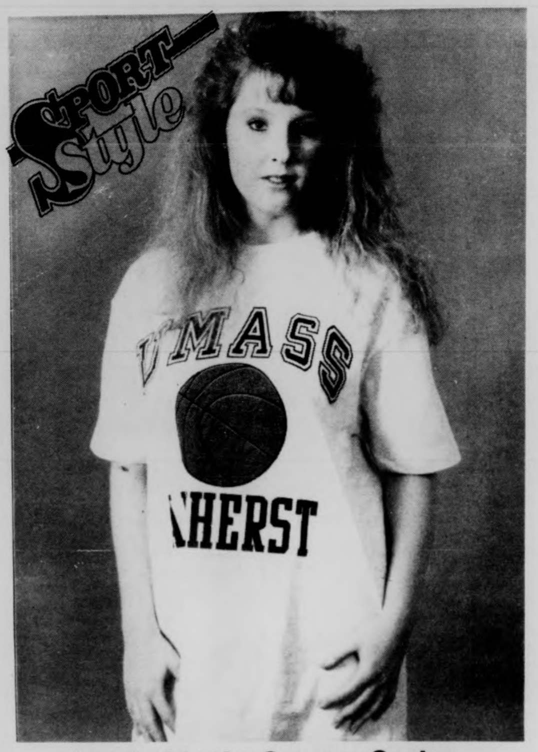
2640 Student Dependent Health Plan
2645 Supplemental Health Plan

If you have further questions call IDB at 545-1555

Information Data Bank (IDB)
Taped Information Phone Service (TIPS)

UNIVERSITY STORE



Located in the Campus Center
OPEN
M-F 9-5

Photo By
Buck Stewart

TONIGHT!
At Comedy Night
Simon Sez with Bobby Gold
9:00 p.m. HATCH

AM I AFRAID TO CARE FOR MY AIDS PATIENTS?:

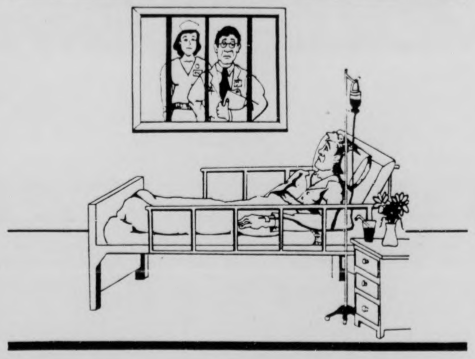
Health Care Professionals'
Concerns in the Workplace



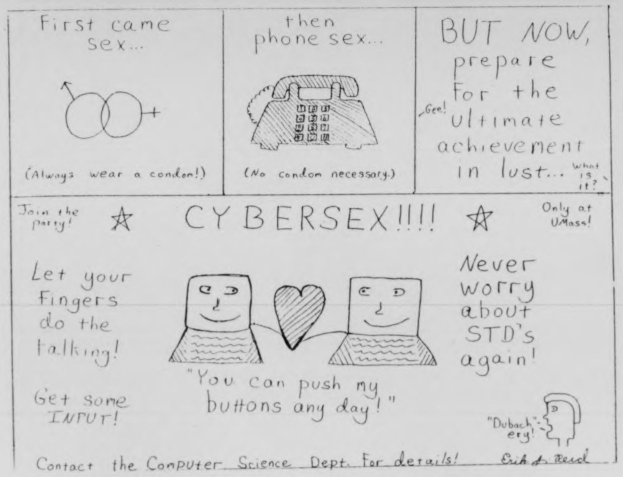
University of Massachusetts
Lincoln Campus Center Auditorium
Wednesday, March 14, 1990
8:30 am - 4:00 pm

Sponsored by Student Nurses' Association
For Information
(413) 584-6033 (413) 253-7369

• 5 CEU (5 contact hours) Nursing

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.



First came sex...
(Always wear a condom!)
then phone sex...
(No condom necessary.)
BUT NOW, prepare for the ultimate achievement in lust...
Gee!
What is it?
Join the party!
CYBERSEX!!!!
Only at UMass!
Let your Fingers do the talking!
Get some INPUT!
"You can push my buttons any day!"
Never worry about STD's again!
"Dubach-ery!"
Contact the Computer Science Dept. for details!
Erik A. Reed

Excellence. . . for what?

Scientists cannot see their work as isolated from the community or the world. They should know that research does not matter more than people.

Peter Sakura

Warfare research at UMass must not be done because it means that innocent people will suffer.

Science departments, indeed all UMass departments, must not just aspire to be the "best in the country" or "centers of excellence." Questions must be asked, like: "Will my actions help or hurt people?" and "Excellence — for what?"

UMass is developing robots that can be dropped out of airplanes, parachute to the ground, roam around the jungle, tell the difference between a tree, a house, and a person, then kill the person.

Is this capability what UMass wants to distinguish itself with?

Will this help fulfill the University's mission of celebrating difference through understanding?

I've seen a pin that says "Learning fosters civility." Let's come together and agree on this principle, and then live by it. I don't want the University to be hypocritical by professing civility while creating unnecessary, immoral and expensive weapons for mass destruction and death.

By actively opposing warfare research, People for a Socially responsible University (PSRU) does not want to hurt other students, researchers and working people on campus. Such accusations are merely attempts to discredit our argument by oversimplifying it.

Clearly, we do not want to just stop warfare research. Rather, we want economic conversion from military funding sources to civilian funding sources.

In the meantime, PSRU has actively fought to stop the state budget cuts and supports the Graduate Employee Organization's struggle for recognition as a union and prevention of TA and RA layoffs and pay cuts. That includes warfare researchers.

We oppose the nature of the research, not the people who conduct it.

I don't oppose the Engineering Research Facility currently under construction.

Rather, I am against the Pentagon, which is paying for one quarter of it, and the hiring of non-union, out-of-state steelworkers to help build it.

Some say PSRU wants to "take away what is necessary. . .to maintain the quality of education."

On the contrary, PSRU is trying to reaffirm education with the reminder that to maintain the quality of education, one must have a quality purpose.

It is understandable to want to be the best that one can be. But how can UMass aspire to be "the best" if it has the blood of innocent people on its hands?

How is that robot supposed to tell the difference between an armed aggressor and a neutral civilian?

Does UMass want to be a center of excellence at indiscriminate killing?

Peter Sakura is a UMass student

Sex stories compromise ethics

In light of Preston P. Forman's recent articles ("System flooded with sex stories," Mar.8 and "Reactions to cyber sex forums varied," Mar.9), some clarification is in order.

The Cyber computer system was installed on this campus some years ago as an academic resource. It has transcended that purpose and serves now also as a social resource, through which people meet, converse, form friendships, and emotionally support each other.

The system is not "flooded with sex stories" as Forman's headline sensationalizes. The three files which the articles focus on are three among hundreds of files about diverse topics. The computer system provides forums for people to discuss many topics, among them, sex. Is that shocking?

Apparently, Mr. Forman was not interested in writing a thoughtful article on the Cyber community, but wanted to find something scandalous to make the front page of the Collegian, no matter whom it hurts — yellow journalism at its best.

In addition, I did not "request" anonymity in my interview; Mr. Forman offered it repeatedly, and I accepted. He then used this to imply that the people whom he interviewed were ashamed of their association with the system, painting a picture of seedy individuals furtively trading filthy stories.

Most of the people writing to the notesfiles know each other, are friends, and are normal college students having some fun kicking around a taboo subject. This is not comparable to running phone sex lines with state funds.

This is not the first time a Collegian reporter has valued headlines over their impact on the community. Once upon a time, each residential area had a radio station. The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) knew that these low-power stations were unlicensed, but conveniently looked away.

Thanks to an industrious reporter who smelt a headline, it appeared on the first page of the Collegian that they were unlicensed, forcing the FCC to acknowledge them and shut them down. Who suffered? The University community.

The same thing could happen with the Cyber mail system. The students lose, but it sure looks nice on one reporter's resume.

Timothy Boudreau
Sylvan

Editor's note: Seven other people signed this letter.

A lyrical look at voting

T'was the day of the election
And all through UMass
Not a creature was stirring
Except for a few louses
The ballot boxes were placed
In the DCs with care
In hopes that some voters
Soon would be there

David R. Mark

I know, I'm a bad enough writer already. Why am I bothering with poetry of all things?

The truth is, however, that people in the Student Government Association have tried everything but poetry to get people to vote on election day. The truth is today is election day and the majority of you haven't voted and probably don't plan on it.

Why oh why do people complain for 364 days a year about the inefficiency, stupidity and overall ridiculousness of the Undergraduate Student Senate and its officers? Then, on the one day when people have a chance to do something, they don't?

Just doesn't make sense, folks.

Yes, the SGA has its faults, but when it works well (and it does on occasion) it can be the one thread that binds us together as students, allowing us the opportunity to come together and be as one.

But the majority of students are more interested in complaining than voting. Thus, I've come up with the Top 10 excuses for people thinking about voting. They are:

10) It makes sneaking out (in) of the DCs easier.

9) Extra opportunity to memorize student ID number.

8) Chance to see who's dumb enough to sit at a ballot box table for six hours.

7) "Senate seats? Oh, I thought this was where you got the extra dorm furniture."

6) Allow people to cut in front of you, thus missing the 1:25 class you hate.

5) Signature practice.

4) Chance to take mind off of indigestion.

3) Shorter than add/drop lines.

2) Chance to feel like a grown-up voting in "a real election."

And the number one excuse to vote today. . .

1) Because you need the bribe money.

The point is, please vote. There are people on this campus who try to throw elections. There are people who try to trick you into voting for someone for the wrong reasons. This is your day to find someone who cares about the campus and reward them with an opportunity to lead us all.

Please do.

Otherwise, don't complain.

David R. Mark is a Collegian columnist who plans to vote in the Hatch with the other brave commuters

A few strange ethnic quirks

St. Patrick's Day.

A day when people of Irish descent (and those who pretend to be Irish for 24 hours) joyfully celebrate.

Meredith O'Brien

People eat the traditional boiled Irish dinner consisting of potatoes, carrots, onions, cabbage, soda bread and corned beef. They indulge in a bit of "high spirits" with ale and possibly some Irish whiskey at the local pub. (Some local bars even get into the spirit of things coloring their beer green.)

The attire for this festive day is some sort of green clothing — green sweaters, green shirts, (awful) green pants, green socks and even green underwear. Some people may add a green carnation or leprechaun pin for a little pizazz.

And they celebrate . . . what? What are they celebrating?

Though there are probably a ton of books, a slew of magazine and newspaper articles devoted to the "meaning" of St. Patrick's Day, what does it really mean to the average person who wears green on St. Patty's Day just because everyone else does?

I know that in my family, it is mandatory to wear green on the 17th. My father dons his shamrock tie and a green carnation on his lapel. My mother, who is not Irish, also wears green and the green carnation she receives from my father. After work, our family dines on one of my favorite meals — the old corned beef and cabbage route.

My uncle, a member of an Irish fraternity in Springfield, always celebrates St. Patty's Day by bar-hopping with a few of his college buddies, sipping just a touch of Guinness and Jameson.

On the Sunday after St. Patrick's Day, my family usually attends the annual parade in Holyoke, where one of the "highlights" is seeing our hometown float bearing the colleen and her court go by.

The colleen contest is very popular in my hometown which has a large Irish contingent. Local women, ages 16-21 and of Irish descent, compete for the title of colleen or settle for being a member of her court.

For years my grandfather kept asking me to enter the colleen contest, but I never did. He said he wanted to be a proud Irish grandfather.

When I was in high school, I seriously considered entering. Lucky for me I had obligations that I could not break on the evenings of the contest, or else I too could have paraded on the high school stage in an evening gown and be judged "for my looks" — but that's another column.

This year I will be in Canada on St. Patrick's Day celebrating with my friends, wearing green, drinking a few "ales" and trying to find a corned beef and cabbage dinner someplace in Montreal.

I still don't know why, though.

Even though I like to buck tradition most of the time, I take part in all of these St. Patty's Day traditions because they are fun, harmless and because I've grown up with them.

St. Patrick's Day, to me, serves as a reminder that there is ethnicity in this country, and that having strange, little ethnic quirks is something to celebrate. So even if I don't know exactly why I wear green, eat corned beef and cabbage and drink green beer on St. Patrick's Day, I still do it. I guess it's just an "Irish" thing to do.

Meredith O'Brien is a Collegian columnist

Different perspective on Silber

I am writing in response to Minu Sebastian's article ("The real John Silber,"Mar.7), in which she seems to liken Silber to an "Archie Bunker" type figure. However, she seems to be a victim of the same close-mindedness as she accuses Silber of.

What the state of Massachusetts needs now is an administrator, not a politician. Politicians are what have destroyed the state.

Silber expects results and gets them. That is how he turned Boston University from a worse university than our own into one of today's top schools in the nation.

He also has the interests of our University at heart. He has been quoted as saying that Massachusetts higher education is a disgrace, and turning it around and revitalizing it will be among his top priorities. He is an educator and knows how valuable our education is.

Unfortunately, he is very outspoken. He says what is on his mind, not what the press wants to hear.

We will never have a governor who agrees with everyone's views. And if he has to offend a few people in order to turn this state around, that's fine with me.

Samuel Carroll
Southwest

DELANO'S
57 North Pleasant Street
253-5141

Drink of the Week
Absolut & Soda or Tonic $1.75

Imported Beers of the Month
O'Keefe $1.50
Amstel Light $1.75

Featuring Jell-o Shots Thurs., Fri., & Sat. Nights!
Proper Identification a Must

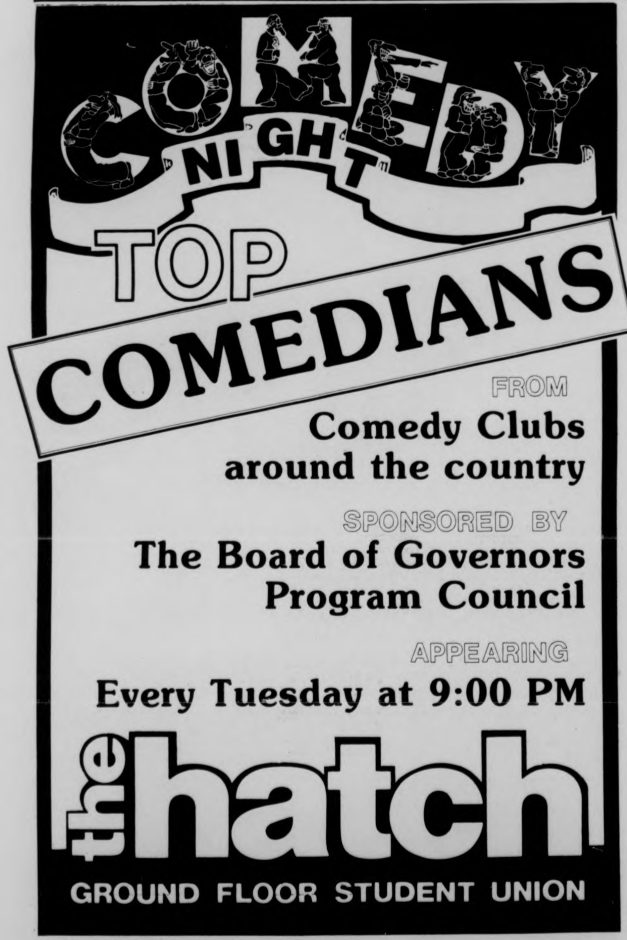
家酒園南湖
Hunan Garden
Restaurant
MANDARIN/SZECHUEN CUISINE
The Best Chinese Buffet
MANDARIN/SZECHUAN CUISINE
WE DELIVER IN AMHERST 5-9:30 EVERYDAY
Minimum $15 plus $2 delivery charge

BUFFET & SUNDAY BRUNCH
Buffet served 5-8 p.m. Sun.-Thurs.
Brunch served Sunday 11:30 a.m.-3 p.m.
NEW
ALL YOU CAN EAT $5.99
Children under 10 - $3.00
1) Hot and Sour Soup
2) Chicken Fingers
3) Chicken Wings
4) Vegetable Chow Mein
5) Pan Fried Ravioli
6) Beef with Green Peppers
7) House Special Chicken
8) Sweet and Sour Chicken
9) Roast Pork Fried Rice
10) Vegetable Fried Noodle
11) Chinese BBQ Pork
12) Broccoli with Oyster Sauce
ADVOCATE BEST VALLEY 1987
TAKE-OUT SERVICE—FULL COCKTAIL MENU
10 Belchertown Rd. at Rte. 9, Amherst 256-0252

BREAK IT FAST
7-11 AM
MON.-FRI.
•CREOLE SCRAMBLER
•FRENCH TOAST STICKS
•BOX BREAKFAST
•EGG SANDWICHES
EVERYTHING IS UNDER 2 BUCKS!
FREE COFFEE FOR A LTD. TIME...
BREAKFAST AT BILLS
BUFFALO BILLS
50 Main Street
Amherst, MA
253-9223

ATTENTION: SGA ELECTIONS FOR PRESIDENT, TRUSTEE, AND OPEN SENATE SEATS IS TO BE HELD ON MARCH 13, FROM 10:30 a.m. - 7 p.m. IN THE FOLLOWING PLACES; PENDING NORMAL OPERATING HOURS.

Voting is to be held in the following places: for Commuter Area residents, the Hatch; for Greek Area residents, the Newman Center; for Sylvan and Northeast Area residents, the Barracks side of the Worcester D.C.; for Orchard Hill and Central Area residents, the dormitory side of Franklin D.C. outside of the Munchies Store; Butterfield Residence Hall; for Southwest South residents, Berkshire D.C.; for Southwest North Area residents, Hampshire D.C.; and the New Africa House.



COMEDY NIGHT
TOP COMEDIANS
FROM Comedy Clubs
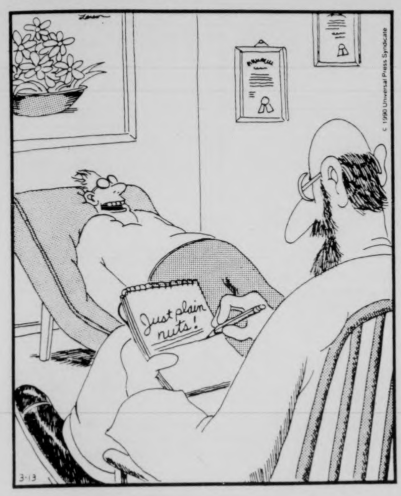
around the country
SPONSORED BY
The Board of Governors
Program Council
APPEARING
Every Tuesday at 9:00 PM
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR STUDENT UNION

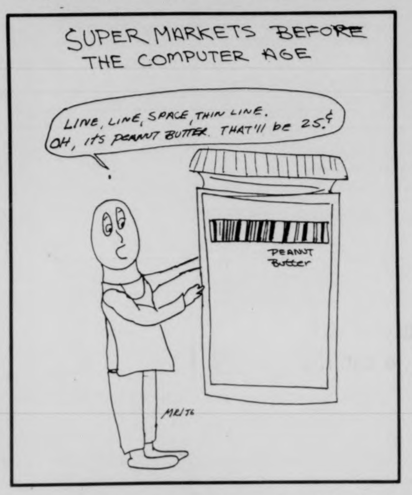
SENIORS
DON'T LET UMASS
FORGET YOU WERE HERE
SENIOR PORTRAIT
SITTINGS
ARE GOING ON NOW
THROUGH FRIDAY 3/16
178CC
$5 sitting fee

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



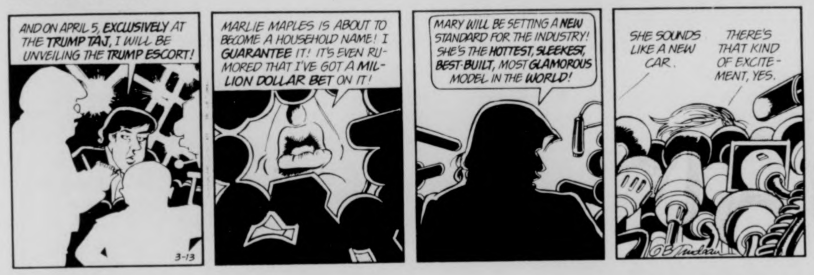
Just plain nuts!
Larson
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-13

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



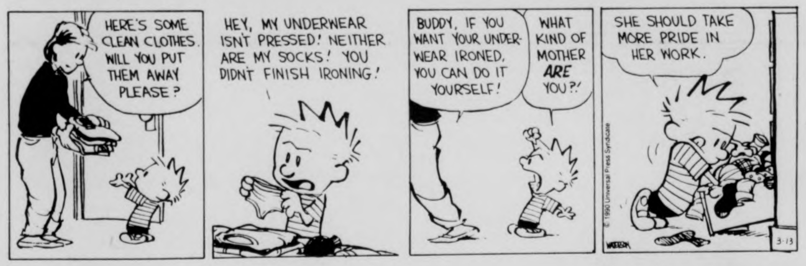
SUPER MARKETS BEFORE THE COMPUTER AGE
LINE, LINE, SPACE, THIN LINE. OH, it's PEANUT BUTTER. THAT'll be 25¢
PEANUT Butter
MR/TG

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



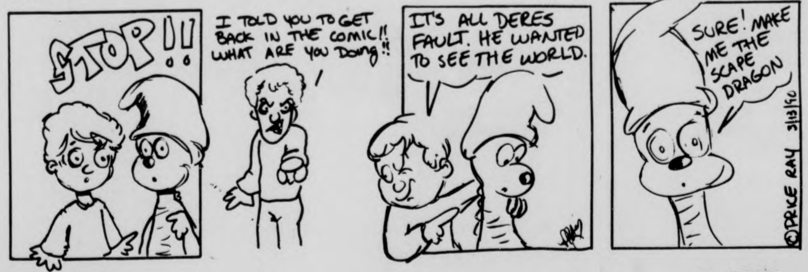
AND ON APRIL 5, EXCLUSIVELY AT THE TRUMP TAJ, I WILL BE UNVEILING THE TRUMP ESCORT!
3-13
MARLIE MAPLES IS ABOUT TO BECOME A HOUSEHOLD NAME! I GUARANTEE IT! IT'S EVEN RUMORED THAT I'VE GOT A MILLION DOLLAR BET ON IT!
MARY WILL BE SETTING A NEW STANDARD FOR THE INDUSTRY! SHE'S THE HOTTEST, SLEEKEST, BEST-BUILT, MOST GLAMOROUS MODEL IN THE WORLD!
SHE SOUNDS LIKE A NEW CAR.
THERE'S THAT KIND OF EXCITEMENT, YES.
GBTrudeau

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



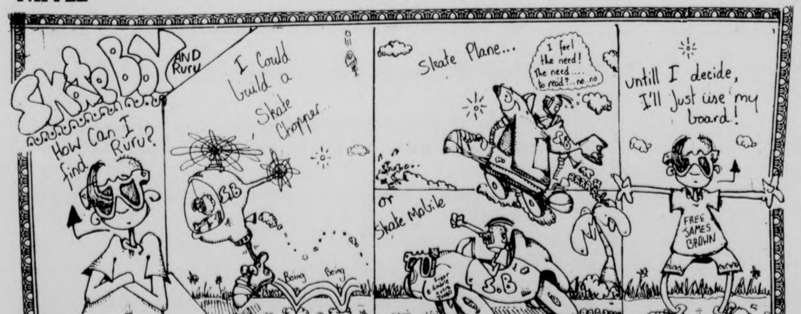
HERE'S SOME CLEAN CLOTHES. WILL YOU PUT THEM AWAY PLEASE?
HEY, MY UNDERWEAR ISN'T PRESSED! NEITHER ARE MY SOCKS! YOU DIDN'T FINISH IRONING!
BUDDY, IF YOU WANT YOUR UNDERWEAR IRONED, YOU CAN DO IT YOURSELF!
WHAT KIND OF MOTHER ARE YOU?!
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
SHE SHOULD TAKE MORE PRIDE IN HER WORK.
WATTERSON
3-13

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



STOP!!
I TOLD YOU TO GET BACK IN THE COMIC!! WHAT ARE YOU DOING!!
IT'S ALL DERES FAULT. HE WANTED TO SEE THE WORLD.
SURE! MAKE ME THE SCAPE DRAGON
©PRICE RAY 3/13/90

NIPPLE
By PITT



SKATEBOY AND RURU
How Can I find Ruru?
I Could build a Skate Chopper...
Boing Boing
Skate Plane...
I feel the need! The need.... to read?... no..no or Skate Mobile
S.B 10
Super double extra turbo
RAAAAA
untill I decide, I'll Just use my board!
FREE JAMES BROWN

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

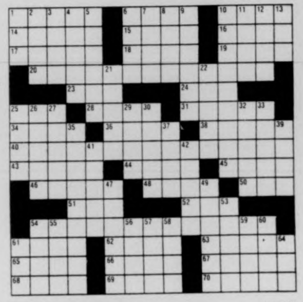
ACROSS
1 Palindromic title
6 Thought
10 Sort of ship or story
14 Lessen
15 Hit
16 Nobelist Wiesel
17 Henry VIII was one
18 Genoa coin
19 Serge scourge
20 Mockingly
23 Auction ending
24 Road —
25 Dental deg.
28 Take ten
31 Levels
34 Cupid
36 Accomplishes
38 Make laws
40 Delta
43 Path lead-in
44 Filé or flail
45 Christmas candy
46 Fragment: Var.
48 A Simon
50 One of the Grants
51 Golf goal
52 Crone
54 Parental admonition
61 Exist
62 Lowest high tide
63 Attention getter, in court
65 King topplers
66 Magazine for the fashionable
67 Poet's muse
68 Stylographs
69 Actress Anna
70 Freshen again

DOWN
1 Wrestler's surface
2 Adjoin
3 Pedestal part
4 Make amends
5 Corporate "marriage"
6 — of Man
7 Half of MCIV
8 Merit
9 Geronimo was one
10 Like Jane Pauley
11 "...sin to tell —"
12 Chain component
13 Permit
21 Skin irritation
22 Mimic a whirlybird
25 Sample record
26 Refuse
27 Dixie, with "The"
29 Tender
30 Rockies' range
32 Part of USNA
33 Play segment
35 Depth
37 Pump or platform
39 Ash or aspen
41 Goddesses of the seasons
42 Nobelist Root
47 Pilotless planes
49 More sizable
53 Luster
54 Riviera resort
55 Part of a stove
56 Touched
57 Eli
58 Ready for business
59 "The Terrible"
60 Musical Fountain
61 Racetrack circuit
64 Heard from the herd

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

R	A	I	S	E	■	S	E	E	S	■	■	G	E	E
A	L	L	E	N	■	T	A	M	E	R	■	R	A	N
P	A	L	E	D	■	A	R	I	S	E	■	A	S	A
S	I	S	T	E	R	I	N	L	A	W	■	N	E	T
■	■	■	H	A	I	R	S	■	M	I	D	D	L	E
A	S	S	E	R	T	■	■	■	E	R	I	C	■	■
J	O	T	■	S	E	G	A	L	■	E	C	H	O	S
A	L	E	S	■	S	A	G	A	S	■	K	I	T	E
R	O	P	E	R	■	L	E	M	U	R	■	L	O	N
■	■	M	E	E	T	■	■	■	M	E	N	D	E	D
B	R	O	K	E	R	■	P	E	A	C	E	■	■	■
L	I	T	■	F	I	R	S	T	C	O	U	S	I	N
A	C	H	■	E	B	O	A	T	■	I	R	A	T	E
Z	E	E	■	D	E	L	L	A	■	L	O	G	E	S
E	R	R	■	■	S	Y	M	S	■	S	N	O	R	T

3/13/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/13/90

MENU

There is no menu today. Sorry.

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Happiness comes in small packages for those in new jobs. A surprise telephone call puts you in a cheerful mood. Your anxiety over bills can be relieved if you stick to your budget.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your writing skills will come in handy when preparing an annual report. Effort counts for more than personality. Strengthen your position with your loved ones. Use your creative talents judiciously.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Try to be more thick-skinned in your search for career advancement. Family members look to you for leadership. Romance has its ups and downs. Go slow. Impulsive behavior could cause embarrassment.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A close friend announces a major change in lifestyle. Do not voice any doubts. Opposition will only make his person more determined! A temporary disappointment could work to your advantage.

LEO (July 23-Aug.22): Unusual circumstances could cause temporary delays. An out-of-town visitor brings you a new viewpoint. Look at your financial transactions from every angle. Consult experts.

VIRGO (Aug.23-Sept.22): Be discreet about any past errors in judgment. If thinking of remodeling or redecorating your home, get several estimates in writing. Enlist the help of your mate in keeping entertainment expenses down.

LIBRA (Sept.23-Oct.22): Tend to pressing business affairs. Your associates are apt to be demanding. Someone could accidentally shortchange you. Correct mistakes as soon as they are spotted. Romance looks rosy.

SCORPIO (Oct.23-Nov.21): Others may grumble, but you look forward to changes on the job. Check the fine print when going over important papers. A friend who has been reliable in the past may make a mistake.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov.22-Dec.21): Continue to forge ahead while the going is good. Today's events can lead to larger financial rewards. Some travel may have to be postpones. A sibling needs more attention and affection.

CAPRICORN (Dec.22-Jan.19): Strike a better balance between work and play. Loved ones may feel you are "all business." Keep abreast of developments in your field. Be patient with someone beset by personal problems.

AQUARIUS (Jan.20-Feb.18): Trust your hunches; they are apt to prove profitable. Greater career or business success depends on your learning to be less modest. If you entertain this week, everything should go smoothly.

PISCES (Feb.19-March 20): Your talents as a poet or artisan may be recognized by someone with considerable prestige. Loved ones rally around. Lend a helping hand to someone swamped with work. Partner pays you a compliment.

TODAY'S STAFF
Night Editor....Beth Gately
Copy Editor....Kerry Herlihy
Layout Technicians....Rory Evans
Photo Technician....John Woo
Production Supervisor....Tricia Hanley
Typesetter....Kim Frisino
Production....Mike Atkins, Jenna Dye, Jodi O'Rourke, Carolyn Mills

Allies trained on gay awareness

A speakers's bureau training session scheduled for tonight by the Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns will train heterosexual allies to speak about gay awareness for the first time in the history of the program.

According to Maureen Burt, coordinator of the bureau, a number of heterosexuals have expressed an interest in participating in the program.

The bureau was set up three years ago at residence halls and other University locations in order to educate people and increase awareness about homosexuality and bisexuality.

Burt said the new addition to the program is important because speakers are able to give another prospective in dealing with homophobia.

"The vast majority of the audiences we speak with are straight, and they will be able to better relate to a straight speaker and understand what kinds of problems they have," she said.

The heterosexual allies are also important, Burt said, because it is important to allow for an increased show of support for the lesbian, bisexual and gay community.

The heterosexual speakers will be integrated with two gay, lesbian or bisexual speakers at each engagement of the group, she said.

Burt said anyone interested in becoming a heterosexual ally for the group should attend the training session tonight in room 902 of the Campus Center from 7 to 10 p.m.

—CHRIS MUTHER

■ Mangion

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Since Joel expressed himself best through writing, the residents of the 16th floor of Kennedy provided a poem to convey what a "special person" Mangion was to them.

I stand in wake of thousand score and look out from above
I see the autumn countryside with it's beauty, fall in love.
I want to shout it out to all this sight I want to share so obvious yet hard to see.
I wonder if others care
And as I stand and look alone
As king without a queen
I feel a part inside my heart and want someone with to share this scene

ST. PATRICK'S DAY!

Now's the time to call…
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS PROGRAM PRESENTS
BEHIND THE ELECTRONIC CURTAIN
Are we getting the truth from the media?
A lecture and slideshow by former Time photo journalist
HARRY MATTISON
Mr. Mattison will tell how his moving and graphic photos are recycled and reused, by the media, to keep the public's attention.
Wednesday, March 14, 1990
STUDENT UNION BALLROOM
8:00 pm
FREE
OPEN RECEPTION TO FOLLOW
distinguished visitors program

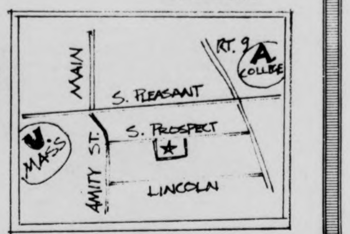
Women's Shoes, Clothing & Accessories
Zanna • 187 North Pleasant Street • Amherst
413.253.2563
ZANNA
DON'T GO TOPLESS.

AMHERST CINEMA
THE MUSIC BOX
PG13
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week
$2.50 with student I.D.
253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA

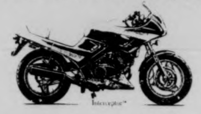
THE EDWIN M. ROSSMAN
ALUMNI CAREER FORUMS
CIVIL ENGINEERING
DATE: WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1990
TIME: 8:00 PM
LOCATION: CAMPUS CENTER 168C
SPONSORED BY: • UNIVERSITY PLACEMENT SERVICE • CIVIL ENGINEERING • ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
This is an opportuity to meet with alumni and discuss their experiences in the working world. Don't miss this important panel discussion!
ALUMNI PANELISTS

Robert A. Benson (CE 70)	Associate Fay, Stafford, and Thorndike, Inc.
Stephen M. Pause (MSEVE 83)	Director of Engineering Corporate Environmental Advisors, Inc.
Daniel N. Adams (CE 86, MSCE 88)	Geotechnical Engineer Haley and Aldrich, Inc.
David A. Bohn (CE 77, MSCE 78)	Associate Vanasse Hangen Brustlin, Inc.

For more information, please contact:
University Placement Service, University Career Center



STEINBECK COLLISION REPAIR & AUTOBODY
53 So. Prospect — Amherst Center
256-8157 256-1385
• Imports & other unibody vehicles are our specialty
• State of art equipment for precision frame and unibody straightening (+ or - ½ mm)
• Over 90 years staff experience
• Accepted by all insurance companies for collision repair or glass replacement
• Advanced European Technology Painting and Refinishing Systems
REMEMBER it's your car and your choice of repair facilities



Come Ride With Us.
• Motorcycles
• Scooters
• A.T.V.'s
• Power Equipment
Valley Motorsports
584-7303
731-9965
216 N. King St., Rte. 5 Northampton, MA
The 1989 Honda Motorcycles are ready for viewing.
ALWAYS WEAR A HELMET, EYE PROTECTION AND PROTECTIVE CLOTHING

New Books at 40-80%
OFF List Price!
Paperback and Hardcover
Hundreds of new arrivals now being shelved. Over 40,000 used and discount new books
ALL AT 40-80% off
New List Price!
VALLEY BOOKS
Downtown Amherst
OPEN 7 days a week 256-1508
VISA/MC Check

This Spring Break learn bartending at Massachusetts' only accredited bartending school.
call today
(617) 247- 1600
811 Boylston Street
Boston, MA 02116
New England Bartenders School
Licensed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Education
Accredited by the Accrediting Council for Continuing Education & Training

Job Hunters: Contact 1,000 companies for only $69.95
After a $40,000 college education, shelling out an added $69.95 for a job seems like a small price to pay. Particularly if you land the right job. It's possible with JOBS ON FILE—a reference guide that runs on your IBM or Macintosh personal computer.
At JOBSource we did the leg work so you don't have to. For major companies nationwide, select any of 40 disks organized by INDUSTRY. Like ad agencies, banks and hospitals. Or 30 CITY disks describing major companies in a selected city. Like Boston, Chicago, or Seattle.
Each JOBS ON FILE disk is a gold mine of current information on up to 1,000 companies. Search the company info to select your companies. Then use the built-in word processor to pull the address into your cover letter, cutting prep time by as much as 90%. Order today while supplies last.
800-437-8376 Major credit cards accepted.
Jobs on File

The Commuter Government Presents:
Saturday trips to
New York City
March 31st
Cost: $18.00 round trip
Departure times: 7:00 A.M.
Reservations at Off Campus Housing Office
428 Student Union Building
Payment in advance is necessary, limited seating available

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

CHESS CLUB MEETING tonight Bluewall 7:00 PM Sign up for Mass Insanity 24 Hr Tournament Non-members, First ever match players welcome

 DON'T MISS OUT *****
The long awaited UMASS Guard/Beach Patrol tanks and tees have arrived. Concourse Wednesday and Thursday, or Call 546-4526

DVP MEETING TONIGHT
Time: 7:00 PM
Place: Duke's Room
(Located to the left of the Student Union Ballroom)

EVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE CLUB
!!! COME JOIN !!!
First organizational meeting March 14 Wednesday night at Seven PM
Where?
Skinner Hall Room 18

FINANCE AND INVESTMENT CLUB
Meeting tonight at 7:00 PM in SBA 109.

POSTER COMPETITION for International Students Assoc. (ISA) Fair. For more details call Sonia 6-4687 or Isabel 6-4880.

UPC MEETING today 6:30 PM - 203 Holdsworth

ANNOUNCEMENTS

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL, the non-partisan human rights group, will hold its next meeting on Tuesday, March 13, 5:30 PM, UMASS Campus Center 903.

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

CAN'T AFFORD TUITION increases and need solution? Write to Rabb, Box 329 Gilsum N.H. 03448

HISTORIANS HONOR SOCIETY accepting applications Herter 608 Req. 12 credits History 3.1 +, 3.0 in 2/3 others. Deadline March 16.

START YOUR OWN BUSINESS! Easy! Vending carts (hotdogs, soda, etc...) Build, Licensing & operation. Complete step by step instructions. Bissett Enterprises 156B St. George St. Duxbury, MA 02332 call (617) 934-5971

WIN A HAWAIIAN VACATION or big screen TV plus raise up to $1400 in just 10 days!!!
Objective: Fundraiser
Commitment: Minimal
Money: Raise $1400
Cost: Zero Investment
Campus organizations, club, frats, sororities call OCMC: 1-800-932-0528 / 1-800-950-8472, Ext. 10

APARTMENT SPECIAL

A LIMITED TIME ONLY, Northwood Apts. is offering a 2 Bdr. apt. for the price of a 1 Bdr. For more information on this special offer, please call Lanice at 665-3856. Rent an apt. for March and receive $100.00 off our first months rent. We have student short term leases and free bus service every 15 minutes on weekdays to UMASS and Amherst. (Available to new residents only)

AUTO FOR SALE

1979 VW SCIROCCO - A/C, Pirellis, Many new parts. Very good condition in and out. $700. Call Joe, 1-535-1549.

1980 CHEVY MALIBU A/C, Cass, Runs excellent, No rust, $2000 OBO 665-7927

1986 HONDA CIVIC FOR SALE. $3500 Exc. condition. 546-6831

MUST SELL 79 LTDII
Good Condition
$350 546-1471

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

HOTEL / RESORT / F & B / MANAGEMENT Don't limit yourself to those few companies that recruit On Campus. Explore all your possibilities. Call (508) 943-8807

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club Today! Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR RENT

GOING AWAY FOR BREAK? Nonsmoking male needs a place to live as dorms are closed 546-4309

ROOM FOR RENT Large room in nice house 250/mo & 1st,last & sec. 253-9104 or 256-8109

WHY RENT? Homes for $1.00, Repos. Gov't give away programs! For information 504-649-0670 Ext. R-598

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR SALE

AMPLIFIER EG 60 WATTS Hardly used Call Joe 549-4146 $135

FOR SALE: IBM Proprinter II like new $275 259-1786

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS MaryKay Cosmetics at wholesale Call Alison 253-2462

SKIS: Rossignol 170cm SM Competition. Solomon S626. Great Condition! Plus Poles and Boots! Must sell: $75 549-0840

WOMEN'S CHIC, petite, lightweight, leather jacket. Cinched waist, broad shoulder pads. Only worn once. $75 or best offer. Call Chris 253-2357.

FOUND

LADIES' GRUEN QUARTZ WATCH
Near Franklin D.C. 3/6
Call 6-9881 to identify

HAPPY 21ST BIRTHDAY CHRISTINE MCQUADE

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER. Powers and the Well are now behind you- you can now go on to better places. Ain't it the truth. Love, Amy, Courtney, Jenn, & Maria

HELP WANTED

EARN $300 TO $500 per week. Reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B281

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY! Assemble products at home. Call for information 504-641-8003 Ext. 598

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SUMMER COUNSELORS
Outstanding NYS Co-ed
Resident Camp
Specialist/General
Gail 549-1331

THERE'S A JOB FOR YOU IN A SUMMER CAMP
The American Camping Association (NY) will make your application avail. to over 300 camps in the Northeast. Exciting opportunities for college students and professionals. Positions avail: all land and water sports, kitchen, maintenance, arts and crafts, drama, music, dance, nature, tripping, R.N.'s, M.D.s College Credit Available. Call or write for application. American Camping Association, 12 West 31st Street, New York, NY 10001, 1-800-777-CAMP.

WIN $200 +
Design a "Cross Training" Athletic Shoe. Call Neil-Collect evenings 617-599-5686

I'LL EDIT YOUR PAPER

PROOFREADING SERVICE. If you have a rough draft, we'll make it something special. Fast and dependable. David 253-2455 and Cosmo 253-9744.

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

LOST

MALE RIMLESS EYEGLASSES w/brown case. It's my only pair! Please contact 546-9048

PERSONALS

ANDREA CALUORI
Happy 21st Birthday
Now let's take Atlantic City by storm
Love, Subrata

COW, SO YOU'RE finally 21! Remember, no bars for four months. I love you baby, have a great B-day. No fighting this year, OK. - David DESPERATELY SEEKING FITZ - nice to have found my friend after 15 years. I'm all smiles. Kriss

HAPPY BIRTHDAY HONEY
Now I feel really young! I'm not going out with a teenager anymore. Friday is going to be awesome.
Love, Your Honey

IF YOU BREATHE through your ears can you kiss forever??

JEN SCIBILA HAPPY BIRTHDAY! From now on I'm keeping you away from all UMFP's. We'll celebrate this weekend Love ya, MO

LAUREN I just wanted you to know that you're the best roommate ever! Jude Hilary and Leanne get psyched for Fla!
Love ya, Karen

MICHAEL
Happy Anniversary!
Thanks for 3 years
of love and laughs
-Let's do it again
Love always, Hilary

SARAH TYNAN
Happy Anniversary!
The past 1 yr. 6 mo.
have been the best.
I love you!
Michael

T-BONE IS 21! I've got corns on my feet- hope you have a Happy B-day anyway. Go uptown and drink some beers!
Love, The Shumway Crew

TO NATASHA
Good Luck Today.
We support you all the way
Love, The Sisters and Pledges of Sigma Delta Tau

TO ROB FROM FLORIDA !!!
You are so beautiful! You wear a Lands-End jacket and red silk boxers. Don't forget to wear them tonight!! Happy Birthday Sweetheart! Remember I love you with the passion of one hundred Italian women!! C-note.

JEN-"GIGI" Who are you going to celebrate this b-day with (besides us?) . . Bernard, Mr. Studmuffin, Enrique, Jon, or the little redheaded boy? Happy 21st. We luv you. J, Mel, Dot and Les

PIZZA

COLLEGE PIZZA
SPRING SPECIAL
small cheese $3.50
large cheese $5.99
2 additional toppings
ONLY $1 more
GOOD only Sun-Thurs
!Must Mention This Ad!

RIDE WANTED

RETURNING TO UMASS from Maine after Spring Break. Will share $. Call Nicky, 546-4869.

ROOM FOR RENT

CALL 546-4204 If you have a room to rent for Spring Break

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

LOOKING FOR FEMALE for 2 bedroom Apt in Southwood Apts., Sunny, next to bus stop, fully equipped kitchen, 1½ bathrooms, new carpet, great place, more info call 546-7354

TWO BEDROOMS IN A great old house in North Leverett. Beautiful area in the hills. $205, Free heat. 367-9861

SERVICES

DOES YOUR PROSPECTIVE CAREER HAVE POTENTIAL? Earnings, working conditions, educational requirements, employment outlook analyzed. For FREE Sample Career Packet phone (315) 253-4794. Leave name and mailing address on machine.

HAIRCUTS ONLY $5.00 Four years experience No razor Call Brenda 546-9103

LEGAL QUESTIONS? The Legal Services Center offers Free legal assistance to fee-paying students. Contact us at 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

MAXIGRAPHICS - Super enlargements- B&W and Color
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

RESUMES! I will do your resumes for $10 to $30 less than the local print shops! Call me evenings! Rick 586-1642

SUMMER RENTALS

CAPE COD
2 bedrooms in house near Seagull Beach in Yarmouth-$2000 per room-can fit up to 4 per room-females-call Bill at 549-3831 between 5:30 and 6:00 weeknights

"CAPE COD SUMMER RENTAL" Sleeps 6-7 furnished W.Yarmouth-close to beaches, downtown Hyannis, and hot spots. Reserve early-available weekends for job hunting. Call after 5 PM (508) 477-3586

TRAVEL

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

NEED A RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Spring Break Special
$15 One way fare
to Bradley Airport
Call Now!
Limited Seating
Valley Transporter
256-8484

ROUNDTRIP LOGAN TO PALM BEACH 3/18-23. $175 or BO Call 549-0892

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING. $1.75/pg. Campus pickup. Gloria, 323-5140.

TYPING WORD PROCESSING, Dissertations, Reports, Resumes Laser printing 259-1786

WORDPERFECT, LETTER-QUALITY Print, Spellcheck, Fast. Call Tim 549-0546.

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

I'VE GOT 2 TICKETS for Daytona - one for me and one for you. Help keep my mind off my ex-boyfriend. Free-ride, no expenses, no strings. Call immediately 6-8873 or 6-8878. Guaranteed good time.

WOCH RADIO

GENERAL MEETING TONIGHT 9 PM Field Main Lounge DJ's and Support Staff Needed! Call 546-6766

SPORTS

Tournament time has arrived at UMass

An intro course in basketball science

Tournament 101: Dr. Marps

Please, please, come right in and take a seat. Thank you for attending today's class. With Skeeter, Shaquille, Kermit, Prince, Smokey, LaPhonso, Popeye, Dikembe and other such enthralling named players of considerable talent, this year's class promises to be as exciting as ever. Before we get any further, let me get some preliminary things out of the way.

MVP: Derrick Coleman. It was a wide race for this award, but Coleman can, and did, do-it-all. Averaging 18.2 ppg and 12 rpb, he hit three-pointers and dribbled the ball up the court, all at a powerful 6-foot-10.

John Steven Marple

Best Freshman AKA: Translation, the best rookie after Kenny Anderson of Georgia Tech. And that would be Allan Houston of Tennessee. This silky-smooth shooter had some brilliant games all the while playing out of position at point guard. Other young pups of note include Bobby Hurley, Jimmy Jackson, Travis Ford, Terry Dehere and Shaquille O'Neal.

Coach of the Year: Rick Pitino. He took a bunch of also-rans, won some games, and instilled a fierce sense of competition in Lexington. Anyone who feels Jim Calhoun should get this award is completely justified.

bWhat If: What if things had stayed rosy in Lexington, Kentucky? Think about it. We'd be looking at a starting lineup of Eric Manuel and LeRon Ellis at forward, Sean Kemp at center, and Boy King Rex Chapman and Chris Mills at guard. We'd also be looking at our national champions.

Wait 'Till Next year: Louisville. The Ville welcomes with open arms the finest batch of recruits in the land next season. Remember these names: 6-foot-10 Anthony Cade, he of the favorable Kemp comparisons; 6-6 jumping jack Dwayne Morton; 6-7 Greg Minor, a silky smooth player who evokes pleasurable memories of Jamaal Wilkes; 6-10 Brian Hopgood.

First Annual Marps All American Team: Coleman, Billy Owens, Dennis Scott, Chris Jackson and Anderson. Sorry, no centers were worthy of making my team. Tough calls: Lionel Simmons and the late Hank Gathers.

What's this, you say, no Gary Payton, the beloved Sports Illustrated coverboy? Je ne cederei pas a l'opinion publique. He's not, in my opinion, as good as Anderson. Payton's highest scoring mate averages 12.6 ppg. Anderson's playing with two other players who throw in 20 a night. If Payton, he of the surly demeanor, had the quiet personality of, say, a Brian Oliver or the pleasantness of a Rumeal Robinson, would he grace the cover of SI with the billing of player of the year? Ahh . . . I think not. Give this dog a bone.

Best Leaper: William Herndon, um, I mean . . . Robert Brickey (pre-injury) of Duke. Other high fliers: Greg Anthony (UNLV), Keith Williams (Louisville), Treg Lee (Ohio State).

Insider Trading: I talked to someone a couple of months ago who said he knows a girl who claims to have taken the SAT test for a guard in the Big East. Hmm . . .

Some Random Thoughts to Breakfast By: Admit it, college hoops haven't been as fun since Dwayne Schintzius left Florida . . . Is it me, or do the Illinois players wear gargantuan shorts?
Kendall Gill's are the size of 'Jams' . . . My favorite players this year are: Tony Kimbro and Everick Sullivan of Louisville, Sean 'Top Gun' Higgins of Michigan (whom I've met, by the way), Terrence 'T-Love' Mullins from Sooner land and Walt Williams of Maryland . . . I suspect that Wayne Buckingham (Clemson) could grab a half dozen boards just by grunting loud and flexing his brawny body . . . I'm glad Alonzo Mourning has dropped the chip on his shoulder that he carried around last season . . . Where have you gone, John Staggers, Kenny Williams, Barry Sumpter, Clifford Allen and Lloyd Daniels?

64 Divided by 16 Equals: Diggin' for Denver . . .

Take out your note books and write down what I say. I know what I'm talking about. Let's review the teams who will make up the famed Sweet 16.

1. Georgia Tech — If only Malcolm Mackey would give 'em some inside punch.
2. Syracuse — Missing Matt Roe more than they thought possible. LeRon Ellis? ZZZZZ
3. Missouri — Can they bounce back from recent floggings?
4. Michigan — Not this year.
5. UNLV — Will play dueling jammos with the leapers from Louisville. Best lock up women and children.
6. Louisville — The versatile Cards dunk and block anything that isn't battened down — Cornelius Holden, take a bow — but they are incapable of outrebounding your grandmother.
7. Michigan State — Steven Smith is the one to watch here.
8. UConn-Great heart. Great coach. Great guard — Chris Smith. Great chance.
9. Arizona
10. Clemson
11. Duke — Another team that's fallen on hard times recently.
12. Kansas — Great team. Questionable individual talent. Anyone who does not love the way Kevin Pritchard plays the game, please raise your hand. One month's detention.
13. Oklahoma — The Bad Boys. They run up the score, they do some major league woofing, and everyone hates their coach. Great playground talent, but teams of this run-n-gun nature usually fall short of the Final Four.
14. Arkansas
15. Georgetown — Perhaps one outside shooter short of the title. Can Mark Tillmon carry the outside load by himself? Why not let Michael Tate try and help out?
16. Purdue

• Minutemen set for Terp challenge

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

Now that all the commotion has died down, it's time to assess the situation.

The University of Massachusetts men's basketball team will face Maryland in the first round of the National Invitational Tournament, Thursday at 8 p.m. at Cole Field House in College Park, Md.

Many people have been saying that the Minutemen (17-13) couldn't have drawn a tougher opponent. That may be true. Some had the Terrapins (18-13) pegged for the NCAA, but the nine-person committee that gathered this past weekend in Kansas City had other ideas.

So now Maryland lies as one of the best teams in the "other March tournament." The Terps finished sixth in the Atlantic Coast Conference, which sent its top five teams to the big dance. On the other hand, only Temple made the NCAAs out of the Atlantic 10.

Another question is, "What was the NIT thinking, sending UMass to play Maryland?" If Maryland is one of the best, does that make UMass one of the worst? You won't find many people around these parts that would confess to that.

"They think they should have been in the NCAAs, but we're a team that should have been placed higher," said sophomore guard Jim McCoy.

Ever since the Minutemen walked off the floor of McGonigle Hall last week, having just lost a possible bid to the NCAA, Minute-fans had their minds on a UMass-Holy Cross match-up at either the Worcester Centrum or the Springfield Civic Center.

The scenario would have been perfect. Two long-time rivals who had taken the year off from their series, fighting it out for bragging rights. Truckloads of alumni from both schools stil live in the area. Many fans equals gobs of dough, which presumably would equal happiness for the NIT folks.

"We would have loved to play Holy Cross," said UMass coach John Calipari. "But Maryland is one that our kids will be ready to play."

A lot of teams are writing off the Minutemen already. UMass has never beaten a team from the ACC in four tries (two losses to North Carolina, one each to Clemson and Duke), but Calipari isn't one to stop short when there can be further success.

"I told the guys, 'Don't be satisfied in just going to the NI. Let's win'," Calipari said.

Can UMass win?

"When it comes down to tourney time, it's the team that wants it the most," McCoy said.

The Terrapins, under first-year coach Gary Williams (he of Boston College fame), have a familiar face on the sidelines in assistant coach Roger McCready. Williams coached McCready at Boston College when the Eagles were a power, but more recently McCready was a full-time assistant under Calipari last year.

"I called Roger today, and jokingly said not to say anything about our team," Calipari said.

The inside scoop may not be a problem, though. Last year, UMass was 10-18. The Minutemen have come a long way since then.

NIT history: UMass is 2-6 overall, but this will be the first time it will play in the tournament under a coach other than former mentor Jack Leaman.

The Minutemen made it six times in eight years between 1970 and 1977, advancing a round in both 1973 and 1977.

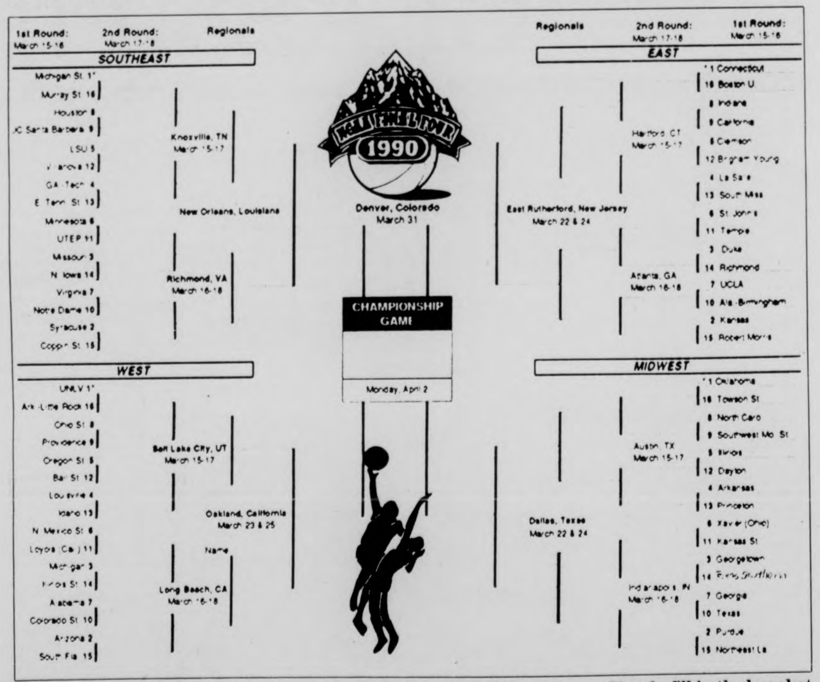
This would make a nice Spring Break: How about a match-up next week — UMass at Hawaii? How many people would go for that road trip?

Buses scheduled again: For those of you who braved the last trip, there will once again be buses traveling to College Park for the game Thursday.

The buses, which will cost $33 per person, will leave from Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium at 8 a.m. Thursday and will return after the game. Reservations can be made today or tomorrow in 207 Boyden. Tickets for the game will be $12 for adults and $6 for students with a valid ID.

Will the game be on TV?: That's a good question. As of right now, it isn't. But Keith Kessler, one of the plastic horn-totin' brothers who frequent the end zone at the Cage, is organizing a campaign to get the game on SportsChannel.

If you're interested, the number to call to voice your support for UMass hoops is (617) 933-9300.



Entries for HoopContest IV are to be turned in by Thursday at 11 a.m. Simply fill in the bracket provided above (hopefully, this one is easier to read) and deliver it (by hand or mail — hand would be faster) to the Collegian.

WEATHER
Cloudy and foggy today with a chance of an afternoon drizzle. High temps in the 50s.

MULTICULTURAL
Administration's commitment to diversity questioned by American Indians. Page 10.

SPORTS
A preview of the 1990 University of Massachusetts women's softball team. Page 12.

WEDNESDAY

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 31

Collegian photo by John Woo

BRIGHT LIGHTS, BIG CAMPUS — Lights from the tower library and adjacent buildings illuminate the campus pond.

Election in limbo

Missing student list leads to delays

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

A rift was thrown into the Student Government Association elections yesterday when it was discovered that sections of the alphabetical list for residents of Southwest North, (Kennedy and Coolidge), and the Sylvan and Northeast residential areas were missing.

The list is used to confirm that registered students are voting in the correct area. Because the lists were missing, voters completed absentee ballots, which included name, student identification number, and residential area, said Alan VanTassel, elections coordinator.

According to Chair of the Governmental Affairs Committee Ross Condit, the list was taken sometime Monday. "The last time we saw it was Saturday," he said. "We're pretty sure it was stolen; people tend to get a little high-strung during election period."

A preliminary tally of votes, excluding the Sylvan-Northeast, and Southwest North voting areas, was taken last night.

As of 11:30 p.m. yesterday, a count of approximately 50 percent of ballots cast showed trustee candidate Angus McQuilken ahead of opponent Bob Monaghan by close to 150 votes. Victoria Clement showed significantly fewer votes than both candidates.

In the presidential race, Natasha Diephuis was in front of John Silveria by approximately 160 votes. Ken Parker was significantly behind his two opponents.

However, students anticipating the final result of their votes will most likely be waiting until Thursday, Condit said. He plans to get a master list from the Registrar's Office today and tally the votes for the two areas that were not counted.

Diephuis said: "I don't think [this delay] is fair to the candidates. It's unfair to the students who voted too. You don't expect people to be so dishonest [as to take the alphabetical list]."

Clement said: "It's a shame that some people on this campus can't be professional and serious when it's time to be."

The other four candidates were unavailable for comment.

Ballot boxes were locked from 10 a.m. yesterday until 7:30 p.m. when they were unlocked at Dickinson Hall by election of-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

Police: victim fell from crossbeam

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

Police said they determined yesterday that the 18-year-old University of Massachusetts freshman who died in an elevator accident Sunday fell from an eighth-floor elevator crossbeam to the bottom of the shaft.

After riding on top of a Kennedy Residence Hall elevator with a friend, Joel Mangion sat on a crossbeam that runs between two elevators, lost his balance and fell to the bottom of the shaft, said UMass Lt. Michael Grabiec.

Grabiec and Greenfield State Police Trooper Blake Gilmore are leading the investigation.

Grabiec said blood found on top of one of the elevators resulted from Mangion's body hitting the car.

Mangion, of 1617 Kennedy Residence Hall, died of multiple injuries sometime between 4 and 4:30 a.m. Sunday, according to the Springfield Medical Examiner's office.

Results from blood tests currently being conducted at a Boston toxicology laboratory, to determine whether drugs or alcohol were present in Mangion's bloodstream, are expected to be released next Thursday, the medical examiners said.

Joseph Zannini, director of housing services, said he was prompted to "look and see whether anything could be done technically to deter people from prying open doors and overriding the safety devices," after a UMass student fell 30 feet down an elevator shaft in Washington Residence Hall last February.

"There is little that can be done," he said.

Zannini added, "This accident resulted from hazardous horseplay. No matter what you do, people could always override safety devices if they really want to."

Monday, one of the elevators in the Kennedy shaft passed state safety inspections and resumed operation. The other remains sealed until an inspection is completed.

UMass spokeswoman Karin Sherbin said she expects the elevator to be inspected by Friday.

State police Lt. Edward Harrington said Monday he does not believe the elevators were defective and is investigating the causes of the incident.

A memorial service will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Second Church in Mangion's hometown of West Newton.

Sex stories restored to CYBER system

By DARREN GARNICK
Collegian Staff

The University Computing Committee of the Faculty Senate voted Monday to temporarily restore four sex story forums on the CYBER mainframe computer system until they can determine whether or not the forums violate University policy.

UCC Chairperson G. Ernest Anderson said a mild enforcement policy should be implemented once it is determined what actions constitute "improper use" of the CYBER system. In comparing people who misuse the computers to speeding highway drivers who never get caught, Anderson said a restrictive policy would be difficult to enforce.

John Dubach, acting director of the University Computing Center, said he believed that there is no existing policy against the forums.

The sex story forums, four out of an estimated 250 "bulletin board" public message files in the CYBER system, reappeared on the system Monday night.

They were removed Friday at the request of Associate Vice Chancellor for Computing Information Douglas E. Abbott.

Labeled "CyberLust," "SEX," "Sexstories," and "Lusty One," the forums, housed in the electronic mail system, contain sexually explicit text.

More than 20 CYBER users, angered by the removal of the files, crowded the small UCC meeting in the Graduate Research Tower Monday afternoon to air their concerns.

Anderson said the sex forum issue involves freedom of speech and other legal, financial and ethical questions. He said the committee should investigate the issue further before making any recommendations.

"We do not want to make a hasty decision with any permanence that we might live to regret," Anderson said.

"We need a well-publicized forum in a well-ventilated and adequate-sized room before we make a policy decision," he said.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

Locals aid Soviet Jews in emigration

By JULIA SEREBRINSKY
Collegian Correspondent

The Jewish Community of Amherst is mobilizing to assist Soviet Jews who currently face threats of physical violence from independent Russian nationalist groups in the Soviet Union.

Rapid economic deterioration and rising anti-Semitism are reasons for a sharp increase in Soviet-Jewish emigration, said Jane Taubman, a professor of Russian at Amherst College.

"Jewish exodus from the Soviet Union is no longer an emigration but an evacuation," said Taubman to some 125 people Sunday at the Jewish Community of Amherst Synagogue on Main St. "People are panicking. Many are leaving for the sake of their children."

There has been a growing alarm among the Soviet Jews because Russian nationalists have started to call for pogroms, organized mass violence against Jews, she said.

Many Russian nationalist groups, including the anti-Semitic organization Pamyat, resent the Jews for their participation in the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution, she said.

Taubman said although the situation in the Soviet Union is highly volatile, she was hopeful that widespread threats of anti-Jewish violence will not come to fruition.

"We should not become immediately alarmed," she said. "Many Soviet voices are being raised against the hate question. At this moment [these voices] are being heard."

Taubman added that the Soviet government officially condemns anti-Semitism.

"[The government] recently issued a statement warning the public and reminding them that the fermentation of national hatred is against the Soviet law," she said.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA. 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief — Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor — George Austin
Editorial Editor — Minu Sebastian
News Editor — Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor — Jim Clark
Arts Editors — Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor — Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor — Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor — Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor — Chris Muther
Business Manager — Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager — Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager — Martina Rios
Circulation Manager — Chris Baker
Subscription Manager — Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager — Donna Cusson
Production Managers — Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager — Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business — Lori Black, Brian Harrington, Maureen Majerowski
Graphics — Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

FIFTH ANNUAL
MATH COMPETITION

To be held in Room 1634 Lederle Graduate Center,
April 5, 1990 at 7:30 p.m.

The Competition is open to all Freshman and Sophomores currently enrolled at UMass Amherst. Continuing Education Students, previous 1st place winners and relatives of Math/Stat faculty are not eligible.

FIRST PRIZE: Tuition grant of $1500 in cash from United Technologies

SECOND PRIZE: $800 in cash from Electronics Data Systems

THIRD PRIZE: $300 in cash from the Mathematics/Statistics Department

SIGN-UP in Room 1623-D by April 3 and bring I.D. on April 5

Pizza & Bowl
Special
"Dugout Snack Shack"
Mon. & Wed. Nights
10 P.M. – Midnight
- 2 HOURS BOWLING
- ALL THE PIZZA YOU CAN EAT!
Only $5.00/Person
College Special
with college ID
Every Thurs. Night 9:00 p.m.—12:00 a.m.
3 Games of Bowling and Shoe Rental for
$4.00
Don't Miss Out
Call To Reserve Your Spot!
Northampton Bowl
525 Pleasant St.
584-4830

Summer!
Make it the Best
Work with us at Thompson's Clam Bar, the finest seaside restaurant on Cape Cod. We currently have outstanding opportunities for talented individuals to join our team. Candidates should call Cheryl at (508) 432-1000 to arrange an interview.
* Dining Room Waitstaff
* Cocktail Waitstaff
* Bartenders
* Bus Persons
* Porters
* Cashiers
* Dishwashers
* Prep Cooks
* Line Cooks
Thompson's
CLAM BAR
Snow Inn Road • Harwichport, MA 02646 • 508-432-1000

Congratulations!
We Did It!!!
Thank you to all the volunteers and participants of CASINO NIGHT!
With your help we raised
$10,000 for the Brain Tumor Society.
Without your help and dedication this night would not have been possible!
Thank you!
The Board of Governor's Program Council

RESTAURANT
classé café
BAKERY
NOW SERVING WINE & BEER
with the Valley's Best Burgers
(Vegetarian Burgers Too!)
Homemade Desserts
Soups & Salads
Monday – Saturday 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Sunday Brunch 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.
168 N. Pleasant St., Amherst, MA 253-2291

LEGAL PROBLEMS?
Call the Legal Services Center of UMass!
HOUSING · FAMILY · STUDENT RIGHTS · CIVIL RIGHTS · WORKERS RIGHTS · CRIMINAL AND CONSUMER LAW
Call 545-1995
Legal-Services-Center
university of massachusetts, amherst, ma 01003

LOCAL

Workshop tackles harassment

'Hey Queer' looks at possible reactions to homophobics

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Homophobic harassment is on the rise nationally and few people know how to respond effectively, said the director of the Anti-Violence and Harassment Project who will hold a workshop to address these problems tonight in the campus center.

The workshop, "Hey Queer," which examines possible responses to homophobic harassment, will be presented by Kevin Berrill, director of the Anti-Violence and Harassment Project and a member of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force. The workshop looks at the way words like "dyke," "faggot" and "queer" can hurt a person and what motivates people to say them, said Berrill, who is also the editor of a yearly report on incidents of anti-gay and anti-lesbian violence and harassment in the United States.

The way a student reacts to harassment, he said, should reflect what the individual is most comfortable with. Often students feel forced into silence when they are harassed. In fact, he said they have many choices, but they should take into account how safe each of their options is before reacting.

"When someone is harassed, their first reaction may not always be the best way to act," he said.

The workshop will examine strategies for responding to harassment of sexual orientation, for not only gay, lesbian and bisexual students, but heterosexual students as well.

Often times people harass homosexuals out of ignorance, Berrill said, and if the the person being harassed and those around them make it clear they do not want to be harassed or hear the harassment, it will usually stop.

The motives of the person who is harassing also need to be assessed carefully before registering a response, he said, because their motives could be misinterpreted. A person who harasses someone because of their sexual orientation is usually as scared as the person being harassed, he said.

"It's a very difficult and personal situation which varies a great deal from person to person, some people won't stand for it while others are terrified of it," he said

The workshop is scheduled for 8 p.m. in Campus Center 917 and is open to the public.

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

BAREFOOTIN' – Cynthia Snell enjoys the sun on the steps of the Student Union.

Students gear up for pro-choice rally

By DIANE HICKS
Collegian Staff

On May 1, between 25,000 and 50,000 Massachusetts college students are scheduled to rally for reproductive rights on the Boston Common, said Stephen Johnson of POWER, the Progressive Organization for Women's Rights.

The rally will comemorate the twentieth anniversary of the National Student Strike of 1970, which protested the Vietnam War, and allow students to lobby in conjunction with Planned Parenthood for the passing of the Pro-Choice amendment written by the Steering Committee.

"[The amendment] codifies the protection of abortion up to 24 weeks" Johnson said. "After 24 weeks it would still be legal, but much more vulnerable." Only .01 percent of abortions are performed after the 24 week period, Johnson said.

Over 60 Massachusetts colleges will be working to organize the event and raise the necessary $30,000. Johnson said POWER at the University of Massachusetts is aiming to raise $1000.

The organization's fundraising plans include an April 21 dance to be held on campus, plans to solicit donations from the community, and sales of buttons and tie-dyes.

Johnson said although POWER is the main organizing force for the rally at UMASS, he has contacted other RSOs such as MassPIRG, People for Choice and University Democrats.

He said he encourages students to join POWER and work for this cause. "[POWER] is the fastest growing RSO on campus," he said.

POWER was founded one year ago as an offshoot of the UMASS chapter of the National Organization of Women, said Co-action Chair for POWER Swati Joshi.

"[Last semester] we created our own group called POWER and we obtained RSO status," Joshi said.

Johnson said, "There are probably people out there that group POWER with other more militant groups. We're not separatests; we're just fighting for the rights women should have."

POWER organized UMASS participation in both Washington D.C. rallies last year, Joshi said.

"[You have to] defend your right or it will be taken away from you."

Festivities at the Boston rally will include a diverse group of pro-choice speakers, tentatively: gubernatorial candidates, an activist from the May 1970 strike and student and feminist speakers.

Entertainment will involve musicians, as well as the comic theater production "A Womb With a View."

To contact POWER about gearing up for the rally call Stephen Johnson at 256-8046, or Swati Joshi at 546-7006.

Sleeper charged with tresspassing

Staff in Chenoweth Laboratory reported Monday that a woman had been sleeping in the building for the past several days, police said. Officers located the woman, who has no University affiliation, and issued a trespass notice.

In other police reports:

LARCENY

- A woman in Crampton Residence Hall reported Monday the theft and fraudulent use of her credit card with purchases over $250.

ARRESTS

- Kevin D. Bryan, 24, of Northampton was arrested yesterday on University Drive for operating without a license, speeding, red lens violation, expired rejection sticker and possession of a Class D controlled substance, police said.

VANDALISM

- A man reported Monday dents to his hood and quarter panel and a mirror broken off his vehicle parked in Lot 50. Estimated damage was $500.

— PRESTON P. FORMAN

■ election results delayed

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

ficials and SGA and Board of Governors members began counting the ballots.

In addition to the loss of the alphabetical list, Student Attorney General Jonathan Anastas said last night he received two signed statements citing election improprieties yesterday.

Anastas received two statements from voters yesterday saying they received ballots with Silveria's name already marked. He also said he received a signed statement from a voter who reported harassment from a voter booth worker at the Hatch (Commuter Area voters). A student senator informed the attorney general that he witnessed an unattended voter booth for approximately 40 minutes in the Southwest North voting area.

Anastas said he notified Condit who had no comment.

"Given the different circumstances: disorganization, accusations, and the personalities involved," Anastas said, "I would predict that this election will be contested."

Seven at-large seats for the Board of Governor's will also be determined by yesterday's vote. As of 11:30 last night, BOG Treasurer Garron Carvalho said it was an extremely close race between all nine candidates.

Results of the SGA senate seat election were not available at press time.

Students prepare taxes for free

Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program in its 20th year

By LAVINIA GAMMON
Collegian Correspondent

Every Monday and Tuesday night since Feb. 12, 30 School of Management students have sat in the Campus Center with sharpened pencils and calculators, ready to complete anybody's tax forms free of charge.

In conjunction with the IRS and SOM professor Nelson Pion, a Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program has been established at the University of Massachusetts.

The program, now in its 20th year of service, offers free tax advice to people who cannot afford professional help. This program is not just for UMass students; it is open to anyone in need of tax assistance.

"The IRS is interested in seeing that people who can't afford help get it," Pion said.

Last year was the first year tax assistance was offered on the UMass campus. Pion said student participation in the program on campus has grown from 10 students last year to 30. He said he will definitely run the program again next year.

"We hope next year will be even better."

Although an exact count has not yet been taken, Pion estimated the number of forms completed this tear to be about 50 or 60.

The students who volunteer for the income tax program are required to take Accounting 371, a class on basic taxes and tax laws. In addition, students must pass a test given by the IRS that ensures they are competent to complete tax forms.

"If we do the service, it has to be done properly," Pion said.

Since the accounting class is a course designed for juniors, most of the student are seniors by the time they are prepared to vounteer, Pion said.

Though students complete the forms independently, Pion said he is available to them at all times to answer questions.

Karen Tucker, a senior business major and second year voluntter for the program, is this year's student coordinator. Tucker, who worked with Pion to recruit students for the program, is in charge of helping the students with the forms and also answers questions.

"I've really learned a lot about taxes through this program," she said. "It's interesting to use what I've learned in my classes to help other people." Students who participate in Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program receive one independent study credit.

Pion said he became involved in the program because he wanted students to realize there are careers available in accounting.

"Most of what we do in the class room is theoretical," he said. "I think the practical experience is very valuable to the students."

There are approximately 6,000 programs of this kind on college campuses and communities nationwide.

■ sex story forums restored

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Anderson said the UCC will conduct a public forum in the Campus Center at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 28. The room number has not been scheduled yet, he said.

After the UCC committee meeting, Abbott mediated a spontaneous meeting with 15 CYBER system users.

Several students said they believed the files were removed as a result of Collegian coverage that they called "yellow journalism."

On Monday, posters comparing the Collegian to a supermarket tabloid were anonymously hung on bulletin boards in the Campus Center. The posters juxtaposed Collegian CYBER story headlines with sensational headlines from the National Enquirer.

Much of the meeting's dialogue revolved around what is regarded as "improper use" of University computers.

Dubach said there are some actions which are indisputable examples of system abuse.

"If someone uses their computer to send messages to their girlfriend in Ohio [at the University's expense], that's improper use," he said. "In my mind, there are things that are clearly improper use."

The deadline to receive priority consideration for Financial Aid was March 1st. You can still file an application to be considered for assistance during the 1990-91 academic year. The forms, however, should be submitted immediately.

The Financial Aid Form is required for any aid including the Stafford Loan (Guaranteed Student Loan). You can obtain the Financial Aid Form at Financial Aid Services, 255 Whitmore Administration Building.

TWISTERS

Wed. Reggae Night with NEW HORIZONS March 14

Thurs. No Cover Just Good Tunes March 15

Fri. Acoustic Guitarist JACK VERONESI March 16

Sat. ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARTY March 17 with Doc Edwards
Free T-Shirt & Hat Giveaway
Cornbeef & Cabbage Dinner

30 Boltwood Walk, Amherst, MA • 253-2663

Spee Dee
OIL CHANGE & TUNE-UP
RAPID • RELIABLE • REASONABLE
NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED
MIDWEEK SPECIALS*
Tues. - Wed. - Thurs. - ONLY

OIL CHANGE AND MORE. FOR LESS.
$2 OFF
- Up to 5 qts. of Mobil • 10W30 or 10W40
- New Oil Filter
- Check & top off all essential fluids (up to ½ pint)
- Check tires
- Clean front & rear windows
- Vacuum vehicle interior
- Check wipers and air filter
- Validate new car warranties
- All work GUARANTEED

$19.95 Reg. $21.95
10W30/ 10W40
9 MINUTE OIL CHANGE/FILTER/LUBE.

TUNE-UP WITH A TIMELY SPECIAL.
$5 OFF
- New resistor spark plugs
- Idle speed adjustment
- Electronic ignition system check
- Inspection of Rotor, Distributor Cap, PVC Valve, Ignition Wires, Air EMC and Gas Filters
- Validate new care warranties
- 3 month/3,000 mile GUARANTEE

$40.95 Reg $45.95
4 Cyl.
COMPLETE 30 MINUTE TUNE-UP.

OFFICIAL MASS.
INSPECTION STATION #4518

Pleasant St. (Next to Car Wash) Northampton Mass
413-586-5640

Service while you wait - No Appointment Necessary- Store hours Mon.-Fri. 8 A.M.-6 P.M., SAT. 8 A.M.-5 P.M.
Offer good thru Tues.-Wed.-Thurs. only
Not valid with any other offer, No cash value — Each location independently Owned and Operated
*you must bring this ad with you

ADMIT ONE

Here's Your Ticket To The Hottest Show On Campus!

When: March 13 & 14, 1990
School: University of Massachusetts Amherst
Where: Campus Center
Time: 9:00AM - 5:00PM - Both Days

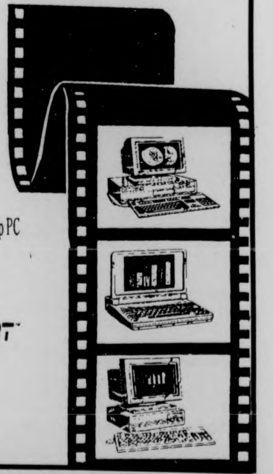
FEATURING:

Zenith Data System's invites you to see for yourself why we are the star performers. From our newest addition, the 5.9-lb. MinisPort laptop, to our high performance 386 desktop, Zenith can offer you a wide selection to fill your computer needs. Student, staff, and faculty members can take advantage of savings up to 40%. Financing for students is available from Zenith's new Loanware. Ask for more details today!

ZENITH data systems
Groupe Bull

ADMIT ONE

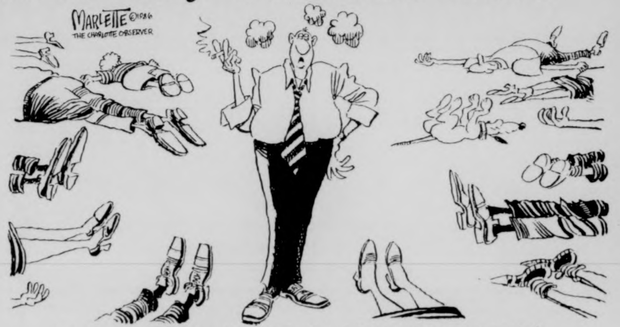
Contact John Lewis, ZDS Student Representative at 413-545-2619



EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Camel's sexist advertising not exactly a smooth move



"I'VE SMOKED ALL MY LIFE, AND IT NEVER HURT ME!"

To all women who smoke Camel cigarettes and carry Camel mugs: Are you aware of the messages you perpetuate by financially supporting the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., producer of Camel products?

My objective in writing this is to bring your attention to the kinds of messages implicit (and explicit) in the "Smooth Character" Camel campaign.

Megan Mills

As we all know, media is a pervasive and powerful method of communication, and it influences all of us profoundly. I believe that images of women in the media are directly connected to violence against women and violence women do to themselves.

Violent crimes against women in America have been steadily increasing, as have eating disorders and suicide among women. This increase in violence against women has happened at the same time that images of violence against women in the media have become more prevalent.

This is where the Camel campaign fits in.

The camel on the cigarette box itself contains subliminal advertising. In the outside front leg and shoulder of the camel is the figure of a man with an erection.

I ask you, what is R.J. Reynolds really trying to sell?

Besides the blatant phallic imagery of the "Smooth Character" camel in the ads, is a young, white woman – sexy, as defined by the dominant population. This woman is always in the background. She is wearing a bathing suit, standing in a provocative position, leaning over a billiard table in a low cut dress, or holding a trophy for the "Smooth Character."

This woman is an object. She exists only for the pleasure men get from looking at and exploiting her body.

The message doesn't end with these billboard ads and promotional posters in stores across the United States. Inside each package of Camel cigarettes is a little blue booklet which suggests "Smooth Moves" for the smoker. "Smooth Move" number 334 reads:

"Run into the water, grab someone and drag her back to shore as if you've saved her from drowning. The more she kicks and screams, the better."

Although "Smooth Move" number 334 has been discontinued, many other "Smooth Moves" of this mentality still continue.

The message in the above suggestion is that physical/sexual assault against a woman is cool – a "Smooth Move." Obviously, the "Smooth Moves" are totally addressed to men. But what is really frightening is that the Camel campaign targets adolescent males by running their ads in such magazines as Rolling Stone and National Lampoon.

By smoking Camel cigarettes, you support a company which celebrates the objectification and abuse of women. Every time you buy a pack of Camels, you make that company richer and more powerful. Those of you who carry the big blue mugs not only financially support the Camel company, you advertise for them!

By supporting products manufactured by R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., owner of Camel cigarettes (Winston and Salem cigarettes as well), you support the message that women are nothing more than sexy playthings to be assaulted and controlled by men. The objectification of women in the media encourages actual physical violence against all women.

There is a nationwide feminist boycott of all products manufactured by R.J. Reynolds in effect. You don't have to be a feminist to boycott these products.

You do have to question seriously your allegiance and support of such inherently-violent and woman-hating messages. Think about it.

Meagan Mills is a Mount Holyoke College Student

Editor's note: Much of this information was taken from a newsletter published by Challenging Media Images of Women. It is available at the Mount Holyoke College Library.

Are Northern Irish eyes smiling?

Saint Patrick's Day is almost upon us. Pretending to be Irish for a day can be fun, particularly for politicians.

But what would it be like to be Irish for a lifetime? More specifically, what would it be like to live in Northern Ireland and to exhibit pride in being Irish?

Jim Dee

In Northern Ireland, people exhibiting such pride are generally Nationalists — those espousing a reunited Ireland. Most Nationalists happen to be Catholic. Unlike Loyalists, those dedicated to maintaining union with Britain (most of whom happen to be Protestant), Nationalists are viewed as potential subversives by the state. If one is unlucky enough to be born in a working-class Nationalist ghetto, that government suspicion is transformed into outright hostility and brutalization.

One such area is West Belfast.

In West Belfast, far away from the relative calm of the university area, combat-ready British army foot patrols constantly scour the streets, backed by heavily-armored vehicles.

People are stopped and searched at random, and forced to endure racial and sexual insults from the soldiers. In addition, the army frequently cordons off neighborhoods in order to conduct house-to-house searches – kicking-in doors, ripping apart walls, stairs and furniture. The searches are designed as collective punishment against a population that refuses to turn over the guerillas in their midst: the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

Frequently, the daily harassment leads to rioting, which is met with a hail of plastic bullets fired by the army. Plastic bullets are far from the toy bullets that they are portrayed to be.

To date, the four-inch long, five-ounce projectiles have killed 17 people, while blinding, maiming and injuring close to a thousand others. In 1982, the European Parliament banned the use of plastic bullets. Britain has ignored the ban.

Disregarding world outrage has become the government policy. Britain has been repeatedly condemned, by both Amnesty International and the European Commission on Human Rights, for its physical and psychological torture of Irish political prisoners. Yet the torture continues.

Why don't we hear about these abuses? Unfortunately, most reporters in this country rely on the government-run British Information Service for news concerning Northern Ireland.

Furthermore, in October 1988, the British government imposed censorship on Sinn Fein, a legal political party which represents 40 percent of the Nationalist population.

Sinn Fein, like the IRA, believes that the conflict can only be resolved by a phased and orderly withdrawal of British troops from Northern Ireland. With the silencing of Sinn Fein, the world rarely hears of the IRA's political proposals for peace.

What's left is the image of a bizarre religious war, not the reality of a struggle to end the last vestiges of colonialism.

Britain's refusal to end the artificial partitioning of Ireland stands in glaring contrast to events in Eastern Europe.

In recent months, as Thatcher has applauded the dismantling of the Berlin Wall, her troops have been blowing up roads and bridges that lead to the Republic of Ireland.

The hypocrisy of such action can only serve to prolong the suffering in Northern Ireland.

Jim Dee is a UMass student

Neglect is not always the issue

The fact that twenty five children have died in Boston is a very disturbing fact indeed. But as to the remarks of Gayle Long ("Victims of a senseless society," March 8), she should check into the background of her subjects more carefully.

Her second example of the needless death by dehydration due to neglect may be totally off base. My two-year-old sister almost died of dehydration at the age of six months. She has not been neglected for even one second of her life. She had a condition known as "reflux," and it took almost three months for the team of doctors to find a way to resolve the problem.

I'm very glad that my sister wasn't one of the children that Ms. Long reported on. Had this been the case, people may have assumed that neglect was the cause, when in fact it was a malfunction of a baby's digestive system.

I watched not only my own family spend Thanksgiving and Christmas in a hospital room, but several other families also. Children who had heart conditions, bone and growth disorders and malnutrition, just to name a few.

Ms. Long should research her topics a little bit better, or she should give a definitive reason for her conclusions.

Erika LeFort
Central

Lost friend inspires responsibility

Joel Mangion was my friend. He was a freshman biochemistry major here at UMass. During his first semester, he earned a 3.6 GPA. He was an outgoing, intelligent and very lovable guy. Everyone says that he was very easy to get along with. I don't know of anyone who's met him and not liked him. He was very down to earth.

Rebecca Burne

He had so much going for him.

Early Sunday morning Joel died at the Kennedy dorm after falling 16 stories down an elevator shaft. He was "elevator surfing."

It seems to be "the thing to do" in Southwest. This dangerous sport is a form of entertainment, or so it seems.

Despite the many warnings, a death 10 years ago and various injuries over the years, people still don't take heed.

I wonder if it will be another 10 years before this happens again. Or can we prevent future deaths and injuries by taking a few preventive steps?

Is there a way to put alarms in the doors so that if they open between floors the alarm goes off?

Can a fine be imposed on people caught "elevator surfing?"

Could people lose their housing for doing it?

If we educate people on the dangers and sanction people who violate the rules, they might be a little less apt to act on their impulses.

If drunken or immature people are unable to take responsibility for their own lives, maybe we should try to pick up some of that responsibility.

There are so many questions that I have concerning Joel's death.

Why did he do it? Did people pressure him into it? Did he want to do it in a moment of depression? I just want to know.

Why did this happen? I won't learn the answers to all or some of these questions. . . ever.

But if it is possible for any good to come from this, it will make a lot of people feel some comfort, at least.

If another injury, or worse death, can be prevented, it will save other people from going through the pain and suffering which Joel's family and friends are going through now.

With love and prayer in my heart I remember my friend, Joel B. Mangion.

I pray that we can do something to prevent another tragedy like this from happening again.

Rebecca Burne is a UMass student

Student safety should be at top

At the Undergraduate Student Senate meeting on February 28, Provost O'Brien stated that students' safety "is a number one priority."

If this is so, why has the Escort Service had to rely on private funds and donations to function this semester? Private donations are unreliable from semester to semester. The administration has a duty to the students to provide funding for our safety and not to play jeopardy with our lives.

There is a significantly lower number of UMass police officers on duty after dusk than after dawn, and the lighting is utterly inadequate. Safety and protection is the number one issue facing students on this campus. It should be treated as such.

Here are some startling facts. According to a survey done by Student Affairs Research and Evaluation regarding violence against women on this campus, three percent of UMass women were victims of rape while on this campus in the past year. And yet the administration continues to cut the Everywoman's Center, which provides women with counseling on both rape and other related issues. Once again, where are our priorities?

I know that I am scared — for myself and for every person on this campus. We should pressure both the state and the administration to re-prioritize their agenda. Let's put safety back where it belongs: at the top.

Natasha [illegible]phuis
Greek Are[illegible]tor

SNACKSENSE

WHY DO YOU NEED CALCIUM?

ESSENTIALLY

- Calcium helps to build bones and teeth and maintain their strength.
- It functions in muscle contraction, maintains cell membranes, aids in blood clotting, and plays a role in the conduction of nerve impulses.

Learn more about calcium at the table on the concourse today!

Division of Health Education and University Vending Services.

Summer!
Make it the Best

Work with us at the Wychmere Harbor Hotel and Beach Club, the finest seaside resort on Cape Cod. We currently have outstanding opportunities for talented individuals to join our team. Candidates should call Cheryl at (508) 432-1000 to arrange an interview.

- Waitstaff (Full and Part Time)
- Security (Day and Night)
- Commissary
- Beach Attendants
- Receptionists
- Snack Bar
- Busing
- Porters
- Bellhops
- Front Desk Staff
- Cashiers
- Laundry
- Housekeeping
- Breakfast Cook
- Cold Prep
- Line Cooks
- Assistant Night Line Supervisor
- Dishwashers

WYCHMERE HARBOR
Hotel and Beach Club

Snow Inn Road • Harwichport, MA 02646 • 508-432-1000

HOUSING EXEMPTION APPLICATIONS

Frosh, Sophomores and Stockbridge students who wish to live off campus for the Fall 1990 Semester should apply for an exemption from the on-campus housing regulation. Housing Exemption Applications are now available in the Housing Assignment Office, Room 235 Whitmore.

Applications are due no later than Wednesday, March 28, 1990. Please submit all applications to the Housing Assignment Office, 235 Whitmore.

IMPORTANT NOTES: PLEASE READ CAREFULLY
*THE EXEMPTION COMMITTEE WILL ONLY MEET ONCE. THIS IS THE ONLY OPPORTUNITY YOU WILL HAVE TO APPLY FOR OFF-CAMPUS PERMISSION FOR THE FALL 1990 SEMESTER. APPLY IN TIME.

★★Signing a lease is not valid grounds for receiving an exemption from the on-campus housing requirement. DO NOT SIGN A LEASE UNTIL YOU RECEIVE AN EXEMPTION. Any student who signs a lease without prior approval from the Housing Assignment Office is responsible for all on-campus fees and will be required to reside on-campus.

Students who are granted an exemption will lose their housing assignment for the Fall 1990 on the last day of the semester, unless prior arrangments are made with the Housing Assignment Office. Thank you.

■ Jews in Amherst assist Soviets

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

According to Rabbi Sheila Weinberg, the Jewish Community of Amherst has set a goal of raising $25,000 to help resettle Soviet-Jewish emigres.

Weinberg said the community will also petition President George Bush and Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev for a speedy resettlement of Soviet Jews in the United States and to guarantee the safety of those who will remain in the Soviet Union.

The petition calls on Bush to "request Congress to declare emergency refugee status for Soviet Jews should the situation in the Soviet Union deteriorate further and threatened pogroms actually begin to take place."

Taubman said there is a two-and-a-half-year waiting list in Moscow for Jews who wish to emigrate to the United States.

In the petition to Gorbachev, the community urged the Soviet leader "to take a strong stand against this pernicious scourge [anti-Semitism] and take effective measures for combating it."

UNIVERSITY STORE

Located in the Campus Center

OPEN M-F 9-5
SAT. 10-3

Photo by Buck Stewart

UMASS MUSIC THEATRE GUILD
PRESENTS

A CHORUS LINE

MARCH 25, 26, 27 & 28 8:00 P.M.
FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

TICKETS ARE AVAILABLE AT THE
FAC BOX OFFICE 545-2511,
ON THE CAMPUS CENTER CONCOURSE,
AND AT THE DOOR

$3 STUDENTS
$5 GENERAL ADMISSION

Presented Last Year's
EVITA and WEST SIDE STORY

ARTS & LIVING

Dead Milkmen at SUB

UPC announced that alternative favorites, the Dead Milkmen, will perform at the UMass SUB on April 7. Showtime is 8 p.m.

The Milkmen, a rather raunchy but wildly hilarious band, are best known for the singles "You'll Dance to Anything" and "Punk Rock Girl."

Tickets are $5 for UMass students and $7 for everyone else. They are available at Tix, For the Record and Main St. Records in Northampton. There will be an opening act and a cash bar.

Blue Nile nowhere near legendary

By JIM COHEN
Collegian Staff

Hats
The Blue Nile
A & M
 1/2

And at the end of the day . . .
Walkers
Giant
 1/2

The Blue Nile, a three-man band from Glasgow, Scotland, is touted by the press department as a "near-legendary band" on the basis of their first single "I Love This Life." Unfortunately the group offers no proof of this claim with its second album, Hats, and its first single, "Downtown Lights."

The group does offer a murky, subdued album that never inspires the listener to replay it. The rhythm section is almost inaudible through the album's eight tracks, and Paul Buchanan's weak vocals aren't able to pick up where the music fails.

The first side, including "Downtown Lights," is a collection of discordant, synth-based songs with banal lyrics. In "Let's Go Out" Buchanan sings "Baby, baby, let's go out/baby, be my baby/Let's go out tonight." These lyrics may work for a group like Milli Vanilli, but they're hardly spectacular.

The second side picks up slightly, though the boring repetition does not subside. It sounds as if the Blue Nile went to the Brian Eno school of ambience for musical inspiration and fell asleep in class.

A band with an entirely different approach to music making is the Boston based band the Walkers, founded by vocalist Manny Verzosa and guitarist Patrick Newberry.

The Yankee provincialism of the band is implicit in its declaration on the back cover: "These songs were written in Maine." However, the group does not belie Northeast geo-centrism. Their influences include Van Morrison and R.E.M., but they do not steal the sounds of these groups.

The EP is a five song collection of songs recorded live and at Q Division in Boston. The first track, "89 cents (Coffee on the Dashboard)," is an evocative song with deft rhythm work. Verzosa's rich vocals create the perfect summer driving song.

The band provides more 70s style acoustic rock with the three cuts on the flip side, proving they have a definitive sound of their own.

The Walkers are not on the cutting edge, but the music is as earnest as it is enjoyable.

More Arts' screw-ups

Here are the latest arts screw-ups.

Jeffrey Donovan, who played the role of Sade in the Hampshire College production of Marat/Sade was incorrectly identified.

Chantal's Choice, a documentary on African folktales, won the Social Documentary Award at the 15th Annual New England Film/Video Festival.

Once again, please accept our apologies. In the meantime, Arts is presently discussing the issue of making screw-ups a daily column.

Self Serve Typewriters
kinko's
the copy center
220 N. Pleasant St.
253-2543

Ben's Service, Inc.
BY THE BRIDGE IN SUNDERLAND
dial 665-3344

Mass. Insp. #925
Certified Mechanic in:
Alignments, Shocks, Tune-ups, Brakes, Lubes, Mufflers, Batteries, Tires

BEN'S LOT

24½ HOUR Local - Long Distance TOWING

Barre Tozloski

I.R.S. SHE SHE I.R.S.

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

AMHERST DROP ZONE
ARMY/NAVY STORE
at 103 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst ★ 256-0039
(behind Barts/Next to Panda East)

SHORTS IN STOCK!
Spring Break Specials!
German Fatique shorts $19.95
GI Fatigue shorts $9.95
ON SALE NOW!
OPEN 7 days a week
Mon-Sat 10-6pm Sun 12-5pm

Special Student & Youth Fares to
EUROPE, SOUTH AMERICA, ASIA
from New York on Scheduled Airlines!

DESTINATIONS	OW	RT
LONDON	$175	$350
PARIS	225	430
MADRID	235	450
ROME	275	550
STOCKHOLM/OSLO	250	500
COPENHAGEN	250	500
ZURICH	215	405
FRANKFURT	235	450
RIO	365	730
TOKYO	495	850

Add on fares Boston, DC, Chicago, Pittsburgh, other U.S. cities. Plus $6 dep. tax. $10 cust/immig fee. $5 security fee may apply in ea. direction.
CALL OR WRITE FOR OUR SPECIAL FARES TO THE SOUTH PACIFIC, AUSTRALIA & AROUND THE WORLD ROUTINGS.
Eurail and Eurail Youth Passes available immediately.

1-800-777-0112 STA
212-986-9470
WHOLE WORLD TRAVEL
17 E. 45th St., Suite 805, New York, NY 10017
Part of the worldwide STA Travel Network

AMHERST CINEMA
THE MUSIC BOX
PG13
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week

$2.50 with student I.D.

253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS PROGRAM
PRESENTS

BEHIND THE ELECTRONIC CURTAIN

Are we getting the truth from the media?

A lecture and slideshow by former Time photo journalist
HARRY MATTISON

Mr. Mattison will tell how his moving and graphic photos are recycled and reused, by the media, to keep the public's attention.

TONIGHT
STUDENT UNION BALLROOM
8:00 pm
FREE
OPEN RECEPTION TO FOLLOW

distinguished visitors program

Women's Shoes, Clothing & Accessories
Zanna • 187 North Pleasant Street • Amherst
413.253.2563

ZANNA

SELL YOURSELF SHORTS.

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available.
Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID'. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

EUROPE by CAR
RENT or BUY
LOWEST PRICES
FOR STUDENTS, TEACHERS
EUROPE BY CAR
One Rockefeller Plaza
New York, NY 10020
Phone (212) 581-3040
Mail this ad for Special
Student/Teacher Tariff.
☐ RENTAL ☐ LEASE ☐ PURCHASE
school

BRUEGGER'S
BAGEL BAKERY
Bagels • Bagel Sandwiches
Cookies • Brownies • Baked Fresh
All Day • Custom Cream Cheese
Open 7 Days
170 N. Pleasant St. • Amherst, MA
253-5713

Health Bytes

Genital Warts - Curable or Not?

by Debra Edelman, Health Educator
& Dr. Jim Abel, Physician

Unfortunately, it is uncertain at this time of whether or not the human papilloma virus (HPV - the virus that causes genital warts) can be cured. The best treatment is prevention ... and effective prevention involves education. So if you are interested in preventing the transmission of the HPV or are concerned about what genital warts are -please read on.

What are genital warts? Genital warts (also known as venereal warts or condylomata) usually occur in the genital and rectal areas, but they also occur in the mouth or other sites. They are sexually transmitted through anal and vaginal intercourse or oral-genital contact. Common skin warts of the hands or feet are caused by a similar virus, but these do not cause or turn into genital warts.

How do you know if you have genital warts? Symptoms may appear 3 weeks to 12 months after exposure to HPV. In most body areas the warts appear singly or in clusters. On moist body tissues they are pink/red or brown in color. On dry body areas they can be pink, brown or yellow-to-grey color. On either site the warts can be firm or flat or raised resembling tiny cauliflower.

If you have genital warts you or your partner may see or feel them. If they are internal (inside the vagina, mouth, rectum, or urethra), there may be no symptoms. Because genital warts are painless, it is common for a person not to know that they have them. When genital warts first appear they may be so small that they are only seen with magnification.

How are genital warts treated? Unlike common warts, there is no effective or safe self-treatment without a physicians prescription. The most common form of treatment is the application of cauterizing agents or freezing the warts with liquid nitrogen. If there are a lot of warts or if they are very large the individual may have to consult a specialist for treatment. Advanced cases may require laser therapy, surgery or special injection therapy if other forms of treatment are unsuccessful. The removal of genital warts usually requires multiple clinic visits and repeated treatments.

Successful treatment varies because of the structure of warts. They have poorly defined borders which may invade surrounding tissue. Another reason for fairly high rates of recurrence of genital warts may be continued exposure to an infected partner. Also, while some warts are being treated, others may be only starting to develop. Once the warts are treated and have disappeared several months must pass before assuming that the infection is cleared.

What are the complications of genital warts? There are at least 50 strains of HPV that have been identified. Unfortunately a few of these strains have been associated with certain cancers of the genitals or rectum in both men and women. Therefore, it is important to have periodic follow-up examinations. Infected women should have regular pap smears done (every few months or yearly depending on their medical history).

What precautions can you take to prevent contracting genital warts? Using condoms in conjunction with a spermicide (containing nonoxynol-9) can be quite effective in preventing infection. This method may fail when the warts are in an area not covered by the condom or spermicide.

Other considerations for all sexually transmitted diseases (STDs):

Reinfection. One or more cases of a particular STD does not protect you from reinfection. Your body does not develop immunity to STDs. You can be reinfected after treatment ends. Also it is not uncommon to have more than one type of STD at the same time.

Early Diagnosis. If you learn that you may have been exposed to an STD or if you show any suspicious signs or symptoms, see a clinician for evaluation and treatment. Request your sexual partner(s) to do the same.

During a regular check-up ask your health care provider to check for STDs. If you know or think that you have been exposed to an STD, notify your health care provider of your exposure so he or she can evaluate and treat you.

For more information on sexually transmitted diseases please call the Health Education office at 549-2671, ext. 181.

"Just Bag It"

The Peer Health Promoters are at it again!! Visit the concourse to receive your free Spring Break Kit which contains, among other things, condoms and sunscreen samples. Wednesday, March 14th and Thursday, March 15th or until they run out!

UHS: user friendly

Health Education 549-2671 ext. 181

Clip & Curl
Phone: 665-2629
Tues.-Fri. 9-8
Sat. 9-4
Located on Rte. 116
in Sunderland
(Next to 7-11) on bus route
We sell & use Paul Mitchell's & Nexxus Products
Haircut with shampoo $11.50
Perms, include haircut $44-48
Colors $20-25
Part Perms $35
Frostings $35
Eyebrow Waxing $5
Long hair costs slightly more

INTRODUCING TWISTERS
HAPPY HOUR
Monday thru Friday 4 — 6:30 p.m.
Your choice:
Peel & Eat Shrimp
Anchor Wings
Mini Pizzas
Potato Skins
$1.90 each
Rolling Rock Draft 90¢
Absolut Cranberry & Soda $1.90
30 Boltwood Walk, Amherst, MA • 253-2663

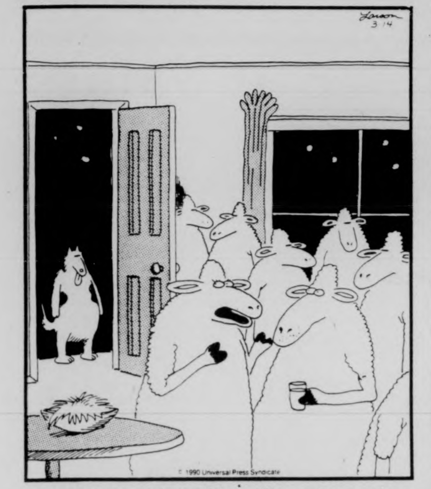
Save UP TO $80 on Gold Rings

Buy an ArtCarved college ring. It's one of the smartest investments you can make this year. Why? Because ArtCarved gold rings are crafted with the kind of quality you can put stock into. In fact, each ArtCarved college ring comes with a Full Lifetime Warranty. On top of that, ArtCarved college jewelry comes in a variety of men's and women's styles with lots of options. Now's the time to choose a memento of your college years that grows more valuable with time. Ask how you can save on gold acessories, too.

ARTCARVED
COLLEGE JEWELRY

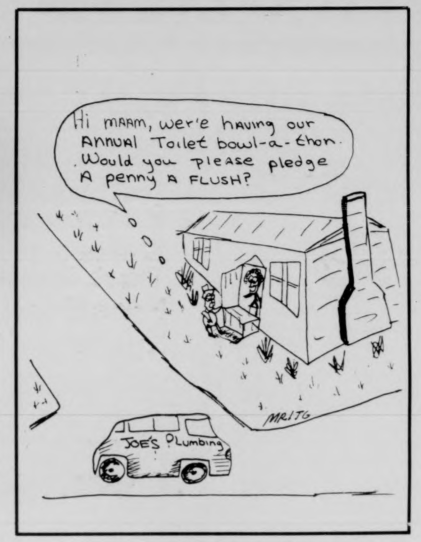
UNIVERSITY STORE 3/12-3/14 10-4
Location Date Time Deposit Required
Payment Plans Available

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



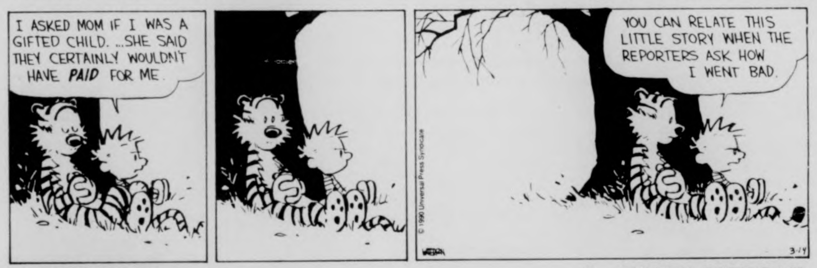
"Henry! Our party's total chaos! No one knows when to eat, where to stand, what to . . . Oh, thank God! Here comes a border collie!"

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



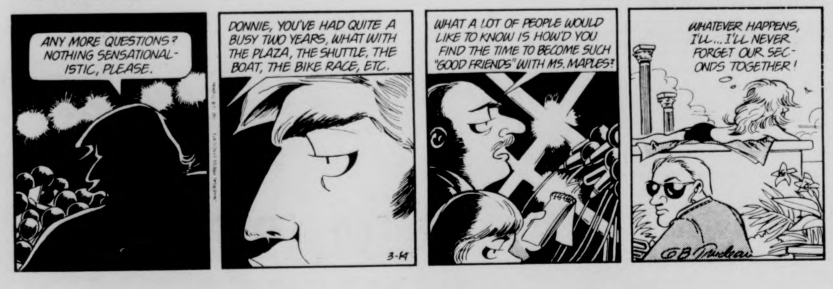
Hi maam, wer'e having our Annual Toilet bowl-a-thon. Would you please pledge A penny A FLUSH?
JOE'S PLUMBING
MRITG

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



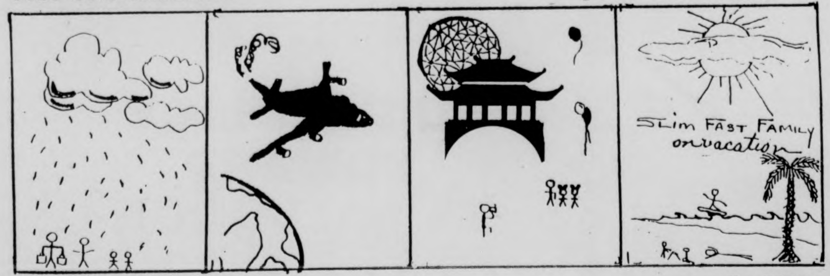
I ASKED MOM IF I WAS A GIFTED CHILD. ...SHE SAID THEY CERTAINLY WOULDN'T HAVE PAID FOR ME.
YOU CAN RELATE THIS LITTLE STORY WHEN THE REPORTERS ASK HOW I WENT BAD.
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
WATSON
3-14

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



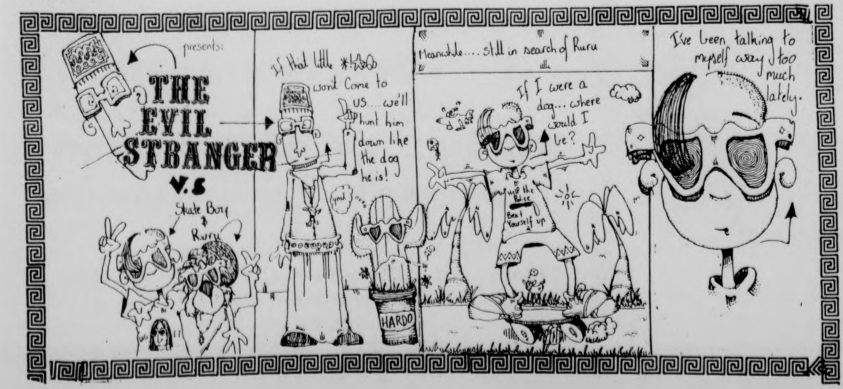
ANY MORE QUESTIONS? NOTHING SENSATIONALISTIC, PLEASE.
DONNIE, YOU'VE HAD QUITE A BUSY TWO YEARS, WHAT WITH THE PLAZA, THE SHUTTLE, THE BOAT, THE BIKE RACE, ETC.
WHAT A LOT OF PEOPLE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW IS HOW'D YOU FIND THE TIME TO BECOME SUCH "GOOD FRIENDS" WITH MS. MAPLES?
WHATEVER HAPPENS, I'LL... I'LL NEVER FORGET OUR SECONDS TOGETHER!
3-14
©B Trudeau

JUST ONE CALORIE
By MICHAEL DELOREY



SLIM FAST FAMILY on vacation

NIPPLE
By PITT



presents:
THE EVIL STRANGER
V.S
Skate Boy & Ruru
If that little *!☆☆ won't Come to us.... we'll hunt him down like the dog he is!
HARDO
Meanwhile.... still in search of Ruru
If I were a dog... where would I be?
Help the Police Beat Yourself up
I've been talking to myself way too much lately.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

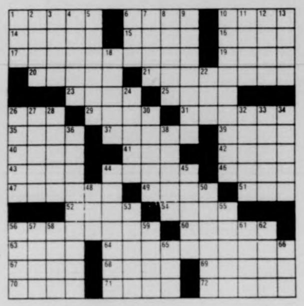
ACROSS
1 Lukewarm
6 Jason's craft
10 Panhandles
14 Sports palace
15 Star in Cetus
16 Hipbones
17 Pirate flag
19 A son of Jacob
20 Union unit
21 Forgave
23 Actress Anna May —
25 "David Copperfield" character
26 Lettuce variety
29 Tiber feeder
31 Sea or Islands
35 Midianite defeated by Gideon
37 Chuck —
39 Frogner Park locale
40 Actor O'Shea
41 — Mateo, Calif.
42 King of the Huns
43 Grant's —
44 Malice
46 Certain socials
47 Make possible
49 The transept crosses it
51 Bakery order
52 Egg part
54 Ashen
56 Put together
60 Type of orange
63 Jai follower
64 Tied
67 A Sprat's preference
68 Kitchen staple
69 Rust
70 Lichen
71 Aloof one
72 Lieu

DOWN
1 — Mahal
2 Piccadilly Circus sight
3 Trapper's prize
4 Relative by marriage
5 Ohio city
6 Latin I word
7 Latvian port
8 Diving bird
9 Rower
10 Male animal
11 Geographical abbr.
12 Be generous
13 Uttered
18 Extend a subscription
22 Violinist Bull
24 Understand
26 French nobleman
27 Hunter in the sky
28 Historic Alabama town
30 Bis!
32 Organic salt
33 Pacify
34 Cacophony
36 Coif items
38 Ready for use
44 "Pink Panther" Peter
45 Dale or Maurice
48 Avocat's specialty
50 Raises spirits
53 Oscar-winner Kline
55 Turn inside out
56 Pre-storm condition
57 Table spread
58 "Serpico" author Peter
59 Art —
61 Bacchanalian cry
62 Mother of Castor
65 Bird's beak
66 Actor Beatty

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

M	A	D	A	M	■	I	D	E	A	■	T	A	L	L
A	B	A	T	E	■	S	L	A	P	■	E	L	I	E
T	U	D	O	R	■	L	I	R	A	■	L	I	N	T
■	T	O	N	G	U	E	I	N	C	H	E	E	K	■
■	■	■	E	E	R	■	■	■	H	O	G	■	■	■
D	D	S	■	R	E	S	T	■	E	V	E	N	S	■
E	R	O	S	■	D	O	E	S	■	E	N	A	C	T
M	O	U	T	H	O	F	T	H	E	R	I	V	E	R
O	S	T	E	O	■	T	O	O	L	■	C	A	N	E
■	S	H	E	R	D	■	N	E	I	L	■	L	E	E
■	■	■	P	A	R	■	■	■	H	A	G	■	■	■
■	N	O	N	E	O	F	Y	O	U	R	L	I	P	■
L	I	V	E	■	N	E	A	P	■	G	A	V	E	L
A	C	E	S	■	E	L	L	E	■	E	R	A	T	O
P	E	N	S	■	S	T	E	N	■	R	E	N	E	W

3/14/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/14/90

MENU

LUNCH DINNER

Sorry, no menu today

BASICS LUNCH BASICS DINNER

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES(March 21-April 19): A good day for discussing technical matters. New ideas are sought by higher-ups. Innovative thinking is in great demand. Honesty commands respect. Be candid about what you want from your life.

TAURUS(April 2014-May 20): Exercise greater restraint around food and drink. Take a stock tip with a grain of salt. Romantic partner is willing to go along with a change in lifestyle. Avoid making conflicting statements.

GEMINI(May 21-June 20): Make allowances for unsettled conditions at home and turn on the charm. Someone who is slow to anger may be equally slow to forgive. Be careful not to tread on loved one's toes.

CANCER(June 21-July 22): You are commended for your past efforts. Postpone signing papers until you can obtain up-to-date information. A member of the opposite sex's vanity could be a real turn-off.

LEO(July 23-Aug.22): An uneasy feeling about a pending project should not be dismissed out of hand. A candid conversation between parent and child suggests possible solutions. An affluent friend proves helpful.

VIRGO(Aug.23-Sept.22): Do not ignore historical facts or you could lose a competition. Your charisma and intellect make you popular when you travel abroad. Family ties are more important than ever.

LIBRA(Sept.23-Oct.22): A phone call or small package brings good news. Ignore someone who tries to fan your anger by repeating negative comments. A positive attitude will help you reach your goals. Romance blossoms.

SCORPIO(Oct.23-Nov.21): Try to understand a difficult co-worker. You could solve a problem that has been plaguing you for weeks! Showing tender loving care will do wonders for your relationship. Make intelligent compromises.

SAGITTARIUS(nov.22-Dec.21): The price you will pay for something depends on how long you are willing to wait for it. Perseverance will put extra cash in your pocket. A new friendship or romance prospers.

CAPRICORN(Dec.22-Jan.19): Actively pursue the job or knowledge you want. Self-reliance will increase your earning potential. Try working alone. Self-discipline will help you overcome a weight problem.

AQUARIUS(Jan.20-Feb.18): Keep your promises or risk jeopardizing your role as a leader. A hilarious story boosts your spirits. A change in personnel could work to your advantage. Community service proves rewarding.

PISCES(Feb.19-March 20): A student's top priority is handing homework in on time. Be firm. A business manager could show you how to boost your earnings. Interesting new friends spice up your social life.

TODAY'S STAFF
Night Editor........................Janine Warner
Copy Editor..............................Al Kaufman
Layout Technician.....................Chris Ashe
Photo Technician.......................K.A. Burke
Production Supervisor...............Chris Ashe
Typesetter...................................Sue Kent
Production......Mike Scott, Paul Specht, Meg Trudell, Michael DeLorey

MULTICULTURAL AFFAIRS

American Indians not represented at UMass

The American Indian student population of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst is 0.3 percent. The number of American Indian administrators, faculty and full-time support staff is nonexistent.

American Indian students are the only group at UMass who are required (de facto) to be their own provider. They must act as their own recruiter, support staff, academic/guidance counselor, curriculum developer and instructor. When do they get to enjoy being a student?

Most other groups have identifiable representatives employed to advocate for their respective needs and wants. In the instant case the "first Americans" (an institutionally racist term) in fact are the "last Americans" — the last to receive equal access to quality education; the last to have their academic, cultural and spiritual needs met; the last to have administrators, faculty and staff who come from their community provide those services presently being performed by the American Indian students.

Gwin/Nguyen

They come in at the top of most negative statistics, such as dropout rates, low test scores and poor attendance, to mention but a few areas. This is in large part a reflection of the failure of the institution to meet the unique educational needs of the many Indian Nations and cultures represented at this campus.

The University is content to believe that Indians are a homogeneous society. This is a manifestation of their Euro-American ethnocentric mentality and totally negates the fact that there are more than ten Indian nations and cultures represented by that 0.3 percent of the University's population known as "American Indian."

As the strong spiritual leader, Sitting Bull, of the Hunkpapa Dakota said: "They made us many promises, but they kept only one, they promised to take our land and they took it."

The University of Massachusetts at Amherst, a land grant college, sits on some of the land that was "taken." The many Indian nations represented at the University, likewise, have been made many promises by the administration. However, the door to education which was promised to be opened to the Indian student, turned out to be a revolving door. The dearth of Indian representation on this campus remains as a stark reminder of the many promises made and broken by the administration. It must be quite painful for those administrators who are suffering from blisters on their lips from so much lip service.

The late Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr. once said: "Freedom is never voluntarily granted by the oppressor. It must be demanded by the oppressed."

By analogy, the hierarchy of the University will never voluntarily grant the American Indian constituency equal access to education. Therefore, Indians must demand their right to equal access to quality education from the administration and than act on their demand. The Indian students can no longer be expected to accept the minute concessions from the hierarchy of this University like table scraps thrown to "their adopted child."

The treatment of the Indian constituency at UMass has been one of benign neglect, at best, and blatant discrimination, at its worst. Until most recently, there seemed to be no curbing the 127-year-old history of mistreatment of the Indian constituency at UMass. One of the most distinguished and ardent supporters of the Indian community is Dr. Frederick Tillis, who has consistently acted on behalf of the Indians' struggle while others continue to vacillate amid their own personal or professional gains.

A new ground swell of support is reaching a peak that would have even repelled the infamous Lord Amherst. This support is from within all levels of the Five College community and is comprised of faculty, staff and students from four of the five colleges, along with the president of one of the colleges.

One of the new groups deals with the dearth of Indian representation within the Five Colleges. The second meeting of the "Five College Indian Studies Program" was on March 7. There were specific actions taken at this meeting to determine working goals and objectives. While on the other hand, students from four of the five colleges continue to meet and take direct action on those issues impacting Indian related issues on each of the campuses.

The distinguished members of the Subcommittee on Native American Issues was created by the Faculty Senate Council on the Status of Minorities over two years ago. This dedicated group must be applauded for their courage to break away from their predecessors' "sit and wait" mentality.

They have documented the results of their labor in a report entitled "Potency Of Invisibility: Native American Issues On Our Campus." Moreover, they have issued thirteen (13) cogent recommendations to the Faculty Senate Council which are:

1. That the University continue to use the Special Opportunities Fund to seek and encourage Native American recruitment and hiring on our campus. Further, that the Provost's Office reiterate this commitment to the Dean's Council whenever appropriate.
2. That the Office of Affirmative Action actively encourage and monitor recruitment and hiring efforts of Native Americans and that aggressive efforts of this office be supported by the various administrative and policy making bodies on campus.
3. That academic departments be required to articulate within various planning and budgetary documents the need for and placement of Native American faculty.
4. That Native American faculty be supported in developing and creating learning opportunities within their disciplines that are consistent with Native needs, language and culture.
5. That there be support for more visiting academic professionals, more interactive events with faculty and students by Native American visiting fellows, professionals, artists and leaders from the Native communities in North America and elsewhere. The Council urges a wider and more aggressive appeal to Native American leaders to assist in these efforts.

> In the instant case the "first Americans" (an institutionally racist term) in fact are the "last Americans."

6. That the University commit resources, coordination and creative leadership to begin to achieve the above mentioned recommendations. To this end, we recommend that the Provost's Office and the Office of Affirmative Action work with the Faculty Senate Council on the Status of Minorities and other groups on campus to map out and to strategically develop a five-to-ten-year plan for the future representation of Native American faculty and staff in the University.
7. That the University continue to support the American Indian Student Association as a Registered Student Organization in its efforts to sponsor Native American speakers and other programs for the University community and to promote social events that increase the visibility of Native American students on campus.
8. That the University continue to support the Native American Cultural Center.
9. That at least two full-time positions be obtained or targeted for recruitment and academic advising, the coordinator and/or academic advisor to work closely with the Cultural Center.
10. That the number of courses taught about Native Americans be increased. Some Native American courses should fill General Education requirements.
11. That a curricular review be conducted by individual faculty of materials, films and books that they use that might portray stereotypical images of Native American people. This would be an on going task utilizing the Native American Cultural Center as a resource.
12. That a course (2-3 credits) for incoming freshmen be conducted over an 8-12 week period related to civility in general and including specific attention to Native American concerns.
13. That a mandatory workshop be planned for Departmental Deans, staff and faculty members, designed to affect stereotypes and including a bibliography of study materials.

> It must be quite painful for those administrators who are suffering from blisters on their lips from so much lip service.

The adoption of these recommendations would merely put the Indian constituency at parity with the other groups on this campus, a condition that heretofore has not been enjoyed by the Indians. It is incumbent on the Faculty Senate Council to adopt those recommendations so as to insure that the Indian community will no longer suffer from the disparate treatment they have been subjected to in the past.

There is a clear recognition by individuals, departments and organizations throughout the Five College community of the ills of a misinformed administration on the issues impacting Indians.

Moreover, there is a surge of interest and a desire by many to reverse the existing trend of benign neglect of the Indian community, by the hierarchy of the University. This is best exemplified by the creation of "Five College Indian Studies Program," the "Five College Student organization dealing with Indian related issues" and the fiscal backing of $18,000 for the Indian Awareness Month activities scheduled for March.

There are numerous departments, student organizations and individuals from throughout the Five Colleges and their respective towns that have put their money into making this the largest event in recent years, to be co-sponsored by the American Indian Students Association.

The key element here is that the students have organized this conference which bring in the "cream of the crop" from the world of Indian educators, Indian government spokespersons and grassroots organizations.

The culminating event is a three day Pow Wow open to the public and free of charge. All of the participants (lecturers, singers and dancers) are coming here for less than half of their standard fees. This is a display of their solidarity with the Indian constituency here.

The students felt that it was more important for them to incur the costs associated with these events rather than have the public stay away because they could not afford to pay for this magnitude of a presentation. The notion is that it is more important for the non-Indian to become culturally sensitized to the Indian worlds than to have only those who can pay be present.

In summary, the Indian Awareness activity must not be looked upon as the answer to all of the issues pointed out above but that it reflects what can be done when we all stand together for a cause. Those events should be the catalyst for implementing the cogent 13 recommendations cited above.

The Indian constituency will not and can not be expected to wait for another semester to lapse before the administration takes the necessary action to end the disparate impact that exists at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst with regard to the Indians.

The Indian students have avenues of recourse available to them such as law suits, strikes or takeovers. There are those non-Indians who have advocated that one or more of these be exercised by the Indians. We await the administration's next timely decision before we move.

L. Buddy Gwin is a UMass student
Alexander Nguyen is a Collegian staff member

THE FIVE COLLEGE PROGRAM IN PEACE & WORLD SECURITY STUDIES PRESENTS:

PAWSS

SENATOR JOHN KERRY

A talk on:

"U.S. POLICY TOWARD EL SALVADOR IN THE 1990s"

Thursday, March 15th
11:15 AM - 12:30 PM
Student Union Ballroom
The University of Massachusetts

This event is free and open to the public. For more information call PAWSS at 549-4600, ext 519.

EURYTHMICS
EURYTHMICS
EURYTHMICS

Off-Campus Students

Know your rights!

Advocate

Be on the look-out for the March edition of the Student Rights Advocate around campus, a publication of the Legal Services Center.

AEROBICS at the Gym

- Hi-Impact
- Low-Impact
- Mixed Impact & More
- NEO-SHOCK Two phase floor specially designed for high impact Aerobics

for more information, Call 585-5911

The GYM at mountain farms mall

STRENGTH OF BODY, POWER OF MIND

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

 DON'T MISS OUT *****
The long awaited UMASS Guard/Beach Patrol tanks and tees have arrived, Concourse Wednesday and Thursday, or Call 546-4526

EVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE CLUB
!!! COME JOIN !!!
First organizational meeting March 14 Wednesday night at Seven PM
Where?
Skinner Hall Room 18

****
5-College Earthday Planning Meeting
Tonite 5pm S.U. 423B
****
"Take the Green Pledge!"

HAVE A MOST EXCELLENT SPRING BREAK! STEAMBOAT KILLINGTON JAMAICA BARBADOS
Bodacious trips at most triumphant prices UMASS Ski Club 545-3437

IT'S A BEACH PARTY in Greenough Snack Bar! Dress beachy, win a FREE sub. Wed. March 14th. Aloha!

UMASS TAE KWON DO
Train with us.
Mon. & Wed. 6:30 - 8:30 PM
For info. call Pete 6-5245
Marty 6-4078

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

CONGRATULATIONS UMASS HOOP
On a great season and good luck in the NIT! From the brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha

SENIORS-
We're gonna make history
March 29th CC 1009 9pm

THE UNIVERSITY PLAYERS next meeting is tonight, 7 PM, CC room 165-9.
Madge, I soaked in it.

VIETNAMESE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION
Congratulates
Toina & all RSO's involved in
Rock The Globe
A Great Success
An Awesome Party!

START YOUR OWN BUSINESS! Easy! Vending carts (hotdogs, soda, etc...) Build, Licensing & operation. Complete step by step instructions. Bissett Enterprises 156B St. George St. Duxbury, MA 02332 call (617) 934-5971

APARTMENT SPECIAL

A LIMITED TIME ONLY, Northwood Apts. is offering a 2 Bdr. apt. for the price of a 1 Bdr. For more information on this special offer, please call Lanice at 665-3856. Rent an apt. for March and receive $100.00 off our first months rent. We have student short term leases and free bus service every 15 minutes on weekdays to UMASS and Amherst. (Available to new residents only)

AUTO FOR SALE

77 MERCURY COMET runs and looks great $600 549-8349

1980 CHEVY MALIBU A/C, Cass, Runs excellent, No rust, $2000 OBO 665-7927

IS IT TRUE... Jeeps for $44 through the government? Call for facts! 1-708-742-1142 Ext. 5931-A

MUST SELL 79 LTDII
Good Condition
$350 546-1471

BEN SMITH

WE'LL MISS YOU! Your Love Slaves

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

HOTEL / RESORT / F & B / MANAGEMENT Don't limit yourself to those few companies that recruit On Campus. Explore all your possibilities. Call (508) 943-8807

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club Today! Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR RENT

NORTHAMPTON
MODERN 1 Bedroom Apartment
Steps from downtown
Available 4/1/90
455 + a month
Call Lori 527-1580 Daytime

ROOM FOR RENT Large room in nice house 250/mo & 1st,last & sec. 253-9104 or 256-8109

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR SALE

1982 FENDER BULLET & Peavey Back Stage plus Amplifier, $400.00 Nick 546-5897

FOR SALE: IBM Proprinter II like new $275 259-1786

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS MaryKay Cosmetics at wholesale Call Alison 253-2462

NEW CORT ACOUSTIC w/Gigbag 175.00 or BO Mike 256-1195

SKIS: Rossignol 170cm SM Competition. Solomon S626. Great Condition! Plus Poles and Boots! Must sell: $75 549-0840

WOMEN'S CHIC, petite, lightweight, leather jacket. Cinched waist, broad shoulder pads. Only worn once. $75 or best offer. Call Chris 253-2357.

FOUND

FOUND: Large Black male kitten. Found on campus 3/11. Call 546-1124 or 3280.

KEYS WITH GROVER chain near Prince Call Nikki 549-4079

SET OF FOUR KEYS, a whistle and a flourescent pink identification tag which says "Kristin" inside. Found on Friday the 9th. Call Kris at 6-8296

HELP WANTED

ATTENTION SORORITIES, FRATERNITIES, AND STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS!!!
Earn up to $2000 in one week helping with on and off campus marketing projects. Call immediately. Space is limited. Stuart 549-1864, Leave a message.

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for Spring, Christmas, and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext S-1120.

LOOKING FOR A fraternity, sorority, or student organization that would like to make $500-$1,000 for a one week On-Campus Marketing Project. Must be organized and hardworking. Call Elizabeth or Myra at 1-800-592-2121.

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SUMMER COUNSELORS
Outstanding NYS Co-ed
Resident Camp
Specialist/General
Gail 549-1331

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT
Camp Young Judaea, Amherst, New Hampshire (Resident, Co-ed, 1 hour from Boston) is in need of Department Directors and Activity Specialists for this summer in: Athletics, Gymnastics, Swim Instruction (WSI), Waterskiing, Sailing, Arts & Crafts, Campcraft, Israeli Dance, Drama, Israeli Folk Song, Riflery, Tennis, Photography, Office Personel and Nurses (R.N.) Excellent Salaries and fringe benefits. Please contact Dr. Charles B. Rotman, Director, 81 Kingsbury Street, Wellesley, MA 02181, 617-237-9410.

THERE'S A JOB FOR YOU IN A SUMMER CAMP
The American Camping Association (NY) will make your application avail. to over 300 camps in the Northeast. Exciting opportunities for college students and professionals. Positions avail: all land and water sports, kitchen, maintenance, arts and crafts, drama, music, dance, nature, tripping, R.N.'s, M.D.s College Credit Available. Call or write for application. American Camping Association, 12 West 31st Street, New York, NY 10001, 1-800-777-CAMP.

WIN $200 +
Design a "Cross Training" Athletic Shoe. Call Neil-Collect evenings 617-599-5686

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

 LEGAL INTERNSHIPS **

FALL 1990 INTERNSHIPS with the Legal Services Center; get hands-on experience in the legal field–work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits. No experience in the legal profession necessary--training provided. Apply early! Contact Legal Services today: 545-1995, 922 Campus Center. Start the application process now!

LOST

HELP! I lost my Ray-Ban Wayfarers on Thurs. 3/8-They are in a black case and are prescription lenses-Please help me find them! Call 546-1229 (They have tortoise shell frames)

LOST EYEGLASSES-Green in tan and white case. If found contact 6-8321.

LOST NEAR BOYDEN GYM: Class ring with blue stone. My name and SS inside. REWARD Please call 546-9559

PERSONALS

ATTENTION
ALL UMASS STUDENTS:
This is the day all you MASS men have been waiting for. Finally RACHEL S. GOLDSTEIN turns 21. She'll be rompin'and stompin' at Barsie's at 12:00 and YOU! YOU'VE GOT WHAT SHE NEEDS! Can you handle it? Love Leila, Michelle, and Paul. P.S. "What's one step down from a pig?"

BODLE-
Even Bo shouldn't play handball.
Just leave basting the ham to Paul.
The walls have ears...

DON, ONLY TWO MORE DAYS and we're off! Get ready for the beach. I love you lots. Marla

FOUND
The bestest terrific fun
Munchacha...with virtuous friendship. Have a super B-Day.
Meet you in FLA

FOXTROT
How about it?
You & me
Exnoctus!
I have the beer!
Cowboy

HAPPY BIRTHDAY CROCK
Sorry we're late
From - 4th Floor

HEIDI, SURPRISE! Surprise! Happy 19th Birthday! Yours Truly - Fern.

HEY C.S.J.
Our nights are starting to become a habit (but a good one!). Thanks for a memorable time. Give me a call and maybe we can do it again!
-me

JODY RACHEL- Sorry I'm a day late. We did it-I can't believe it myself. Congratulations we made it through one whole year. We beat all the odds and stayed together. We've kept the fire burning and yet neither of us has gotten burned. My heart still melts from a look from your eyes, I love you my Princess cause True love never dies.
Love, David

JONNY O'
For always putting a smile on my face
...I Love You!!

KATHY LEWIECKI Happy 21st Birthday Mary Esther will miss you!

MACA- 142F Brittany
Tom have a Happy 22nd Birthday today!
Love Marianne

MIKE K.
Pogue Mahone Babe!
What about those boxers?
Let's do tea. Brilliant!!
Thurs. 10:00 PM Bluewall
Jean & Beth

NENI
Cada dia mmucho mas!
No lo puedo evitar
Llevate mis orejitas yaqtqmemtactma
Mientras camino pienso si sabes
143!

TO KNOBS
I got my own beautiful girl!
I love you!
NUBS

TO MY MINUTEMAN-Get psyched for Florida! I am going to be tanner than you! Don't forget March 21 Thanks for your support. I Love You-D.

TO THE UMASS FAN on bus 505 to Temple: Thanks for the orange-wouldn't mind seeing you again sometime-respond here -JJ

TRISIGMA WELCOMES our newest pledges: Jen, Laura, Tonya, and Darla. Love the Sisters of TriSigma

ZUMASS NOVA- Thanks for proving nice men do exist. You're a special friend
-Your Noho BK admirer

PIZZA

COLLEGE PIZZA
SPRING SPECIAL
small cheese $3.50
large cheese $5.99
2 additional toppings
ONLY $1 more
GOOD only Sun-Thurs
!Must Mention This Ad!

RIDE WANTED

BACK TO UMASS from Ithaca 3/24 or 3/25 will share $ Call Dave 549-7907

FROM NJ (Anywhere esp. south) back to UMASS end of break. $$ Call ASAP Please 546-5457

GOING TO NJ VIA NY, Port Authority Call 546-7068 after 10 PM

ROOM FOR RENT

BEAUTIFUL ROOM
Mill Valley Estates
S. Amherst
Call Joe/Dee
256-0662

CALL 546-4204 If you have a room to rent for Spring Break

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

LOOKING FOR FEMALE for 2 bedroom Apt in Southwood Apts., Sunny, next to bus stop, fully equipped kitchen, 1½ bathrooms, new carpet, great place, more info call 546-7354

SHARE A NICE ROOM in Townhouse Apts. 181.25 Move A.S.A.P. 549-6063

TWO BEDROOMS IN A great old house in North Leverett. Beautiful area in the hills. $205, Free heat. 367-9861

SERVICES

DOES YOUR PROSPECTIVE CAREER HAVE POTENTIAL? Earnings, working conditions, educational requirements, employment outlook analyzed. For FREE Sample Career Packet phone (315) 253-4794. Leave name and mailing address on machine.

RESUMES! I will do your resumes for $10 to $30 less than the local print shops! Call me evenings! Rick 586-1642

 RESUME TYPESETTING *****
2 yrs. experience. Lowest rates.
Professional results guaranteed.
Scott 586-5822

SUMMER RENTALS

"CAPE COD SUMMER RENTAL" Sleeps 6-7 furnished W.Yarmouth-close to beaches, downtown Hyannis, and hot spots. Reserve early-available weekends for job hunting. Call after 5 PM (508) 477-3586

305 THATCHER

JOHN M. IN 305 THATCHER
" The sun is up, the sky is blue.
It's beautiful and so are you
Dear John won't you come out to play."
-Linda

TRAVEL

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

NEED A RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Spring Break Special
$15 One way fare
to Bradley Airport
Call Now!
Limited Seating
Valley Transporter
256-8484

ROUNDTRIP LOGAN TO PALM BEACH 3/18-23. $175 or BO Call 549-0892

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING.
$1.75/pg. Campus pickup.
Gloria, 323-5140.

FAST ACCURATE TYPING
Spell Check $1.75/pg
Call Ashley at 546-6756

TYPING WORD PROCESSING, Dissertations, Reports, Resumes Laser printing 259-1786

WORDPERFECT, LETTER-QUALITY Print, Spellcheck, Fast. Call Tim 549-0546.

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

$100.00 for positive ID of the people who broke the head off the sign at Roosters Restaurant. PS Leonard 256-6888

GUY IN GORMAN WITH WHITE CAP
Sat next to your friend PETE on way to Temple. Need his number - Can you help? Call 6-8477.

WANTED: SUMMER ADMISSIONS ASSISTANT

SOPHMORES & JUNIORS- The Undergraduate Admissions Office is hiring two Summer Admissions Assistants to interview prospective students, lead tours & handle other public-relations duties. This is a full-time job paying $7/hr. Job descriptions are available in the Admissions office, next to Gorman. Application deadline: April 9, 1990

SPORTS

Softball team ready for A-10 title defense

Minutewomen have youthful look for 1990

By DAN SARAZEN
Collegian Staff

Sports Information photo

Junior Jen Miller is one of the veterans who will be counted on to carry the load for this year's softball team.

Last year, for the first time ever, the University of Massachusetts softball team traveled to California for a 13-game road trip. Although they lost 10 of those games, the experience proved invaluable in the long run as the Minutewomen finished the season at 35-19 and won the Atlantic 10 Conference.

This year, the team will leave on its spring tour and will play the likes of San Jose, Cal-Berkeley, Fresno St. and Utah St. These teams are national powerhouses and will all have about 25 games under there belts.

On Friday, UMass will practice for the first time on grass. "I feel mentally better about this trip then last year," said coach Elaine Sortino, "Last year I didn't really know what to expect."

As for her players, Sortino sees new responsibilities for her returning players. "Seven people know what to expect." Those seven are co-captains Mary Duff and Jenn Miller as well as Chris Collins, Cherie DellAnno, Jen Devlin, Holly Aprile and Bonnie Schilling.

The veteran players may well find the task of leading this very young team (there is only one senior), the key element that will decide the Minutewomen's chemistry.

"Those seven need to do the job," said Sortino. "They need to lead by example; do as I do."

The first challenge of this year will be to fill the gaps left after the loss of three of last year's key players, Barbara Meehan, Chris Wanner and Jenn Vaillancourt.

That burden will fall on the shoulders of everyone on the team at every position:

PITCHING:

With Wanner gone, and along with her her 1.31 ERA, the pitching staff will have to answer some questions early.

Returning from her freshman season, where she led the pitching with a 22-11 record and a 1.19 ERA, is Holly Aprile. Aprile has been working on her change-up, drop and curve, and the results have pleased Sortino. "She's worked hard to develop those pitches and increase her control."

Possibly the most mechanically-pure pitcher on the team is Devlin. Although she started only nine games last season, Devlin finished off the season with a 1.69 ERA and opponents batted only .057 against her. However, if Devlin is to help this staff she will have to cut down on the walks.

Sortino describes freshman Darlene Claffey as a "hard worker with a great curve ball." Claffey's hard work in practice has impressed Sortino. "She does not pitch like a freshman," she said.

Every team needs a junk pitcher and that is exactly what freshman Kendall Hodson is. "When you bat against her," said Sortino, "all kinds of different speeds come at you."

The main theme of the staff has to be youth. The most experienced player at the college level is Aprile. This pitching staff will have to grow up in a hurry and the trip to California may just be the ideal way to achieve that goal.

DEFENSE:

Maybe the most difficult position to fill is that of catcher, and this team has a very capable receiver in Cherie DellAnno.

Last year, DellAnno made just 12 errors in over 210 chances. As good as DellAnno is, she cannot play every inning of every game as catcher. There are three other women vying for the job of backup. They are Sherri Kuchinskas, Donna Koczajowski and Beth Fulcher.

Although nothing is set in stone, some things seem to be getting set in the infield.

Schilling will move to first base to replace Vaillancourt. Last year Schilling played sparingly at first but made only four errors in over 100 chances. Backing up Schilling will be Claffey.

At second base will be Miller, who must have a strong presence in the infield. "She needs to take charge," said Sortino. Last year Miller compiled a .941 fielding percentage, with 147 put outs and 122 assists. Second finds plenty of depth with Laurie Dondarski and Stacey Nichols, both freshmen and both able to do the job.

Mary Duff will move to the outfield leaving the position of shortstop open. Amy Cockley, a freshman, will be given the opportunity to claim the spot. Cockley, at 5-foot-7, should have the size needed to fill the position without taking the beating that Duff did.

The closest competition is coming from the battle for third base. Junior Chris Collins has a tentative hold on the hot spot, but is quickly followed by both Dawn Albert and Tiffany Hodson.

The outfield is still full of questions. The only position that has been claimed is center field and that will be played by Duff. When she is not pitching, Aprile will in all likelihood be in left field. When Aprile is pitching, both right and left will be open to Claffey, Albert, Kuchinskas and possibly Dondarski.

Defense needs to be this team's strength. "Defense is our team's goal for our respectibilty," Sortino said. "We might not catch every ball, but we will dive for all of them."

OFFENSE:

Coach Sortino uses no hedges here, this will be a scratch and pick offense. "It's a repeat of last year," she said. "We're not fast and were going to have to find ways of manufacturing runs."

Duff comes back with the best on-base percentage on the team, thanks primarily to her ability to bunt her way on. Her final batting average for last season was .302. She also led the team in stolen bases with 13.

Aprile is also a major ingredient in the offense. Last year she batted .262, led the team in homers and also had 18 runs batted in.

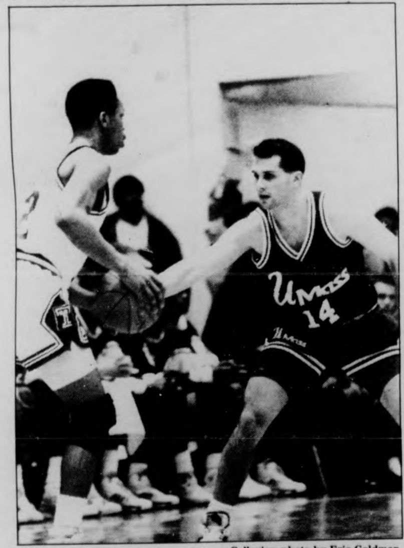
COACHING:

Sortino has been coaching at UMass since 1980 and has compiled a 281-115-1 record. With the help of assistant coaches Gina LaMandre, who is starting her fourth year, and Kim Seitzinger, starting her second, the theme of the coaching staff will be hard work and sacrifice.

In the overall analysis, this team will be competitive, as will be Penn St., Temple and Rutgers. If this team is to qualify for the A-10 championship, the team chemistry will have to come as close to last year's as possible. If it improves on last year, we could be seeing some good softball come May.

Some teams not happy to be in the NIT

Maryland and Penn State miffed over NCAA snub



Collegian photo by Eric Goldman

Senior guard Cary Herer and the UMass basketball team are happy to be in the NIT, but that isn't the case with every team in the tournament. The University of Maryland, the Minutemen's first-round opponent, feels it should be in the NCAAs.

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

While the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team is happy with its bid to the National Invitational Tournament, there are a few teams that would rather be playing elsewhere this weekend.

The University of Maryland, the Minutemen's first round opponent tomorrow night at 8 p.m. at Cole Field House, thought it should have received a berth in the "Big Show", a.k.a. the NCAA Tournament.

But last week, the Terrapins were nailed with a two-year probation. The major incident allegedly was that the school was providing transportation for former player Rudy Archer, who had transferred to a community college.

Because Archer had transferred out, he was a recruitable athlete, and therefore it was tampering on the part of the Terrapins. This all occurred under former coach Bob Wade, who was dismissed last year.

First-year Maryland coach Gary Williams, who replaced Wade, feels that is the only reason his 18-13 team shouldn't be in the NCAAs.

"I hope [the decision] was based on merit, and that nothing else was considered," Williams said of the selection process.

Whatever the case, look for Maryland to try and make the best out of its last tournament appearance until at least 1993.

Williams wasn't the only coach questioning the NCAA selections.

Penn State coach Bruce Parkhill, whose team UMass eliminated in the Atlantic 10 Conference semifinals last week at the Palestra in Philadelphia, stated after the loss that he thought his team should still make the Field of 64 with its 21-8 record.

But when the picks were announced Sunday in Kansas City, Penn State was a leftover for the NIT, which some people call the "National Insignificant Tournament," or the "Not Interesting Tournament."

"I have a problem with how the NCAA selects its teams," Parkhill said. "It's really hard to figure out what the criteria are for getting in. Therefore, they should let everybody in.

"I felt we were right there from 63-67," Parkhill said. "But to be honest, I didn't have a good feeling about it."

One of the probable reasons Penn State didn't get in was strength of schedule. Teams with tougher opponents got the benefit of the doubt over teams with impressive records against fair competition.

Which tends to legitimize the Notre Dame selection. According to NCAA selection committee chairman Jim Delany, a lot of weight was put on how a team finished its season. Big late-season wins byt the Irish over Syracuse and Missouri didn't hurt.

Therefore, a team like DePaul got squeezed out. Rumors were circulating Monday that Joey Meyer's Blue Demons were so incensed at the snub, they were going to turn down the subsequent NIT invite. But the date was kept.

On the other hand, Rutgers played a killer schedule, challenging the likes of Missouri, Syracuse, Seton Hall, Cincinnati, Notre Dame, St. John's and of course, the A-10 schedule. So at 16-16, the Scarlet Knights are not only in the NIT, but they host Holy Cross on Friday at the RAC.

Another reason the NIT isn't the NCAA: Some people have called to inquire why we don't have an NIT tournament pool to go along with the traditional NCAA fun.

The answer is simple: It's impossible. The NIT decides to re-seed the teams after every round, which means that no one knows who the next opponent may be. Actually, that would make the contest even more fun, eh? If anyone wants to try it, I'd like to see the results.

Buses scheduled

Once again, for those of you who braved the last trip, there will be buses heading to College Park, Md. for Thursday night's NIT game between the University of Massachusetts and the University of Maryland.

The bus will depart from Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium at 8 a.m. Thursday, and will return immediately following the game.

Tickets are $33 per person for the bus, while game tickets are $12 for adults and $6 for students with a valid ID. Reservations for the bus can be made in 207 Boyden today. Game tickets can be purchased in the Boyden Ticket Office today from noon to 8:30 p.m.

WEATHER
Spring break, here we come -- Partly sunny skies today with highs in the 70s.

THIS WEEKEND
Rock legend J.J. Cale to bring 'Cocaine' to Pearl Street Tuesday. In our addictive pullout.

SPORTS
Will the 'real' McCoy help UM hoop crush the Terrapins in the NIT? Page 12.

THURSDAY
THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY THURSDAY, MARCH 15, 1990
COLLEGIAN
VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 32

Duffey to start double-duty

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

Collegian file photo

Chancellor Joseph Duffey

Chancellor Duffey does not want to be called "president."

At least, not yet.

"I'm just not comfortable with the title of 'president,'" he said. "But maybe I'll get used to it."

Tomorrow, David Knapp is scheduled to resign from his post as University of Massachusetts president. The Board of Regents of Higher Education is expected to confirm Duffey as president on Saturday.

Duffey will be the first UMass chancellor to hold the dual role of chancellor and president. As president, he reports to the board of trustees and will coordinate the Amherst, Boston and Worcester campuses.

Duffey, who reluctantly accepted the position, said he plans to reduce ambiguity surrounding the role of the president.

"The office may have been suffering from a lack of definition," he said.

Duffey said aside from coordinating the campuses, he intends to decentralize the president's office, offering only assistance and not "hassles" to the other University chancellors.

Though he foresees the president's office being scaled down over a period of six months, Duffey said it is "premature to discuss potential layoffs" of personnel in the Boston office.

Although support for Duffey's appointment has been predominantly favorable, the Boston and Worcester campuses have expressed concerns about the consolidation of power in Amherst, the largest of the three campuses.

Provost O'Brien said though the Boston office will be scaled down and Duffey plans to do much of the work out of Amherst, Duffey will work closely with the Boston office. Duffey said he plans to meet with Boston administrators once a week.

Describing the chancellorship as a "CEO" position, bearing the burden of final responsibility for managing the Amherst campus, Duffey said it also entails keeping good relations with the state, University alumni and the country.

"But the running of the University is not a one-man-band," he said.

During the transitional period of moving the president's office to Amherst, other fellow administrators will have to shoulder additional campus-related work.

O'Brien, also executive vice chancellor and second in the University's chain of command, said there has been "no formal plan" for adapting to Duffey's new role as president. He said he and others intend to "play it by ear."

"I now serve as deputy-chancellor when the Chancellor

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Premarked ballots hinder SGA election

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Even as votes continued to be tallied from Tuesday's Student Government Association election yesterday, word throughout the Senate suggested no one will officially be ratified as either the trustee or president in the immediate future.

Preliminary results from the elections yesterday showed trustee candidate Angus McQuilken 68 votes ahead of Bob Monaghan, with Victoria Clement a distant third.

In the presidential race, John Silveria led by about 20 votes over Natasha Diephuis. Ken Parker remained in third place.

Voters filed two complaints with the Student Attorney General's office Tuesday stating that ballots at the Newman Center ballot box already had Silveria's name marked on them. This was where students from the Greek Area cast their votes.

Ross Condit, chair of the Governmental Affairs Committee said the premarked ballots could jeopardize the entire election. No action has been taken regarding the marked ballots, he said.

"We had very few people to police the entire voting process. Things like this happen every year," Condit said.

Student Attorney General Jonathan Anastas said his office is collecting more information regarding the complaints. "To the best of my knowledge, these actions were only in the Greek Area," he said.

Official results should be available by tomorrow, Condit said.

"There are a lot of things that don't add up in this election," Condit said.

Missing alphabetical lists from the Southwest North (Kennedy and Coolidge), Sylvan and Northeast, led to a delay in tallying votes, Condit said Tuesday.

"I'll be getting a master list from the Registrar's office at 9 a.m. [today]. Hopefully we can get the votes counted by [tonight]," Condit said.

Solicitors investigated

Amherst police initiate charity probe

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

Amherst police yesterday initiated an investigation of downtown solicitors who claim to collect funds for three allegedly fraudulent charities.

These solicitors stop people in front of downtown Amherst Post Office, the Heritage Bank and CVS, claiming to represent a charitable cause. The three charities they claim to collect for are the Black Student Association, Darwa, and the so-called "D.W.H.E."

One solicitor, said that both Darwa and the D.W.H.E. are Muslim organizations which are based in 557 Union St. in Springfield, but he said he couldn't recall the phone number at that time.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

Photojournalist: American media tainted with disinformation, bias

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

The American media has built an "electronic curtain" around its people through disinformation, cultural and political biases, a former Time Magazine photojournalist said last night.

Harry Mattison told a crowd of at least 100 people in the Student Union Ballroom about his experiences on both sides of the "electronic curtain," showing pictures that he shot in Nicaragua, El Salvador, Lebanon and South Africa.

In his lecture entitled "The Electronic Curtain," Mattison said, "I think about electronic curtains and what side I have

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

GIDDY-UP – A man rides a horsecart at Sharlu Farms in Leverett yesterday afternoon.

■ Duffey preps

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

is out of town," O'Brien said. "I guess I will have to do that more often now."

Gordon Oakes, chairman of the UMass board of trustees, said he believes it will be "very difficult to say what impact" Duffey's new role will have on the Amherst campus, but expects that no substantial changes will take place.

"The new job will be extremely difficult," said the man who wants to be Chancellor. "I'll do the best I can."

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief	Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor	George Austin
Editorial Editor	Minu Sebastian
News Editor	Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor	Jim Clark
Arts Editors	Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor	Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor	Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor	Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor	Chris Muther
Business Manager	Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager	Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager	Martina Rios
Circulation Manager	Chris Baker
Subscription Manager	Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager	Donna Cusson
Production Managers	Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager	Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business	Lori Black, Brian Harrington Maureen Majerowski
Graphics	Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

LGB Forum

THURSDAY, MARCH 15, 1990

Planning committee — There will be a meeting for people interested in joining this spring's Awareness Week planning committee in the LBGA office, Student Union room 413 from 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Film — "Waiting for the Moon," the story of the lives of Gertrude Stein and her life-long partner Alice B. Toklas, two Americans who lived in France in the early 20s, will be shown in Campus Center room 805-809 at 7 p.m.

FRIDAY, MARCH 16, 1990

Coffee Social — The LBGA will sponsor a coffee social in the Campus Center from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Free refreshments will be served.

TUESDAY, MARCH 27, 1990

LBGA meeting — The LBGA will hold a business meeting in the LBGA office, Student Union room 413 at 6:30 p.m.

LBWU meeting — The Lesbian, Bisexual, Women's Union will hold a meeting in the LBGA office in the Student Union room 413 at 8:30 p.m.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1990

Faculty/Staff meeting — A faculty/staff group meeting will be held in the Campus Center from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The Lesbian, Gay Bisexual Forum runs every Thursday

TOWER Theaters
THE VILLAGE COMMONS • SOUTH HADLEY • 533-2663

Glory
March 16-22—Weekdays at 6:30 & 8:45/Sat. & Sun. at 4, 6:30 & 8:45 p.m.
(Matinee Tues.-Thurs. 3 p.m. at $3)

CLAUDE CHABROL
STORY OF WOMEN starring
ISABELLE HUPPERT
FRANCOIS CLUZET
March 16-22—Weekdays at 7 & 9:05/Fri. at 5:45, 7:45 & 9:45/Sat. & Sun. at 3:30, 5:45, 7:45 & 9:45 p.m.
(Matinee Tues.-Thurs. 3 p.m. at $3)

SUPPORT GAY PARENTS!!!

R+P
LIQUOR STORE
Check out our new location
505 West St. Rte. 116
close to Brittany & Riverdale
1 mile south on 116
Bring us your empties

A HEALTHY COMPLEXION AND BODY
begins with a deep pore cleansing treatment and a full body massage.
Improves how you look and feel relaxing • refreshing revitalizing
also lash and brow tinting and hair waxing.
AESTHETICS
THERAPUTIC SKIN CARE AND MASSAGE
AMHERST • 253-9879

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID'. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

Bob Dobbs
GIVE & TAKE

THE FIVE COLLEGE PROGRAM IN PEACE & WORLD SECURITY STUDIES PRESENTS:
PAWSS
SENATOR JOHN KERRY
A talk on:
"U.S. POLICY TOWARD EL SALVADOR IN THE 1990s"
Thursday, March 15th
11:15 AM - 12:30 PM
Student Union Ballroom
The University of Massachusetts
This event is free and open to the public.
For more information call PAWSS at 549-4600, ext 519.

tips idb
Student Affairs Information Services
Information Data Bank
and the
Taped Information Phone Service
RESIDENCE HALLS CLOSE AT 6:00pm TOMORROW FOR SPRING BREAK!
Call 545-1540 for "TIPS" about arrivals and departures.
Ask for these tapes by number:

1302	Applying to the University
7001	Campus Center Hotel
1530	Commencement
1041	Full time Second Bachelors Degree
2427	Placement Services and Job Interviews
1034	Professional and Graduate School Exams
7000	Residence Hall Closing
1038	Study Abroad
1320	Transferring to UMASS
1040	University Without Walls
2621	Tour Information

If you have further questions call IDB at 545-1555
Information Data Bank (IDB)
Taped Information Phone Service (TIPS)

LOCAL

Condoms become household item

By LISA MILLEGAN
Collegian Staff

For University of Massachusetts students, "condom" has become more than a household word.

Now it is part of the household.

Located in residence hall lavatories and laundry rooms, condom vending machines have been installed for the first time this semester as part of a campaign to encourage safe sex on campus.

"We wanted at least some condoms to be more easily available to students," said Dr. David Kraft, head of University Health Services and chairman of the University Health Council.

Since their installation in January, about $1,000 worth of condoms have been sold in the 40 residence halls, according to Spencer Peterman of S and S Vending.

The idea surfaced one year ago when the health council sent a letter to Joseph Zannini, executive director of Housing Services, recommending that the machines be installed.

Housing administrators had no objection to the move, but plans were stalled to find and approve bidders until January when S and S Vending was given the go-ahead, said Robert Campbell, associate director of maintenance and operation at housing services.

"We always supported the recommendations of the health council in terms of the positive effects condom machines would have on the interrelations between men and women," he said.

Kraft said he hopes the presence of the machines in a public place will make more students choose to use condoms.

To emphasize the importance of condom use, he cited a recent survey of college students at 19 universities, including UMass, which found that two out of every 1,000 students tested positive for AIDS.

"That might mean as many as 50 students here could be carrying the HIV virus," he said, extrapolating the results.

More frequently transmitted sexually transmitted diseases such as chlamydia and genital warts also can be prevented with condom use, he said.

"People often don't realize that chlamydia can cause infertility and genital warts can be pre-cancerous," he said.

According to a March 8, 1990 New York Times article, "More than 13 million Americans caught a sexually transmitted disease over the last year and 63 percent were people 24 years old and younger."

Students living in the residence halls had mixed reactions toward the machines in interviews last week.

"It's really scary that many of my friends have thought that they were completely protected from disease because they were on the Pill," said a freshman woman from Van Meter Residence Hall. "Now, maybe people will think about using condoms."

Adam Scales, a junior living in Mackimmie Residence Hall, said he thinks the machines are "definitely a good idea because they encourage students to think about condoms as they're doing their laundry or passing by. It's a nice topic of conversation."

Several students said they thought the condom machines were either poorly-placed or poorly-publicized in the dorms.

One student said she mistook the condom machines for laundry detergent dispensers.

"I thought, 'oh good' because I'm running out of laundry detergent," said a freshman woman from Knowlton who was too embarassed to divulge her name. "And then I saw 'Free and Easy Lifestyles' condoms and I was so surprised."

She added: "It's strange to have them here because this is an all-girls dorm. But, a lot of girls have boyfriends come over."

Collegian photo by John Woo

Van Meter resident Peter Kleinmann buys a condom from a dispenser machine recently installed in his dorm.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

AHHHHH — Senior French major Susan Breeding takes a break from classes and enjoys the great weather yesterday afternoon.

Draft assures grad rights

GSS approves policy to guarantee hearings

By MARGARET McATEER
Collegian Staff

The Graduate Student Senate Tuesday unanimously approved a policy draft aimed at assuring graduate students of their right to disciplinary hearings before a hearing board.

The draft mandates that a hearing board will consist of three members with at least one graduate student and one faculty member. A board of appeals will also be formed with three members of the Graduate Council.

According to Vice-president Pierre Laliberte, the graduate students have never had a defined hearing process.

The Dean of Graduate Students currently. has total power in dealing with disciplinary problems, Laliberte said.

This power was never really used until several graduate students were suspended for participating in the protests against Defense Department-financed research last spring, he said. Their suspensions prompted the drafting of this policy

The policy will come to a floor vote in the Graduate Council. If passed, it will be used as an interim policy until the Faculty Senate and the board of trustees votes on it this fall.

"We are trying to push things as fast as we can," said President Catalina Castillon Dodson.

Approval by these groups will result in the adoption an official policy.

Prof.: cosmetics industry refutes the female image

By CHRISTIN COLLINS
Collegian Correspondent

Kathy Peiss, University of Massachusetts women's studies and history professor, yesterday said the cosmetics industry has proven detrimental to women in the society.

In the sixth in a series of Women's Studies Brown Bag Lunches, Peiss said she has a negative attitude toward cosmetics and what it represents in our society.

In her lecture entitled "Making Up is Hard To Do," Peiss said the $10 billion cosmetics industry is harmful to the perception of women in our society because it implies that one's external essence is who you are.

Peiss, a self-proclaimed feminist, spoke about the history of the makeup industry in the United States and the relationship of feminism to cosmetics.

The cosmetics industry was developed in the late 19th and early 20th century. Cosmetics were associated with prostitution in the late 19th century and the cosmetics industry tried to eradicate this negative association by presenting makeup in a positive light, Peiss said.

The industry appealed to the American affinity for cleanliness and healthiness, portraying happy and health young children in their advertisements, she said.

Peiss said, "The industry asserted that the new woman should wear cosmetics as a signifier of her modernity."

Early in the development of the industry the rich and idle women who liked to be pampered were targeted, said Peiss. By making cosmetics attractive to the upper classes other classes became a market to target.

Peiss said, the industry tried to appeal to all different types of women by advertising to working, outdoor and active women.

Feminist opposition to the cosmetic industry in the 1960s attacked the "notion of artifice," Peiss said. Feminists were concerned with appearing sincere and revealing their true selves and not covering themselves up with makeup, she said.

"The natural look became the politically correct position," she said.

Peiss said, with the variety of cosmetics today Clinique is the feminist cosmetic of choice. Clinique does not objectify women in their advertisements and they concentrate primarily on skin care, she said.

Peiss said, "Clinique successfully targeted women who don't want to appear as objects."

On March 27, the series will feature Jane Benbow, Mary Jo Connelly, Meesik Kwon and Fredi Munger, who will discuss "Rethinking Women in Development."

A different lecturer is featured each Wednesday in the Campus Center.

SGA: Minuteman photos not a campaign impropriety

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

In a 3-30 vote with 12 abstentions, the Undergraduate Student Senate voted last night that a photograph of two candidates appearing on the back page of Tuesday's edition of The Minuteman was not a campaign impropriety.

A letter sent to the Chair of the Governmental Affairs Committee Ross Condit Tuesday contained inquiries into whether or not the page was an endorsement or an advertisement.

A photograph of Student Trustee candidate Bob Monaghan and his running mate Student Government Association President candidate John Silveria was placed on the last page of Tuesday's issue when Minuteman Editor-in-Chief W. Matthew Whiting discovered there was blank space at press time.

Whiting said it is not normal procedure to notify a person when his/her picture will be put in an issue of The Minuteman, a non-partisan, non-profit campus publication. He also said it was neither an advertisement nor an endorsement for the Monaghan/Silveria ticket.

"I made a decision as editor-in-chief at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon to run that photo," Whiting said. "They are my friends. I could've chosen any picture I wanted to. I chose to put the picture of my two friends on that page."

A motion was made by Condit to deduct $250 from both the Silveria and Monaghan campaigns, the cost of an advertisement in the newspaper, which would leave them each with minus $25 in campaign funds and expel them from the election.

The photograph appeared the day of the elections on the back page under the heading: "Who Reads The Minuteman?" The bottom of the page stated: "Bob Monaghan Student Trustee Candidate and John Silveria Student President Candidate The Choice for Students."

· In other SGA news:

- Commuter Area Senator Angus McQuilken proposed a motion to recognize April 11 and 12 as days of education and action against the state budget cuts.

The two-day period will include bus trips to Boston Commons for an April 12 rally.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Changing archaic beliefs

Homosexuality means love and is no different from heterosexuality. It also means making love, and making love is an act humans do or desire to do sometime in their lives. In fact, safe sex, purely for safe sex's sake, is the most practical collegiate pastime, as well as the most realistic.

Saad Hopkins

It saddens me, and others, that the closet for some still remains the only place where sexual expression (a basic need) and comfort are one. For some, it continues to be a frustrating act because sex is suddenly enjoyed only via the pain of anonymity.

A fellow UMass student, Bryan R. Herbert, once stated in a Minuteman article that "The Supreme Court has taken the word "Speech" (from "Freedom of Speech") out of our Founding Fathers' law and replaced it with expression."

Naturally, "speech" is the result of our expression. America is a "melting pot," and it's difficult to live in a diverse culture such as ours without someone getting pissed off at someone else about something and not expressing it.

Sexuality is an expression that is open to opinion and constructive criticism. By Mother Nature's definition, sex is to be had between two people in, or wishing to pursue being in, love.

However, laws, prejudice, fear and certain "priests," evangelists who continue to preach their misinterpretation of the Bible, have distorted this human right and have used it to paint a picture resembling moral ugliness. Suddenly sex is considered to be "unclean," "sinful" and "merely to serve the purpose of reproduction."

Thus, some feel they have to put needless and impractical restrictions on sex which results in confusion, sexual frustration (that may be taken out in other dangerous ways) and moral claustrophobia.

Whether we acknowledge it or not, we are a sexually active generation. By our actions, we have chosen to challenge the questionable "traditional" views on sex that have, for no logical reason, been imposed on us.

Thus, why not challenge the archaic beliefs on homosexuality?

This is 1990! The time when it was thought that masturbation blinded us is over, and so should be the time when homosexuality is considered inferior or unnatural.

Some of your friends could be bisexual, or even homosexual, though you might not be aware of it. And it's pitiful that some of these people don't feel comfortable talking to you about it.

What's the problem? You're supposed to be their friend. What's the big deal of having a friend who doesn't sleep with the opposite sex?

If you're his/her friend, you are supposed to value your sense of bond, yes? Or are you amongst the unfortunate who believe that friendship is merely the purist illustration of picking one's propaganda?

Frankly, I don't understand why I'm forced to explain such obvious common sense.

Oh well, just goes to show how many people think to look at what's flying at them everytime they open their mouths, and who's not.

Look at the Army or the ROTC, when dealing with homosexuality (or much of anything for that matter) — the second their mouth is open, in comes a flying foot.

Saad Hopkins is a Collegian staff member

" WELCOME TO 'AMERICA'S PHONIEST HOME VIDEOS'! "

Give caution a needed chance

It has always been our worst nightmare.

Falling is a common dream experience that most people wake up from just before they hit bottom. But for a resident in my dorm, this ongoing nightmare has become an unfortunate reality with a very unhappy ending.

Returning Sunday evening, I didn't give a second thought to the signs indicating that two of the three elevators were down. They were always being repaired for some reason or another.

With a large bag in each hand, I was annoyed at the realization that I may have to walk up ten flights. But soon the elevator opened and off walked my Residence Director along with a priest. I hadn't put the two together, but by the time I reached my room, I had learned of the accident, thus explaining the two.

I was aghast.

Remembering the warning last year after someone was injured because of fooling around with the elevators, I couldn't believe that students still had not learned their lesson.

The next day no one complained about the elevators taking a long time, because most residents took the stairs before waiting. Walking quietly, no one wasted their energy complaining about the many steps ahead, but rather, concentrated on why it was they were using them.

For most people on campus, this tragedy won't linger on their minds too long — most students feel they are invincible and the possibility of anything happening to them seems minuscule.

As for those of us in Kennedy, each step will be harder than the next, but nonetheless steps we will work towards achieving.

Felice Cohen
Southwest

Spending Spring Break in Amherst a 'cool' vacation

Aruba. . .Jamaica. . .ooh I wanna take ya. . .
To Bermuda. . .Bahama. . .come on pretty mama. . .
Easthampton or Holyoke, baby, why don't we go. . .
To Hadley, Florence, or Leeds?

God, that sounds hideous!

I have tried every trick known to humankind to accept my tragic fate. No complex rationalizations of the brain can help me now. Even the destroying of a fairly decent Beach Boys tune can't cheer this guy up. You can see for yourself how pathetic the lyrics have become.

No, it is hopeless. While the rest of you will be funning and sunning and from-the-cops running, I will be spending my own Spring Break in a different haven.

While you shed your wool coats and thermal undies and head to a fantasy world of emerald oceans and diamond beaches (uggh, that sounded like Robin Leach), I will be stuck in the less-than-toasty-skin climate of Tropical Amherst, Mass.

Some will argue that it has been gorgeous out lately and can prove so with a list of classes you've blown off. Perhaps you want to rally against my opinion on the steps of the Student Union.

Well, before you make your signs, let me just say that this week's weather is a fluke, a tease if you will. It will get mighty cold once again. When? During Spring Break, of course.

I don't know why it will get cold again. Perhaps the Lord intends for New England to be one, big practical joke. Maybe it's a plot by Health Services to sell us too much ibuprofen. Could be the administration's fault. (Everything else is blamed on them).

Josh Galitsky

The point is this: You will be spreading cocoa butter on your skin for the rising of the sun. I will be putting on Chapstick for the second coming of the Ice Age.

I keep trying to tell myself it won't be that bad. Maybe I can transform this soon-to-be-Arctic region into the fantasy vacation I've always dreamed of.

Who needs the beautiful beaches of Boca Raton when you can have the blueberry bagels of Bonducci's? Who cares about running off to the hot sun of Mexico when they can have the hot runs at Taco Villa?

But wait. Is it so cold that I have grown a virus of selfishness? I am staying with my friends. My wonderful cast. My chorus line of coolies. Surely they will save me from this winter wonderland of weird.

Ha Ha Ha. We don't need suntan lotion. We will make due rubbing Speed Stick, Ben Gay and Foot Powder all over ourselves. So what if the only sand we will feel is in the toilet paper in the Campus Center bathrooms?

Waaaaaaaaahhhhhhhhhh!!!!!!!!

Who am I kidding? I've died and come to Amherst. I'm in hell!

No. No. No. I'm okay really. I'll survive. I'll pretend I'm on vacation and buy things I can't afford at Thornes Marketplace. Or better yet, I can just go to the Campus Center Travel Agency and look through brochures until I can't cry anymore.

Ahh . . . Spring Break in tropical Amherst. The subtle, soft, monsoon-like breezes. The shimmering sunset melting into the horizon with only the giant box-of-a-tower-library ruining the view. The way the cold smashes against your body and makes your whole face run. Picture the magic of discovering bodily fluids you didn't even know existed. Ahh . . . now that's a vacation.

Do you feel sorry for me yet? I was hoping to evoke sympathy and maybe you'd come down and give me your plane tickets. What do you say? Please. Pretty please? Ahh, forget it.

When you're tanning . . . think of me. Maybe you could bring me back a souvenir and leave it in the Collegian office. The least you can do is buy a ticket for the show. I'll be in the line of 16 extremely pale people. And no doubt . . . I'll be the palest.

*Josh Galitsky is a*Collegian columnist who has a bad cold

Affluence in Germany will lead to complacency

As an American born in West Berlin, and as one of German heritage, I'm fascinated by the possibility of the unification of Germany.

To think that cultural bonds between two halves of a separated nation were strong enough to bring them together after 45 years of near-total isolation stirs admiration in me for people's reverence of tradition and culture.

I'll have to admit, too, to a longing to be there. Even amidst the new history that has been made — the impending integration of the European Economic Community and the mind-numbing ideological shift in Eastern Europe — the spectacle is no less scintillating for me.

It scares the hell out of most of Europe.

My 18-year-old cousin from the Netherlands came to visit me this summer. Upon entering my bedroom, he saw the West German flag hanging on my wall and, in an offhand manner, suggested I burn it. He'd never even taken the time to think about it, but his prejudice has deep historical roots that reach under vast tracts of European soil.

The fact is, there is no country in Europe that hasn't been beaten and beaten badly by Germany in one war or another, sometime in history.

Just look at any map of Europe in 1943. Look for German-occupied territories. They include France, Belgium, Denmark, the Netherlands, Czechoslovakia, Poland and a fair portion of the U.S.S.R.

So what's Europe afraid of now?

A nation of 80 million people with a new sense of nationalism and cultural unity, one of the largest standing armies on the continent, and the economic power of the well-established West German industrial sector mated with millions of new laborers from the East.

Bradley P. Heintz

The new Germany will have a per-capita GNP and lifestyle comparable to Japan or the United States.

The question needs to be asked, though, whether to take the German "threat" seriously or not.

Time for a sidetrack — think back to America during World War II. It was patriotism run amok. People were more than happy to ration meat, sugar and to rent their warm bodies to Uncle Sam to defend Mom, the flag and apple pie. I'm willing to bet that UMass didn't even hold a protest.

Now step back a few years. What preceded this nationalistic fever? The Great Depression. Until shortly before WWII, meat was a costly luxury and four-families-to-a-roof was the rule.

Compare this to the Vietnam War. It was the war that nobody wanted. There were no parades, no hordes of young men waiting to enlist and a lot of draft cards turned to ash.

What preceded this? The 50s and 60s where Americans started becoming affordable. "A chicken in every pot and a car in every garage."

The point here is that it's much easier to stir a poor population into a nationalistic frenzy than a population with luxuries they don't have to leave the house to enjoy. For a predominantly indigent nation, identity in one's nation fills a very real psychological void, and they have little to lose.

To examine Europe before the World Wars is to see "middle class" being defined as being able to afford a home and three meals a day and little else. It's what we'd call a "poor" lifestyle. These were the conditions Hitler and his predecessors had to work with. But no more. Think about it.

How many people do you know would rush off to fight overseas given all that the American lifestyle offers?

Well, the German lifestyle is becoming more "American" every day. Europe needn't worry, I say. An affluent Germany is a sedentary Germany.

Bradley P. Heintz is a UMass student

Love is not that simple

You probably know the feeling. The one when the person you thought loved you has taken off — while you sit there and try to figure out what went wrong.

And it seems to take forever.

This person told you that they loved you. You fell for it.

Gayle Long

I mean, what did they do to make you believe it was true? Did they show caring and concern, talk to you about practically everything? And you opened up to them, feeling that the comfortable feelings would last an eternity?

Then, BOOM! You weren't even expecting it. You thought all was well.

What is the reason, you constantly ask yourself. What did he or she say as they were walking out the door?

Could it be, possibly, that they were bored?

Explain the logic to me. How could someone spend multitudes of their time with you, transform your life, introduce you to a totally new way of thinking, and then be bored with you?

And you. You have forgotten how things were before this person came into your life. You sacrificed old friends, the advice of these friends, and how you were treated by others before. Why, you now ask yourself?

Because you felt loved. But it was all a facade. And now you feel alone.

How can a person walk into your life, grab your mind as well as your heart, then decide the what you have become is boring?

Easy, because you have become a mirror image of your lover.

Scary, yes. But oh so true. We have all heard the adage that after marriage the couple begins to look like each other? The same holds true for lovers, except that it is not physical appearance, but what is inside. We all latch onto traits of the people around us. We exhibit the traits of those who we want to be a part of.

But did that person learn anything from you?

Does the person walk away from the relationship with a single fresh perspective? Did they learn anything from the unique, sensational being which attracted them in the first place?

Or do you find yourself questioning who you are, and know deep down that this person will return to the life they knew without a second thought to what could have been?

I hate to say it. But the word love is to blame for all of this.

Had those three little words not been spoken, had that one emotion been left out of play, perhaps this ending would not be so hard to handle. But the fact is that it was uttered, spoken and the love was declared. But then it was taken back.

How do you take back love? It seems so easy to say the love has vanished, but has it? Or was it ever really there in the first place?

For some reason, I have to believe it was never there.

It shouldn't be that easy to say that you love someone. It should be a revelation of many lonely nights, tearful arguments and passionate experiences. Not a way to take a person's soul without a thought to the next day.

"It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all," is a charming sentiment, but losing love is not the issue.

It is determining whether or not you were ever loved in the first place — and learning that it was a lie is harder to deal with than knowing that the love is gone.

To change a life with fake emotion leaves a person bereft of feeling. To tell a person that you love them without knowing its meaning is wrong. Eventually, if love is not there, the relationship will end, even if both sides aren't willing to let go.

So don't tell someone you love them unless it is forever. Because love is forever, and so are the scars that it leaves.

Gayle Long is a Collegian columnist

Different locale for home

The houses that line Lark Court, my street, are basic in their style: one story, three bedroom, large front windows with a small grass yard and a driveway leading up to the garage.

What is so special about the red brick house that is the second home on the left side?

Linda Rowland

The celebration of this house is derived from its character. A character that comes from the growth of life, experiences and emotional attachments my family has gone through and developed in our thirty years of history at 4 Lark Ct.

When I remember the summers of my childhood, I am reminded of baseball games on my grassy front yard or freeze tag around the block with all the neighborhood kids. We would all run and play until our mothers called us home because they wanted us to unwind before we went to sleep.

And once I was home I would curl up on the long blue sofa, two feet away from our television, and lie on a pillow that would fit gently, but perfectly, into the curvature of my neck. I would remain in this position until my eyelids grew heavy or until my brothers decided to use me for football.

Home was a great place for me to grow up, but not everyone had a safe and affectionate homelife as a child. This is something I did not learn until I went to college.

Part of my college education has been learning about who I am and why I am who I am.

I grew up in a small Long Island town, where everyone lived in the same typical, but comfortable, suburban residences, and family outings were still of integral importance. This was the case for most of my friends, and it created a shelter for me to hide behind from the real crisis affecting many families.

Leaving home to come to school in Massachusetts was a difficult transition for me because my umbilical cord was still tighter than I had realized.

I was so caught up with my attachments to home that I was not allowing myself to make new roots anywhere else. And by trying to remain so close to home, I was shutting my eyes to the rest of the world.

As a college freshman, I distinctly remember my neighbor in the dorms (she was a senior at the time) telling me that school was her home now. I was so shocked and disgusted. And I remember asking myself how she could regard this school, this dorm room, her home. Didn't she have any respect for her family? Didn't she care about them?

Ironically, the passage of time and the result of change has tricked me enough to make myself wonder the same thing. Where is home?

The old saying "Home is where the heart is" never meant very much to me because I never had my heart in two places at one time before. But with each passing day, I become a little farther away from that red house on Lark Court.

I have become more attached to the dorm room I return to everyday with the mauve carpet, a loud, overzealous heater and the telephone that is only mine.

I know someday I will have a home of my own, where I will be the mother calling her kids home. As for now, an old portrait of my family standing in our backyard rests on my mirror. It is a reminder of the home I used to know.

Home is a place where I will always be welcomed and loved, but it is not necessarily a place where I will always belong.

Linda Rowland is a UMass student

Letters to the Editor

March in support of Central America

On Saturday, March 24, the tenth anniversary of Salvadoran Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero's death, people will flock to Washington, D.C. to demand that their government support justice and human rights in Central America.

During the 1980s, U.S.-trained and backed Contras continually attacked, murdered and tortured civilian targets. Congress rewarded the Contras for their efforts with billions of dollars in aid, but a majority of American citizens did not support it. Why did our country send it anyway?

In El Salvador, U.S. policy has also been supporting the nastiest and vilest elements in the country. Shortly before Archbishop Romero was murdered by death squads in 1980, he wrote to then President Jimmy Carter to inform him that U.S. aid was supporting death squads and repression.

Now, the political party most linked to death squads, ARENA, runs the Salvadoran government with George Bush's blessings. During the 1980s, the U.S. government sent 1.5 million of your tax dollars to El Salvador a day. Do you want to send $1.5 million a day in order to fund a fascist government? Then why is your government sending it?

In Honduras, Guatemala and Panama, the U.S. government is working overtime to make Central America safe for big business interests (Citibank, the Nestle Corporation, United Fruit), but not for the people of Central America.

The citizens of these countries are subject to intense military surveillance and violence. And the policies behind that violence are set by our government, not theirs. Do you support this kind of violence in order to promote U.S. corporations? Do you support starvation and repression as incentives for cheap labor abroad?

If you want your government to put support for justice before profit, come to Washington on March 24. Buses are leaving from Greenfield and Northampton late Friday night and returning right after the march. Tickets cost about $35 round trip, and some scholarships are available if you can't afford the full ticket price.

For more information, contact UMass CASA, the Central America Solidarity Association at 545-2148.

Linda Mannheim
Amherst

The Editorial Desk would like to thank all members of the Five-College community for their submissions. We have tried to show all points of view on the page, but there are times when we receive only one viewpoint.

Administrators call for end to harassment

Over the course of the last week, Black, Arab, Jewish and Gay students have been threatened and harassed.

In addition, differences of opinion in political matters have been the basis of personal attacks.

Behavior such as this has no place on our campus.

We cannot and will not tolerate acts of racism, anti-Semitism, homophobia and other forms of oppression, as we continue to build a community which recognizes and respects the freedom and dignity of every human being.

Acts of intolerance hurt all of us, not just the individuals who are the initial targets.

We will seek to punish persons identified as performing violent or harassing acts, or those found to incite others to such acts, through both the court system and the campus disciplinary system, as appropriate.

We look forward for your active support and assistance in making this community a better place to live, study and work.

Dennis L. Madson
Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs
Joseph Duffey
Chancellor

Cancer foundation expresses appreciation

Congratulations University of Massachusetts. You did it!

You made the kick-off event of Campuses Against Cancer a resounding success.

At Casino Night 1990, you raised $10,000 to support brain tumor research and, in doing so, helped to advance the goals of the Brain Tumor Society.

Special thanks and recognition go to Jeffrey Glassman, Program Coordinator, who did an outstanding job in putting together a most entertaining and memorable evening.

We also want to express our appreciation to the Board of Governors, who sponsored the program, to the many volunteers who helped make Jeff's vision become a reality, and to those of you who came out to support the Brain Tumor Society.

With help such as yours, we can and will make a difference.

G. Bonnie Feldman
President

Maintaining artistic integrity impossible

It's maddening that writing for the Collegian and maintaining artistic integrity have become incompatible ideals.

I'm referring to my own review for Ted Simpson's Hampshire College production Marat/Sade, which was printed on March 9.

The article was the victim of a brutal, botched, cutting job at the hands of an arts editor — about a third of the piece was deleted and the cut sections were the heart of the review.

What remained received a similarly careless makeover in what constitutes a thorough distortion of my personal style and literary intent. Words were altered and several of my ideas abbreviated or lopped off in mid-sentence. The result was an appalling mess.

What had been conceived as a measured, carefully considered piece of serious academic criticism was reduced to a vituperative rant. No, I don't feel that Marat/Sade was especially successful, but my piece contained a more democratic assessment of the production's strengths in addition to its weaknesses.

I was well aware that the show had been riddled with production problems, a fact I discussed sympathetically — this too was taken out.

Maybe I should have known better when I submitted the lengthy original piece, but it strikes me nonetheless that a college publication should be more interested in publishing lively, coherent writing than in training its correspondents for a career with USA Today.

Adam Timrud
Amherst

Recently the Editorial Desk has received many letters and columns directly responding to other letters and columns. Due to conflict in past semesters this policy was set up.

If you want to respond directly to a column you can write a letter. But if you want to respond to a letter you must do it without directly citing the writer and the letter. You can write a column or letter dealing with the issue in the letter, but columns or letters directly responding to letters will not be printed.

The same policy extends to columns. If you want to directly respond to a column, write a letter. If you want to deal with an issue in depth, write a column showing your viewpoint without reference to the other writer.

In addition, there have been requests to not edit submitted columns and letters. Unfortunately, this is not always possible due to our limited space. The Editorial staff is careful to always keep the writer's intent and style in mind when editing.

Address all questions and comments to Gayle, Reggie or Minu.

Masked man robs gas station

By PAMELA PERRAULT
Collegian Correspondent

HADLEY — A robber armed with a shotgun and wearing a ski mask held up a clerk at the Getty gas station on Route 9 Tuesday night, stealing $450 in cash and some $254 in lottery tickets, police said.

POLICE LOG

The thief also took the clerk's wallet and escaped on foot. The robber is said to be a White male between the ages of 35 and 40, standing 5 feet 5 inches and weighing about 130 pounds. He was wearing a heavy-knit, maroon ski mask, blue jeans, a white T-shirt, a blue nylon jacket and blue knit gloves.

Police said the clerk initially believed that the man was joking but the thief then pulled a shotgun from a duffle bag and ordered the clerk to hand over the tickets and cash. The incident is under investigation, police said.

In other police reports:

LARCENY

- WMUA radio staff Tuesday reported the theft of a phono cartridge and a headshell, equipment used to play music, from the station in the Campus Center. The equipment is valued at $61.

DISTURBANCES

- A female student Tuesday reported to Amherst Police that a male between the ages of 25 and 32 with long hair and wearing a red and black flannel shirt exposed himself to her on North Pleasant Street.

■ Photojournalist critiques media

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

been on or will be on and how I will get through."

Mattison said that by reading alternate media and listening to alternate radio, the electronic curtain could be lifted.

"The mass media should be understood primarily as a business, secondarily as a method of social conversion and thirdly as entertainment and diversion," said Mattison.

"The importance of structural analysis and a critical consciousness of what we see and hear could be a simple diet of one man and one voice," he said. "We need to realize the voices that can reach if we try to find them and the extraordinary rewards they can bring."

He said the majority of stories that appear in the media about Africa are about AIDS, wildlife or Black-on-Black violence.

In South Africa, he said he saw different images than what Americans saw at home. He said he saw futile strikes, displaced miners and starving children.

Mattison exhibited his photos taken on assignment while on the northern border of Nicaragua during the Sandinista revolution. He said the photos he took in El Salvador were shown in 112 countries, except in the United States.

One such picture was of a pile of slaughtered students.

"Why was Tienanmen Square such a shock to us and this wasn't?" Mattison asked. "Is it only because the fax machines and other technologies were able to bring the image so quickly?
Who will speak for these students?"

He showed a photo taken by another photojournalist in which the Red Cross was burning Sandinista soldiers for sanitary reasons.

The photo was then used by the State Department during a news conference. An U.S. official held up the photo and wrongly stated that the people being burned were Indians, promoting the notion of Sandanista barbarism, Mattison said.

■ Charities' legitimacy probed

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Donna Blake at the Urban League in Springfield said that she tried to confirm these groups with the Islamic communities in Massachusetts, but received no confirmation.

"I was on the phone all day and I couldn't find anything on these guys," Blake said.

According to the State Attorney General's press office, none of the three organizations were registered as charities, nor were they legally registered as a non-profit corporations with the Secretary of States Office.

Officer Dave Jenowski said Monday that these men have complied with the Amherst by-law that only requires door-to-door solicitors to register with the police. He said he thought that these men were selling magazines subscriptions.

Officer John O'Connor said several harassment complaints have been made against these men, but nobody has yet filed a charge.

Detective Gary Guslik said, "It seems fishy to me.'

10 PEARL ST. Pearl Street NORTHAMPTON, MA
413 584-7771

Thurs., March 15—8:00 p.m.
ASLEEP AT THE WHEEL
The Sundogs

Fri., March 16—8:30 p.m. 18+
IN THE FLESH
Fifth Business

Sat., March 17—8:30 p.m.
DUKE ROBILLARD

Sun., March 18—7:00 p.m. 18+
ANSON FUNDERBURGH & THE ROCKETS featuring Sam Myers

Tues., March 20—7:00 p.m.
J.J. CALE BAND
Chris Smither

Fri., March 23—8:30 p.m. 18+
THE SIGHS
Ray Mason Band—Right Angle

Sat., March 24—8:30 p.m. 18+
THE BREAKDOWN

Mon., March 26—8:00 p.m. 18+
HELIOS CREED
Gobblehoof—SWAT

Tues., March 27—8:00 p.m.
Open Stage hosted by Rob Skelton & Free Press

Thurs., March 29—8:00 p.m. 18+
MICHAEL PENN
Toad The Wet Sprocket

Fri., March 30—8:30 p.m. 18+
THE EQUALITES

Coming:
4/1 The Malarians, 4/2 Clarence "Gatemouth" Brown
4/5 Blues Traveler, 4/12 Urban Blight, 4/20 Heretix
4/21 The Chills, Blake Babies, 4/23 fIREHOSE,
4/27 Mighty Lemondrops

ADV. TIX. FROM: FOR THE RECORD IN AMHERST
AND ALL TICKETRON OUTLETS 1-800-382-8080
RAPCITY IN BRATTLEBORO,
STRAWBERRIES
10 Pearl St., Northampton 413-584-7771

CAMPUS EMPLOYMENT
Student Manager Information Data Bank and Taped Information Phone Service

QUALIFICATIONS: Demonstrated (through previous experience and/or recommendations) good communication skills; organizational and supervisory skills; able to organize data, proof-read, edit; typing and/or word processing skills required; promotional and marketing experience desirable.

ELIGIBILITY: Undergraduate (preferably College Work Study eligible), with at least three semesters remaining at the beginning of the Fall Semester 1990 (excluding summer).

PAY RATE: $5.50 per hour

WORK SCHEDULE: Must be available for a minimum of ten hours per week and on site at least 4 days per week. Must be available 20-30 hours per week in July and August.

STARTING DATE: Immediately. (Training will be provided, as needed.)

APPLICATIONS: Obtain an application at the Information Data Bank, 227 Whitmore. Deadline is April 13, 1990. An interview may be required.

The Information Data Bank (IDB) is a telephone or walk-in referral center which maintains information on University administrative and academic policies and procedures; bus, library, athletic, etc. schedules; campus current events; and a variety of other reference materials.

The Taped Information Phone Service (TIPS) is a library of 250+ pre-recorded tape cassettes with detailed information about academic rules and regulations, special programs, administrative procedures, health and safety concerns, housing and food services information, academic policies, and a variety of other relevant campus-based topics.

The Student Manager is responsible for the day-to-day operations of IDB/TIPS including recruiting, training, scheduling, and supervising a student staff of 10; maintaining and updating the IDB/TIPS library and information resources; assisting in the preparation of the Student Telephone Directory and Deans List; with the assistance of the Graphics Coordinator, arranging for the preparation and placement of 2-3 ads per week in the "Collegian". For additional information contact IDB, 545-1555, or Robert N. Brooks, Director, Student Affairs Information Services, 545-3480.

SUMMER AND/OR FALL CAMPUS EMPLOYMENT AT THE VISITORS CENTER

Campus employment opportunities exist for 3-4 students this summer and/or succeeding semesters at the Visitors Center.

QUALIFICATIONS: Good public relations and communication skills; comfortable and adept in dealing with the public; knowledgeable about campus facilities, programs, and services; ability to access information and to make appropriate referrals; enthusiasm for the University.

ELIGIBILITY: Undergraduates (preferably College Work Study eligible), with at least three semesters remaining at the beginning of the Fall Semester 1990 (excluding summer).

PAY RATE: $5.00 per hour.

WORK SCHEDULE: Summer- Must be available for a minimum of three consecutive hours at least two days per week (Monday-Friday) between 9:00am and 4:30pm June, July, and August. A weekend option will also be available in August.

Fall and Spring Semesters- Must be available for a minimum of two consecutive hours at least two days per week (Monday-Friday) between 9:00am and 4:30pm; weekends, 10:30am-3:30pm inclusive.

STARTING DATE: Summer- June 4, 1990.

Fall and Spring Semesters- Registration weekend.

APPLICATIONS: Obtain an application and detailed job description at the Visitors Center. Deadline for both Summer and Fall Semester is April 13, 1990. An interview may be required.

The Visitors Center opened in November, 1988. Its purpose is to make the campus more "user friendly" by providing a central location to serve and assist visitors (primarily prospective applicants and their parents) in obtaining accurate preliminary information, referrals, and materials about the University, as well as providing information about such concerns as parking, area food services, campus events, maps, etc. After one year, nearly 25,000 individuals had been served. The Visitors Center is operated by Student Affairs Information Services (which also includes IDB/TIPS).

Spirit Haus
Liquor Store

HAPPY ST. PATRICK'S DAY!

Guinness Gold Lager Beer
$15.99 case
-6.00 mail in refund
$9.99 final cost

Guiness Stout
$4.99 six pack
-1.00 mail in refund
$3.99 final cost

George Killian's Irish Red
$14.99 case
-4.00 mail in refund
$10.79 final cost

Harp Lager
$4.49 six pack
-1.00 mail in refund
$3.49 final cost

Bailey's Irish Cream Gift Churn 750ml
$15.99

John Jameson Irish Whiskey 750ml
$10.69

Richard's Wild Irish Rose Wine 375ml
$.99

338 College St. (Rt. 9) Amherst 253-5384

What's the latest at the Mather Career Center?

ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWING OPPORTUNITIES
Call or visit the Scheduling Office in the Mather Career Center
to find out more info!

EMPLOYER	POSITION	MAJOR(S)	VISIT DATE	RESUME DUE
Jackson Laboratory	Research Asst.	BIOCHM, ZOOL, MICBIO, BIOLOGY	3/27	IMMEDIATLEY
Burger King Corp.	Operations Manager	ANY	3/29	IMMEDIATELY
Springfield Institute for Savings	Manager Trainee	ANT	3/29	IMMEDIATELY
Army Corps of Engineers	CE Trainee	CE	3/30	IMMEDIATELY
American Cyanamid Co.	Chemical Engineer, Chemist, Polymer Sci	CH E, CHEM, PS & E	3/30	IMMEDIATELY
Bob's Store	Manager Trainee	ANY	3/30	IMMEDIATLEY
Frito Lay	Sales Associate	HRTA, FD, MKT	4/2	IMMEDIATELY
General Electric Co.	Chemist, Chemical Engineers	CHEM, CH E	4/2	IMMEDIATELY
Providence Public Schools	Teachers (all areas)	EDUC, PSYCH, COMIDS, MATH, SCIENCE, SPAN	4/3	IMMEDIATELY
Celmic Corp.	Environmental Lab Technician	CHEM, ENV SCI PHYSICAL SCIENCES	4/5	IMMEDIATELY
Intercim, Inc.	Sales Engineer	ME, ME/MFG, IE	4/9	By 3/26
FFS, Inc.	Residential Counselor	HUMSER, PSYCH	4/11	By 3/28

REMEBER THESE EVENTS

INTERVIEWING SKILLS by Bob Samoluk, from T.J Maxx, part of the Wednesday Workshops by Recruiters Series Wed., March 28 4:00 p.m., Rm 101A, MCC

HOW TO FIND A SUMMER OR PERMANENT JOB
Every Friday at 10:15 a.m., Rm 101A, MCC

CAMPUS CAREER NEWS' March issue is out. check major buildings, the Whitmore counter on Wednesdays or the Mather Career Center during the first week of each month for your FREE copy.

REMEMBER!!! If you have signed up for any interviews for the week of March 26-30, you should check for the schedules at the Mather Career Center either this week or during vacation week. Schedules will be posted as soon as they are available and you may call next week to verify interviews.

* * * Take the Orchard Hill bus to Mather Career Center * * *

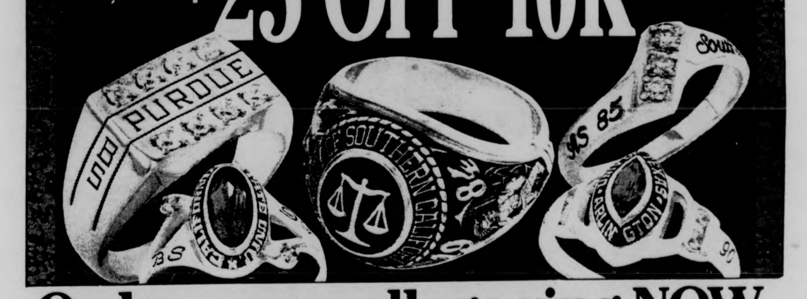
The Mather Career Center • Fraternity/Sorority Park
University of Massachusetts at Amherst • (413)545-2224
WHERE CAREERS TAKE OFF!

GOLD RING SALE
$75 OFF 18K
$50 OFF 14K
$25 OFF 10K



Order your college ring NOW.
JOSTENS
AMERICA'S COLLEGE RING™
Date: 3/15 - 3/16
Time: 10 - 4
Place: U Store
Deposit Required: $25.00

ARTS & LIVING

The real Courtney Pine at the Horse tonight

By BILL ROSENBLATT
Collegian Staff

There was good news and bad news at the Iron Horse during the past few days. The good news was vibraharpist Milt Jackson's excellent set last Sunday night. Jackson himself was superb as usual, but the surprise was his pianist, Mike Ledonn; though relatively unknown, he gave a very strong performance. The bad news was that John McLaughlin's Monday night gig was cancelled because the guitar great broke his hand.

The Horse will feature two more worthwhile jazz concerts in the coming week. The first takes place tonight, when tenor saxophonist Courtney Pine takes the stage with a quartet. The second is next Wednesday night, when the astounding guitarist Stanley Jordan will perform solo.

Courtney Pine is a young British player of Afro-Caribbean heritage who has been the subject of questionable hype and publicists' handling, but he is a strong player. He released his debut album, Journey to the Urge Within, in England a few years ago. Although Pine played well on it, the settings were unabashedly commercial, obviously geared toward the younger British crowd.

Valley
Jazz

He was subsequently introduced to America as the finest saxophonist to come out of England (compared to whom, I wonder). His ensuing American release, Destiny's Song and the Image of Pursuance, represented his handlers' attempt to ingratiate him with the American jazz audience by placing him under Marsalis Mafia protection. The album featured his own British band, but was produced by Delfeayo Marsalis (brother no. 3). The music beat a hasty retreat from fusion, presenting Pine as yet another neo-traditionalist tenorist in the Branford Marsalis mold – it even included an a capella cover of Monk's "Round Midnight."

Pine's latest release is A Vision's Tale; this one was also produced by Delfeayo, and it features Ellis Marsalis (the father) and other Marsalis Mafiosi. And now that the fad for Monk covers has given way to Ellington covers, Pine offers readings of Duke's "In a Mellow Tone" and "C-Jam Blues."

The album concludes with a slightly off-kilter version of another war horse, John Coltrane's "Giant Steps." This tune is extremely difficult to play, and thus has become a standard "audition piece" for saxophonists; Pine makes his way through the mine field of chord changes very well. However, the inclusion of this tune presumably relates to his handlers' desire to palm him off as "the next Coltrane," an image played up on a recent public television documentary. This is as much a "kiss of death" to a young tenor player as "the next Dylan" is to an aspiring singer-songwriter.

What a shame. Although Pine's handlers have garnered him some publicity, they have seriously impaired any chance he might identity in the near future. However, he will be playing live at the Iron Horse tonight; this is an opportunity to see what he has to say on his horn without the context of image-mongering. I suspect that he will have a lot to say.

Soviet music expert discusses the many sounds of her homeland

By NICK OSTIS
Collegian Correspondent

What is Soviet music? Where is it going? And where has it been? Currently touring the United States, Maya Pritzker, teacher, critic, lecturer and current editor for the Russian magazine, Musical Life, addressed these topics and more at Amherst College Tuesday afternoon. If the lecture was any indication, classical music is her forte.

She informed the audience that although Moscow and Petersburg have traditionally been the centers for music, the individual republics each maintain a rich and varied folk tradition.

The vivacious Pritzker explained the strange pendulum of music history in Russia: long, hard, dark steps backward in brief, brilliant advances. True, she admitted, the government did invest in culture, but it took away freedom at the same time. For the most of the 20th century, students at the few conservatories were forbidden to listen to, among others, Stravinsky, Shostakovich and Shoenberg. Foreign composers, who may have infused young ears with new sounds, were prohibited, too. Official response to the avant-garde was not positive either. The state even condemned music of the church, as well a historically important source of inspiration.

Interspersing her lecture with the music of some leading Russian composers, she introduced compositions by Schnittke and Yermolayez. The latter's was hair-raising, almost grotesque, but galvanizing to the soul.

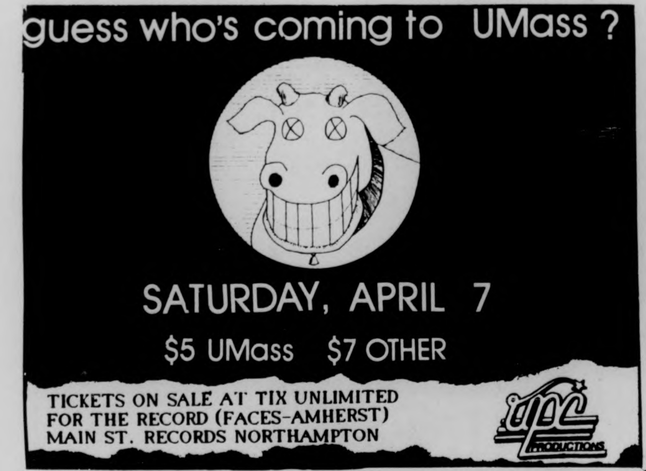
To her dismay, rock music is widely appealing among Soviet youth, which she contends is "is a mirror of the low level of our culture." She perceives the lyrics of rock, though, because of their political nature, to be "the best part."

There is hope for the future, she believes. International music festivals in the era of perestroika invite outstanding foreign and Soviet composers, as well as those of the avant-garde. Surprisingly, legendary avant-garde composer John Cage is the most performed American composer in the USSR.

In a country as huge as the Soviet Union, there are only five music conservatories, much to Pritzker's chagrin. Nevertheless, she continues to spread the gospel of monumental music to anyone who will listen.

Should people travel to Russia to study in the climate of such swirling, volatile, change? "No, wait a few years," she says.

Is it exciting? "Yes," she sighs. "But we are tired of the excitement."



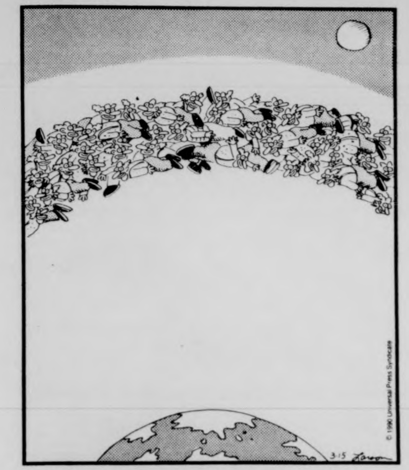
guess who's coming to UMass ?
SATURDAY, APRIL 7
$5 UMass $7 OTHER
TICKETS ON SALE AT TIX UNLIMITED
FOR THE RECORD (FACES-AMHERST)
MAIN ST. RECORDS NORTHAMPTON
UPC PRODUCTIONS

Main St RECORDS
213 MAIN STREET NORTHAMPTON MA 01060 413-586 5726

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
The aroma, sound & taste of authentic Chinese cuisine prepared Hunan, Szechuan, Mandarin or Cantonese style—especially for you!
- Ample Free Parking
- Major Credit Cards Accepted
- Full Liquor License
- Open 7 Days A Week
- Take-Out Service Available
- No MSG
585-0202 261 King St., Northampton, MA

COMMUTER AREA GOVERNMENT
NOW HIRING
4.25/hour
Newsletter & Outreach Coordinator
and
Program & Services Coordinators (2)
Pick up applications at 404 Student Union Building
Due by March 14 (Positions begin March 28)
NOMINATION PAPERS OPEN
FOR GOVERNING BOARD
AFFIRMATIVE ACTION/EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

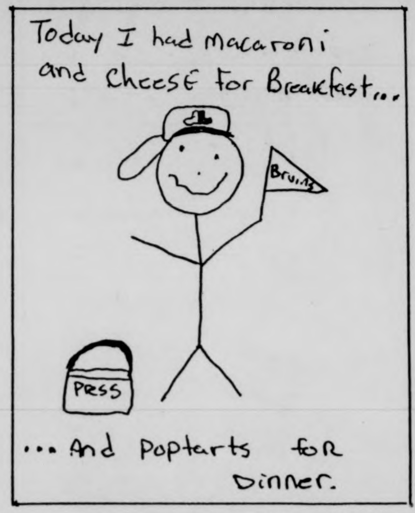
THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-15 Larson

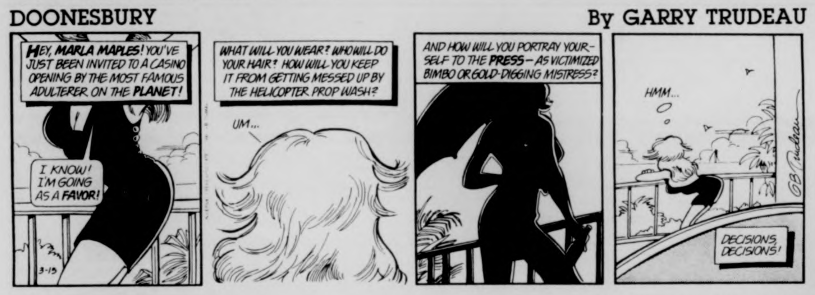
The bozone layer: shielding the rest of the solar system from the Earth's harmful effects.

TOMATOHEAD'S JOURNAL



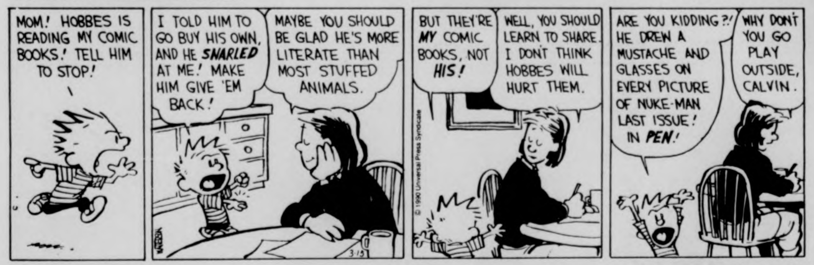
Today I had macaroni and cheese for Breakfast...
Bruins
PRESS
... And Poptarts for Dinner.

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



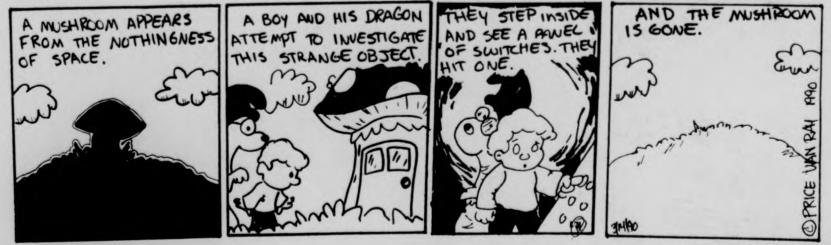
HEY, MARLA MAPLES! YOU'VE JUST BEEN INVITED TO A CASINO OPENING BY THE MOST FAMOUS ADULTERER ON THE PLANET!
I KNOW! I'M GOING AS A FAVOR!
WHAT WILL YOU WEAR? WHO WILL DO YOUR HAIR? HOW WILL YOU KEEP IT FROM GETTING MESSED UP BY THE HELICOPTER PROP WASH?
UM...
AND HOW WILL YOU PORTRAY YOURSELF TO THE PRESS — AS VICTIMIZED BIMBO OR GOLD-DIGGING MISTRESS?
HMM...
DECISIONS, DECISIONS!
GBTrudeau

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



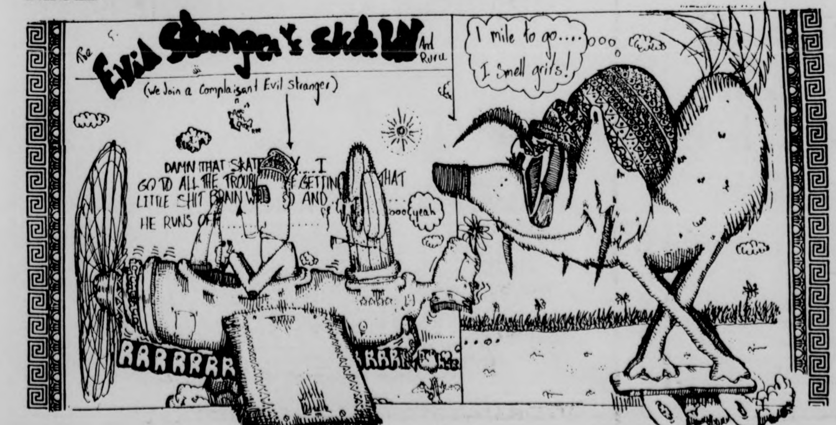
MOM! HOBBES IS READING MY COMIC BOOKS! TELL HIM TO STOP!
I TOLD HIM TO GO BUY HIS OWN, AND HE SNARLED AT ME! MAKE HIM GIVE 'EM BACK!
MAYBE YOU SHOULD BE GLAD HE'S MORE LITERATE THAN MOST STUFFED ANIMALS.
BUT THEY'RE MY COMIC BOOKS, NOT HIS!
WELL, YOU SHOULD LEARN TO SHARE. I DON'T THINK HOBBES WILL HURT THEM.
ARE YOU KIDDING?! HE DREW A MUSTACHE AND GLASSES ON EVERY PICTURE OF NUKE-MAN LAST ISSUE! IN PEN!
WHY DON'T YOU GO PLAY OUTSIDE, CALVIN.
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



A MUSHROOM APPEARS FROM THE NOTHINGNESS OF SPACE.
A BOY AND HIS DRAGON ATTEMPT TO INVESTIGATE THIS STRANGE OBJECT.
THEY STEP INSIDE AND SEE A PANEL OF SWITCHES. THEY HIT ONE.
AND THE MUSHROOM IS GONE.
© PRICE VAN RAY 1990

NIPPLE
By PITT



The Evil Stranger's Skate Way And Ruru
(We Join a Complaisant Evil Stranger)
DAMN THAT SKAT... I GO TO ALL THE TROUBLE OF GETTING THAT LITTLE SHIT BRAIN W... AND HE RUNS OFF
I mile to go.... I Smell grits!
yeah
RRRRRRR

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

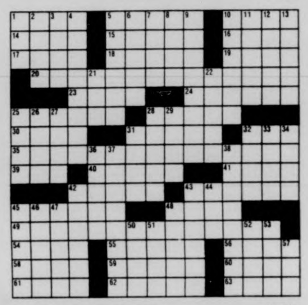
ACROSS
1 Killer whale
5 Villainous one
10 Wading bird
14 Actual
15 Fervor
16 Demolish, British style
17 Prickle
18 Scrounge
19 Earthen jar
20 1972 Woody Allen film
23 Composer Porter
24 Given to reverie
25 Ruined
28 Deduce
30 Raise
31 Wernher von —
32 Conjunction
35 Eric Berne's 1964 book
39 Summer, in Paris
40 American author Stephen
41 Vishnu avatar
42 Copenhagen coin
43 Released
45 Piercing cry
48 Word with left or right
49 1971 Clint Eastwood film
54 Restrain
55 Young salmon
56 Exile isle
58 Gaelic
59 Weird
60 Smite
61 Supplements, with "out"
62 Inhibit
63 Dispatched

DOWN
1 Globe
2 Harvest
3 Olympic sprinter Lewis
4 Type of tuna
5 Glib
6 Angry
7 Norse poetry collection
8 Egg beverage
9 Dire
10 Mangle
11 Light wood
12 Muslim faith
13 Sordid
21 Companion of hither
22 Peace goddess
25 Prod
26 Shipshape
27 Margot Fonteyn's title
28 Perfume additive
29 Neck part
31 Pinto, for one
32 Too bad!
33 Cognomen
34 Couple
36 Get out!
37 Pledged
38 Forward movement
42 Economist John Maynard
43 Engine part
44 Yoko
45 Binge
46 Salesperson
47 Poker term
48 American poet Elinor
50 "Peter Pan" pirate
51 Civil wrong
52 Young lady from Armentieres, for short
53 Diplomat Abba
57 Adroit

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

T	E	P	I	D	■	A	R	G	O	■	B	E	G	S
A	R	E	N	A	■	M	I	R	A	■	I	L	I	A
J	O	L	L	Y	R	O	G	E	R	■	L	E	V	I
■	S	T	A	T	E	■	A	B	S	O	L	V	E	D
■	■	■	W	O	N	G	■	E	M	L	Y	■	■	■
C	O	S	■	N	E	R	A	■	A	E	G	E	A	N
O	R	E	B	■	W	A	G	O	N	■	O	S	L	O
M	I	L	O	■	■	S	A	N	■	■	A	T	L	I
T	O	M	B	■	S	P	I	T	E	■	T	E	A	S
E	N	A	B	L	E	■	N	A	V	E	■	R	Y	E
■	■	■	Y	O	L	K	■	P	A	L	E	■	■	■
C	O	M	P	I	L	E	D	■	N	A	V	E	L	■
A	L	A	I	■	E	V	E	N	S	T	E	V	E	N
L	E	A	N	■	R	I	C	E	■	E	R	O	D	E
M	O	S	S	■	S	N	O	B	■	S	T	E	A	D

3/15/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/15/90

HAPPY BIRTHDAY JIM CLARK

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A financial opportunity comes your way. Keep your emotions under control and you will win big! Youthful, creative ideas are the key to solving a business problem. Choose your associates carefully.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Start a campaign to increase profits. Sharing a special event or project with loved one will bring the two of you closer together. Spruce up your wardrobe with a few new items.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): The rich and famous could touch your life this week. Guests are impressed by your gracious hospitality and good taste. Give some thought to renovating or decorating your home. Keep dental appointments.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A good book is a source of inspiration. Keep after something you were about to give up on. Luck is on your side! Record financial gains are possible. Approach people receptive to practical ideas.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Play to win in both business and romance! A financial situation remains up in the air, but you see the light at the end of the tunnel. A gentle approach restores domestic harmony.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Team up with a co-worker and you will get twice as much work done today. Higher-ups are impressed by the way you perform under pressure. Big dollars are involved. Enjoy your platonic relationships.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Put your money where your heart lies. Your love for the finer things in life has not diminished. Make every effort to bring a project in on time and under budget. Employer applauds.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A clever choice puts you in charge of your own destiny. Alert shoppers can find some real bargains. Put romance on the back burner while you decide how you really feel about someone.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Running against the crowd could make you a hero in business. A dazzling performance will eliminate financial worries. A romantic relationship changes for the better. Be more attentive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A smooth approach wins you important points at work. Let others take the chances for now; you listen and learn. Profits rise when you anticipate your customers' needs. Romance reflects your upbeat mood.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your wish for a more spacious home could come true if romance continues on its present course. Share your good fortune with your loved ones. A truly wonderful experience lies just ahead.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Self-improvement activities can bring rich rewards. Learn to market your ideas. A personal computer means new opportunities for disables person. Investigate a special grants program.

TODAY'S STAFF
Night Editor....Meredith O'Brien
Copy Editor....Adrienne Matt
Layout Technician....Peter Leon
Photo Technician....Dondi Ahearn
Production Supervisor....Mike Wester
Typesetter....Danielle Dowling
Production....Nicole Dumas, Arnie Salvati, Al Kaufman, Ali Woolwich, Lissa Maldonado

Hey, Night Owls!

Whoooooo's open after midnight?

James H. McManus

is open Sun-Thurs 'til 3 A.M.
Fri & Sat ALL NIGHT

appetizers desserts
omelettes light dinners
juicy jumbo beefburgers
sandwiches pancakes
plus chicken, steak, buffalo wings, onion rings and so much more

OPEN SUN-THURS 6 A.M.-3 A.M. 24 HOURS FRIDAY & SATURDAY

James H. McManus
eating place

SENIOR CITIZEN DISCOUNT 10% ANYTIME (not with coupon)

Next to Super Stop & Shop Rte. 9 Hadley/Amherst 256-6889

Buy one of our great omlettes and get one free

served with Home Fries and Toast
Offer Expires 4/4/90

Photographs & Memories last a lifetime.

1 Hour Color Service Available

Come in for our daily specials

Passport Photos Available

The Foto Factory

257 Triangle Street in Amherst
549-6490

This Spring Break learn bartending at Massachusetts' only accredited bartending school.

call today
(617) 247-1600
811 Boylston Street
Boston, MA 02116

New England Bartenders School

Licensed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Education
Accredited by the Accrediting Council for Continuing Education & Training

COME CLEAN WITH US!

Open 7 days a week 7 a.m.-10 p.m.

Campus Coin Op 107 Sunderland Rd. North Amherst

Speedwash, 11 Pray St., Amherst

South Towne Commons Laundromat
479 West St., South Amherst

TACO VILLA

MEXICAN RESTAURANTS

Great mexican food served quickly and inexpensively in a friendly & casual atmosphere... Try it! You'll like it!

Downtown Amherst and Northampton

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

Legal Services has positions available for legal assistant interns for the Fall 1990 semester. This is a challenging opportunity for students from a variety of majors and disciplines to gain valuable legal experience.

Responsibilities include:
- client interviewing
- attendance at hearings
- preparation of court forms
- maintenance of continuing caseload
- investigations and research

Legal-Services-Center university of massachusetts, amherst, ma 01003

Up to 15 credits may be earned. Apply early! Contact Legal Services, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995. Start the application process today!

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

UMASS MUSIC THEATRE GUILD
PRESENTS

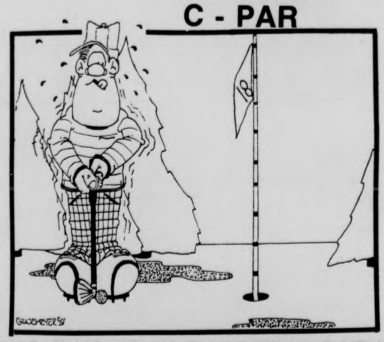
A CHORUS LINE

MARCH 25, 26, 27 & 28 8:00 P.M.
FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

TICKETS ARE AVAILABLE AT THE
FAC BOX OFFICE 545-2511,
ON THE CAMPUS CENTER CONCOURSE,
AND AT THE DOOR

$3 STUDENTS
$5 GENERAL ADMISSION

Presented Last Year's
EVITA and WEST SIDE STORY



INDOOR MINIATURE GOLF

THIS MAN IS PUTTING FOR:
A - BIRDIE
B - BOGEY
C - PAR

BRING THIS AD IN THURSDAY-SATURDAY GIVE US THE RIGHT ANSWER & WIN A FREE ROUND OF MINI-GOLF WITH A REGULAR PURCHASE OF MINI-GOLF.

BIRDIES & BOGEYS

HOLYOKE MALL - LOWER LEVEL - 536-3765
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
OFFER EXPIRES MARCH 31, 1990

Recycle this newspaper

Dance Stuff

220 N. Pleasant St. (Rear). Amherst, MA
For the Dancer, Gymnast, Fitness Minded
Fun Bodywear! Great Shoes! 253-5201

RESEARCH INFORMATION

Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects

Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD

TOLL FREE HOT LINE 800-351-0222
in Calif. (213) 477-8226

Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information
11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

Special Student & Youth Fares to
EUROPE, SOUTH AMERICA, ASIA
from New York on Scheduled Airlines!

DESTINATIONS	OW	RT
LONDON	$175	$350
PARIS	225	430
MADRID	235	450
ROME	275	550
STOCKHOLM/OSLO	250	500
COPENHAGEN	250	500
ZURICH	215	405
FRANKFURT	235	450
RIO	365	730
TOKYO	495	850

Add on fares Boston, DC, Chicago, Pittsburgh, other U.S. cities. Plus $6 dep. tax. $10 cust/immig fee. $5 security fee may apply in ea. direction.
CALL OR WRITE FOR OUR SPECIAL FARES TO THE SOUTH PACIFIC, AUSTRALIA & AROUND THE WORLD ROUTINGS.
Eurail and Eurail Youth Passes available immediately.

1-800-777-0112 STA
212-986-9470
WHOLE WORLD TRAVEL
17 E. 45th St., Suite 805, New York, NY 10017
Part of the worldwide STA Travel Network

TANDOORI CHICKEN MARINADE

THIS JAR CONTAINS A 3,000 YEAR TRADITION.

Four finely powdered, proportionally blended, all natural spices. Bring the Taste of India into your kitchen in minutes! We have kept it authentic*!*

Available in 3.5 oz. resealable jars:

TANDOORI MARINADE	$3.50
VEGETABLE SPICE MIX	3.50
CURRY MIX	3.50
TRIAL PACK OF 3 (Incl S&H)	2.98
GARAM MASALA	3.50
Gift Box of 3 jars	11.50
Gift Box of 4 jars	13.95
Shipping & Handling	2.75

Includes recipes and catalog.

Call 1-800-669-7742 or write:
INTERNATIONAL RESOURCES
Cooking Arts Division
P.O. Box 529, Lexington, MA 02173
MC/Visa accepted.

Watch for catalog insert 4/90 & STUDENT RATES!

DISCOVER THE PERFECT CLIMATE FOR LEARNING

"The late afternoon sun deepened the sandstone arches into gold that summer and made the tiled roofs rosier against the blue California skies. It was a dazzling dream come true."

—Ray Lyman Wilbur, Stanford University, 1892

This summer, you can share in that dazzling, century-old dream. Stanford's Summer Session offers open enrollment in more than 300 day and evening courses, institutes, workshops and professional programs. All are taught by distinguished Stanford faculty and visiting professors.

A diverse, international student body has access not only to the University's world-class academic resources, but also the abundant recreational and entertainment opportunities of the San Francisco Bay Area. Pacific Ocean beaches, towering redwood groves, and multi-cultural activities all are within an hour's drive.

This summer, go West to Stanford. You'll find that the best summer vacation can be a great education.

STANFORD
SUMMER SESSION
JUNE 25-AUGUST 18

Send for your copy of our 1990 Summer Session Bulletin and an application by mailing this coupon.

Name ____________
Address ____________
City ____________
State ________ Zip ________

Stanford University, Summer Session, Bldg. 1
Stanford, CA 94305 / (415)723-3109

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

FRENCH CONVERSATION! Herter 301 tonight 7 PM with The French Club

SENIORS
Preserve your fabulous memories - order an Index CC 103 (Get shot too!) Stop by and check us out!

WANT TO PARTICIPATE in the International Fair? Mandatory meeting Thurs, 3/15 6:30 PM CC 174-6

WATCH OUT FOR THE
"One Singular Sensation"
A Chorus Line
Comes to UMASS
March 25, 26, 27, 28, 8:00 PM

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

HEY JUNIORS, get your applications in! Membership in Mortar Board is an honor. You don't want to pass up.

SENIORS-
We're gonna make history
March 29th CC 1009 9pm

START YOUR OWN BUSINESS! Easy! Vending carts (hotdogs, soda, etc...) Build, Licensing & operation. Complete step by step instructions. Bissett Enterprises 156B St. George St. Duxbury, MA 02332 call (617) 934-5971

APARTMENT SPECIAL

A LIMITED TIME ONLY, Northwood Apts. is offering a 2 Bdr. apt. for the price of a 1 Bdr. For more information on this special offer, please call Lanice at 665-3856. Rent an apt. for March and receive $100.00 off our first months rent. We have student short term leases and free bus service every 15 minutes on weekdays to UMASS and Amherst. (Available to new residents only)

AUTO FOR SALE

77 MERCURY COMET runs and looks great $600 549-8349

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

HOTEL / RESORT / F & B / MANAGEMENT Don't limit yourself to those few companies that recruit On Campus. Explore all your possibilities. Call (508) 943-8807

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club Today! Call Now! 549-3737

DEAD TIX!

WILL TRADE Sun, Mon Hartford for Sat, Sun Albany. Trade only! Call Bob. 253-0904

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR RENT

NORTHAMPTON
MODERN 1 Bedroom Apartment
Steps from downtown
Available 4/1/90
455 + a month
Call Lori 527-1580 Daytime

ONE ROOM FOR RENT in Puffton Village. Call 549-1809 after 4pm

ROOM FOR RENT Large room in nice house 250/mo & 1st,last & sec. 253-9104 or 256-8109

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR SALE

1982 FENDER BULLET & Peavey Back Stage plus Amplifier, $400.00 Nick 546-5897

DEAD TICKETS Hartford 3/19 Cash only. Call Tim 549-4600 X311

DEAD TICKETS Have 2 for Hartford. Will trade for Albany. Steve School 549-2833 Home 617-229-6636

FOR SALE: IBM Proprinter II like new $275 259-1786

GRATEFUL DEAD TIX!
Sunday & Monday shows in Hartford
will trade for Albany shows
call Darran 256-4614

NEW CORT ACOUSTIC w/Gigbag 175.00 or BO Mike 256-1195

SKIS: Rossignol 170cm SM Competition. Solomon S626. Great Condition! Plus Poles and Boots! Must sell: $75 549-0840

FOUND

FOUND: Large Black male kitten. Found on campus 3/11. Call 546-1124 or 3280.

KEYS WITH GROVER chain near Prince Call Nikki 549-4079

SET OF FOUR KEYS, a whistle and a flourescent pink identification tag which says "Kristin" inside. Found on Friday the 9th. Call Kris at 6-8296

HELP WANTED

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for Spring, Christmas, and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext S-1120.

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

THERE'S A JOB FOR YOU IN A SUMMER CAMP
The American Camping Association (NY) will make your application avail. to over 300 camps in the Northeast. Exciting opportunities for college students and professionals. Positions avail: all land and water sports, kitchen, maintenance, arts and crafts, drama, music, dance, nature, tripping, R.N.'s, M.D.s College Credit Available. Call or write for application. American Camping Association, 12 West 31st Street, New York, NY 10001, 1-800-777-CAMP.

WIN $200 +
Design a "Cross Training" Athletic Shoe. Call Neil-Collect evenings 617-599-5686

I'LL EDIT YOUR PAPER

PROOFREADING SERVICE. If you have a rough draft, we'll make it something special. Fast and dependable. David 253-2455 and Cosmo 253-9744.

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

LOST

HELP! I lost my Ray-Ban Wayfarers on Thurs. 3/8-They are in a black case and are prescription lenses-Please help me find them! Call 546-1229 (They have tortoise shell frames)

LOST EYEGLASSES-Green in tan and white case. If found contact 6-8321.

LOST NEAR BOYDEN GYM: Class ring with blue stone. My name and SS inside. REWARD Please call 546-9559

LOST RED WALLET on Monday 3/12 at Herter REWARD 256-8124

LOST DOG

SEEN ON AND AROUND Campus. She is 40Lb and tan colored. Last seen March 9. If found please call 548-8179. No collar. REWARD!

NEED A GOWN?

NEVER BEEN USED--Three gowns for sale really cheap. Sizes 6,8,and 10. Two are dark pink, one light pink. All have been preserved. If interested, please call Theresa at 546-7405. Leave message.

PAINTING, PAPERHANGING, POWERWASHING

A SPRING SPRUCE UP FOR YOUR HOME.
Painting-interior & exterior-, wallpapering; powerwashing for your wooden or vinyl homes - They'll look like new-
Call after 5, or weekends anytime. Fully insured, reasonable rates - Frank 1-413-467-3465 Granby

PERSONALS

BILL "SHEVS" Your even sexier now that your finally 21! Have a memorable birthday! Is it possible to give you a hug? It's a special occasion?! We love you. Jodi, Leslie, Mel, Dot & Jen

CHRIS- Happy two year anniversary, Bunny! I love you! Your woman, WENDI

CINDY- We hope you sort out your multicolored illnesses and the "sign" and symptoms disappear! - Your Pledge Sisters-Alpha Phi Epsilon

"COME ON BABY drive south with the one you love!"

DAVID: Happy Spring Break! I miss you more than ever. It won't be long....
Next message: 4/11

EARTHY-CRUNCHY HONEY-
Happy 20th Birthday! You may be a year older, but you're still not my elder.
Love, Lazy Honey
P.S. It's been a fantastic year!!!!

ERIC HAPPY 21ST B-DAY! Do a shot for me! Love, Just Some Chick

HAPPY 19TH B-DAY Puppy Dog I love you Brett

HAPPY 19TH BIRTHDAY ROCKY
You are a champ C.H.A.M.P.
It's about time you grew up!
Love The First Floor of Crampton

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SOUPY! (Pauly Campbell). Please don't use any of those "today's my birthday" lines in Cancun next week. Duh Duh. Be happy. Think of me! Love and Aloha, Jeannie, "Your imaginary girlfriend."

HEY PUSSYCAT I'll miss you while I'm away I love you. T.M.

HEY RED, Happy Birthday! Love 2nd floor Grayson. Have Fun

HEY STEF! Happy 22nd! have a great one - Meri

IMELDA! Happy Birthday. One ad will suffice please, so none of that! Love, Lucy, Azzy, Ebonita, and Harvey

JACQUI- Happy 21st and 1 year anniversary I love you always! Love, Mike

JACQUI OUELLET- Happy 21st Have a great trip! We'll celebrate when you get back!! I love ya, Kim

-JIM-
"21" is only a day away
Happy Early Birthday...
We'll celebrate after Spring Break!!
I love you
Melis

JOY-
You mean a lot to me;
You are a special person
Things can be great Love, Me

NANCY WHITE
Having made the sun, moon, Earth,
White Russians, Poptarts, and Jolene,
God said, "This is good."
Then he made you-Ooops!
Happy Birthday!
Luv, Irene

PATRICK-I'm so happy. Thanks for the best weekend. I love you! Gina

QUE TAL TRACIE LYONS.
Happy 19th Birthday!
Does this do anything for you?
Love, Andrea, Marla, Shelly, Tammy, Sharon, and Tricia.

SISTERS OF ALPHA PHI EPSILON- We're proud to be part of history in the making! We couldn't ask for better sisters! Love, your pledges

STEPH-
Here's yours 'cuz I know you'd whine.
Happy 19th Woman!
Luv, Irene

TERESA
I would do anything to have you forgive me. I was just having fun and I'm sorry

TO SIGMA KAPPA
Sisters and Pledges
Have an excellent
Spring Break

YOU, ME, IN A MOTORCAR, Chitty Chitty Bang Bang, I love you! Happy Birthday to my best friend, Rob. Love, Anne

PIZZA

COLLEGE PIZZA
SPRING SPECIAL
small cheese $3.50
large cheese $5.99
2 additional toppings
ONLY $1 more
GOOD only Sun-Thurs
!Must Mention This Ad!

RIDE WANTED

BACK TO UMASS from Ithaca 3/24 or 3/25 will share $ Call Dave 549-7907

FROM NJ (Anywhere esp. south) back to UMASS end of break. $$ Call ASAP Please 546-5457

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

LOOKING FOR FEMALE for 2 bedroom Apt in Southwood Apts., Sunny, next to bus stop, fully equipped kitchen, 1½ bathrooms, new carpet, great place, more info call 546-7354

SHARE A NICE ROOM in Townhouse Apts. 181.25 Move A.S.A.P. 549-6063

TWO BEDROOMS IN A great old house in North Leverett. Beautiful area in the hills. $205, Free heat. 367-9861

SERVICES

DOES YOUR PROSPECTIVE CAREER HAVE POTENTIAL? Earnings, working conditions, educational requirements, employment outlook analyzed. For FREE Sample Career Packet phone (315) 253-4794. Leave name and mailing address on machine.

RESUMES! I will do your resumes for $10 to $30 less than the local print shops! Call me evenings! Rick 586-1642

SUMMER RENTALS

GROUP RENTALS: Spend summer on Cape Cod. Many listings, 2,3, and 4 bedroom houses. Easy payment plan. Call Honey Sperco, Broker 508-398-9367

TOMATO HEAD

HEY--did everyone realize that Jim Clark is becoming an old man? Happy 22nd birthday to our exalted ruler! Love Alise, Meredith, Minu, George and fellow Collegian geeks!

TRAVEL

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

LV. S.BOSTON, Arr. Orlando. During week of Spring Break. $150.00 Round trip. For more info. call Sam at 546-1277.

NEED A RIDE TO THE AIRPORT?
Spring Break Special
$15 One way fare
to Bradley Airport
Call Now!
Limited Seating
Valley Transporter
256-8484

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

TYPING WORD PROCESSING, Dissertations, Reports, Resumes Laser printing 259-1786

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

$100.00 FOR POSITIVE ID of the people who broke the head off the sign at Roosters Restaurant. PS Leonard 256-6888

GUY IN GORMAN WITH WHITE CAP
Sat next to your friend PETE on way to Temple. Need his number - Can you help? Call 6-8477.

WILLIAM FRANCIS SHEVORY

HAPPY 21ST BIRTHDAY!!! Not only are you the worst pictionary cheat, you are a Dating Game reject, but we love you anyway! Just bring your appetite tonight and we'll bring the pizza or is that we'll bring our appetites and you bring the pizza?!? "Get psyched" for a great night!
Hugs & Kisses, Krissy, Michelle, Tracy & Heather.
P.S. Just remember it is extremely rude to forget someone's name that you scoop!!!

SPORTS

Minutemen put to the test tonight

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

The third season begins tonight.

And for the University of Massachusetts men's basketball team, it would be happy if it was anywhere near as successful as the first two.

Season No. 1 saw UMass compile a 15-12 regular season mark and a sixth place finish in the Atlantic 10 Conference. Then came the second one, the A-10 tournament, where the Minutemen stole the attention by rolling into the championship game before falling to Temple.

In a way, the successes of the first two have led to what will commence tonight. UMass enters the National Invitational Tournament against the University of Maryland. Tip-off is 8 p.m. (WMUA 91.1-FM, WHMP 1400-AM, WNNZ 640-AM) from Cole Field House in College Park, Md.

Few people have given the upstart Minutemen much of a chance of winning this thing. But be assured that UMass coach John Calipari isn't going to bring his troops all the way there with intentions of getting spanked. UMass is out to win, just as it would be in any other game.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

The UMass men's basketball team will play in the National Invitational Tournament for the first time in 13 years. It all begins at 8 p.m. against the University of Maryland.

"I told the kids, 'Don't be satisfied with going to the NIT. Let's win'," Calipari said.

It won't be an easy task against a team that stacks up a lot higher than the Minutemen. The frontcourt features the likes of talented 6-foot-10 sophomore Jerrod Mustaf, along with 6-9 Tony Massenburg and 6-6 Walt Williams.

Mustaf and Massenburg are a tough tandem, both vicious scorers and rebounders. Mustaf leads the team in scoring at 18.2 points per game, with Massenburg close behind at 17.7. Massenburg has the better of the board battle, an impressive 10.1 while Mustaf is at 7.7.

Williams is no slouch himself, as anyone who saw him torch North Carolina earlier this season could attest. There is a drop-off from the two big guys, but Williams averages 12.8 points and 4.3 boards per outing.

"Certainly they've got size on us," Calipari understated. "They're going to be tough."

Calipari hopes to sag inside on the threesome, hoping to shut them off much like UMass was able to shut off Temple's Donald Hodge in the last game.

To do that, UMass will need solid games from junior John Tate, sophomore William Herndon and freshman Harper Williams. The Minutemen worked all week on blocking out, using the body to keep the big guys away from the rim.

UMass will be daring the Terrapins to shoot from the outside. Jesse Martin (10.3 points) is a capable shooter and Teyon McCoy (10.5 points) runs the show. But clearly the backcourt is the weakest area of the Maryland attack.

As it has been so regularly noted, Maryland is a team that thinks it should be playing elsewhere today. But the Terrapins of first-year coach Gary Williams have been an up-and-down team.

Evidence of this is that the team beat North Carolina twice — including once in the DeanDome, but lost to Coppin State (a tourney team but never mistaken for a national power). Then there was the loss to Boston University back in January at the Boston Garden.

Remember that UMass came off a stinging season-opening loss to Lowell, trekked to Walter Brown Arena and bombed the Terriers, 76-60. Maryland lost to BU, 65-61.

Despite its recent punishment for NCAA violations, Maryland is a team that looks very much like UMass in terms of its season success. In 1988-89, the Terrapins were an ugly 9-20 overall, including an abysmal 1-13 in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

For that reason, among many others, coach Bob Wade was fired and Williams was brought in from Ohio State to coach his alma mater. Williams turned the team around to its present state.

Calipari did much the same, taking a team that was 10-18 last season and bringing it well beyond the threshold of respectability with a 17-13 mark.

An interesting sidelight is that Roger McCready, an assistant with UMass last year, is now a top assistant for Williams. But Calipari isn't worried about any inside trading.

"I called him and jokingly said not to say anything," Calipari said. "But we've changed a lot since he was here."

Also, there is the battle of the McCoys. When Teyon squares off with Jim, UM's 20-point scorer and first team All-Atlantic 10, there surely will be questions about who the "real McCoy" is.

"I'm sure that will come up," UM's McCoy said.

As for who is the better team, that matter will have to be decided on the floor of the Cole Field House tonight.

Offense a key for men's lacrosse team

Rule changes figure to be a boon for run-n-gun Gorillas

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

For as long as there has been men's lacrosse at the University of Massachusetts, Dick Garber has been the coach.

This season will be Garber's last at the helm of the Gorillas, which would be good reason for the team to want to win the national championship as a going-away present.

"Some kids have mentioned that to me, but that puts extra pressure on them," Garber said. "My approach is to have the best season you can have."

If the early stages of the season are any indication, it will be a good season for the Gorillas.

Weather conditions have kept them from fine-tuning themselves outdoors, which Garber hopes will straighten itself out when the team travels to Arizona next week for matches with Arizona and Whittier College.

"This has been an extremely tough spring, not getting any outdoor work in," Garber said. "We're at the stage now where what we need is outdoor work — for space, timing and team play."

Garber likes what he's seen from his squad so far, but feels it has to work out the kinks before it's ready to get down to business.

"Their conditioning is good, their individual skills are good," he said. "The team is shaping up very strong."

Those of you who are die-hard lax fans will be seeing a different style of game this year. Several rule changes have been installed, most of them designed to speed up the game. There is no substituting allowed on dead balls that go over the end line, and teams have 10 seconds to clear the ball from the defensive zone, and 10 more to get the ball into the offensive zone.

"It's not going to affect us as much as other teams," Garber said. "It'll speed up the game, and we're run-and-gun anyway. We're always looking for the quick clear, sometimes to the point of excess."

Chances are, the scores of games will go way up, which will really help a UMass team that sees its strength as being in the offensive zone.

Leading the way for the Gorillas on attack will be seniors Scott Hiller and Rob Codignotto, junior Jim McAleavey and sophomore Mike Cain. McAleavey paced the team in scoring last year with 29 goals and 48 assists, while Hiller was leading goal scorer with 39. Codignotto added 21 tallies.

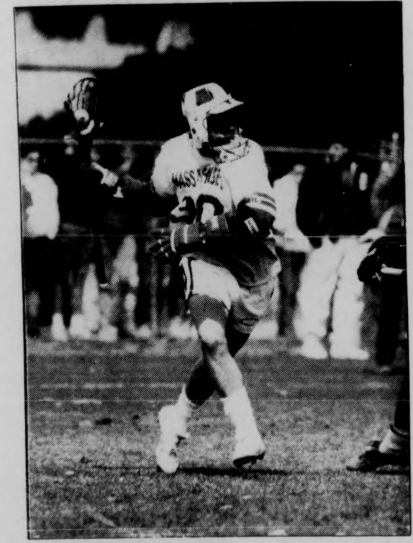
On the second line are junior Bill Begien, sophomore Robert Falvey and freshmen Mario Guglianone, Mark Millon and Don Avena.

"We've got quantity and quality there," Garber said.

But the big difference for the rule changes may be felt in the midfield. Another change saw the dropping of one long stick, which will free up another midfielder on the attack.

"In the fall, the midfielders scored the most goals against the short sticks," Garber said. "You're going to see a lot more teams playing zone."

Which is good news to players like senior co-captain Tim Soudan, who exploded last year as an All-American with 31 goals. He will be joined by seniors Jamie Bergan and John Gonzales, junior Rich Senatore, sophomores Erich Carroll and John Schlipf, and junior college transfers Frank Pepe and James Kushner.



Sports Information photo

Jim McAleavey led the men's lacrosse team in scoring last year. Rule changes may help the Gorillas score even more in 1990.

The loss of a long stick put the strategy of defensive midfielders in jeopardy, but Garber will still be using them. However with only one long stick, he will have to alternate senior Hugh O'Callaghan and sophomore Mario Lopez.

"It'll be tougher to get them on the field now," Garber said of the limited substitution. "It's too bad. They [Lopez and O'Callaghan] would have been tough side by side."

Senior co-captain Marc Feinberg will be the main short stick D-middie, along with junior Matt Garber and transfer Ed O'Callaghan (brother of Hugh).

The big mystery for the Gorillas would be on a defense that was seriously depleted by graduation.

"In the fall that was a real question, but that's kind of shaping up, too," Garber said.

Sophomore Rick Mullins is the only returning starter in the youthful defensive corps. He will be joined by junior Pat DeBenedictis, sophomore Corey Cronin and newcomers Gary Wood, Tom Brown, Kenny Randazzo and Jim Panetta.

"In the limited scrimmages we've had, the offense has looked strong, the defense has looked strong in a man-to-man mode, but our team D needs a lot of work," Garber said.

Then there's goal. How do you replace a four-time All-American like Sal LoCascio. You don't, really. But junior Ted Kellerman has an edge on the job, followed by sophomore Ray Suris and freshman Todd Ackerman.

For the second year in a row, juniors Josh Schimmel and Vinny D'Angelo will share the faceoff duties.

After their return from Arizona, the Gorillas begin their regular schedule with a visit to Cornell. The teams split two meetings last year, with UMass picking up a big win in the first round of the NCAA tournament before falling to Johns Hopkins in the quarterfinals.

UMass will play the traditional opponents like Brown, St. John's, New Hampshire, Yale, Dartmouth, Army, Harvard, Rutgers, Boston College and finally Syracuse. One addition to the schedule has Providence College paying a visit to Boyden Hill on Apr. 7.

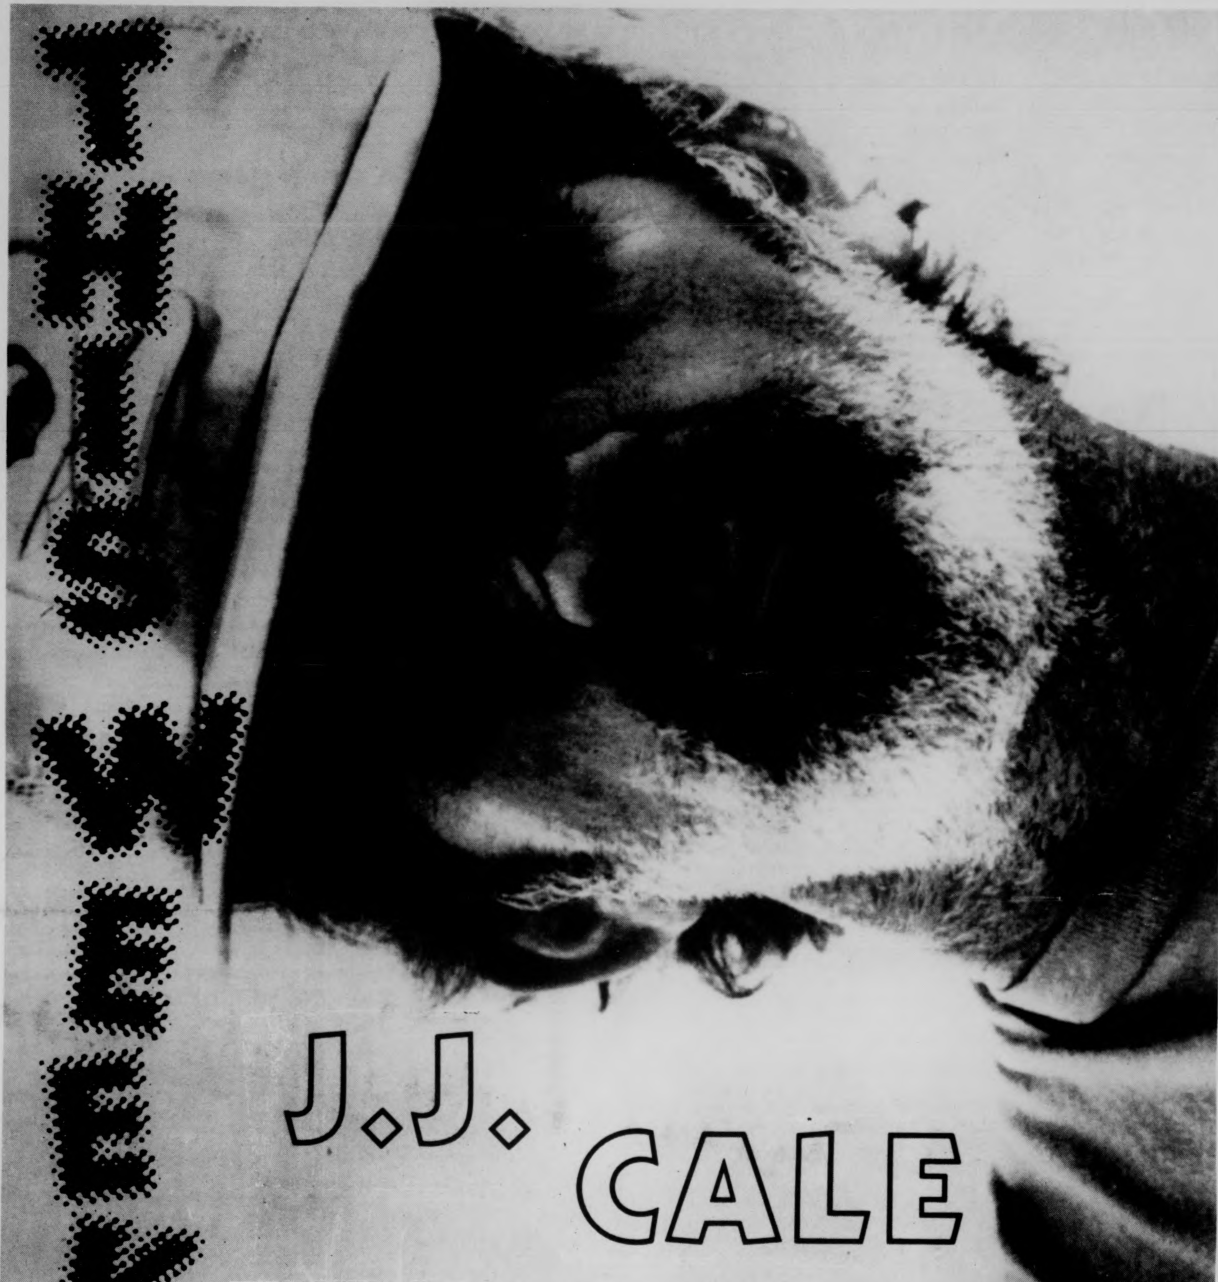
With that schedule, the Gorillas will be shooting for their fifth straight New England title and fifth NCAA appearance in a row.

"We've just got to win them one at a time, and add them up at the end. Hopefully we'll be there," Garber said.

JV lax in action

The University of Massachusetts junior varsity club lacrosse team will be facing off against Trinity College today at 3 p.m. on the Lower Boyden Field.

THIS WEEKEND



J.J. CALE

By NICK OSTIS
Collegian Correspondent

Laconic Okie J.J. Cale has been recording low-key, high quality music for 20 years. His discography includes nine albums dating back to his 1971 landmark LP Naturally, which spawned two hit singles, "Crazy Mama" and "After Midnight."

On Tuesday, March 20, Cale is bringing almost 40 years of authentic American guitar experience to Pearl Street, in what should be a six-string blues-rock revelry for enthusiasts of the genre.

Guitar god Eric Clapton said in a 1988 Rolling Stone interview, "I started to identify with like-minded people like J.J. Cale. When I listened to J.J. Cale records, I was impressed by what wasn't being played."

Of course, Clapton recorded two Cale tunes, "Cocaine" and "After Midnight" (of late a beer commercial), which became two of his biggest hits and concert staples. For further proof of his influence, listen to any Mark Knopfler riffs on the early Dire Straits albums and you'll hear Cale's style, sometimes note for note.

Cale is touring to promote his first album (and first for Silvertone Records) since 1983. It's entitled Travelogue. Perhaps owing to the popularity of his hits, he hasn't had to tour or record much [illegible] he says, "I've been semi-retired for most of my [illegible] I'm just a little more semi-retired than I used to be."

Not only can he pick like a friend, but his drawl-drenched, intimate vocals invite you to listen like a personal friend. Shuffles, boogies, blues, rock, a touch of country and gospel: Cale does them all. If J.J.'s on, this could be the sleeper of the year.

Chris Smither will open for Cale. The New Orleans-raised Smither, whose career has followed a similar trail, is best know for songs he wrote to propel Bonnie Raitt's career (most notably, "Love Me Like A Man"). An outstanding guitarist and vocalist, he is nationally known and praised widely in the press for his soulful voice and finger picking fluency.

Although mega-fame has eluded these craftsmen, this is a highly recommended double bill and entertainment dollars well-invested.

J.J. Cale and Chris Smither play Pearl Street Tuesday, March 20, at 7 p.m. Tickets are $13. (We know Tuesday isn't really the weekend, but we consider all next week to be one long weekend.)

THE BLACK SHEEP

79 Main Street
Amherst
253-3442

58 Main Street
Northampton
586-3055

BUFFALO BILLS "NO BULL"

There's a new game in town

"Boy, I sure am full! Nothing fills me up better than Buffalo Bill's!"

If this is you, come in for a free meal.

50 Main Street, Amherst
253-9223
Open 7 Days at 11 am
'Til 2 am weekends
Breakfast 9-11 am Mon. ► Fri.

Nancy Jane's
Restaurant & Bakery
Nancy Jane's

36 Main Street
Amherst, MA
"Across from Police Station"

SOUPS • SALADS • SANDWICHES
IN-HOUSE BAKERY
SPECIALS Everyday!

Open: M-F 6am - 6:30pm
Sat 7am - 5pm
Sun 8am - 2pm

FREE Chocolate Chip Cookie w/ this AD and a $3.00 purchase
Catering Available 253-3343

BREAKFAST ALL DAY SUNDAY!
Moderate Prices—Relaxed Atmosphere—Homestyle Cooking

Clip & Curl

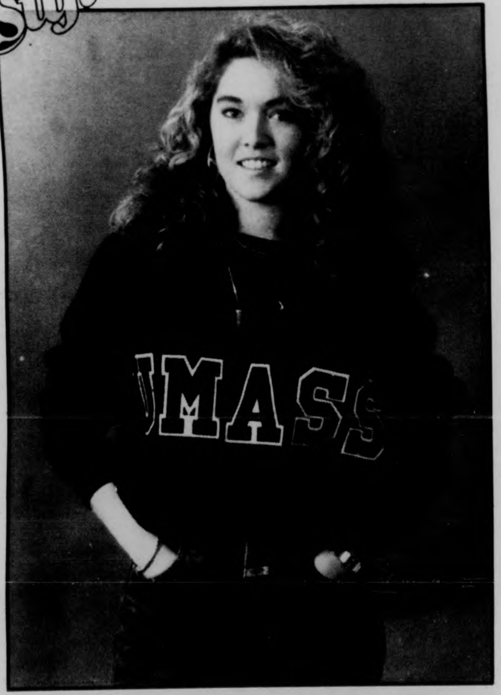
Phone: 665-2629
Tues.-Fri. 9-8
Sat. 9-4
Located on Rte. 116
in Sunderland
(Next to 7-11) on bus route
We sell & use Paul Mitchell's & Nexxus Products

Haircut with shampoo	$11.50
Perms, include haircut	$44-48
Colors	$20-25
Part Perms	$35
Frostings	$35
Eyebrow Waxing	$5

Long hair costs slightly more

Sport Style

Photo by Buck Stewart



Open M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE ☆
Located in the Campus Center

HOW TO ENRICH YOUR EDUCATION BY $1,000 A MONTH.

If you're a math, engineering or physical sciences major, you could be earning $1,000 a month during your junior and senior years.

This excellent opportunity is part of the Navy Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate Program. It's one of the most prestigious ways of entering the nuclear field – and rewarding, too. You get a $4,000 bonus upon entrance into the program, and $2,000 more when you complete your Naval studies.

You also receive a year of paid graduate-level training that's the most comprehensive in the world. And you'll acquire expertise with state-of-the-art nuclear reactor and propulsion plant technology.

As a Navy officer, you'll lead the adventure while gaining high-level experience that will help make you a leader in one of the world's high-tech industries.

In addition to the professional advantages, nuclear-trained officers get an unbeatable benefits package, travel opportunities, promotions and a solid salary.

Find out more about the Navy Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate Program, and make your education start paying off today. Call Navy Management Programs:

1-800-444-7134

NAVY OFFICER
You are Tomorrow.
You are the Navy.

Alternatives to Academics

THURSDAY

Winona LaDuke speaks in celebration of American Indian Awareness Month in the UMass Campus Center Auditorium. FREE. 7 p.m.

Courtney Pine, brings his tenor jazz licks to the Iron Horse. $10. 7 p.m.

Courtney Pine

Madchen in Uniform (Girls in Uniform), a German film about a close relationship that develops between a boarding school teacher and one of her pupils, is shown in Amherst College Merrill II. FREE. 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

John Clark, John Ragusa, Tom Ulrich, a local jazz trio, performs with special guest vocalists at the Forbes Library in Northampton. FREE. 8 p.m.

Equivocations of the Political is a lecture given by Werner Hamacher of John Hopkins, at the UMass Campus Center rm 903. FREE. 4 p.m.

Sacred Goals and Their Gods in Ancient Greece is a lecture given by Darice Birge of Columbia U, at Smith College Wright Hall Common Room. FREE. 4:15 p.m.

Asleep at the Wheel/Sundogs make for a killer double bill at Pearl Street. 8 p.m.

Alice Cooper brings his loud music and wild stage props to the Springfield Paramount. The Front opens. 7:30 p.m.

Waiting for the Moon, a film about Americans Gertrude Stein and her partner Alice B. Toklas living in France in the '20s, is screened in UMass Campus Center rm 805-809. FREE. 7 p.m.

Roller Coasters: Dynamical Analysis of the Passenger Experience is a seminar given by Al Clark, who teaches mechanical engineering at Rochester, in Amherst College Merrill III, FREE. 4:45 p.m.

The Toyko Trial, a 4 hour compilation film about the International Military Tribunal for the Far East, is screened as part of the Japanese Documentary Film/Video Series, at Mt. Hoyoke College Gamble Auditorium. FREE. 6:30 p.m.

Strange Brew, starring those beer drinking hosers from the Great White North, Bob and Doug McKenzie (Dave Thomas and Rick Moranis), is screened at Hampshire College Franklin Patterson Main Lecture Hall. $1. 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.

Japanese Tea Ceremony, served by Ms. Nobue Socho Yamashita, is held in Mt. Holyoke College Eliot House Wa-Shin-An. 7 p.m.

Michael Campbell, pianist, performs the music of Roger Sessions, at Smith College Sage Auditorium. FREE. 8 p.m.

Bach Aria Group, perform classical works at the Amherst College Buckley Recital Hall. $12, $10 general public; $10, $8 students and senior citizens. 8:15 p.m.

Ari Mendes and the Amazon add a taste of the Caribbean for Brazillian Night to the North Star in Northampton. $10. 9:30 p.m.

Students go home, during the annual Spring Break ritual, about two-thirds of the Five College students blow off their Friday classes and head for the sun, fun and measles of Florida, or for a home cooked meal at their humble abodes.

FRIDAY

Ward Churchill, author, speaks on behalf of American Indian Awareness Month at the UMass Campus Center Auditorium. FREE. 7 p.m.

Jah Levi and the Higher Reasoning, the reggae sensation of the West Coast, jam at the Northampton Center for the Arts. $8. 8 p.m.

We Saw the Wolf, a hot, electric Celtic band, take the stage at the Iron Horse. $6. 7 p.m.

Pow-wow, featuring the dance, culture and celebration of various American Indian nations, is held in honor of American Indian Awareness Month, in the UMass Curry Hicks Cage. FREE. 4 p.m.-11:30 p.m. Also Saturday, 9 a.m.-11:30 p.m. and Sunday 9 a.m.-9 p.m.

LBGA coffee social, complete with free refreshments, is held on the ninth floor of the UMass Campus Center. 3-6 p.m.

Jac Veronesi takes the stage for a rare acoustic appearance at Twister's.

Blushing Brides, the ultimate Rolling Stones clone band, who also have a few great songs of their own, start it up at Katina's.

Works in Progress, the premiere performance of the African and American Dance Theater of New England, is held in the East Street Studio in Hadley. $6 adults; $4 children. 8 p.m.

In the Flesh/Fifth Business take over the stage for an 18 and over show at Pearl Street. 8:30 p.m.

In the Flesh

SATURDAY

Celtic Elvis, celebrating St. Patrick's Day, bring their Celtic version of "Heartbreak Hotel," as well as other gems, to the Iron Horse. $8. 7 p.m.

Duke Robillard Band crank it up at Pearl Street. 8:30 p.m.

Ward Churchill, author, holds a book signing at Food for Thought Bookstore. FREE. 2 p.m.

Ray Mason Band play some hot rock 'n' roll at Sheehan's.

SUNDAY

Anson Funderburgh and the Rockets take off for an 18 and over show at Pearl Street. 7 p.m.

Blood Oranges/The Rent Party team up for an exciting rock twin bill at the Iron Horse. $5. 7 p.m.

Get your Irish up....at Liquors 44!!
BEER WINE LIQUORS
Prices do not include deposit

GUINNESS GOLD case of 24-12 oz. bottles SALE $15.69 MAIL IN REBATE $6.00 $9.69 + DEP. AFTER REBATE
LITE SUITCASE case of 24-12 oz. cans $10.99 + DEP.
O'DOULS NON-ALCOHOL BEER case of 24 12 oz. bottles $11.49 + DEP.
OLD MILWAUKEE & OLD MILWAUKEE LIGHT suitcase of 24-12 oz. cans $7.99 + DEP.
GUINNESS STOUT case of 24-12 oz. bottles SALE $18.99 MAIL IN REBATE $5.00 $13.99 + DEP. AFTER REBATE
COKE CLASSIC & DIET COKE case of 24 12 oz. cans $5.99 + DEP.

Riunite ALL FLAVORS $4.39 1.5 L
Almaden VINEYARDS Burgundy, Chablis, Rhine, Vin Rose, Blush, Golden Chablis $4.99 3 Liter
GLEN ELLEN WHITE ZINFANDEL & SAUVIGNON BLANC $6.29 1.5 L
$7.99 750 ML. Asti Spumante MARTINI & ROSSI
TAYLOR California Cellars $3.49 ALL VARIETIES 1.5 L
August Sebastiani WHITE ZINFANDEL 750 ML. $2.99

JAMESON IRISH WHISKEY SALE $10.59 MAIL IN REBATE $2.00 $8.59 750 ml AFTER REBATE
BAILEY'S IRISH CREAM $13.29 750 ML
SMIRNOFF VODKA 1.75 L $11.99 AFTER REBATE SALE $13.99 MAIL IN REBATE $2.00
Canadian Club SALE $15.99 MAIL IN REBATE $3.00 $12.99 1.75 L AFTER REBATE
KAHLÚA $10.99 750 ML
BACARDI SILVER RUM $13.99 1.75 L

not responsible for typographical errors
9am to 11pm Monday thru Saturday
LIQUORS 44
HADLEY Campus Plaza/Route 9 253-9344
◄ TWO ► LOCATIONS
HOLYOKE 30 Lincoln St. 534-4555
SALE PRICES THURS 3/15/90 THRU WED 3/21/90
VISA MasterCharge TeleCheck

JANE AND SAMANTHA HAVE BEEN TOGETHER AS LONG AS THEY CAN REMEMBER...
♀♀

PLEASANT ST. THEATER

3 ACADEMY AWARD NOMINATIONS!
BEST ACTOR KENNETH BRANAGH BEST DIRECTOR KENNETH BRANAGH BEST COSTUME DESIGN

◆ HENRY V ◆
A BOLD NEW FILM BY KENNETH BRANAGH

Weekdays at 6:30 & 9/Fri., Sat. & Sun. at 4, 6:30 & 9 p.m.
27 Pleasant St., Northampton
586-0935

Twistin' the night away, acoustic style

By ARI VAIS
Collegian Correspondent
and AL KAUFMAN
Collegian Staff

Twister's Tavern in Amherst is finally opening its generally funky doors to acoustic performers. And they will be kicking it off with style tomorrow night, when longtime Valley favorite Jac Veronesi takes the stage. Veronesi will play in promotion of a three-song cassette that his band Blue Zone have just released.

Blue Zone's following is locally rich. However, Jac Veronesi's musical impact on this part of the state goes back to the sixties. In 1971, Veronesi released The Farewell Album, which featured the unforgettable single "Lullabye for a Beer Freak."

He explains, "Back then you were either an LSD/drug freak, or you were a boozer. The two never got together."

It would be fifteen years before Veronesi would record again. During that time, which he calls "the lost years," he traveled and played around Cal. and Mexico. Band members changed rapidly and, although he wrote songs, he never made it into a studio.

The music of the time also scared Veronesi. "When the '70s and '80s came, the commercial music scene was just so alien to me," he says. "I just kind of hung out and waited."

Veronesi finally settled on his current Blue Zone band. The current line-up has been together for about nine years. Veronesi's passion for R&B and horns is complemented with other band members' jazz and Latin influences. The result is a rather unique but unpretentious sound. When listening to Veronesi's rich, mellow voice, one can hear years of experience and refreshing humility.

Veronesi's current three-song cassette, Islands, (available at many record stores in Northampton) displays a sound ready for adult contemporary/top 40 radio. The first song is a charming combination of synth/pop and gospel titled "Everybody," and Blue Zone rips it up with fun background vocal hooks. "Stayin' at Home" is a throwback to early Motown without the soul, and features the lead vocals of new Blue Zone singer Kathleen Balestri.

Finally, "Snowed In," a bonus track for "our long time fans and friends," is a new arrangement to an old Veronesi favorite. It's a feel good, countryesque ballad boasting Veronesi's strongest feature: his voice.

At Twister's, Veronesi will be Blue Zoneless (he'll play there with the band next month). He has been performing solo throughout his 20-year career. He says, "Solo, I do all kinds of stuff. I try to play as much of my original stuff as I can get away with. And I love to play old gems that haven't been played too much.

"When they see a guy up there with a guitar and harmonica, they start asking for Neil Young songs. I don't know too much Neil Young. I'd rather do the more obscure stuff."

That stuff includes b-sides from hit singles of the '50s and '60s, as well as other lesser known tunes from musicians like Van Morrison.

This will not be the first time Veronesi plays Twister's, but it will be his first solo acoustic gig there. In fact, it will be one of the few times a non-electric act performs there.

"I don't know what to expect," he says of his upcoming show. "I'm just going to try to go out there and party with the people."

Seeing Veronesi at Twister's would be a nostalgic trip down memory lane, Western Massachusetts style. And it would be supporting Twister's clever decision to book solo acts.

Photo by Harold
Jac Veronesi plays an acoustic show at Twister's tomorrow night.

BACK
at the
TOP

The T.O.C. Restaurant is celebrating its return to the 11th floor by offering —

Lunch Specials for $3.95
Dinner Specials for $6.95

The T.O.C. Lounge is also back at the top with TOP Action —

Bruins vs. Jets
at 7:30 pm

Plus this week's drink specials —

Tequila Sunrise
Pearl Harbor
Seven & Sevens

TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE

Lunch served Mon.-Fri.: 11:30 am-2:00 pm
Dinner served Tues.-Sat.: 5:00 pm-9:00 pm
Lounge hours: Mon.-Fri.: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat. & Sun.: 5:00 pm-12:30 am
Telephone: 549-6000 ext. 7639 Casual Dress

11TH FLOOR • CAMPUS CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
AT AMHERST

When it's a matter of taste...
and your waist...
follow the Frozen Yogurt Leader

"Smooth & creamy
No Fat.
No Cholesterol."

"Indulge without the bulge!"

BANANARAMA
fabulous frozen
YOGURT
Northampton Amherst

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

AMHERST CINEMA
THE MUSIC
BOX
PG13
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week

$2.50 with student ID

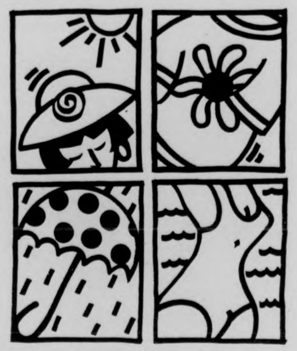
253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA



Chona Springs Eternal

CHONA
CLOTHING AND ACCESSORIES FOR WOMEN
150 MAIN ST., THORNES MARKETPLACE,
NORTHAMPTON
413 584 7803

WEATHER

Mass. is now a Tropical region, while Florida is in a second ice age. Have a nice break!

NEWS

SGA election results are in with a photo finish, but not everyone agrees that it was fair. Page 3.

SPORTS

UMass Men's hoop bows to Maryland, 91-81, in the first round of the NIT. Page 8.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY FRIDAY, MARCH 16, 1990
COLLEGIAN
VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 33

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke
FOUND AGAIN – Our investigaive photo dude finds the new '90 model cycle resting up for a season of heavy usage.

Kerry speaks against aid to El Salvador

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

U.S. Sen. John Kerry (D-Mass.), calling for an end to the El Salvadoran death squads, told some 150 people in the Student Union Ballroom yesterday the United States should cut off aid to El Salvador and cease all intervention.

Kerry said in the late 1970s there were approximately 800 to 1,200 killings per month in El Salvador. Today there are about 20 deaths per month, he said.

"The military in El Salvador is a major obstacle to the peace process," he said. "If the U.S. continues to fund it, the killings will continue."

Kerry said with continued funding to El Salvador's military, the United States shares an equal responsibility for the killing and disappearance of civilians.

He said although Congress has passed several human rights bills since 1981, none have been taken seriously by the El Salvadoran government.

Congress has demanded the reform of the judicial system, respect for civil liberties, the freedom to operate free trade and peasant unions, and freedom of religion, he said.

Kerry and U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) have introduced Senate bill 2083 to cut off military and economic aid to El Salvador. It has yet to reach the Senate floor.

"It has been U.S. tendency to put certain policies on foreign countries whether they are correct or not," Kerry said.

Comparing United States relations with El Salvador and Nicaragua, Kerry said, "As long as the U.S. supports non-democratic means, we are the greatest stumbling block to the peace process itself.

"Prime promoters of social justice, such as the six Jesuit priests killed in November, are the targets of the military [in El Salvador]," Kerry said.

"It still gets the message across: 'If you want to return to the 70s, speak out. If you want those times back, protest,'" Kerry said. "It only takes those 20 deaths, especially if they are peace-makers."

A small group of people were holding signs stating: "Kerry Supports Communism in El Salvador" and waving American flags.

Nat'l Orgasm Week at hand

By DARREN GARNICK
Collegian Staff

The week of March 18 - 25, spring break for University of Massachusetts students, has been declared "National Orgasm Week" by sexologist Dr. Roger Libby, a former human sexuality teacher at UMass.

The purpose of National Orgasm Week is to encourage people to be honest and careful with each other about sexuality, Libby said. He advises sexually active students to use condoms and non-oxynol 9, a lubricant which kills sperm and can help to prevent the transmission of sexually transmitted diseases.

Libby, author of the college textbook Sexual Choices, urged students to celebrate the week by "having lots of orgasms, either with themselves or with partners."

In conjunction with National Orgasm Week, Libby has founded "The National Organization of Sexual Enthusiasts," or N.O.S.E. Libby's organization will counteract the activities of the National Chastity Association, a group which advocates pre-marital celibacy, he said.

Libby instructed seminars on human sexuality and gender roles at UMass from 1978 to 1985 as an assistant professor in the home economics department. In 1985, after he was denied tenure for his controversial views, Libby filed a $165,000 First Amendment suit against UMass. The parties settled out of court for an undisclosed sum.

Libby, who holds a Ph.D. in sociology from Washington State University, said he is certified as a sexologist by the International Academy of Sex Research, an organization presently based at Columbia University in New York. He is also a frequent television talk show guest who has appeared on Oprah, The Morton Downey Jr. Show, Geraldo, CNN News Night, Sally Jesse Raphael and MTV.

Libby visits college campuses with "Roxanne Ribbit," a life-size stuffed frog. Roxanne, equipped with a tape-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

Man fell reaching to friend

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

The 18-year-old University of Massachusetts freshman who died in an elevator accident Sunday in Kennedy Residence Hall apparently was attempting to step on top of a moving elevator while reaching for the hand of a friend already there.

But police said Joel Mangion lost his balance in the darkness of the shaft and slipped, plunging eight stories to his death.

Joel Mangion and a friend, who has been identified only as a non-student, had been riding on top of the elevators when Mangion sat down on a crossbeam that runs horizontally between the two elevators, said UMass spokeswoman Karin Sherbin.

Mangion's companion, who was standing on top of a moving elevator, told police he asked Mangion to join him. Mangion then lost his balance and fell.

His friend, apparently went searching for Mangion but did not realize he had fallen, she said.

Police found Mangion at the bottom of the shaft at 5:10 a.m., after students discovered blood on top of one of the elevators.

Mangion died of multiple injuries sometime between 4 and 4:30 a.m. Sunday, said the Springfield Medical Examiner's Office.

A sample of Mangion's blood is being checked for traces of drugs or alcohol at a Boston toxicology laboratory. Results are expected to be released next Thursday, the medical examiners said.

Sherbin said Mangion and a group of four friends had attended an off-campus party Saturday night before returning to the dormitory. A memorial service will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Second Church in Mangion's hometown of West Newton.

UMass Greeks react to UVM frat's homophobic bias

By KERRY HERLIHY
Collegian Staff

After rushing the University of Vermont Acacia fraternity for six weeks this semester, "superpledge" Winston D. Brathwaite told his fraternity brothers he was gay.

Consequently, Acacia refused to initiate Brathwaite into the UVM chapter.

According to the Cynic, the student newspaper at UVM, Acacia president Taylor Lonsdale said Brathwaite was denied initiation because of his sexual preference.

"He was causing a rift in the brotherhood," Lonsdale told the Cynic. "We made a decision in the best interest of the house."

University of Massachusetts administrators and students involved in the Greek area said this week they were unaware of the UVM incident and unsure of how UMass fraternities and sororities would react if a similar incident happened here.

Ed Korza, acting director of Greek affairs at the University of Massachusetts, said he would hope the policies in the local Greek area are not similarly "discriminatory."

"During my time in this position, I have not seen any examples or incidents which would lead me to believe that [the UVM incident] would happen," Korza said.

Ethan Leonard, president of the Zeta Psi fraternity, said he would not

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

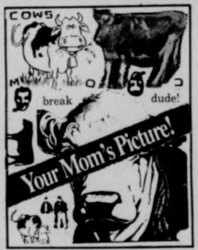
Editor in Chief........Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor........George Austin
Editorial Editor........Minu Sebastian
News Editor........Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor........Jim Clark
Arts Editors........Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor........Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor........Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor........Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor........Chris Muther
Business Manager........Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager........Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager........Martina Rios
Circulation Manager........Chris Baker
Subscription Manager........Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager........Donna Cusson
Production Managers........Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager........Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business........Lori Black, Brian Harrington
Maureen Majerowski
Graphics........Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst
Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT



Paramount
SPRINGFIELD
WMAS
BIG RIVER
THE ADVENTURES OF HUCKLEBERRY FINN
40 BAY STATE
Saturday, March 24, 8 pm

The Temptations
with special guest
Bonnie Pointer
March 25, 7:30 pm

Great White
with special guests
McAuley Schenker Group
and
Havana Black
Saturday, April 7, 8 pm
Rock 102

1700 Main St., Springfield
Box Office (413) 734-5874
Open M-F 10-5 and Sat. 12-5
TICKETRON
TICKETRON PHONE CHARGE
800-382-8080
Presented by LIVE Productions

MARCH 18-24
POISON
PREVENTION
WEEK
1990
FAMILIES WITH YOUNG CHILDREN!
Bring old prescription vials with leftover medication to the pharmacy and receive free a bottle of Ipecac and a poison counterdose chart. (Free only during Poison Prevention Week.) If no old medication vials are brought in, then the charts and Ipecac are available for $1.00

Railroad SALVAGE Stores
SALE ENDS MAR 22ND
Hampshire Mall, Route 9, Hadley, MA

UNI-SEX NOVELTY PRINT SWEATSHIRT
Spring-Weight • Poly/Cotton
Made in U.S.A.
Machine Washable
Long Sleeve
Crew Neck
VALUE $16.00
NOW $6.88

LADIES NITE SHIRTS
Poly/Cotton
Assorted Stripes
Sm • Med • Large
Machine Wash
Made in U.S.A.
VALUE $8.00
NOW $2.88

BEAR PRINT SWEATSHIRT
Poly/Cotton
White with Gray Bear and Pastel Balloons
Small Only
NOW $5.44

VISTA 60" WIDE TEXTURED LIGHT WEIGHT PANELS
TWO TONE COLORED PAIRS IN GEOMETRIC PATTERN
YOUR CHOICE OF LENGTH
• 60" x 63"
• 60" x 72"
• 60" x 81"
FIVE COLORS TO CHOOSE
$4.88 PAIR

SAVE 33%
ASSORTED "DHURRIE" STYLE WOVEN PLACEMATS
OUR REG $1.49
NOW $1.00

18" x 27" DECORATED BROADLOOM DOOR MATS
Flying Mallards • Welcome Bears
• Marching Ducks • Swimming Mallards
• Flower Basket
VALUE $4.99 - $6.99
NOW $2.88

CARPET BUY-OUT
This is a tremendous assortment of partial rolls and roll balances • DuPont Antron® Nylon • DuPont Certified Stainmaster Carpet • Monsanto Ultron • Nylon Wear Dated® • Monsanto Wear Dated® Gold Label Carpet with Locked-In Stainblocker®
DUPONT CERTIFIED STAINMASTER CARPET
ANSO V worry free FROM ALLIED FIBERS
• Multicolor Cut Loop
• Solid Color Saxony
• Solid Color Cut Pile
• Tailored Cut Pile
• Textured Cut Pile
• Velvet Cut Pile
• Boucle Cut Pile
• Multicolor Saxony
ENTIRE STOCK OF BROADLOOM AT ONE LOW LOW PRICE
VALUE $14.00 TO $35.00
NOW $7.00 SQ.YD.
Assortment May Vary From Store to Store

FINAL WEEK
FURNITURE CLEARANCE
SAVE UP TO 80% OFF NORMAL PRICES
OF ALL FLOOR SAMPLES AND DISPLAY ITEMS AT
10%-50% OFF OUR PRICES
LIVING ROOMS • DINETTES
BEDROOMS • MATTRESSES
ENTERTAINMENT CENTERS
COMPUTER FURNITURE

KEEBLER GRASSHOPPER CHOCOLATE COOKIES
11½ OZ. PACKAGE 99¢

PLANTERS TORTILLA CHIPS BITE-SIZE
7 OZ. PACKAGE 99¢

NOUVELLE CREAM OF BROCCOLI SOUP
9 OZ. SERVING 69¢

SUPERMAN PRETZELS
8 OZ. BAG 99¢

KEEBLER PLAYLAND VANILLA COOKIES
16 OZ. BAG $1.39

KEEBLER OATMEAL CREAMIES VANILLA CREME FILLED COOKIES
15 OZ. BAG $1.39

KEEBLER THIN BITS BITE-SIZE GRAHAMS
10 OZ. PACKAGE 99¢

LIPTON DECAF ICED TEA MIX NATURAL LEMON FLAVOR & SUGAR
MAKES 7½ QUARTS $1.99

RUFFIES LARGE TRASH BAGS 20 CT • HEAVY DUTY
2'9" x 3'4" WITH TIES $2.49

GENERAL MILLS OATMEAL SWIRLS RASPBERRY
MAKES 8 SERVINGS $1.69

LIPTON CUP-A-SOUP CREAMY BROCCOLI OR BROCCOLI & CHEESE
MAKES 3 SERVINGS YOUR CHOICE 79¢

LOCAL

Break festivities not limited to Florida

By RUSSELL SKELTON
Collegian Correspondent

When the term 'spring break' is mentioned, many think of college students piling into cars and heading south. Random interviews with about a dozen UMass students indicated that not everyone is heading for warmer climes.

Craig Jackson, a freshman chemical engineering major, said he plans to go surfing in Maine with a friend from Northeastern University. Jackson said he has a winter wetsuit, thermal underwear, and woolens so he is "all set."

Paul McCadden, a senior journalism major, said he and some friends are going to fly to Colorado for a week of skiing.

When asked if he planned to do any school work during the break, McCadden said, "I have a couple of papers to write but, I'm not going to worry about it."

Some students, however, are getting away from the cold and are making the traditional trek to Florida.

Heidi Vanamburgh, a junior pre-communications major, said she and eight others plan to drive to Daytona Beach today.

While in Florida she said she wanted to get a tan and just let "things happen. As long as I'm away, I'm just going to pretend I don't go to college."

Spring break will not be carefree cavorting for everyone though.

Freshman David Nabreski said he is planning to spend the week making some money working in a plastics factory. He also said he wants to read a couple of school books.

Theo Miga, a senior civil engineering major, said he plans to spend three days during the break working as a carpenter's assistant. Miga also said he would be studying for an "engineering and training" exam which he intends to take in April.

Evelise Ribeiro, a senior political science major said she plans to take an extended vacation with family and friends as well as go for a job interview. She added she "will definitely be studying too."

Spring break also presents opportunities for commercial enterprise. With a table in the campus center plugging such spring break necessities as sunglasses and sun screen, the University Store has capitalized on student excitement since Monday.

Tammy Moir, a junior French major working at the table said, "Sales have been excellent, especially the sunglasses."

Diephuis, McQuilken win

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

Natasha Diephuis edged John Silveria by four votes to win the race for president of the Student Government Association and Angus McQuilken claimed the student trustee post with 99 votes to spare.

Results of Tuesday's election were available at 8:30 last night, stalled because the list of eligible voters in three residential areas disappeared the day before the election.

Students' eligibility could not be confirmed until 9 a.m. yesterday when a master list was obtained from the Registrar's Office.

The presidential tally showed Natasha Diephuis (1094) narrowly defeating John Silveria (1090). Ken Parker (342) took a distant third, followed by write-in candidate Tim Smith (8).

Trustee voting results are as follows: Angus McQuilken (1135), Bob Monaghan (1036), Victoria Clement (400), and write-in candidate Tim Smith (2).

Chapter 10 of the SGA constitution and by-laws mandates an "automatic recount" for any election when a candidate's margin of victory is less than 10 votes.

But Silveria, who lost by four votes, said he plans to protest the results and call for a new election.

"I think it was run rather poorly and a new election should be formed," he said.

A protest can be filed by any defeated candidate, said Ross Condit, chair of the Governmental Affairs Committee. It must be presented in writing to the speaker of the senate within 48 hours of the results.

It is then placed on the agenda for the next senate meeting as a special order of business. The senate has the opportunity to hear an appeal and decides whether a second election is warranted.

A delay in counting was created by the loss of alphabetical lists for the Southwest North (Kennedy and Coolidge), and a partial list from Northeast and Sylvan voting areas Monday. Results determined that approximately 13.5 percent of undergraduates voted Tuesday.

McQuilken said: "If they want to protest the elections, let them protest the president's, because that was close. They should not run the trustee's again."

Other candidates were not available for comment.

■ Greeks discuss homophobia

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

discriminate on the basis of sexual preference, although he conceded that a homosexual may not feel "real comfortable" in the fraternity.

"It's bogus," Leonard said of the UVM incident. "It's an incident with one house where their actions were dictated by their own insecurities."

Maureen Burt, an employee of the Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns at UMass said, "It's a shame if someone was intentionally denied access because of their sexual preference."

"I know I have been harassed when I walk with friends down fraternity row," she said. "It makes me really uncomfortable."

Kathy Johnston, president of the Chi Omega sorority, said she could not predict how the UMass Greek area would react to a similar homophobic incident.

"You really don't know until it happens," Johnston said. "It's a personal opinion. I'm not saying whether it's right or wrong. They were acting how they believed."

Burt said the best way to fight homophobia on campus is through educational programs.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

BOOM CHUCKA BOOM – A tuba player enjoys the spring weather in front of the Curry Hicks Cage.

Students say homosexuality suppressed in Soviet Union

By TROY CASCIA
Collegian Correspondent

Several University of Massachusetts students who recently visited the Soviet Union said this week homosexuality is still misunderstood and unaccepted there.

"Coming out" as a homosexual is a crime in the Soviet Union with a punishment of five years in a prison camp, according to an article published in the Baltimore Sun last week.

The Moscow Lesbian and Gay Union, a group not officially recognized by the Soviet Union, is seeking the decriminalization of homosexual acts, the article said.

The article also cited a Soviet poll showing considerable support for executing gay men.

Marina Schweitzer, a UMass student who visited the Soviet Union last semester, said she thinks lesbians and gay men are persecuted because of a "lack of understanding" about homosexuality.

She said lesbians tend not to be punished for homosexuality because of a basic non-recognition of their existence.

Schweitzer said there is not an openly gay community in the Soviet Union.

"In the Soviet Union, people gather in the home, so there is no particular social place to go," she said. "There aren't any gay clubs or bars."

Josh Moore, a UMass student who went to Leningrad last semester through an exchange program, said he did not see an openly gay community, although friendly affection between people of the same sex, such as hugging or kissing on the cheek, is more accepted in Soviet culture than in Western culture.

UMass student Susan Pelton said she noticed many other cultural differences when she was in the Soviet Union last semester.

She said rigid Soviet gender roles contribute to sexism and heterosexism.

Jen Catlin, a UMass student who visited the Soviet Union last semester, said although the Western media sensationalizes changes in the Soviet Union, little is actually changing among the people.

Most problems with homophobia in the Soviet Union are linked to long standing traditions and customs, she said.

"Prejudice is not rooted in government, it's rooted in the people and their traditions," Catlin said.

■ National Orgasm Week coincides with UMass Spring Break

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

recorded female voice, joins him on stage in sex-promoting skits.

In the skits, he has a "pre-sex" discussion with Roxanne about feelings of mutual attraction and how to act on them.

"I use humor as a vehicle to convey responsibility," Libby said. "There is a message to my madness."

"If you are dead serious about it, no one will listen to you, certainly not college students," he said.

Libby said he doubted mainstream health educators would endorse National Orgasm Week.

"They'd probably freak out at the word 'orgasm.' Our nation suffers from pleasure-phobia," he said. "We can talk about violence in our society, but a word like 'orgasm' is censored."

"Orgasms relieve tensions, alleviate stress and make us feel better. What's the fear?" he said.

How do UMass students feel about National Orgasm Week?

Many students contacted by phone Wednesday night thought the Collegian's inquiries were prank calls and refused to comment. A few, however, were willing to talk.

Mari Mignosa, a senior communication disorders major, said the timing of National Orgasm Week during spring break was appropriate. "How fitting," she said.

John Bradley, a junior leisure studies major, agreed.

"For those venturing to warm weather spots for spring break, sexual activity probably has a high priority in their minds," he said. "I see the connection."

Junior English major Sean D. Gaudet said he was "very excited" about next week.

"I had no idea it was National Orgasm Week," he said. "Now that I'm aware, maybe I'll read some literature on it."

Not all students, however, welcome the week's message.

Sophomore wildlife biology major Vanessa Baker said the concept of a national orgasm celebration offends her and she will try to "ignore [the festivities] as much as possible."

"The sexual act is supposed to be something private and intimate between two people," she said.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Development hurts Indians

Above the States to the North a smoke signal is seen. It is one of warning, one of fear. The White man has come back for more Indian Land.

Before 1975 the Cree celebrated their life on the reservation happily. Their hunting, fishing and trapping were elements in their religion as much as their everyday life.

Ric Oliveira

To the Cree, nothing is as sacred as the land. But now their land is being taken away from them again. It's being raped and reaped of its life and its beauty.

In 1972 the James Bay project went into effect. This project was to create electricity for sale to the Southern areas of Canada and Northeastern United States.

The project was to use the Cree Indian land, set aside for them by the Canadian government in a prior treaty.

The Cree were enraged that the project was planned without their involvement or even permission. Hydro Quebec never told the Cree that it was going to flood their lands, their burial sites and their trapways.

Six months later, a court overruled the Hydro Quebec project. One week later, that discussion was overturned and planning again began.

After two years the Cree decided their backs were against the wall and reached a settlement called the James Bay agreement and the Northern Quebec agreement.

Under the agreements, the Cree consented to the La Grande project (1975) provided that the necessary conditions to escape oppression were included.

"We gained assurances for the preservation of our hunting, fishing and trapping way of life. Also control of education through the Cree school board, control of health and social services, control over the government of our lands, and a voice in the approval of new territory projects (Grand Council of the Cree of Quebec)."

The Indians ended up selling each acre for 0.77 cents. They felt that the gain in their own freedom would compensate any loss in dollars.

Now the Cree Indians are furious. The Cree say that they can no longer eat certain types of fish because of high mercury contents and that there are fewer geese and wildlife each year. There has been a drought in the James Bay Reservoir for seven years and the reservoirs have 27 percent less water than expected. And now Hydro Electric is looming on the horizon. If it goes into effect, there will be 13 more ecologically essential rivers dammed.

This will cause a dramatic shift in the lives of Beluga whales, Harbour seals, Elephant seals, polar bears and the caribou which use the surrounding lands to spawn.

All of this does not even include the problems which will be faced by the Crees who depend on the land for survival.

The problems facing the Cree in stopping this project are poor publicity, the extreme wealth of Hydro Quebec and the lack of research done on the effects of the first project.

In Northern Quebec the law does not require that there be public meeting on projects, so again the Cree face the ecological genocide of their lands.

Hydro Quebec sees the project as the perfect way to bring electricity to the U.S. and cash into their pockets.

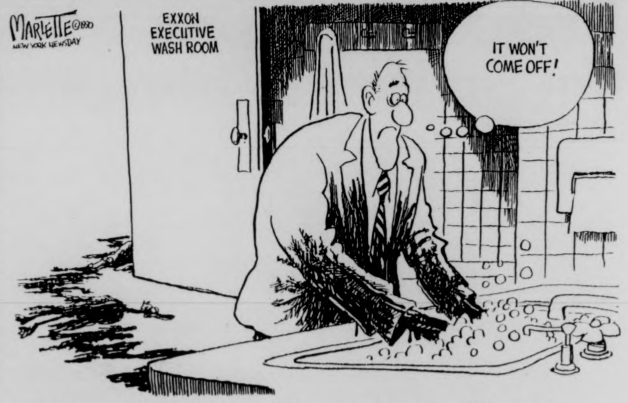
But Hydro Quebec does not have the permission of the people of Quebec to ruin the lands.

In Canada a movement has begun by the people to stop Hydro Quebec. They urge people in the U.S. to call their Governors and say no to genocide.

Up above the tiny unsanitary reservation the smoke signal flutters in the wind. Below, the people walk in streets filled with human body waste.

The signal above warns of the lies and broken promises, and the Cree people hope that other people will care.

Ric Oliveira is a UMass student



Royal meal, royal deal

My options were clear.

There was a brown-tinted foodstuff (presumably some sort of meat product) and a more yellowish delicacy.

I reached for one plate and grabbed it, when, suddenly, my stomach, fearing for its life, screamed out, "No! Not that one, you idiot! Take the other one. For God's sake take the other one!"

Steve Brykman

Accepting my stomach's greater authority in the matter, I reached for the other, less hazardous food, unaware that I had violated the international cafeteria Code of Etiquette (rule 57.)

"Hey," the D.C. worker quickly shouted, "You touch it, you eat it."

Now, I knew I had him.

"But I touched both of 'em."

Suddenly, the D.C. worker found himself trapped in a logical vortex.

According to the rules, I had to eat both dishes.

However, I am only allowed to take one dish at a time. By touching two plates, I beat the system. At last, I knew how Captain Kirk feels when he, in the final three minutes, manages to destroy his android captors by imprisoning their minds in a logical paradox.

The D.C. worker was visibly disturbed.

Laughing, I continued to touch plates until smoke began to arise from the worker's head. Triumphantly, I delivered the final blow, "You know," I said, "I think I'll just have a salad tonight."

Annihilated, the D.C. worker collapsed to the floor, sobbing loudly.

But I digress. I would like to discuss one topic which has troubled me for years — the D.C's food naming process.

First of all, I should very much like to know whose job it is to name the food. Secondly, I should like to know how they got the job.

Two of the D.C.'s meals suggest royalty. There is the ever-present, Duchess Meat Pie, and the somewhat more elusive, Royal Zucchini Parmigiana.

My question is simple. What sort of royalty is this food referring to? What Duchess, in her right mind, would eat the likes of what is essentially hamburger pie?

I immediately checked Encyclopedia Brittanica for the answer. Perhaps somewhere in the annals of history, I wondered, lived a Duchess with really wicked bad taste.

Soon, I found my answer.

According to the encyclopedia, "On March third, 1535, the Duchess of Malfi, famous for her eccentricities, told the Duke, "No, hon, let's not have that nasty caviar again. Tonight is meat pie night. After all, if it's good enough for the serfs, it's good enough for me." The truth of the matter was that, as the Duke well knew, the Duchess of Malfi was born tongueless."

As for the Royal Zucchini Parmigiana, I am certain that the meal is nothing more than a melange (if you will) of everything the D.C. has served in the last two weeks. Everything, that is, that didn't make it past the serving counter. How many royal families save leftovers?

Seeking the answer to this disturbing question, I placed a call to the royal palace, London.

"Chuck," I began, "Have you ever eaten Royal Zucchini Parmigiana? I think the recipe calls for a mixture of any kind of vegetable that's been laying around the palace for awhile, to be mixed with an equivalent amount of Zucchini."

"Let's see," he replied, "Royal Zucchini Parmigiana. . . I think I might. . . wait! Is that anything like Duchess Meat Pie? I love that one."

Steve Brykman is a UMass student

Boggled at Boyden Gym

Help me out here.

Am I the only one who didn't know that, when a department removes a person from their roster, that person is not dropped from the course as far as the Registrar is concerned? This is the unfortunate situation that I now face.

W. Mitty

It is also unfortunate that the add/drop period is long over, as well as the "W" period.

It all started on a Tuesday, the first day of P.E. G67, or, Tennis I.

Dressed and equipped for class I trot up to Boyden gym, only to find a modified schedule of classes posted outside the gym.

"Oh well," I say to myself, "I didn't feel like tennis today anyway." I jotted down the revised schedule and changed up.

The new schedule informs me that tennis will only fall on Thursdays until the weather improves and we can play outside.

Next Thursday arrives, and something pressing also arrives. I just can't make it to tennis today. "Anyway, there's next Thursday to begin my tennis career," I argue to myself.

The next Thursday arrives. All suited up, with racquet in hand, I make my way to the bleachers where everyone is waiting for the instructor. "Did I miss much last class?" I asked. "Nothing," my neighbor replied.

The instructor then took attendance, and guess whose name she didn't call. I introduce myself, and ask why my name wasn't called. "I pre-registered for the course," I explained.

She informed me that I had missed the first two classes and was, therefore, removed from the roster.

"But isn't this the second class?" I asked. The answer was no. "But the sign said classes were on Thursdays. . ."

"Fine," I said "I don't think I'm cut out for tennis anyways." At the time, add/drop period had just ended.

So, out of concern for my transcript, I asked if the withdrawal of my name would be considered a "drop" or a "W." "There shouldn't be anything on your transcript" she assured me.

No problem, until a few weeks later when my "Revised Course Schedule" arrives and Tennis I is still there.

"We can't help you here," says the woman at the Registrar's Office. "You can just wait till the end of the semester, and if it is on your transcript. . ."

"No thanks!" I think to myself, and off to the CASIAC Dean's Office I went.

"Fill out this form with the reason for your request, and return it to this office," the woman instructed me. "You will be notified of the Dean's action by mail."

Help me out here, am I the only one who didn't know this would happen?

Oh well, I hate tennis anyways.

W. Mitty is a UMass student

Take comfort in lunacy

So you think you're abnormal, right?

Well, take comfort in the satisfaction of your sanity, because lurking among you in close proximity to your never-changing expression of complacency are the crazy.

Jennifer Ham

I will be the first to identify myself as a member of this selective group of individuals suffering from psychotic neurosis, inner anxiety, intoxicating delusions, paranoia, obsessions and the like. Am I alarming you?

That is not my intent. I merely wish to describe the situation into which the helpless victims of insanity are cast by society.

Have you ever awoken to a seemingly beautiful day outside, only to realize there is bitter turbulence inside the confines of your mind?

A desperate battle of the self rages within, attempting to control and subdue the forces threatening to betray themselves and thus reveal their abnormality.

Imagine hearing voices inside your head — harassing you with their constant whispering that your thoughts are gross deceptions, manifestations of illness, setting you apart from humanity.

You try to justify them and rationalize away your discontent, the avid irritability and explosive anger raging through your veins, making it impossible to think in conformity.

Yet you are fully aware there is no chance of comfort, so you remain a prisoner of self-condemnation. Guilt sets in as you consider the possibility of freeing yourself from these destructive thoughts.

But no, you refuse to join the mainstream at the risk of isolation.

I, for example, have extreme difficulty liberating myself from a conflict between reason and emotion.

Shall I assume a mask and join the parade because my emotions are not validated by the parade leaders — those pompous fools we so willingly submit to? It is nothing more than a great facade I know, although you may disagree.

We, the free thinkers, are the warts of society — criminals if you please — capable of destructing the very order under which you live.

Perhaps you too are a wart ... Have you never experienced outrage at the subtle incongruities separating men from women, black from white, dog from cat, fish from foul, peanut butter from jelly?

I loathe it with a heart full of malicious contempt and shall not refrain from pulling the thread which might unleash the seams of such prejudice.

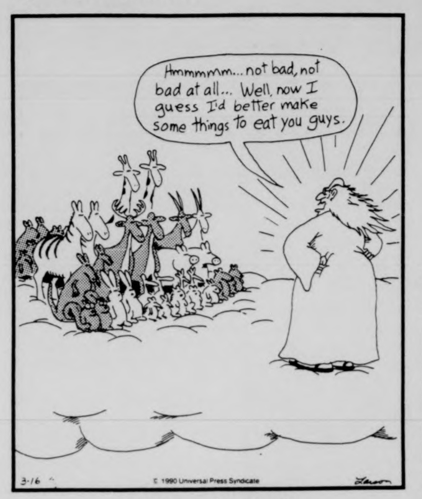
So call me crazy.

I rather like it.

For the "sane" think they're o.k. — while the crazed are visionaries — rejecting the insanity of this world.

Jennifer Ham is a UMass student

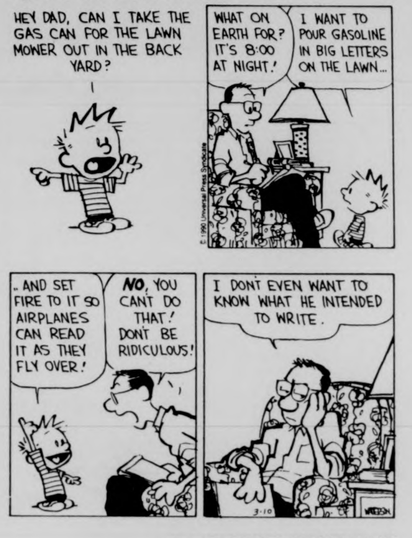
THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



Hmmmmm... not bad, not bad at all... Well, now I guess I'd better make some things to eat you guys.
3-16
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
Larson

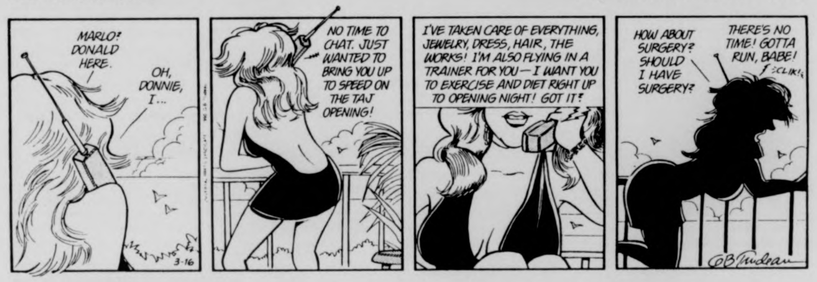
God creates the animals.

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



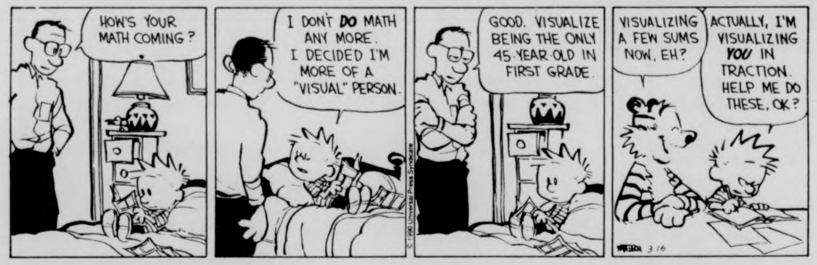
HEY DAD, CAN I TAKE THE GAS CAN FOR THE LAWN MOWER OUT IN THE BACK YARD?
WHAT ON EARTH FOR? IT'S 8:00 AT NIGHT!
I WANT TO POUR GASOLINE IN BIG LETTERS ON THE LAWN...
.. AND SET FIRE TO IT SO AIRPLANES CAN READ IT AS THEY FLY OVER!
NO, YOU CAN'T DO THAT! DON'T BE RIDICULOUS!
I DON'T EVEN WANT TO KNOW WHAT HE INTENDED TO WRITE.
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-10
WATTERSON

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



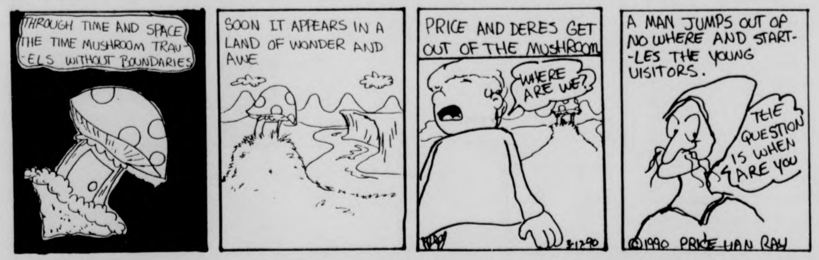
MARLO? DONALD HERE.
OH, DONNIE, I...
NO TIME TO CHAT. JUST WANTED TO BRING YOU UP TO SPEED ON THE TAJ OPENING!
I'VE TAKEN CARE OF EVERYTHING, JEWELRY, DRESS, HAIR, THE WORKS! I'M ALSO FLYING IN A TRAINER FOR YOU — I WANT YOU TO EXERCISE AND DIET RIGHT UP TO OPENING NIGHT! GOT IT?
HOW ABOUT SURGERY? SHOULD I HAVE SURGERY?
THERE'S NO TIME! GOTTA RUN, BABE!
CLIK!
3-16
GBTrudeau

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



HOW'S YOUR MATH COMING?
I DON'T DO MATH ANY MORE. I DECIDED I'M MORE OF A "VISUAL" PERSON.
GOOD. VISUALIZE BEING THE ONLY 45-YEAR-OLD IN FIRST GRADE.
VISUALIZING A FEW SUMS NOW, EH?
ACTUALLY, I'M VISUALIZING YOU IN TRACTION. HELP ME DO THESE, OK?
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
WATTERSON 3-16

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



THROUGH TIME AND SPACE THE TIME MUSHROOM TRAVELS WITHOUT BOUNDARIES
SOON IT APPEARS IN A LAND OF WONDER AND AWE
PRICE AND DERES GET OUT OF THE MUSHROOM WHERE ARE WE?
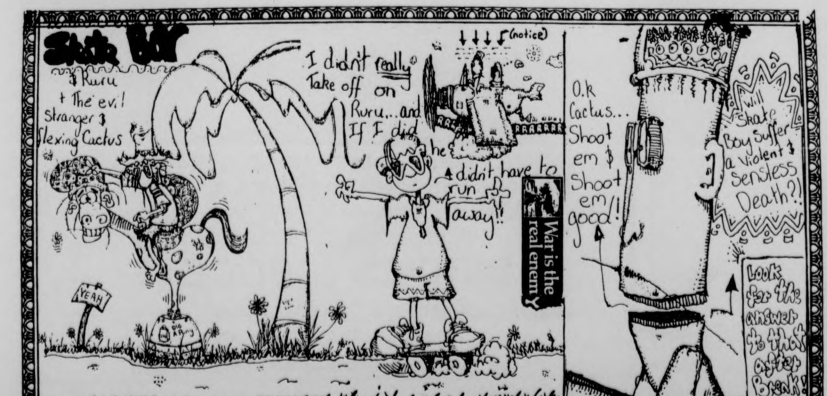
A MAN JUMPS OUT OF NO WHERE AND STARTLES THE YOUNG VISITORS.
THE QUESTION IS WHEN ARE YOU
3-12-90
©1990 PRICE VAN RAY

NIPPLE
By PITT



Skate Boy
$ Ruru
+ The evil Stranger $ Flexing Cactus
YEAH
I didn't really Take off on Ruru... and If I did he didn't have to run away!!
(notice)
War is the real enemy
O.k Cactus... Shoot em $ Shoot em good!
Will Skate Boy Suffer a Violent $ Senseless Death?!
Look for the answer to that after Break!

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

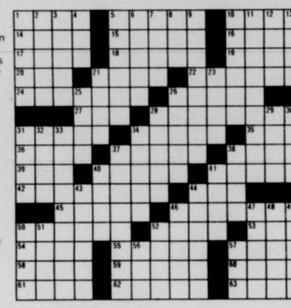
ACROSS
1 Stole, e.g.
5 Search high and low
10 Noah's oldest
14 Loser of a fabled race
15 More unfavorable
16 Manner
17 Notion, in Nantes
18 Soviet Workers' org.
19 Part of a monogram, for short
20 More than pleasantly plump
21 Storm centers
22 Distributes
24 Stewed
26 Range rover
27 Mount —: Texas peak
28 April item
31 Emit
34 Zoo's powerful veggie eater
35 Cheese, in 29 Down
36 Mackinaw, e.g.
37 In the act of
38 Jazz great
39 Coastal denizen
40 Mock blow
41 Saintly symbols
42 Sheinwold ploy
44 Destroy, in a way
45 Greek isle
46 Harassed
50 Sail stiffener
52 Famed researcher Jonas
53 Eden resident
54 Woodwind
55 Render ineffective
57 Incarcerate
58 Alas., once
59 Beside oneself
60 Bone: Comb. form
61 Haws' partner
62 Stormed
63 Certain votes

DOWN
1 Strike out
2 Speed trap device
3 Mountain spine
4 — Wee Reese
5 Wavered
6 Removed the center
7 Table scraps
8 Put into service
9 Giving an account of
10 Showed pleasure
11 Student roster
12 Revise
13 Queens' team
21 French I verb
23 Carson stand-in
25 Track figure
26 New Orleans athlete
28 Lorelei's river
29 Christiania, today
30 Concerned parents' gps.
31 Cake topper
32 Ticked off
33 Mohave phenomenon
34 Upsets
37 Urbane
38 Roadside sign
40 Do a slow burn
41 Ear covering
43 Westerns
44 Irritated
46 — couture
47 Rent
48 LuPone role
49 Removes, in printing
50 Those two
51 "Busy as —"
52 Catch
56 New Deal org.
57 Delight

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

O	R	C	A		F	I	E	N	D		I	B	I	S
R	E	A	L		A	R	D	O	R		R	A	S	E
B	A	R	B		C	A	D	G	E		O	L	L	A
	P	L	A	Y	I	T	A	G	A	I	N	S	A	M
			C	O	L	E			D	R	E	A	M	Y
U	N	D	O	N	E		I	N	F	E	R
R	E	A	R			B	R	A	U	N		A	N	D
G	A	M	E	S	P	E	O	P	L	E	P	L	A	Y
E	T	E		C	R	A	N	E			R	A	M	A
			K	R	O	N	E		L	O	O	S	E	D
S	C	R	E	A	M			W	I	N	G
P	L	A	Y	M	I	S	T	Y	F	O	R	M	E
R	E	I	N		S	M	O	L	T		E	L	B	A
E	R	S	E		E	E	R	I	E		S	L	A	P
E	K	E	S		D	E	T	E	R		S	E	N	T

3/16/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/16/90

MENU

To whomever is left here at the University and cares what is for eating at the D.C.'s, we're sorry but the menu got lost in the mail, so we didn't get it. It will most assuredly return after break, so until then . . . Have a great break.

— The staff of the Collegian.

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES(March 21-April 19): Not seeing is not believing for many people. Put on a convincing demonstration for any doubters in the crowd. This is no time to act reckless in finance or romance. Slow down.

TAURUS(April 20-May 20): Better cash management is the key to greater financial security. Get your spending under control. Stop hiding something. Your offspring deserve to know the truth. Guard your valuables.

GEMINI(May 21-June 20): Financial services tailored to your needs will help you build savings. Conduct a careful investigation before making a financial commitment. A career decision is best postponed. Romance requires time.

CANCER(June 21-July 22): Given your track record, there should be no question that you will succeed once you land a coveted assignment. Do your homework diligently. You want to be ready when opportunity knocks.

LEO(July 23-Aug.22): A customized approach wins plaudits from your clients or friends. Guarantee a quick decision by following all the rules and meeting a deadline. Call home frequently when traveling. Nurture close relationships.

VIRGO(Aug.23-Sept.22): Changing times mean good times for you. Go with the flow. All your planning was worth it. New career and financial gains are featured. A record-breaking effort means higher profits.

LIBRA(Sept.23-Oct.22): A scholarship or grant could still be possible for a deserving student. Those who excel in math and science get good news. A family gathering is a huge success. Past grievances are forgotten.

SCORPIO(Oct.23-Nov.21): Buy things for your home that express how you want to live. Those looking for traditional furniture could find a real bargain. Take an afternoon nap if you feel your energy flagging.

SAGITTARIUS(Nov.22-Dec.21): Set a larger share of your income aside for creature comforts. Take advantage of travel that may open new doors of opportunity. Logic helps you solve a domestic problem. Think!

CAPRICORN(Dec.22-Jan.19): Expand your repertoire and people with wealth and power will help your career. You may want to work with several financial backers. A special project brings you and your loved ones closer together.

AQUARIUS(Jan.20-Feb.18): A tailored look impresses conservative buyers or clients. A friend could be entirely off-base. Rely on your own intuition and your won't go wrong. Romance brings a rich new dimension to your life.

PISCES(Feb.19-March 20): A scholarly talk gains the audience you want. Your financial fortunes improve, thanks to a once-in-a-lifetime deal. Family differences could slow progress. Encourage intelligent compromises.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor..........Michael Wester
Copy Editor..........Maria Sacchetti
Layout Technician..........Mike Wester
Photo Technician..........Richard DuCree
Production Supervisor..........Terry Starmer
Typesetter..........Peter Leon
Production..........Destined Doug, Mysterious Mike
Paradigm Paul, and Tantilizing Terry is bound to go to Ware for Break.

ARTS & LIVING

The Rockets will rock you with some Texan Blues

Photo courtesy of Black Top Records

Anson Funderburgh & the Rockets

REBECCA BARDIN
Collegian Correspondent

Those of you who are staying in Amherst over Spring Break are in for a musical treat, one that just might make the Florida bound jealous. At 8 p.m. on Sunday at Pearl Street, the Texas based blues band Anson Funderburgh and the Rockets featuring Sam Myers will perform.

This Dallas quartet is slowly becoming one of the most successful traditionally based bands in the South. In fact, in 1988 they won four W.C. Handy Awards, including best blues band. This award-winning sound can be credited to Funderburgh's strong, fiery guitar playing, as well as Myers' easy rolling singing style.

Anson Funderburgh is perhaps the most unaffected and cultivated of today's young blue's guitarists. He has been described as "a guy who can not only rip and roar, but who also has that quiet fire and soul all true blues guitarists need. Unlike some of his better known contemporaries, Funderburgh can also play poignant rhythm guitar behind other soloists, and he can slow the pace down and fill in the cracks with the kind of additions only the most well-rounded guitarists can achieve."

Funderburgh first began playing the guitar as a child, strumming along with country and western groups. He bought his first real guitar while he was in his early teens.

Along with the guitar came a box of 45s, including "Hideaway" by Freddie King, and "Sno-Cone" by Albert Collins. After hearing the guitar rhythms on these blues classics Funderburgh stated, "I knew I'd found my niche." When he was sixteen he began playing in Texas beer joints. Soon he formed his first band with vocalist Darell Nulisch.

By 1979, the Rockets formed and were playing regularly at a local folk spot in northern Texas. The Rockets soon began performing all around the southern United States. While on the road they met pianist Doug Rynack; as well as Hammond Scott, the founder of Black Top Records — who would record the Rockets. By this time Funderburgh had emerged as the most musically interesting Rocket. Funderburgh became known for his clear, concise guitar work with rhythm.

Then, in 1986 veteran blues singer Sam Myers replaced Nulisch. Myers has an uncanny feel for Funderburgh's musical approach, which enhances the groups incredible unity of sound.

The Rockets style of music switches from West-Side Chicago soul to Excello swamp grunge to rhythm and blues ballads without missing a beat. They play already well known songs by Otis Rush and Eric Clapton, such as "All Your Love."

Then, from their first album come songs like "Chill Out," which is a rapid-riffing instrumental tribute to Albert Collins. Not to mention storming versions of "My Heart Cries Out For You." Whether playing uptempo songs or ballads, Anson Funderburgh and the Rockets with Sam Myers promises to be a thrilling blues show.

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID' EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

Recycle this paper dude!

ROYAL CRANE ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET
360 College St., Amherst
253-5658
with a large variety of
AUTHENTIC ORIENTAL & INDIAN
• Produce • Sauces & Spices • Noodles • Frozen & Canned Goods • Cooking Implements & Supplies • Homemade take-out food
Sun-Fri 10:00-8:00
Sat 9:00-8:00

Have a great break all!

COMMUTER AREA GOVERNMENT
NOW HIRING
4.25/hour
Newsletter & Outreach Coordinator
and
Program & Services Coordinators (2)
Pick up applications at 404 Student Union Building
Due by March 14 (Positions begin March 28)
NOMINATION PAPERS OPEN FOR GOVERNING BOARD
AFFIRMATIVE ACTION/EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

the COMEDY ZONE
PEKING GARDEN RESTAURANT
Route 9 Hadley
Next to Hadley Subaru
FRI - SAT MAR. 16 - 17 8:30 p.m.
Come early for Dinner... It's hard to laugh with a mouthful of food!
$6.00 Admission
Tours with MTV's CAROL LEIFER writes for NATIONAL LAMPOON From NYC
RANDY EPLELY
Special Guest from NJ
DAN PRICE
Monday - Thursday 5 - 8 p.m.
All you can eat
BUFFET
$5.99
COMEDY RESERVATIONS
586-1202 585-8615
11:30 - 3 p.m.
All You Can Eat
SUNDAY BRUNCH
$6.99
SPECIAL EVENT
Sun. March 25 8 p.m.
One of the Top 10 Political Comics in USA
Hardline Leftist! Has toured with MICHELLE SHOCKED, BILLY BRAGG, JACKSON BROWN AND STEVEN WRIGHT
Has raised funds for AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL, PHYSICIANS TO PREVENT NUCLEAR WAR, PHYSICIANS FOR SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY, THE CHRISTIC INSTITUTE AND NOBEL PEACE PRIZE
BARRY CRIMMINS
$8.00 Advance Tix
At Peking Garden
All Comedy Info
585-8615
20% OFF DINNERS FOR COMEDY PATRONS
All Ages - All shows

amc THEATRES
$3.50 TWILITE SHOW LIMITED TO SEATING
MT. FARMS 4 MT. FARMS MALL 584-9153
JOE VERSUS THE VOLCANO
TOM HANKS MEG RYAN
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:15
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:15
Sun at 12:15, 2:45 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
PG Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Glory Civil War Drama
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:00, 2:30 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:15
R Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:15
BLUE STEEL
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:00, 10:00
Sat at 1:30 (4:15 at 3.50) 7:00 10:00
Sun at 12:00, 2:30 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:15
R Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:15
Special Engagement - No Passes or Coupons Accepted
The Forbidden Dance
Fri at (4:45 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sat at 2:00 (4:45 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sun at 12:15, 2:45 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:30
PG13 Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:30
HAMPSHIRE 6 HAMPSHIRE MALL 584-7550
Lord of the Flies
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 1:30 (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:15, 3:00 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
R Special Engagement - No Passes or Coupons Accepted
Hard To Kill
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 1:30 (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:15, 3:00 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
R Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
There is no good news. Madhouse
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 10:15
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 10:15
Sun at 12:30, 3:15 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
PG13 Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
THE HUNT FOR RED OCTOBER
Fri at (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 10:00
Sat at 1:15 (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 10:00
Sun at 12:00, 2:45 (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
PG Mon-Thurs at (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
DRIVING MISS DAISY
Fri at (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 9:45
Sat at 1:15 (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 9:45
Sun at 12:00, 2:45 (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
PG Mon-Thurs at (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
Labamba
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sun at 12:30, 3:15 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
PG13 Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
Pretty Woman
Special Sneak Preview
Fri and Sat at 7:15 only
R Stay over and see 10:00 Madhouse free

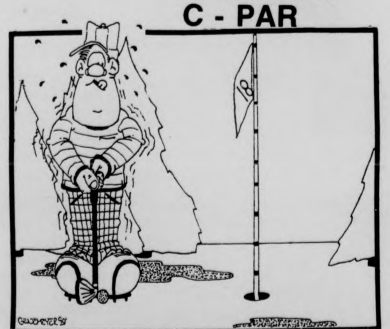
LAS VEGAS, NEVADA (Clark County School District) wants to interview you! Urban interviews will be conducted on April 6 and 8 in the city of Boston.
Call 8am to 5pm P.S.T. at (702) 799-5094 on 3-16-90 to schedule an interview. YOU'LL BE GLAD YOU DID!! No PE, SS, BUS ED, HOME EC OR IND ARTS.
We're an EEO/AA Employer.

THIS JAR CONTAINS A 3,000 YEAR TRADITION.
Four finely powdered, proportionally blended, all natural spices. Bring the Taste of India into your kitchen in minutes! We have kept it authentic!

Available in 3.5 oz. resealable jars:
TANDOORI MARINADE	$3.50
VEGETABLE SPICE MIX	3.50
CURRY MIX	3.50
TRIAL PACK OF 3 (Incl. S&H)	2.98
GARAM MASALA	3.50
Gift Box of 3 jars	11.50
Gift Box of 4 jars	13.95
Shipping & Handling	2.75

Includes recipes and catalog.
Call 1-800-669-7742 or write: INTERNATIONAL RESOURCES Cooking Arts Division P.O. Box 529, Lexington, MA 02173 MC/Visa accepted.
Watch for catalog insert 4/90 & STUDENT RATES!

INDOOR MINIATURE GOLF
THIS MAN IS PUTTING FOR:
A - BIRDIE
B - BOGEY
C - PAR



BRING THIS AD IN THURSDAY-SATURDAY GIVE US THE RIGHT ANSWER & WIN A FREE ROUND OF MINI-GOLF WITH A REGULAR PURCHASE OF MINI-GOLF.
BIRDIES & BOGEYS
HOLYOKE MALL - LOWER LEVEL - 536-3765
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
OFFER EXPIRES MARCH 31, 1990

GOLD RING SALE
$75 OFF 18K
$50 OFF 14K
$25 OFF 10K
Order your college ring NOW.
JOSTENS
AMERICA'S COLLEGE RING™
Date: 3/15 - 3/16
Time: 10 - 4
Place: U Store
Deposit Required: $25.00

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE - GC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

THE RADICAL STUDENT UNION helps students mobilize for world social and economic equality, peace and disarmament. Check office at SU 413A

UMASS JUGGLING CLUB meets today, 3-6, in the Student Union Ballroom, so... Hey, where's everyone going? Wait! Don't go! Hey...

AM

AM-
Hope you have a wonderful break.
May our troubles be solved when we come back.
Friends forever,
-SANT

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

* DON'T MISS OUT ****
Indian Students Association
Meeting
On: 26th March
At: 7:00 PM
Venue: Campus Center Room 163
Agenda: a) Election of Office Bearers
b) India Nite '90 plans
Also: A Hindi movie

START YOUR OWN BUSINESS! Easy! Vending carts (hotdogs, soda, etc...) Build, Licensing & operation. Complete step by step instructions. Bissett Enterprises 156B St. George St. Duxbury, MA 02332 call (617) 934-5971

APARTMENT SPECIAL

A LIMITED TIME ONLY, Northwood Apts. is offering a 2 Bdr. apt. for the price of a 1 Bdr. For more information on this special offer, please call Lanice at 665-3856. Rent an apt. for March and receive $100.00 off our first months rent. We have student short term leases and free bus service every 15 minutes on weekdays to UMASS and Amherst. (Available to new residents only)

AUTO FOR SALE

77 MERCURY COMET runs and looks great $600 549-8349

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

HOTEL / RESORT / F & B / MANAGEMENT Don't limit yourself to those few companies that recruit On Campus. Explore all your possibilities. Call (508) 943-8807

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club Today! Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR RENT

NORTHAMPTON
MODERN 1 Bedroom Apartment
Steps from downtown
Available 4/1/90
455 + a month
Call Lori 527-1580 Daytime

ONE ROOM FOR RENT in Puffton Village. Call 549-1809 after 4pm

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR SALE

DEAD TICKETS Have 2 for Hartford. Will trade for Albany. Steve School 549-2833 Home 617-229-6636

FOR SALE: IBM Proprinter II like new $275 259-1786

GRATEFUL DEAD TIX!
Sunday & Monday shows in Hartford
will trade for Albany shows
call Darran 256-4614

FOUND

FOUND:
Watch, Near Sylvan
Call 6-5891
To identify

 LEGAL INTERNSHIPS **

FALL 1990 INTERNSHIPS with the Legal Services Center; get hands-on experience in the legal field--work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits. No experience in the legal profession necessary--training provided. Apply early! Contact Legal Services today: 545-1995, 922 Campus Center. Start the application process now!

HELP WANTED

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

THERE'S A JOB FOR YOU IN A SUMMER CAMP
The American Camping Association (NY) will make your application avail. to over 300 camps in the Northeast. Exciting opportunities for college students and professionals. Positions avail: all land and water sports, kitchen, maintenance, arts and crafts, drama, music, dance, nature, tripping, R.N.'s, M.D.s College Credit Available. Call or write for application. American Camping Association, 12 West 31st Street, New York, NY 10001, 1-800-777-CAMP.

WIN $200 +
Design a "Cross Training" Athletic Shoe. Call Neil-Collect evenings 617-599-5686

INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE. Workshops begin April 2. Mornings/evenings. General, intensive, and TOEFL. Language Pacifica and Division of Continuing Education, UMASS, Amherst. Call 3-5 PM, 549-5065

LOST

LOST! On Tuesday March 13 a set of keys on maroon leather keychain with A on it. If found please call 253-9147

NEED A GOWN?

NEVER BEEN USED--Three gowns for sale really cheap. Sizes 6,8,and 10. Two are dark pink, one light pink. All have been preserved. If interested, please call Theresa at 546-7405. Leave message.

PAINTING, PAPERHANGING, POWERWASHING

A SPRING SPRUCE UP FOR YOUR HOME.
Painting-interior & exterior-, wallpapering; powerwashing for your wooden or vinyl homes - They'll look like new-
Call after 5, or weekends anytime. Fully insured, reasonable rates - Frank 1-413-467-3465 Granby

PERSONALS

ALLISON BENNETT
Happy Birthday! 20th
CANCUN BOUND!
Love you-
HAGS

BETTY BOOP Have an awesome 20th B-day and Spring Break! Nance, I know it will be difficult without me, but you have pictures. Love ya, Stephanie

BEWARE THE IDES OF MARCH- It's Lorraine's B-Day! Happy B-Day Lorraine (A day late of course) Love, Sheryl

BOBBY
Happy 19th Birthday!
Can't wait to see you over break in Stoughton
Love always, MARYANN

COWBOY - I'm so infinitely, profoundly...psyched. Yeehaa!! Foxtrot

DONNA,
I love you now and forever!
I can't wait to marry you!
Love always, Ross

FIRST FLOOR GORMAN
Have a great Spring Break & Be Careful!!
Y'all have fun!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY CARLOS!!
Love you forever.
XOXO Michele

HAPPY BIRTHDAY CHAS
From The Wine Society & The Great Screw

HAPPY EARLY BIRTHDAY Neil Rollins! 19! Love all your JA Friends!

HAPPY TWENTIETH Deanna Michelle Joseph. You are the best friend! Love Chi

HEATHER
Happy 19th Birthday to an Honorary Emerson Bumba Bunny!
Love, Marla and Andrea

HEATHER
Happy Birthday
Let's celebrate it the Irish way!
Love, Tracie

HEEBO, JUDAH, DIBBY, Ahab, Mace, Ron, Rob, and Mis, Beachblanket Rummy and The Jackson 5, Get psyched for our sunny Fla drive! Love, Suntanoil, and Pictionary, B

HEY HOW DOES IT FEEL typing in your own personal? I like this Katie fine, she's a friend of mine. Happy 20th!
Love, Darnie

HEY KERRY CLARKIN Meow meow See you at the races. Love ya, Big Mac

NIKKI S-
Here's your personal
Happy Early Birthday
We'll celebrate in Cancun
Andrea

PATRICIA TAYLOR
is 21! Ciao bella, Happy Birthday!
Love, Banana

RAG-A-MUFFIN,
Happy Birthday-Wishing you a year of Happiness, Fun, Adventure, and Romance
Love, PIE

ROBERT FELDMAN-as stated so clear by the infamous Debbie Boone...You Light Up My Life...Please, keep that light lit forever. Chow for now brown cow.
XOXO PF

SEG Have fun in Florida. I'll miss you. Remember if you don't go out in the rain, you won't need a raincoat

STEPHANIE ELAINA ELIZABETH Rebeccah Caiti – Happy Birthday!! It may be on Saturday, but you deserve a personal, anyway. I love you, Beck! Here's to water signs and 18" dark crashes.
-Peace and Love.

STU-Happy Birthday. I love you. Terri

THUMPER,
I want to touch the light, the heat I see in your eyes. Happy Birthday My Love!
All My Love, CT

WEPHI,
Even though we'll be apart next week, you'll surely be on my mind and always in my heart. I love you babe.
JIM

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

LOOKING FOR FEMALE for 2 bedroom Apt in Southwood Apts., Sunny, next to bus stop, fully equipped kitchen, 1½ bathrooms, new carpet, great place, more info call 546-7354

SERVICES

DOES YOUR PROSPECTIVE CAREER HAVE POTENTIAL? Earnings, working conditions, educational requirements, employment outlook analyzed. For FREE Sample Career Packet phone (315) 253-4794. Leave name and mailing address on machine.

RESUMES! I will do your resumes for $10 to $30 less than the local print shops! Call me evenings! Rick 586-1642

 RESUME TYPESETTING ***
2 yrs. experience. Lowest rates. Professional results guaranteed.
Scott 586-5822

TRAVEL

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

LV. S.BOSTON, Arr. Orlando. During week of Spring Break. $150.00 Round trip. For more info. call Sam at 546-1277.

T-SHIRTS

ANY PICTURE ON A T-SHIRT
$12 Including shirt
Amherst Copy 549-2854 Next to Spoke

TYPING

FAST ACCURATE TYPING
Spell Check $1.75/pg
Call Ashley at 546-6756

TYPING WORD PROCESSING, Dissertations, Reports, Resumes Laser printing 259-1786

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

$100.00 FOR POSITIVE ID of the people who broke the head off the sign at Roosters Restaurant. PS Leonard 256-6888

HAPPY
ST.
PATRICK'S DAY

SPORTS

Terps drop UM in tourney

First winning season in 12 years comes to a close

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — For 34 minutes last night, the University of Massachusetts played neck-and-neck with heavy favorite University of Maryland.

Then Jarrod Mustaf decided to steal the show.

The six-foot-ten sophomore scored eight straight points to set the Terrapins off on a 10-point run that broke open a nailbiter and gave Maryland a 91-81 win over the Minutemen in a first-round National Invitation Tournament game at Cole Field House.

The loss ends a surprising and successful season for the Minutemen, who finished 17-14. It was their first winning season in 12 years and their first trip to the NIT in 13 years.

Not many people thought the Minutemen had much of a chance against the mighty Terrapins, who had something to prove after being left out of the NCAA Tournament.

But UMass trailed by just two at the half and led as late as 10 minutes from the end of the game.

It was a 70-69 Maryland edge with 6:01 to play when Mustaf hit a sweet turnaround jumper and then converted a lay-up off a steal. Following a UMass miss, Mustaf was fouled by freshman forward Harper Williams — his fifth foul. Williams protested the call and was hit with a technical foul.

Mustaf calmly buried the four free throws and then two more freebies from Teyon McCoy gave the Terps an 80-69 lead with 4:34 left. For all intensive purposes, that was the ballgame.

Mustaf led all scorers with 23 points. Sophomore guard Jim McCoy had 22 to lead UMass.

"In the last 10 minutes, Jarrod did a good job," said Maryland coach Gary Williams. "He struggled the last two weeks. It's good to see him back on his game."

The pesky Minutemen did cut the lead to five points on McCoy's steal and lay-up with 1:04 to go, but the lead was too much to overcome.

It was a tough loss for UMass, but one that had a lot of bright spots.

"I'm proud of my kids," said UMass coach John Calipari. "To stay close against one of the best frontlines in the country was really impressive."

"They've really matured quickly," said Maryland assistant coach Roger McCready, who was an assistant at UMass last season.

The Minutemen gave the local folks a scare with their tough play. After a Mustaf lay-up made it 53-48 with 16:19 left, UMass embarked on a seven-point run to recapture the lead.

Sophomore forward William Herndon (18 points) dunked and was fouled, hitting the free throw for a three-point play. McCoy nailed a jumper and John Tate a tip-in to put the Minutemen on top 55-53.

UM's last lead came at 61-59 on a rebound follow by Herndon with 10:41 to go. Maryland shortly took the lead for good but the Minutemen stayed in the neighborhood until Mustaf took over.

The first half was as big a taffy pull as you could find anywhere. Neither team enjoyed more than a three-point lead throughout the first 20 minutes in which there were five ties and 17 lead changes.

"In the first half, UMass did a good job of making us run a good offense, which we didn't do," coach Williams said. "They basically packed it in on us and made us make our outside shots. We didn't."

A sign that UMass wasn't about to fool around came on the opening tap. Jim McCoy squared off against Maryland senior forward Tony Massenburg, and for at least the second time this season the Minutemen didn't even challenge the tap.

But it was a set play, as freshman forward Tony Barbee (16 points) snuck in and stole the tap back for a game-opening jam that got the Minutemen rolling.

Barbee had eight points in the first half, but the big scoring came from McCoy, who baffled yet another audience with his variety of moves toward the hoop. Despite the tall timber of the Terrapins inside, UMass had no fear in taking the ball to the hole.

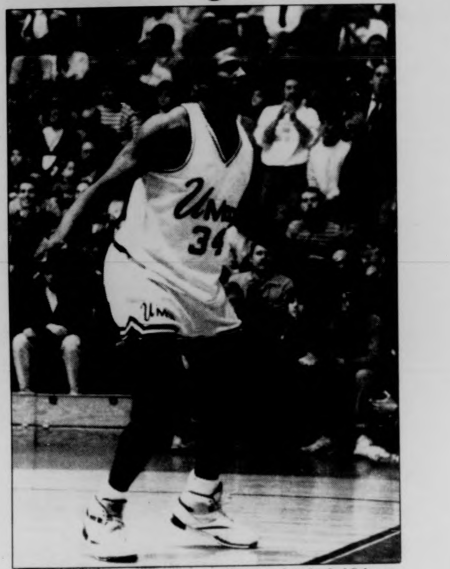
UMass held three-point advantages on several occasions, the last of which came at 31-28 when Herndon took a house-shaking alley-oop from sophomore guard Anton Brown.

Maryland rattled off six in a row to match its biggest advantage of the half, 34-31 with 4:27 left. But the Minutemen then nailed home five in a row themselves to set the teeter-totter back in motion.

UMass held its last lead of the half at 38-37 on a McCoy jumper and was tied at 40-40 on two Tate free throws with 40 seconds left in the half.

Massenburg (17 points), who had a team-high 10 points at the half hit a turnaround with two seconds left to give the Terps a 42-40 lead going into the locker rooms.

Both teams were plagued with fouls at the break and a half that was dragged down by constant whistles from the officiating crew. In all, there were 55 fouls called at the game, 31 on UMass.



Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

UMass deserves a standing "O" for its superb performance this season, which officially ended with a 91-81 loss to Maryland.

Minutewomen to host A-10 Championships

By CHRIS MIRACLE
Collegian Staff

For the Minutewomen, (11-2) the latter half of their season has supplied them with their share of challenges as their opponents will show this weekend.

The University of Massachusetts women's gymnastics team looks to finish their season on an upbeat note as they take on Temple University and Northeastern University at Northeastern (Saturday, 2 p.m.).

The Lady Owls (16-10, 4-1 in the Atlantic 10 Conference) will be hungry for a 'w' and a high team score in order to boost their current ranking of eighth in the Northeast to have a chance at making the regionals.

The Minutewomen have reason to keep an eye on their A-10 rival, meeting them for the first time this season. UMass will catch up with Temple once again at the Atlantic-10 Championships (March 24, Curry Hicks Cage, 6 p.m.).

Temple should put up a fight with the Minutewomen, sporting their top two all-arounders, Sandra Mitchell, ranked 13th individually in the Northeast with a 36.49, and Kristy Cook, averaging a not so shabby 35.98.

"Temple has beaten us quite a few times in the past," UMass coach Alfie Mitchell said. "It would be very nice to beat them."

As for the Minutewomen's other opponent, UMass definitely knows what to expect. After upsetting NU earlier in the season, the Huskies are already drooling over the thoughts of a little revenge. Back for their second rendezvous will be Rochelle Perry and Kathy McCarthy, both ranked ninth in the Northeast with an individual total of 36.76.

"Since our first meeting, we've been scoring higher than Northeastern," Mitchell said. "They'll definitely be hunting for us."

If the Minutewomen keep up the consistent performances as of late, they will certainly give the Owls and the Huskies a run for their money. Mitchell would like a score between 183 and 186 in order to erase their lowest score of the year, a 181.5.

"I'm looking to go above the 185 mark. I know we're capable of it." Mitchell said. "If we hit high enough, we might be able to move up to second in the Northeast."

Currently in third place in the Northeast rankings, the Minutewomen look like they will make the regionals, but they want to increase their seed in the A-10's and the regionals with a victory this weekend.

Staying healthy throughout the season has been a big plus for the Minutewomen, keeping their line-up intact. Mitchell has been trying to rest his gymnasts as much as possible, having two light workouts in a row.

Whatever his system, Mitchell and the Minutewomen have a good thing going as far as team event rankings go. UMass, as of Mar. 13, earned the honor of having the number one balance beam sqad in the Northeast.

"At the end of the season, being tired can't be an issue." Mitchell said. "I'm confident we won't have to tap our reserve just yet."

The Minutewomen will have to stay fresh through the A-10 Championship when they will meet up agaist the number one team in the A-10 conference and the Northeast, Penn State University. The Nittany Lions will display their big gun, Kim Thrasher, who bests all gymnasts in the Northeast with an individual average of 37.7.

Men's gymnastics to hit league championships

By JASON GEORGE
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's gymnastics team will face the biggest challenge of their season when they travel to Temple University on March 23 for the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League (EIGL) championships.

In addition, five individuals will have an opportunity to show off their skills and prepare for the EIGL finals when they travel to William and Mary College for the Eastern Conference Athletic Conference (ECAC) championships on March 17.

"Our goal (for ECACs) is for the guys to get some scores to qualify for NCAAs," UMass coach Roy Johnson said. "I think it will be good for them to win some medals."

Sophomores Bill Sayman and Cal Booker and seniors Bart Balocki, John Eggers, and Carl Russ will travel to William and Mary for Saturday's meet.

"John Eggers and Carl Russ have a chance to win rings, along with Cal Booker on floor and vaulting," Johnson said. "Bill Sayman could win P-bars [parallel bars], too."

Eggers has been hampered for several weeks with a strained tendon in his left foot, which he suffered several weeks ago in a meet against Temple.

"I want to go all-around for six events [on Saturday]," Eggers said. "I did my floor routine yesterday, and I've been vaulting all week.

"I'm psyched — it should be a fun trip," continued Eggers.

The rest of the Minutemen who aren't competing in the ECACs are in the middle of a two-week layoff between meets after UMass' win in the New England championships on March 10.

"It'll be interesting [the layoff] — they'll be able to rest up and work on the parts of their routines with problems," Johnson said. "We've been trying to work on pommel horse."

Johnson also addressed the effect that the layoff would have on his team. "I think you can get sharper — it all depends on the individual," Johnson said. "Some people need a mental break, while others need competition.

"The guys with a lot of competition experience need a break," Johnson said. "For the guys without the experience, we try to get them into as much competition as possible."

During the regular season, in which UMass finished 6-6, the Minutemen suffered from a lack of enthusiasm which often showed up in meets.

"Our teams in the past never had that problem," Eggers said. "This year, we have more talent, but we don't have the enthusiasm that other teams had."

"I think everybody realizes that we're capable of peaking at the EIGLs — that's everyone goal," Johnson said. "I think things are coming together.

"Everyone has to let their individual personalities take a backseat," continued Johnson. "As an orator once told me, 'Everybody has their own agenda.'"

"If everybody's agenda is the team's agenda, then you have a great team situation."

The agenda at the EIGLs will include Navy and Temple, two of the best teams on the East Coast. Navy has a 9-1 record, having lost only to Ohio State last weekend by a score of 282.75-269.4. The Midshipmen beat UMass earlier in the season, and have hit a high of 276 in a win over Temple.

"Our realistic goal is to be in the top four; we have an outside shot to be in the top three," Johnson said. "If we score 265, we're guaranteed to finish fourth or better."

The opportunity to achieve those goals lies waiting, and it is up to UMass to seize it.

WEATHER

The weatherman says this afternoon will be partly sunny with highs of 40 to 45 degrees.

ARTS

The Union Program Council gears up for this semester's spring concert. Page 6.

SPORTS

The UMass women's gymnastics team finishes second at the A-10s. Page 12.

MONDAY

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY MONDAY, MARCH 26, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 35

Solicitors leave town

Police say most solicitors under investigation for fraud left

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

A group of unidentified men who have been soliciting funds illegally in downtown Amherst for years apparently left town two weeks ago upon learning that they are the subject of an ongoing investigation by Amherst police.

"Apparently, they were approached by someone and were told that the police were on the lookout for them so they got on the next Springfield bus and left town," Amherst police detective Gary Guzik said.

Amherst police confirmed Thursday that all but one of the many downtown solicitors under investigation for fraud since March 16 were not collecting for legal charities.

The police inquiry was sparked by a Collegian investigation into the group, which operates primarily in front of the CVS drug store, the Amherst Post Office, and the Heritage Bank, police said.

They claimed to be collecting for three charities, the "D.W.H.E.," the "Black Student Association," and the "Darwa Foundation," which are not registered with the state attorney general's office. The state requires that all non-profit organizations register.

A Collegian investigation found that the so-called charities are not legally registered as non-profit organizations with the state attorney general's office in Boston.

One solicitor, who refused to identify himself when questioned last month, claimed he was collecting for "Darwa," which he said was a "Muslim organization" located at 557 Union Street in Springfield. Guzik said there is no Muslim organization by that name and the address does not exist in Springfield.

Guzik said there is an organization in Springfield with a similar name, the Dawah Foundation, which aids needy families in Springfield.

"There's some phonies stopping people and saying that they are from [the Dawah Foundation]," Guzik said. "People are giving money without checking if they are legitimate."

Guzik said he spoke with the Dawah Foundation's headquarters in Springfield to confirm that they are registered with the attorney general's office.

The foundation's legal solicitor, Dawad Lubbieden of Springfield, is licensed with the state attorney general's office in Boston, Guzik said.

Guzik said a legal solicitor must have a license from the attorney general's office which must be renewed each year and presented to the public upon request. The license is a letter with a green seal and bears the current year.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

PEEKABOO — A couple walk down the the sidewalk by the Amherst Town Hall as someone looks out a window toward them.

Awareness Week to begin Wednesday

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

This year's Awareness Week will kick off Wednesday with a more local focus and increased efforts to encompass problems that face all gay, lesbian and bisexual students, according to week organizers.

The week, which starts with a noon rally on the steps of the Student Union Building Wednesday, includes workshops, speakers, and a coffeehouse Sunday at the Bluewall.

Benjamin Eder, awareness week coordinator from the Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay, Alliance, said the group tried to get more local organizations involved in awareness week because the local lesbian, bisexual and gay community has offered "a great deal" of support to groups on campus.

Eder said people from groups that are not represented in the area will facilitate programs that are usually not offered in the area but are important to educate and bring to the attention of people.

"One of the goals of awareness week is to educate on the diversity of the group," Eder said.

One of the groups coming this week is "Hispanics United," a group from New York representing Hispanic lesbian, bisexual and gay people, he said.

Eder expects that the majority of the week's events will be attended by the gay community, but said the week is also important to increase support in the heterosexual community as well.

"One of the most important things we can do is make ourselves visible to let people know we're all around," Eder said.

He said awareness week also provides the gay community with a feeling of empowerment instead of the usual images from society that say homosexuality is wrong.

"There will be a table in the concourse with buttons and balloons that thousands of people will see," Eder said. "It's bound to have an impact on the campus-wide community."

Although many people feel awareness week is only for the gay community, he said many "straight allies" attend events and the events are not exclusively for the gay community.

"There's a stigma about going to the events in many circles, but awareness week is really for everyone," he said.

In the eight years since the week began, Eder said this is the first year it has been completely organized and executed by the Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance, a student-run organization.

He said awareness week was first organized by a committee made up from faculty and staff members until this year. As a result, he said there will be more issues addressed that concern students and more cultural events.

Some of the programs were chosen purposely, Eder said, to enforce the idea of diversity in the lesbian, bisexual and gay community.

"We came up with most of our ideas by brainstorming and word-of-mouth, we just wanted to know what students were concerned with," he said.

The writing's on the wall: UM no stranger to hate graffiti

By DARREN GARNICK
Collegian Staff

(Part one of a three-part series on anonymous hate graffiti on campus).

Etched into a men's bathroom door in the Hasbrouck Laboratory are instructions for murder.

Graffiti reading "Kill the fags," hides in a tide of scribbles on the door, but the message has reached its intended audience. A second graffiti-artist altered the notice to read "Kiss the fags and you will die soon.".

According to University of Massachusetts educators, anonymous racist, anti-Semitic and homophobic graffiti is relatively common on campus. The most recent incident reported was three weeks ago, when two UMass juniors received threatening anti-Semitic notes.

Felice Yeskel, coordinator for the UMass Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns, said hate graffiti is written on desks, walls and doors all over campus but is seldom talked about or reported to the police.

"Most hate graffiti that exists goes unreported," she said. "It's everywhere."

Sherwood Thompson, director of the Office of Third World Affairs, agreed that hate graffiti is not a rarity on campus.

"I am concerned with the increasing frequency of it in bathrooms and stairwells," he said. "It is reaching a level of excessive concern."

"All one has to do is frequent a men's rest room or walk into any populated corridor to see any of this stuff," Thompson said.

Thompson said community silence "encourages people to add to the volume of the graffiti."

"If it stays there and no one says anything, the whole wall soon becomes a bulletin board for jokes and more hate graffiti," he said.

Hillel Program Director Yehudit Heller, who keeps her own personal file on anti-Jewish incidents, said ignoring the graffiti is an "ostrich behavior."

"If I don't see something, that doesn't mean it doesn't exist," she said. "I don't believe things go away."

Heller pointed to a scorched bulletin board outside the Hillel office, where she said posters were set on fire two years ago. According to Melinda Williams, a Hillel administrative assistant, the poster contained no controversial political message.

"The poster wasn't Israeli," she said. "It read: 'Good luck on your exams!'"

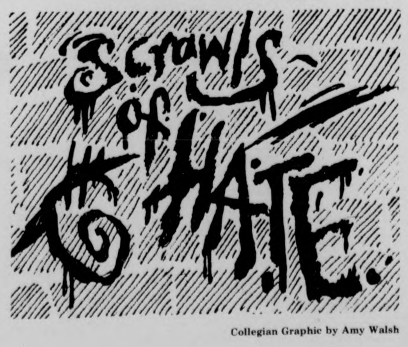
Anti-Jewish graffiti tends to occur more often in December and April, intentionally linked to the winter holidays and Holocaust Memorial Week, Heller said.

Last year, posters for Holocaust Memorial Week were smeared with blood, she said.

Flipping through her file, Heller read a note received by two students last spring that she said was typical of the hate messages:

"It is really too bad you f—ing Jew boys weren't a little older and lived in Europe. Just remember, the real right doesn't want any stinking Jews. Kill all Jews."

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3



Scrawls of HATE.

Collegian Graphic by Amy Walsh

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief	Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor	George Austin
Editorial Editor	Minu Sebastian
News Editor	Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor	Jim Clark
Arts Editors	Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor	Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor	Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor	Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor	Chris Muther
Business Manager	Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager	Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager	Martina Rios
Circulation Manager	Chris Baker
Subscription Manager	Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager	Donna Cusson
Production Managers	Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager	Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

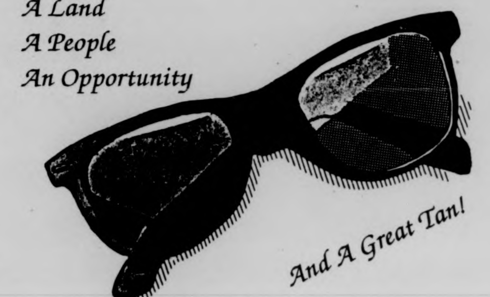
Business	Lori Black, Brian Harrington Maureen Majerowski
Graphics	Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

RECYCLE PAPER

Turn your old paper into good news. Recycle.

ISRAEL
A Land
A People
An Opportunity



And A Great Tan!

For more information on all Israel Programs
call:
1-800-27-ISRAEL or 212-750-7773
or write:
Israel Program Center/AZYF
515 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10022

"It's Not How Much
Brains You've Got,
It's What You Do
With It That Counts".

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID'. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

Announcing an offer designed to save money for people who are, well, a bit long-winded when it comes to, you know, talking on the phone, and who, quite understandably, don't want to have to wait till after 11 pm to get a deal on long distance prices.

If you spend a lot of time on the phone, the AT&T Reach Out® America Plan could save you a lot on your long distance bill. And you don't have to stay up late to do it. Starting at 5 pm, the AT&T Reach Out® America Plan takes an additional 25% off our already reduced evening prices.
To find out more, call us at 1 800 REACH OUT, ext. 4093.
And don't worry, we'll keep it brief.

Discount applies to out-of-state calls direct-dialed 5-10 pm, Sunday–Friday.
This service may not be available in all residence halls.

AT&T
The right choice.

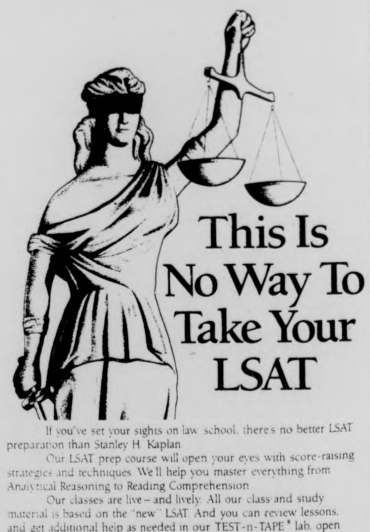
Come Ride With Us.

- Motorcycles
- Scooters
- A.T.V.'s
- Power Equipment

Valley Motorsports
216 N. King St., Rte. 5
584-7303
731-9965
Northampton, MA

The 1989 Honda Motorcycles are ready for viewing.

ALWAYS WEAR A HELMET, EYE PROTECTION AND PROTECTIVE CLOTHING



This Is No Way To Take Your LSAT

If you've set your sights on law school, there's no better LSAT preparation than Stanley H. Kaplan.
Our LSAT prep course will open your eyes with score-raising strategies and techniques. We'll help you master everything from Analytical Reasoning to Reading Comprehension.
Our classes are live – and lively. All our class and study material is based on the "new" LSAT. And you can review lessons, and get additional help as needed in our TEST-n-TAPE® lab, open days, evenings and weekends for your convenience.
Visit our Center today and see for yourself.
And watch the scales tip in your favor.

STANLEY H. KAPLAN
Take Kaplan Or Take Your Chances

Classes begin March 5-April 11
in Amherst, Springfield
& at Smith College
549-5780

For other locations call 800-KAP-TEST

LOCAL

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

LOOK OUT BELOW– Stormy skies threaten the Amherst Land Reserve on South Pleasant Street.

Frat lends an ear to Easter Seals

By LINDSAY HOADLEY
Collegian Staff

While most college students were attending the average weekend social gatherings, 20 Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity brothers answered telephones for the annual Easter Seals Telethon in Springfield last month.

"Hello, Easter Seals Telethon," a brother answered cheerfully.

The work paid off as the brothers raised $2,500 for the telethon by the end of the night.

This was the fourth year the brothers participated in the telethon, said Keith Nicholson, chairman of public relations for the fraternity.

"We believe that it is important to help children with disabilities, and the telethon gives us a great chance to contribute," he said.

"The work we do for the telethon is strictly voluntary," Nicholson said. "The brothers voluntarily contributed their own time to what they thought was a good cause."

Sigma Phi Epsilon, which has doubled in member size in the past year, participates in the telethon annually as well as in many other philanthropies in the area, Nicholson said.

"We participated in telethons for the Newman Center and the Hillel Foundation," Nicholson said. "We raised $11,000 through the telefund for the Newman Center alone and I hope we'll be able to match or exceed that amount next year."

Last year the fraternity sponsored a blood drive that collected 102 pints of blood, according to Nicholson.

The fraternity is currently sponsoring another blood drive which will be held April 10 at their house on North Pleasant St.

Local rep named to commission for education

By DAN BERTHIAUME
Collegian Correspondent

Representative Stan Rosenberg (D-Amherst) has been named to a special commission that will consider proposals to restructure the Massachusetts higher education system.

The 13-member commission, which consists of legislators and higher education officials, is scheduled to complete a report by the end of December.

The commission is still in preliminary stages and has not begun discussing specific proposals, Rosenberg said.

However, Rosenberg intends to discuss changing the Board of Regents of Higher Education from a governing board to a coordinating board.

If the measure is passed, decisions about governing of state campuses would be left to the board of trustees.

"This would improve the quality of state higher education," Rosenberg said.

Combining all five state university campuses into a single campus known as the University of Massachusetts is another proposal Rosenberg would like the committee to consider.

This proposal was originally initiated by David Knapp, former University of Massachusetts president.

A major concern for state education is the dramatic increase in enrollment, Rosenberg said.

"25 years ago, there were 40,000 students in Massachusetts public higher education," Rosenberg said. "At the high point last year, there were 180,000 full and part-time students enrolled."

There is no budget for the committee, Rosenberg said. "We hope to reallocate some staff from the legislature to work with us," he said. "There is no state funding involved."

After the commission does make changes, they will "hopefully be paid for broadly by the Commonwealth as a whole," Rosenberg said.

The first public statements by the committee should come in two or three months, he added.

Wisconsin gov discriminated against Indians - Activist

By KEVIN MORRISSEY
Collegian Correspondent

The state government of Wisconsin has launched a racist campaign to take rights away from the Chippewa Indian Nation as a result of the nation's vote to retain their constitutionally guaranteed land-use rights, according to a representative of the Chippewa Indian Nation.

Speaking to some 100 people at the University of Massachusetts on Thursday, March 15, as part of American Indian Awareness Month, sponsored by the American Indian Students Association, Walt Bresette, a land rights activist said the Wisconsin government has labeled the Chippewa as extremists in an attempt to take land rights away.

Bresette spoke about the Chippewa's struggle to regain their treaty rights and the backlash of racism the Chippewa people have experienced in northern Wisconsin.

Bresette said the Chippewa have won a series of federal court cases against the state of Wisconsin which has reinstated their rights to hunt, fish, and gather resources on lands in northern Wisconsin. These rights were guaranteed to them in treaties the Chippewa signed with the U.S. government in 1837, 1842, and 1854.

According to Bresette, "Corporate America" is displacing and destroying the non-Indian rural communities in northern Wisconsin because the locals cannot compete with the larger businesses.

He said the state government is putting the blame on the Chippewa for the depressed economy and calling them "resource terrorists" for exercising their constitutionally-guaranteed right to fish in the lakes of northern Wisconsin to make a living.

Last year, according to Bresette, the state of Wisconsin tried to buy out the land-use rights for $50 million. The Chippewa voted, in their largest turnout ever, against the sale of the treaty rights, he said.

"These rights do not belong to us, therefore they are not our rights to sell," he said. "These rights belong to our unborn grandchildren." When the buy-out did not work, the state government turned to other forms of coercion, Bresette said. He said state officials have been using the non-Indian people of northern Wisconsin to instigate racist attacks against the Chippewa, including rock throwings at their boat landings when they fish and the bombing of some of their homes.

Bresette said it is not the racist attacks and the people that carry them out that scare him. "They can only kill us and we're going to die anyway," he said. "What scares me is the state of Wisconsin who takes away the rights of future generations."

Public Forum

In response to recent controversy over sexually explicit messages being spread via the University of Massachusetts CYBER computer mainframe system, there will be an open public forum on Wednesday, March 28 at 1:30 p.m. in Campus Center room 168C.

The forum, sponsored by the University Computer Committee of the Faculty Senate, will address CYBER users concerns over the possible removal of the sex stories from the computer system.

UCC Chair G. Ernest Anderson said "the meeting is being held in response to expressed student concerns over the removal, restoration, and retention of computer notefiles with certain 'questionable' material in them. It is part of a process leading toward a policy for the future in such matters."

Those expected to attend include John Dubach, acting director of University Computing Services; Douglas Abbot, associate vice chancellor for computing and information systems; David Schmimmel, a UMass education professor; and Grant Ingle, director of Human Relations and member of METANET, an international teleconference of scientists concerned with social change.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

BIRDS BACK FROM SOUTH– Birds land on top of barn in Hadley.

■ hate graffiti

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Yeskel said compiling a similar file of homophobic incidents would be a burdensome task. "We don't save them," she said. "It happens every five minutes."

"Anytime a gay, lesbian, or bisexual poster is put up in a residence hall, it has a 98-percent chance of being ripped down within 24 hours or having some homophobic graffiti written on it," Yeskel said.

Next: experts interpret the meaning of hate graffiti

Pizza & Bowl Special

"Dugout Snack Shack"
Mon. & Wed. Nights
10 P.M. – Midnight

- 2 HOURS BOWLING
- ALL THE PIZZA YOU CAN EAT!

Only $5.00/Person

College Special
with college ID
Every Thurs. Night 9:00 p.m.—12:00 a.m.
3 Games of Bowling and Shoe Rental for
$4.00

Don't Miss Out
Call To Reserve Your Spot!
Northampton Bowl
525 Pleasant St.
584-4830

Clip & Curl

Phone: 665-2629
Tues.-Fri. 9-8
Sat. 9-4
Located on Rte. 116
in Sunderland
(Next to 7-11) on bus route
We sell & use Paul Mitchell's & Nexxus Products

Haircut with shampoo	$11.50
Perms, include haircut	$44-48
Colors	$20-25
Part Perms	$35
Frostings	$35
Eyebrow Waxing	$5

Long hair costs slightly more

"HOW I MADE $18,000 FOR COLLEGE BY WORKING WEEKENDS."

When my friends and I graduated from high school, we all took part-time jobs to pay for college.

They ended up in car washes and hamburger joints, putting in long hours for little pay.

Not me. My job takes just one weekend a month and two weeks a year. Yet, I'm earning $18,000 for college.

Because I joined my local Army National Guard.

They're the people who help our state during emergencies like hurricanes and floods. They're also an important part of our country's military defense.

So, since I'm helping them do such an important job, they're helping me make it through school.

As soon as I finished Advanced Training, the Guard gave me a cash bonus of $2,000. I'm also getting another $5,000 for tuition and books, thanks to the New GI Bill.

Not to mention my monthly Army Guard paychecks. They'll add up to more than $11,000 over the six years I'm in the Guard.

And if I take out a college loan, the Guard will help me pay it back—up to $1,500 a year, plus interest.

It all adds up to $18,000—or more—for college for just a little of my time. And that's a heck of a better deal than any car wash will give you.

THE GUARD CAN HELP PUT YOU THROUGH COLLEGE, TOO. SEE YOUR LOCAL RECRUITER FOR DETAILS, CALL TOLL-FREE 800-638-7600,* OR MAIL THIS COUPON.

*In Hawaii: 737-5255; Puerto Rico: 721-4550; Guam: 477-9957; Virgin Islands (St. Croix): 773-6438; New Jersey: 800-452-5794. In Alaska, consult your local phone directory.
© 1985 United States Government as represented by the Secretary of Defense. All rights reserved.

MAIL TO: Army National Guard, P.O. Box 6000, Clifton, NJ 07015
NAME ☐ M ☐ F
ADDRESS
CITY/STATE/ZIP
AREA CODE PHONE US CITIZEN ☐ YES ☐ NO
SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER BIRTH DATE
OCCUPATION
STUDENT ☐ HIGH SCHOOL ☐ COLLEGE
PRIOR MILITARY SERVICE ☐ YES ☐ NO
BRANCH RANK AFM/MOS
THE INFORMATION YOU VOLUNTARILY PROVIDE, INCLUDING YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER, WILL BE USED FOR RECRUITING PURPOSES ONLY. YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER WILL BE USED TO ANALYZE RESPONSE TO THIS AD. AUTHORITY: 10USC-503
A1CLJC19030NP

Army National Guard
Americans At Their Best.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Lock me out of the ballgame

I waited patiently for Wade to fit baseball and me in between his active sex life with Margo in '89.

I wept when Bill Buckner let Mookie Wilson's grounder slide through his legs in the '86 World Series . . . and when Calvin Schiraldi rose to the championship challenge of "One Strike Away," then promptly fell.

Alise Harfield

I merely winced when they let Bruce Hurst go to San Diego in '88.

But after 32 days of wondering if there would even be a 1990 baseball season, if the boys would settle their salary disputes, their free-agentness, their arbitrary arbitration, this devoted fan has endured her last of baseball disappointment.

These guys responsible for playing the favorite American passtime had the unmitigated gall to settle their feuds at our expense.

They could have cared less if the season did not start on time, if ticket holders lost money or if they disappointed some fan's first game-opener in April.

Now they expect us, after waiting with baited breath, to flock back to them, forget what has happened and enjoy what they have turned into a noxious game.

Sorry, guys, that's a bit much for this fan to take.

Who do they, they of the self-serving-spectator-sport think they are without us fans?

Nothing, absolutely nothing!

They don't go out there and pitch and field and hit for me, they do it for oodles and oodles of cash. Why should we participate in that?

They clearly deserve a taste of their own medicine.

Perhaps they can live without umpires for a while. But it is time for them to wonder what the summer would be like without us!

It is time we retaliate.

Let us boycott Fenway Park this season.

Those who know me are thinking, Why does she care at all? She's never been sickeningly pro BoSox. . .

Fine! I'll be the first to admit that my first and foremost devotion is to basketball: Minutemen, Celtics, Danny Ainge.

But don't think this boycott will be easy for me.

Fenway Park has been a Summer Haven, if you will, for a lot of milestone moments in my growing up in a suburb of Boston.

From my first afternoon in Fenway with my Dad to watch the Sox play a doubleheader against the Detroit Tigers in '79 to (one of) my first illegal beers as a "bleacher creature" with my senior class in high school — all 300 of us — in '86.

No doubt, I will miss Fenway. I may even miss baseball. But I know I won't miss the inherent attitude, their petty fights, their gossip and especially the underlying reason any of them play at all.

For themselves.

I have already planned a replacement activity in the event that I suffer withdrawal symptoms from Fenway, the $2.50 half-cup of cold beer, (Marty Barrett), or even the sport itself . . .

I will settle down with a healthy Hebrew National, a jell-o shot or two, and make tracks to the nearest neighborhood Little League action.

There I will remember the baseball in its purest form: baseball for the innocent fun of it.

Any takers?

Alise Harfield is a Collegian columnist

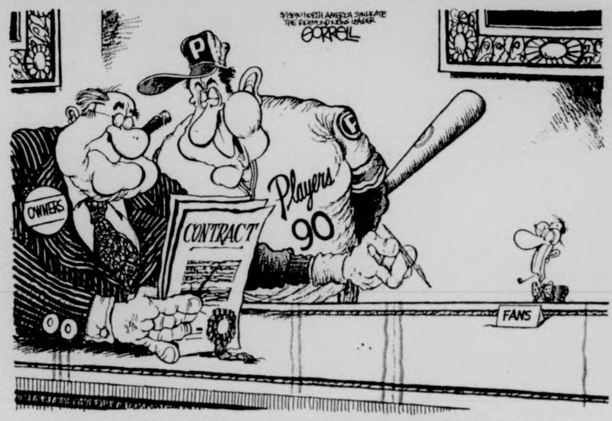
(Columnist's note: this piece was written well before the umpires decided to join me in my idea.)



"HEY, WHAT'S-YER-NAME. . . . HOW'S ABOUT WITNESSING THIS? . . ."

Videotape limits real life

The surprise party in honor of my sister's sixteenth year of life has been planned for weeks. It's minutes before she walks through the door and finds a roomful of family and friends, each already with a grin on his or her face that says, "Gotcha!"

Bob Bobala

A friend of the family has the video camera, borrowed from the neighbor next door. He's been practicing with it for half an hour to make sure everything will go right when he attempts to capture that very moment when my sister walks in and realizes she's been duped by those she thinks she can trust.

It's one of those cameras on the cutting edge of technology that actually allows you to look into it like a viewfinder and watch what you taped thirty seconds ago. This is exactly what the camera man is doing. He gives us the A.O.K. sign and positions himself in a chair that will give him the best shot at my sister when she comes home.

I put myself on pause and begin to philosophize about videotape and this camera that lets you view what you've just recorded without even having to take the tape out of the machine.

So much for memory, I sigh. We have videotape, what do we need memory for? Unlike a photograph, which stimulates memory, which allows us to be active while we recall a particular event, video is the event itself — or so we think it is. Video, eliminating the need for memory, allows us to be inactive. It stifles imagination.

Now, if video is truth, then this may be a good thing. My imagination runs wild sometimes. Example: there's an old picture of me taken after one of my little league baseball games. My uniform is thoroughly soiled and my face is dirty. When somebody asks me about the picture, my imagination kicks into gear and I tell them how I scored the winning run by diving into home plate and evading the catcher's tag.

But if we had a video tape of the same game, we'd see what really happened was that I tripped over first base and fell flat on my face in the dirt. Video always tells the truth.

Or does it? A video camera can only take in so much. It records the intellectual conversation the people at the coffee table are having about the onion dip the host made. But it misses the conversation about the fall of the Berlin Wall in another part of the room. So, the video's truth, which we take as absolute, is only a half-truth at best.

Of course, video technology goes a lot farther than home-made movies. Think of the mass media. Think of MTV. Once upon a time, the music I listened to would bring back all the memories of a certain time, place, person, or emotion.

In the video age, what memories are attached to music? They are the images provided by the directors of videos: Paula Abdul and Aerosmith doing whatever it is they do. What's worse is that those memories are the same for everyone. Common memories. To remember is probably one of the most important and personal things we can do, but video can make it trivial, universal, and even unnecessary.

Plus, I can't help but feel the guy with the camcorder is missing out on life itself. He's in so much of a rush to get that cassette in the VCR he's not paying attention to whatever it is he deems important enough to record forever on videotape.

The door opens and my sister walks in. The standard "Surprise!" and "Happy Sweet Sixteen!" are shouted and everyone laughs at her reaction. That is, everyone except the friend of the family with the video camera. He's already looking into the thing to watch the moment over again. After a few seconds he lets out a disturbed sigh and sinks down into the chair. "It didn't come out," he says. "I didn't get it on tape."

Nor did he get it on memory, I fear. Both he and the video camera missed it.

Bob Bobala is a Collegian columnist

Welcome back everyone! Hope you had a relaxing Spring Break. Starting this week all columnists will be running bi-weekly. This means that there will be added space for the general public to be printed.

Due to the increasing amount of submissions that the Editorial Desk has been receiving, this added space will allow more voices to be heard.

Submit all columns and letters to the Editorial Desk, Campus Center 113, and ask for Reggie, Gayle or Minu.

Notes from the Basement

Bore, bore, bore,bore . . . YAWN. Oh wait! It's over. We're back here at the good ol' University, after the most excrucitiatingly dull Spring Break ever had by anyone. When driving down the wrong side of the street in Boston is the highlight of my week, I can say most definitely I was bored to tears.

Peter Leon

****

I did have an interview for a job last Thursday, with the U.S. Government no less. And after just four and a half years of college, with no degree yet, I was told I was overqualified for the position of clerk in the legal dept. of the Social Security Administration. What was the point of spending close to 35,000 dollars for five years again, I seem to have forgotten.

****

Boston does not seem to be a place where anyone would want to live right now. There have been over 30 murders since Jan. 1, and those are the ones we know about.

Most of them have been gang and/or drug related. To help, the Boston police State Troopers have started to patrol the city again. Mike Barnicle of The Boston Globe noted that though half the crime in Boston occurs in Area B (Roxbury area), only about one quarter of the police force is assigned to the area.

Guess the rest are all patrolling the Dunkin Donuts in West Roxbury and Southie.

****

Lithuania doesn't seem to be a great tourist spot right now either. They declared their independence from the Soviet Union. In return Gorbachev promised no military action would be taken. That of course left military inaction as an option. You know planes flying overhead, tanks out for their daily work out, etc..

****

So when are the new SGA elections going to be held?

****

Dan Chesnicka, the new speaker of the senate, is perhaps the one hope left. I visited the last meeting and saw him wielding the gavel. He performed very well, with the grace and style befitting someone running a meeting. To quote him "Let the record show Senator Turko has no animosity."

****

Note: The atmosphere here at UMass has been pretty somber, mostly due to the hack and slash of the budget. But for one not too brief moment there was some solid school spirit about. The thanks goes to the UMass hoop team, the Minutemen. It was a shot in the arm when we needed it.

****

Old age is most assuredly here. I received a card yesterday from a friend. Enclosed was his wedding picture. So who knows which bank offers the best rates on IRAs?

****

Quote of the week: "Last week the Japanese bought everything. Everything!"
Dennis Miller, SNL News

****

Thus 'till next we meet, here's hopin' your life is sweet. (Ugh was that tacky.)

Peter Leon is a Collegian columnist

Quote of the Day

"You people at the Collegian are so punny. 'National Orgasm week at hand?'(March 16) Quite a headline. Don't you know that stuff makes you grow hair on your palms, then go blind?"

— Ari Weinstein

This Thursday the Editorial pages will be dedicated toward an important issue concerning the future of the Collegian.

This semester the Collegian has been running a Third World Affairs page, Multi-Cultural Affairs page and a Black Affairs page. There is a proposal to also add a Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Affairs page.

This forum will allow various Collegian and University staff members who have been discussing the issue of diversity in the Collegian to express their points of view.

ARTS & LIVING

UPC: bringing music to UMass

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

Students prepare the stage for last year's pond concert. UPC is looking for workers for this year's show.

By ALISA HABIB
Collegian Correspondent

The The, The Sugarcubes, The Waterboys, P.I.L. — what do these bands have in common? They all played at UMass this year. Thanks to a group of dedicated students, groups like these appear right in our own backyard and within the average student's price range.

But these bands didn't just invite themselves here. It took people like Ari Weinstein to get them on campus. Weinstein is the tele-coordinator for Union Program Council (UPC), a completely student run organization that brings these bands to UMass.

UPC got its start in the fall of 1977 when the Concert Committee and the Student Union Committee merged. It has since developed into the second largest student run organization of its kind in the country. Today, UPC consists of three elected positions, six staff positions and a general committee of about 200 people.

The Council organizes and produces 10 to 20 shows a year. This is no simple task. The work begins in the summer when the group begins to look at possible bands for the upcoming semester. Come fall, they hold one or two general meetings for input. Student opinion is very important. "Every band that I've booked, students said they wanted to see." Weinstein says. But just because people want to see a band, doesn't mean it's feasible.

UPC is troubled by the two big misconceptions surrounding their organization. The first is that they have an unlimited cash supply. It would be very nice to have the Rolling Stones by the pond this spring. But if UPC had enough money to bring the Stones here, we'd also have enough money to get the classes we wanted.

UPC is funded by the Board of Governors, which grants them about $20,000 a year. The Arts Council pays for supplies and the payroll. The remaining money comes from the student activities trust fund (that extra four dollars and fifty cents on your bill). This may seem like a lot of money, but comparatively it's not. Bands are expensive. Anne Buelteran, the business manager, explains that in addition to the cost of hiring the group, UPC has to cover the cost of security, hotel rooms, catering, physical plant, t-shirts and, of course, advertising. UPC struggles to keep the price of admission low. They would rather make the shows available to more students than keep them elite. As a result, they usually just break even. Any profit that they do make goes into a fund for the free spring concert.

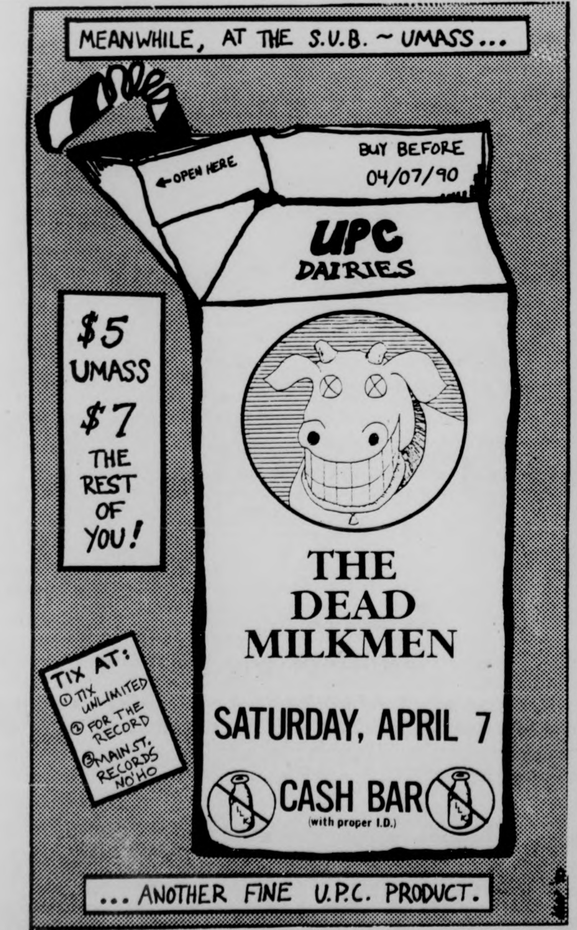
Yet even if they do have the money to get a band, it doesn't mean they will. This is the second big misconception, that bands are always available. For instance, Elvis Costello was ready to play the pond concert last year, but the date of the show conflicted with his European tour.

Once UPC finally gets a band and negotiates a reasonable contract, the majority of the organization comes in. Publicity must be taken care of, hotel rooms booked and a whole strew of special needs brought to attention. The day of the show is when the general committee really kicks in. Under the direction of Brian Sterns, stage manager, the members unload the trucks, set up the stage, take care of lighting and sound and make sure there are no technical problems. The committee also works security and helps out with hospitality.

Virtually anyone can become a part of the general committee. UPC holds general meetings every Tuesday night. Anyone who attends three becomes a full-fledged member. Although the general committee is not paid, they have a large influence on deciding what bands to get, receive invaluable experience within the music industry, get behind the scenes with the bands and get free t-shirts. Some members move up the ladder and onto the payroll.

Most universities run their concerts through administration, who hires an outside company to do the work. The programs are almost never student run. At UMass, the students make all the decisions. The only outside help they receive is from Delphine Quarles, their advisor. "The advisor and the general committee are the two best things about the UPC. They are committed beyond expectation," said Weinstein.

The spring concert is the main issue on the agenda right now. The council stresses that they are always looking for people to help out. They need students to get involved with the upcoming concert. They are not giving hints as to who is going to appear by the pond this year, but they strongly urge students to go see their other shows, such as the upcoming Dead Milkmen concert. The more people attend the concerts, the more money is available for the Spring concert. As Stearn says, "It all comes back to the students."



MEANWHILE, AT THE S.U.B. ~ UMASS...
BUY BEFORE 04/07/90
←OPEN HERE
UPC DAIRIES
$5 UMASS $7 THE REST OF YOU!
THE DEAD MILKMEN
SATURDAY, APRIL 7
CASH BAR (with proper I.D.)
TIX AT: ① TIX UNLIMITED ② FOR THE RECORD ③ MAIN ST. RECORDS NO'HO
... ANOTHER FINE U.P.C. PRODUCT.

THE
TEXTBOOK
ANNEX IS OPEN
YEAR ROUND BUT TO MAKE SURE YOU
GET THE BOOKS YOU
NEED FOR THIS SEMESTER
BUY THEM NOW
We are beginning to return unsold books to the publisher on Friday, March 30th.

University Store's
TEXTBOOK
ANNEX
Monday-Friday
9:00 am-4:00 pm
545-3570

WE NOW ACCEPT VISA AND MASTERCARD

Nothing compares to Sinead

By AL KAUFMAN
Collegian Staff

I Do Not Want What I Haven't Got Sinead O'Connor
Chrysalis
1/2

On her stunning debut album, The Lion and the Cobra, the sexy, intimidating and angry Sinead O'Connor spit out demands like, "I want your hands on me." That's why it's such a shock to hear a softer, more content O'Connor sing submissive, obedient lines such as, "And if you said jump in the river I would/Because it would probably be a good idea," on her latest album, I Do Not Want What I Haven't Got.

Although many of her love songs won't win her any points among feminists, I Do Not Want is not only as passionate as her debut effort, but it is also far more poetic and beautiful. Her melodies are beautiful, hurting and haunting.

AP photo

Sinead O'Connor sports more hair and passion on her new album.

The album's opener, "Feel So Different," is a Gothic, string saturated ballad in which O'Connor sings, "The whole time, I've never seen/All I'd need was inside of me." The song eventually reaches the frenzied pace of the music in a Hitchcock thriller right before someone gets murdered.

Yet aside from "Feel So Different," the religious "Three Babies" and the a capella, somewhat monotonuos title track, this album is full of torment and anger.

Those who liked "Mandinka" on her first album, will love the hip hop beat of "The Emperor's New Clothes," the most personal song on I Do Not Want. It deals with her rocky relationship with former drummer John Reynolds that resulted in her having a baby boy. With strong conviction, she sings, "He thinks I just became famous/And that's what messed me up/But he's wrong."

That song leads into "Black Boys on Mopeds," a stark, acoustic number that will never be up for contention England's national anthem. It begins, "Margret Thatcher on TV/Shocked by the deaths that took place in Bejing./It seems strange she should be so offended/The same orders are given by her." The song only gets more powerful from there.

But then there are the songs where O'Connor exposes herself to us as she never has before. Anyone who has heard the single, a cover of Prince's "Nothing Compares 2 U," and does not think it to be the most passionate, touching and moving song on the radio today is not human.

But there are plenty more where that came from. In "You Cause Much Sorrow," about the loss of a loved one, O'Connor sings in a wounded, fragile voice, "I never said I was tough/That was everyone else." In the beautifully biting "The Last Day of Our Acquantance," she turns a failed romance into a mere business transaction. Donald Trump, take note.

"No longer mad like a horse/I'm still wild but not lost," O'Connor sings in "Three Babies." It is the sign of a mellowing mind. But while most musicians suffer artistically when their ire burns out (Billy Joel), O'Connor only improves.

If you do not have I Do Not Want What I Haven't Got, you do not have all that you need.

Lush heals you

By SAAD HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

Scar
Lush
4 A.D.
****

In the early '80s I was a heavy fan of the 4 A.D. label, which housed some of the most ethereal (and most pretentious) music to hit the scene. Most famous were the Cocteau Twins, and Dead Can Dance. You broke it out whenever you needed to study, make love, or if you just wanted to listen to something to float by. But then by 1986 they changed their themes a bit, signing the likes of Throwing Muses and the Pixies. Obviously their obsession with the United States reflected the overall British curiosity of what we were doing at the time.

But now they have gone back to searching for new and different bands back home. Lush, from London, are the latest and most innovative 4 A.D. signing. They're noisy, spacey and cool. "Baby Talk", the opening track off of their EP Scar, is an exercise in screeching guitars that bleed in that gut-wrenching style. They sound like My Bloody Valentine (only not as good), but with a romantic passion that drives the mind to wonder off.

"Thoughtforms" is a lovely piece. It's pretty, melodic, and all of those other dreamy words. But hey, just because it's sweet, don't mean that it needs to be ignored. Kate Bush is someone who is sweet who needs to be ignored. Kind of like having sugar on your Barbie Doll cereal in the morning. So while watching Sinead O'Connor cry while singing in her video, think that there is something just as pretty, that hasn't got the same exposure (O'Connor is on a major label).

As for the rest of the EP, it's a great deal for seven bucks. Songs like "Second Sight," and "Etheriel" are dying for sympathetic ears. With the right amount of demand, Lush should be playing this side of the pond by the middle of the summer (their live tapes are awesome!). Check them out.

Knowledge is Power benevolent
NEWS PAPER HERE
BOTTLES
CANS
"BOB"

Auto Glass Center
American & Foreign
• SAME DAY SERVICE
• BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE COMPANY
• WINDSHIELDS REPLACED
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd.
North Amherst, MA
549-2880
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

Close to Excitement of Cambridge/Boston
Liberal Arts
Premedical Sciences
Computer Science
Theatre Arts
Near Eastern and Judaic Studies
Foreign Languages
Legal Studies Internship
Small Classes taught by Brandeis Faculty
Summer at Brandeis University
Chamber Music Workshop
June 11-June 30
German Study in Augsburg
May 14-July 31
Hebrew Study in Israel
May 21-June 13
Session I – June 4 to July 6
Session II – July 9 to August 10
Information, catalog and application:
Brandeis University Summer School
P.O. Box 9110 Waltham, MA 02254-9110
(617) 736-3424

Summer Jobs in Amherst
TOWN OF AMHERST
LSSE
Leisure Services and Supplemental Education

Adventure Playground Day Camp
(for 7-12 year olds)
Camp Director ($6.53-$7.56/hour)
Asst. Camp Director ($5.41-$6.57/hour)
Art Director ($5.16-$6.90/hour)
Counselor II ($5.43-$5.99)
Counselor I ($4.70-$5.45/hour)
Leaders-in-Training ($3.88-$4.49/hour)

Adventure Tots Day Camp
(for 3-4 year olds)
Camp Director ($6.53-$7.56/hour)
Counselor II ($5.43-5.99/hour)
Counselor I ($4.70-$5.45/hour)
Leaders-in-Training ($3.88-$4.49/hour)

Early Adventures Day Camp
(for 5-6 year olds)
Camp Director ($6.53-7.56/hour)
Asst. Camp Director ($5.41-$6.57/hour)
Counselor II ($5.43-$5.99/hour)
Counselor I ($4.70-$5.45/hour)

Aquatics Program
Pool Manager ($6.85-$8.33/hour)
Asst. Pool Manager ($5.68-$6.90/hour)
Instructor/Lifeguard ($5.19-$6.01/hour)
Lifeguard/Water Safety Asst. ($4.70-$4.94/hour)
Cashier ($4.27-$4.94/hour)

Tennis Program
Program Supervisor ($10.00-$13.00/hour)
Tennis Instructors ($8.00-$10.00/hour)

Adult Softball League
Softball Maintenance Worker ($5.00-$6.00/hour)

Job Descriptions and applications available at Amherst Leisure Services, 446 Main Street, Amherst or at Summer Jobs Information Table on the UMass Concourse on March 13 and March 28. Preferred application deadline is Wednesday, April 11.

GOOD JOBS...GOOD TIMES...GOOD FRIENDS...GOOD MONEY

Peter Pan
New England's Largest Bus Line
Offers Daily Express Service
Throughout the Northeast!
HOURLY EXPRESS SERVICE
• Boston • Springfield
• New York City
• Hartford • Worcester
Connecting Service Nationwide

America's Most Modern Fleet
Amherst to
Boston Student Fare $23.95 round-trip
NYC As Low As $39.95 round-trip
One call does it all:
Peter Pan Bus Terminal
79 South Pleasant St., Amherst
256-0431
U-Mass Hotel 545-2006

An obnoxious guide to Yuppiedom

By D. MICHAEL GARNICK
Collegian Staff

The Student Entrepreneur's Guide: How to Start and Run Your Own Business
By Brett Kingstone
McGraw-Hill Paperbacks, $12.95

> "Becoming an entrepreneur will give you a tremendous amount of practical business experience that will enhance your present studies as well as your future career . . . Sick of working as a part-time photocopier, food server, or book checker? Then stop plodding along in your mundane chores and do something really profitable . . ."
>
> — Brett Kingstone

Once upon a time college meant frisbee football and 3 a.m. pizza parties. And classes, too.

But for some students (i.e. accounting majors and saps studying business administration) having fun is a frivilous waste of time.

Time is money. Waiting until after college to start a business could cost millions.

In The Student Entrepreneur's Guide, author Brett Kingstone takes the would-be Wall Street Wacko on a sickening journey on the river of promised fortune. From marketing ideas to dealing with the Internal Revenue Service, Kingstone outlines how students can become rich in a few easy steps.

He graciously includes tips on begging for loans and outfoxing the competition. He even gives us brilliant business equations: "Sales Price - Cost of Goods Sold ^{5} Gross Profit."

What Kingman does not do is address some of the more fundamental rules of the business world, avoiding chapters on:

- "How to Spend More Time at the Office and Less Time With Your Family."
- "How to Get Ahead While Stepping on as Many People as Possible."
- "How to Poison the Environment and Be Rewarded for Your Efforts."
- "How to Use the Phony Smile to Win Over New Clients."
- "Student entrepreneurs prefer to profit from their ideas now," the author writes, obviously angered that some people might enjoy exchanging ideas for free.

In his brainstorming chapter on business ideas, Kingstone suggests setting up a "senior citizen aid service" selling "companionship." He neglects to include advice on how to steal their social security checks.

The condescending elitist tone is a staple in this book. For the budding entrepreneur, volunteer social work is for losers. Making friends is secondary to making money.

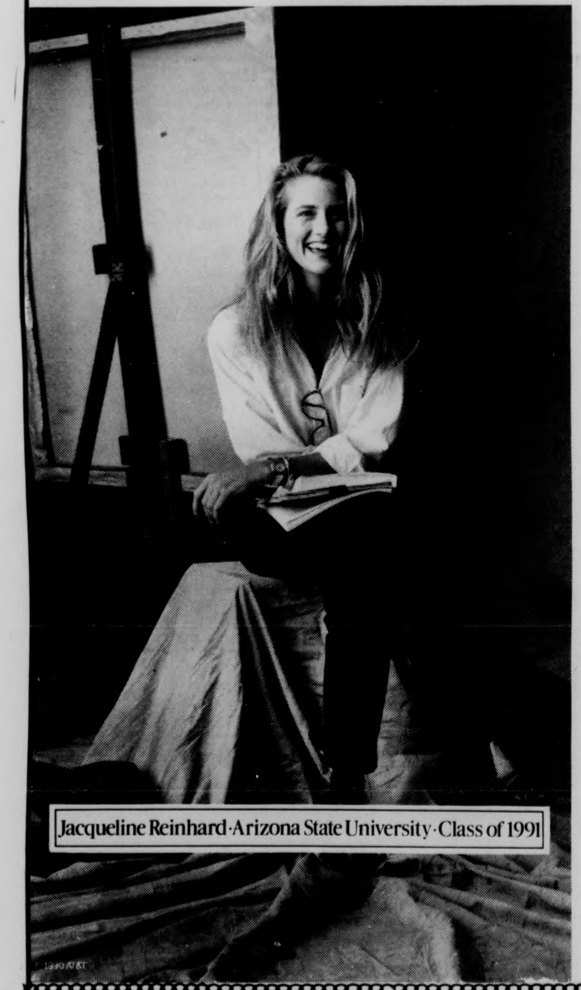
Kingstone gets corny at times, offering the idea of establishing a houseplant care service for people who go on vacation. Day care for plants could be the thing of the 90s.

And for the benefit of mentally unstable yuppies, chapter four includes a "Student Entrepreneur Quiz" and a "Entrepreneurial Personality Quiz."

Evoking serious self-reflection on whether the business world is really for you, the quizzes ask such biting questions as "Are you ambitious?, " "Do you enjoy a good challenge?, " and "Did you ever have a lemonade stand or a paper route as a kid?"

After the test results are in, Kingstone declares "If you answered yes to all these questions, then you just the type of person who can succeed as an entrepreneur!"

And just the type of imbicile that would buy this book.



Jacqueline Reinhard·Arizona State University·Class of 1991
©1990 AT&T

"When I call Mom, she either wants to talk art or football. Usually football."

Go ahead, call her up and let her know the score.

A 10-minute coast-to-coast call, dialed direct anytime, any day with AT&T, costs less than $3.00.* And with fast connections and immediate credit for wrong numbers, how can you miss?

For more information on AT&T Long Distance Service, and products like the AT&T Card, call 1 800 525-7955, Ext. 100.

*Add applicable taxes and surcharges.

AT&T
The right choice.

Recycle this newspaper

WINDSOR CONNECTICUT PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO RECRUIT ON CAMPUS

April 6, 1990
1990-91 Salary Range: $27,928 - $50,705

Please arrange for interviews through the placement office

An Equal Opportunity Employer/Affirmative Action Employer

RESUME CONSULTATIONS & PRINTING

• SECRETARIAL SERVICES
- Resume Consultations & Printing
- Cover Letters
- Tax Preparation
- Manuscripts
- FAX Service

• TEMPORARY PERSONNEL
- Always Interviewing for full & part-time employment
- Flexible Hours
- Benefits

• BUSINESS MANAGEMENT SERVICES

DOVE
Business Associates, Inc.
79 So. Pleasant St., Amherst
256-1335 • 253-7480

New Books at 40-80%
OFF List Price!

Paperback and Hardcover
Hundreds of new arrivals now being shelved. Over 40,000 used and discount new books

ALL AT 40-80% off
New List Price!

VALLEY BOOKS
Downtown Amherst

OPEN 7 days a week 256-1508
VISA/MC Check

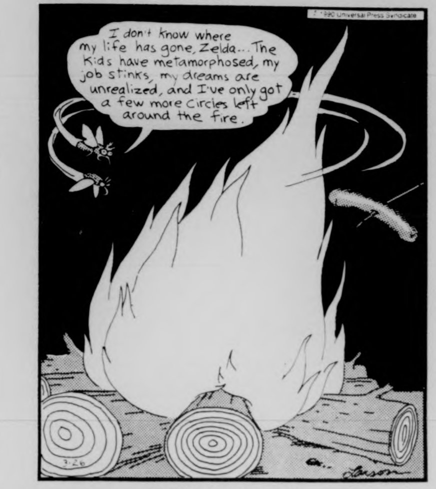
ENJOY THE REWARDS OF RESEARCH:

If you plan to start a research career upon graduation, start your job search at Tufts University, Boston Campus. Tufts' Boston Campus is comprised of the Medical, Dental, and Veterinary Schools, the Sackler School of Biomedical Sciences, and the U.S.D.A. Human Nutrition Research Center on Aging. We have an ongoing need for science graduates in a variety of exciting medical science research areas including: Biochemistry, Pathology, Anatomy and Cellular Biology, Molecular Biology, Physiology, and Neuroscience.

Tufts offers an excellent salary and benefits package including tuition assistance. For details, call or write to Tufts University, Ilene Granstein, 200 Harrison Avenue, Boston, MA 02111, (617) 956-6600. An Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

TUFTS UNIVERSITY

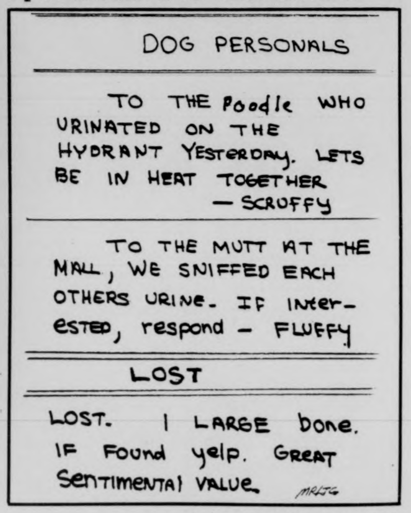
THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
I don't know where my life has gone, Zelda... The Kids have metamorphosed, my job stinks, my dreams are unrealized, and I've only got a few more circles left around the fire.
3-26
Larson

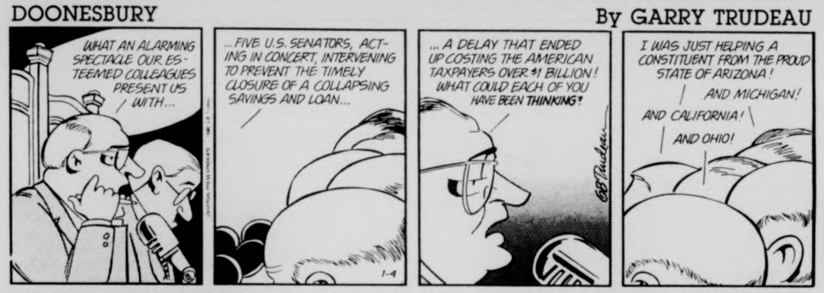
Midlife crises in moths

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



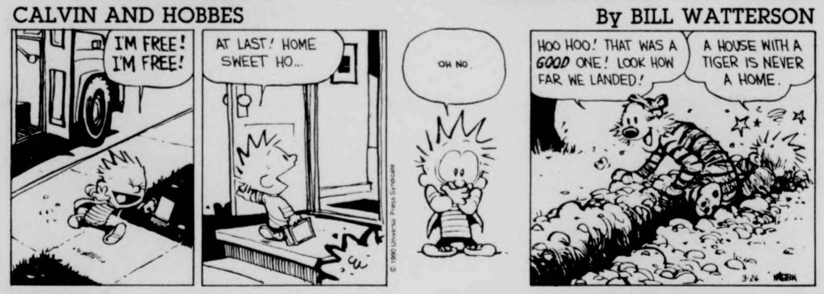
DOG PERSONALS
TO THE Poodle WHO URINATED ON THE HYDRANT YESTERDAY. LETS BE IN HEAT TOGETHER — SCRUFFY
TO THE MUTT AT THE MALL, WE SNIFFED EACH OTHERS URINE. IF INterested, respond — FLUFFY
LOST
LOST. 1 LARGE bone. IF Found yelp. GREAT SentimentAl VALUE
MR JG

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



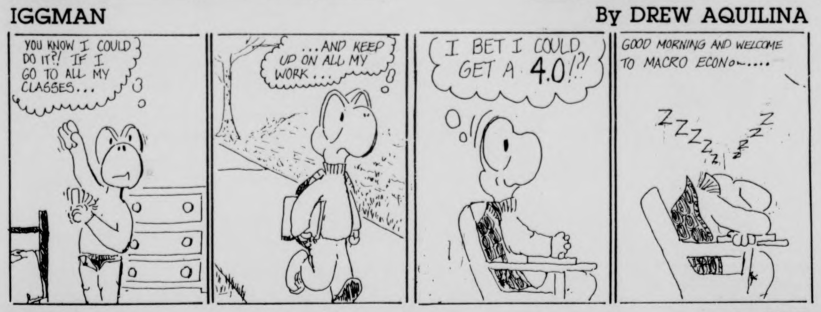
WHAT AN ALARMING SPECTACLE OUR ESTEEMED COLLEAGUES PRESENT US WITH...
...FIVE U.S. SENATORS, ACTING IN CONCERT, INTERVENING TO PREVENT THE TIMELY CLOSURE OF A COLLAPSING SAVINGS AND LOAN...
1-4
...A DELAY THAT ENDED UP COSTING THE AMERICAN TAXPAYERS OVER $1 BILLION! WHAT COULD EACH OF YOU HAVE BEEN THINKING?
GB Trudeau
I WAS JUST HELPING A CONSTITUENT FROM THE PROUD STATE OF ARIZONA!
AND MICHIGAN!
AND CALIFORNIA!
AND OHIO!

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



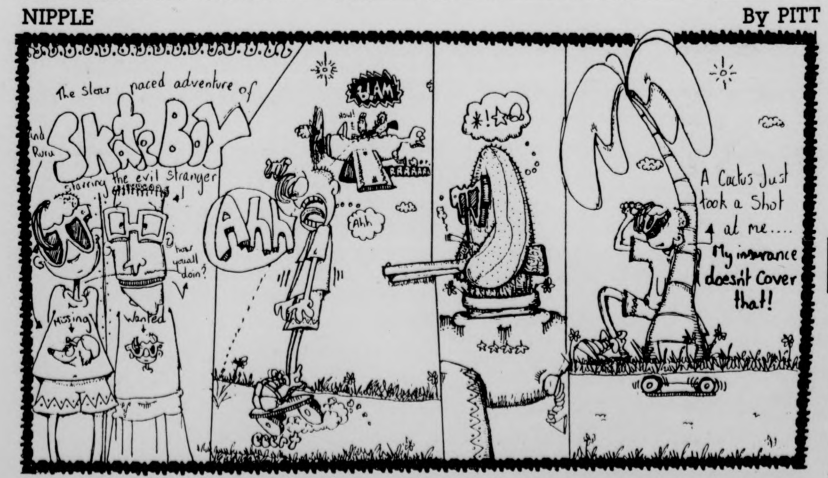
I'M FREE! I'M FREE!
AT LAST! HOME SWEET HO...
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
OH NO.
HOO HOO! THAT WAS A GOOD ONE! LOOK HOW FAR WE LANDED!
A HOUSE WITH A TIGER IS NEVER A HOME.
3-26
WATTERSON

IGGMAN
By DREW AQUILINA



YOU KNOW I COULD DO IT?! IF I GO TO ALL MY CLASSES...
...AND KEEP UP ON ALL MY WORK...
I BET I COULD GET A 4.0!?!
GOOD MORNING AND WELCOME TO MACRO ECONo....
ZZZZZ
ZZZ

NIPPLE
By PITT



The slow paced adventure of SkateBoy and Ruru starring the evil Stranger
how youall doin?
Missing
Wanted
BLAM
Now!
Ahh
Ahh
*!☆
A Cactus Just took a Shot at me.... My insurance doesn't Cover that!

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

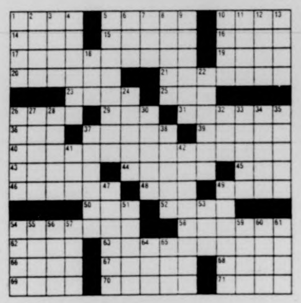
ACROSS
1 Your majesty!
5 Impudent
10 October birthstone
14 Soviet mountains
15 Alpine crest
16 Leningrad's river
17 Burlesque queens, often
19 Walked
20 Mean
21 Baffle
23 Social worker Jacob
25 Entertainer Zadora
26 Heads of hair
29 Always, to Shelley
31 Razing remains
36 "Gotcha!"
37 Crane's kin
39 Skirt inserts
40 With "The", ballet music from "La Giaconda"
43 Of a district
44 Peter, Paul or Patrick
45 Shoe section
46 Actor Karl
48 No. for one: Abbr.
49 Attention-getters
50 Classic car
52 Gunnery command
54 Laundry employee
58 Approached
62 Flow from a volcano
63 Astaire-Rogers arena
66 Augury
67 Sidestep
68 Laboratory heater
69 Baton
70 Stop
71 Musical symbol

DOWN
1 Mohammedan mystic
2 Oil-producing land
3 Blow off steam
4 Church officials
5 Padres' home
6 Curve
7 Bishopric
8 Boot loop
9 Willing response
10 Not fooled
11 Andes country
12 The Bard's river
13 "The Glass Key" star
18 Black bird
22 Instructed
24 Feudal farm workers
26 Letter opener
27 "Butterfield 8" author
28 Door section
30 Work on leather
32 Ghostly sound
33 Savage
34 Painter Neiman
35 Slalom curves
37 Conger chasers
38 Second-story man
41 No gentleman he
42 Casey Jones e.g.
47 Required
49 Doctor or shaman
51 Papal cape
53 Ump's relative
54 Farm implement
55 Vishnu incarnate
56 Ready for a tie-breaker
57 Novelist George
59 Teaching method
60 L-o-n-g times
61 Mild oath
64 Cashew
65 B-F connection

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

F	L	I	P	■	O	G	A	M	■	A	L	I	A	R
A	U	R	A	■	V	O	L	E	■	P	A	D	R	E
C	R	A	D	L	E	O	F	T	H	E	D	E	E	P
T	E	N	S	O	R	■	■	T	E	X	■	A	N	A
■	■	■	■	S	T	R	O	L	L	■	P	L	A	Y
C	A	R	A	T	■	H	U	E	L	V	A	■	■	■
O	L	O	R	■	S	E	T	■	M	I	L	L	I	E
L	A	N	D	S	C	A	P	E	A	R	T	I	S	T
S	I	S	E	R	A	■	O	W	N	■	E	R	I	C
■	■	■	B	A	T	T	U	E	■	C	R	A	S	H
L	A	P	S	■	M	E	R	R	I	E	■	■	■	■
I	R	A	■	J	A	N	■	■	C	R	U	S	O	E
A	I	R	C	O	N	D	I	T	I	O	N	I	N	G
N	E	G	E	N	■	E	O	A	N	■	D	A	C	E
A	L	E	N	E	■	R	U	N	G	■	O	M	E	R

3/26/90



MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Grilled Cheese	Veal Cordon Bleu
Hot Turkey Sandwich	N.E. Style Scrod

BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Grilled Cheese	Egg & Chedder Florentine
Hot Turkey Sandwich	N.E. Style Scrod

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES(March 21-April 19): Your goals will be easier to obtain when you get better organized. An element of good luck is likely in financial matters. Land ownership is important. Ties with loved ones present few problems.

TUARUS(April 20-May 20): Short business trips are invaluable for contacting influential people. You have an ace in the hole, but may not know it. Get ready for big changes! An old flame re-enters the romantic picture.

GEMINI(May 21-June 20): Creative projects will lead to higher profits. Mixing with aggressive people can be very profitable. Get rid of outdated notions. Friends can help best from the background. Your popularity rises.

CANCER(June 21-July 22): Adequate nourishment and rest are important to your well-being. Your business makes a recovery. Take advantage of an opportunity to make new sales. The time is ripe for expanding your contacts.

LEO(July 23-Aug.22): Old friends provide the right antidote to yesterday's woes. A member of the opposite sex, whom you overlooked in the past, attracts your attention. Reliving old times could lead to new excitement.

VIRGO(Aug.23-Sept.22): Your sense of humor will get a colossal workout today. A promotion or raise is possible in the near future. Your values will be tested. Family members are sympathetic to your needs.

LIBRA(Sept.23-Oct.22): Support for your personal ambitions comes from an unexpected source. A member of the opposite sex tries to slow you down. Trust your intuition. Romance could be ahead. Let things develop naturally.

SCORPIO(Oct.23-Nov.21): You get an opportunity to move into a higher income bracket. Your knowledge of a special subject wins the attention of someone influential. The future looks bright. A pet project is a real moneymaker.

SAGITTARIUS(Nov.22-Dec.21): Unusual events could add to your bank account. A financial burden will be removed. A new social undertaking should be beneficial. Changes at home may free you of heavy responsibilities.

CAPRICORN(Dec.22-Jan.19): The best way to ensure harmony among your associates is to stay in the background and let the others have their say. Curb the inclination to assert yourself. Romance is chancy.

AQUARIUS(Jan.20-Feb.18): Business associates will be cooperative, but family members could be antagonistic. Plan for your financial future; consult experts. Relatives may be critical of the way you handle money matters.

PISCES(Feb.19-March 20): A domestic argument could develop. Diplomacy is your strongest ally. If your vitality is low, a change of diet could be indicated. Be more receptive to a loved one's ideas.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor	George Austin
Copy Editor	Chris Muther
Layout Technician	Rick Seto
Photo Technician	Joel Solomon
Production Supervisor	Terry Starmer
Typesetter	Arnold Salvati
Production	Rick Seto, Nessa Richman, Steve Fadden, Mike Scott WareWolf

THIRD WORLD AFFAIRS

A new page for a new age

Welcome back from Spring Break.

Recently there have been rumblings of discontent about the supposedly inflammatory nature of articles that have been appearing on this page. Desires have been expressed to impose some kind of censorship on the content and style of the articles we print, and to make them conform to the accepted style of 'objectivity' in the Collegian and the mass media.

We strongly object. We completely dissociate the term 'objectivity' from the kind of coverage reported in the US media or in the Collegian. The US media is one of the most subtly powerful means of social control ever devised. It has done a chillingly efficient job of making its viewers, listeners, and readers some of the most politically ignorant, apathetic, and misinformed people on this planet. Some truths have been hidden, other truths have been distorted, and lies have been fabricated to create an extremely ethnocentric, shallow, and fictitious view of the Third World, in the minds of people.

The rabid ramblings of some disenchanted Third World students? Not at all. Those of you who go beyond the media for information or who attended the recent informative presentation, "Behind the Electronic Curtain," by Harry Mattison of Time magazine, probably have your own opinion of the worth of the US media.

Madanmohan Rao

Examples.

Nicaragua. The media made almost no mention of the Sandinistas' constructive social and economic programs, or the fact that unlike US clients in that region, the Sandinistas did not slaughter their own population.

A picture of the Red Cross burning the dead and rotting bodies of some Sandinista soldiers was mis-captioned as the Sandinistas burning Misquito Indians. Fake stories were circulated of brutal massacres carried out by the Sandinistas in the villages. In the recent elections, the US media hailed as a 'victory to democracy' what was actually a sad testimony to the bloody power of US-sponsored political and economic warfare.

El Salvador. The story of the US nuns raped and killed in El Salvador was mentioned only in the passing by the New York Times. We don't see any pictures of the bombed University of El Salvador (which, incidentally, is a sister university of UMass), the murdered students, or of soldiers chopping up bodies with machetes. Yet this, the media explains, is the "democracy" that is being supported by US tax-dollars.

Panama. Did the coverage of the Rambo-style invasion of Panama mention any violation of international law? Or of the casualties inflicted on innocent Panamanian slum dwellers?

Similarly, the carnage, destruction and human rights violations following US interventions or subversive aid in the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Guatemala, Brazil, and Chile, often in the interests of US-owned enterprises, were made to fit into the media's notion of a 'general program of international goodwill.'

More examples.

Africa. Have you wondered why so much of the coverage on Africa is about AIDS, voodoo, famine, wildlife, and black-on-black violence? Why is there no coverage on the overt US support for the brutal rebels of UNITA in Angola, or RENAMO in Mozambique?

The Middle East. Notice how Arabs are almost consistently portrayed either as irrational nomadic savages or villainous terrorists? In contrast with this dehumanising and despicable image, the US's ally Israel is portrayed in a favorably heroic light.

Thanks to the immensely powerful Israeli lobby here in the US, Israel has been granted immunity from press criticism for events like its premeditated attack on the USS Liberty during the Arab-Isaeli conflict in 1967 (where scores of US sailors were massacred by Israeli bombers and gunboats), or its continued violation of Palestinian rights, or its military support to ruthless Central American dictators as well as the racist South African government. Of course, any such criticism is quickly labeled "anti-Semitic."

While the taking over of the American embassy by the hostile, gun-toting Iranians is viewed as an act of war, almost no one mentions that what the US did to Iran by overthrowing Mossadegh in the CIA coup of 1953 was also an act of war and a flagrant violation of Iranian sovereignty.

Indo-China. The ideologies of Anti-Communism and US benevolence were used by the media to mobilize US citizens in suppressing indigenous movements all over Indo-China for twenty years.

Even afterwards, the media depicted these criminal acts of the state as mere blemishes in an otherwise flawless leadership. So, for instance, it was not a crime that the secret bombing of Cambodia in 1971 killed tens of thousands of innocent peasants - but it was a crime that Nixon had not duly informed Congress. Today, the media pays scant regard to US support of the genocidal Khmer Rouge, who are attempting to sieze power.

Still more examples.

The CIA. Proudly proclaimed by the media to be an indispensable intelligence gathering body, the CIA is an instrument for subversion, covert military operations, toppling of governments, and training death squads in the Third World.

Foreign Aid. The media paints a rosy picture of the US as a benevolent nation handing out billions of dollars worth of aid to the needy Third World. But little coverage is given to the ways in which aid is used to blackmail Third World countries, keep them permanently in a state of debt, and support totalitarian proxies.

Examples right here.

Covert actions are not limited to the Third World. They are directed right here in the US against all kinds of activists - Puerto Rican independentistas, the Black Panther Party, the Nation of Islam, the pro-Jackson Black leadership, and the Native American resistance. The media, of course, often labels these elements as 'terrorists' and 'threats to national security.'

Examples from campus.

The Collegian itself. For two years we have noticed slanted, racist editorials, offensive cartoons, and propaganda passed off as news.

Need any more examples?

None of this should really come as a surprise. History has provided overabundant testimony to the fact that in the case of imperialism, the citizens of the imperial power are always the last to know or even care about the plight of oppressed people.

In this day and age, the media plays a crucial role in spreading this stifling blanket of ignorance and apathy. The first casualties of the US media are truth and historical facts. Hence the importance of alternative sources of information, even for this paper. Hence the necessity of the Third World Affairs page.

There are some Third World students not caught up in the US rat-race who refuse to take a back seat to outright Orwellian mind-control and consider it our right and duty to present on this page what we honestly feel about our countries and certain US policies. But to do so necessarily entails distancing ourselves from those notions of "objectivity" which characterize the mainstream media, and papers like the Collegian.

To quote Mattison: "Which side of the electronic curtain do you live on?" We ask you: "Which side of the electronic curtain do you want to live on?"

Welcome back from Spring Break.

Madanmohan Rao is a UMass student.

Namibia triumphs!

March 21, 1990 heralded the birth of the world's newest independent nation-Namibia. The 160th member of the United Nations is located in Southern Africa, has 1.3 million people, and is blessed with rich reserves of uranium, diamonds and precious metals.

Greed attracted Europeans to Namibia in the form of rapacious German and South African colonizers. Germany looted Namibia from 1884 to 1915, when they were elbowed out by the Afrikaner Master Race, who enslaved the people, tapped the uranium for their atomic arsenal, and brutally crushed dissent with death squads bearing names like Koevoet (crowbar) and the White Wolves.

The independence ceremony was rich in symbolism. Sam Nujoma, the guerilla leader of the South West African People's Organization stood by Nelson Mandela and Fidel Castro, as the blue, red, green and gold Namibian colors replaced the apartheid colors (white with blue and orange added as flavor) as South Africa's De Klerk looked on impassively.

Pratip Dastidar

The ceremony was timed to coincide with the 30th anniversary of the Sharpeville Massacre of 1960 in South Africa, leaving little room for doubt about the location of the next anti-colonial struggle in Black Africa. The only country not invited to the party was Israel, because of its military links to South Africa, and its repression of Palestinians.

Perhaps the time has come to let the proverbial cat out of the bag, and reconstruct the events leading to this momentous day. In 1977, the UN and five leading Western nations attempted to negotiate Namibian independence. South Africa replied in May 1978 with the massacre of 700 Namibian refugees in the camp of Kassanga in South Angola in May 1978. A bloody civil war raged in neighboring Angola between US backed rebels and the Angolan government. South Africa decided that the time had come to smash the Angolans, and moved 9000 troops backed by armor and air support from Namibia into Southern Angola in an operation code named "Modular."

Unfortunately for the South Africans, the globe has shrunk. Young combat hardened members of two elite Cuban combat divisions (Castro and Guevara) awaited them. The historic battle of Cuito Cuanavale commenced in April 1988. The brave heroes of apartheid, who excel at bombing refugee camps and policing townships, were roundly defeated. Hundreds of Afrikaners returned in body bags, and two black battalions mutinied. South African troops fled in terror, as Cuban MIGs strafed them. South Africa's bluff had been called. The Cubans had "constructively engaged" them.

South Africa suddenly decided to amicably negotiate with Angola and Cuba, and signed a treaty called the Geneva Accords in August 1988. The Afrikaners agreed to grant Namibia independence as called for in UN Resolution 435. In return, Cuba agreed to withdraw its troops from Namibia, and try to keep SWAPO forces north of the 16th parallel. SWAPO leaders were not included in the negotiation process.

The cease-fire was implemented on April 1st, 1989, All Fools Day. SWAPO guerillas moved from Angola to join up with units in Namibia and defer to the authority of UN military observers. The South African Army, which was also supposed to report to UN monitored bases and stay confined, launched a savage attack on the lightly armed SWAPO fighters as well as hundreds of unarmed civilians. The hopelessly inadequate UN forces under Indian general Prem Chand, silently witnessed the slaughter.

Namibia has been born in blood. The blood of SWAPO fighters, civilians, Angolans and Cubans. The US media cynically overlooked the greatest military defeat of the apartheid regime...but that story is better addressed elsewhere on this page.

"As of today we are masters of the pastoral land of our ancestors" said President Nujoma. Well, almost. South Africa still controls the vital naval base at Walvis Bay in South Namibia. After all, US fleets refuel and refit there...

The penultimate step in the direct anti-colonial struggle of Black Africa has been won by the brave Namibians. Ghana was first.
South Africa will be the last.

"DO I HAVE A CASE?"

The attorneys at your Legal Services Center (L.S.C.) can answer fee-paying UMass students' questions on a variety of legal problems, including:

housing, criminal, University-related problems, civil rights, consumer, labor relations, personal injury, and family law.

The L.S.C. is funded by student fees, and has been offering free legal services to fee-paying UMass students for over a decade.

"DO I NEED A LAWYER?"

The Legal Services Center is your first source of law-related assistance. Whether you need information, advice or referral, call 545-1995 for an appointment.

Located in Room 922 of the Campus Center, the Legal Services Center is handicapped-accessible, and is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Georgia Tech edges Minnesota

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dennis Scott, Kenny Anderson and Brian Oliver scored all but four of Georgia Tech's points Sunday as the Yellow Jackets beat Minnesota 93-91 in the Southeast Regional final and earned their fits trip to the Final Four.

Scott scored 40 points, Anderson 30 and Oliver 19 to give the Atlantic Coast Conference its second team in the Final Four at Denver next weekend.

Georgia Tech (28-6) will meet the winner of Sunday's West Regional final between UNLV and Loyola Marymount on Saturday in one of the national semifinal games.

Duke, the East Regional champion and the other ACC team still alive in the tournament, will meet Arkansas, the Midwest Regional champion, in the other semifinal.

Sixth-seeded Minnesota (23-9) was the last of a record seven Big Ten in the field of 64, but the Golden Gophers fell short in their first appearance in the round of eight.

Minnesota had a chance to win but Kevin Lynch's 3-point attempt from the side missed at the buzzer.

Georgia Tech, the region's fourth seed, took the lead for good at 84-83 with 3:50 to play on two free throws by Oliver.

Scott added two free throws 15 seconds later.

Lynch made one free throw for Minnesota before Anderson hit a 3-pointer with 2:55 left and Georgia Geach led 89-84. Anderson kept the Yellow Jackets' alive Friday with a disputed jumper at the buzzer to force Michigan State into overtime.

Willie Burton, who led the Golden Gophers with 35 points, hit a 3-pointer to get Minnesota within two with 2:19 left.

Oliver was called for an offensive foul to give Minnesota the ball back with 58 seconds to play.

Lynch was fouled with 35 seconds to play and made just one.

Oliver made two free thrown with 31 seconds left and Anderson made two more for a 93-88 lead with 20 seconds left.

UNLV runs past Loyola

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — UNLV outraced sentinel favorite Loyola Marymount for a spot in the Final Four on Sunday, getting 25 first-half points from Stacey Augmon in a 131-101 victory that ended the Lions' remarkable run in the NCAA tournament.

UNLV (33-5) scored its most points of the season and held the nation's highest scoring team well under its 124-point average. The Runnin' Rebels sprinted out of reach for good by reeling off 13 straight points late in the first half of the West Regional final.

Augmon, one of four Rebels with at least 20 points, finished with 33. Anderson Hunt had 30, Greg Anthony 21 and Larry Johnson 20.

The victory sends the Rebels into their third Final Four, against Southeast region champion Georgia Tech next weekend in Denver.

Loyola, meanwhile, headed home a winner in its mission to honor the memory of Hank Gathers, who collapsed in a game and died on March 4. The Lions won three emotional victories in advancing the furthest ever in the tournament in the history of the school.

Bo Kimble, the nation's top scorer, had 42 points before leaving to a thunderous ovation from the Oakland Coliseum crowd with a minute left.

But he couldn't do it alone, and the Lions couldn't overcome the loss of Gathers, last year's No. 1 scorer.

Jeff Fryer scored 21 points for Loyola. A 9 percent shooter from three-point range in the tourney, he was only 1-9 on the long shots in the first half.

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY ARTS & SCIENCE SUMMER PROGRAMS

Session I May 21–June 29
Session II July 2–August 10

New York University's Summer Programs in Arts & Science include comprehensive offerings at Washington Square—and study abroad programs in England, France, and Spain.

LIVE IN GREENWICH VILLAGE: AFFORDABLE HOUSING

Rates: $100 per session, $200 for the entire summer with 6 or more credits per session. Call for details, or send coupon.

To receive the Summer School Bulletin and for further information, send this coupon to:

Arts & Science Summer Programs
New York University
6 Washington Square North
New York, New York 10003

or call: (212) 998-8170

Name ____
Address ____
City ____
State ____ Zip code ____
Telephone ____
Area of interest: ____

Undergraduate study ☐ Graduate study ☐

New York University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity institution.

UMASS MUSIC THEATRE GUILD
PRESENTS

A CHORUS LINE

MARCH 25, 26, 27 & 28 8:00 P.M.
FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

TICKETS ARE AVAILABLE AT THE
FAC BOX OFFICE 545-2511,
ON THE CAMPUS CENTER CONCOURSE,
AND AT THE DOOR

$3 STUDENTS
$5 GENERAL ADMISSION

Presented Last Year's
EVITA and WEST SIDE STORY

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30,FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS ASSOCIATION
General meeting Tues. 3/27 7PM CC803
Open to all students.

THE RADICAL STUDENT UNION helps students mobilize for world social and economic equality, peace and disarmament. Check office at SU 413A

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ARE YOU CONCERNED about human rights across the globe? Come to Amnesty International meeting, March 27, 5:30 PM, Campus Center 903.

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

 DON'T MISS OUT ******
Indian Students Association
Meeting
Tonight
At: 7:00 PM
Venue: Campus Center Room 163
Agenda: a) Election of Office Bearers
b) India Nite '90 plans
Also: A Hindi movie

WE SCREENPRINT YOUR DESIGN or message on T-shirts, sweats, boxers...At low prices and fast delivery. "Call us collect" Connecticut Advertising 203-668-1158.

WIN A HAWAIIAN VACATION or big screen TV plus raise up to $1,400 in just 10 days!!!
Objective: Fundraiser
Commitment: Minimal
Money: Raise $1,400
Cost: Zero investment
Campus organizations, clubs, frats, sororities call OCMC: 1-800-932-0528 1-800-950-8472 ext. 10

APARTMENT SPECIAL

A LIMITED TIME ONLY, Northwood Apts. is offering a 2 Bdr. apt. for the price of a 1 Bdr. For more information on this special offer, please call Lanice at 665-3856. Rent an apt. for March and receive $100.00 off our first months rent. We have student short term leases and free bus service every 15 minutes on weekdays to UMASS and Amherst. (Available to new residents only)

AUTO FOR SALE

$1,000'S SAVED! Government seized/surplus vehicles. Low as $100! BMW, Cadillac, Mercedes. Call now for more information 1-318-828-4989. Ext G1283 24 Hours

1983 MAZDA GLC, Great condition, 4D/FWD. $650-Must sell. James 253-3602

"ATTENTION - Government seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. A 7627."

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club Today! Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR RENT

MARTHA'S VINEYARD Oak Bluffs Tivoli Inn Bed and Breakfast. Reasonable rates, convenient location, charming rooms. 508-693-7928.

FOR SALE

HORSEBACK RIDING BOOTS
Great condition, 8regL.
$50, call 546-6232

FOUND

FOUND IN CAMPUS CENTER: Patagonia jacket. Call to ID 367-2112

HAPPY BIRTHDAY DAWN

MARCH 26, 1990 is Dawn Pierce's 21st Birthday! Congratulations Dawn, enjoy yourself!

 LEGAL INTERNSHIPS **

FALL 1990 INTERNSHIPS with the Legal Services Center; get hands-on experience in the legal field--work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits. No experience in the legal profession necessary--training provided. Apply early! Contact Legal Services today: 545-1995, 922 Campus Center. Start the application process now!

HELP WANTED

"ATTENTION: Earn Money Reading Books! $32,000/year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. Bk 7627."

D.P. DOUGH IS HIRING counter help and delivery persons. Downtown Amherst, apply in person after 2:00

EARN $300 TO $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B281

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SMALL VERMONT CAMP for girls, seeks committed counselors in horsemanship, watersports, photography, wilderness trips and more. Sherry Osborn, Camp Catherine Capers, 25 Shawmut Ave., Apt. UM, Wayland, MA 01778 (508)650-1866

THERE'S A JOB FOR YOU IN A SUMMER CAMP
The American Camping Association (NY) will make your application avail. to over 300 camps in the Northeast. Exciting opportunities for college students and professionals. Positions avail: all land and water sports, kitchen, maintenance, arts and crafts, drama, music, dance, nature, tripping, R.N.'s, M.D.s College Credit Available. Call or write for application. American Camping Association, 12 West 31st Street, New York, NY 10001, 1-800-777-CAMP.

WIN $200 +
Design a "Cross Training" Athletic Shoe. Call Neil-Collect evenings 617-599-5686

PAINTING, PAPERHANGING, POWERWASHING

A SPRING SPRUCE UP FOR YOUR HOME.
Painting-interior & exterior-, wallpapering; powerwashing for your wooden or vinyl homes - They'll look like new-
Call after 5, or weekends anytime. Fully insured, reasonable rates - Frank 1-413-467-3465 Granby

PERSONALS

JEN C. You're the best little sister ever! I'm so happy you picked Sigma Kappa! Love Beth

THANK YOU St. Jude MB

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

LOOKING FOR FEMALE for 2 bedroom Apt in Southwood Apts., Sunny, next to bus stop, fully equipped kitchen, 1½ bathrooms, new carpet, great place, more info call 546-7354

SERVICES

DOES YOUR PROSPECTIVE CAREER HAVE POTENTIAL? Earnings, working conditions, educational requirements, employment outlook analyzed. For FREE Sample Career Packet phone (315) 253-4794. Leave name and mailing address on machine.

RESUMES! I will do your resumes for $10 to $30 less than the local print shops! Call me evenings! Rick 586-1642

TOMMY BRYANT

GIGGLEPUSS HAPPY 20TH
Have a great Birthday!
You're my one and only!
Love, Andrea

TRAVEL

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

TYPING

FAST ACCURATE TYPING
Spell Check $1.75/pg
Call Ashley at 546-6756

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

RECYCLE PAPER
Recy
cle.

SPORTS

Women's gymnastics second in A-10's

Marshall wins all-around, Mitchell Coach-of-Year

The University of Massachusetts women's gymnastics team picked up its best-ever finish in the Atlantic 10 Conference meet, placing second Saturday night at the Curry Hicks Cage.

The Minutewomen finished second to Penn State University, which has won every A-10 meet since competition began in 1983. The Lady Lions had a winning team score of 187.45, followed by the Minutewomen's 184.9. West Virginia University was third with 183.1.

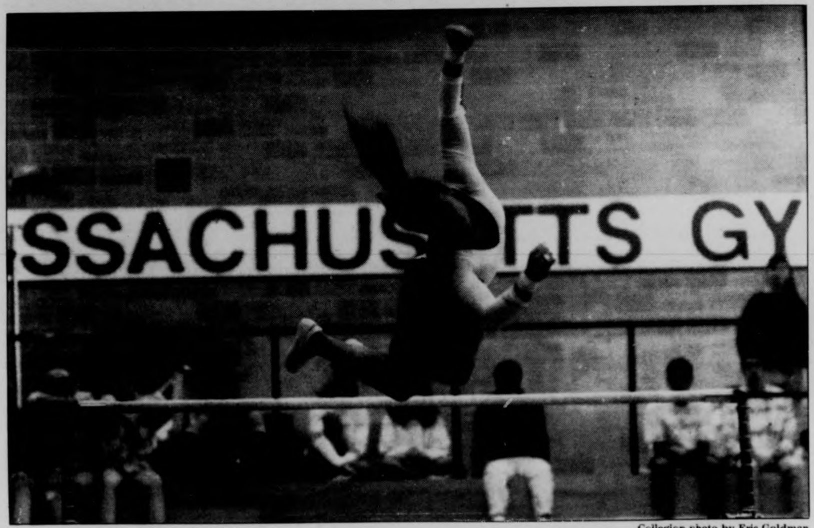
But there were plenty of honors for UMass, despite the bridesmaid finish. Freshman Tammy Marshall won the all-around competition with an impressive 37.80, scoring 9.5 on both the balance beam and vault, 9.45 on the floor exercise and 9.3 on the uneven bars.

Also, UMass coach Alfie Mitchell was named A-10 Coach-of-the-Year after leading the team to a 13-2 record in the regular season. UMass also reached the 180-point barrier for the first time in school history and broke the school point record in their last six meets.

Senior Kristin Turmail, who finished fifth overall with a 36.9 score, was named the best all-around gymnast in the A-10. Turmail set an A-10 championship meet record Saturday in winning the vault with a score of 9.75.

Erika Baxter also grabbed an individual championship, placing first in the uneven bars with a 9.55. Baxter was fourth in the all-around with a score of 37.05.

Following West Virginia in the team competition was Temple, with 178.35, and then Rutgers (178.15), George Washington (176.25) and Rhode Island (175.65).



Collegian photo by Eric Goldman

The women's gymnastics team placed second in the Atlantic 10 Championship meet which was held Saturday night at the Curry Hicks Cage.

Spring Break wrap-up

Gorillas win first two, baseball 3-5 in Florida

Spring got off to a solid start for several University of Massachusetts sports teams.

The University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team surprised no one by jumping out to a 2-0 start. The Gorillas traveled to Arizona and took the Cactus Circuit by storm with a 27-8 win over the University of Arizona and a 28-7 win over Whittier College.

The baseball team trekked to the Sunshine State last week, returning with a 3-5 record. Victories came against William Paterson, Alabama-Birmingham (10 innings) and Rider.

The women's lacrosse team had a 10-6 win over Hofstra and lost to Maryland, 15-4. The Gazelles also played Maryland-Baltimore County and yesterday faced Loyola (Md.), but results were not available from those games.

The softball team visited another part of the country, California, facing some of the more powerful competition in the land. Complete results were also unavailable.

Also, the men's gymnastics team was winding up its season this weekend at the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League meet at Temple University. The Minutemen were in fifth place entering last night's action.

For more detailed results from Spring Break action, check the Collegian tomorrow.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

The UMass baseball team returned from a Spring Break trip to Florida with a record of 3-5.

NCAA Tournament rundown

Upsets rock first rounds, contest looks interesting

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

Welcome back to HoopContest IV, brought to you by Karate Health and Fitness.

Prior to Spring Break, we were remiss in filling in a couple of important details on our contest extravaganza. Surely you were all worried about it last week while you were baking your brains on the sand in Daytona.

Anyway, for those who have been wondering, here is the scoring system. In the past, we were never able to settle on a proper way to score the contest, and people felt obliged to offer their opinions. Well, tough. This is the way it's going to be.

The fairest way to do it is to have 32 possible points available in each round. So, each first round game is worth one point, second round games two, and so on up to the championship game, will will rack up 32 points if you pick the winner. Thus, it seems unlikely that anyone can win the contest without picking the national champ.

Now, chief among all priorities, is the prizes. Or shall we say, prize. Yep, this year the powers-that-be have decided to go with a winner-take-all. Courtesy of Karate Health and Fitness, there will be a three-month health and fitness membership, which includes nautilus and aerobics (value $125).

Now that the administrative stuff has been cleared up, let's delve into what has transpired since Mar. 15.

As usual, the people who enter the contest consult their bookies, their Street and Smith magazines and handicap the tournament as if their are pouring over the Racing Form. Ah, picking the winner is an exact science. But for all the Einsteins in the world, there is always some reckless guy named Newby who comes crashing in and knocks over all the lab equipment.

In the first round, we got treated to the wonders of Northern Iowa and Dayton. Second round games brought more surprises from Ball State, Loyola-Marymount (149 points? Oy.) and North Carolina (preached this one all week — can't help it if no one listened).

After all the shockers came the heart-stoppers of the Sweet 16. For someone who had Georgia Tech and UConn in the championship game, there was major cardiac arrest last weekend seeing the magic of Tate George and Kenny Anderson (nuts and bolts, nuts and bolts, Michigan State got screwed).

Minnesota blew out Syracuse by seven for the yawner of the weekend. Who'da thunk LMU could see its point production slashed by 87 points in one game, and still win? Even though his team lost, Alabama's Wimp Sanderson (he of major league mean scowl) had one of the best coaching jobs (22-21 at the half?).

As of this writing, the best bet may be the New Jersey Devils, Durham-version. Duke, which has made the Final Four four times in the last five years, all off the ugly parquet of Brendan Byrne Arena, may finally take it all.

What's up in sports this week

What's on tap for UMass sports this week:

Today:

Tomorrow:
Baseball vs. Connecticut, 3 p.m.

Wednesday:
Men's lacrosse at Cornell, 3:30 p.m.
Women's lacrosse at Yale, 3 p.m.

Thursday:
Baseball vs. Siena, 3 p.m.

Friday:
Women's lacrosse vs. Brown, 3:30 p.m.

Softball at Connecticut Tourney (Penn State, 9:30 a.m.; UConn 11 a.m.)

Saturday:
Men's lacrosse vs. St. John's, 1 p.m.
Baseball vs. St. Joseph's (2), noon
Softball at Conncecticut Tourney (North Carolina 11 a.m.; Princeton 4 p.m.)

Sunday:
Baseball vs. St. Joseph's (2), noon

TUESDAY

WEATHER

Get ready for another cool day with winds gusting and temps in the low 40s.

NEWS

UMass Professor Ervin Staub discusses his recent book on genocide. Page 3.

BLACK AFFAIRS

Psychologist Na'Im Akbar urges African-Americans to focus on their identity. Page 13.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY TUESDAY, MARCH 27, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 35

Candidate questions SGA election

Recount of presidential ballots shows Diephuis remains winner; Silveria promises to protest

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

An automatic recount of the results from the Student Government Association President elections March 13 took place last night reaffirmed victory for Natasha Diephuis.

According to Chapter 10 of the SGA constitution and bylaws, a recount is necessary when one candidate's margin of victory over another is less then 10 votes.

Final results of the presidential elections available March 15, showed that Diephuis (1,094) defeated John Silveria (1,090) in the presidential race. Ken Parker took third place (342), followed by write-in candidate Tim Smith (8).

The margin of victory was slightly different last night: Diephuis (1,063); Silveria (1,002); Parker (365). Jeff Turco, co-chair of the Elections Committee said: "Trustee ballots did not need to be re-done [according to Chapter 10] because the margin was much larger."

The initial recount showed a large discrepancy in the number of votes Silveria received versus the first count on March 15, so the four members of SGA counting ballots chose to tally the ballots a third time, which were taken as final results.

John Dunlap, speaker of the SGA; Turco; Ross Condit, chair of the Governmental Affairs Committee; and Dan Chesnicka, speaker-elect of the SGA recounted the ballots.

Turco said Silveria has filed a protest, which will be presented to the senate body at tomorrow's meeting. As stated in the SGA constitution, they will decide whether there is enough cause to warrant a re-election.

Silveria had strong reaction to the second count.

"I'd like to know why their first figures were so far off. I am protesting the entire election, both the trustee and the president," he said. "The election committee tried to get Bob [Monaghan] and I kicked off the election. If they spent more time trying to organize a good election, I can safely say none of this would have happened."

Diephuis said: "I am excited, but it's too bad it's taken two weeks to get it over. It will disturb me if [Silveria] asks for a protest. A lot of people put a lot of effort into this campaign for it to happen all over again."

UMass community speaks out over illegal solicitors

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts employees and students said yesterday that they are both pleased and relieved that the unlicensed group of men who illegally solicit funds in Amherst have left town, saying the unidentified men were persistent and abrasive when attempting to collect money.

UMass student Robert Carruth said he gave loose change to these men at times to "get them off his back."

He said he noticed people crossing the street to avoid being approached by these men.

"I wish that I would have known to have asked them for a license," Carruth said. "It bothers me that I gave them money that wasn't going to anything."

Some students said the men inappropriately approached them by referring to their appearence or gender.

Billy Curtis, a UMass graduate student, said when the solicitors asked him for money, they would try to flatter him because he is black.

"He was talking to me like I'm supposed to stop and talk to him because we are both black," Curtis said. "But I don't stop for panhandlers who appeal to me for money because I'm black."

Michelle Companion, a UMass undergraduate, said they approached her in different ways depending on who she was with at the time.

"If I was walking with a man they would say 'What a charming couple!' but if I was with another woman, they would say something like 'Hey, pretty ladies' or 'My, what a pretty dress,' " Companion said.

Renee Heberle, a UMass graduate student, said the solicitors were friendly and open when they approached her, but were at times "a little obnoxious."

"It wasn't anything threatening or serious, but they would call 'You look like an very intelligent woman, come on over here,' " Heberle said.

A University employee who chose not to be identified said he always thought the solicitors were legitimate because they carried a portfolio which contained a paper that resembled a permit.

Joesph Diverti, a UMass student, said after the solicitor "flashed a note pad at him with a bunch of small print on it," he asked him what organization he represented.

"He said he was from 'The Black Students of America' but he looked old like he was in his late 30s or early 40s," Diverti said.

"I'm just glad that they're gone," said Jorge Gomez, a UMass employee.

The police investigation began March 16 when a Collegian investigation revealed that the charities were not legally registered with the attorney general's office.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

Collegian photo by John Woo

DAB — Sarah Shubert, a senior painting and graphic design major works on a piece in the Fine Arts Center.

Danger of hate graffiti emphasized

Experts examine the meaning of hostile graffiti

By DARREN GARNICK
Collegian Staff

(Part two of a three-part series on anonymous hate graffiti on campus.)

Campus educators say that racist, homophobic and anti-Semitic graffiti at the University of Massachusetts should not be dismissed as a harmless prank.

Yehudit Heller, the program director of UMass Hillel, said although there is nothing inherently dangerous about graffiti itself, it can be used to "vandalize innocent people."

Even more disturbing, she said, is when the community is "desensitized" to hate graffiti and reacts to it with indifference.

"The Nazi swastika symbolized the most evil, racist, corrupt, anti-human thing that ever happened to society," she said. "Yet, when it is painted on the side of a building, it is brushed off as just a bunch of kids having fun."

"When people use words and symbols like tomatoes and cucumbers in a salad, they don't mean anything anymore. [Swastikas and ethnic slurs] are treated like an everyday thing," Heller said.

"It should scare the hell out of us," she said.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

Scrawls of HATE.

Collegian Graphic by Amy Walsh

Women's Forum

Wednesday, March 28

Mademoiselle Magazine — They will be putting on a fashion show, sharing beauty news, and discussing "real life" scenarios such as blind dates and work-to-weekend style. They also will be giving out free beauty packets, door prizes, and Sea Breeze non-alcoholic drinks. The event will be in the campus center auditorium from 7 p.m.to 8 p.m.

Tuesday, April 3

Benefit — For the Everywoman's Center and Necessities/Necesidades a battered women's center of Northampton.

Itabari Njeri a writer for the Los Angeles Times and a professional singer and actress will be reading from her book "Every Good-bye Ain't Gone: Family Portraits and Personal Escapades." The Jeffery Amherst Bookshop will donate 10 percent of sales from Nijeri's book that evening. It will be held at the UMass memorial hall at 7:30 p.m.

Friday, April 6

Breaking Silences: an abortion speak-out — Women who have had abortions, illegal and legal, will talk about their experiences at 7:30 p.m. For more information call 549-4600 x682, x645, or x719.

Saturday, April 7

Introduction to massage — The class will focus on tips for stress management and relief of tension. Joanne Totino, certified massage therapist and accupressurist will facilitate the workshopIt will run from 10 a.m.-12 p.m. in room 204 of Wilder Hall. . The deadline to register is 3/30. Sign up is limited to the first 12 women who register. To register call the Everywoman's Center at 545-0883. Loose clothing should be worn.

Speaking out for reproductive freedom — Activists will talk at 9 a.m.-12 p.m. about a range of reproductive right's issues both internationally and in the United States. For more information call 549-4600 x682, x645, or x719.

Friday and Saturday, April 13, 14

Sleeveless Theatre — Presents Terry Baum, San Francisco actress and author of the the play "Dos Lesbos." She will be the only actress in "One Fool, or How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Dutch." Tickets are $7. For reservations, call the Sleeveless Theatre at 253-9129.

Announcements

Local writer, Leslea Newman will be offering 3 new writing workshops for women this spring. "Write From the Heart," is a workshop focusing on women who want to write but think they have nothing to say, or women who know they have something to say but aren't sure how to say it. "Poems from the Heart," is a workshop for inexperienced as well as experienced writers. "What are you eating/What's Eating You," is a workshop focusing on body image, eating paterns and relating to food. All workshops begin April 23rd and last eight weeks. For more information, call 584-3865.

Hampshire college is hosting several events about reproductive freedom. "The Fight for Abortion Rights and Reproductive Freedom," a conference focusing on a range of reproductive right's issues. It will be held at Hampshire College, Friday, April 6, through Sunday, April 8, in Franklin Patterson hall. Featured speakers will be an Indian feminist economist, a strike coordinator from Eastern Airlines Flight Attendant's Union, and an activist for the Asian-American community. The conference is free and open to the public. Free childcare and housing are available by advance registration. For more information call 549-4600 x682, x645, and x719.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

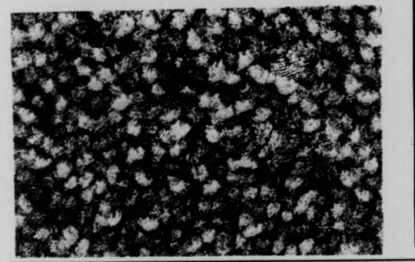
STAFF

Editor in Chief	Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor	George Austin
Editorial Editor	Minu Sebastian
News Editor	Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor	Jim Clark
Arts Editors	Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor	Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor	Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor	Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor	Chris Muther
Business Manager	Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager	Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager	Martina Rios
Circulation Manager	Chris Baker
Subscription Manager	Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager	Donna Cusson
Production Managers	Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager	Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

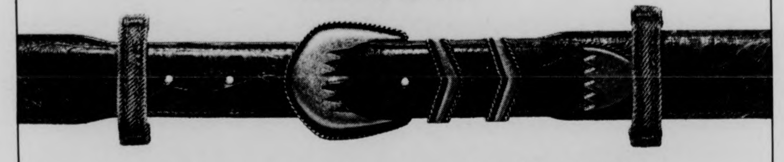
Business	Lori Black, Brian Harrington Maureen Majerowski
Graphics	Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.



Collegian photo by Jason Danziger

DON'T LOOK A GIFT HORSE IN THE MOUTH — Patrol person John Sawyer introduces his better half, Seba, to Heidi Wakeman, a '91 STPEC student.



Look out below

It's time you gave yourself a GSE™

If you're sexually active, you should know about the GSE. GSE stands for genital self-examination. It's a simple examination you can give yourself to check for any signs or symptoms of a sexually transmitted disease. Send for your free GSE Guide today. Because when it comes to sexual relationships, there are some important things to look out for.

To receive your free GSE Guide, simply fill out and return the coupon or call, toll-free, 1-800-234-1124.

Sponsored by Burroughs Wellcome Co. in conjunction with the American Academy of Dermatology, the American Academy of Family Physicians, the American College of General Practitioners in Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery, the American College Health Association, the American Osteopathic Association, and the American Social Health Association.

Copr. © 1989 Burroughs Wellcome Co. All rights reserved.

For your free GSE Guide, fill out this coupon and mail to: GSE, P.O. Box 4088, Woburn, MA 01888-4088

Name (please print)

Address

City State ZIP

☐ English version ☐ Spanish version

Are you over 18 years of age? ☐ Yes ☐ No

CN

Family, Friends, and Lovers of People with AIDS

A presentation for people coping with a family member, lover, or a friend with AIDS.

Facilitators: Debra Edelman, Health Educator; UHS Health Education
Lisa Halpern, Social Work Intern, UHS Mental Health

Date: March 29, Thursday
Time: 6:30-8:30 p.m.
Place: University Health Center, Room 304

For more information, call the Health Education office and ask for Debbie at 549-2671, ext. 181.

LOCAL

UMass Prof. examines genocide in new book

Psychology Professor Ervin Staub discusses his book "The Roots of Evil"

By LAVINIA GAMMON
Collegian Correspondent

Mass killing and genocide are the topics of a University of Massachusetts psychology professor's most recent book titled, "The Roots of Evil: The Origins of Genocide and other Group Violence."

Ervin Staub delves into the mentality behind genocide. He attempts to explain how and why one race systematically murders another.

During most of his career Staub studied the history of many races to learn more about why people help and harm each other. He began compiling his findings in 1982 to write the book.

Staub concentrated on the genocides that occurred in Nazi Germany, the Cambodian killing fields, the Armenian murders and the Argentinian disappearances. He used these four events to explain his theories and conclusions.

"Genocide usually starts with severe economic problems, political confusion, violence and social disorder," Staub said. "These things give rise to intense needs that have to be dealt with. These needs include a clear sense of reality and a positive view of oneself."

Staub said "the character of a country" affects how these needs are met.

Certain societies, such as a monolithic society [one which is strongly obedient to authority] often "devalue" another race to raise their own self-worth or create a scapegoat, thus alleviating some of their own bad feelings, he said, adding that after time this person or persons is seen as the "enemy".

Through the fulfillment of these needs, Staub said an ideology arises that he calls "the better world ideology" in which a better life could be attained if the "enemy" were removed. This mentality is the "starting point to the destruction of the "enemy" Staub said. "Bystanders play a large role in [genocide]," Staub said. "They make it possible for the perpetrators to do what they do."

In Nazi Germany no one did anything to help the Jews so the Nazis thought everyone agreed with what they were doing, Staub said.

He said if people do not speak out against injustice, perpetraters would get the impression that what they were doing was right.

"We must take action in the face of evil," Staub said.

The idea of people taking action is the basis of Staub's conclusion. He said it is critical to learn "how to create a more caring and non-aggressive society."

Staub said the best way to achieve this goal is by teaching children to care for other people. He suggests in his book that schools should be designed to instill a sense of human awareness and kindness in children.

Staub said he decided to write the book for personal and humanitarian reasons.

Staub grew up in Nazi occuppied Hungary. He and his family were saved from the Nazis by people who helped them hide during the occupied years. The brave generosity of these people led Staub to ask why people help each other.

He said the humanitarian reason for writing this book is that he felt a world without genocide could not be achieved until it was understood.

Through his extensive historical and psychological research he said he understood the psychology behind genocide.

Daffodils to be sold to fight cancer

By JIM COHEN
Collegian Staff

The same people who brought you the Great American Smokeout will be selling daffodils on the Campus Center concourse today and tomorrow to raise money for research and patient services.

This is the first year the American Cancer Society will be selling flowers at the University.

"We have a double purpose in coming here," said Beverly McCaleb, the unit director for Franklin and Hampshire County. "Our mission includes increasing public awareness and raising money for the American Cancer Society."

The daffodil was chosen because it is a flower of hope and a symbol of spring, she said.

Daffodils cost $4 for a bouquet of 10, or $1 each.

This year the American Cancer Society is focussing on skin cancer. The society selects a different focus each year.

"The reason for this was because we saw a rise in skin cancer in the area, " said Daphne Moore, unit director for Greater Holyoke, Chicopee and Westfield.

"It's great to get out in the sun and get a tan, but there may be damage in 10 or 20 years, " said McCaleb.

According to an article in yesterday's Boston Globe the most deadly skin cancer, malignant melanoma, has increased by 30 percent since 1973.

An estimated 27,600 Americans will develop melanoma this year, and 6,300 will die from it, according to the article.

There are three types of skin cancer, the most dangerous being melanoma. There are a variety of reasons that cancer may develop including exposure, heredity, radiation and burn scars, said Dr. James Ratner, a dermatologist in Amherst.

Risk factors for skin cancer include having blond or red hair, having a relative who has developed some type of skin cancer, having at least three severe sunburns before age 20 and excessive outdoor exposure as a teenager, according to the Boston Globe article.

Indian Awareness Month speakers compare racism to the environment

By ALEXANDER NGUYEN
Collegian staff

There is a strong relationship between racism and the degradation of the environment, said Winona LaDuke of the Anishinabe Indian Nation.

LaDuke spoke, along with Ward Churhill, on March 16 as part of the lecture series presented by the American Indian Awareness Month at the University of Massachusetts. LaDuke is the co-founder of the Institute for Natural Progress and Women of all Red Nations.

"The environmental movement is primarily a White movement and there has been no dialogue with indigenous peoples." she said.

LaDuke traced today's environmental problem and the relationship to racism to the "European invasion" of the 1600s on the western hemisphere. She cited the differing world views of indigenous peoples and European industrial societies.

The indigenous people's world view, she said, is cyclical.

"Things are in circles, what begins now comes back to the same place, the way natural order works," LaDuke said. "Whereas European industrial society views the world as a linear line of progression from primative to civilized."

"Indigenous people only take from the land what they need," she said. "They ask the earth for permission before harvesting rice, deer, fish, and so on, and they offer something in return. This is their economy."

"Industrial society presumes that indigenous peoples have no economy, that they are primitive," LaDuke said. "Capitalism puts together labor and resources for accumulation of more than you need."

LaDuke said the indigenous people's system is a sustainable system and has been for thousands of years. They have always been in balance with the earth. Capitalism, she said, is a conquest.

"Capitalism sees indigenous people as a frontier. To maintain the system you steal from indigenous people and tell them a big lie. This big lie is racism," she said.

"Capitalism dehumanizes people to steal from them, whether they be black, red, yellow or brown," LaDuke said. "The Native American tragedy is the biggest holocaust in this continent yet it has been trivialized. No victim, no crime, no one knows what happened."

"Each generation there is more land taken from us. Farm land was needed from the east, so we were driven to Oklahoma. Then oil was found in Oklahoma, so further west we went," she said.

"Today indigenous people in this country have four percent of their original land left. There is no coincidence that there are so few of us left," LaDuke said.

People understand indigenous people from Hollywood's viewpoint, she said.

"Indigenous people think of white people everyday and white people think of indigenous people maybe once a month," she said. "Thats how marginalized and how trivialized we've become."

"There is a direct relationship between how this society treats indigenous people and how it treats the environment, and people feel guilty about what has happened," she said. "People deal with this guilt either trough hatred of indigenous people or through denial. Where we're at now we can't afford to have people sitting around feeling guilty and denying."

LaDuke said as more and more people are becoming aware of the environmental problems, the movement is in a good position to address racism.

"In order to undo one you have to undo the other," she said.

"The environment movement has not been successful in dealing with indigenous peoples," LaDuke said. "It has a tendency to seperate the two."

"A lot of attacks on the environment happen because of racism, from James Bay to the Amazon. They wouldn't flood Paris, London, or D.C. for electricity [referring to the James Bay project], but they flood the Indian's land because we are a frontier," she said.

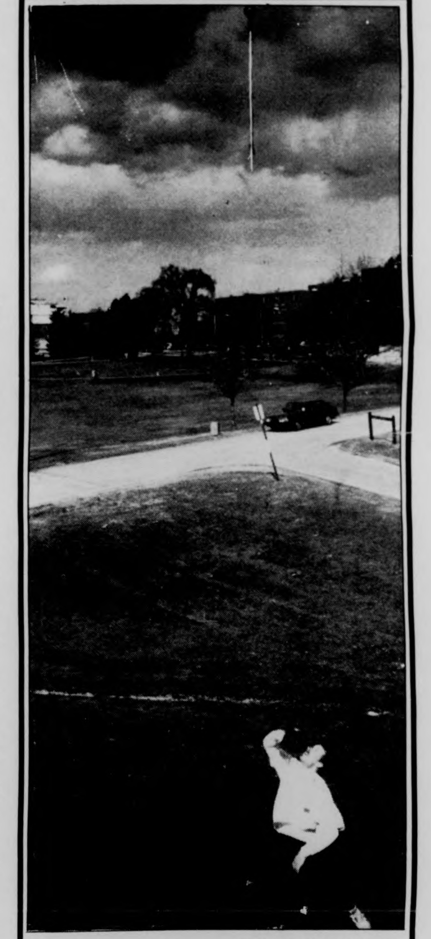
In criticizing the environmental movement, LaDuke cited the fur trade bans as an example of miscommunication and misunderstanding between the movement and indigenous peoples. These bans hurt indigenous people economically, she said.

The bans were brought about due to commercial killing and exploitation of animals. Indigenous peoples only take the amount of animals they need for survival, then they trade the fur for cash, which was forced into their economy. The bans deny them a way of making this cash.

"The environment movement must include people of color and consider their differing needs," she said.

LaDuke said capitalist society has threatened the lives of all life on earth by taking so much from it.

To save ourselves "we must learn to live in a society that is not a conquest but a survival."



Collegian photo by John Woo

I LOST IT IN THE SUN — John Curry, a senior music major, practices the baton toss outside the Fine Arts Center.

"AIDS Quilt" panel on campus

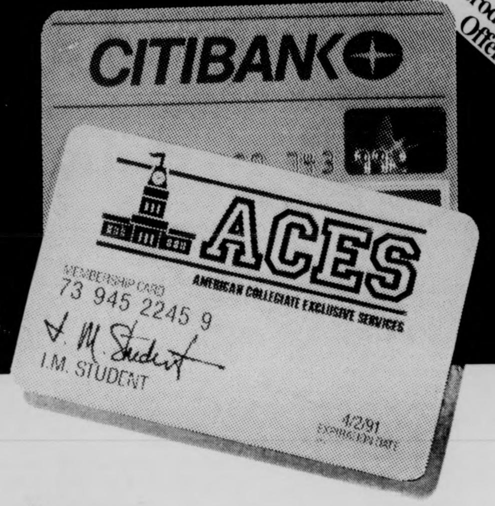
Panels of the New England AIDS Quilt are coming to campus tomorrow as part of first-day events for "Awareness Week," which promotes education about gay, lesbian, and bisexual concerns.

The panels will be on display from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. Representatives will be available from Dignilife and the Boston Names Project, which produces the panels. Members of the University Health Education Division will provide pamphlets, condoms, buttons and posters during the display.

A workshop and video, both titled "We Bring A Quilt," will follow at 8 p.m. in Campus Center room 811.

Get A Major Credit Card In Your Name

Limited Introductory Offer



PLUS...

Up To $3,000 In Savings
Up To 50% Off Discount Shopping
Cash Travel Bonus Program

WHEN YOU JOIN ACES!

ACES is a nationwide discount club for college students. As a member of ACES you will receive many time-saving and dollar-saving benefits, as well as an application from Citibank for a Citibank MasterCard or VISA Card, with credit based on your signature alone.*

As an ACES member you are entitled to: Discount Shopping—save up to 50% off respected manufacturers' list prices on over 250,000 top quality, brand name products; a National Discount Book—with over 1,000 discount offers worth more than $3,000 in savings on hundreds of national and regional services like theatres, auto rentals, lodging, meals and special attractions across the USA; and Bonus Travel—automatically entitles you to the lowest airline fares available, the convenience of a full-service travel agency, up to 15% bonus discounts on many hotel and motel stays and three ways to receive Cash Bonuses.

And, you can enjoy these benefits even without taking advantage of the credit card offer. All this for an ACES membership fee of only $14.00 a year.

ACT NOW! THE SOONER YOU JOIN, THE SOONER YOU CAN BEGIN RECEIVING THE BENEFITS OF ACES MEMBERSHIP! Introductory offer expires 4/30/90.

Money Back
Guarantee If
You Are
Not Satisfied.

ACES
AMERICAN COLLEGIATE EXCLUSIVE SERVICES

☐ YES, enroll me as a member of ACES (American Collegiate Exclusive Services) and rush my membership benefits and bank credit card application. Money back guarantee if I am not satisfied.

☐ YES, enroll me as a member of ACES so I can enjoy all the benefits, but do not send me a bank card application.

(please type or print clearly)

Your name ____________________

Home address ____________________

City ____________ State ______ Zip ______

Address at College ____________________

Street or box ____________________

City ____________ State ______ Zip ______

Phone: School ( ) ________ Home ( ) ________

Date of birth ____/____/____ Major ________ Class of 19___

$14.00 Annual Membership Fee enclosed: [ ] check [ ] money order
DO NOT SEND CASH

Bill credit card #____________ [ ] VISA [ ] MCard [ ] AmEx

Name as it appears on card ____________________

Expiration date ____________________

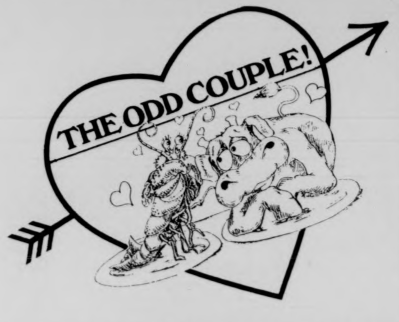
Cardholder's Signature ____________________

SEND TO: ACES
300 Frank Burr Blvd., Teaneck, New Jersey 07666
(201) 836-5920

You must be 18 or older and attending a four-year college to become a member.

____________________ Signature ________ Date

*Membership in ACES does not automatically guarantee the issuance of a credit card. Applications for bank credit cards will be considered by the issuing bank. If you are accepted, you will be billed separately by the bank for its annual cardmember fee, which is determined by the issuing bank.



THE ODD COUPLE!

■ hate graffiti

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

To Heller, the most frustrating aspect of hate graffiti is its anonymous origin.

"There's no opportunity for dialogue," she said. "You can't talk to people and explain things to them. It is like fighting ghosts."

Robert Faulkner, a UMass sociology professor, said anonymous graffiti is the perfect medium for people to publicly express their hatred at "a very low cost."

"Secrecy involves little risk," he said. "You don't have to interact with anyone."

Sherwood Thompson, director of the Office of Third World Affairs, said he believes direct communication is what hate graffiti artists want in the first place.

"I believe these individuals are sending out messages of help," he said. "They need attention drawn to their problem - their inability to relate well to people of other cultures."

Writing hate messages is "deviant behavior" and an "outgrowth of ignorance," which reflects the author's pain, Thompson said.

"These people are lonely and isolated and aren't in the mainstream on campus or in this country," he said. "We're hearing the agony of their personal defeat in life."

Felice Yeskel, coordinator of the UMass Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns, said the prevalence of hate graffiti is "indicative of underlying attitudes, prejudices and hatreds" on campus.

"It is a willful act," she said. "You don't unconsciously spray something on a wall or carve something into a desk. You have to mean it."

"I think it is hurtful to all of us. One day it's anti-gay, the next day anti-Semitic, the next day anti-African-American.

"None of us are safe. As long as we accept this and tolerate it, it makes the campus less safe," Yeskel said.

Next: approaches to combatting hate graffiti.

To assure our consistent high level of quality in processing your photos, we are the only on-premises lab in the area using

KODAK PAPER

1 Hr. Color Service Available

Same Day Service

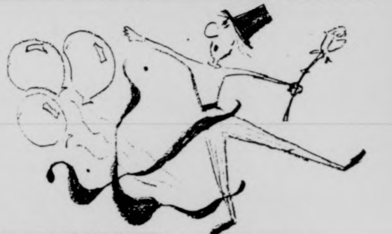
FILM IN BY 10:00 A.M. / PRINTS OUT BY 4:00 P.M.
1-HOUR SERVICE ALSO AVAILABLE

The Foto Factory

257 TRIANGLE STREET IN AMHERST
549-6490

SAFE SEX MANIAC

OOOH
BABY
BABY



Goten OF JAPAN
Rte. 116, Sunderland, MA

Cooking at your table

2 for $15
Tu-Th Special
Steak & Chicken Combo

2 for $18
Fri Special
Shrimp & Scallop Combo

Dinners Include: soup, salad, vegetable, noodles & dessert

Cocktails and Oriental Drinks
Open Tues-Sat at 5:30 pm • Sundays at 2:00 Closed Monday
413-665-3628
Reservations Welcomed

EASY TO READ RESULTS
FIRST RESPONSE
5-Minute Pregnancy Test
Results first day of missed period
1 TEST

Until you know, nothing else matters.

You've missed your period and it's all you can think about. You just want to know. The FIRST RESPONSE® Pregnancy Test is here to help.

With the FIRST RESPONSE® Pregnancy Test, you can find out if you're pregnant in five minutes any time of the day—even on the day your period is due.

It's over 99% accurate in laboratory testing and it's easy to use.

If you have any questions, call us toll-free at 1-800-367-6022.

FIRST RESPONSE
Home Diagnostic Kits

We'll put your mind at ease.

FIRST RESPONSE and the Human Figure Design are registered trademarks of Tambrands Inc., Lake Success, NY 11042 © 1990 Tambrands Inc.

Now's the time to call...

North Amherst Motors

78 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880

Expert Repairs and Reconditioning

Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

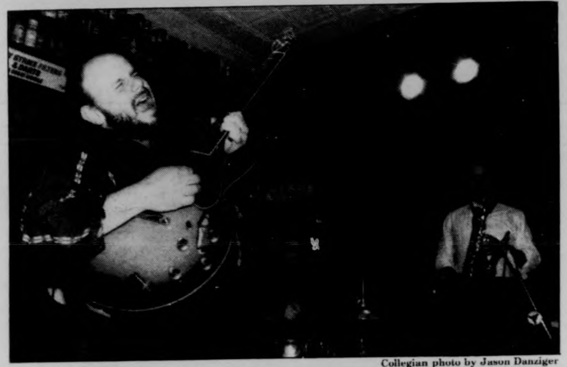
THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$338
BERLIN	438
BRUSSELS	398
VIENNA	438
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroad programs. Int'l Student ID' EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!

FREE Student Travel Catalog

Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261



Collegian photo by Jason Danziger

TWAAANG – Joe Belmont, Scott the drummer and Chuck Papert on sax jazzed up Ye Olde Watering Hole in Noho last Wednesday night in the weekly open mike ritual. Catch it. It's wicked cool.

Suspected elevator surfing reported

By PAMELA PERRAULT
Collegian Correspondent

A student getting on an elevator March 15 on the 19th floor of the Kennedy Residence Hall reported she heard someone knocking on the roof of the elevator.

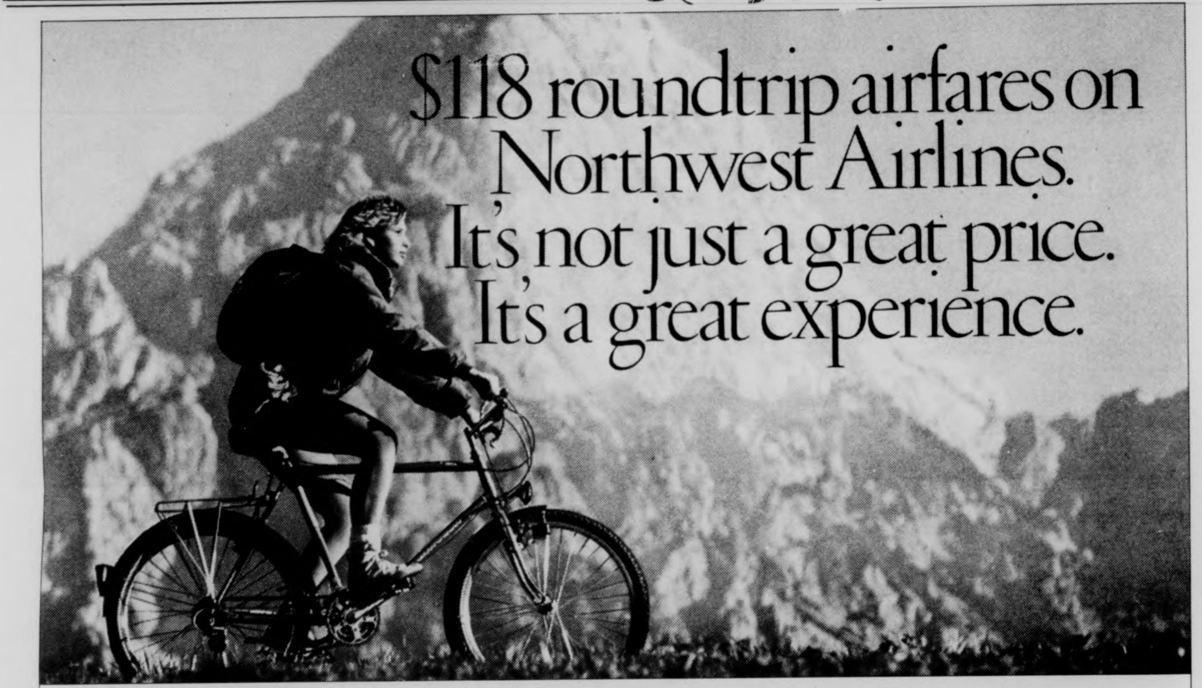
The resident assistant, police and elevator arrived to the scene. The elevator inspector rode the elevators and reported that no one was found.

In other police reports from Spring Break:

ARRESTS

- Shawn M. Prendergast, 19, of 14 Moore Residence Hall was arrested March 15 on a warrant for assault and battery with a dangerous weapon and two counts of assault and battery.
- John J. Creamer, 19, of 14 Moore Residence Hall, was arrested on a warrant for two counts of assault and battery.
- Daniel P. Driscoll, 19, of Cance Residence Hall was arrested March 15 near Washington Drive for being a minor in possession of alcohol.
- A vehicle was stopped on North Pleasant Street on March 23 for defective equipment resulted in the arrest of David L. Maillet, 34, of Palmer, for operating under the influence of alcohol.

A stop on Commonwealth Avenue on March 19 resulted in the arrest of Donald T. Robert, 29, of Springfield, for operating after suspension, an unregistered and uninsured vehicle, attaching plates and receiving stolen property.



$118 roundtrip airfares on Northwest Airlines.
It's not just a great price.
It's a great experience.

Only for student American Express® Cardmembers.

Apply for the American Express® Card. Then get ready to take off. In search of adventure, action–or just simply to escape.

American Express and Northwest Airlines have arranged these extraordinary travel privileges on Northwest–exclusively for student Cardmembers:

■ CERTIFICATES VALID FOR THE PURCHASE OF TWO $118 ROUNDTRIP TICKETS—to many of the more than 180 cities in the 48 contiguous United States served by Northwest. Each certificate is good for a six-month period, and they will arrive within six weeks after you receive the Card. Current Cardmembers will automatically receive their $118 certificates by March 15, 1990 provided they are still full time students.*

■ 10% OFF ANY NORTHWEST FLIGHT—with your own personalized discount card, valid through January 1991 on all Northwest and Northwest Airlink flights. (This discount is not applicable to the $118 student certificates and other certificates, promotional or special status airfares.)

■ 2,500 BONUS MILES TOWARDS FREE TRAVEL—when you enroll in Northwest's WorldPerks® Free Travel Program.

AND NOW BECOMING A CARDMEMBER IS AS EASY AS A TELEPHONE CALL.

Just pick up the phone, call 1-800-942-AMEX, and talk to us. We'll take your application and begin to process it immediately. (If you have your banking information handy, like your account number and bank address, it will help speed the process.)

Keep in mind that our Automatic Acceptance Program makes it easier for you to become a Cardmember now, as a student, than it will ever be again.

And remember that as a Cardmember you'll enjoy all the exceptional benefits and personal service you would expect from American Express.

So don't miss out on a world of great experiences. Pick up the phone. Apply for the Card. And start packing!

AMERICAN EXPRESS
3712
CEE PRAST

Membership Has Its Privileges®

APPLY TODAY
1-800-942-AMEX

TRAVEL RELATED SERVICES
An American Express company

NORTHWEST AIRLINES

*If you are already a student American Express Cardmember and have a question about this program, please send your written question, a copy of your student ID and class schedule to: American Express, P.O. Box 35029, Attn: Student Marketing, Greensboro, NC 27425. Fare is for roundtrip travel on Northwest Airlines. Tickets must be purchased within 24 hours after making reservations. Fares are nonrefundable and no itinerary changes may be made after purchase. Seats at this fare are limited and may not be available when you call. Travel must originate by certificate expiration date and be completed within 60 days of that date. Travel may not be available between cities to which Northwest does not have published routings. City fuel surcharges not included in fare from Boston ($2.50), Chicago ($5.00), Denver ($2.00) and Florida cities ($2.00). Certain blackout dates and other restrictions may apply. For complete offer details, call 1-800-942-AMEX. ©1990 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.

THE AMERICAN EXPRESS® CARD. FOR STUDENTS MORE THAN EVER.

THE TEXTBOOK ANNEX IS OPEN YEAR ROUND BUT TO MAKE SURE YOU GET THE BOOKS YOU NEED FOR THIS SEMESTER

BUY THEM NOW

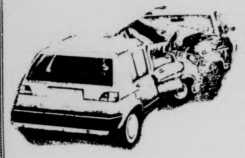
We are beginning to return unsold books to the publisher on Friday, March 30th.

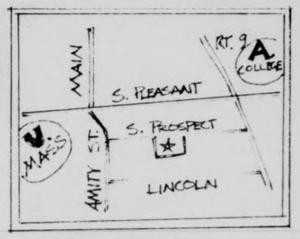
University Store's
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
Monday-Friday
9:00 am-4:00 pm
545-3570

WE NOW ACCEPT VISA AND MASTERCARD

STEINBECK COLLISION REPAIR & AUTOBODY

53 So. Prospect — Amherst Center
256-8157 256-1385





- Imports & other unibody vehicles are our specialty
- State of art equipment for precision frame and unibody straightening (+ or - ½ mm)
- Over 90 years staff experience
- Accepted by all insurance companies for collision repair or glass replacement
- Advanced European Technology Painting and Refinishing Systems

REMEMBER it's your car and your choice of repair facilities

DISTINGUISHED
FACULTY
LECTURE SERIES

You are cordially invited to attend
a special lecture by
Robert J. Ackermann
Department of Philosophy
"Philosophy of Science and Research Policy"

Hermeneutic delay suggests that the meaning and value of scientific research is often not known immediately, but only after it has been studied and criticized by other scientists, and any unexpected results have been assimilated. Thus, research which will benefit society cannot always be identified as such while it is in progress. What are the implications of this fact for research policymakers?

University of Massachusetts at Amherst
Bowker Auditorium, March 27, 1990
8 P.M.

Reception immediately following, Faculty Club

Sponsored by contributions from alumni of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst

What's the latest at the Mather Career Center?

ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWING OPPORTUNITIES
Call or visit the Scheduling Office in the Mather Career Center
to find out more info!

EMPLOYER	POSITION	MAJOR(S)	VISIT DATE	RESUME DUE
Jackson Laboratory	Research Asst.	BIOCHM, ZOOL, MICBIO, BIOLOGY	3/27	IMMEDIATLEY
Aspen Technology	Various Engineers	CSE, EE, CH E	3/28	IMMEDIATELY
Burger King Corp.	Operations Manager	ANY	3/29	IMMEDIATELY
The Gap Stores	Manager Trainee	ANY	3/29	IMMEDIATELY
Army Corps of Engineers	CE Trainee	CE	3/30	IMMEDIATELY
Bob's Store	Manager Trainee	ANY	3/30	IMMEDIATLEY
Frito Lay	Sales Associate	HRTA, FD, MKT	4/2	IMMEDIATELY
General Electric Co.	Chemist, Chemical Engineers	CHEM, CH E	4/2	IMMEDIATELY
Celmic Corp.	Environmental Lab Technician	CHEM, ENV SCI PHYSICAL SCIENCES	4/5	IMMEDIATELY
Parlex Corp.	Product Engineer	ME, ME/MFG, IE	4/17	IMMEDIATELY
United Parcel Service	Management Trainee	IE, MGT, ANY	4/19	IMMEDIATELY
New England Center for Autism	Entry Level Teachers	EDUC,COMIDS, ANY, COMM, SOC, PSYCH	4/25	IMMEDIATELY

REMEBER THESE EVENTS

INTERVIEWING SKILLS by Bob Samoluk, from T.J Maxx, part of the Wednesday Workshops by Recruiters Series Wed., March 28 4:00 p.m., Rm 101A, MCC

HOW TO FIND A SUMMER OR PERMANENT JOB
Every Friday at 10:15 a.m., Rm 101A, MCC

REMEMBER!!! If you have signed up for any interviews for this week, you should check for the schedules at the Mather Career Center IMMEDIATLEY.

Campus Career News Supplement, with the latest on-campus interviews, will be out tomorrow! Get your copy at Whitmore (on Wednesdays) or at the Mather Career Center.

* * * Take the Orchard Hill bus to the Mather Career Center * * *

The Mather Career Center • Fraternity/Sorority Park
University of Massachusetts at Amherst • (413)545-2224

WHERE CAREERS TAKE OFF!

Red Sox test new batting order

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Trying for more run production, Boston manager Joe Morgan plans to test new batting orders in the Red Sox' exhibition games.

Morgan had one minor surprise Sunday when he anounced that slugger Mike Greenwell would bat third instead of cleanup in the preseason opener yesterday against Kansas City in Kansas City.

"No big deal, we're just going to try a few different things in the next couple of weeks before we break camp," Morgan said after the Red Sox' sixth workout of spring training which was shortened by baseball's 32-day lockout.

"I don't mind it, I like batting third," said Greenwell, who has driven in 303 runs since winning a regular job in 1987. "I'm a classic No. 3 hitter, hitting line drives into the alleys."

Dwight Evans, 38 years old and prepping for his 18th season as Boston's right fielder, was named to start against the Royals as the designated hitter, replacing Greenwell in the No. 4 spot in the batting order.

base job vacated by the departure of Nick Esasky via free agency.

Right-hander Mike Boddicker, a 15-game winner in his first full season with Boston in 1989, was named to start against Kansas City's Storm Davis, who signed as a free agent after winning 19 games for Oakland last year.

"We anticipate Boddicker pitching three innings," Morgan said. "Lee Smith, Greg Harris, Daryl Irvine and Mike Rochford are down to follow Boddicker. We have plenty of guys and everyone will get an opportunity in a busy week."

"The pitchers are ready to go," pitching coach Bill Fischer said.

"Every one of them came in here in good shape, thinking they would have to be ready to pitch by an April 2 regular season opener. Now they've been blessed by six days of perfect weather and they're right where they should be, with some more advanced than others."

"They're probably in better shape than I've ever seen any group for the first gong," Morgan said.

base job vacated by the departure of Nick Esasky via free agency.

Right-hander Mike Boddicker, a 15-game winner in his first full season with Boston in 1989, was named to start against Kansas City's Storm Davis, who signed as a free agent after winning 19 games for Oakland last year.

"We anticipate Boddicker pitching three innings," Morgan said. "Lee Smith, Greg Harris, Daryl Irvine and Mike Rochford are down to follow Boddicker. We have plenty of guys and everyone will get an opportunity in a busy week."

"The pitchers are ready to go," pitching coach Bill Fischer said.

"Every one of them came in here in good shape, thinking they would have to be ready to pitch by an April 2 regular season opener. Now they've been blessed by six days of perfect weather and they're right where they should be, with some more advanced than others."

"They're probably in better shape than I've ever seen any group for the first gong," Morgan said.

Collegian photo by Jason Danziger

FRAMED — Professor Norm Philips and art student Rich Delveccio pose by the Foundry.

MUNCHY'S SALE

HAMPDEN - WORCESTER - FRANKLIN M-F 8-9 SAT-SUN 12-8

All sale prices effective until April 7, 1990

Lender's Bagels assorted varieties 99¢ reg. $1.12	PHILADELPHIA Cream Cheese 3 oz. 49¢ reg. 59¢
KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes 12 oz. $1.49 reg. $1.86	Chips Ahoy Cookies 12 oz. $1.99 reg. $2.29
VERY FINE Juice & Drinks 10 oz. 2/89¢ reg. 55¢	CHICKEN OF THE SEA Chunk Light Tuna 6.5 oz. 99¢ reg. $1.11
Dial or Zest Soap 3.5 oz. Bar 2/$1.00 reg. 65¢ & 68¢	SWEET LIFE Facial Tissue 175 count 59¢ reg. 73¢
CRISTALLENE Spring Water ½ liter 2/$1.00 reg. 80¢	COUPON Store Purchase $2.00 OFF Sweatshirts Sale Items Excluded Valid until April 7, 1990 Coupon good in all Munchy and Mini Stores

RECYCLE TODAY!

RECYCLE TODAY!

RECYCLE TODAY!

save

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

A battle rages within

(Editor's note: On Friday, March 16, this column was printed with a grave error in the first line. The Editorial Desk regrets this error and felt it neccessary to reprint the column in its correct form.)

So you think you're normal, right?

Well, take comfort in the satisfaction of your sanity, because lurking among you in close proximity to your never-changing expression of complacency are the crazy.

Jennifer Ham

I will be the first to identify myself as a member of this selective group of individuals suffering from psychotic neurosis, inner anxiety, intoxicating delusions, paranoia, obsessions and the like. Am I alarming you?

That is not my intent. I merely wish to describe the situation into which the helpless victims of insanity are cast by society.

Have you ever awoken to a seemingly beautiful day outside, only to realize there is bitter turbulence inside the confines of your mind?

A desperate battle of the self rages within, attempting to control and subdue the forces threatening to betray themselves and thus reveal their abnormality.

Imagine hearing voices inside your head — harassing you with their constant whispering that your thoughts are gross deceptions, manifestations of illness, setting you apart from humanity.

You try to justify them and rationalize away your discontent, the avid irritability and explosive anger raging through your veins, making it impossible to think in conformity.

Yet you are fully aware there is no chance of comfort, so you remain a prisoner of self-condemnation. Guilt sets in as you consider the possibility of freeing yourself from these destructive thoughts.

But no, you refuse to join the mainstream at the risk of isolation.

I, for example, have extreme difficulty liberating myself from a conflict between reason and emotion.

Shall I assume a mask and join the parade because my emotions are not validated by the parade leaders — those pompous fools we so willingly submit to? It is nothing more than a great facade I know, although you may disagree.

We, the free thinkers, are the warts of society — criminals if you please — capable of destructing the very order under which you live.

Perhaps you too are a wart . . . Have you never experienced outrage at the subtle incongruities separating men from women, black from white, dog from cat, fish from fowl, peanut butter from jelly?

I loathe it with a heart full of malicious contempt and shall not refrain from pulling the thread which might unleash the seams of such prejudice.

So call me crazy.

I rather like it.

For the "sane" think they're o.k. — while the crazed are visionaries — rejecting the insanity of this world.

Jennifer Ham is a UMass student

Daytona: What's the hype?

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — Wanted: college students with quick cash, a low tolerance for alcohol, and appreciation for the finer things in life: Bart Simpson, lime green swimwear, and ear-splitting music.

Conversational skills and an active mind are not required.

Maria Sacchetti

This is Daytona Beach. Your mind does not accompany you here. And if it did, it would be melted by neon signs, fast-flowing drinks, and constant commercials about "Bacardi Breezers," (What do you love about a breeeezer?) and anything else that can be subliminally inserted into your brain.

The fast-fading spring break hot spot for thousands of college students each year was my destination last Friday as I stepped onto a bus at Haigis Mall.

Twenty-five excruciatingly painful hours and several new friends later, 45 passengers and I arrived at the beach. These are some of the observations I was able to retain.

* * *

On the way to a club one night, I saw two police officers apprehend two women. Curious about the offense, I eavesdropped. It was serious. Jaywalking.

Hey, either stay between the lines or get out of Daytona! Each received a $65 ticket and, according to another officer, could have spent three hours in jail if they continued to complain.

I wonder what they do if you rip the tags off mattresses.

* * *

On every counter in every club or store I entered there was a jar with a note asking for tips.

One evening I entered a store and asked a worker to reach into a cooler, pull out a pre-made sub, punch two keys on the cash register, and put it in a bag.

Before handing me the bag, she grabbed the tip jar and banged it on the counter, saying she would "appreciate" a tip. I guess bagging sandwiches takes a lot out of you.

* * *

After being in Amherst, which has its own foreign policy and daily rallies at UMass, visiting Daytona Beach is culture shock.

Here the noon rallies are replaced by wet T-shirt contests, followed by male 'Best Body' contests and bikini contests.

I am anti-censorship. Exercise your rights, but also exercise your brain. This beach isn't where the students are, it's where the objects are. And human exploitation is where the fun ends.

* * *

Daytona Beach also is where the police are. Eight-hundred, to be exact. This means that scores of jaywalkers, minors drinking alcohol, or other unruly rascals were nabbed last week. In my hotel, security guards monitored each floor.

Their attitudes? To quote one: "You just do what I say."

* * *

I saw a lot of things, but I didn't see a thing about the so-called 'large' measles outbreak in Daytona. A quick call to the Volusia County Public Health Department revealed only 28 cases. Well, if you got your shots, at least you're protected.

* * *

Some people don't know how to take a break. Lying on the beach, I suddenly was interrupted by a female college student. She asked if I believed in God and what I would say "right now" to get into Heaven.

After she left, a woman carrying a sign reading: "You are all going to hell" passed by on the beach. Pretty heavy stuff for 80-degree weather.

* * *

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: "You can only go to Disneyland so many times," one UMass student reaffirming that he is not reluctant to leave the college scene.

Maria Sacchetti is a Collegian staff member

Learning to accept differences

In our society, which claims to base itself on freedom and the belief that "all men are created equal," not everyone is allowed their rightful freedoms.

While we are often prejudiced against people of different ethnic backrounds, our most vicious prejudice seems to be aimed at homosexuals.

Why? Homophobia, obviously, but why do we have this fear?

People who are homophobic have reasons for avoiding the existence of homosexuality. A common one is "It's not natural." Homosexuality isn't natural for a heterosexual. However, for a gay man or lesbian woman, being in love is just as natural as it is for you and me.

What we are actually expressing is our difficulty in accepting the concept of homosexuality, after being raised to believe that romantic love only exists between a man and a woman or that "sleeping with" one's own gender is wrong or dirty.

These beliefs are actually forms of prejudice passed on by religions, parents or other people.

We must realize that these beliefs are not logically sound.

For many years, homosexuality was considered a mental illness, but this has been proven to be untrue. If we define an ideal relationship to be based on love, respect, trust and understanding, how can we claim that such a relationship is wrong or dirty?

Homosexuals can and do have loving, respecting and trusting relationships!

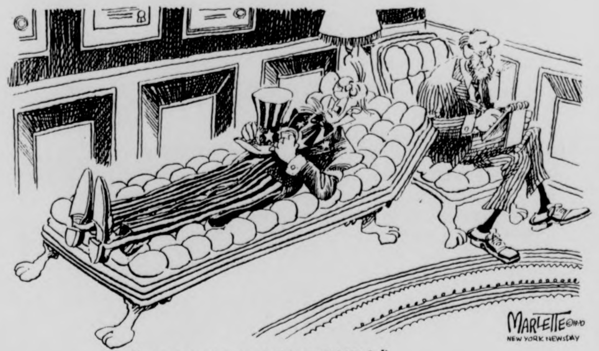
If, even knowing the facts, you can't seem to accept homosexuality, try to pick out and analyze your fears. Then, attempt to deal with them.

It's important that you work to at least respect the rights of homosexuals, in order to show consideration for people who are different from yourself.

The flexibility to accept others' differences is one of the most important lessons to learn in college.

If you don't respect other people's differences, you can't expect them to respect yours.

Andrea White
Amherst



" NOBODY'S OUT TO GET ME ! "

Unbalanced family lifestyle seeks relief legislation

Americans feel that our family life is under assault, and they overwhelmingly support a national public policy which would give workers the right to care for their family members in times of crisis without jeopardizing their jobs.

In a significant shift of opinion, a majority of Americans are now looking for public solutions to family concern which, as recently as 10 years ago, were seen as private problems. This shift in public opinion is an outgrowth of the disappearance of free, round-the-clock family caretakers, who are now employed.

Congress is currently considering legislation to provide unpaid family and medical leave to help parents juggle the competing demands of home and the work place.

One of the top challenges facing Congress is to develop policies that help women and men successfully bridge the world of work and family so that parents do not have to sacrifice financial security to meet their family obligations.

Family leave has overwhelming public support because it gives workers the right to care for their family members in times of crisis without jeopardizing their jobs.

When we entered the 1980s, Americans felt that family care was a private responsibility. By the end of the decade, however, three out of four people believe the federal government has a responsibility to require employers to allow parents to take time off to be with their children when they are newly born or ill, and most people want this option for fathers as well as mothers.

Gerald McEntee

The broad spectrum of support for parental leave can be seen in public polls. The basic proposals in the Family and Medical Leave Act are favored by the majority of men (58 percent), as well as women (66 percent); people without children (59 percent), and those with children under six years of age (71 percent); Republicans (52 percent) as well as Democrats (67 percent).

People want something done about these problems. They expect politicians to focus on their concerns, and they are paying attention to whether their elected officials think family policy is important.

While there is rarely one issue that shapes how people vote, fully one-third of the public say that they would be more favorable toward their Senator or Representative if he or she voted in favor of parental leave, while only seven percent said they would feel less favorable.

Concurrent changes in work and family patterns have profoundly transformed politics in America. Americans are increasingly looking to public solutions to the once private problems of balancing work and family responsibilities.

Worried that family life is getting worse because we are not devoting enough resources and attention to it, Americans want government to join businesses to actively alleviate the stresses on today's working family.

Family politics have moved to center stage and these issues are gaining momentum. As rhetoric on family issues escalates, so will the public's expectations for action.

The American people will hold politicians accountable for the pledges they made to America's families. The proposed Family and Medical Leave Act now before Congress is a good place to start.

Gerald McEntee is the International President of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees and Chair of the AFL-CIO Committee on the Needs of the Working Family

ARTS & LIVING

Nonviolence, for a change

By JAY ALLAIN
Collegian Correspondent

Violence and Nonviolence in South Africa: Jesus' Third way
Walter Wink
New Society Publishers, Box 582, Santa Cruz, CA 95061

In George Orwell's disturbing classic "Nineteen Eighty-four," he warned of a future where the ruling elite would rewrite history, sanitizing it of anything which might jeopardize their monopoly on power. In the United States, our collective inability, or refusal, to ponder the unflattering lessons of the Vietnam War or the lives (and deaths!) of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. or Malcom X suggest that Orwell was indeed prescient.

Why the Establishment should wish to cast the magnificence of nonviolence into the "memory hole" is quite obvious. But what is intriguing is why the suffering masses do not devour every bit ever written on nonviolence. Have we perhaps been conditioned to equate passivity with appropriateness and assertive behavior (of which nonviolence would certainly qualify) with abjection?

Whatever the reasons, we are fortunate that the lucid thinker and theologian Walter Wink has given us an illuminating key to fathoming the heart of nonviolence. And this was no work of armchair philosophizing. Rather "Violence and Nonviolence in South Africa" was forged after a journey to that tortured land during which time Wink met with both practitioners and critics of nonviolent direct action. The work is a masterpiece of condensation.

In one particularly revealing section, Wink reflects on the penchant of many young South African college students to dismiss the practice of civil resistance. Wink is struck by their rejection of peaceful methods for social change. And yet they show themselves to be hypocrites because rather than take up weapons to battle the apartheid system, they docilely attend classes. In other words, they fail to buttress their convictions with deeds. In another case, Wink asks some who disparage nonviolence as ineffective to cite the methods that have worked there. What do they mention? Work stoppages, slowdowns, boycotts, forming unions, marching, and the like. All nonviolent activities.

Besides being an astute observer of social change however, Wink also brings an uncanny relevance to biblical tracts 2,000 years old. For example, he examines Jesus' precept to "walk the extra mile" with one's adversary in the context of actual Roman law. One learns that by decree, any Jew confronted by a Roman soldier and asked to carry that man's pack for a mile was obliged to do so. Is going on with this load merely being nice? Wink carefully explains that his extra exertion explodes the anticipated roles. Suddenly the soldier knows he can be punished if he forced this duty on the subject. Jesus' wisdom is that of a master of nonviolence, Wink explains. It shatters the accepted norms of exploitation, powerfully but gently unmasking the oppressive nature of the system and those who uphold it. Its ugliness becomes blatant.

As violence threatens to derail hopes for a more sane planet — from Boston to the townships to Amherst — Winks' journey into South Africa today and the teachings of Jesus offers up hope. It is an important book for those who sincerely seek an end to injustice and desire only the necessary tools to do so.

Photo by Kelly Hammond

FOCUSING ON MEXICO – El Color de Mexico, a BFA Thesis show by Kelly Hammond, consists of 40 color and black and white photographs of Mexico and its people. The photos are on display from today through April 3 at the Augusta Savage Gallery in the New Africa House. An opening reception will be held tomorrow from 6-8 p.m.

Summer Conference Housing

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Summer Conference Housing coordinates dormitory housing for 8,000 - 10,000 conferees during June, July and August. Employment with SCH provides work experience in an academic setting, an introduction to the hospitality industry and an opportunity to earn money.

OVER FIFTY POSITIONS AVAILABLE!!
The job titles include:

Registrar
Operations Co-Supervisor
Accommodations Supervisor
Operations Crew Member
Office Manager
Key Control Supervisor
Desk Clerk

Salary Range: $5.25 - $6.25 Per Hour
Work Schedules: Part & full time openings available, including all shifts, weekdays and weekends

APPLICATIONS AND
GENERAL INFORMATION AVAILABLE
FROM MARCH 27, 1990 - APRIL 10, 1990
AT
The University Conference Services Office
918 Campus Center (Ninth Floor)

APPLICATIONS ACCEPTED UNTIL:
4 p.m., Tuesday, April 10, 1990

The University of Massachusetts is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer

COINS 1989–1990
DISTINGUISHED
LECTURE SERIES

PRESENTS

Robert E. Tarjan

James S. McDonnell Distinguished University Professor, Princeton University

"Network Flow Algorithms"

4:00 p.m., Thursday March 29, 1990
227 Herter Hall, University of Massachusetts - Amherst

Professor Robert E Tarjan is the James S. McDonnell Distinguished University Professor of Computer Science at Princeton University. and has been a member of the technical staff at AT&T Bell Laboratories since 1980. He received his Ph.D. from Stanford University. He and John Hopcroft jointly received the 1986 Turing Award. one of the most prestigeous awards given in computer science. Tarjan's interests are in the areas of data structures, algorithm design and analysis, combinatorial optimization, computational geometry, and computational complexity. He is co-author of the book Data Structures and Network Algorithms.

Professor Tarjan is a preeminent researcher in data structures and algorithms. His talk will survey recent work on fast, simple algorithms for the "maximum flow problem", a classic and important problem in operations research.

Grave humor from Ireland

By KERRY HERLIHY
Collegian Staff

Photo by Sheila Burnett

Sarah Jones, Carol Scanlan and Eleanor Methven of the Charabanc Theatre Company.

There is a common image evoked when Northern Ireland is mentioned: internal political strife which has often erupted in violence. Most people would not think this subject is one to joke about, much less actually come out and laugh at. However, Charabanc is trying to change that.

Charabanc is Belfast's own women's theater company which has gained international acclaim for their original works and performances about life in Northern Ireland. Amherst is the only northeast stop Charabanc is making on its brief spring tour of the United States. What makes them unique is their light approach to grave problems which have inflicted this area for generations.

This group will be performing their play, "Somewhere Over the Balcony" written by Marie Jones April 4-7 at Hampshire College. Peggy O'Brien, coordinator of the event, said this is something "extraordinary" that should not be missed.

The play revolves around three women who occupy the balconies of Divis flats, a Catholic housing project which has since been demolished and how they "carry on ordinary domestic lives in the context of a civil war,"according to O'Brien.

"They [Charabanc] are making light of something which we perceive as tragic," O'Brien said. "It's their only sanity."

Charbanc was formed by three actresses, Marie Jones, Eleanor Methven and Carol Scanlan who needed work. From the start, the company decided it would not be ordinary. It would be a collaborative effort, from research to writing to producing. For "Somewhere Over the Balcony," the women went into Divis flats and extensively interviewed the women who lived there. They pooled their findings and then Jones wrote the play which was revised once again by the trio.

The result is a powerful theatrical performance which draws upon first hand emotions and twists itself into black comedy which has received praise at home and abroad.

In Charabanc's statement of policy, the company said, "Through this work we hope to contribute towards political, religious and social understanding in our society."

The theater company, in addition to performing, will hold two workshops in the five college area. The first workshop will be held at Hampden Theater at the University of Massachusetts on Wednesday, April 4 and will discuss the women's issues in Northern Ireland as they relate to the theater. The other workshop will be at Wright Auditorium at Smith College on Thursday, April 5 focusing on Charabanc's innovative collaborative methods. The workshops are open to any students in the Valley. In addition, the cast will talk about the issues of their play after the Friday and Saturday performances.

Tickets can be purchased at the UMass Fine Arts Center Box Office, $5 for adults and $3 for students.

TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE

A GREAT PLACE TO RELAX, MEET FRIENDS AND ENJOY THE VIEW.

MUNCHIES
Served Tuesday-Friday: 3:00-9:00 pm
Saturday: 5:00-9:00 pm

T.O.C. Onion Soup Crock	$2.25
Fried Mozzarella Sticks	$3.95
Buffalo Wings	$4.25
Macho Nacho's	$3.95
The Alma Tater Potato Skins	$3.95
Popcorn Shrimp	$3.95
French Onion Rings	$1.75
Lincoln Logs Steak Fries	$1.75
Veggie's N' Dip	$2.75
Cheese & Crackers	$2.25

CHIPS - PRETZELS & NACHOS
Available Anytime

Monday-Friday: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Saturday-Sunday: 5:00 pm-12:30 am

11th Floor • Campus Center • (413) 549-6000 ext. 7634
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

DON'T WRITE FOR THE COLLEGIAN!

If you don't want to gain valuable work experience express your opinions, make new friends and enhance your abilities.

Otherwise - come down to
The Collegian
113 Campus Center
UMass Amherst, MA 01003
545-3500

FEEL THE ENERGY AT WORK

Baystate Medical Center's Career Reception & Brunch
Saturday, April 7th, 10 am - 2 pm
Administration Building

• Nursing • Rehabilitation/Social Work
• Radiology • Laboratory • Respiratory Care
• Pharmacy • Administrative & Clerical Support

Whether you're graduating this Spring, or you're currently a healthcare professional, this is a great way to explore a career with a medical center that's progressing so fast you can feel the energy at work. We're an 800 bed hospital, a member of the progressive Baystate Health System, and the top referral and teaching hospital in the region. We have created a dynamic environment where you can make your mark and be recognized for it.

Join us for brunch and meet the people who make Baystate such an exciting place, tour our state-of-the-art facility, and meet members of our healthcare team.

It is easy to get here. Just call 1-800-777-1477 to get full details and complete directions. Put your energy to work with ours. Baystate Medical Center, 780 Chestnut Street, Suite 30, Springfield MA 01199. An equal opportunity employer.

Baystate Medical Center
THE WESTERN CAMPUS OF TUFTS UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE
A member of Baystate Health Systems

Photo courtesy of Carthage Records

GLOBAL VILLAGE – Marta Sebestyen & Muzsikas, a Celtic sounding, traditional yet ethereal group based in Hungary play the Iron Horse tonight for a 7 p.m. show only. This show follows in the tradition of what the Iron Horse hopes to be a slew of shows by Eastern European bands, recalling the amazing Plastic People of the Universe show last year.

New film festival offers forum and cash prizes for student filmmakers

By GREG ORME
Collegian Correspondent

Stand aside Cannes Film Festival! Hollywood beware! Academy Awards take cover! The latent filmic talent of UMass/Amherst is about to be unleashed to rock your complacent Ivory Towers. It will shock, devastate and beguile.

It will be the first annual Student Film and Video Festival to marshal the celuloid work of UMass undergraduates and recent alumni.

This blockbustin' event will take place on Wednesday, March 28 from 7 p.m.-10 p.m. (that's tomorrow) in the rarified atmosphere of Herter 221. The Festival will be sponsored and organized by Club Communication under the auspices of the Union Video Center (UVC).

This foray into the depths of radical avant-garde and student film in general is the first event of its kind to be financially recognized by the University in the form of a grant from the Audio Visual Committee.

Club Communication received a total of 24 entries of which nine have been selected for everlasting glory.

Prizes include Best Film of the Festival, Best Editing, Outstanding Achievement in Experimental Film (plus Honorable Mention) and Best Documentary (plus Honorable Mention).

Winners will receive bundles of cash and their film will be stored on video in the Tower Library for future reference.

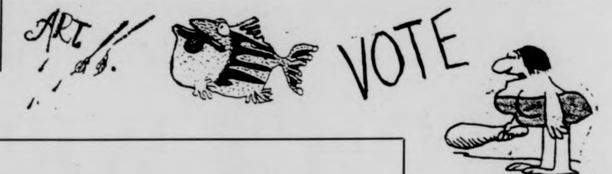
There will be an hour-long showing of the winning entries followed by a tearful awards ceremony.

The remainder of the time will be adequately filled with succulent refreshments, informal chatter and general bonhommie for filmmakers and film buffs alike. Entry will be very free.

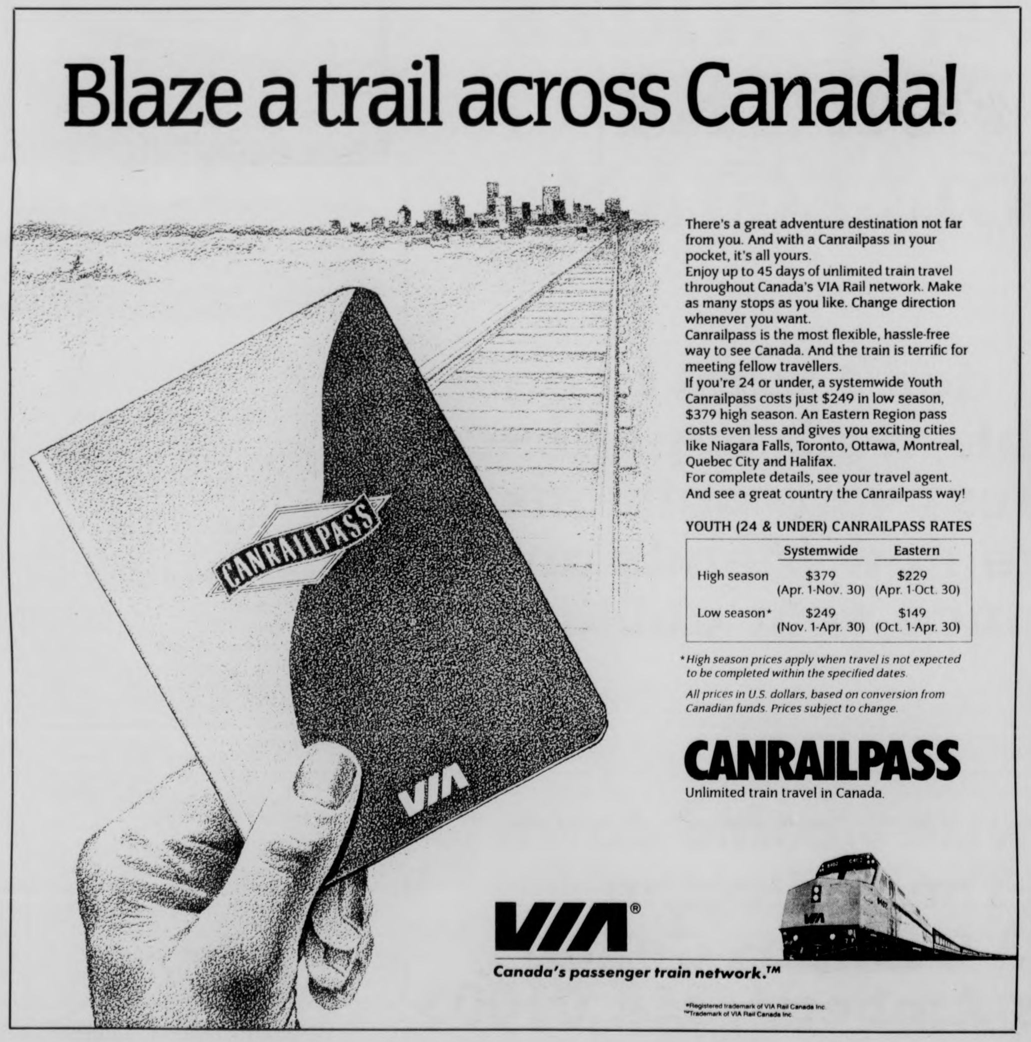
Expectations are very high for this festival. It is generally felt that this is just the beginning, according to Gail McLaughlin of Club Communications.

"We have big plans for this project, we have every hope that it will blossom into an annual Five College Film Festival. There is a great deal of originality and flair locally that just needs to be fostered and encouraged," McLaughlin enthused.

If you want to be on the cutting edge with your finger firmly on the pulse beat of the visual arts scene; if you wish to rub shoulders with future Vertovs and Bunuels, be there.



* * *



Blaze a trail across Canada!

There's a great adventure destination not far from you. And with a Canrailpass in your pocket, it's all yours.
Enjoy up to 45 days of unlimited train travel throughout Canada's VIA Rail network. Make as many stops as you like. Change direction whenever you want.
Canrailpass is the most flexible, hassle-free way to see Canada. And the train is terrific for meeting fellow travellers.
If you're 24 or under, a systemwide Youth Canrailpass costs just $249 in low season, $379 high season. An Eastern Region pass costs even less and gives you exciting cities like Niagara Falls, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec City and Halifax.
For complete details, see your travel agent. And see a great country the Canrailpass way!

YOUTH (24 & UNDER) CANRAILPASS RATES

	Systemwide	Eastern
High season	$379 (Apr. 1-Nov. 30)	$229 (Apr. 1-Oct. 30)
Low season*	$249 (Nov. 1-Apr. 30)	$149 (Oct. 1-Apr. 30)

*High season prices apply when travel is not expected to be completed within the specified dates.

All prices in U.S. dollars, based on conversion from Canadian funds. Prices subject to change.

CANRAILPASS
Unlimited train travel in Canada.

VIA®
Canada's passenger train network.™

®Registered trademark of VIA Rail Canada Inc.
™Trademark of VIA Rail Canada Inc.

BLACK AFFAIRS

Akbar lectures on self awareness

By TANYA R. WILSON
Collegian Correspondent

Dr. Na'im Akbar is an African-American psychologist. He teaches in Florida, and is the author of the book Psychological Slavery and Miseducation. Dr. Na'im Akbar gave a lecture at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst campus on Tuesday, March 13, 1990.

He opened his lecture, discussing a brief description of the problems faced by African Americans. Akbar speaks to other students and scholars around the country on such topics as oppressive conditions that face African Americans in various ways. He does this in order to give students and scholars knowledge of what these conditions are and how these conditions will affect their lives.

Akbar proceeded to discuss a problem which he feels many African Americans have in this society. That problem is knowing their identity. He spoke thoroughly of how Black slaves were brainwashed to the point that they forgot their own identity. he said, this is one of the reasons for Black slaves not being able to practice their own religion, communicate with one another, or be referred to by their own name.

Akbar gave an example with the novel Roots, and how Kunta Kenta fought to keep his own name. He brought to attention the mutilation Kunta Kenta underwent in order to keep his name, by getting his foot amputated. Akbar said, " If you are going to be a slave you cannot be identified by your own name. Slaves no longer acted as a people, because they lost their identity." He stated as a quotee from Malcom X, " Field slaves got sick, they pray for win and when master got sick, they pray he died."

Akbar continued his lecture speaking on how African Americans in today's society, including the African Americans on this campus can only identify themselves with a certain group of people. He made it clear that an individual should never lose their identity. He said, " You are the only one who is crazy, because you are the only one who does not identify yourself." Akbar said African Americans should be able to be affiliated with anyone in the world, but the people in the western world feel they have the right to say who is human and who is not. Akbar said he feels that African Americans are the preime victims of this system.

Dr. Na'im Akbar stressed one main point throughout his lecture. The focus was for African AMericans to not make the mistake of losing their identity; and to remember unless you know where you have come from and who you are now, you will not know where you are going.

Our eyes still focused on the Prize

By KAREN N. PEART
Collegian Correspondent

In honor of Black history month, "Eyes on the Prize – America's Civil Rights years" was shown at the Sunset Gallery in the Southwest residential area. This documentary chronicles the Civil Rights movement from 1954 to the present. Critical incidents that changed the course of history for all African Americans were cited throughout the four-part series.

Karen Peart

The ordeals of many brave African Americans were explored. Mose Wright, uncle of fourteen-year-old Enmett Till was the first Black man to stand up in court and point an accusing finger at a white man who had brutally murdered Till. Although the man was found innocent of the murder, the case got alot of publicity and America was forced to gaze at its own ugly reflection.

Rosa Parks, who on Dec. 1, 1955 sparked an eleven-month bus boycott was a very important figure in the movement. The boycott resulted in Alabama buses becoming desegregated. The Civil Rights Careers of the Great Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Medger Evers were also examined with moving interviews with Myilie Evers and Coretta Scott King.

Landmark Cases that involved education were also documented. The May 1954 Supreme Court ruling that "segregated schools were unconstitutional" was a great step forward for the Civil Rights Movement.

In Part II of the series, the fight for Civil Rights shifted to college campuses and two lesser known cases were looked at.

One was the case of Autherine Lucy. In 1956, Lucy, a young black woman, entered the University of Alabama quietly, but when the University was pressured to expel her, she fought back by bringing the case to court. She won the case, but despite this large victory for her as well as the Civil Rights Movement, she was expelled on a technicality.

Similarly, in 1961, James Meredith filed suit for admission into the University of Mississippi. He was a fully qualified student but unfortunately, Mississippi's governor, Ross Barnet was an ardent segregationist. Barnet personally turned Meredith away at the admissions office after the Supreme Court had finally ruled that there was no policy of segregation at the University.

He was finally admitted in Sept 1962 after trying many times to register. Throughout the case, riots had swept through Mississippi and two people had lost their lives.

It is unfortunate that people had to die because a young black man wanted an equal chance at the kind of education many of us now take for granted. Personally, I have learned to appreciate the fact that so many have sacrificed to make the way easier for me and other students of color.

We should not only remember these sacrifices for one month out of the year, but every day of our lives as we make our way to dreaded eight o'clock classes. There have been many progressive changes brought about by the Civil Rights movement, but one question still lingers in my mind – if we have come so far, why am I the only black student in so many of my classes?

The Civil Rights movement could not possibly be summed up in four hours but "Eyes on The Prize" is highly recommended for anyone who wishes to be enlightened on the events of the Civil Rights Movement.

Karen Peart is a UMass student

AP photo

Larry "Big Twist" Nolan, 53, lead singer of the Chicago-based rhythm and blues band Big Twist and the Mellow Fellows died of heart failure on March 14, 1990. Nolan visited UMass in 1988.

Top of the Campus
RESTAURANT and LOUNGE

The Top of the Campus has great food, fantastic service, weekly drink specials, an extensive lounge munchie menu and a spectacular view of the campus, all yours to enjoy in a pleasant, relaxed atmosphere.

Eleventh Floor, Lincoln Campus Center
549-6000 ext. 7636

Lunch: Mon.-Fri. 11:30 am-2:00 pm; Dinner: Tues.-Sat. 5:00-9:00 pm
Cocktails: Mon.-Fri. 11:30 am-12:30 am; Sat.-Sun. 5 pm-12:30 am

VALIDATED PARKING IN ATTACHED GARAGE

ENVIRONMENTAL LABORATORY
OPPORTUNITIES

Ceimic, the country's fastest growing environmental testing laboratory, offers exciting career opportunities for highly qualified professionals. Ceimic's new laboratory is located on five oceanside acres adjacent to The University of Rhode Island's Bay Campus in Narragansett, RI.

Ceimic is a major contractor for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and provides quality analytical services to the nation's leading engineering and consulting firms.

Our unparalleled growth has created numerous opportunities at varied levels and shifts, all with advancement potential, for professionals with the following minimum qualifications:

- ENTRY LEVEL ANALYST
  B.S. or M.S. in Chemistry or the Physical Sciences.
- ANALYTICAL CHEMISTS
  B.S. or M.S. in Chemistry with academic concentration or prior experience with Organic or Inorganic analytical instrumentation.

Interviews will be held all day at the Mather Career Center on April 5, 1990. Interested students may sign up at the Mather Career Center.

BUY A SEGA GENESIS SYSTEM NOW

Genesis system comes complete with control pad and Altered Beast™ game cartridge.

AND GET A SECOND GAME PLUS AN ADDITIONAL CONTROL PAD FREE

UP TO $80 RETAIL VALUE FREE WITH PURCHASE OF SEGA GENESIS SYSTEM

YOUR CHOICE OF ONE FREE GAME PLUS EXTRA CONTROLLER

Imagine, your choice of any of today's blockbuster hits free, like Tommy Lasorda Baseball, Ghouls & Ghosts, Arnold Palmer Tournament Golf, Thunder Force II, Space Harrier II, or Super Thunderblade. Plus, an extra Control Pad free. Just buy a Sega Genesis system before April 22, 1990. And complete the coupon below.

MAIL-IN CERTIFICATE

FREE Buy a Genesis system now and get a second game plus an additional control pad FREE. Up to $80 retail value.

Just follow these steps

1. Cut out the proof of purchase symbol from the Sega Genesis system box, and
2. Fill in the information requested on the warranty card included in your Genesis system, and
3. Complete the requested information on this certificate, and
4. Attach the original dated store cash register receipt (receipt must be dated from March 17 thru April 22, 1990) for your system, and
5. Mail all these items, postmarked no later than April 25, 1990, to:
SEGA GENESIS FREE OFFER, P.O. BOX 2208, SO. SAN FRANCISCO, CA 94083

Name ______ Telephone ______
Street ______ Apt. # ______
City ______ State ______ Zip ______

Select your FREE Genesis cartridge from the list below. Sega will mail you the FREE cartridge and control pad 4 to 6 weeks from receipt of all completed redemption materials. Offer good March 17 thru April 22, 1990. Check (✓) first choice, circle second choice. Sega reserves the right to substitute another game based upon product availability.

☐ GHOULS & GHOSTS™ ☐ FORGOTTEN WORLDS™
☐ RAMBO III®
☐ LAST BATTLE™
☐ ARNOLD PALMER TOURNAMENT GOLF™
☐ ALEX KIDD: ENCHANTED CASTLE™ ☐ WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP SOCCER™ ☐ MYSTIC DEFENDER™ ☐ THUNDER FORCE II™
☐ GOLDEN AXE™ ☐ ZOOM!™
☐ SPACE HARRIER II™ ☐ TRUXTON®
☐ SUPER THUNDERBLADE™
☐ TOMMY LASORDA BASEBALL™
☐ THE REVENGE OF SHINOBI™ ☐ SUPER HANG-ON™

800

SEGA GENESIS

WE BRING THE ARCADE EXPERIENCE HOME

men's gymnastics

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 20

fifth in the east in both vaulting and floor exercises.

Freshman Steve Christensen, ranked sixth in pommel horse, and seniors Eggers and Carl Russ in still rings, are the other Minutemen with a strong chance at qualifying for the regional finals. The final rankings will be announced on April 1.

For UMass, the EIGL finals represented the culmination of what has been a below-par season. Last year, the Minutemen were 9-2, finishing third in the EIGL.

"As a team, we pulled together (for EIGLs)," Johnson said. "We needed to do better throughout the season to be able to practice our success in meets.

"I think we had a lot of individuals improve their skill levels — that's the main area we improved in," continued Johnson. "The younger guys got a chance to see what EIGLs are about. They'll have a better perception of what they have to do to get ready next season."

On March 17, five members of the team competed in the East Coast Athletic Conference finals at William and Mary College. Booker finished fifth in all-around competition with a 52.3.

"For Cal Booker, that meet was good preparation for EIGLs," Johnson said. "We took five guys to the meet and got five medals — that was even a little better than I expected.

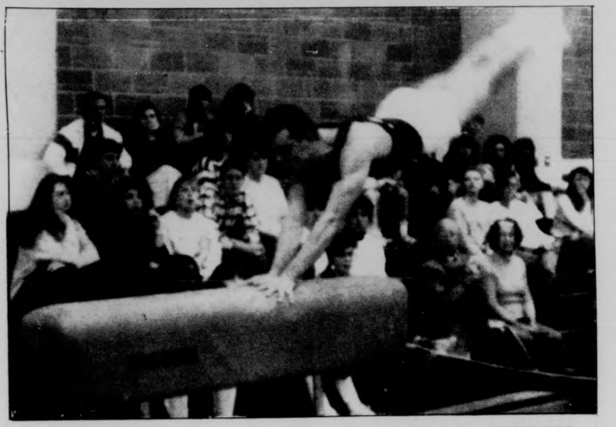
As the season winds down, all that is left is for UMass' top individuals to await the final NCAA rankings.

For Eggers, a trip to the NCAA finals would extend his fine career at UMass for one more meet.

"It's been a rough season, this has been one of my more struggling years," Eggers said. "Last season was a great one for me and this one hasn't been up to par with that one."

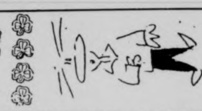
"I'm pretty excited and confident," said Eggers of his chances to make the NCAA regionals.

For seniors Eggers and Russ, a trip to NCAAs would be a great finish. For sophomore Booker and freshman Christensen, it would be a great beginning.



Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

A gymnast helps UMass leap to a fifth place finish in the Intercollegiate Gymnastics League meet held this weekend.



SHREDDERS ALERT!

Come out to Breckenridge Ski Area - April 2-8 and watch the best snowboarders in the country compete in the 1990 TDK Snowboarding World Championships at Breckenridge!

And...on Saturday, April 7th, it's your chance to try snowboarding at the spectacular I SKI Boarderline Madness Day with FREE clinics, snowboard demos, fun races and much more!

I SKI Presents: I SKI Boarderline Madness!

WHEN: April 7th, 9AM Registration
WHERE: I SKI Tent - Peak 9 Base
Race: Country Boy Trail
WHAT: FREE Clinics, Prizes, Demos, Fun Races and much more!

I SKI Black Diamond

Stop by your local participating I SKI retailer for CLINIC TICKETS and sign up for the Grand Prize Sweepstakes for an all-expense-paid trip to Aspen, CO!

DELANO'S

57 North Pleasant Street
253-5141

Drink of the Week
Captain Morgan & Coke $1.75

IMPORTED
Beer of the Month
O'Keefe $1.50

Featuring Jell-o Shots Thurs., Fri., & Sat. Nights!
Proper Identification a Must

DISCOVER THE PERFECT CLIMATE FOR LEARNING

"The late afternoon sun deepened the sandstone arches into gold that summer and made the tiled roofs rosier against the blue California skies. It was a dazzling dream come true."

—Ray Lyman Wilbur, Stanford University, 1892

This summer, you can share in that dazzling, century-old dream. Stanford's Summer Session offers open enrollment in more than 300 day and evening courses, institutes, workshops and professional programs. All are taught by distinguished Stanford faculty and visiting professors.

A diverse, international student body has access not only to the University's world-class academic resources, but also the abundant recreational and entertainment opportunities of the San Francisco Bay Area. Pacific Ocean beaches, towering redwood groves, and multi-cultural activities all are within an hour's drive.

This summer, go West to Stanford. You'll find that the best summer vacation can be a great education.

STANFORD
SUMMER SESSION
JUNE 25-AUGUST 18

Send for your copy of our 1990 Summer Session Bulletin and an application by mailing this coupon.

Name ______
Address ______
City ______
State ______ Zip ______

Stanford University, Summer Session, Bldg. 1
Stanford, CA 94305 / (415)723-3109

TONIGHT TONIGHT TONIGHT TONIGHT TONIGHT TONIGHT
On March 31, 1990, Broadway will close its doors to
"the one singular sensation."
THE UMASS MUSIC THEATRE GUILD
PRESENTS
its salute to the "longest running show on Broadway."

A CHORUS LINE
March 26, 27, 28, 1990 8:00 P.M.
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
Tickets on Sale Now!
Fine Arts Center Box Office 545-2511
& at the door
TONIGHT TONIGHT TONIGHT TONIGHT TONIGHT TONIGHT

THE SPOKE
Beer of the Month:
Molson GOLDEN
BOTTLES $1.60

A Drinkery:
To Meet, Relax & Enjoy
Proper ID required
35 E. Pleasant Street

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

Legal Services has positions available for legal assistant interns for the Fall 1990 semester. This is a challenging opportunity for students from a variety of majors and disciplines to gain valuable legal experience.

Responsibilities include:
* client interviewing
* attendance at hearings
* preparation of court forms
* maintenance of continuing caseload
* investigations and research

Legal-Services-Center
university of massachusetts, amherst, ma. 01003

Up to 15 credits may be earned. Apply early! Contact Legal Services, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995. Start the application process today!

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

BREAK IT FAST
7-11 AM
MON.-FRI.
•CREOLE SCRAMBLER
•FRENCH TOAST STICKS
•BOX BREAKFAST
•EGG SANDWICHES
EVERYTHING IS UNDER 2 BUCKS!
FREE COFFEE FOR A LTD. TIME...

BREAKFAST AT BILLS
BUFFALO BILLS
50 Main Street
Amherst, MA
253-9223

Mademoiselle
MAGAZINE
PRESENTS
THE REAL
WORLD
(Is There Life After College?)

Come join a Mademoiselle Merchandising Editor and participating sponsors for a fast-paced fashion and beauty event that takes a look at the lighter side of life after college...the "real world."

- Watch an on-stage hair highlighting and styling with Clairol® products (it could be you with a new "do"!)
- Check out a fashion show starring students in Levi's® 900 Series® fashions—accessorized by Mademoiselle—featuring real-world scenarios and great music*
- Sip on cool Sea Breeze drinks (the nonalcoholic version)
- Scribble on the tablecloths (an activity frowned upon in the "real world"...we'll provide the crayons)
- Receive Clairol product samples, the latest issue of Mademoiselle and a chance to win exciting prizes

DATE
Wednesday, March 28, 1990
TIME
7:00 – 8:00 p.m.
PLACE
Campus Center Auditorium
ADMISSION FREE
For more information, call 545-2711

Take the plunge into the "real world" — and discover how to conquer it in true style!

*We need volunteers — girls and guys — to model Levi's fashions (no experience necessary!) To offer your body, please stop by the Campus Center, Room 177 or 178, on March 28 between 1 – 3 p.m.

SPONSORED BY
Hairpainting
Clairol Lock'n Roll
Clairol Set-To-Go
SEA BREEZE ban
900 SERIES
REAL LIFE WEARS REAL JEANS.
Levi's

SPONSORED BY THE EIGHT SORORITIES AT U. MASS.

© 1990 The Condé Nast Publications Inc.

ARE YOU CONCERNED ABOUT EATING PROBLEMS?
Anorexia Nervosa
Bulimia or
Compulsive Eating

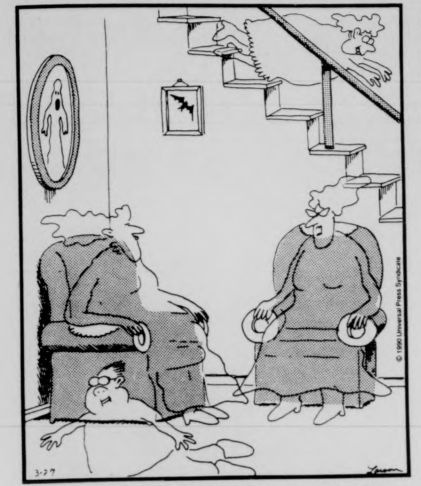
If so, come find ways to help yourself or a friend.

Single Session
When: Thursdays, 5:30-6:30 p.m.
February 8 - May 11
Where: University Health Center,
Room 304
General information on eating disorders
Film
Information on resources and self help groups on and off campus.

10 week series
(Come to any one or all ten.)
When: Tuesdays, 4:00-5:00 p.m.
March 6 - May 1
Where: UMass Campus Center
Room 917
March 13 - Breaking the Binge/Purge Cycle
March 27 - Using Food Diaries
April 3 - Stress, Academic Pressures and Eating Behavior
April 10 - Exercise

Confidential and supportive atmosphere.
No Charge - No Registration - Just Drop-In
Programs Sponsored by University Health Services 549-2671 x 181.

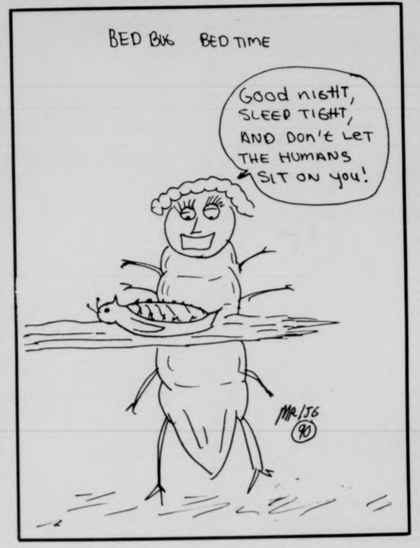
THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



3-27
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

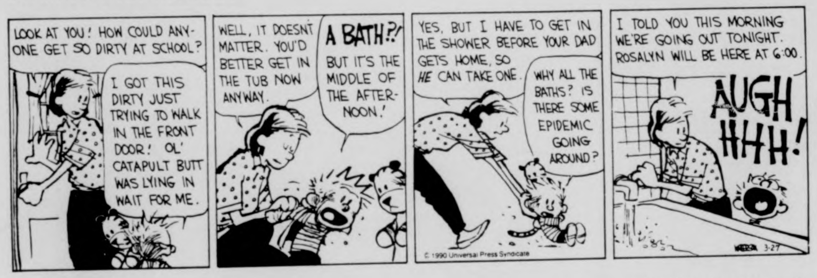
"Oh, I don't know. Billy's been having trouble in school, and Sally's always having some sort of crisis. I tell you, Edith, it's not easy raising the dead."

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



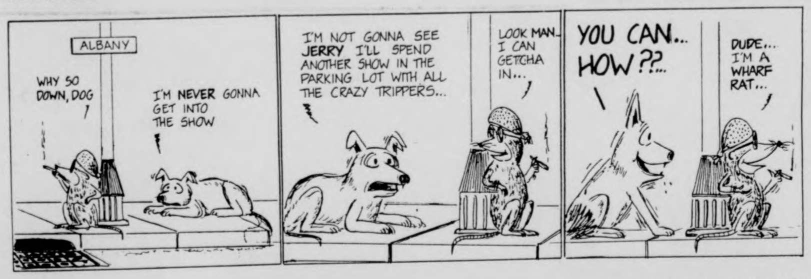
BED BUG BED TIME
Good night, sleep tight, and don't let the humans sit on you!
MR/JG 90

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



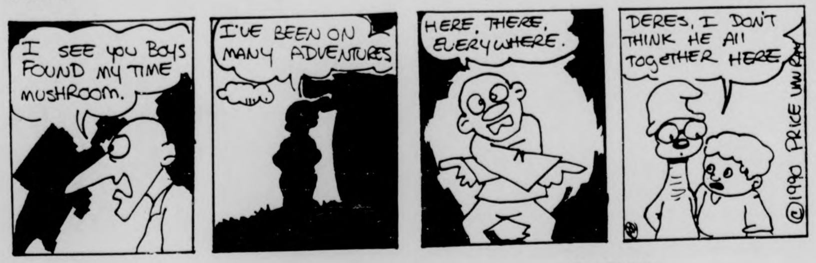
LOOK AT YOU! HOW COULD ANYONE GET SO DIRTY AT SCHOOL?
I GOT THIS DIRTY JUST TRYING TO WALK IN THE FRONT DOOR! OL' CATAPULT BUTT WAS LYING IN WAIT FOR ME.
WELL, IT DOESN'T MATTER. YOU'D BETTER GET IN THE TUB NOW ANYWAY.
A BATH?! BUT IT'S THE MIDDLE OF THE AFTERNOON!
YES, BUT I HAVE TO GET IN THE SHOWER BEFORE YOUR DAD GETS HOME, SO HE CAN TAKE ONE.
WHY ALL THE BATHS? IS THERE SOME EPIDEMIC GOING AROUND?
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
I TOLD YOU THIS MORNING WE'RE GOING OUT TONIGHT. ROSALYN WILL BE HERE AT 6:00.
AUGHHHH!
WATTERSON 3-27

IGGMAN
By DREW AQUILINA



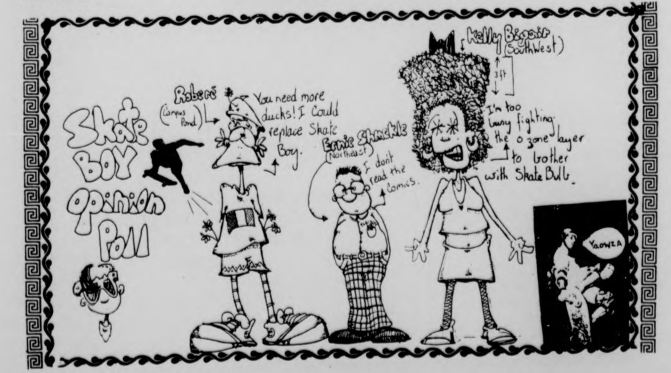
ALBANY
WHY SO DOWN, DOG
I'M NEVER GONNA GET INTO THE SHOW
I'M NOT GONNA SEE JERRY I'LL SPEND ANOTHER SHOW IN THE PARKING LOT WITH ALL THE CRAZY TRIPPERS...
LOOK MAN I CAN GETCHA IN...
YOU CAN... HOW??...
DUDE... I'M A WHARF RAT...

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



I SEE YOU BOYS FOUND MY TIME MUSHROOM.
I'VE BEEN ON MANY ADVENTURES
HERE, THERE, EVERYWHERE.
DERES, I DON'T THINK HE All TOGETHER HERE
©1990 PRICE VAN RAY

NIPPLE
By PITT



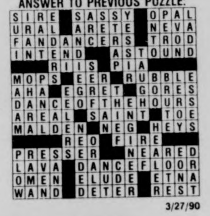
Skate BOY Opinion Poll
Robert (Campus Pond)
You need more ducks! I could replace Skate Boy.
Ernie Shmeckle (Northeast)
I don't read the comics.
Kelly Bigair (SouthWest)
3 ft
I'm too busy fighting the ozone layer to bother with Skate Bull.
YAOWZA

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

ACROSS
1 Yogi of baseball fame
6 Asian desert
10 Saratoga et al.
14 Ratite birds
15 Ready for business
16 St. Louis tourist attraction
17 Harry Anderson's TV show
19 Bill of fare
20 Scroll of the Penteteuch
21 Appear
23 Former GI
24 Oil-drilling equipment
26 Exchange
28 Ill. capital
31 Preserve
33 "Kingfish" of Louisiana
35 Israeli port
36 Colors
38 Carries
40 The-party-is-over song
43 Coin of India
44 Cleveland's lake
45 "— Horizon"
46 Beams
47 Little one: Suffix
48 Wind direction
49 Greet the day
52 Airline: Abbr.
54 Swimsuit part
56 Give the cold shoulder
58 Beaming
62 Horne of note
64 Irresponsible one
67 Pass catchers
68 Words of comprehension
69 Miscue
70 Powerless
71 Part of SAT
72 Oozes

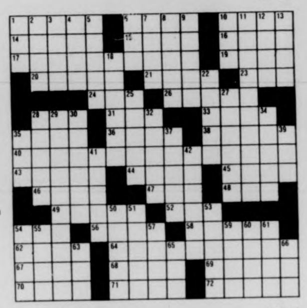
DOWN
1 Golfer Hogan
2 Give forth
3 — Park, N.Y.
4 German industrial region
5 "...— to steer her by": Masefield
6 Sticky stuff
7 Major work
8 French topper
9 Link, lock or lope beginning
10 Symbolic Uncle
11 Part of ASPCA
12 Teen woe
13 Closed
18 Pretentiously elegant
22 Islands S of Sicily
25 Measure
27 Scribble idly
28 Rub with vigor
29 Misinformation, of a sort
30 A late night flight
32 Indian statesman
34 Take a gander at these?
35 Part of Tex. A&M
37 Marsh bird
39 Fast plane, for short
41 Aeries
42 Margin for error
50 Not suitable
51 Resonate
53 Choreographer de Mille
54 Puffed
55 French President Coty
57 Farewells
59 Italian coins
60 Monster
61 Thump
63 Inquire
65 Wager
66 Keepers of the kitty: Abbr.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:



SIRE SASSY OPAL
URAL ARETE NEVA
FANDANCERS TROD
INTEND ASTOUND
RIIS PIA
MOPS EER RUBBLE
AHA EGRET GORES
DANCEOFTHEHOURS
AREAL SAINT TOE
MALDEN NEG HEYS
REO FIRE
PRESSER NEARED
LAVA DANCEFLOOR
OMEN ELUDE ETNA
WAND DETER REST

3/27/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/27/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Chicken cutlet sandwich	Roast top round of beef Stuffed shells in sauce

BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Pesto, olive and alfalfa boboli	Stir fry vegetables

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES(March 21-April 19): The emphasis now is on improving your health. Diet and exercise are the key to feeling better. Be more definite in your business dealings and you will enjoy greater success. Romance is blissful.

TAURUS(April 20-May 20): Getting a good fix on your financial position will relieve inner turmoil. A friend's expertise is helpful. Postpone signing documents until more information is available.

GEMINI(May 21-June 20): You may be trying to accomplish too much at once. If higher-ups act cranky or indifferent, do not take it personally. An unsettling situation at home could worry you. A direct approach works best.

CANCER(June 21-July 22): A good day to convince family members of the importance of cutting down on unnecessary spending. They will be more receptive to your arguments than you imagined. Get ready for constructive changes.

LEO(July 23-Aug.22): You may have to postpone certain personal plans. It is more important to do things for a less fortunate family member. Finances will require careful handling. Put your cards on the table.

VIRGO(Aug.23-Sept.22): Unexpected developments will affect your work schedule or social agenda. Flexibility is essential. Romance can be volatile. Speak from the heart. This is not time for hedging or subterfuge.

LIBRA(Sept.23-Oct.22): Break away from old routines. New job opportunities are on the horizon. Reading keeps you abreast of important developments. Courage helps you deal with inevitable changes. Act confident.

SCORPIO(Oct.23-Nov.21): Seize a golden opportunity to expand your horizons. Changes in your lifestyle indicate how far you can go! Focus on developing original ideas. Wise investments will secure your financial future.

SAGITTARIUS(Nov.22-Dec.21): New job leads or clients are possible if you join a professional club. A long-distance romance has a better chance than you think. Read the fine print before signing longterm agreements.

CAPRICORN(Dec.22-Jan.19): Enjoy your partner's financial success; there are many fringe benefits! Be leery of stock tips provided by well-intentioned friends. A candid chat with a teen-ager improves a parent-child relationship.

AQUARIUS(Jan.20-Feb.18): Increase your technical knowledge and sharpen your skills. Follow your head, not your heart, when settling a family matter. Donate unused items to a charity. Less clutter means greater organization.

PISCES(Feb.19-March 20): Work is just the ticket for those who feel restless! Public opinion influences the choices you make today. Loved ones will be more understanding if you explain your position. Delegate responsibility.

TODAY'S STAFF
Night Editor............Beth Gately
Copy Editor............Will Georgiades
Layout Technician............Rory Evans
Photo Technician............John Woo
Production Supervisor............Tricia Hanley
Typesetter............Kim Frisino
Production............Mike Atkins, Jenna Dye, Jodi O'Rourke, Carolyn Mills

Stockbridge, intramural notes

There will be a meeting for anyone interested in joining the Stockbridge School golf team, Thursday at 4 p.m. in 223 Boyden.

If unable to attend, please contact Jack Leaman in 228 Boyden or by calling, 545-1301.

There are still a limited number of slots available for soccer and softball teams this intramural season. League play begins tomorrow. Stop by the Intramural Office in 215 Boyden for further details.

women's lacrosse

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 20

ting caught trying to do too much," Bossio said. "They exhaust themselves, and then they don't have the energy left to finish off the play.

"Their role as leaders is exceptional. They give 150 percent every step of the way."

Joining them on the attack are sophomores Jodi Hubberman (one goal, two assists) and Christie Panker and freshman Amy Pond. In the midfield, the only veterans are junior Liz Hoye (one assist) and sophomores Dolores Angulo (two goals), Christine Pearsall and Donna Murphy, along with freshmen Juliet Midlik, Melissa Cellucci, Kara Hughes and Rachael Splaine (two goals).

On defense, the lone senior is Michele Pytko, who has seen plenty of action on the basketball court, but not as much on the lax field. Sophomores Andrea Goldman and Cynthia Dolce are the lone letterwinners, joined by freshmen Nancy Kane, Marina Krobisch, Samantha Eustace.

In the goal is first-year junior Karen Pierce, who in the four games saved 48.2 percent of the shots she faced, making 53 saves.

"We're going to struggle," Bossio said. "The Ivies are all very strong. It's going to be a day-to-day thing. If we stay injury-free and a lot of things go in our favor, we can pull out a couple of games."

UMass faces Yale tomorrow in New Haven, Conn. before opening its home schedule against Brown Saturday at 3:30 p.m. at Totman Field.

THE BLACK SHEEP

79 Main Street
Amherst
253-3442

58 Main Street
Northampton
586-3055

家湎園南湖
Hunan Garden
Restaurant
MANDARIN/SZECHUEN CUISINE

The Best Chinese Buffet
MANDARIN/SZECHUAN CUISINE
WE DELIVER IN AMHERST 5-9:30 EVERYDAY
Minimum $15 plus $2 delivery charge

NEW
BUFFET & SUNDAY BRUNCH
Buffet served 5-8 p.m. Sun.-Thurs.
Brunch served Sunday 11:30 a.m.-3 p.m.
ALL YOU CAN EAT $5.99
Children under 10 - $3.00

1) Hot and Sour Soup
2) Chicken Fingers
3) Chicken Wings
4) Vegetable Chow Mein
5) Pan Fried Ravioli
6) Beef with Green Peppers
7) House Special Chicken
8) Sweet and Sour Chicken
9) Roast Pork Fried Rice
10) Vegetable Fried Noodle
11) Chinese BBQ Pork
12) Broccoli with Oyster Sauce

ADVOCATE BEST VALLEY 1987

TAKE-OUT SERVICE—FULL COCKTAIL MENU
10 Belchertown Rd. at Rte. 9, Amherst 256-0252

募　集

日本語と英語に堪能なビジネス、
会計等専攻の学生を求めています。
米国プライス ウォーターハウス（PW）で
プロフェショナルになる将来を
目指してみませんか。

PWは103ヵ国に422の拠点をもつ、４万人を超える職員を有する世界的なプロフェショナル集団です。

1849に創立されたPWは、国際的な税務、会計監査、ビジネスアドバイサー、マネジメント コンサルタント業務で世界各地で成長を続けています。

PWの最大の特徴は、この世界的ネットワークと質の高いスタッフそして著名な各国籍企業クライエントの多いことにあります。米国企業では、IBM、Exxon、モルガン銀行、日本企業ではソニー、NTT、野村證券等がその例です。

米国内各事務所で、有能なバイリンガルスタッフを求めています。興味のある方は下記にご連絡下さい。応募用紙をお送り致します。

Intersearch Group Inc.
Attn: Recruitment
115 East 87th Street, Suite 24D, Box 2
New York, NY 10028
(212) 831-5156
(No fees or charges to students)

Price Waterhouse
EXPECT MORE FROM US
プライス ウオーターハウス
青山監査法人（日本）

Price Waterhouse is an equal opportunity employer M/F.

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY

SUMMER SESSIONS 1990

Programs at Georgetown
☐ Over 200 graduate and undergraduate courses
☐ Public Affairs Internships
☐ High School Programs
☐ Intercultural Training
☐ Interpretation and Translation Institute
☐ Language Courses
☐ Theology Conference
☐ Literary Criticism Conference
☐ Institute for H.S. Teachers
☐ Institute on Sacred Scripture
☐ Alumni College
☐ English as a Foreign Language
☐ Helping Families Cope: Ethical and Pastoral Care Issues in Genetics

Sessions
Pre-May 21-June 15
First-June 11-July 13
8-Week Cross Session-June 11-August 3
Second-July 16-August 17

Programs Abroad
☐ Antwerp, Belgium–Int'l. Trade
☐ China-Chinese Language and Culture
☐ Tours, France-Language and Culture
☐ Fiesole, Italy-Italian
☐ Greece-Humanities
☐ Oxford, England–Comparative Business (undergraduate) ☐ Oxford, England–International Management (graduate)
☐ Quito, Ecuador–Spanish
☐ Trier, West Germany-German
☐ Middle East–H.S. Teachers
☐ Leningrad, USSR–Russian Language and Culture
☐ Dublin, Ireland-Modern Irish Literature
☐ Leicester, England–Shakespeare

Call (202) 687-5942 or mail to:
SSCE–Georgetown University
306 Intercultural Center
Washington, D.C. 20057
FAX: (202) 687-8954

Name ____
Address ____
____ Zip ____

Georgetown University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution in employment and admissions.

THE NAMES PROJECT

The AIDS Quilt

—Come visit panels of the New England AIDS Quilt
—a video documenting the AIDS crisis from a personal and political perspective will also be shown continuously.
—Representatives from Dignilife, The Boston Names Project, and University Health Education Division will provide pamphlets, condoms, buttons and posters during the hours of the Quilt display.
Date: March 28
Place: Student Union Ballroom
Time: 9 a.m.-8 p.m.

"We Bring A Quilt"

A workshop and video by members of the Boston Names Project will discuss the purpose of the Quilt, how the Quilt panels are made, and personal involvement with the Quilt.
Date: March 28
Place: Campus Center, Room 811
Time: 8 p.m.

Project supported by: Health Education Division/ University Health Services and the Office for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns.

This Is No Way To Take Your LSAT

If you've set your sights on law school, there's no better LSAT preparation than Stanley H. Kaplan.

Our LSAT prep course will open your eyes with score-raising strategies and techniques. We'll help you master everything from Analytical Reasoning to Reading Comprehension.

Our classes are live – and lively. All our class and study material is based on the "new" LSAT. And you can review lessons, and get additional help as needed in our TEST-n-TAPE® lab, open days, evenings and weekends for your convenience.

Visit our Center today and see for yourself.
And watch the scales tip in your favor.

STANLEY H. KAPLAN
Take Kaplan Or Take Your Chances

Classes begin March 5-April 11
in Amherst, Springfield
& at Smith College
549-5780

For other locations call 800-KAP-TEST

---

men's lacrosse

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 20

Garber. "Like faceoffs, rides, clears and man-up and man-down situations."

The Gorillas took care of some of those in an early scrimmage against Division III power Hobart College before settling down for the real competition.

The Wildcats surprised UMass by jumping out the early lead in the opener before the Gorillas ran off 10 straight for a 10-1 advantage. It was basically a walk from there, everyone getting a chance to play and 16 different people scoring goals.

"The first game was kind of an unknown factor," Garber said. "Arizona scored first, but then we really started to click. When they got behind, it took the wind out of their sails."

The offensive machine didn't stop against Whittier, a more established team in the West but still not of the strength on many Eastern teams.

"They call them the 'Best of the West' out there," Garber said. "We anticipated we'd have a good game, but we expected we'd win."

The Gorillas did more than win, pleasing the coach with their solid play for so early in the season.

"We probably had our best offensive stickhandling that I've seen so far this season," Garber said. "We fed sharply and were shooting well. We jumped all over them."

UMass was able to play its second unit for most of the second half, giving Garber a good look at what appears to be a very deep team.

"Some of the second half guys, like [freshman Mark] Millon and [junior Bill] Begien are going to be players," he said.

Again the depth showed through against Whittier, as 16 different players scored goals in the win.

"The distribution of scoring reflects our balance on offense," Garber said. "We're not a one- or two-person team, and we're tough for other teams to match. This is probably the strongest balance we've had in a while."

Junior attack Jim McAleavey led the Gorillas in scoring on the trip with five goals and seven assists. Most of that production came against Whittier, when he had four goals and five assists.

Close behind were senior attack Scott Hiller and sophomore attack Mike Cain, each with 10 points. Hiller had seven goals (four against Arizona) and Cain six (three in each game). Senior attack Rob Codignotto (4-5-9), senior midfielder John Gonzales (3-5-8) and Begien (5-2-7) also had solid scoring performances.

More importantly for the Gorillas, junior Ted Kellerman and sophomore Ray Suris proved their worth in the net. Coming into the season, the big question was over who would replace four-time All-American Sal LoCascio, but Garber shouldn't have a problem with either candidate.

"Kellerman and Suris both played well," Garber said. "We flip-flopped them, trying to get a clear picture. I suppose Kellerman is the favorite right now."

Kellerman allowed just five goals on 22 shots for an impressive .706 save percentage in playing part of both games.

Gorilla Grumblings: Life as usual with the weekly United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association poll. The Gorillas opened the season among the Top 5 in the rankings, but somehow managed to drop down to 16th before even playing its first game. It's not likely UMass will stay in that neighborhood very long . . . UMass and Cornell will meet for the fifth time in three years tomorrow, including regular season and playoff games in 1988 and '89.

COMEDY NIGHT

TOP COMEDIANS
FROM
Comedy Clubs around the country
SPONSORED BY
The Board of Governors Program Council
APPEARING
Every Tuesday at 9:00 PM
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR STUDENT UNION

women's gymnastics

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 20

Mitchell added.

Another sweet moment came on the Minutewomen's last event, the uneven parallel bars, in which the ladies in maroon and white broke the UMass school record, posting a 46.05. Baxter won the individual bars championship, earning a 9.55 for a tough routine in which she performed a difficult geiger manuever.

"Coming into the meet, we were ranked first and second on the beam and floor," Selk said. "We had a rough day on those events and took seconds on the vault and bars. Any other day we would have swept beam."

The Minutewomen suffered a little breakdown in their first event, the balance beam. Erin Klier kept UMass' head above water, totaling a 9.55, earning her second place in the beam championships. Marshall followed behind a close third with a 9.5. Hurting their scores though, the Minutewomen had to count three falls during their beam routines.

"I think the girls were a bit timid at first," Selk said. "Their success is new to them. This meet will help us going into regionals."

Anxious to get started, the Minutewomen's rhythm may have been thrown off as they had a bye in the first rotation of events, something they didn't experience during the regular season.

"I do not like byes," Mitchell said. "We just like to keep going, but our second bye helped us regroup after the floor exercise."

The Minutewomen certainly needed to turn it up a notch after an unusually low scoring performance on the floor. Marshall earned a respectable 9.45 which gave her fourth place in the floor championship. Baxter took sixth with a 9.35 followed by Kim Grady's 9.2, the only other Minutwoman to break the 9.0 mark.

Coming back in style, the Minutewomen looked as if they were out for blood as they broke the UMass school record on the vault, posting a lofty 46.9.

Turmail, like Marshall and Baxter, was also able to enjoy first place honors in the vault championships as she hit an unbelieveable 9.75. Marshall took fourth with a not-so-shabby 9.55. None of the Minutewomen scored below a 9.1.

"Things didn't go as we planned and we had to alter some routines, but I'm very impressed with our team," Mitchell said.

With the regionals just two weeks away, the Minutewomen should feel more confident with their second place finish, Ranked third in the Northeast behind the University of New Hampshire and Penn State, Mitchell and the Minutewomen feel the Lady Lions will be the main competition, having already beaten the Wildcats earlier this season.

"This tournament was just one battle," Mitchell said. "The war will be raged in Ohio for the big prize. [a trip to the nationals, that is]."

Gymnastics Notebook: Last Friday night, in only his second year, coaching the Minutewomen to a 13-2 record, head coach Alfie Mitchell was honored as the Atlantic 10 Coach-of-the-Year.

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

FIRST ANNUAL STUDENT Film/Video Festival, sponsored by Club Communication and UVC. Wednesday March 28th. Herter 231 7-10pm

MUSICIANS BOSTON CRUSADERS Drum and Bugle Corps Open House Tonight 7:30 CC 903

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

INDEX STAFF MEETING will be held today at 6:30. SENIORS don't forget to buy your 1990 yearbook at 103 CC.

MISSING ISRAEL? Find out about Kesher '90, 3 months in Israel this summer for $1099. And a chance to win a free trip. Call (617) 423-0868.

WANT HANG GLIDING LESSONS? Come to the Hang Gliding Club's Meeting on 3/28 7:30 PM in 803 Campus Center.

WE SCREENPRINT YOUR DESIGN or message on T-shirts, sweats, boxers...At low prices and fast delivery. "Call us collect" Connecticut Advertising 203-668-1158.

APARTMENT SPECIAL

A LIMITED TIME ONLY, Northwood Apts. is offering a 2 Bdr. apt. for the price of a 1 Bdr. For more information on this special offer, please call Lanice at 665-3856. Rent an apt. for March and receive $100.00 off our first months rent. We have student short term leases and free bus service every 15 minutes on weekdays to UMASS and Amherst. (Available to new residents only)

AUTO FOR SALE

$1,000'S SAVED! Government seized/surplus vehicles. Low as $100! BMW, Cadillac, Mercedes. Call now for more information 1-318-828-4989. Ext G1283 24 Hours

1983 MAZDA GLC, Great condition, 4D/FWD. $650-Must sell. James 253-3602

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club Today! Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR RENT

MARTHA'S VINEYARD Oak Bluffs Tivoli Inn Bed and Breakfast. Reasonable rates, convenient location, charming rooms. 508-693-7928.

FOR SALE

CAR STEREO CASSETTE SYSTEM AM/FM radio tape deck dual speakers new $150 or B.O. Call 253-7416 bet. 9AM and 7PM

HORSEBACK RIDING BOOTS
Great condition, 8regL.
$50, call 546-6232

FOUND

FOUND IN CAMPUS CENTER: Patagonia jacket. Call to ID 367-2112

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SHANNON

HAPPY 20TH BIRTHDAY SHANNON. Now you only have one year left until you're legal! Have a great day, because tonight will be the real celebration with your girls! Love ya, Dawn

HELP WANTED

AIRLINES NOW HIRING! Flight attendants Many other positions! $17,500 - $58,240 Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext X7627

AMHERST TENNIS CAMP seeks tennis instructors to teach adults, juniors (June-August). Excellent pay and room/board. Opportunities to arrange for college credit through your institution. Sent resume to: P.O. Box 2271 Amherst College Amherst MA

ATTENTION: Easy Work Excellent Pay! Assemble products at home. Details 1-602-838-8885 Ext W7627

"ATTENTION: HIRING! Cruise ship, casino, hotel jobs! Free travel benefits! Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext Y7627"

COUNSELORS coed camp in Berkshires 220 campers/85 staff has openings for head and assistant instructors in: Waterfront WSI, Head small crafts, Video filmaking, Tennis, Lacrosse, Arts & Crafts, Softball, Basketball, Computers, Hiking, Back packing, Drama, Radio station AM, Waterskiing, Sailing, Horseback riding (western), and bunk unit heads. Good salaries. Friendly atmosphere. June 19-Aug 20 Contact: Paul Krouner 617-964-1912. Call collect days 9-5

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for spring, Christmas and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext S-1120.

D.P. DOUGH IS HIRING counter help and delivery persons. Downtown Amherst, apply in person after 2:00

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SMALL VERMONT CAMP for girls, seeks committed counselors in horsemanship, watersports, photography, wilderness trips and more. Sherry Osborn, Camp Catherine Capers, 25 Shawmut Ave., Apt. UM, Wayland, MA 01778 (508)650-1866

SUMMER JOBS TO SAVE ENVIRONMENT Earn $2500-$3500. National campaign positions to pass Clean Air Act, stop toxic pollution, tighten pesticide controls and promote comprehensive recycling. Available in 18 states and D.C. Intvs on campus 4/3, 4/4. Call Kate at: 1-800-75-EARTH.

NEED EXTRA MONEY? Spare time? National marketing firm offers part time position posting promotional material on campus. Call Jennifer Schaefer at 1-800-592-2121.

THERE'S A JOB FOR YOU IN A SUMMER CAMP

The American Camping Association (NY) will make your application avail. to over 300 camps in the Northeast. Exciting opportunities for college students and professionals. Positions avail: all land and water sports, kitchen, maintenance, arts and crafts, drama, music, dance, nature, tripping, R.N.'s, M.D.s College Credit Available. Call or write for application. American Camping Association, 12 West 31st Street, New York, NY 10001, 1-800-777-CAMP.

PAINTING, PAPERHANGING, POWERWASHING

A SPRING SPRUCE UP FOR YOUR HOME.

Painting-interior & exterior-, wallpapering; powerwashing for your wooden or vinyl homes - They'll look like new-
Call after 5, or weekends anytime. Fully insured, reasonable rates - Frank 1-413-467-3465 Granby

PERSONALS

DEBIE SUCKNEY
Happy Birthday - Jamaica was not the same without you. It was a very long ten days! Eight weeks till summer. If they are like the first eight weeks, then I'll be the happiest person in the world!
Love, Neil

FREDRICK G,
Have a wonderful 22nd Birthday!
Hope all your dreams come true!
I love you - Melissa

MIKE VEVE- Call the woman back and leave a message this time. I think the interest is quite mutual.

WILBUR- Thank you for everything. I've never been so happy! -Charlotte

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

LOOKING FOR FEMALE for 2 bedroom Apt in Southwood Apts., Sunny, next to bus stop, fully equipped kitchen, 1½ bathrooms, new carpet, great place, more info call 546-7354

SERVICES

RESUMES! I will do your resumes for $10 to $30 less than the local print shops! Call me evenings! Rick 586-1642

THE METAMORPHIC TECHNIQUE

GIVE YOURSELF AN ENERGY boost to meet the spring. The Metamorphic Technique is a gentle massage on the feet, hands, and head that will set free your own life energy to heal the imbalance within your body and mind and bring about a state integration and wholeness. For more information call 367-9462.

TRAVEL

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

HEADING FOR EUROPE THIS SUMMER? Jet there anytime for $160 or less with AIRHITCH (as reported in NY Times, Consumer Reports & Let's Go!) For info call. AIRHITCH 212-864-2000

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

SPORTS

Gymnasts enjoy weekend successes

• Minutemen finish fifth

By JASON GEORGE
Collegian Staff

Although consistency is one of the most oft-used words in sports, it can often be one of the most elusive things to achieve in practice.

The University of Massachusetts men's gymnastics team proved this last weekend, as the Minutemen finished fifth out of eight teams in the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League (EIGL) championships at Temple University.

The fifth-place finish matched UMass' standing in the regular season, where the Minutemen finished with a sub-par 3-4 record.

"We just had two bad events," UMass coach Roy Johnson said.

"I thought we could have done a better job on high bars — it was a tough event."

The Minutemen scored a 38.3 on the high bar, their lowest total of six events.

"We trained hard. I think the guys might have lost a little focus," continued Johnson. "They had a tough time on high bar here last month — they aren't used to that bar."

Johnson was referring to a regular season meet at Temple on Feb. 18th, in which the Minutemen scored poorly on high bar on their way to losing the meet.

"High bar was our weakest event," said senior co-captain John Eggers, who fell off the high bar in last month's meet.

"All I want to do (last weekend) was to hit the best routine I could," Eggers said. "Instead, it turned out to be my worst nightmare."

Host Temple, third in the regular season EIGL standings with a 5-2 record, jumped ahead of rivals Navy and Syracuse to win the championship with a score of 274.6. Navy finished second with 272.45, after ending their EIGL season with a 7-0 record. Syracuse took third, scoring 267.0.

In individual competition, Temple sophomore Bill Roth finished first, with Navy standout Jerry Haran taking second. Roth has been the top rated individual in the nation for much of the season.

For UMass, junior Dave Dinucci finished ninth, with senior co-captain Bart Balocki taking 10th overall.

Sophomore Cal Booker turned in UMass' top performance for individual events, finishing fifth in the finals for vaulting with a score of 9.1.

Booker has a strong shot at qualifying for the NCAA Eastern Regional finals at Penn State on April 7. The top six individuals in each event qualify, and Booker is ranked

CONTINUED ON PAGE 15

• Minutewomen happy with second place

By CHRIS MIRACLE
Collegian Staff

Each meet this season, the University of Massachusetts women's gymnastics team has earned more respect from their opponents as was the case this past Saturday at the Atlantic 10 Conference Championships held at Curry Hicks Cage.

The Minutewomen, scoring a 184.9, finished as runners-up to first place Penn State University, which performed consistent throughout the meet to post a 187.45. West Virginia University came in a strong third, totaling a 183.1. This is the highest finish for the Minutewomen in the A-10 tourney since placing third in 1983.

Although the Minutewomen came up short of their ultimate goal, winning the championship, they certainly assured Penn State (A-10 champs for the eighth consecutive year) that they will be hunting Lady Lions at the Northeast Regionals (Apr. 7 at Ohio State University).

"We definitely wanted to win the tournament," UMass coach Alfie Mitchell said. "I think we earned more respect from Penn St."

From the total team effort the Minutewomen displayed, there were many outstanding individual accomplishments. Freshman sensation Tammy Marshall bested all gymnasts to win the all-around championship with her 37.80. Erika Baxter and Kristin Turmail finished fourth and fifth, respectively in the all-arounds.

"Alfie and I had no idea Tammy had won." UMass assistant coach Letitia Selk said. "She just loves the competition and she always rises to the occasion."

"The standout was definetly Tammy,"

CONTINUED ON PAGE 19

Competition tough for softball in Golden State

Minutewomen return with 5-9 record

By DAN SARAZEN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts softball team returned from its California trip having accomplished what it set out to do: get this very young team into games against nationally-ranked teams.

"We have a tremendous wealth of talent," said coach Elaine Sortino. "It's a young team and it needs to be nurtured."

In the process the Minutewomen went 5-9 (five of the losses were by two runs or less) and made it all the way to the semifinals of the Bud Lite National Invitational Tournament. Last year the team was watching that round from the stands.

The week started out well as UMass took two from Santa Clara by the scores of 3-1 and 6-1. Holly Aprile allowed just three hits in the first and Jen Devlin followed the leader and also pitched a three in the closer.

The Minutewomen ran into some mighty stiff compitition in the likes of Fresno St., Cal-Berkeley, Utah St., San Jose St., and California. They dropped the next seven in a row befor they were able to make a dramatic come-from-behind victory over Michigan, 4-3.

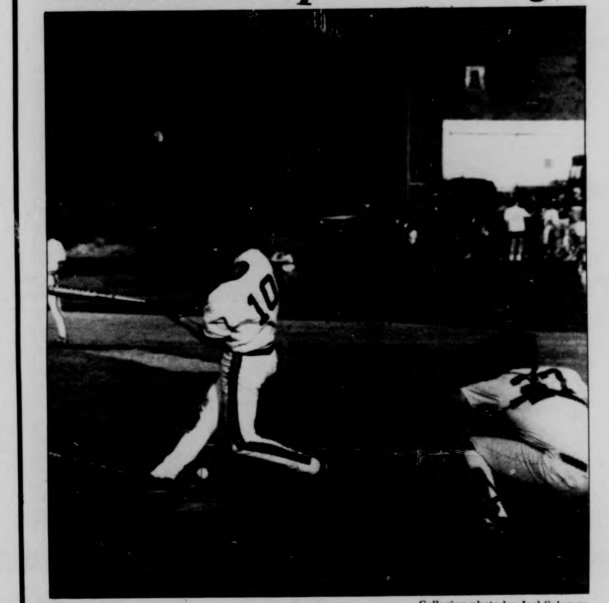
After a loss to Utah State, UMass and Aprile won back to back games against Northwestern and Virginia and found themselves in the semifinals.

In the semifinal game against Arizona St., UMass got on the board quickly thanks to a homer by catcher Cherie DellAnno but the runs would end there for the Minutewomen and the game would go to the Sun Devils, 2-1.

How much a team can develop in such a short period of time is questionable, Sortino chooses to be a realist. "We went out a young team and we came back a young team," but she adds, "The kids played hard and gave 100 percent."

For now the team will get ready for this weekend's Connecticut Tournament where they will play Atlantic 10 Conference rivals UConn and Penn State.

Baseball opens today



Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

The UMass baseball team opens its home schedule this afternoon, facing rival Connecticut at 3 p.m. at Lorden Field.

Gorillas find the balance in Arizona

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

What a way to spend Spring Break.

The University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team kicked off its season last week with its annual mid-March jaunt — this year to Arizona. The weather was a balmy 90 degrees, and the Gorillas were almost as hot, scoring 55 goals in grabbing a pair of wins.

UMass opened the season against the host University of Arizona on Wednesday, rolling to a 27-8 win. The Gorillas then followed that up on Friday by beating Whittier College, 28-7.

The Eastern portion of the season begins tomorrow when UMass travels to Ithaca, N.Y. to meet with old rival Cornell (3 p.m.).

Aside from fun in the sun, this was the chance for UMass to work out the kinks from a lack of outdoor play, and to see what this team has in store for the 1990 campaign.

"It was a chance to practice parts of our game that we couldn't practice indoors," said UMass coach Dick

CONTINUED ON PAGE 19

Gazelles drop three of four contests

Women's lacrosse takes on a youthful look for 1990 season

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

In many ways, this could be a tough season for the University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team.

Last month the UMass Athletic Dept. decided that, faced with serious budget difficulties, it would have to suspend the program after the conclusion of this season.

The Gazelles were determined to make this swan song a successful one, but things haven't quite started off as well as they could have. UMass returned from last week's Spring Break action with just one win in its first four tries.

According to UMass coach Patti Bossio, the Gazelles were already behind because of its lack of outdoor work entering last week. On top of that, they were also playing some of the top teams in the country.

"It's difficult to compete with those teams," Bossio said. "It was our first time outside. We're always behind the eight-ball to start the season."

The UMass roster also features mostly freshmen and sophomores, which gives most any opponent an advantage in experience.

Regardless of those factors, the Gazelles opened the campaign with a 10-6 win over Hofstra. But that changed with consecutive losses to Maryland-Baltimore County, Maryland and Loyola (Md.) — the last two of which are serious national powers.

"Maryland and Loyola are in a different league," Bossio said.

Against UMBC, a stiff wind created a difficult wind chill that hurt the UMass cause in an 11-4 loss.

"If we played UMBC now, we could beat them," Bossio said.

After that, it was simply a matter of too much power for Maryland and Loyola. The Terrapins impressed Bossio with a 15-4 win, and UMass hung with Loyola throughout the first half before falling, 10-3.

"It was 3-0 with three minutes left in the half, and 6-2 at the half," Bossio said. "We played well, that's a great score against them."

Bossio credited a deliberate slow-down offense for being able to control the tempo and keep the game the way UMass wanted it.

"If we have possession, the other team doesn't and they can't score," she said. "It was very effective in the Loyola game."

In the end though, it was still inexperience that caused the most problems for the Gazelles.

"We're young and we're going to have lapses," Bossio said. "The seniors are both on offense, so the defense is all freshmen and sophomores. There's no substitute for experience. It was like baptism by fire for most of the team."

Senior attack Sue Murphy led the team in scoring with 10 goals and an assist, followed by senior Ann King with six goals. But those two comprise the experienced corps for UMass, and had to shoulder a lot of the load.

"Sue and Ann are doing a great job. But they're get-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 18

WEATHER	FOCUS	SPORTS
There will be sunny skies today with temperatures expected to reach 40-45.	Resources and support for the lesbian, gay, bisexual community in the area. Page 5.	UMass baseball team clobbered by the University of Connecticut. Page 12.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 36

GSS to sponser tax debate

Fiscal crisis to be discussed by Anderson, Braude

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

The Graduate Student Senate announced last night a debate between outspoken anti-tax activist Barbara Anderson of Citizens for Limited Taxation and Jim Braude of the Tax Equity Alliance of Massachusetts, concerning the often proposed tax increase to counteract the fiscal crisis affecting Massachusetts.

The program, which is scheduled to be held 7 p.m., April 5 in the Campus Center Auditorium, will be moderated by John W. Cole, anthropology professor and president of the Massachusetts Society of Professors.

Anderson, a vocal critic of Governor Dukakis, is often derisively called one of the three "radio governors of Massachusetts."

This comment refers to her appearance on a controversial radio talk show heard in the Boston area hosted by Jerry Williams with Boston Herald columnist Howie Carr.

The GSS also passed a motion to send a telex to US Ambassador to El Salvador William Walker and Salvadoran President Cristiani condemning the arrest and imprisonment without charge of University of El Salvador student Concepcion del Carmen Bernal Peres.

The motion was proposed by Sen. Christopher Brown, of the botany department, who learned of the arrest from PeaceNet, a computer network formed by people concerned about Central America.

Brown said he learned last week from the network that Peres was arrested by the Treasury Police on an unknown charge.

Brown said he is very concerned about the University of El Salvador, a sister school of the University of Massachusetts, especially since the November military assault on the campus and continued military presence on the campus.

The motion reads: "We further condemn all other acts of harassment and intimidation of the UES community. We demand that the Salvadoran government end the militarization of the university, return the UES campus to the university authorities and guarantee the autonomy of the university."

The GSS also voted, 14 to 10 with two abstentions, to raise the graduate student fee from $73 to $75 in order to continue to fund one-fourth of the Legal Services Office's budget.

The GSS has an agreement with the Student Government Association to provide one-fourth or $58,250 of the LSO's budget. The SGA contributes the remaining three-fourths.

Collegian Photo by John Woo

ROBOT TALK — High school student Sean Sellers shows his robot to economics major Jim Oshea at the regional science fair in the Student Union Ballroom.

Student poll finds most hate graffiti is homophobic

Hate graffiti at the University of Massachusetts is predominately homophobic, said students randomly polled in the Campus Center yesterday.

"What I have seen is stuff against the gay and lesbian community," said sophomore Esther Matte, "I haven't seen anti-Black or anti-Semitic graffiti yet."

Matte said fighting prejudice is frustrating because the people who write such graffiti do not care about being educated. Nevertheless, she said, the campus has no choice but to continue sponsoring educational events challenging prejudice.

Aimee Budreau, a junior psychology major, said most of the hate messages she has seen written in the bathroom stalls are anti-homosexual.

"Some of it involves conversations back and forth," she said. "Some people are saying they hate these people, while others are against it.

"People who feel that much hate aren't going to go out of their way to educate themselves," she said.

Most students said they believed that not much can be done to prevent people from writing anonymous hate messages.

Erik Sussbauer, a sophomore School of Management major, said: "How do you catch someone doing it? I don't see how it can be stopped. It's unfortunate that it happens, but I don't think there's anyway it can be avoided."

"We can't have the toilet police outside the stall checking everybody," he said.

Sussbauer added that if someone wants to "vent their disapproval on the walls," they should have the courage to identify themselves and back up their statements with intelligent arguments.

Sequoya Frey, a sophomore finance major, said with the exception of some comments on abortion scratched on a women's room stall, she hasn't seen much controversial graffiti.

"I once saw [a note which read] 'U.S. out of Panama,'" she said. "But Panama was spelled wrong."

— DARREN GARNICK

Education used to combat graffiti

Workshops urge students to question prejudicial attitudes

DARREN GARNICK
Collegian Staff

(Part three of a three-part series on anonymous hate graffiti on campus.)

Although the authors of racist, anti-Semitic and homophobic graffiti often remain forever faceless and nameless, University of Massachusetts educators maintain there are several methods to successfully combat their threats.

Bailey Jackson, director of the UMass Social Issues Training Project, said refusal to confront hate graffiti is a form of "collusion" with the people who write it.

The project, which sponsors weekend one-credit prejudice workshops, encourages students to speak out against hatred, he said. Jackson said he hopes students will apply what they learn in the workshops to their everyday interactions with family and friends.

"People should not sit still and have their environment degraded," he said.

According to Jackson, since many teacher certification programs require these types of workshops, education majors will be more likely to confront prejudice when they have classrooms of their own.

However, Jackson said education alone cannot solve every problem.

"Education is only a piece of the answer," he said. "We also need direct action which involves consciously going after people and letting them know it will not be tolerated.

"People who engage in this and run away are hard to find, but they need to know that there are boundaries of acceptable behavior at this university," he said.

UMass needs to make it clear, through student orientation programs that the authors of hate messages are committing a crime, Jackson said.

Lt. Mike Grabieck, an investigator for the UMass Police Community Disorders Unit, said hate graffiti is a crime that is seldom reported.

Under the 1980 Massachusetts Civil Rights Act, the penalty for sending threats of force or intimidation, is a prison sentence up to 10 years and/or a fine up to $10,000, Grabieck said. But he cautioned that those punishments were for extreme civil rights abuses. Most hate graffiti cases fall under vandalism or disorderly conduct, he said.

He said the perpetrators of such crimes can be prosecuted only if the incident is reported.

"The police department is only as good as the people in the community make it," Grabieck said. "People are fast to blame law enforcement [for not taking action], but the community has to cooperate with us and give us information.

"Any [hate] graffiti is a crime and should be reported. Why people don't report it, I don't know," he said.

UMass educators acknowledge that the authors of hate graffiti are difficult to catch. However, they stress their occurrence presents an opportunity to educate people about prejudice.

Yehudit Heller, program director of UMass Hillel, said people of all ethnicities can rally together when one group is singled out for attack. Public condemnation of hate graffiti sends out a message to the community that people care about fighting prejudice, she said.

"We can turn our anger into a positive thing," Heller said. "Anger can be a very constructive thing, very creative."

"We can't only denounce the action," said Office of Third World Affairs Director Sherwood Thompson. "We must also offer alternatives to these people [who write hate graffiti] so that we can enhance their lives and give them an option to go beyond their narrow scope on life."

Thompson said there is a special type of wall paneling that is difficult to write on, but installing it would not address the attitudes behind hate graffiti.

"It's sad if we have to start architecturally designing a building to prevent this type of behavior," he said.

Scrawls of HATE.

Collegian Graphic by Amy Walsh

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief	Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor	George Austin
Editorial Editor	Minu Sebastian
News Editor	Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor	Jim Clark
Arts Editors	Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor	Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor	Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor	Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor	Chris Muther
Business Manager	Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager	Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager	Martina Rios
Circulation Manager	Chris Baker
Subscription Manager	Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager	Donna Cusson
Production Managers	Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager	Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business	Lori Black, Brian Harrington Maureen Majerowski
Graphics	Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

For Your Information

For Your Information is a calendar listing of local announcements and upcoming events published daily by the Collegian as a public service. All submissions must be typed and submitted to the news room at least one full day beforehand. We reserve the right to edit for space.

Exam Schedule – The Spring 1990 Final Examination Schedule will be available beginning Thursday, March 15, 1990. Copies will be delivered to students in the residence halls, and will be available to off-campus students in the Registrar's office (213 Whitmore) beginning Thursday.

Pregistration Guide – The Fall 1990 Pre-Registration Guide, which includes both a schedule of courses and course descriptions, will be distributed in the Campus Center Concourse on Monday, April 9, from 10 a.m. through 4 p.m. Copies will be available in the 2nd floor lobby of Whitmore beginning Tuesday, April 10. Only one copy will be available per student.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1990

Performance – Musical Theater Performance: "A Chorus Line", sponsored by the UMass Music Theater Guild, Fine Arts Center 8:00 p.m., $3/students, $5/general public.

Open House – Are you interested in playing military simulation or role-playing games? The Umass Grenadier and Gaming Society will be holding an open house for perspective members on Wednesday, March 28th from 7 p.m. to 12 a.m. in rooms 174-176 in the Campus Center. All are welcome. Contact: Leonard F. Houle, President UMass Grenadier Society (527-0252).

Drama – The "Not Ready For Bedtime Players" perform one of the most innovative AIDS education projects to hit the Pioneer Valley. Peer Sexuality Educators and drama students act out skits which use humor, creativity and drama to transmit important information about AIDS, safe sex, communication, and compassion. The show promises to be both fun and educational. Performances scheduled to date include: Gorman Lounge, 8 p.m., March 28; Club Hamlin and Hamlin Hall, 8 p.m., April 3; Special AIDS Program, Laughter and Compassion Herter 231 7:30 p.m. April 11; Hampden Theater 8 p.m. April 18; Patterson Lounge 8 p.m. April 25; Hampshire College (TBA) 8 p.m., May 2; Orchard Hill Bowl outdoors, weather permitting Rain (Gray TV Lounge) 7:30 pm May 9. We welcome students, faculty and staff to these 549-2671 ext. 181.

Waste reduction drive – EARTHFOOD CUSTOMERS! Make a difference! It is Waste Awareness Day; help UMass reclcying students with our waste reduction drive. During Earthfoods hours, contact Danile Shapiro 546-6151 Recycling education.

Internship – CASIAC is holding a one-credit internship for students interested in counseling and learning more about the University beginning today from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in E-20 Machmer. Sign up in CASIAC, E-20 Machmer, before Wednesday or come to our first meeting. Older undergraduates are encouraged to attend.

Fashion show – MADAMOSEILLE "Fashion Show", sponsored by Panhellenic Council takes place tonight from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the CC Auditorium. Admission is free.

THURSDAY, MARCH 29, 1990

PARTY - All Seniors are expected to come "Make History" on Thursday, March 29th in Campus Center 1009. The fun starts at 9 p.m. Drink Specials, D.J. and Dancing. ID's will be checked.

FRIDAY, MARCH 30, 1990

The UMass Commuter Area Government is sponsoring a bus trip to New York City on Saturday, March 31st. Cost is $18 round trip. Please register in person at Off Campus Housing Office, Room 428 Student Union Building, 545-0865. Seating is limited to 40.

Special Student & Youth Fares to
EUROPE, SOUTH AMERICA, ASIA
from New York on Scheduled Airlines!

DESTINATIONS	OW	RT
LONDON	$175	$350
PARIS	225	430
MADRID	235	450
ROME	275	550
STOCKHOLM/OSLO	250	500
COPENHAGEN	250	500
ZURICH	215	405
FRANKFURT	235	450
RIO	365	730
TOKYO	495	850

Add on fares Boston, DC, Chicago, Pittsburgh, other U.S. cities. Plus $6 dep. tax. $10 cust/immig fee. $5 security fee may apply in ea. direction.
CALL OR WRITE FOR OUR SPECIAL FARES TO THE SOUTH PACIFIC, AUSTRALIA & AROUND THE WORLD ROUTINGS.
Eurail and Eurail Youth Passes available immediately.
1-800-777-0112 STA
212-986-9470
WHOLE WORLD TRAVEL
17 E. 45th St., Suite 805, New York, NY 10017
Part of the worldwide STA Travel Network

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
TOLL FREE HOT LINE 800-351-0222
in Calif. (213) 477-8226
Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information
11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

EUROPE by CAR
RENT or BUY
LOWEST PRICES
FOR STUDENTS, TEACHERS
EUROPE BY CAR
One Rockefeller Plaza
New York, NY 10020
Phone (212) 581-3040
Mail this ad for Special Student/Teacher Tariff.
☐ RENTAL ☐ LEASE ☐ PURCHASE

Ben's Service, Inc.
BY THE BRIDGE IN SUNDERLAND
dial 665-3344
Mass. Insp. #925
Certified Mechanic in:
Alignments, Shocks, Tune-ups, Brakes, Lubes, Mufflers, Batteries, Tires
BEN'S LOT
24½ HOUR Local - Long Distance TOWING
Barre Tozloski

BRUEGGER'S BAGEL BAKERY
Bagels • Bagel Sandwiches
Cookies • Brownies • Baked Fresh
All Day • Custom Cream Cheese
Open 7 Days
170 N. Pleasant St. • Amherst, MA
253-5713

Scott's LIQUORS
OPEN MON-SAT 8 AM-11 PM
Tel: 549-2692
6 University Drive at Newmarket Center
Amherst, Mass.
diagonally across from UMASS Stadium
Great Location, Low Prices...Scotts Liquors of Course!
O'Keefe Canadian Beer 24-12 oz. bottles $11.99 + Dep.
Knickerbocker 12-12 oz. cans $3.99 + Dep.
Cuervo Gold Tequila 750 ml $9.99
Strohs Light 6-12 oz. cans $2.99 + Dep.
Malibu Rum 750 ml $8.99
Gordons Vodka 1.75 $11.99
With this Coupon $AVE 10% on a 1.75 ltr. size of any liqour not already on sale. Good 3/28 thru 4/4
* Not redeemable with senior citizen discount
WE WANT TO BE YOUR FAVORITE LIQUOR STORE
Every Day Low Price For Bud, Bud Light, Miller, Miller Lite, Genuine Draft, Coors, Coors Light and Extra Gold $11.99 plus Dep.
Kegs Available
VISA/MASTERCARD ACCEPTED, ALSO LOCAL PERSONAL CHECKS

THE NAMES PROJECT
The AIDS Quilt
—Come visit panels of the New England AIDS Quilt
—a video documenting the AIDS crisis from a personal and political perspective will also be shown continuously.
—Representatives from Dignilife, The Boston Names Project, and University Health Education Division will provide pamphlets, condoms, buttons and posters during the hours of the Quilt display.
Date: March 28
Place: Student Union Ballroom
Time: 9 a.m.-8 p.m.
"We Bring A Quilt"
A workshop and video by members of the Boston Names Project will discuss the purpose of the Quilt, how the Quilt panels are made, and personal involvement with the Quilt.
Date: March 28
Place: Campus Center, Room 811
Time: 8 p.m.
Project supported by: Health Education Division/University Health Services and the Office for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns.

LOCAL

Pledges hold blood drive, organize with Red Cross

By LAVINIA GAMMON
Collegian Correspondent

Completing a requirement for brotherhood and fulfilling a community need, pledges from one campus fraternity are sponsoring a blood drive today.

Each fraternity pledge class is asked to do a philanthropy project before they can become brothers. This semester, pledges of Alpha Delta Phi chose to help the American Red Cross run a blood drive.

"Giving blood is the best thing you can do because blood is always needed," said Jose Antonio Sesin, the Alpha Delta Phi pledge secretary.

Sesin and Dave Helgeson, another Alpha Delta Phi pledge, organized their pledge class to sponsor this drive and contacted Diane Rowe, a recruting specialist for the American Red Cross, to find out how and when they could help run a blood drive.

As sponsors of a blood drive, Sesin and Helgeson were asked to recruit fellow pledges and organize the event. The pledges made and put up hundreds of posters all over campus with information on when and where the drive would be held.

During the two-day drive, Alpha Delta Phi pledges will have a table on the Campus Center Concourse to recruit donors, offer information and register students with the American Red Cross before they give blood.

Nancy Marion, a recruitment specialist for the UMass area American Red Cross said blood drives take a lot of work. "The pledges at Alpha Delta Phi have been really helpful with this blood drive."

The Red Cross counts heavily on UMass for blood donors making it necessary to hold several blood drives each semester, Marion said. "When UMass goes on break, the area feels the loss of the students and we usually plan a blood drive when the students return from vacation."

The drive, sponsored by Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, will be held from 10:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. in Campus Center room 163.

Collegian Photo by K.A. Burke

OUTDOOR CLASSROOM – Joanne Quimby, a sophomore composition literature major enjoys the spring-like weather on Orchard Hill the week before spring break.

Bank bag robbed from Snack Bar

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

Staff at the Worcester Snack Bar Monday discovered a bank bag, which was locked in the safe on Friday, unlocked on a desk and $285 stolen, police said.

In other police reports:

VANDALISM

- Staff reported yesterday various pool items thrown into the Boyden pool sometime after 1 a.m.
- A woman reported Monday that her parked vehicle in Lot 42 had been struck in the right rear side by an unknown vehicle. The estimated value is more than $1000.

LARCENY

- A woman reported Monday the theft of her mountain bike that was locked to the rack at Totman Gym. The estimated value was $150.
- A woman reported Monday the theft of her keys after having a dispute with her boyfriend. Police retrieved the keys and issued a trespass notice to the man.

ARREST

- Westfield Police confirmed an outstanding warrant on Gregory P. McIntosh, 21, of Wrentham for the nonpayment of fines. He was arrested and transported to Northampton District Court.

SGA positions to be ratified tonight

The ratification of the Student Government Association elections for president, student trustee, and 25 senate seats will hit the floor tonight at the Undergraduate Student Senate meeting.

Monday night four senate members conducted an automatic recount of the presidential ballots due to the four-vote margin of president-elect Natasha Diephius (1,094) over John Silveria (1,090). Third candidate Ken Parker received 342 votes. The SGA constitution mandates that ballots be recounted when candidates receive within 10 votes of each other.

The recount again proved Diephuis the victor with 1,063 votes over Silveria (1,002) and Ken Parker (365). The difference between the total number of votes in the original tally and the recount is 96.

Silveria, unavailable for comment last night, expressed concern for the elections Monday when the new results were available. He said he protested the entire election and questioned the difference in the total number of ballots counted each time.

Ross Condit, chair of the Governmental Affairs Committee said: "The difference may have been an accounting error that happened March 15, the day we finished counting the ballots."

In order for the winners to be ratified, a senate majority vote is required.

"I feel the president will be ratified after considerable debate from opposing parties," said Jeff Turco, co-elections chair.

– LISA SHAPIRO

Alumni role descends on seniors

Telefund contacts students Friday for campaign fund

By DAVID ALLEN FORRESTER
Collegian Staff

Beginning this Friday, seniors will be getting their first taste of being University of Massachusetts alumni. The people at Telefund will be calling to ask for a pledge to the Senior Campaign Fund, part of the Annual Fund which adds to the endowment of the University.

Kristen Zagarella, chair of recruitment for the campaign and a member of the 12-member Executive Committee, said the money raised is not the only benefit of the senior drive.

"It acts as an introduction to the Annual Fund so when we call them as alumni, they've heard of us before and they already know what it's about," she said in a recent interview.

The theme of this year's fund-raiser is "Making History: 1990", Zagarella said.

"We're leaving the University at a time when there are so many changes happening, including the beginning of a new decade," Zagarella said.

Organizers plan to hold a kick-off party on Thursday in the Campus Center with music, food, and drinks.

"It's one of the few things we have that are just for seniors," Zagarella said.

On Friday and Saturday, seniors (many of whom are from the Greek Area and The Mortor Board) will begin calling their classmates for pledges. After Saturday the senior fund drive will be handled by Telefund, Zagarella said.

The money pledged will be added to the University's endowment and the interest on the money will help fund the library, she said.

Last year, the first year of the pledge drive, the interest was earmarked for mental health services, Zagarella said.

She hopes that this year's funds surpass last year's $40,000 donations.

Seniors who pledge will have until September to make their donation, she said. Seniors interested in working on the campaign can attend a training session on Thursday.

Churchill: University system educates 'white studies'

By ALEXANDER NGUYEN
Collegian staff

The university system is a barrier to education, a barrier to gaining the knowledge essential to the survival of our society, said Ward Churchill, director of the University Learning Center at the University of Colorado in Boulder.

Churchill spoke in the University of Massachusetts Campus Center on March 16 as part of American Indian Awareness Month.

What you're receiving is "white studies," he said. "This is not education, it's indoctrination of one mentality: European linear thought."

Churchill cited an example from the field of philosophy. Philosophy, he said, is the study of Plato, Aristotle, and in advanced classes Hegel and Marx. "This is described as philosophy, not white philosophy, or European philosophy, but just philosophy. Because philosophy is European thought, they are the only ones who philosophize.

"The function of education is ideological, it is a part of the European imperial/colonial process," he said. "There are no non-European industrial societies, its been exported and imposed."

Churchill said he felt encouraged by progressive educators who subscribe to Marxian dialectics, because dialectics were similar to indigenous peoples' cyclical world view, and he felt that this could be common ground. However, he found that dialectics did not realize that people had any relationship to Earth. He said he's "never run into a Marxist who understands dialectics."

"To return the university to an educational system it is neccesary to break through this hegemony of institutional racism and change its linear thought to all sources of knowledge. This would mean diversity and you could start to learn.

"The university uses diversity to contain the power of people of color, it recruits diversified, qualified faculty to attract diverse students," he said. "Qualified means people of the correct race or ethnic posture who have been indoctrinated by the same people who were oppressive in the first place.

"These qualified people of color are used as clones to regurgitate the same European mentality," he said. Churchill cited Franz Fanon's book Black Skin, White Mask, about the process where people of color are taught how to administer a racist system on their own people for white society.

This, Churchill said, is the "most advanced state of colonization, where you get people to do it to themselves. Students must think as human beings and stop playing this academic game," he said.

Diversity is not the difference of skin color, it is the bringing together of different ways of thought, he said. In referring to specialty programs such as Afro-American studies, Asian studies, Native American studies, or Latin American studies, he said those programs need to be incorporated in all places of the curriculum.

"Not only those ethnic students but all students must demand this kind of a curriculum, one that would give you a real education," he said.

"Separatist programs are stupid," he said. "We've been in white studies all this time. You have everything to gain by studying different ways of thought, you are the most deprived. Indians have Indian studies, its called home."

Churchill reminded us that "Europeans are indigenous people too, they're just indigenous somewhere else."

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

Legal Services has positions available for legal assistant interns for the Fall 1990 semester. This is a challenging opportunity for students from a variety of majors and disciplines to gain valuable legal experience.

Responsibilities include:
- client interviewing
- attendance at hearings
- preparation of court forms
- maintenance of continuing caseload
- investigations and research

Legal-Services-Center
university of massachusetts, amherst, ma. 01003

Up to 15 credits may be earned. Apply early! Contact Legal Services, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995. Start the application process today!

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

Everything You Always Wanted To Know About Contraception -
For Men Only

Condom
Foam Sponge
Spermicides Jelly/Cream
IUD ? Pill
Sterilization Suppository
Natural Family Planning
Diaphragm

Thurs., March 29, 7:00 PM
University Health Center, Room 302
All Men Are Welcome

TONIGHT
CHANGES
DANCE CLUB
SPRING BREAK MONTH
50¢ DRAFTS
No Cover Before 10:00 p.m.
256-8284

first annual
Student film and video festival

All are welcome to attend

Wednesday March 28
Herter 231
7:00–10:00

Award winning entries will be premiered!
Refreshments to follow

Any questions contact:
Gail McLaughlin 253–9193
Vivian Chikara 253–9191
David Donnelly —South College

Sponsored by Club Communications
and the
Union Video Center

Help Start a New Tradition...

Your help is needed to organize a pre-commencement celebration for the Class of 1990. People are needed to work on the publicity, entertainment, photography, steering and special events committees. If you are interested in sharing your ideas or getting involved in the planning process, plan to attend the information meeting.

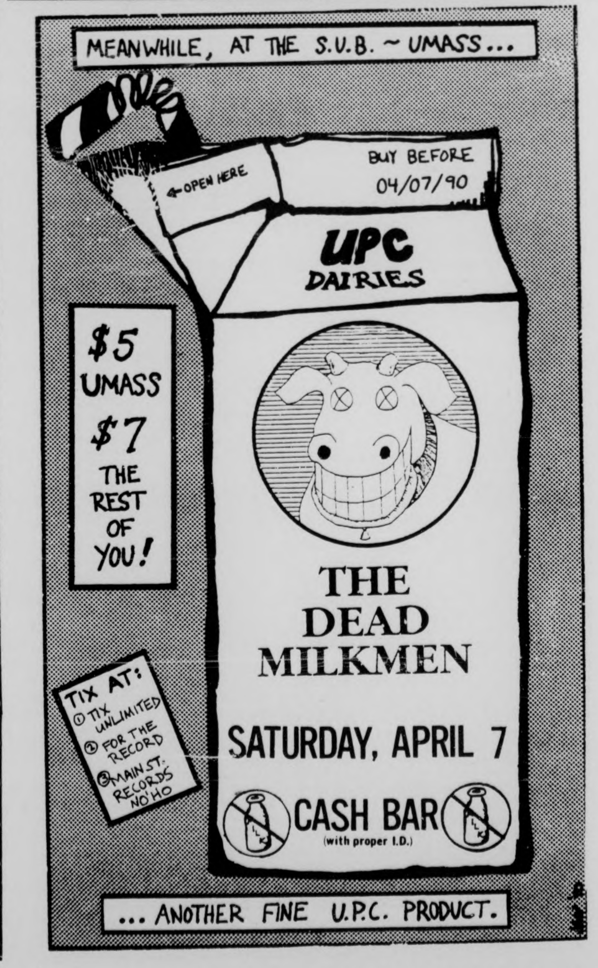
SENIOR PICNIC

General Information
Meeting
Sunday, April 1
7 pm
Memorial Hall

Everyone is welcome!

For more information, contact
Ana Tolentino Voegeli, 545-2317

Sponsored by the Offices of Alumni Relations, Residential Education and Student Activities.



MEANWHILE, AT THE S.U.B. ~ UMASS...
← OPEN HERE
BUY BEFORE 04/07/90
UPC DAIRIES
$5 UMASS $7 THE REST OF YOU!
THE DEAD MILKMEN
SATURDAY, APRIL 7
TIX AT: ① TIX UNLIMITED ② FOR THE RECORD ③ MAIN ST. RECORDS NO'HO
CASH BAR (with proper I.D.)
... ANOTHER FINE U.P.C. PRODUCT.

FOCUS

GLB Awareness Week Kicks Off Today

Organizations provide source of support for GLB community

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Today marks the fourth annual Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual Awareness Week which was first organized by the Program for GLB concerns as well as University of Massachusetts' faculty and administration.

The week's events were planned primarily to increase the general campus awareness which in turn would foster a less homophobic atmosphere, said Benjamin Eder, coordinator of the 1990 Awareness Week.

GLB Awareness Week was held during last semester's Civility Week, but was not as successful as some hoped, Eder said. As a result, the budget for this week's events were depleted. Next year, Eder said, the GLB will return to its annual tradition.

When the Awareness Week first started it was coordinated by students and administrators. Now, four years later, Awareness week is completely organized and run by students. This student involvement has also helped sustain many groups which provide support for the GLB community.

Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance
416 Student Union

The purpose of the Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance is to provide a safe environmemt for lesbians, bisexuals and gay men as well as those who wish to assist the gay community, said Timothy Duffy, LBGA treasurer.

He said the LBGA also provides resources and referrals as well as education to individuals or groups who request it. This is done in order to dispel myths and misconceptions about homosexuality in the surrounding community, he said.

A safe space for the gay community is important because it gives people an opportunity to discuss issues concerning the community, Duffey said. At the same time, he added, it helps students develop a positive self-concept.

The LBGA also holds rallies, sponsors speakers and assists in the sponsorship of programs such as Awareness Week to battle against homophobia and heterosexism.

Every Friday the LBGA arranges a coffee social in the Campus Center from 3 to 6 p.m. and dances are held every month. In addition to this activities, a weekly business meeting is held to discuss the funtioning of the organization which is open to both members and non-members, Duffy said.

Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns
John Adams Lobby, South West Residential Area

The Program for Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns was founded by Felice Yeskel following a series of homophobic incidents in the spring of 1984. According to Yeskel, UMass is only one of three universities in the country with an official group like the program.

The program offers trained speakers to hold discussions revolving around the issues of homosexuality and bisexuality at UMass and the surrounding community, she said. It also provides diversity education to address the needs of gay, lesbian and bisexuals of different races and religions.

Radical Student Union
LESBIAN BISEXUAL GAY ALLIANCE
A CLOSET IS A VERY LONELY HOME

Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

Central office of Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual Affairs located in the Student Union

According to Yeskel, the program provides a resource library of books, journals, videos and articles that are available to take out. She said the organization provides referrals to campus and community services as well as listings of services, jobs, and housing in the area. She said the program sponsors a film series every Thursday night in the Campus Center.

Students can also report incidents of homophobic harassment and discrimination to the program, Yeskel said. The program networks with other campus groups in order to respond quickly to homophobic behavior.

Lesbian, Bisexual and Gay Counseling Collective 406G Student Union

The Lesbian, Bisexual and Gay Counseling Collective was established for people who are questioning their sexual orientation or are having other problems coming out to the gay community, said to a counselor who works at the collective who asked that his name not be used.

The Collective offers free, walk-in, peer counseling, he said. It is not only for students, but for anyone in the community who is having problems with their sexuality.

An important aspect of the collective is the Rap Group, which meets every Wednesday night, he said. It gives people a group setting in which to share their common experiences or just listen to others, he said. There is a set topic each week, but the topic can change depending on the group's interests.

Lesbian, Bisexual Women's Union

The Lesbian, Bisexual Women's Union, an umbrella group of the LBGA, was organized last spring as a collective support group focusing on women's issues.

"It's a session that's safe for women who are lesbian and bisexual and safe for women in general to talk about issues of sexism,' said Ali Woolwich, a collective member.

The LBWU meets in the LBGA office every Tuesday night at 8:30. Helene Mitchell, a former UMass student, organized and coordinated the group. Woolwich said the LBWU is run as a collective.

After an information session at the beginning of each meeting, a rap topic is chosen and agreed upon by the entire group, Woolwich said. A different member of the group facilitates the meeting each week to ensure all participants get a chance to speak, she said.

The Everywoman's Center
Wilder Hall

The Everywoman's center at the University of Massachusetts offers an array of services to lesbians and all other women on campus.

Carol Wallace, Director of the EWC said, "All of our services are available to all women." Wallace named counseling, along with resource and referral as the center's most frequently used services by the lesbian community.

"We offer short term therapy for women and their partners," Wallace said. "We frequently offer groups for lesbians around issues of coming out."

The Everywoman's Center is the main office for resources and referrals. It acts as an outlet to other groups and programs on campus and in the tri-county area of Hampden, Hampshire, and Franklin, Wallace said.

Apart from these sources, a lesbian newsboard at the center posts social and cultural events.

In addition, the Bridge Program which is an extension of the Everywoman's Center, coordinates cultural, educational, and social events for lesbians of color, Wallace said.

For the past two years this program has held a pot-luck supper on the last Sunday of every month for lesbians of color.

The EWC also houses a 2,000 volume library with much literature written by and about lesbians, Wallace said.

Diane Hicks, Kendra Pratt and Kerry Herlihy contributed to this article

Schedule of Events: 1990 GLB Awareness Week

Today
Noon: Kick Off Rally — Student Union Steps

All Day: AIDS Name Quilt — Student Union

8 p.m.: A workshop and video by the members of the Boston Names Project. Campus Center 811

Thursday, March 29
5 p.m.-7 p.m.: Gay and Lesbian Hispanics United.
Campus Center 168C

8 p.m.: Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual Career Forum.
Campus Center 174-178

Friday, March 30
4 p.m.-6 p.m.: Parents and Friends of Gays and Lesbians.
Campus Center 911

Saturday, March 31
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Movie Marathon
Leach TV Lounge - Northeast Residential Area

11 a.m.: Different From The Others(1919)
The first film to openly discuss homosexuality.
11:30 a.m.:a Wings(1927)
The story of two young men and how their relationship evolves as they go to war.

11:45 a.m.:Pandora's Box(1929)
First explicitly drawn lesbian character on film.

3:45 p.m.:Madchen in Uniform(1931)
Story of intense love of a young girl for her teacher in a strict German boarding school.

5:15 p.m.:A Taste Of Honey(1961)
Story of a single, pregnant, working class woman and the shy, effeminate, gay man she befriends.

7 p.m.:Darling(1965)
Story of a straight woman and her gay friend and their adventures in Italy when they fall in love with the same man.

Sunday, April 1
3 p.m.-6 p.m.: "Twice Blessed" — on being Jewish and lesbian, Christie Balka and others.
Campus Center 101

7 p.m.: Coffee House at the Blue Wall featuring Monica Grant, Justine and Joyce, M'liss, Kole, Paul and Tone.

Monday, April 2
4 p.m.-5:30 p.m.: Issues facing GLB people of color, all welcome.
Campus Center 917

7 p.m.-9 p.m.: Authors Leslea Newman and Stephen McCoauley read from their latest works.
Campus Center 904-908

Pizza & Bowl Special
"Dugout Snack Shack"
Mon. & Wed. Nights
10 P.M. – Midnight
• 2 HOURS BOWLING
• ALL THE PIZZA YOU CAN EAT!
Only $5.00/Person
College Special
with college ID
Every Thurs. Night 9:00 p.m.—12:00 a.m.
3 Games of Bowling and Shoe Rental for
$4.00
Don't Miss Out
Call To Reserve Your Spot!
Northampton Bowl
525 Pleasant St.
584-4830

charlie's
1 Pray St., Amherst 549-5403 • Open 11 a.m.
7 Days A Week • Call for Take Out
Kitchen Open 'till midnight
Tonight 25¢ Cheese Pizza Slices & 99¢ Nacho & Cheese Platters
9:00 p.m.—12:00 a.m.
Beer of the Month
Beck's Bottles $1.75
Drink of the Week
Tequila Sunrise $1.75
FOOD GIVE-A-WAYS
Mon. 10¢ Mozzarella Sticks 9-12
Tues. 10¢ Buffalo Wings 9-12
Sunday 10¢ Potato Skins 9-12

Spee Dee
OIL CHANGE & TUNE-UP
RAPID • RELIABLE • REASONABLE
NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED
MIDWEEK SPECIALS*
Tues. - Wed. - Thurs. - ONLY
OIL CHANGE AND MORE. FOR LESS.
$2 OFF
• Up to 5 qts. of Mobil • 10W30 or 10W40
• New Oil Filter
• Check & top off all essential fluids (up to ½ pint)
• Check tires
• Clean front & rear windows
• Vacuum vehicle interior
• Check wipers and air filter
• Validate new car warranties
• All work GUARANTEED
10W30/ 10W40
$19.95
Reg. $21.95
9 MINUTE OIL CHANGE/FILTER/LUBE.
TUNE-UP WITH A TIMELY SPECIAL.
$5 OFF
• New resistor spark plugs
• Idle speed adjustment
• Electronic ignition system check
• Inspection of Rotor, Distributor Cap, PVC Valve, Ignition Wires, Air EMC and Gas Filters
• Validate new care warranties
• 3 month/3,000 mile GUARANTEE
$40.95
Reg $45.95
4 Cyl.
COMPLETE 30 MINUTE TUNE-UP.
OFFICIAL MASS. INSPECTION STATION #4518
Pleasant St. (Next to Car Wash) Northampton Mass
413-586-5640
Service while you wait - No Appointment Necessary - Store hours Mon.-Fri. 8 A.M.-6 P.M., SAT. 8 A.M.-5 P.M.
Offer good thru Tues.-Wed.-Thurs. only
Not valid with any other offer, No cash value — Each location independently Owned and Operated
*you must bring this ad with you

Did You Know A Complete Optometric Examination* at the University Health Services Includes the Following?
*Health History Review
*Visual Acuity Test
*Glaucoma Check
*Cataract Check
*Retinal Check (with pupil dilation when indicated)
*Refraction (Eye Glass Determination)
*Blood Pressure Screening (when indicated)
*Eye Health Examination
*Complete Contact Lens Evaluation
*Reduced Rates on Spectacle Lenses and Frames
*$36.00 Fee For Student Plan Member With Same Day Payment
Monday 8 am - 7 pm
Tuesday-Friday 8 am to 5 pm
Convenient On Campus Location
For Appointments or Questions Call: 549-2600

THE TEXTBOOK ANNEX IS OPEN YEAR ROUND BUT TO MAKE SURE YOU GET THE BOOKS YOU NEED FOR THIS SEMESTER
BUY THEM NOW
We are beginning to return unsold books to the publisher on Friday, March 30th.
University Store's
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
Monday-Friday
9:00 am-4:00 pm
545-3570
WE NOW ACCEPT VISA AND MASTERCARD

Contribute To The Challenge. Share In The Rewards.
Yale University, a leader in biomedical and other scientific research, offers a wide range of laboratory research opportunities. Here, recent graduates can increase their knowledge, develop their talents, and enrich their experience in a stimulating, state-of-the-art research environment. We have immediate openings for:
Research Assistants
Research Associates
A bachelor's in biological or physical sciences is required; laboratory experience is a plus.
In addition to many on-campus cultural and athletic facilities, Yale University provides competitive salaries and outstanding benefits, including: 22 vacation days, 4 personal days, 13 holiday/recess days, and 12 sick days, all paid; tuition reimbursement and audit privileges for University courses; flex-time; medical and dental plans; and much more.
Contact your Career Services Office for on-campus recruiting date, or send your resume to: A. Kaye, Yale University, Department of Human Resources, 155 Whitney Avenue, P.O. Box 1404, Yale Station, New Haven, CT 06520.
Yale University
Yale University is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

War outside the newsroom

In the classroom, we budding young journalists are taught to rationalize sensationalism with the "Kill the Messenger" argument. That is, a reporter's job is to seek out the "facts" and deliver them to the people. If people dislike the message, they blame the messenger out of frustration or convenience.

Darren Garnick

The Collegian newsroom is barraged daily with angry villagers. Some assert that we are idiots or liars. Others are content in sneering at our spelling mistakes.

The complaints are not always civil. While interviewing a protestor at one of the PSRU's earth-shattering rallies, one Collegian reporter had dirt thrown in her face. This reporter ritually treats her subjects with dignity.

Bolder clowns have paraded into the newsroom announcing they intend to sue us for libel. Apparently, this paper has dashed the political hopes of dozens of student senators.

To their credit, however, these anti-Collegian varmints have yet to actually kill a messenger.

Our journalist brothers and sisters in other parts of the world have not been so lucky:

- BAGHDAD, Iraq — Farzad Bazoft, a journalist for the London Observer, was executed for snooping around an Iraqi military base. Bazoft, who was investigating an explosion, was charged with "spying." At the execution, an Iraqi official said "Thatcher wanted him alive. We sent him in a box." (Associated Press 3-16-90).
- CIMITARRA, Colombia — Freelance reporter Silvia Duzan was gunned down in a cafe while researching an article on right-wing death squads. The bullets cut short her interview with three farmers, witnesses to recent political assassinations. (Associated Press 2-28-90).
- COLOMBO, Sri Lanka — Guerrillas kidnapped 18 journalists from the offices of Eelanadu, a well-established Sri Lankan newspaper. The "Eelam People's Revolutionary Liberation Front," who claimed responsibility, said they would immediately put the captive journalists to work on their official guerrilla newspaper, the Viduthalai (Liberation). (Associated Press 10-9-89).
- BEIRUT, Lebanon — Terry Anderson, AP Bureau Chief, has been a hostage of pro-Iranian militants for the last five years. At a candlelight vigil for Anderson's release, his sister Peggy Say read a message to the kidnappers: "You say that your story is not being told, and yet the man who told it so well has been chained to a basement wall for five years." (Boston Globe 3-17-90).

Thomas Friedman, a New York Times reporter, who won the Pulitzer Prize twice for his Middle East coverage, wrote about the hazards of his job in the book From Beirut to Jerusalem:

"There wasn't a single reporter in West Beirut who did not feel intimidated, constrained or worried at one time or another about something he had learned, considered writing, or had written involving the Syrians, the PLO, the Phalangists, or any of the other forty-odd militias in Lebanon."

"Every reporter in Beirut was fully aware that, for a dollar and 98 cents and 10 Green Stamps, anyone could have you killed. Your newspaper would name a scholarship after you, and that would be the end of it."

If there is a moral to any of these dastardly tales, it is this: Don't kidnap or shoot journalists. If you do, they will not write anything nice about you.

Darren Garnick is a Collegian columnist

GORRELL
BE HONEST.... IS IT MY BREATH?!...
HEAVENS NO! ...IT'S THAT HORRIBLE BIRTHMARK ON TOP OF YOUR HEAD!...
USSR
LITHUANIA

Discourtesy reflects hostility

Senator John Kerry came to our school on March 15 to speak about his views on the United States' policy in El Salvador.

In coming to a University, he most likely expected an intelligent, well-informed and open minded crowd.

Instead, at question time he was bombarded by idiotic, off-the-topic, and anti-intellectual questions by hostile uninformed people.

These people did not listen to what Kerry had to say but were more interested in instigating an argument with the U.S. Senator.

To have a Senator come to our school and get hissed and yelled at, and simply not treated as a human being, was disgusting.

It is inevitable people will have opposing views, but they should present these courteously and respectfully and have facts to back up their views and accusations.

What began as an informed speech turned into "Let's Bash Kerry" and "Let's Blame Kerry for All America's Wrongdoings" political forum.

Much of the time our school seems to get lost in the shuffle and ignored.

This time someone did take time and and interest in our opinion and in return was treated like a sub-human.

If we want our school and students treated with respect, let's grow up and treat others with respect and common courtesy — it's a two-way street.

Joyce A. Grady
Central
Thomas C. Smith
Northeast

Cosmetic cover-ups no substitute for graceful aging

What is it about society's preoccupation with age or, for that matter, looking old?

The Springfield Union-News announced on March 16 a "new hope for fighting wrinkles," in the form of a "naturally-occurring acid derived from sugar cane." Glycolic acid is being touted as the next best thing to remaining a wrinkle-free baby forever.

But I just don't get it. Sure, I'm "too young" to know how it really feels to have my breasts and derriere sag or to have to look through ten-pound eyebags to even see myself in the mirror everyday. There are, unfortunately, some things in life that are just meant to be.

You can change everything else about your life and direct your own destiny to suit your moods, needs and wants. But you can't stop time, stress, and nature from taking their toll.

My parents haven't stopped aging. And I doubt they will. Sometimes I wish that there was a lever I could pull or a button I could push to keep them from looking older than they used to. I wish my grandparents could have remained young and energetic all their lives. I wish my skin never had to look so weary after only 21 years of stressful worrying.

The reality of wrinkles makes me angry only because the thought threatens my sense of family security. Otherwise, I have no aversion towards people who can't look young anymore.

Reggie Santiago

I hate the concept of creams and concoctions clogging my pores, to serve as a reminder that I might look a tad younger tomorrow. I cringe at the idea of having my innards sucked so I can stay sleek and svelte for others to admire. I'd rather listen to fingernails scratching a blackboard than go through a painful transformation where I end up with taut skin that is hardly mine.

The American Society for Dermatologic Surgery has declared that the acid is used "to overcome and reverse some of the effects of photo-aging, the damaging effects of sunlight on human skin."

In the final analysis, the public has to pay an even higher price for its periodic thirst for that proverbial bronzed physique. It's bad enough that a forced tan ultimately results in ugly peels. Now, we have to pay for it when it decides to haunt us a decade later?

On the other hand, glycolic acid has also been offered as a viable treatment for teenage acne. Now, there's a welcome breakthrough — if only because it lessens the threat of juvenile crime related to facial frustrations.

I'd like to age gracefully. But I can't stretch my luck to accommodate that wish. If they never find that elusive Fountain of Youth, it'll be just as well. At least, I can say I wasn't waiting anyway.

I don't exactly hope that I could look older than I am, but there's a pervert in me that's dying to find out what I might actually look like at 50.

Reggie Santiago is a Collegian columnist

Hidden in the mask of a false identity

Good ol' Chelmsford, Massachusetts.

Chelmsford is a typical suburb: a middle-class, white majority community with about 30,000 residents. Not much has changed since I graduated from high school.

Growing up wasn't easy being a member of a "minority" group especially since there were very few "people of color" in my town. I had no one to bond with when people called me racial epithets.

Not one of my friends had the same experience growing up as I did.

My parents did their best to protect me. Being Indian immigrants, they too were undergoing a lot of change. While they struggled to keep their cultural values and identity in place, I struggled to figure out exactly what my place was in modern day white society.

As a little kid, like most, my strongest concerns were who to play with at recess. Occasionally, I would hear a couple of kids call me names like "blackie" or "nigger." After hearing those names, I knew there was something different about me.

My home life was also deviant from the norm. At home my mother would cook Indian food and sometimes we went to Indian cultural events like dances and festivals. My parents were also much stricter than most parents. Education and discipline were key elements of my instruction.

But I never understood what to do with the culture that was a part of my identity and history. I remember feeling embarrassed and scared for being different.

I was scared that I would be isolated from my friends at school. Going to school was the only "American" part of my life. The identity I had at home was repressed and lost.

Minu Sebastian

In most American schools there really is no place for different cultures. Integrating students from various cultures into the mainstream white American culture invalidates and devalues them.

This is one of the main flaws of the public education system in this country. There is no appreciation of difference and no encouragement of critical self-analysis. In school we were taught how to become complacent, submissive and apathetic Americans.

It has taken me twenty years to realize that I have been robbed of my identity, history and self-respect.

As an American I was never taught, until recently, about the plight of the Native Americans and the way in which this country became what it is by stealing from them. I was also never taught that in order to "succeed" I had to become white.

I have for the past twenty years assumed a mask to protect myself. I have only just begun to understand what it means to be a "person of color."

As a person of Indian descent, I was never taught how to retain and value my cultural roots and history. Instead I was taught how to integrate and become just like everyone else. The world I have been taught to live in was not meant for me, it was meant for a white, apathetic and self-centered person.

I reject wholeheartedly this way of life. I refuse to integrate to become an "accepted" American. To become a full and productive individual I have realized that an in-depth understanding of one's roots, cultural background and history is vital.

To assume an identity, in my case an Asian American, means taking responsibility for what that entails. Living life as a "person of color" is drastically different from that of a white person.

The mask has finally been unveiled.

Minu Sebastian is a Collegian columnist

ARTS & LIVING

Lord of The Flies doesn't measure up

By GEORGE LENTZ
Collegian Staff

There's a world of difference between William Golding's novel, Lord of the Flies and Harry Hook's recent adaptation; although the story is essentially the same. A group of schoolboys survive a plane crash and are marooned on a tropical island. Free from adult supervision, the boys' attempts to imitate civilized society dissolve into a harrowing descent into savagery, tracing the defects of society to the roots of human nature.

Once the boys elect a chief it doesn't take long for the group to divide. Ralph is the democratic leader, concerned with maintaining a signal fire and establishing rules; Jack is the aggressive type, embracing anarchy and forming a tyranical rule over his hunters.

Unlike Peter Brook's faithful 1963 adaptation, Hook's film updates Golding's tale to the present day and substitutes American military cadets for Golding's cultured British schoolboys. The result rapes the story of its impact and symbolism. The horror of Golding's novel hinged itself on the nature of British society, the epitome of culture and dignity in the civilized world. When Golding's young Brits shed their uniforms and donned war paint, we were horrified by their rejection of Western Culture. But when the American boys in Hook's film strip down to their BVDs and start swearing and running around with spears, we're not all that surprised by their behavior. Sara Schiff's script doesn't reveal anything new about human nature or American society in 1990; after all, what's so shocking about kids who've grown up on Rambo and He-Man hunting wild pigs and rebelling against authority?

Brook's 1963 film remained true to Golding's prose, capturing the essence of its haunting imagery and symbolism with its grainy black and white photography and camera placement. Hook opens up the novel with color photography and deep-focus long shots; but he never brings us into the story, threatening us with the same sense of danger that Brook established with his odd angles and use of close-ups.

Like Brook, Hook relies upon a young cast of nonprofessional actors and gets some good performances from his leads. As Ralph, Balthazar Getty is good at using facial expressions to convey the frustration and hopelessness of trying to keep law and order. Chris Furrh is equally effective as Jack; and Danuel Pipoly as Piggy transcends the "fat boy" stereotype by bringing an effective sense of sensitivity and humility to the role.

But it's the performance of Badge Dale as the mystical Simon that really surprises here. Schiff's script greatly reduces his dialogue, but Hook's camera captures the spirituality of Golding's Christ-like character by dwelling on Dale's beautiful face. It's the look in his eyes and not the words that he speaks that reveals the delicate humanist within him.

Despite the genuine performances, Hook's daring interpretation never quite gets it right. The script has removed or altered many essential elements of the novel, stripping the drama of its tension and robbing the story of its soul. The film plays more like a wayward Outward Bound experience than a chilling examination of the faults and defects of human nature.

Note: The Academy Award for best original screenplay went to Dead Poet's Society. This is an outrage. Aside from the fact that the movie should have sported a warning sign for diabetics, it managed to beat out Do the Right Thing and sex, lies and videotape, who were unjustly shunned in every other major nomination. But I guess there is no way to have an award show and make everyone happy. Maybe they should just get rid of them altogether. People in show business don't need their egos stroked any more than they already are.

AND THE WINNER WAS — Driving Miss Daisy for best picture and best actress (Jessica Tandy, left). Oliver Stone's Born on the 4th of July copped the best director Oscar, but Daniel Day Lewis, of My Left Foot, took away Tom Cruise's expected best actor Oscar.

Read the Collegian, we do.

RESTAURANT
classé café
BAKERY
NOW SERVING WINE & BEER
with the Valley's Best Burgers
(Vegetarian Burgers Too!)
Homemade Desserts
Soups & Salads
Monday - Saturday 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Sunday Brunch 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.
168 N. Pleasant St., Amherst, MA 253-2291

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

THE WORLD FOR SALE
from NEW YORK — round trips from
LONDON $338
BERLIN 438
BRUSSELS 398
VIENNA 438
TOKYO 749
CARACAS 318
RIO 730
Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID' EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So.Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

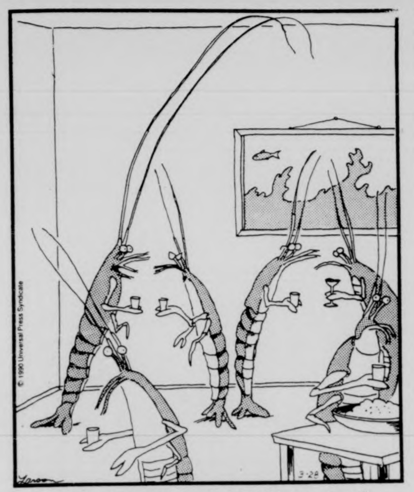
Let There Be Light:
the origin of the Universe
Dr. Owen Gingerich
Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory
Wednesday March 28 8:00 p.m.
Campus Center 904
sponsored by: Graduate Christian Fellowship
(affiliated with InterVarsity Christian Fellowship)

TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE
TONIGHT!
Celtics versus the 76'ers
Here's another TOC extra
Wing-Ding
Hot and spicy chicken wings
FREE
every Wed. night
9-10:00
Lounge Hours:
Mon-Fri: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat & Sun: 5:00 pm-12:30 am
11th Floor Campus Center • (413) 549-6000 ext. 7634
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Family, Friends, and Lovers of People with AIDS
A presentation for people coping with a family member, lover, or a friend with AIDS.
Facilitators: Debra Edelman, Health Educator: UHS Health Education
Lisa Halpern, Social Work Intern, UHS Mental Health
Date: March 29, Thursday
Time: 6:30-8:30 p.m.
Place: University Health Center, Room 304
For more information, call the Health Education office and ask for Debbie at 549-2671, ext. 181

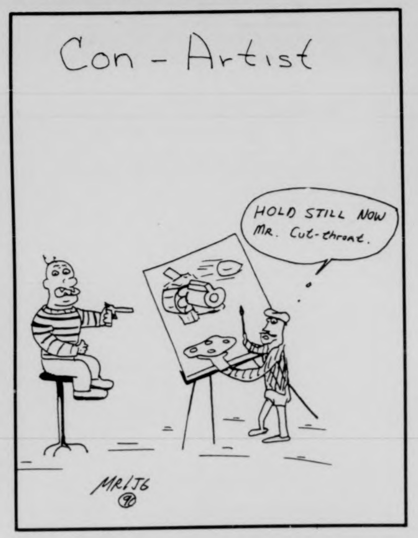
J.S. BACH
ST. JOHN PASSION
Friday, 30 March, 8:00 p.m.
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
Jon Humphrey, Evangelist —
"...one of the great American singers of Bach's Evangelist roles..."
Robert Shaw, Music Director, Atlanta Symphony.
The University of Massachusetts Chamber Choir, Orchestra & Soloists
Wayne Abercrombie, conductor
University of Massachusetts, Amherst
$8 general admission, $4 students & senior citizens
Tickets available at Fine Arts Center Box Office
545-2511

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



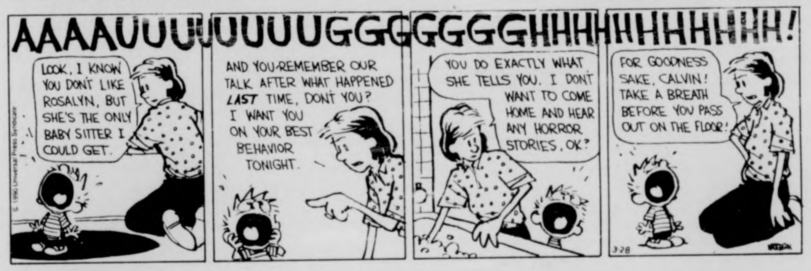
"Listen, you want to come over to my place? I get great FM."

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



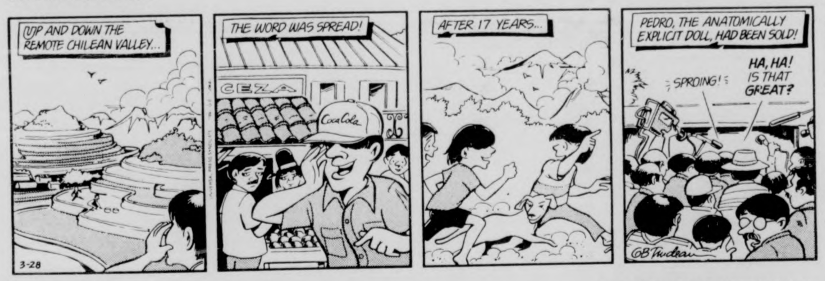
Con - Artist
HOLD STILL NOW MR. Cut-throat.
MR/JG 90

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



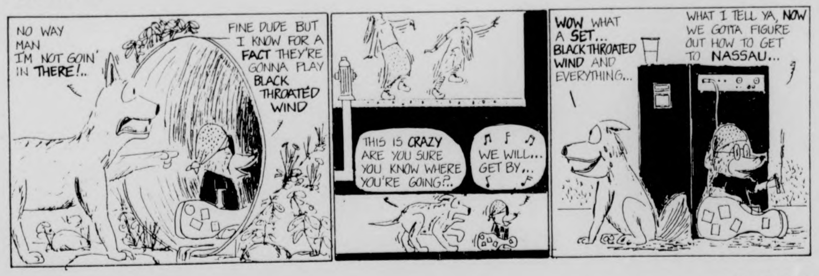
AAAAUUUUUUUUUGGGGGGGHHHHHHHHHHH!
LOOK, I KNOW YOU DON'T LIKE ROSALYN, BUT SHE'S THE ONLY BABY SITTER I COULD GET.
AND YOU REMEMBER OUR TALK AFTER WHAT HAPPENED LAST TIME, DON'T YOU? I WANT YOU ON YOUR BEST BEHAVIOR TONIGHT.
YOU DO EXACTLY WHAT SHE TELLS YOU. I DON'T WANT TO COME HOME AND HEAR ANY HORROR STORIES, OK?
FOR GOODNESS SAKE, CALVIN! TAKE A BREATH BEFORE YOU PASS OUT ON THE FLOOR!
3-28

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



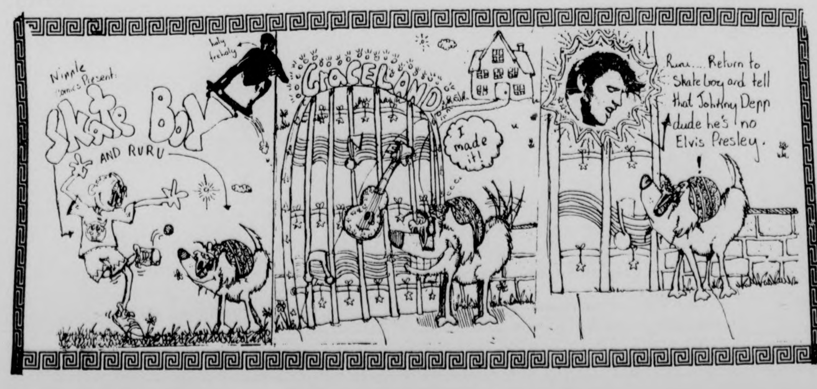
UP AND DOWN THE REMOTE CHILEAN VALLEY...
THE WORD WAS SPREAD!
CEZA
Coca Cola
AFTER 17 YEARS...
PEDRO, THE ANATOMICALLY EXPLICIT DOLL, HAD BEEN SOLD!
SPROING!
HA, HA! IS THAT GREAT?
3-28
GB Trudeau

IGGMAN
By DREW AQUILINA



NO WAY MAN I'M NOT GOIN' IN THERE!..
FINE DUDE BUT I KNOW FOR A FACT THEY'RE GONNA PLAY BLACK THROATED WIND
THIS IS CRAZY ARE YOU SURE YOU KNOW WHERE YOU'RE GOING?..
WE WILL... GET BY...
WOW WHAT A SET... BLACK THROATED WIND AND EVERYTHING...
WHAT I TELL YA, NOW WE GOTTA FIGURE OUT HOW TO GET TO NASSAU...

NIPPLE
By PITT



Nipple Comics Present:
Skate Boy
AND RURU
holy frehaly
GRACELAND
I made it!
Ruru... Return to Skate Boy and tell that Johnny Depp dude he's no Elvis Presley.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

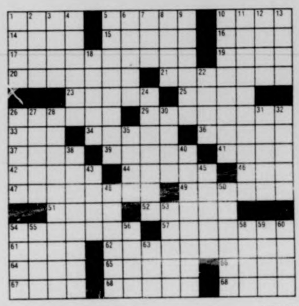
ACROSS
1 Raised
5 Zionist leader Weizmann
10 Grate
14 Olympic event
15 Right-hand page
16 Feudal laborer
17 Salesperson, of a sort
19 Actress Anna
20 One of the Roosevelts
21 Garbs
23 Like some classic columns
25 Church calendar
26 Dru of films
29 Mildness
33 Grampus
34 Rye disease
36 Sound in the night
37 Viva — (orally)
39 Vigorous contest
41 Fed
42 — Gay: historic plane
44 Parts of tickets
46 Salamander
47 Partner
49 Capital of Laconia
51 Island near Sumatra
52 Full of gloom
54 Willa Cather's: "My —"
57 Erik of TV
61 Achievement
62 Embassy resident
64 Carry on
65 Gullible
66 Political cartoonist of old
67 Chooses
68 Loafers
69 Playing card

DOWN
1 Highlands hillside
2 Actor Julia
3 — homo
4 Hold back
5 Crosby and others
6 Artist Matisse
7 The Red Baron, e.g.
8 Virginia willow genus
9 Jelly Roll of jazz
10 Tenant
11 Galileo Galilei, e.g.
12 Snick's partner
13 Farm enclosures
18 Hole —: golf feat
22 Speaker of baseball
24 Like cream in Devon
26 — fruit (persimmon)
27 University of Maine site
28 Part of CPA
30 "—, Brute!"
31 Vocation
32 Gossip, a la "Fiddler on the Roof"
35 Tale of adventure
38 Gould et al.
40 Haunts
43 "— and a Woman": Aimee film
45 Quarrels
48 Orientals
50 Without moderation
53 Plunder, of old
54 Mod hairdo
55 A tide
56 Nursemaid, in Shanghai
58 Hebrew month
59 Measured amount
60 Bohemian
63 Profile, for short

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

B	E	R	R	A	■	G	O	B	I	■	S	P	A	S
E	M	E	U	S	■	O	P	E	N	■	A	R	C	H
N	I	G	H	T	C	O	U	R	T	■	M	E	N	U
■	T	O	R	A	H	■	S	E	E	M	■	V	E	T
■	■	■	■	R	I	G	■	T	R	A	D	E	■	■
■	S	P	R	■	C	A	N	■	■	L	O	N	G	■
A	C	R	E	■	H	U	E	S	■	T	O	T	E	S
G	O	O	D	N	I	G	H	T	L	A	D	I	E	S
R	U	P	E	E	■	E	R	I	E	■	L	O	S	T
■	R	A	Y	S	■	■	U	L	E	■	E	N	E	■
■	■	G	E	T	U	P	■	T	W	A	■	■	■	■
B	R	A	■	S	N	U	B	■	A	G	L	O	W	■
L	E	N	A	■	F	L	Y	B	Y	N	I	G	H	T
E	N	D	S	■	I	S	E	E	■	E	R	R	O	R
W	E	A	K	■	T	E	S	T	■	S	E	E	P	S

3/28/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/28/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Tuna Melts Beef Fajitas	Fried Shrimp Beef Strudel
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Tuna Melts Bean Casserole	Greek Style Skillet Strudel

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANNE DIXON

ARIES(March 21-April 19): A new approach to an old problem works wonders. Make certain your facts and figures are accurate. Long time friendships help advance your business interests. Combine business with pleasure tonight.

TAURUS(April 20-May 20): An early-morning workout will energize you. Share this health-oriented activity with your romantic partner. Seek legal advice if uncertain how to handle a business or financial problem.

GEMINI(May 21-June 20): An exciting, busy day lie ahead. A visitor brings great news from loved one at a distance. Avoid saying anything that could cause embarrassment. Accept a loan from a dear friend.

CANCER(June 21-July 22): A lucky day for your career. Check out the status of a partnership. An old person poses important questions. Find out the answers. A casual gathering holds special appeal tonight.

LEO(July 23-Aug.22): Although a new loan will relieve financial pressures, a change in spending habits is also recommended. Those with high-tech skills receive the best job offers now. Your social life becomes more rewarding.

VIRGO(Aug.23-Sept.22): Others are eager to push their responsibilities onto your shoulders. Stand your ground. Keep an eye on spending buy groceries in quantity. A change of lifestyle adds zest.

LIBRA(Sept.23-Oct.22): You get a unique opportunity to display your special talents. Make the most of it! An exciting financial trend begins. Spend more time with your mate and family. Group decisions are favored.

SCORPIO(Oct.23-Nov.21): Daytime business trips can be more productive than overnight ones. A lawyer offers valuable advice; follow it! A brother or sister is your strongest ally in a financial sturggle. Romance blossoms.

SAGITTARIUS(Nov.22-Dec.21): A small child sheds light on an important issue. Listen closely. A temporary job or loan is the answer to a cash shortage. Use this evening to assess your partner's emotional state.

CAPRICORN(Dec.22-Jan.19): A clothing "bargain" may not be all it seems. Check for flaws. Tax matters merit your prompt attention. Contact a lawyer or accountant for advice. Loved one makes a special request.

AQUARIUS(Jan.20-Feb.18): A small loan helps you meet your obligations. New partnerships will prove profitable following a period of adjustment. Hang in there! Do not blow minor difference of opinion out of proportion.

PISCES(Feb.19-March 20): A friend could do you a huge favor. Resolve to repay it as soon as possible. A change of residence may be necessary. Look around carefully and you will find even better quarters.

TODAY'S STAFF
Night Editor........................Janine Warner
Copy Editor........................Julie Livingstone
Layout Technician..................Chris Ashe
Photo Technician...................K.A. Burke
Production Supervisor..............Chris Ashe
Typesetter..............................Sue Kent
Production......Mike Scott, Paul Specht, Meg Trudell, Michael DeLorey

Raw power hits Noho

By SAAD HOPKINS
Collegian Staff

Helios Creed/Gobblehoof/SWAT
Pearl Street
Monday, March 26

The sound of Detroit is in the air. Nice to have it back since its demise in the early '70s. Bands these days seem to be quick to crystallize this blessed noise. And last Monday at Pearl Street two-and-a-half good bands did the old days some justice.

I could just lie and say that SWAT sucked, but that would be unfair, unprofessional journalism. The truth is, SWAT surprised me. Guitarist Dave Stacey proved that his playing is good, and has serious potential. The seven or eight songs displayed how tight they were, and it's obvious that these four work together well. They make interesting noise that could be even better if they related a little more to now, instead of a particularly drab week in 1972. Stacy has control over his instrument, but sometimes you wish he would let go and succumb to the chaos that the songs imply.

Gobblehoof were the best of the lot. Finally a complete line-up (including members from Diesel Meat), they've mastered their own sound. Groups don't do what Gobblehoof do anymore. This "lets sound like Mudhoney" attitude certainly has to go. The Hoofies understand this, and use their influences to shape their own sound instead of sucking the Stooges-sound-alike well dry. I even detected this despite the soundman's inability to do anything with their noise to which he wasn't accustomed. In short, Gobblehoof's raw guitar power will take them to the places they deserve to go. Nice going.

Which is more than what I can say for Helios Creed, who had more effects on his guitar than Sonic Youth. His noise was interesting for ten minutes then it got real stale, real fast. His band doesn't even have that haunting, eerie presence that emanates from their records (which are good). They sounded like a Gothic version of the Cocteau Twins; too much digital delay, overdrive, and wah-wah, too little serious playing, and even less organization on stage. When it was all over and the vodka started to wear off, Helios and his mates returned backstage, while most of us were unable to remember what they did.

Dancing for peace

By AL KAUFMAN
Collegian Staff

The art of dancing has a wide array of positive effects. It's good exercise. It's pleasing to watch. It's a creative outlet for displaying emotions. Now something new can be added to that list. Dance also brings peace.

The Circle the Earth for Peace Dance came to be after five women were murdered on Mt. Tamalpais in California from 1979-81, leaving the community in a panicked state. Anna and Lawrence Halprin, who were conducting a workshop called A Search for Living Myths and Rituals, got the participants together for a positive myth in dance, called In and On the Mountain, to reclaim the mountain. A few days later the killer was captured.

Under the counsel of 109-year-old shaman Don Jose Mitsuwa, the dance has since been performed around the world. It will be performed at UMass, in the Curry Hicks Cage, on Earth Day (April 28). Anyone who would like to get involved in this momentous occasion may attend an orientation meeting tonight at Hampshire College in the West Lecture Hall of the Franklin Patterson Building. Rehearsals begin Saturday at 10 a.m. in the wrestling room on the second floor of Boyden Gym.

"We want to get at least 100 dancers," said Julie Maloney, the director of the dance, who added that participants need no dancing experience, only a willingness to embrace the spiritual.

"We'll be doing the dance with a lot of consciousness," she said.

Maloney explained that, although the dance has a form, the group of dancers will basically be creating it together. She said the dance, which she referred to as "an act of magic," will serve as therapy for those who take part.

"The people who get involved will be able to uncover their creativity a lot," she said. "They'll experience a lot of inner conflict and competition, but if you work with your own self, you'll be able to work through this stuff."

Anyone who has any questions may contact Julie Maloney at 268-7035.

THE BLACK SHEEP
79 Main Street
Amherst
253-3442
58 Main Street
Northampton
586-3055

Skills
NOW IN OUR 16th YEAR
PROFESSIONAL SECRETARIAL SERVICE
AMHERST CREAMERY OFFICE BUILDING
150 Fearing St, Amherst, MA
Telephone: (413) 549-2686
MANUSCRIPTS - A SPECIALTY
RESUME PLANNING & TYPING
THESES AND DISSERTATIONS

UNIVERSITY STORE
DON'T MISS IT...
BOOK SALE
25% off
the regular price of selected, recent titles
* Quantities are limited *
Sale located on the Campus Center Concourse, across from the University Store.
SALE DATES: March 28, 29, 30
Store Hours
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
Located on the Campus Center Concourse
UNIVERSITY STORE

Are you an Older Undergraduate?
The 25+ Club is back!
We represent the interests of the more than 1,700 undergraduates who are aged 25 or older at the university. We encourage you to join us.
Please come and enjoy refreshments at our first general meeting:
Wednesday, March 28, 1990
Campus Center 917 at 8:00 PM.
The 25+ Club is a UMass Registered Student Organization.

men's lacrosse

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

"Shea's a good goalie. We tried to recruit him here," Garber said.

Gorilla Grumblings: A couple of Gorillas are moving up on the all-time scoring lists. Junior attack Jim McAleavey, the team leader with 12 points on five goals and seven assists, has 82 career assists (seventh) and 136 career points (11th). Senior attack Scott Hiller (team-high seven goals) has 110 career goals, which is fourth all-time, and 151 points, which is eighth.

WMUA to air lacrosse game

Today's men's lacrosse game between the University of Massachusetts and Cornell University can be heard on WMUA 91.1-FM.

Tune in to Mike Fagerson for play-by-play and Randy Krutzler for the color beginning at 3:30 p.m. WMUA will be broadcasting all UMass games, home and away, this season.

Bruins

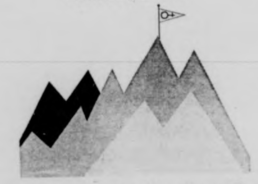
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

Combined these two goalkeepers have a total of 225 goals against. That is yet another first place stat that the Bruins own. The only problem head coach Mike Milbury seems to be having these days is deciding which man he is going to start.

This team is not unlike the Bruins team of 1969-70. As any Bruins fan will recall, whether they were alive at the time or not, this was the season when Orr "flew" into NHL history. He scored the winning goal in sudden-death overtime against the St. Louis Blues to give the Bruins their fourth Stanley Cup.

It took a few years for that team to take shape, but as they did the games seemed to come easier for them. It appears that the time of waiting is over and the time to rejoice is only a few short weeks away. The Bruins have proven this season that they can beat anyone

MARKETING OPPORTUNITY WITH AT&T
1990 Back-to-School Promotion
AT&T STUDENT CAMPUS MANAGER
Sales-oriented student sought for marketing/promotion position. Management responsibility for campus group. Excellent pay and bonuses. Flexible hours. All work is on campus. Must be available full-time 1-2 weeks prior to the start of classes. Opportunity to work as a Promotions Representative on a project by project basis.
AT&T ASSISTANT STUDENT CAMPUS MANAGER
Student with strong sales/leadership ability needed for seven day program, Fall 1990. Must be available 1 week prior to the start of classes.
STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE/ CAMPUS GROUP
Outgoing, sales-oriented group/individuals needed to represent AT&T products and services on campus. Top pay and bonuses. Must be available 1 week prior to the start of classes.
For more information, send resume to: CDI, AT&T Recruitment, 210 West Washington Square, 11th floor, Philadelphia, PA 19106, or call (800) 592-2121. Equal Oppty. Employer.



Distinguished Vistors Program
proudly presents
Arlene Blum
Mountain Climber, Biophysical Chemist, Author, Mom
Women in high places
A slide presentation and personal narration of the first American ascent of Annapurna I (26,500 ft.), the world's tenth highest peak, by ten women.
Thursday, March 29, 1990
distinguished visitors program
Student Union Ballroom 8:00 PM
Lecture and Open Reception Afterwards Are Free

Captain
Swing

CONTESTANTS WANTED!
THE AMERICAN PETITE BEAUTY PAGEANT
Think you're "too short" to compete successfully in a beauty pageant? Well, not anymore! THE AMERICAN PETITE BEAUTY PAGEANT is the only national competition ever created exclusively for women under 5'5"!
Entry Requirements:
1) You must be under 5'5" tall.
2) Between the ages of 15-28.
3) SINGLE OR MARRIED.
There is no talent competition.
$50,000 PRIZE PACKAGE! Including:
★ A modeling/personal appearance contract ★ Appearances on national television talk shows (past winners have appeared on shows such as NBC's "Late Night with David Letterman") ★ A starring role in national television and radio commercials ★ An international tour representing the Pageant ★ A $10,000 petite designer wardrobe ★ A dream Caribbean holiday for two ★ And much more!
Nicolette Repaci
"Miss American Petite 1990"
TO APPLY: Send a clear photo (any size) with your name, address, telephone #, height, weight, age, birthdate and $20 photo evaluation fee to: THE AMERICAN PETITE BEAUTY PAGEANT, Dept. CN, 59 Mill Pond Road, 2nd Floor, West Paterson, New Jersey 07424; phone (201) 890-9191. We will review your photo and send you a written evaluation. If you qualify, you will also receive the rules and additional entry requirements for your state competition.
State winners will be flown to Orlando, Florida for an all-expense-paid, fully chaperoned pageant to be held in December 1990. Don't miss out on what could be the most exciting experience of your life—apply now!
PHOTO DEADLINE: July 16, 1990.

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30 • DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION • CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

AASA
Spring Social Meeting
"Hors D'Ouevres"
8:00 UACC-Knowlton
Planning for Asian Night, picnic, dances, dinner, sleepovers, and picture day

LOCAL MENSA GATHERING TOC Restaurant Tues. 4/3/90 6:30 PM

MODEL UNITED NATIONS MEETING
Tonight 7PM in Dukes Room in S.U.
Manadatory Attendance more info. call Jill 6-4006

SENIORS!! Kick-off party. Chance for all seniors to get together before graduation. 3/29 CC 1009 9PM-1AM.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ATTENTION GREEKS -
We need your help calling Seniors
Get paid and fed this weekend and help your chapter too.

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

MISSING ISRAEL? Find out about Kesher '90, 3 months in Israel this summer for $1099. And a chance to win a free trip. Call (617) 423-0868.

WE SCREENPRINT YOUR DESIGN or message on T-shirts, sweats, boxers...At low prices and fast delivery. "Call us collect" Connecticut Advertising 203-668-1158.

APARTMENT SPECIAL

A LIMITED TIME ONLY, Northwood Apts. is offering a 2 Bdr. apt. for the price of a 1 Bdr. For more information on this special offer, please call Lanice at 665-3856. Rent an apt. for March and receive $100.00 off our first months rent. We have student short term leases and free bus service every 15 minutes on weekdays to UMASS and Amherst. (Available to new residents only)

AUTO FOR SALE

$1,000'S SAVED! Government seized/surplus vehicles. Low as $100! BMW, Cadillac, Mercedes. Call now for more information 1-318-828-4989. Ext G1283 24 Hours

1981 AUDI 4000 Good condition $1000 Call Adam at 549-0920

1981 CHEVY CHEVETTE
Runs good For info 256-6920

1983 MAZDA GLC, Great condition, 4D/FWD. $650-Must sell. James 253-3602

AMAZING 79 CHEVY CAPRICE
Classic. Only 81Kmi, new tires, brakes, engine belts, muffler, fine tuned transmission. Very well maintained. Must see. Only $1900 or Best Offer. Call Lori 549-4291.

IS IT TRUE... Jeeps for $44 through the government? Call for facts! 1-708-742-1142 Ext. 5931-A

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club Today! Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR RENT

MARTHA'S VINEYARD Oak Bluffs Tivoli Inn Bed and Breakfast. Reasonable rates, convenient location, charming rooms. 508-693-7928.

MOVE OFF CAMPUS into a great apartment. Take over our lease June 1st. New rugs and paint, partially furnished, cheap rent. Directly in front of bus stop. Southwood Townhouse. Call after ten weekdays 253-2566.

ONE ROOM FOR RENT in Puffton Village. Call 549-1809

HELP WANTED

AIRLINES NOW HIRING! Flight attendants Many other positions! $17,500 - $58,240 Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext X7627

AMHERST TENNIS CAMP seeks tennis instructors to teach adults, juniors (June-August). Excellent pay and room/board. Opportunities to arrange for college credit through your institution. Send resume to: P.O. Box 2271 Amherst College Amherst MA

ATTENTION: Easy Work Excellent Pay! Assemble products at home. Details 1-602-838-8885 Ext W7627

"ATTENTION: HIRING! Cruise ship, casino, hotel jobs! Free travel benefits! Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext Y7627"

ATTENTION SORORITIES, FRATERNITIES, AND STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS!!!
Earn up to $2000 in one week helping with on and off campus marketing projects. Call immediately. Space is limited. Stuart 549-1864, leave a message.

COUNSELORS coed camp in Berkshires 220 campers/85 staff has openings for head and assistant instructors in: Waterfront WSI, Head small crafts, Video filmaking, Tennis, Lacrosse, Arts & Crafts, Softball, Basketball, Computers, Hiking, Back packing, Drama, Radio station AM, Waterskiing, Sailing, Horseback riding (western), and bunk unit heads. Good salaries. Friendly atmosphere. June 19-Aug 20 Contact: Paul Krouner 617-964-1912. Call collect days 9-5

I NEED MY ALS recertified. If you can help call 546-5422

LIVE-IN HELPER for Cape Cod beach house. Dishwashing, cleaning, errands. Flexible hours. Room, board, and $150 a week. July 1 to September 1. For more information call collect 202-338-2950, Monday or Friday between 5PM and 8PM.

LOOKING FOR A fraternity, sorority, or student organization that would like to make $500-$1,000 for a one week on-campus marketing project. Must be organized and hard-working. Call Bode or Cheryl at 1-800-592-2121

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SMALL VERMONT CAMP for girls, seeks committed counselors in horsemanship, watersports, photography, wilderness trips and more. Sherry Osborn, Camp Catherine Capers, 25 Shawmut Ave., Apt. UM, Wayland, MA 01778 (508)650-1866

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT
Camp Young Judaea, Amherst, New Hampshire (Resident, Co-ed, 1 hour from Boston) is in need of Department Directors and Activity Specialists for this summer in: Athletics, Gymnastics, Swim Instruction (WSI), Waterskiing, Sailing, Arts & Crafts, Campcraft, Israeli Dance, Drama, Israeli Folk Song, Riflery, Tennis, Photography, Office Personnel and Nurses (R.N.) Excellent Salaries and fringe benefits. Please contact Dr. Charles B. Rotman, Director, 81 Kingsbury Street, Wellesley, MA 02181, 617-237-9410.

SUMMER JOBS TO SAVE ENVIRONMENT Earn $2500-$3500. National campaign positions to pass Clean Air Act, stop toxic pollution, tighten pesticide controls and promote comprehensive recycling. Available in 18 states and D.C. Intvs on campus 4/3, 4/4. Call Kate at: 1-800-75-EARTH.

NEED EXTRA MONEY? Spare time? National marketing firm offers part time position posting promotional material on campus. Call Jennifer Schaefer at 1-800-592-2121.

THERE'S A JOB FOR YOU IN A SUMMER CAMP
The American Camping Association (NY) will make your application avail. to over 300 camps in the Northeast. Exciting opportunities for college students and professionals. Positions avail: all land and water sports, kitchen, maintenance, arts and crafts, drama, music, dance, nature, tripping, R.N.'s, M.D.s College Credit Available. Call or write for application. American Camping Association, 12 West 31st Street, New York, NY 10001, 1-800-777-CAMP.

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

DO YOU HAVE QUESTIONS about your rights? Do you think your civil rights have been violated? Find out! Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995

LOST

GOLD MOONPHASE WATCH black band in Boyden Extrm sentimental value Please call Carl 253-5496

PAINTING, PAPERHANGING, POWERWASHING

A SPRING SPRUCE UP FOR YOUR HOME.
Painting-interior & exterior-, wallpapering; powerwashing for your wooden or vinyl homes - They'll look like new-
Call after 5, or weekends anytime. Fully insured, reasonable rates - Frank 1-413-467-3465 Granby

PERSONALS

#37, You were AWESOME!! Great Job. I'm proud of you. LOVE- #44

BABS HAPPY B-DAY!! Try not to do anything too embarrassing! -Christine

CHRIS AND JOHN
Thanks for dinner
and the visit.
Looking forward to more GOOD TIMES!
Love,
Joy and Pain

CHRISTIANNA
Honey, It's been a wonderful six months.
Love Changes Everything
Love
Michael

HAPPY BIRTHDAY
Cara, Deb S., Lucky,
and Robin M.,
Love, the Sisters
and Pledges of
SIGMA KAPPA!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY
Holly have an awesome 21
Pump up the jam BooBoo
Love Ya,
Yogi

HEY CANCUNERS I'm not a skitzo...I'm just a little strange!!

HEY YOU JANINE ALLOSSO
Happy 20th Birthday
Love ya Guts! Nancy, Lori, Gayle, Mona

I LIVE FOR.... Bonding!!
T.C. 90!!

KELLI KILPECK
Happy 21st Birthday! Drink one for me!
Love, Cori

MC CHRIST
You're simply the best.
I'm so proud of you!
Your work in A Chorus Line is a singular monologue sensation.
Smile
Michael

ROSES ARE RED Violets are blue - You are getting old - but we still love you!! Happy 22nd Jill! Love-All Your Goofy Housemates

SUE I AND MIKEY P. Remember, absolutely NO NO NO Boarding at this time! Thanks for an Amazing Spring Break in Florida Doug-O

THANKS: For those of you who were basketball officials during the 89-90 season 'Thanks' I know at times you had to suffer due to the comments made by players, managers and spectators during emotional moments. We want you to know that without your outstanding efforts there would be no intramural basketball. Your service is greatly appreciated.

THE GIRLS OF 433 Presidente 5552, $8 Milky Ways, Kate-Where's your contact, who is beautiful, PDA, Chicken tacos rule, Ellen, Vermin, Maspan, We live to Dance, Fireplace pictures...JA

THUMB (My favorite advice giver) Any expulsions lately?! Tengo Una Gun -Jen

TO THE 14 CANCUNERS UMASS UMASS OOH AHH Friends, Friends, Friends Let's Bond

YOUNG
Congratulations on scooping
5 times!!!

PIZZA

COLLEGE PIZZA
Spring Special
large cheese $5.99
small cheese $3.50
2 additional toppings
ONLY 1 dollar more
549-6098 549-6073
!must mention this ad!

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

ESCAPE FROM BABYLON: 2 available singles in a 4bdr. house. Female or male roommates wanted for summer and/or fall. Enjoy country living in beautiful Leverett. Call 548-9981 Ask for Larry or Jeff

LOOKING FOR FEMALE for 2 bedroom Apt in Southwood Apts., Sunny, next to bus stop, fully equipped kitchen, 1½ bathrooms, new carpet, great place, more info call 546-7354

SERVICES

GET A COMPUTER GENERATED Color Poster Digitized from any drawing or photo, up to wall size. Choose and combine backgrounds from any picture. Mounting available. Priced better than local copy shops. Call Nicholas Tu/Th eves. 256-6892

RESUMES! I will do your resumes for $10 to $30 less than the local print shops! Call me evenings! Rick 586-1642

SUMMER SUBLET

SUMMER SUBLET
2 bdrm fully furnished
Brandywine Apt.
Call now 549-4021

SUMMER SUBLET
Single bdrm in large furnished
Townhouse apt. 225/month or BO
Call Craig at 549-4246

THE METAMORPHIC TECHNIQUE

GIVE YOURSELF AN ENERGY boost to meet the spring. The Metamorphic Technique is a gentle massage on the feet, hands, and head that will set free your own life energy to heal the imbalance within your body and mind and bring about a state integration and wholeness. For more information call 367-9462.

TRAVEL

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

HEADING FOR EUROPE THIS SUMMER? Jet there anytime for $160 or less with AIRHITCH (as reported in NY Times, Consumer Reports & Let's Go!) For info call: AIRHITCH 212-864-2000

TOUR TO THE SOVIET UNION: Moscow, Leningrad, Black Sea, Caucasus Mts. June 28-July 12. $2795 Complete from New York. Call Prof. Jones, 253-7827, Evenings after 7:00.

TYPING

FAST ACCURATE TYPING
Spell check $1.75/pg
Call Ashley at 546-6756

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

NEED GARAGE OR parking space close to UMASS campus. Call Ed at 546-1047.

TWO GIRLS LOOKING FOR an apartment to lease for the summer. Please call 546-4842 or 546-4350

WANTED: SUMMER ADMISSIONS ASSISTANTS

Freshman, Sophomores & Juniors- The Undergraduate Admissions office is hiring two Summer Admissions Assistants to interview prospective students, lead tours & handle other public-relations related duties. This is a full-time job paying $7/hr. Job descriptions are available in the Admissions Office, next door to Gorman. Application Deadline: April 9, 1990

SPORTS

Connecticut Huskies dog Minutemen, 16-0

UConn collects 21 hits as UMass drops cold home opener

By TAMIR LIPTON
Collegian Staff

This season's baseball home opener will most be remembered for the freezing cold temperature that loomed over Lorden Field. It was a day that usually means a low scoring game (with the temperature being in the single digits with the wind chill). But, someone forgot to tell the University of Connecticut that the score was suppose to be something like 2-1.

The Huskies pounded out 21 hits and crossed the plate 16 times en route to a 16-0 stomping of the Minutemen. UConn pitcher Dave Fradkin pitched six innings and allowed just four hits, before he left the game to Pat Sullivan, and Michael Cleary. Fradkin had UMass hitters off balance all game long, mixing up his pitches well.

"We've faced better pitching than UConn," said UMass coach Mike Stone. "We come out and hit an hour early, they (UConn) come out and hit for ten minutes; they get 21 hits, we get six: that's baseball."

UMass pitcher Rich Graham allowed two runs in three innings of work, keeping the Minutemen in reach. After Graham's departure from the game, the Huskies put their hitting shoes on. UConn banged the ball around the park for five runs against John Russell, upping the score to 7-0 and putting the game out of reach for all intents and purpose.

As if it wasn't cold enough, the fans sat and endured a UConn hitting clinic in the ninth inning that lasted close to 40 minutes. The Huskies ripped eight hard hits to all parts of the outfield and added nine runs to their seven accumulated in the first eight innings.

Ken Coffee who was red hot over the weekend in UConn's three game sweep of Boston College going 5 for 11 continued his torrid hitting against the Minutemen roping three doubles and driving in four RBIs. Coffee pulled to within two RBIs of the team lead, he currently has 11 ribbies on the season.

Sal Tinnerello had four hits and added his twelfth run batted in of the season. Tinnerello was eight for nine over the weekend, and with his four hits today, he is batting an astounding .523: tops on the team.

UConn center fielder Tim Cain claimed both the homerun lead and the RBI lead, as he unleashed a 330 foot three run homer in the ninth. Cain also singled in two runs in the Huskie three run fifth inning.

"We've got a game coming up this Thursday (against Siena), we'll bounce back," Stone said. "I hope we get another chance against UConn, I know that they're not 16 runs better than us."

All in all the UMass effort was far from where it ought to be. In fact this effort was pathetic. It would be nice to blame the loss on the weather but both teams played in the same conditions. Coach Stone may be right, UConn may not be 16 runs better than the Minutemen, but they may as well be 100 runs better when UMass shows no pizaz on the field.

This is an extremely important week for the Minutemen, they play another five games at home this week including two straight twin bills against St. Joseph's on Saturday and Sunday. It would be nice to think that the team will come out and show some character and possibly win four of the next five, but unless the effort improves tremendously, we could be looking at a few more losses.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

The men's baseball team opened the season with a crushing 16-0 loss to UConn.

Gorillas prepare to battle Cornell

Rivals meet in rematch of last year's playoff game

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

There is probably no team in the country more familiar to the University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team than Cornell University.

And why not? The two teams have battled four times in the last two seasons, and one has ended the other's season each of the last two years.

The Gorillas will be traveling to Ithaca, N.Y. today to meet Cornell in what is the only scheduled clash of the two titans for 1990. But the way the chips have been falling recently, don't count out another matchup between UMass and the Big Red down the road.

The will be UM's first visit to Cornell since a very memorable game in 1988. The Gorillas rallied from a second half deficit to tie the game and force overtime. The two teams then fought throughout nearly 24 minutes of sudden death without a budge before Tim Soudan's goal gave UMass a draining 8-7 win.

Then came the NCAA playoffs, where UMass and Cornell squared off at Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium. Cornell got the last laugh for 1988, with an 13-11 win that helped them advance all the way to the championship game before losing to Syracuse.

Last March, the scene shifted to The Hill, and Cornell once again prevailed with a 12-11 regular season win. Ah, but revenge is sweet. And as fate would have it, UMass and Cornell were paired off again in the opening round of the playoffs at the Stadium.

This time, UMass was simply too much for the Big Red. Behind five goals from Chris Tyler, the Gorillas rolled in the second half to a 16-7 win, advancing to the quarterfinals before losing to Johns Hopkins.

Of course, that's all history. None of that will mean much of anything when the rivalry is renewed this afternoon. But that doesn't mean the game will be any less enjoyable.

"Cornell is always a big game for us," said UMass coach Dick Garber.

The Big Red continue to roll along this season with an early 3-1 record. The lone loss came against a tough Hofstra team, while the Big Red already have an early win against Army to their credit.

Part of the mystique of the rivalry in years past was the goalie matchup of Sal LoCascio vs. Paul Schimoler. But that is gone after both graduated last year.

In a way, both teams are taking on the same look, with solid players on offense and new goaltenders who have been able to hold the fort early in the season.

John Heil leads the team in scoring with 11 goals and seven assists, while midfielders Vince Angotti, Bill O'Hanlon and John Snow continue to bolster the offense.

"They are an excellent transition team, a good broken situation team," Garber said. "They play one side of the field and feed the other with backside looks."

In net, Tim Shea has replaced Schimoler and has allowed 37 goals in four games.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

Gazelles travel to Yale

Women's lax looks to snap losing streak

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts women's lacrosse team will be trying to snap a three-game losing streak when it travels to New Haven, Conn. to face Yale University this afternoon at 3 p.m.

The Gazelles (1-3) won their opening game against Hofstra before falling to Maryland-Baltimore County, Maryland and Loyola. The best of those three losses was against Loyola, when UMass used a stall offense to stay within range throughout the game.

UMass coach Patti Bossio will look to use the same tactic against the Elis (1-2) today. Yale is not in the same class as Maryland or Loyola, but they still present plenty of problems for UMass.

"They hurt us last year like Maryland hurt us this year," Bossio said. "They have speed in the midfield and our defense really broke down. They beat us downfield every time."

Bossio will be looking to stay conservative on offense and be prepared for a quick transition to defense to prevent Yale from running.

"We're going to pull everyone back and concede the ball in the midfield," she said. "We did it against Loyola and we were much more successful, more settled on defense."

Yale got its lone win against the University of Vermont along with a pair of setbacks against Virginia and New Hampshire. But Bossio says the secret is for UMass to focus on its own game plan.

"We have to concentrate more on us than on the other team," Bossio said. "We'll do much better that way."

Stockbridge and intramural notes

There will be a meeting for anyone interested in joining the Stockbridge School golf team, tomorrow at 4 p.m. in 223 Boyden.

If unable to attend, please contact Jack Leaman in 228 Boyden or by calling, 545-1301.

There are still a limited number of slots available for soccer and softball teams this intramural season. League play begins tomorrow. Stop by the Intramural Office in 215 Boyden for further details.

The Intramural Office has announced the winners for basketball and ice hockey. The men's basketball champion was Bloody Knee, while Anarchy won both the women's and the co-rec titles. The Wongsters were victorious in the grad-fac league. Individually, Pat Doran took the three-point championship.

Men's soccer wins indoor title

The University of Massachusetts men's soccer team took first place in the Metropolitan Life Indoor Soccer Classic this past weekend at the University of Connecticut.

Defense and great goalkeeping helped the team to the championship as they defeated the University of Maine in the finals, 1-0 on a goal by Darren Stone at the 10-minute mark of the first half.

Sophomore Dan Lawrence was chosen as Most Valuable Player in the tourney and was named to the All-Tournament team, along with junior Peter McEvoy and sophomore Brett Anthony.

McEvoy was among the team leaders in scoring for the tourney with a pair of goals, along with junior Carl Hanks (two goals) and sophomore Ray Cunha (goal, two assists).

Defensively, UMass allowed just three goals in their seven games. Sophomore goalie Jon Gruber was perfect in three games, while freshman Steve Armenti allowed three goals in four games.

A vote for the Bruins

Mike Blanchette

It has been quite a long time since the Boston Bruins have won a Stanley Cup — 19 years to be exact. Despite this seemingly discouraging fact, I have not lost hope.

The Bruins are presently enjoying not only a first place standing in their own division (Adams), but they also hold the rights to first place overall in the NHL with 95 points. This total is two points better than the Calgary Flames, and five points above division rival Buffalo Sabres.

Captained by a two-time Norris Trophy winner, 10-time All-Star, former Rookie-of-the-Year and bound for his third Norris Trophy and possible first Hart Trophy (Most Valuable Player), Ray Bourqe has the Bruins' defense under control.

The Bruins, as usual are a dominant force in penalty killing. This is due in large part to the defensive line of Bourque and Allen Pedersen. In addition to enjoying an exceptional defensive season, Bourque's offensive stats are reaching new heights. He has accumulated over 80 points this season and he is easily looked upon as the best defenseman in the NHL. Bobby Orr himself once said, "He's the best defenseman in the game."

As Bourque holds down the defensive forts, Cam Neely continues to stun goaltenders as he achieved a mark that only three other Bruins have accomplished in team history — acquiring 50 or more goals in one season. He joins the ranks of Phil Esposito, Rick (Nifty) Middleton and Ken Hodge, and his 53 goals are the most ever for a Bruin right winger.

While the potent pair of Craig Janney and Neely continue to fly high, the newly-acquired Dave Poulin and his partner in crime, Bobby Carpenter, have been putting things together recently. Carpenter is on his way to scoring 30 goals this season and Poulin has turned into an assist machine.

This is not to say that the Bruins' offense is the best in the NHL; it isn't, but it is getting the job done. Despite the fact that many Bruins games are won by a single goal margin, this seems to be acceptable when you have Reggie Lemelin and Andy Moog "between the pipes."

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

WEATHER

Clouds moving in today, with highs in the 40s. Sixty percent chance of snow tonight.

THIS WEEKEND

Michael Penn, 'Romeo in black jeans,' plays Pearl Street tonight. In our mythical pullout.

EDITORIAL

Staff members take on battle over specialized community pages in the Collegian. Pages 4-5.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY THURSDAY, MARCH 29, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 37

Names Project, quilt visit UMass

By MARGARET McATEER
Collegian Correspondent

The AIDS Memorial Quilt, displayed in the Student Union Ballroom yesterday, brought the reality of AIDS-related deaths closer to the University of Massachusetts community.

The exhibition was comprised of panels memorializes AID victims. Each panel measures 3x5 feet which represents the dimensions of a grave, according to David Wilson co-chairperson of the Names Outreach and Education Division of the Boston Names Project.

Lorraine DiPlatzi, a Boston Names Project volunteer whose son Thomas died at age 28 of AIDS in May 1988, made one of the quilts in his memory.

She said she got involved with the project when she attended a showing of the AIDS quilt shortly after her son died.

She contributed a panel to the quilt which was made by family and friends.

She said she is upset at the way people, especially families, sometimes turn away from AIDS victims. "I just can't believe how people can do that," she said.

The AIDS quilt was started in 1986 by Cleve Jones, founder of the Names Project Foundation. It consists of over 12,000 panels, although only 32 were shown at UMass. The last showing of the quilt in its entirety was in Washington DC last October.

Jill Ullian, a UMass graduate student who recently lost a brother-in-law to AIDS, said the quilt is "very powerful even though its just a small section. . .I can feel the presence of the people."

"It makes it very real," she said. "It's bringing the spirit of the people, the pain and the love into the open."

Ullian and her husband have started to make a panel for brother-in-law.

"I think it's very powerful," said John Debasgtiani, a UMass senior fashion marketing major. "I think it's a very nice way to remember people who died of AIDS but also and more importantly its helping to fight homophopia and prejudice against people with AIDS."

Students were invited to write reactions to the display and to the names of AIDS victims, on a fabric panel which will eventually be sewn together with other panels from Massachusetts to form its own quilt. Portions of the quilt are now being loaned out to branches of the Names Project because the quilt has grown too large to display in one place.

An academy award winning video Common Threads, which interviewed the families and friends of people who had died of AIDS, was shown continuously throughout the day.

The presentation was sponsored by the Health Education Division. The Names Project of Boston was responsible for bringing the AIDS quilt to campus.

Collegian photo by John Woo

A student silently looks at the AIDS quilt in the Student Union Ballroom yesterday.

Ratified by SGA: Natasha Diephuis, Angus McQuilken

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

After two and a half hours of filibuster, combined with debate and accusations of election tampering flying freely by opposing individuals, Natasha Diephuis and Angus McQuilken were ratified as Student Government Association president and trustee by the Undergraduate Student Senate last night.

Defeated presidential candidate John Silveria, calling the SGA election process "mockery" said: "I strongly feel it wasn't run well. But the senate feels that it was right in ratifying this election. But that's the senate." He would not say whether he plans on protesting the ratification.

A second recount of election ballots Monday evening showed Diephuis the winner with 1,063 votes, Silveria following with 1,002, and Ken Parker with 365. These were reaffirmed by last night's senate approval. The March 13 election was stalled when it was discovered that two partial alphabetical lists for the Southwest North, Sylvan and Northeast residential areas were lost. The lists are used to determine if undergraduates are voting in the correct area.

Amidst a flurry of complaints filed with the Governmental Affairs Committee regarding pre-marked ballots and personal threats received at the polling places, there was a possibility the senate would not ratify the McQuilken-Diephuis ticket.

"I'm relieved we won't have to do this over again," Diephuis said after the votes were taken. "Even though John and I have been in opposition, I know that we will still be working together [on issues]."

● Treasurer Karen Talbot attempted a motion to consider the Student Activities Trust Fund Proposal to the senate, but due to extended debate surrounding the ratification, it was not addressed.

"It should be the number one priority at next week's meeting. This means the Registered Student Organizations won't know how much money to expect until the end of April," Talbot said.

Owners pay price for ID abuse

Out-of-staters subject to liquor ID hassles

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

Out-of-state students who are 21 or over may have been a little thirsty lately.

Due to fake ID abuses by students, the Registry of Motor Vehicles said it stopped issuing Massachusetts liquor identification cards last September.

People who are 21 have no way of obtaining the ID that most bars and liquor stores require — a Mass driver's or liquor ID. Their out-of-state driver's licenses are not valid forms of ID in this state, according to the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

"Young people brought this upon themselves," said George McCarthy, chairman of the Alcohol Beverage Control Commission. "The legitimate businesses were inundated with false liquor IDs, so there had to be a stop to it."

State law

To be legally protected by the state, he said stores and bars have to see a Massachusetts license or a liquor ID before allowing a liquor purchase or entrance into a bar. If a store owner proves that a valid Mass. ID was shown and good judgment was used, the state would cover them in a law suit, he said.

Store owners, who choose to accept any form of identification other than a Mass. ID, are not protected by the state if an accident occurs and they are sued, McCarthy said.

Possible punishment for liquor stores or bars caught for accepting out-of-state identification could result in the suspension of their liquor license, a substantial fine, a temporary shut down of the business or even permanent closing.

"Dealers are taking a chance if they accept out-of-state licences or IDs," he said.

Losing business

McCarthy acknowledged that liquor businesses, especially in college areas like Amherst and Northampton, are losing money.

"There is no doubt that the liquor dealers are feeling the pinch and losing legitimate business," he said. "Unfortunately, the burden is now on the bar and store owners."

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

Rally urges communities to unite

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

'Oppressed communities need to network to achieve the common goal of equal treatment' was the common theme stressed by five speakers at yesterday's Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Awareness Week rally.

Speaking to a crowd of nearly 70 people on the Student Union steps Becky Boswell, a representative from the Third World Caucus, said she has seen many changes in the lesbian, bisexual and gay community at the University of Massachusetts. But overall, she said she was impressed with the closeness of the community.

She said awareness is the fight within society and individuals themselves to understand others, adding that "Awareness is a celebration announcing who we are and to appreciate the friends we have through being aware."

Ann Ferguson, a member of the Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual Faculty Support Group and a Women's Studies professor, said the only way to increase awareness is through more understanding of gay culture and a 'cultural democracy' in a climate where everyone can learn.

People who put down homosexuals because of their sexuality are expressing their own repressed feelings, she said.

"Homophobics are projecting their ascribing characteristics they've repressed on to others," Ferguson said.

Homophobics are hurting themselves and the rest of the gay community because they are denying themselves and others the opportuntity to express themselves openly, she said.

It is important that oppressed communities bond together to fight for what they believe in because mainstream America will work to divide and conquer and

CONTINUED ON PAGE 7

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief .... Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor .... George Austin
Editorial Editor .... Minu Sebastian
News Editor .... Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor .... Jim Clark
Arts Editors .... Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor .... Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor .... Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor .... Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor .... Chris Muther
Business Manager .... Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager .... Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager .... Martina Rios
Circulation Manager .... Chris Baker
Subscription Manager .... Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager .... Donna Cusson
Production Managers .... Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager .... Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business .... Lori Black, Brian Harrington
Maureen Majerowski
Graphics .... Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

BOOMER'S OOGIES™
THE ULTIMATE SIN
Triple chocolate!
Compliments
Gifts, Gift Baskets, Decorative Accessories
71 N. Pleasant St. (Above Cafe DiCarlo)
Amherst 256-1551 • Mon.-Sat. 10-5:30
MC Visa • 1(800) 542-8327

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$390
BERLIN	470
PARIS	458
HELSINKI	578
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID'. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

Materials Engineers: Are You Major-League Material?

Entry-Level Chemical & Electrochemical Processing Technologist

Pratt & Whitney, a world leader in jet propulsion, has a great launching pad for your career: working in one of the most advanced facilities in aerospace, on a team with some of the top minds in the industry.

You'll explore a fascinating and critical area: evaluating environmentally acceptable materials and identifying state-of-the-art chemical and electrochemical processing technologies.

You'll develop and assess new or improved materials and processes, including the plating, stripping and cleaning procedures used by in-house and customer Overhaul and Repair, Manufacturing and Materials Engineering facilities.

We offer competitive compensation. But we offer something more: The chance to be on the leading edge of your profession. For consideration, you must have a B.S. in Chemistry or Chemical Engineering.

Send your resume in complete confidentiality to: Pratt & Whitney, 400 Main Street, M/S UM 124-05, East Hartford, CT 06108.

UNITED TECHNOLOGIES
PRATT & WHITNEY
An Equal Opportunity Employer.

Top of the Campus
RESTAURANT and LOUNGE
The Top of the Campus has great food, fantastic service, weekly drink specials, an extensive lounge munchie menu and a spectacular view of the campus, all yours to enjoy in a pleasant, relaxed atmosphere.
Eleventh Floor, Lincoln Campus Center
549 6000 ext. 7636
Lunch: Mon.-Fri. 11:30 am-2:00 pm; Dinner: Tues.-Sat. 5:00-9:00 pm
Cocktails: Mon.-Fri. 11:30 am-12:30 am; Sat.-Sun. 5 pm-12:30 am
VALIDATED PARKING IN ATTACHED GARAGE

Pearl Street
10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA
413 584-7771
MICHAEL PENN
Toad the Wet Sprocket
Thur., March 29th
8:00 pm
18+
$10 at the door (for all ages)

Scott's LIQUORS
OPEN MON-SAT 8 AM-11 PM
Tel: 549-2692
6 University Drive at Newmarket Center
Amherst, Mass.
Diagonally across from UMASS Stadium
Great Location, Low Prices...Scotts Liquors of Course!
O'Keefe Canadian Beer 24-12 oz. bottles $11.99 + Dep.
Knickerbocker 12-12 oz. cans $3.99 + Dep.
Cuervo Gold Tequila 750 ml $9.99
Strohs Light 6-12 oz. cans $2.99 + Dep.
Malibu Rum 750 ml $8.99
Gordons Vodka 1.75 $11.99
With this Coupon $AVE 10% on a 1.75 ltr. size of any liqour not already on sale. Good 3/28 thru 4/4
* Not redeemable with senior citizen discount
WE WANT TO BE YOUR FAVORITE LIQUOR STORE
Every Day Low Price For Bud, Bud Light, Miller, Miller Lite, Genuine Draft, Coors, Coors Light and Extra Gold $12.49 plus Dep.
Kegs Available
VISA/MASTERCARD ACCEPTED, ALSO LOCAL PERSONAL CHECKS

TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE
Catch all the Action!
Boston Bruins versus Hartford Whalers
TONIGHT at 7:30
Weekly drink specials and free hors d'oeuvres at 9:00 pm
Lounge Hours:
Mon-Fri: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat-Sun: 5:00 pm-12:30 am
11th Floor Campus Center • (413) 549-6000 ext. 7634
University of Massachusetts at Amherst

LOCAL

'Video junkies' come out of the dark

By FELICE COHEN
Collegian Correspondent

"A quarter, please. Just one quarter, twenty-five cents. Please."

It sounds like a scene from any city street. But in reality, it is the Campus Center arcade, an alley many students try to walk through without being bumped or pushed by "video junkies" running from one game to the next.

The arcade, a dark haven right outside the Hatch, is a hot spot for people of all ages who come to challenge their eye-hand coordination by pumping quarter after quarter into bright, noisy machines.

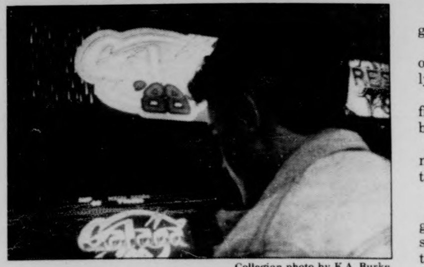
UMass graduate student Alex Wise said he plays video games for their aesthetic value.

"[The games] have a surreal quality. They have a strange juxtaposition of images."

J.P. Baynard, an electrical engineering graduate student, said the games are a good way to relax.

"You can bang the machine if you get upset," he said. "I like to play because it is relaxing."

Mike Cooly, a video game buddy of Baynard's, said pinball is a good form of exercise. Each time Cooly hits the flipper button, he gyrates his body along with the path of the small silver ball.



Collegian photo by K.A. Burke

An unidentified UMass video game addict initiates another game of 'Galaga' in the Campus Center.

Junior sports management major Dave Dinucci said the expenses needed to play video games can add up quickly.

"I used to spend two to four dollars a day and used to mooch from friends and my girlfriend," he said. "I've seen people burn five dollars in five minutes."

"They got pissed off because they couldn't figure out the game," he said.

Northampton resident Michael O'Connell, UMass class of 1971, said he remembers when the Campus Center only had one pinball machine.

O'Connell, then a brother of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, said he always played at night because the pinball machine was usually too crowded during the day.

According to O'Connell, most players back then were men and it was a "status thing" to see who could score the most points in one week.

Today, males are not the only ones doing the scoring.

Sarah Howick, a pre-communication major, said video games help her to take her mind off homework. She said she enjoys playing Nintendo games on her friends' television.

"'Super Mario Brothers' is really fun," Howick said.

For those who are addicted to video games, there is some hope for reform.

Aaron Silverman, a sophomore in the Inquiry Program, said video games used to rule his life.

"I'm a reformed pinball junkie," he said. "Now I'm sort of a user, not an abuser.

"[Last semester], I mooched off my roommate, but he ld mooch off me too."

Church donates to program

By ALEXANDER NGUYEN
Collegian Staff

The Bilingual Collegiate Program at the University of Massachusetts received a $1,000 donation Tuesday from the Lutheran Church of Amherst to continue and improve its support of multilingual students facing state budget cuts.

Pastor John Stendahl, who presented the check to BCP director Ben Rodriguez, said the Lutheran Church has a very special interest in the life of the campus. "Many students, staff, and faculty attend our church," he said.

He said the church is very active in the re-settlement of refugees and has found homes for over 30 Cambodians in the community. "We have several unaccompanied minors who live in the church," Stendahl said.

Many of the young re-settled refugees eventually become students at UMass, he said. This is another aspect of the connection between the Lutheran Church and the University. The new money in BCP's gift fund will go toward tutorial programs for Cambodian and other language-minority students Stendahl said.

"The tutorial programs are key to student success," said Lucy Nguyen, assistant director of BCP. "The biggest obstacle they face in education is the language barrier."

"With the help and kindness of the church we can increase our support of the students," she said. "We and the students are extremely grateful to the community for its love."

Rodriguez said, "This is a tremendous investment in the students and exemplifies the team effort of the church and school. . .This is a symbol of strong community support."

Woman protests show

Disruption occurs at promotional fashion show

By KENDRA PRATT
Collegian Staff

Five male and 21 female University of Massachusetts students strutted across the Campus Center auditorium last night in front of a hooting audience to model the latest Levi Strauss clothing in a fashion show sponsored by Mademoiselle Magazine.

Despite the glitz, pounding music, the free gifts and doorprizes, one member of the audience felt the show objectified women in terms of their appearance and in relation to men.

UMass sophomore Meaghan Burchell poured wood stain on a display of Mademoiselle Magazines set up in the back of the auditorium. At the end of the program she stepped up to the podium used by the Mademoiselle representative and interrupted the program.

"We don't need deodorant," Burchell said. "We are beautiful and we don't need Clairol accessories to beautify ourselves."

Amy Bermant, a promotion associate for Mademoiselle, said this program was designed to help their advertisers entice a college audience. The primary sponsors were Ban antiperspirant, Levis Strauss, Clairol Haircare products, and the UMass Panhellenic Council.

Over 50 students responded to the modelling audition from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. yesterday in the Campus Center Concourse, said Jeanne Bolduc, vice president of the Panhellic Council.

She said that students who lined up earliest had a better chance of being part of the program as long as the clothes fit them.

The models walked in pairs down a T-shaped runway, pretending they were shopping or out on a blind date. Two women were chosen from the audience to have their hair highlighted by John Dellaria stylists on the side of the stage as the show was in progress.

Len Curtin, a male UMass model, said he enjoyed the exposure of being in the show and "the tons of screaming women."

■ out-of-staters left with few alternatives

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

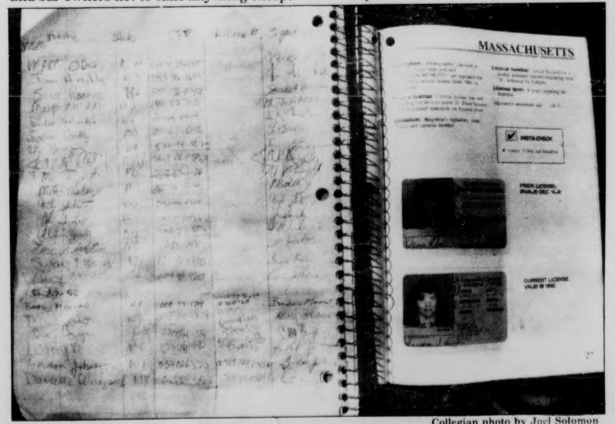
John Eisenbeiser, president of the Massachusetts Package Store Association, said underage students who knowingly violated the law by attempting to obtain alcohol have caused the situation.

Because of the threat of law suits and shut-downs he said, "Liquor stores in the college areas of Amherst, as well as on the Cape, are now losing a lot of business. But is that lost money on a case of beer worth losing the store over?"

Eisenbeiser said he advises state store and bar owners not to take anything except Mass. IDs. In spite of the risks involved with accepting out-of-state IDs, he said owners are free to do what they want. "The choice is solely theirs," he said.

Obtaining IDs

According to the Northampton Registry of Motor Vehicles, the only way for out-of-state students to obtain a Mass. ID is to get a Massachusetts driver's license and give up their home license. They must make an appointment to take the $15 written test, $20 license conversion fee and a $35 fee for a four-year license.



Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

The signature log and ID Checking Guide at Charlie's in Amherst are used to check out-of-state IDs.

Law vs profit

Local liquor stores and bars are torn between losing out-of-state business and losing their liquor licenses. Caught between these two alternatives, many stores accept out-of-state driver's licences along with school IDs as valid forms of identification.

"We never have and never will discriminate against out-of-state students," said Bill Russell, manager/owner of Russell's Package Store.

Even though it is recommended by the town of Amherst and the University of Massachusetts that store owners only take Massachusetts IDs, Russell said he accepts out-of-state licenses along with back-up school IDs.

Some stores check out-of-state licenses against the ID Checking Guide, a book picturing all U.S. licenses and is updated yearly.

Steve Snover of Liquors 44 said he checks out-of-state licenses against the ID Guide and additionally requires a second form of ID, preferably a school ID.

In Northampton, the Pearl Street nightclub, which attracts a wide variety of out-of-state clinentele who travel to see its shows, is forced to accept out-of-state IDs in order to function, said its manager John Peters.

Watroba's liquor store owner Chester Watroba Sr. said although he dislikes the law requiring Mass. IDs while the registry no longer issues liquor IDs, he has to be realistic.

"Anybody who takes an out-of-state license is taking a risk," he said. "But I'm pretty firm and do not take [out-of-state IDs] if I don't know the person."

Employees at Barsellotti's and Delano's said they follow the recommendations of the Amherst police and do not accept out-of-state licenses.

Eisenbeiser said the Package Store Association is working with the Legislature to change the laws to make out-of-state IDs acceptable identification for stores and bars.

He said because students are the ones affected by this law, they should organize themselves and help pressure the legislature.

Forum looks at CYBER

Some 30 students and faculty members gathered for an informal forum yesterday to determine if any abuses of the CYBER mainframe could be controlled and also discussed potential policy guidelines for notesfiles.

CYBER, one of the most powerful computers on campus, has recently come under fire for racy sex stories contained its files. The University administration removed four of the questionable forums on the system on March 9 on the grounds of improper use of university property. After protests of censorship, the University restored these forums later in the week.

John Dunbach, acting director of the University Computing Services said he plans to deal with files which harass other students and are for commercial uses on a case-by-case basis.

Policy guidelines will be brought to the Faculty Senate University Computing Committee next Monday.

— MEREDITH O'BRIEN

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

A guarantee

These pages are ghettos. Why don't they work their way up in our organization just as everyone else does? Once they become staffers they can ensure that their special interests won't be threatened. Pages separate them from us. Their stories would be better appreciated in the paper's main body.

Pratip Dastidar

We don't trust them. Why should we? Third World people have been colonized, patronized, humiliated, and killed by generations of them. If they are so concerned about people not appreciating our stories, why did they ignore and slander us to the point where we were forced to struggle for our page? Don't they realize that our dignity will not allow us to work our way up in their terms?

This country is bitterly divided along the lines of color, between inner cities and suburbs. The world is bitterly divided between their wealthy White countries and the nations that were looted to give them their lifestyle. This campus is bitterly divided... Don't they realize that the paper will always reflect this reality? When our peoples gain equal power in society, we can discontinue the pages. Only then.

All these folks do is complain of persecution. First it was Blacks, now it's these disgruntled Third World students. Next it'll be Greeks, and finally the Chess Club. First one of them complains, then they all complain. Everyone is getting screwed in some way. Budget cuts, huge classes, too much cholesterol. . .

How can they comprehend what it means to be non-White? They can only deal with Third World students who defer to them and keep their mouths shut. They have never been insulted by U.S. visa officers, or spent years in a foreign land where people mock at their names and their physical appearance. Have they ever lived among people who don't give a damn about where their countries are, or what their culture means? Do they know what it means to read a campus paper that contains nothing but White people's concerns? The stories we could tell them — patronizing officials in Whitmore, drunks in bars picking fights with us, police pulling us over because we look suspicious. . .

How dare they trivialize the sting of racism! The only communities that are upset enough to need a page are those that this paper has historically abused and neglected, and who do not enjoy equitable status in the larger society.

The pages should be more objective, less opinionated. . .

To us, their objective news is filled with bias and opinion. At least we honestly express our views as opinions, instead of hiding behind the mask of "objectivity." Our page is a guarantee against censorship, a guarantee against neglect.

When Panama was invaded, the only reaction was on our page. When Namibia gained independence, the only celebration was on our page. What more need we say?

Pages hurt the paper's finances at a time of recession.

The pages come through once a fortnight, and carry ads on them. What economic data do they have to justify their targeting of the page? Anyway, the economic angle is the only one their society understands. How do they account for the price of the racist editorials, cartoons and news that they heap on us?

As long as we have our page, there will be Third World editors and writers. We don't work here to further careers in journalism or pad our resumes. Unlike the society around us, our community relies on extended patterns of friendship. The best way of getting people down is to respect our space, and let our friends join us in spreading the word.

The Black Affairs editor and I are not even acknowledged in the staff listing on page two. We have no voting rights. We encounter daily hostility, obscene notes from fellow staff members, the humiliation of seeing our pages published after the comic section, yet we carry on because we refuse to be marginalized any more. The pages will endure.

Pratip Dastidar is the Third World Affairs editor

Last summer the Board of Editors of the Collegian decided to convert the Black Affairs page into a Multicultural Affairs page. This aroused concern among the African American community, in light of the long history of the page. Last fall, Third World students staged sit-ins and a workshop demanding the creation of a Third World Affairs page, and the reinstatement of the Black Affairs page. This was in reaction to a series of allegedly racist editorials, cartoons and news stories. The new page was added, and the Black Affairs page reinstated, with a separate Multicultural Affairs page retained. The GLB community also expressed concern over biased coverage and felt that a GLB page was essential.

In response to these concerns, a Committee comprised of Collegian staff, students and administrators has been meeting since last December in an attempt to resolve the controversy. The Committee agreed on an interim solution based on the addition of a GLB page to the existing pages, each page associated with an editor, who would also route news stories of relevance to the news editor. The committee agreed that the long term solution was an ideal environment where pages would not be needed. The interim solution is accompanied by increased emphasis on education, recruitment and conflict resolution.

Pages an interim strategy

As a member of the Committee for a Multicultural Collegian, we appreciate the paper's willingness to take on the task of becoming more multicultural, as well as the difficulty inherent in achieving this goal.

Yeskel/Wijeyesinghe

Becoming more multicultural involves re-examining and changing an organization's goals, structure, norms, values, distribution of formal and informal power, and several other issues that make up its day-to-day operations.

It is a process which often takes years to accomplish.

The Committee has discussed both short-term and long-range strategies. The most significant place to start seemed to be the structure of the paper, both in terms of positions and pages.

The Committee has proposed the addition of a Lesbian, Bisexual, and Gay (LBG) Issues page, and the recognition of the Black Affairs and Third World Affairs editors.

In proposing changes, we sought to provide immediate access to the paper by a diversity of communities who have previously felt excluded or underrepresented in the paper.

There have been several concerns raised in response to this proposal. For example, some have asserted that the Collegian should strive for integration of diverse news throughout the paper, and not separate stories into separate pages.

The Committee has repeatedly argued that separate pages and increased coverage of diverse communities in all sections of the paper are needed.

The pages provide an interim bridge to a time when total integration, rather than tokenism, is possible. Furthermore, the addition of the proposed editorships provide continuity, and an opportunity to have more diverse representation in the structure of the organization.

We also believe that the pages could generate revenue for the Collegian by attracting more diverse advertisers for the paper. Thus, instead of being a financial burden, the pages could contribute to the funding of the entire paper.

The issue of priorities cannot be overlooked in considering the financial arguments for or against the pages.

Even if funding sources are not increased, the Collegian should reassess the allocation of monies and space overall, and perhaps substitute the pages which represent diverse communities for other "special pages" such as Focus and Arts.

Some people have argued that if the LBG Issues page is added to the Collegian, other underrepresented communities will step forward and expect the paper to provide separate pages for their news.

The four pages currently part of the paper were established because of historical exclusion and conflict. This history is true of the LBG community as well. Therefore, it makes sense to add a page which reflects this community.

As the separate pages themselves represent an interim strategy, we believe that the current four pages, and the new LBG Issues page, are inclusive of communities that have expressed dissatisfaction.

We believe that the interim solution is a viable and necessary intervention, while the Committee and the Collegian develop more long-term and lasting changes.

We encourage community and Collegian support and endorsement of the proposal.

Felice Yeskel is Director of the Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns and Charmaine Wijeyesinghe is Assistant Dean of Students

What should be multiculturalism?

The Collegian wants to be diversified and multicultural. Therefore it has recruited students from historically oppressed communities of the campus. The new recruits are expected to produce the Collegian style of news. To have that same 'news' reported in the same old way, except now by people from diverse communities.

This is disgustingly narrow, simpleton, and colonial ideology. To be multicultural means to have different perspectives of events that are shaping the world. I am not here to give the 'American mainstream media' perspective.

A beginning toward diversifying the Collegian is having these 'pages'. The pages are a place where historically oppressed communities can identify within the Collegian. They are a place where we can give our perspective.

These different perspectives are vital to critical understanding of the news. They also are a refreshing alternative to thoughtless news. And the pages really do give 'both sides' of the news.

Many of the stories on the pages may be disturbing or even shocking. This is what makes people think critically about the news they're reading. It makes them question the mainstream press.

The pages are not a newspaper within a newspaper. They make the Collegian more interesting, introduce different ideas, and challenge 'mainstream media' coverage. This is diversity. Because of the pages the Collegian is able to give different sources of knowledge and different ways of social thought.

To nobody's surprise, the Collegian is not satisfied with the pages because they 'are too editorialized,' and 'segregate the communities from the mainstream.'

The Collegian feels threatened by our work because it refutes today's conservative, ethnocentric, capitalist ideology. The pages challenge the traditional college newspaper.

The Collegian wants to be diversified and multicultural. Now we offer an opportunity which challenges it's commitment.

Alexander Nguyen
Multicultural Affairs Editor

Editors to create trust

The issues at hand are the need for the Collegian to increase coverage of minority communities, and to build up trust that is needed to have more "multicultural" participation.

Michael Wester

I remain unconvinced that the creation of the pages that segregate the Collegian is a remedy to these problems. The creation of editors for communities is a far better way to increase coverage, build trust, and eliminate insensitivity.

I have heard that minority communities are unable to participate in the Collegian because they cannot trust the staff. Therefore, there cannot be an effort at cooperation. There must be a separate, independent page for each community, a space separate from the editorial control of the paper as a whole.

But will the creation of a page create that much-needed trust? Can anyone offer their trust to someone who will not trust them? It is a two-way street.

The appointment of a full editorship for each community will allow the Collegian to increase coverage of all communities without flooding the already small news hole with segregated coverage. Trust can be built by an editorship much more effectively, because that editor will be working with the Collegian, not as a separate entity within it.

The news and opinions on those pages should be aimed at the community as a whole. Rape is a man's issue as much as a woman's. Apartheid is a White issue as much as a Black one. The illegal invasion of a Third World country is a First World issue as much as a Third World one.

There are opinion journals on this campus. The Minuteman, Valley Women's Voice, People's Forum, Left Field, and Weekly News are all fine examples of papers whose purpose is to provide a variety of valid opinions and viewpoints to the community.

The Collegian has a section for this, too — the Editorial page. At the Collegian, editorials are not rejected because of opinion or the writer's race, sex or sexual preference.

The Collegian is a daily paper, and its primary concern is to present news rather than opinion.

The Collegian is the most powerful paper in the UMass community. The fact is, even if you think the Collegian is a rag, it is read by a tremendous number of people in the community. The very fact that the communities are demanding sections of it is testimony to this.

The potential for abuse is incredible — and it is exactly for this reason that the Collegian should aim at providing objective coverage.

Of course, I've been told that there is no such thing as "objective" news coverage. I agree that there is no pure standard of objectivity that covers everything. But there's also no such thing as a cure for the AIDS virus. Does that mean that we stop trying?

Fairness and objectivity are things that everyone needs to work on, and can only be achieved if there are people willing to work for it. The participation of a wide range of diverse peoples in the body of the paper is how to improve objective coverage.

I have been told that my proposal is "utopian." It is not utopian to think that the Collegian can cover all communities. It is utopian, however, to think that the Collegian can give out a page to every group who wants one.

It's been said that the pages cannot be eliminated because, if they were, then the Collegian would be shut down by takeovers and protests. Unfortunately, this may be true. I only ask that you base your opinion on how you believe these problems can be solved, and not on threats of takeovers.

I will not threaten the Collegian. I will support and respect whatever decision comes from the Collegian staff. I will not, however, stop debating the issue.

Michael Wester is the Collegian co-production manager

Safeguarding coverage

Before the formation of the Committee for a Multicultural Collegian in October 1989, several members of the Lesbian, Bisexual, and Gay (LBG) community (myself included) petitioned the Collegian for a page and an editor for of LBG issues.

Chris Macek

At that time, LBG issues were excluded from the Multicultural page (which, although it stated "was open to all minorities on campus," in reality was strictly multi-racial). LBG issues were supposedly covered under the Women's Issues desk (even though gay and bisexual men's issues and concerns seemed to be completely unrelated to most women's issues).

Given that the LBG community is roughly 10 percent of the campus community, we could be talking about the single largest minority group on campus having no voice or representation within the primary campus media. Not to mention the repeated homophobic, insensitive and ignorant reporting that went on because many people within the paper hadn't any background or awareness about LBG issues — and didn't know where to get it!

After months of hashing out the issues, the Committee made its formal proposal which included the LBG page and an editor. This solution is part of the "Pages and Beats" model which seeks to increase coverage and communication within the paper by allowing a place specifically for LBG issues as well as creating an editorship to feed stories to the different established desks.

This Committee has been dealing with Women's Issues, Black Affairs, Multicultural Affairs, LBG Issues, and the Third World Affairs which all have significant membership, activity and a history of oppression with the Collegian.

Recently, the Collegian's Executive Board and the Board of Editors voted to create an editor position in charge of LBG issues. This semester articles have been appearing quite regularly throughout the newspaper, and I commend the Collegian.

Unfortunately, I fear this great coverage is not so much the result of a LBG Issues editor, but rather a sympathetic editor in chief, a concerned news editor, and an overall progressive atmosphere at the Collegian — this semester.

Years of dealing with the Collegian give a different perspective on how much things can change due to the high turnover rate of editors. Without a LBG Issues page to safeguard representation, another news editor next semester might over-edit, hold, or ignore stories, as has been done in the past.

There are many people of color and women that can attest to the difficulties of trying to funnel stories through an uncooperative (if not resistant or even harassing) news desk, and the direct need for a page of their own, which guarantees some space no matter how small or infrequent.

A single page for LBG Issues, appearing once every two weeks, out of an average total of 160 (10 papers times 16 pages), is less than one percent coverage. All the pages that the Committee's "Pages and Beats" model proposes would make up little more than three percent of the entire pages printed in the Collegian.

Considering that Sports gets a page and a half every single day, as well as Comics and Horoscope, what kind of message does that send to the various minority groups on this campus?

In the past 20 years, the Collegian has only responded to a single form of action: Takeover. Women did it. Black students did it. And then Third World students did it. We of the LBG community have been trying every other avenue to better our representation within the paper, and have been for years.

If the Collegian continues to ignore and reject the obvious need for a LBG Issues page, in spite of the fact that their own Committee recommends this solution, what else could anyone conclude but that direct action is really the only effective way for change to occur within this organization?

Chris Macek is a Collegian staff member

Finances limited by pages

The issue at hand is not whether the Collegian should add a Lesbian, Bisexual, and Gay Issues page, but to add any new special interest pages.

As Business Manager of the Collegian, it is my responsibility to oversee the financial condition of the paper.

Robert J. Bikash

The Collegian is self-supporting, which means that it receives no funding from the University.

All of our revenues are derived from the display advertising you see in this newspaper. In essence, the Collegian is a business and it has certain financial constraints which limit its operation.

As an overall trend with the Collegian, other newspapers in our area and those across the nation, display advertising is down compared to previous years. Also, student groups, hampered by budget cuts, cannot afford to advertise as before.

By adding any special interest pages, the Collegian's costs increase. With increased costs and lower revenues, the Collegian will no longer be able to function at its best. This could force staff reductions, cutbacks in news coverage, cancellation of national and worldwide news services, and aging equipment will not be able to be replaced.

The problems will not occur with the addition of one special interest page, but there is no guarantee that only one page will be added. There are other groups and, in the interest of fairness, where do we stop? Where does news reporting stop and a personal forum begin?

It is the Collegian's journalistic responsibility to provide accurate and unbiased news reporting of campus, community, local, and world events for all people, whether you are a specialized minority or in the majority.

All minorities are entitled to the proper news coverage they deserve. However, by adding special interest pages, the Collegian will become a paper within a paper within a paper and its identity as a news source will be lost.

A change has to be made and the time for change is now. If one group gets one, why shouldn't another? Why do we have to have history repeat itself over and over again? We must work toward a paper without special interest pages.

Demands on the paper and occupations of the paper are not answers to get the point across.

People from all communities, both minority and majority, must open their minds and work towards a change. News is news no matter what community you are in, and that is the way it has to be covered, as news.

Idealistically, journalistically, and most importantly financially, the Collegian cannot operate as a paper full of special interest pages. It must be understood that in addition to being a news source, the Collegian is a business. In order to stay in business, money has to be made because the bills must be paid.

With budget cuts, a slowing economy, and a lack of advertising revenues, the Collegian simply cannot afford to have a special interest page for every group that wants one. Before any more special interest pages are added, let's all stop and think what direction we want the Collegian to go in.

Is the Collegian going to be a paper that is a personal forum with special interest pages, or is the Collegian going to be a newspaper that is sound in both news coverage and its finances?

Robert J. Bikash is the Collegian Business Manager

Segregation does not serve a purpose

1960 — A Black man walks into a restaurant in a small town in North Carolina. He sits down at a counter that is divided by a line down the middle.

One side of the line is reserved for Blacks, the other for Whites. There are separate bathrooms for Whites and Blacks and separate water fountains. This was segregation in its most extreme form in America.

It is why the Civil Rights Act was passed in 1964 to outlaw such things.

George Austin

1990 — the Collegian. Pages entitled 'Third World Affairs," 'Multicultural Affairs,' 'Black Affairs,' and 'Women's Issues' have been instituted so groups who have been historically oppressed can report news happening in their communities.

Another form of segregation, yet with one major difference — this time it is voluntary segregation on the part of the minority pages and Women's Issues.

Why have these groups demanded to have their own special space in the Collegian?

The most frequent claim is that there is not enough coverage of their communities and the stories that do appear are stereotypical, distorted and biased.

In reality, these special interest pages have become like several different newspapers under the Collegian banner.

The best example of this is the Third World Affairs page.

The Third World Affairs page, created last semester after students staged a sit-in at the Collegian, has been a disaster.

It has been nothing more than a medium to express the extremist views of a few Third World students. Not a single news story has appeared on this page.

Rather, it is used to repeatedly condemn the 'imperialistic' United States and to attack the Collegian.

Why can't the Third World Affairs page publish feature stories about Third World students with interesting stories to tell or news stories about what the Third World community is doing on campus.

Wouldn't this serve its purpose better?

It is not wrong for the Third World Affairs page to show the obvious prejudices found in America against their people.

But what has been done on the Third World page against America and against the Collegian is exactly what the Third World has been claiming is done to them.

The opinions have been extremely and unfairly biased.

A story written early in the semester about the U.S. invasion of Panama contained quotes from Third World students condemning the U.S. invasion.

But it did not say anywhere in the article the U.S. reasoning for invading Panama.

This kind of bias has been apparent in almost everything that the page has published.

The page has also helped to reinforce the very stereotypes that the Third World has been trying to fight off.

Here is a quote taken from a column written on the page a couple of weeks ago: "So, if you find yourself in the Third World and are inexplicably harassed, beaten up, or killed for being an American, it will simply be the chickens coming home to roost, and you will have no one but yourself to blame."

Would this be acceptable if someone in the news section had published similar comments about a Third World nation?

There obviously are at least two different interpretations of what should be published in the Collegian.

Therefore, I am proposing that all pages be nixed and that the proposed creation of a Lesbian, Bisexual, and Gay Affairs page be scrapped so that the editors of these pages can become part of the news desk.

Working together on the same page is the only way to bring fair and objective news of these communities to the Collegian.

It is time that each community moved over a few seats.

George Austin is the Collegian Managing Editor

I feel it is sad that specialized pages are necessary, but since other minorities have received pages that petitionea for them, I think it's only fair that the Lesbian, Bisexual and Gay community have a page as well.

— Chris Muther
— Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Affairs Editor

What all these "minority" communities have consistently demanded and worked for is equality. They strive for equal rights, opportunities, and in this case access to the media. The pages are supposed to represent an access but they don't. They instead are walls, barriers, powerful forces segregating these communities.

— Peter Leon
— Collegian columnist

There is a Black Affairs page, a Women's issues page and a Multi-Cultural Affairs page. These pages exist in order to guarantee news coverage to these traditionally underrepresented groups, regardless of personal opinions of particular editors. In that same vein, the Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual community is requesting a page. As long as these groups need "reserved space" in order to ensure being heard, so will the Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual community. We demand that same space.

—Ali Woolwich
— Collegian staff

Build on our current structure

For decades, the Collegian has been a place of struggle. It has been the site of takeovers by women, people of color, and various religious groups.

It has also been a place of progress. It is a place that has collectively tried to become more inclusive and has tried somewhat successfully to broaden its cultural perspective.

I also am a former Women's Issues editor. When I was assistant editor, the Women's Issues page was created. It was a mistake.

Maria Sacchetti

Because of this, and after reviewing the history of the pages and their current status, I believe an additional page will hurt, not help the community.

This is what happens when a page is created:

- There is news of that group once every two weeks. In life, news happens every day and the Collegian has a responsibilty to reflect this. I doubt anyone wants news about their community every 14 days instead of every day.
- It pits communities against each other. I have difficulty saying 'no" to other groups who want a page.
- There is no consistency. Women's Issues publishes news, Third World Affairs has opinion columns, and Black Affairs has both. We have an Editorial/Opinion page and news space for these stories. Instead of breaking the Collegian apart, we need to pull it together. Adding more pages will not do this.

We have more than 21,000 readers in the community and our newspaper is for ALL of you. But we are not run by the community. If we were, we would not have been able to print the story about the administration's failure to include students in discussions about the University's cultural centers. Also, past stories about hazing and drugs in the Greek Area never would have surfaced.

By establishing pages we are setting up walls. Rape is not only a Women's Issue. Neither is racism. Or homophobia.

It is time to have editorial positions where PEOPLE, not pages, are here working together to put out the Collegian. This is not a utopian idea. It has worked before.

When I was Women's Issues editor, I once watched a staff member randomly poll students about what they read in the paper. The Women's Issues page fell into last place with few readers.

We need to use the structures we have in the newspaper and we have the space and resources for these stories.

Until then, we will remain in last place.

Maria Sacchetti is Collegian editor in chief

LGB FORUM

THURSDAY MARCH 29
Film — The film "The Boys in the Band," a serious, powerful movie about people struggling to cope with their own identities, will be shown at 7 p.m. in Campus Center room 805-09.
Alumni career forum— Gay, Lesbian Bisexual UMass Alumni return to discuss the job world, being out or not at work and other issues facing gay, lesbian and bisexual people upon graduation at a forum scheduled for 8 p.m. in Campus Center room 174-78.

FRIDAY MARCH 30 Coffee Social — The LBGA will sponsor a coffee social from 3- 6 p.m. in the Campus Center. Free refreshments will be served.

SUNDAY APRIL 1
Presentation — Christie Balka and others contributors to the Anthology Twice Blessed; On Being Lesbian, Gay and Jewish will speak at 3 p.m. in the Campus Center room 101.

TUESDAY APRIL 3
LBGA Meeting — The LBGA will have a business meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the LBGA Office in the Student Union room 413.
LBWU Meeting — The Lesbian, Bisexual, Women's Union will have a meeting at 8:30 p.m. in the LBGA Officein the Student Union room 413.

WEDNESDAY APRIL 4
Rap Group — The LBG Counseling Collective will sponsor a rap group to discuss homophobic harassment from 8-9:30 p.m. in the Student Union room 413. Gay men, Lesbians, Bisexual men and women or those questioning their sexuality are welcome.

The Lesbian Bisexual Gay Counseling Collective is now open for Spring Semester 1990. Office hours are:
Monday 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.
Tuesday 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.
Wednesday 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.
Thursday 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.
Friday 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.
The office is located in Student Union room 406 or call 545-2654.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

WHERE'D IT GO? — UMass student Bill Ross juggles by the Student Union.

"HOW I MADE $18,000 FOR COLLEGE BY WORKING WEEKENDS."

When my friends and I graduated from high school, we all took part-time jobs to pay for college.
They ended up in car washes and hamburger joints, putting in long hours for little pay.
Not me. My job takes just one weekend a month and two weeks a year. Yet, I'm earning $18,000 for college.
Because I joined my local Army National Guard.
They're the people who help our state during emergencies like hurricanes and floods. They're also an important part of our country's military defense.
So, since I'm helping them do such an important job, they're helping me make it through school.
As soon as I finished Advanced Training, the Guard gave me a cash bonus of $2,000. I'm also getting another $5,000 for tuition and books, thanks to the New GI Bill.
Not to mention my monthly Army Guard paychecks. They'll add up to more than $11,000 over the six years I'm in the Guard.
And if I take out a college loan, the Guard will help me pay it back—up to $1,500 a year, plus interest.
It all adds up to $18,000—or more—for college for just a little of my time. And that's a heck of a better deal than any car wash will give you.
THE GUARD CAN HELP PUT YOU THROUGH COLLEGE, TOO. SEE YOUR LOCAL RECRUITER FOR DETAILS, CALL TOLL-FREE 800-638-7600,* OR MAIL THIS COUPON.

*In Hawaii: 737-5255; Puerto Rico: 721-4550; Guam: 477-9957; Virgin Islands (St. Croix): 773-6438; New Jersey: 800-452-5794. In Alaska, consult your local phone directory.
© 1985 United States Government as represented by the Secretary of Defense. All rights reserved.

MAIL TO: Army National Guard, P.O. Box 6000, Clifton, NJ 07015
NAME ☐M ☐F
ADDRESS
CITY/STATE/ZIP
AREA CODE PHONE US CITIZEN ☐YES ☐NO
SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER BIRTH DATE
OCCUPATION
STUDENT ☐HIGH SCHOOL ☐COLLEGE
PRIOR MILITARY SERVICE ☐YES ☐NO
BRANCH RANK AFM/MOS
ARMY National Guard
A1CLJC19030NP

Army National Guard
Americans At Their Best.

The
Edwin M. Rossman
Alumni Career Forums

GAY, LESBIAN, AND BISEXUAL CONCERNS

Date: Thursday March 29, 1990
Time: 8:00PM
Location: Campus Center 174-178

Sponsored by:
Mather Career Center
Alumni Association
Program for Gay,Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns

This is an opportunity to meet with alumni and discuss their experiences in the working world. Don't miss the important panel discussion!

ALUMNI/AE PANELISTS:

Rick Dodge	B.S. in Environmental Design '79 antique dealer
Claire Donaldson	B.A. in Leisure Studies and Resources '81 Director Senior Services
Susan Montague	B.A. in English '72 self-employed as a career counselor
David Saint-Gelais	B.A. in Education '75 self-employed computer consultant
Karen Shelley	B.A. in Sociology '67 Assistant Director for Finances UMass Housing Services

For more information, please contact:
Mather Career Center
545-2224

In Conjunction with Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Awareness Week awareness rally stresses networking

CONTINUED FROM PAGE

weaken the communities, she said.

Carla Halpern, a representative of the Progressive Organization for Women's Rights said her group was formed because of homophobia, sexism amd heterosexism against women. Awareness Week is a 'great' opportunity to fight these problems, she said.

Part of the problem is stereotypes that perpetuate a continual homophobia, she said.

"People make assumptions based on the way people act or look, which tends to deny a lot of the diversity within the community," Halpern said.

When people make homophobic remarks many heterosexual allies are put down as well, she said. According to Halpern, most homophobics also opposed to freedom of choice in the issue of abortion and other civil rights.

Two protestors at the rally, who carried American flags, held signs that read 'Straight Power.'

SHREDDERS ALERT!

Come out to Stratton Ski Area, March 30- April 1 and watch the best snowboarders in the country compete in the SUPPLEX U.S. Open Snowboarding Championships!

And...on Saturday, March 31, it's your chance to try snowboarding at the spectacular I SKI Boarderline Madness Day with FREE clinics, snowboard demos, fun races and much more!

I SKI Presents: I SKI Boarderline Madness!

WHEN: March 31st, 9AM Registration
WHERE: I SKI Tent - Base of Stratton Mtn.
Race: Tyrolian Trail
WHAT: FREE Clinics, Prizes, Demos, Fun Races and much more!

I SKI Black Diamond

Stop by your local participating I SKI retailer for CLINIC TICKETS and sign up for the Grand Prize Sweepstakes for an all-expense-paid trip to Aspen, CO!

Distinguished Vistors Program
proudly presents

Arlene Blum

Mountain Climber, Biophysical Chemist, Author, Mom

TONIGHT
Student Union
Ballroom
8:00 PM

Women in high places

A slide presentation and personal narration of the first American ascent of Annapurna I (26,500 ft.), the world's tenth highest peak, by ten women.

Lecture and Open Reception Afterwards Are Free

distinguished visitors program

Spirit Haus
Liquor Store

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS

Jack Daniel's 750ml	$9.99
Miller Genuine Draft Suitcase	$10.99
Seagram's Gin 1.75 L	$12.69
Absolut Vodka 80 proof 750ml	$9.99
Captain Morgan Spiced Rum 1.0 L	$8.99
Catamount - Amber, Gold, Porter	$4.69 six pack
Newcastle Brown Ale	$5.99 six pack
Piel's 12oz. bar bottles	$7.99 case

338 College St. (Rt. 9) Amherst 253-5384

ARTS & LIVING

Wholly Trinity plays Hampden

By BILL ROSENBLATT
Collegian Staff

After an extremely successful sold-out debut, the Magic Triangle jazz concert series presents its second installment tonight: trumpeter Jack Walrath and his trio. Wholly Trinity will perform at Hampden Theatre in Southwest at 8 p.m.

Jack Walrath grew up in Edgar, Montana, a rather unlikely place for a jazz musician. But then his musical career has been unconventional as well. He fell in love with the trumpet as a child after hearing Louis Armstrong play. Although he was taught the basics of classical trumpet, his first professional playing experience was in R&B bands.

Valley Jazz

Walrath studied jazz composition at Boston's Berklee College of Music, where he was part of the first graduating class. He gained further R&B experience with the Drifters, Jackie Wilson, Ray Charles and others, and co-led an "avant-garde R&B" band with bassist Gary Peacock. He also played in various Latin bands.

Walrath's introduction to the jazz big time came through tenor saxophonist Paul Jeffrey in whose octet he played while in Boston. Jeffrey introduced Walrath to Charles Mingus, who hired him in the mid-'70s for more than three years. Mingus' great mid-'70s albums (Changes One, Me Myself and Eye and others) feature Walrath's trumpet playing and occasional compositions.

After leaving Mingus, Walrath recorded several albums as a leader, his most recent releases and Neohippus and Master of Suspense, both on Blue Note. He has also collaborated with various other Mingus alumni in the repertory group Mingus Dynasty, which has recorded and performed occasionally since Mingus' death in 1979.

In addition to Walrath, Wholly Trinity features Chip Jackson on bass and Jimmy Madison on drums. Jackson has played with Don Cherry, Elvin Jones, Horace Silver and the Thad Jones/Mel Lewis big band, while Madison has appeared with Ron Carter, James Brown, Rahsaan Roland Kirk, George Benson and Chet Baker. The trio recorded an eponymous album for Muse in 1988.

Although these musicians are not as well known as others who have come to the area recently (Brandford Marsalis, Milt Jackosn, etc.), they have the important advantage of being a regular working group that has played together for over six years. The empathy and telepathic communication possible within such a tightly-knit framework should be well known to anyone who has seen the Fringe, the Steve Lacy Sextet, or any other group that has worked together for a long time. Wholy Trinity represents intimate collective improvisation at its finest — don't miss them tonight.

Boston folkies Horse around

In keeping with the tradition of extending itself outward to performers such as Suzanne Vega and Tracy Chapman, the Iron Horse will present the Boston Songwriters Showcase.

The seven up and coming performers (Ellis Paul, Tricia Langlois, John Svetkey, Brian Doser, Catie Curtis, Jim Infantino, and Kathy Phipps) are the next generation of folk musicians.

According to Amy Fairchild, publicity manager at the Iron Horse, this showcase is a grass roots attempt to make a connection between the Valley's songwriters with performers from other parts of the state.

Called the "iconoclastic folksinger," John Svetkey takes the folk song beyond its traditional boundaries, combining is bitter, ironic wit with contemporary language and rhythm. His lyrics evoke laughter provoke heated discussion and demand attention. His music lingers long after the last note is played.

An acoustic musician with a powerful voice and a razor sharp wit, Brian Doser has shared the stage with Shawn Colvin, Rod MacDonald, Aztec Two Step and John Gorka. He has performed at Boston's WERS Annual Live Music Week since 1987.

Discovered in Dick Pleasant's WGBH/Nameless Coffeehouse Songwriters Contest, Ellis Paul is a strong songwriter with an intense delivery and pure voice.

Catie Curtis extends the boundaries of acoustic folk to include jazz, blues, and new age. Influenced by the Indigo Girls and Shawn Colvin, her lyrics are fresh with wit and simple eloquence.

Kathy Phipps bases her music on life's experiences, ranging from a personal family loss to a stint in the Navy as a cook in the early eighties. At twenty seven, she brings a unique authenticity to her performances.

Jim Infantino has the honor of having his own documentary, "Face & Guitar," shown regularly late at night on some New England TV stations.

The Boston Songwriters Showcase is on Saturday at 7 p.m. Tickets are $6 at the door for this all ages show.

—M.J. MURPHY

R+P
LIQUOR STORE
Check out our new location
505 West St. Rte. 116
close to Brittany & Riverdale
1 mile south on 116
Bring us your empties

Dance Stuff
220 N. Pleasant St. (Rear), Amherst, MA
For the Dancer, Gymnast, Fitness Minded
Fun Bodywear!
Great Shoes!
253-5201

I WANT TO BE AN ARTIST...BUT
April 2, 4, and 11

Everything you need to know
About surviving as an artist
In 3 easy lessons! Free!

LESSON 1 - TO BE OR NOT TO BE...AN ARTIST?
Monday, April 2, 4 to 6 p.m. Bartlett 20
Understand how your own work, lifestyle and financial values relate to being an artist. Learn about alternative professional opportunities. Develop your own definition of success.

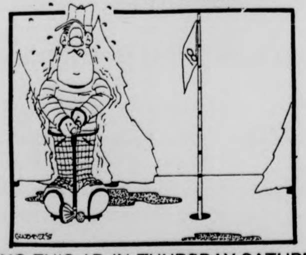
LESSON 2 - TO MARKET, TO MARKET, TO MAKE YOUR WORK KNOWN
Wednesday, April 11, 4 to 6 p.m., Bartlett 301
Learn to find and create professional opportunities right for you and your work. Identify your 'markets.'

LESSON 3 - TO MARKET, TO MARKET: THE SEQUEL
Wednesday, April 11, 4 to 6 p.m., Bartlett 301
Learn to set professional objectives. Make a marketing plan to get your artwork out there. Understand publicity and promotional tools and how to use them.

Seating is limited for this popular series!
To ensure your seat, call the Arts Extension Service, 545-2360.

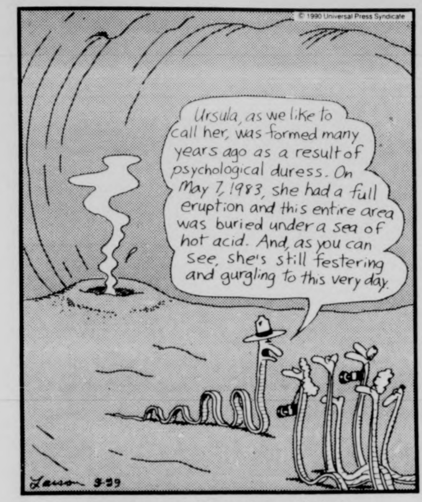
Presented by the Arts Extension Service, Division of Continuing Education, University of Massachusetts with support from the University Arts Council.

THE BLACK SHEEP
79 Main Street
Amherst
253-3442
58 Main Street
Northampton
586-3055



INDOOR MINIATURE GOLF
THIS MAN IS PUTTING FOR:
A - BIRDIE
B - BOGEY
C - PAR
BRING THIS AD IN THURSDAY-SATURDAY
GIVE US THE RIGHT ANSWER & WIN A FREE
ROUND OF MINI-GOLF WITH A REGULAR
PURCHASE OF MINI-GOLF
BIRDIES & BOGEYS
HOLYOKE MALL - LOWER LEVEL - 536-3765
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
OFFER EXPIRES MARCH 31. 1990

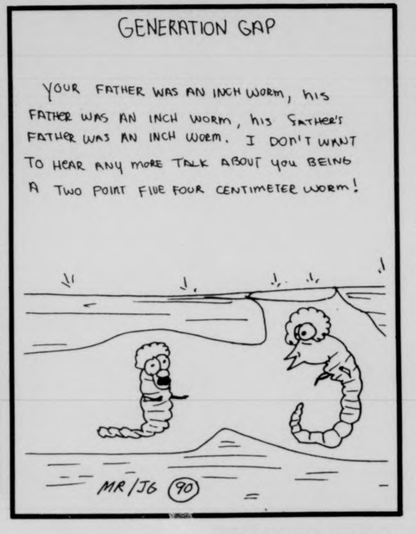
THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
Ursula, as we like to call her, was formed many years ago as a result of psychological duress. On May 7, 1983, she had a full eruption and this entire area was buried under a sea of hot acid. And, as you can see, she's still festering and gurgling to this very day.
Larson 3-29

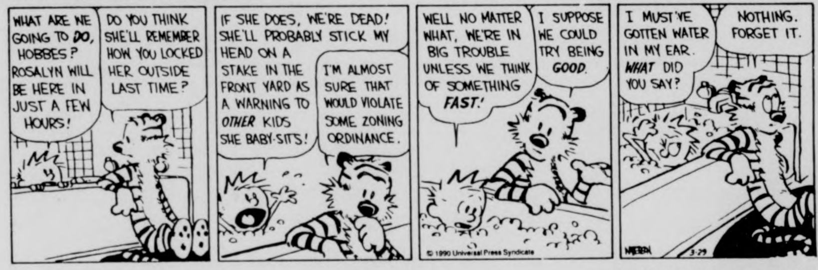
Tapeworms visiting a Stomach Park

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



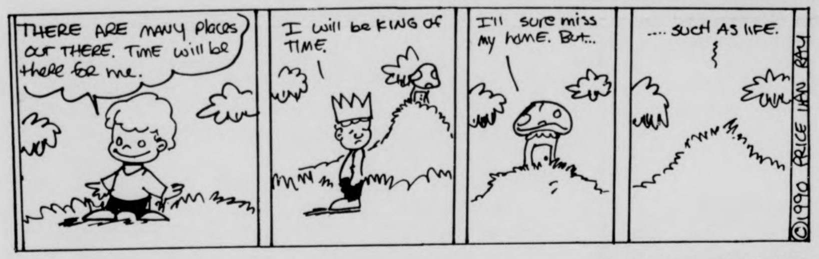
GENERATION GAP
YOUR FATHER WAS AN INCH WORM, his FATHER WAS AN INCH WORM, his FATHER'S FATHER WAS AN INCH WORM. I DON'T WANT TO HEAR ANY MORE TALK ABOUT you BEING A TWO POINT FIVE FOUR CENTIMETER WORM!
MR/JG (90)

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



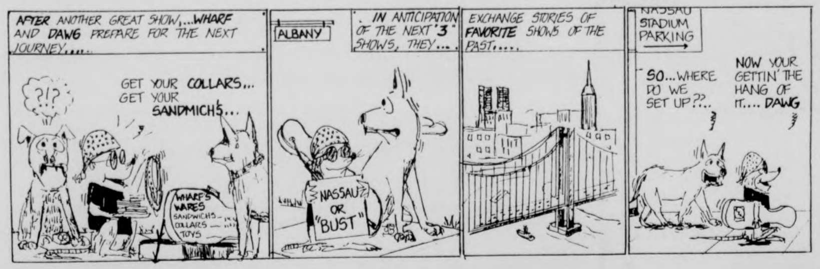
WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO, HOBBES? ROSALYN WILL BE HERE IN JUST A FEW HOURS!
DO YOU THINK SHE'LL REMEMBER HOW YOU LOCKED HER OUTSIDE LAST TIME?
IF SHE DOES, WE'RE DEAD! SHE'LL PROBABLY STICK MY HEAD ON A STAKE IN THE FRONT YARD AS A WARNING TO OTHER KIDS SHE BABY-SITS!
I'M ALMOST SURE THAT WOULD VIOLATE SOME ZONING ORDINANCE.
WELL NO MATTER WHAT, WE'RE IN BIG TROUBLE UNLESS WE THINK OF SOMETHING FAST!
I SUPPOSE WE COULD TRY BEING GOOD.
I MUST'VE GOTTEN WATER IN MY EAR. WHAT DID YOU SAY?
NOTHING. FORGET IT.
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
WATERSN 3-29

By PRICE VAN RAY



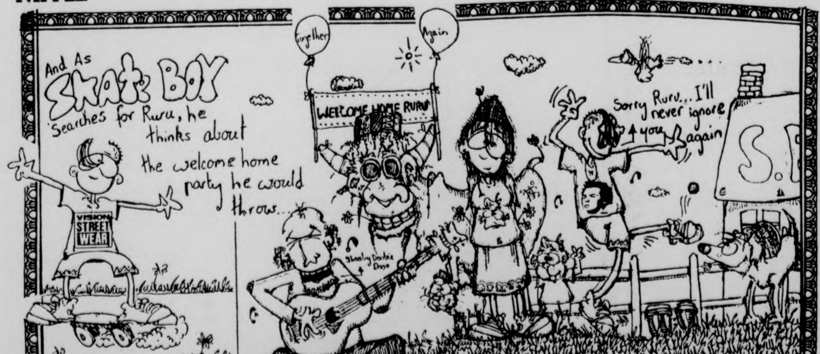
THERE ARE MANY places OUT THERE. TIME will be there for me.
I will be KING of TIME.
I'll sure miss my home. But...
.... SUCH AS LIFE.
©1990 PRICE VAN RAY

By DREW AQUILINA



AFTER ANOTHER GREAT SHOW,...WHARF AND DAWG PREPARE FOR THE NEXT JOURNEY.....
?!?
GET YOUR COLLARS... GET YOUR SANDMICH$...
WHARF'S WARES SANDWICHS COLLARS TOYS
ALBANY
NASSAU OR "BUST"
. IN ANTICIPATION OF THE NEXT "3" SHOWS, THEY...
EXCHANGE STORIES OF FAVORITE SHOWS OF THE PAST.....
NASSAU STADIUM PARKING
SO...WHERE DO WE SET UP??..
NOW YOUR GETTIN' THE HANG OF IT.... DAWG

NIPPLE
By PITT



And As SKAT BOY Searches for Ruru, he thinks about the welcome home party he would throw...
Together
Again
WELCOME HOME RURU
Sorry Ruru... I'll never ignore you again
VISION STREET WEAR
S.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

ACROSS
1 Greengrocer purchase
5 Desires
10 Part of a party line
14 The tentmaker
15 System of belief in the British West Indies
16 Officiate at a tea
17 Pilau ingredient
18 City on the Wabash
20 Rakes with gunfire
22 "... caters for the —": As You Like It
23 "— of Two Cities"
24 Success, as a show
25 Abalones
27 Work clothing
32 Silly ones
33 "— Rabbit"
34 Midday
35 Operated
36 Strode
37 Sign for a hit show
38 Outer: Comb. form
40 Raise
41 Mild cigar
43 Corks
45 Pluto, for example
46 Cosset
47 Accompanying
48 Puts upon
52 Most downcast
55 Site of a U.S. mint: 1870-93
57 Cinder ending
58 Nobelist, Wiesel
59 Gift receiver
60 Restrain
61 Oilfield sights
62 Turf
63 Very fast planes, for short

DOWN
1 Launcelot's uncle
2 Skip
3 Pony Express terminus
4 Makes
5 Inns
6 More than plump
7 For each
8 Little pitchers' have these
9 Chloe's Daphnis
10 Severe
11 Journey
12 Biography lead-in 13 Developed
19 Mcd musical
21 Bus passenger
25 Blunderbores
26 Respond
27 Killer whales
28 Turn sharply
29 Captured by Commodore Stockton: 1846
30 A "Casablanca" actor
31 Look down one's nose at 33 Bugs or Max
36 Lets on 39 Objects
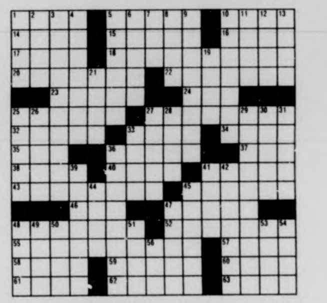
41 Clumsy one
42 Advice columnist Ann
44 100 centavos
45 Joined the team
47 Michaelmas daisy
48 Bakery worker
49 African republic
50 Stuffed shirt
51 Harbor craft
53 Skirt feature
54 Toasts in the sun
56 "Pig — poke"

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

B	R	E	D	■	C	H	A	I	M	■	R	A	S	P
R	A	C	E	■	R	E	C	T	O	■	E	S	N	E
A	U	C	T	I	O	N	E	E	R	■	S	T	E	N
E	L	E	A	N	O	R	■	A	T	T	I	R	E	S
■	■	■	I	O	N	I	C	■	O	R	D	O	■	■
J	O	A	N	N	E	■	L	E	N	I	E	N	C	Y
O	R	C	■	E	R	G	O	T	■	S	N	O	R	E
V	O	C	E	■	S	E	T	T	O	■	T	M	A	N
E	N	O	L	A	■	S	T	U	B	S	■	E	F	T
S	O	U	L	M	A	T	E	■	S	P	A	R	T	A
■	■	N	I	A	S	■	D	R	E	A	R	■	■	■
A	N	T	O	N	I	A	■	E	S	T	R	A	D	A
F	E	A	T	■	A	M	B	A	S	S	A	D	O	R
R	A	N	T	■	N	A	I	V	E	■	N	A	S	T
O	P	T	S	■	S	H	O	E	S	■	T	R	E	Y

3/29/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/29/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Double Burger Boston Burger	Kielbasa Grinder Chicken Parisienne
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Tofu Burger Boston Burger	Cheese Nut Loaf Chicken Parisienne

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A surprise telephone message will delight you. Travel is a real possibility. Although a family crisis could deplete your financial reserves, an unexpected check will arrive in the nick of time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): An office shakeup could send you on a job search. A change of personnel will improve your work environment. Browse through antique and second-hand shops - you could find some real treasures.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be more daring and success will come easier. You can learn a lot by observing other people's mistakes. Your intuition is right on target where loved one is concerned. Be a good listener.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Jump at a challenge. Joining groups will help you make new friends and business contacts. A letter brings welcome financial news. Share the glad tidings with partner. A small celebration is in order.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Show more faith in yourself. An unusual agreement will help you make certain concessions. Family members rally around. A new business partnership enjoys highly favorable influences. Romances is magical.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Spend more time with those in your field. You will benefit from swapping information and experiences. Be certain you receive all the money you are entitled to from a business deal.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Steer clear of a co-worker who likes to gossip. Romantic partner respects your high standards. Luck is on your side when you fight for what is right. new financial rewards are featured.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A new venture begins to pay off handsomely. Making a clean break with the past puts you on the road to romantic happiness. A rejection could work in your favor. Proceed slowly!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Making intelligent concessions will help you turn a difficult situation around. A relative aids your career. Show your gratitude. You will be richly rewarded for granting a favor.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Trust your intuition. An intense relationship could be somewhat tricky today; go slow. Admit a mistake and then forget it. Dwelling on old errors wastes valuable time and energy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Refuse to be bulldozed into making a hasty decision. Stand up for your rights. A period of meditation provides you with answers. Follow an older person's advice.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You obtain more power and money now. Your priorities begin to change. Consider the alternatives to a current business arrangement. Loved one is pleased by your dedication and affection.

TODAY'S STAFF
Night Editor............................Meredith O'Brien
Copy Editor..................................Rory Evans
Layout Technician........................Peter Leon
Photo Technician.......................Joel Solomon
Production Supervisor...................Mike Wester
Typesetter...........................Danielle Dowling
Production...........Nicole Dumas, Mark Sturm, Al Kaufman, Ali Woolwich, Lissa Maldonado

TWISTERS TAVERN
The Uptown Alternative!

Thurs. Ray Mason Band March 29
Free Admission with College ID
THE UPTOWN ALTERNATIVE
Two blocks forward, two blocks back

Fri. The Rahmies March 30
Rootsy Rock-n-Roll

Sat. DANCE PARTY March 31
All proceeds benefit
Hatian Health Clinic

Sat. POST-GAME March 31
Afternoon LACROSSE PARTY
FREE APPETIZER BUFFET

Sun. Closed for Private April 1
Delta Zeta Party

HAPPINESS HOUR
Mon.-Fri. 4:00 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.
Mini Pizzas
Peel & Eat Shrimp
Potato Skins
Wings
$1.90
30 Boltwood Walk Amherst, MA 01002 • 253-2663

CENTRAL AREA'S:
Coffee House
BLUEWALL CAFE
MARCH 30th
7 p.m.-12 a.m.
featuring: Ari Vais
tickets: $2 Central
$3 non-Central
WANT TO DO
AN OPEN-MIKE ACT?
CALL: MANOS 6-4722/TIM 6-6010

LOOK WHO'S TALKING
CAMPUS CENTER AUDITORIUM
Thursday, March 29 5,7,9,11PM
$2.00 General Public FREE to Hillel Members
Sponsored by Hillel

TACO VILLA
MEXICAN RESTAURANTS
Great mexican food served quickly and inexpensively in a friendly & casual atmosphere... Try it! You'll like it!
Downtown Amherst and Northampton

"Holy, Holy, Holy
The Lord God Almighty
Who was, and is, and is to come." Rev 4:8

"When Jesus came to Golgotha
they hanged him on a tree
They drove great nails through hands and feet, and that was Calvary."

But now He says "I stand at the door and knock.
If anyone hears my voice and opens the door
I will come in. Rev 3:20

Join other students at this weeks 'TOUCH' meeting, Friday, March 30, 1990
7 pm Campus Center Rm 805-809

The GYM
at mountain farms mall
RTE 9 ON THE AMHERST/HADLEY LINE
ON THE BUS ROUTE AND LOTS OF PARKING
584-2175
UNLIMITED AEROBICS CLASSES $49.00 FOR THE REST OF THE SEMESTER
EITHER MEMBERSHIP SPECIAL IS FOR MEMBERSHIP THRU MAY 31st
UNLIMITED MEMBERSHIP AT THE GYM $59.00 FOR THE REST OF THE SEMESTER

---

baseball preview

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

dy Higuera and Dan August lead a staff that could do great things. They need to if the Brew Crew is to fight for the pennant.

The rest of the division will finish Baltimore, Cleveland, New York and Detroit, with only the Orioles finishing above .500.

NL WEST

San Diego: They have to have a decent first half, but the acquisitions of Joe Carter and Craig Lefferts should help the Padres win their first division since 1984. Losing Mark Davis hurts, but the Padres pitching staff should compensate, and Lefferts is good for 20 saves. This team has enough hitting and pitching to defeat a solid. . .

Cincinnati: . . . team, which won't have to play under the microscope brought on by the Pete Rose fiasco last year. Lou Piniella, the new Reds manager, guided a so-so Yankee team to 90s wins. He'll do the same with the Reds, if the pitching staff holds together. It should.

San Francisco: Few teams repeat, and the Giants, without healthy pitching, should drop a few notches. Kevin Mitchell, Will Clark and Matt Williams lead a potent offense, but don't expect Mitchell to repeat last year's .291, 47 HR, 125 RBI season. Question marks at catcher and right field further hurt the Giants.

The rest of the division will finish Los Angeles, Atlanta and Houston, with none finishing above .500, and only the Dodgers being close.

NL EAST

Jim Clark told me not to be biased and pick my Cubs to finish first, which makes sense anyway since no one repeats in the NL EAST. Therefore. . .

St. Louis: Whitey Herzog took a combination of injured pitchers and minor leaguers and came close to winning last year. The return of Danny Cox, Greg Matthews and Todd Worrell should put the Cardinals over the top. Todd Zelle is an adequate replacement for the departed Pena.

Chicago: The Cubs need a healthy Damon Berryhill behind the plate, and a healthy Andre Dawson in right. The Cubs have no third baseman and lack a fourth starter, but Ryne Sandberg and Mark Grace provide a solid one-two punch that will keep the Cubbies in the hunt as they hope for the first back-to-back winning seasons since 1971-72.

New York: The Mets lack a leader, have a questionable relief core and have problems at catcher, shortstop and center field. The loss of Keith Hernandez (now with Cleveland) may be devastating. The starting pitching will only take the Mets so far, and if they have a key injury. . .

The rest of the division will finish Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Montreal, with only the Pirates finishing above .500.

So there you have it. . .

Hope your team does well and the Cubs surprise the world with a Championship. . .

Rugby team to open its season

The University of Massachusetts club rugby team is about to get its season underway. The club will will travel to Hartford, Conn. tonight for its spring season opener, playing the University of Connecticut.

The club has been practicing since the second week in February to ready themselves for the upcoming season and a tough season opener.

"UConn always sides a good team," club vice president Jerry Hunt said. "So it will be a good test of the UMass ruggers skills and fitness."

The Minutemen have been practicing three days a week, every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon on the fields across from Boyden Gym. They hope that practice will start paying off tonight.

****

The Rugby Club is looking for new members, both experienced and inexperienced. If you are looking to join the team, drop by practice on Tuesday at 4 p.m. on the fields across from Boyden Gym.

THIS JAR
CONTAINS A 3,000 YEAR TRADITION.
Four finely powdered, proportionally blended, all natural spices. Bring the Taste of India into your kitchen in minutes! We have kept it authentic!

Available in 3.5 oz. resealable jars:
TANDOORI MARINADE $3.50
VEGETABLE SPICE MIX 3.50
CURRY MIX 3.50
TRIAL PACK OF 3 (Incl S&H) 2.98
GARAM MASALA 3.50
Gift Box of 3 jars 11.50
Gift Box of 4 jars 13.95
Shipping & Handling 2.75
Includes recipes and catalog

Call 1-800-669-7742 or write
INTERNATIONAL RESOURCES
Cooking Arts Division
P.O. Box 529, Lexington, MA 02173
MC/Visa accepted
Watch for catalog insert 4/90 & STUDENT RATES!

▽ ▽ ▽ ▽ ▽ ▽ ▽ ▽ ▽ ▽
RECYCLE THIS NEWSPAPER.

WOW...
IT'S ALREADY
DAY 2 OF GAY, LESBIAN,
BISEXUAL
AWARENESS
WEEK!!

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE. 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

FRENCH LANGUAGE SUITE information session - main lobby, Brown House, Sylvan Area, 7 PM Tonight. Info for 1990-91 Academic year

LOCAL MENSA GATHERING TOC Restaurant Tues. 4/3/90 6:30 PM

PASSOVER SEDERS at Chabad House - your chance to do the real thing - call the Chabad office 549-4094

SENIOR KICKOFF TONIGHT!! Biggest Senior Party ever. Great opportunity to commence your UMASS experience. Rack-a-Disc/Door prizes/Drink specials. 3/29 CC 1009 from 9 PM - 1 AM.

SKYDIVE: General meeting Thursday 8 PM in Room 178 Campus Center must attend to make a first jump this weekend

SOUTH ASIAN STUDENTS
Meeting at 6:30 Knowlton Bsmt
Please attend!

THE DR. SUESS SOCIETY cordially invites all to read and discuss Suess stories tonight at 6:30 in Cape Cod Lounge

THE MUSIC THEATRE GUILD will be having a meeting tonight at 7:00 in CC Rm 811. All are welcome!

VIETNAMESE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION
Da vu hop mat
Dance Party!
Saturday 3/31/90 8 PM
Campus Center Rm 168
All welcome!

AMY MACKINNON

HAPPY BIRTHDAY MIAMI!! The best is still yet to come! The house of hair is ready for the spring and this day kicks us off. Thanks for being such a great roommate- we love you! Remember: wild women get what they want! Love, Joya, Heather, Gail, Nini, Kath & Sue!

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

FOR MEN ONLY - Everything you always wanted to know about contraception. Thurs. March 29, 7:00 PM, University Health Center, Room 302 - All men are welcome.

MISSING ISRAEL? Find out about Kesher '90, 3 months in Israel this summer for $1099. And a chance to win a free trip. Call (617) 423-0868.

WE SCREENPRINT YOUR DESIGN or message on T-shirts, sweats, boxers...At low prices and fast delivery. "Call us collect" Connecticut Advertising 203-668-1158.

APARTMENT SPECIAL

A LIMITED TIME ONLY, Northwood Apts. is offering a 2 Bdr. apt. for the price of a 1 Bdr. For more information on this special offer, please call Lanice at 665-3856. Rent an apt. for March and receive $100.00 off our first months rent. We have student short term leases and free bus service every 15 minutes on weekdays to UMASS and Amherst. (Available to new residents only)

AUTO FOR SALE

$1,000'S SAVED! Government seized/surplus vehicles. Low as $100! BMW, Cadillac, Mercedes. Call now for more information 1-318-828-4989. Ext G1283 24 Hours

1981 AUDI 4000 Good condition
$1000 Call Adam at 549-0920

1981 CHEVY CHEVETTE
Runs good For info 256-6920

1983 FORD ESCORT WAGON 52000 miles excellent condition air cond recent tune-up 1800.00 256-0933

1983 MAZDA GLC, Great condition, 4D/FWD. $650-Must sell. James 253-3602

AMAZING 79 CHEVY CAPRICE
Classic. Only 81Kmi, new tires, brakes, engine belts, muffler, fine tuned transmission. Very well maintained. Must see. Only $1900 or Best Offer. Call Lori 549-4291.

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club Today! Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR RENT

MARTHA'S VINEYARD Oak Bluffs Tivoli Inn Bed and Breakfast. Reasonable rates, convenient location, charming rooms. 508-693-7928.

MOVE OFF CAMPUS into a great apartment. Take over our lease June 1st. New rugs and paint, partially furnished, cheap rent. Directly in front of bus stop. Southwood Townhouse. Call after ten weekdays 253-2566.

ONE ROOM FOR RENT in Puffton Village. Call 549-1809

ROOM IN 4BR. HOUSE, 2 car garage, pool, tennis court, fireplace. Shared kitchen & bath. $250 mo. Grad. student pref. Call Alison eves. 256-6930

FOR SALE

CASIO "BOSS" 64K data directory phone numbers, scheduling and memo functions among others. Pocket size great tool for faculty or student
Mint with instructions.
Was $220, asking $150.
Call Dave at 546-6402

CD HOLDERS holds 70 CD's handcrafted woodwork $29 Call Jen 549-5664

ELECTRIC GUITAR with hardcase and amplifier $250 Call 546-4297

WOMEN OF SPRING BREAK
CALENDAR
limited signed edition
only $5.00!!
call 549-5317
546-9003

FOUND

FOUND LEATHER JACKET at Barsies on Sunday 3/25. Please call to identify. Eileen 253-0754

HAPPY BIRTHDAY KELLY!

KELLY G., the original pre-experienced toastaculator, has turned 19 today! (She's a youngin' for a sophomore, isn't she?!) For a great ride in a Red Spitfire, just call...
Have a great day, Kel!
Love, Marta and Theresa

HELP WANTED

AMHERST TENNIS CAMP seeks tennis instructors to teach adults, juniors (June-August). Excellent pay and room/board. Opportunities to arrange for college credit through your institution. Send resume to: P.O. Box 2271 Amherst College Amherst MA

COUNSELORS coed camp in Berkshires 220 campers/85 staff has openings for head and assistant instructors in: Waterfront WSI, Head small crafts, Video filmaking, Tennis, Lacrosse, Arts & Crafts, Softball, Basketball, Computers, Hiking, Back packing, Drama, Radio station AM, Waterskiing, Sailing, Horseback riding (western), and bunk unit heads. Good salaries. Friendly atmosphere. June 19-Aug 20 Contact: Paul Krouner 617-964-1912. Call collect days 9-5

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for spring, Christmas, and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext S-1120.

EARN $300 TO $500 per week
Reading books at home.
Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B281

I NEED MY ALS recertified. If you can help call 546-5422

LIVE-IN HELPER for Cape Cod beach house. Dishwashing, cleaning, errands. Flexible hours. Room, board, and $150 a week. July 1 to September 1. For more information call collect 202-338-2950, Monday or Friday between 5PM and 8PM.

MODELS
2 yrs. to adult. No experience necessary. Selecting new faces for promotion to local and major advertisers. Presentations at 5 or 7 PM sharp on Weds., April 4 at Northampton Hilton I-91 Exit 18. Minors must be with legal guardian. Highlite modeling NYC & Scranton, PA (717) 346-3166

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SUMMER JOBS TO SAVE ENVIRONMENT Earn $2500-$3500. National campaign positions to pass Clean Air Act, stop toxic pollution, tighten pesticide controls and promote comprehensive recycling. Available in 18 states and D.C. Intvs on campus 4/3, 4/4. Call Kate at: 1-800-75-EARTH.

NEED EXTRA MONEY? Spare time? National marketing firm offers part time position posting promotional material on campus. Call Jennifer Schaefer at 1-800-592-2121.

THERE'S A JOB FOR YOU IN A SUMMER CAMP
The American Camping Association (NY) will make your application avail. to over 300 camps in the Northeast. Exciting opportunities for college students and professionals. Positions avail: all land and water sports, kitchen, maintenance, arts and crafts, drama, music, dance, nature, tripping, R.N.'s, M.D.s College Credit Available. Call or write for application. American Camping Association, 12 West 31st Street, New York, NY 10001, 1-800-777-CAMP.

LEGAL INTERNSHIPS

FALL 1990 INTERNSHIPS with the Legal Services Center; get hands-on experience in the legal field--work directly with attorneys and clients. Earn up to 15 undergraduate credits. No experience in the legal profession necessary--training provided. Apply early! Contact Legal Services today: 545-1995, 922 Campus Center. Start the application process now!

LOOK WHAT'S HERE

!!!LOOK WHAT'S HERE**!!!
UMASS Hospital Pants
Green & White
CHEAP!!!!!
Great Gift Call
Randee or Lisa
6-8897 Leave message

LOST

GOLD MOONPHASE WATCH black band in Boyden Extrm sentimental value
Please call Carl 253-5496

HAVE YOU SEEN my black cat? Lost this weekend she is fluffy, big green eyes, royal blue collar white rhinestones
Please call home Cleo 549-4268

LOST
RayBan Sunglasses
and Walkman
in
Campus Center.
If found call 546-7257

LOST - small, round, tan purse. Tues morn btwn Lot 26 and Goessman. If found, Please call Sue - day 5-0683, night 586-4973. Keep money.

PAINTING, PAPERHANGING, POWERWASHING

A SPRING SPRUCE UP FOR YOUR HOME.
Painting-interior & exterior-, wallpapering, powerwashing for your wooden or vinyl homes - They'll look like new-
Call after 5, or weekends anytime. Fully insured, reasonable rates - Frank 1-413-467-3465 Granby

PERSONALS

AMY P. MacKinnon; Hist151, Bakerboys, Xplain, Falmouth, Phisig, Schmegs, Dhanges, Newport, Pelham Rd, Ginas, Uptown, Thanks for everything, Happy 22nd I love ya Janine

CARYN SEFTON! Congratulations on your pledging! We're looking forward to a fun semester
Love, The Sisters of Tri-Sigma

DELTA CHI get your inactive formal tickets now! If you have paid your dues you can't go. Become inactive now! For more info call 1-800-I'M INACTIVE Today!

FRANK S wears turquoise Calvin Klien Bikinis!

HEY TIM- You owe me a drink (let's make it a senior slammer) See you at the Senior Kick Off Thursday night 9 AM at CC 1009!!
Karen

JEFF ROSEN Happy 21! Let's start early tonight legal at last - all the grape crush you can on me! Hoey

JF, BF, EK, AL, JS, RS, AS, KL - Acapulco was OOC Coronitas and Poppers for everyone tonite We love you guys - JB & DK

JILL BYRAM - I bet you thought we forgot- we did - the deadline, not you! Happy 19th Birthday. We'll take you out as soon as you can get out of bed.
Love-The Girls!

JILLY-WILLY! Happy 19th! Sorry about everything that happened. Have a blast but try to keep it down (up?) with Kev.
Love, P.

KAREN A. MCGEE--Look out uptown, She's finally turned 21!! Have a Happy Birthday Karen! We love you! Judi and Kimberly

LAURA-Apparently its your righteous 20th B-day! We hope it's sahweeet! We'll miss you a lot! Love J-Me and J-9 P.S. Bahama Mamas are on us.

MARILINE AND JENEFUR- Tequilla Tequilla Thanks for an amazing trip! We'll never forget our car ride from Hell, pineapples, Ruben's spaghetti, Rand & Co., green aloe, coagulation, B-52's, moster's polo, sombreros, bus ceiling bangin', sunrise, 8:30 wake-ups, eyedrops, limbo, peso problems at Tarzans, "Later, see ya", Jen's ankles, Judy's passport, hairdryers, pringles, MD's Texan, Rasin' Hell, and snotty neighbors! You guys are awesome! Las cuatro amigas rule!
Love, M & J

ROGER, it's tough being so PALE, huh? Okay, now I won't say anything else, promise.

SAM - I just wanted you to know how happy you always make me. I love you more than you'll ever know. You and me for always, Babe! Love you, Shari

SEAN O'SHEA
Roses are red
Violets are blue
Meet me at Munchies
on 4/1 at 2PM
and I will return to you!
Moonbeam

STEVE W, aka Spider, sorry we interrupted when you and your woman were getting hot-n-heavy at LaHacienda Spider-you go caught in your own web!
Love, M & J

SUSSIE-
Here's to less food and DOUBLE the fun.
I'm glad we're us.
Love, Jerk-face

THE LOVESHACK may have been ransacked, but we will prevail. Spring break is over. We're back and we're better than ever. This could get scandalous.

TO THE 3 HOT PIKES in 309 - Thanks for the sickest spring break ever! Practice that alphabet and remember underwear is just like a bikini. Areeba! We love you- The 3 sexy Chi-O's

TRACY RICHMAN - your second personal! Happy Birthday you hot horny mama! Too bad we weren't with you to rap about organs & makin! We love you! Moster & Jude

WARNING:
To all men in the SW Area. There is a dark haired, blue eyed babe named Aimee St. Louis on the loose. And today is her Birthday. Happy Birthday Aims!

PIZZA

COLLEGE PIZZA
Spring Special
large cheese $5.99
small cheese $3.50
2 additional toppings
ONLY 1 dollar more
549-6098 549-6073
!must mention this ad!

RIDE WANTED

GOING TO VIRGINIA? I need a ride way bad. Anytime. I'll pay gas. I'll pay tolls. I'll talk if you want me to. I won't if you don't. I'll even be willing to name my first-born child after you. Call 545-3500. Ask for Al.

I NEED A RIDE tomorrow to Norwich or Burlington
VERMONT
I'll share expenses
Call Ellen 256-8218

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 BEDRM IN 2 BEDRM APT. in Sunderland $190/mn, on bus rt., 665-3403

ESCAPE FROM BABYLON: 2 available singles in a 4bdr. house. Female or male roommates wanted for summer and/or fall. Enjoy country living in beautiful Leverett. Call 548-9981 Ask for Larry or Jeff

LOOKING FOR FEMALE for 2 bedroom Apt in Southwood Apts., Sunny, next to bus stop, fully equipped kitchen, 1½ bathrooms, new carpet, great place, more info call 546-7354

SERVICES

RESUMES! I will do your resumes for $10 to $30 less than the local print shops! Call me evenings! Rick 586-1642

SUMMER SUBLET

NEEDED 1-2 to sublet for summer
Mill Valley Apt behind Brittany
Call 256-1331

SUMMER SUBLET
2 bdrm fully furnished
Brandywine Apt.
Call now 549-4021

SUMMER SUBLET
Single bdrm in large furnished
Townhouse apt. 225/month or BO
Call Craig at 549-4246

T'AI CHI

CHEN STYLE T'AI CHI class begins April 10 6:30 - 7:45 Tues. & Thurs. Free demo April 3 Call 585-8931

TAKE OVER OUR LEASE

AVAILABLE JUNE 1- Gorgeous, new split level house. Minutes from buses, four bedrooms, two full baths, large driveway and garage- great house in nice Amherst neighborhood- some furniture available also! Affordable & convenient- call us for info: 253-9105 - please leave message and number

TRAVEL

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL ENGLAND

LEARN TO SCUBA DIVE Earn credit
Basic course, Fall semester $195
Bonaire May 26 - June 2 $750
Key Largo Aug 26 - Sept 1 Sport Scuba $380, U/W Photography $395
Call Project Deep 256-6266

TOUR TO THE SOVIET UNION: Moscow, Leningrad, Black Sea, Caucasus Mts. June 28-July 12. $2795 Complete from New York. Call Prof. Jones, 253-7827, Evenings after 7:00.

TYPING

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING.
$1.75/pg. Campus pick-up.
Gloria, 323-5140.

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

NEED GARAGE OR parking space close to UMASS campus. Call Ed at 546-1047.

ONE BEDROOM PUFFTON APARTMENT We want to take over your lease. Call 549-1609 and leave a message.

TWO GIRLS LOOKING FOR an apartment to lease for the summer. Please call 546-4842 or 546-4350

WANTED: SUMMER ADMISSIONS ASSISTANTS

Freshman, Sophomores & Juniors- The Undergraduate Admissions office is hiring two Summer Admissions Assistants to interview prospective students, lead tours & handle other public-relations related duties. This is a full-time job paying $7/hr. Job descriptions are available in the Admissions Office, next door to Gorman. Application Deadline: April 9, 1990

HORRORS! HE JUST ASSUMES THAT I'M STRAIGHT!

SPORTS

Gorillas edged by Cornell, 16-15

Suffer first loss of season to Big Red

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

ITHACA, N.Y. — Say one thing about lacrosse games between the University of Massachusetts and Cornell University — they're always exciting.

Anytime these two teams get together, you can assume a battle. Yesterday was no exception as the Gorillas failed on a last second chance that allowed Cornell to pull out a thrilling 16-15 win at Schoellkopf Field.

It looked like Cornell would kill the last 1:15 after the Gorillas (2-1) were called for an illegal procedure. But John Heil inadvertantly stepped out of the attack box, giving UMass one last chance with 23 seconds left.

Senior midfielder Jamie Bergan took the ball toward the net and tried to feed it in. There was a scramble for the ball and defender Scott Boomer cleared it just before the ball crossed the plane of the goal line.

The loss was a tough one for UMass, the third straight regular season game between the two teams to be decided by one goal.

"That was a great lacrosse game," said UMass coach Dick Garber. "But we've got to find a way to win one of these."

In the end, it was the inability of the Gorillas to sustain an attack in the second half. UMass led at the half, 11-9 but failed to score in the third quarter as Cornell took control of the game.

"Their goalie made the saves and we put the ball on the ground," Garber said. "We threw the ball away five times and we didn't have the ball three minutes of the 15 [in the third quarter]. It was just faulty stickhandling."

UMass actually scored five minutes into the third quarter but Rich Senatore's goal was wiped out because of an off-sides call. Cornell then proceeded to score the next three goals, two by midfielder Vince Angotti (five goals) to take a 12-11 lead after three quarters.

Cornell never lost that lead. After the Big Red scored a minute into the fourth quarter to take a two goal lead, UMass was able to close to within one on three different occasions.

Senatore's goal at 2:05 made it 13-12 but a pair of goals by Mike Cummings gave Cornell its biggest lead of the game at 15-12. UMass closed to within one again on consecutive goals by senior attackmen Rob Codignotto (four goals) and Scott Hiller.

Angotti struck again for Cornell before Hiller capped off a hat trick to close the scoring.

The Gorillas didn't have much trouble scoring in the first half in what was a strange half of fits and spurts for both teams. After the teams traded goals to open the game, UMass got back-to-back tallies from Codignotto and Hiller to take a 3-1 lead. But Cornell rallied behind the stellar play of Angotti, who rifled home a pair of goals in a four-goal run that put the Big Red on top, 5-3 early in the second quarter.

Next it was the Gorillas' turn to rattle off six straight. Junior attack Jim McAleavey and Codignotto struck within 20 seconds to tie it, and then senior midfielder Tim Soudan (four goals, three assists) scored a pair in a span of 54 seconds. Soudan's second goal came after he toasted a defender and broke in clean for an easy goal low to the left side.

A few minutes later, it was Codignotto and McAleavey with the next pair. Codignotto rolled off his defender and tucked it inside the left post at 7:22. But McAleavey's tally just 14 seconds later was clearly the prettiest of the game.

Collegian file photo

The University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team was handed its first loss of the season by Cornell yesterday, 16-15.

Camped out at the left post, he took a feed from Soudan on the fast break and in one motion swung it behind his head and into the net passed stunned Cornell goalie Tim Shea.

Cornell scored four of the next five goals to close to 10-9 with a minute left in the half. Soudan fired a long shot just under the crossbar with three seconds left in the half to send the Gorillas into the locker room with an 11-9 lead.

UMass tries to rebound

By TAMIR LIPTON
Collegian Staff

Today the University of Massachusetts baseball team tries to bounce back from Tuesday's drubbing at the hands of the University of Connecticut, when the team takes on Siena (3 p.m. Lorden Field).

The Minutemen enter today's contest with the Saints posting a 3-6 record. The Saints come into Amherst without catcher Jim Kate (sprained ankle), Mike Dunn (mono), and Todd Curry (arm problems). So what you say, the fact is that the Saints were thin to start the season due to graduation, where they lost seven starters, five of which signed pro contracts.

Needless to say, Siena brings a poor 0-5-1 record into this afternoon's game. A team without a win may be exactly what the doctor ordered for the Minutemen who are currently on a two-game skid. The combined scores in the two UMass losses is 36-6.

While both teams are struggling, the Saints have been competitive in their last two games falling to CW Post 3-1, and losing to Penn State 9-6. The one Siena bright spot was the team's 5-5 tie with the same Huskies who UMass lost to 16-0 earlier this week.

The Saints pitching staff is weak, paced by senior Doug McGregor who probably will not see action in today's game. The Minutemen are led offensively by Mike Tobin's .438 average. Tobin leads the team in hits with 14, he has one homerun and five runs batted in.

Lou Olivieri is batting .333, followed by Ian Torres .294.

Torres and Glenn DiSarcina each have six RBIs to lead the club, and DiSarcina has two round trippers, enough for team lead.

Jerry Creamer (0.00 ERA) heads a pitching staff that has a high 8.15 earned run average. Dan O'Leary at 2.89 is second, and Rich Graham 3.18 is third. After these three, the ERAs sky rocket into astronomical numbers.

Numbers are all well and good but the only numbers that really count are the ones in the win and loss column, and right now the Minutemen have too many in the loss column and not enough in the win column. A win against Siena would be a nice way to start a long weekend of baseball. The road for the Minutemen does not get easier, St. Joseph's comes to town for two double headers on Saturday and Sunday.

The Minutemen must remain focused, and put Tuesday's debacle in the back of their minds. This is the team's longest home stand of the season, and although it is early, UMass needs to come away with a few wins. Weather permitting, Siena should be the first win of the week for the Minutemen.

It's time to play big league ball

By DAVID R. MARK
Collegian Staff

The lockout is over, the umpires aren't going to strike. In the interim before UNLV defeats Duke in the NCAAs, it's time to predict the 1990 baseball season.

The name of the game this season is parity, with no less than 14 teams having a legitimate chance to win a division this year.

DAVID R. MARK

Here goes:

AL WEST

Kansas City: With the acquisition of Storm Davis, Richard Dotson and Mark Davis, the Royals have the best pitching in the division. If George Brett is healthy and Danny Tartabull, Pat Tabler, Kevin Seitzer and Bo Jackson have good years, look out! Anyway, everyone knows that. . .

Oakland: . . .could never three-peat in the tough AL WEST. The pitching isn't as strong as the hitting, which will be bolstered by the return of Jose Canseco and the rebounding of Mark McGwire. The A's will miss Storm Davis, but they'll miss Dave Parker (signed with Milwaukee) more.

California: They'll be in it 'til the end, but lack the bats to win the division. Plus, Langston's bad luck to contenders and the Angels have bad karma anyway.

The rest of the division will finish Texas, Minnesota, Seattle and Chicago, with only the Rangers finishing above .500.

AL EAST

Toronto: Teams rarely repeat in baseball anymore, but the Blue Jays have the best pitching and potentially the best hitting in the division. The late-season acquisition of Mookie Wilson will continue to benefit the Jays, although the loss of Ernie Whitt will hurt.

Boston: If Ellis Burks is healthy and someone becomes a decent No. 4 starter, the Red Sox may win the division. That's two ifs. Then there's Tony Pena (can he hit?) and Carlos Quintana (will he be the next Sam Horn?) Joe Morgan may be gone by the all-star break if dissension (starting with Roger Clemens) continues.

Milwaukee: They need a healthy infield to compete. If Dale Sveum and Jim Gantner are healthy, they'll compete. If Dave Parker has a career year and his leadership is infectious, they may win the division. Chris Bosio, Ted-

CONTINUED ON PAGE 11

The last hurrah for four UMass gymnasts

By JASON GEORGE
Collegian Staff

Four University of Massachusetts seniors will have their final opportunity to perform at Boyden Gymnastics Center tonight at 7 p.m. against Cortland State University.

"The season's basically over, so we just want to go out and have fun," senior Rich Healey said.

Healey, co-captains John Eggers and Bart Balocki, and Carl Russ will finish out their home careers at Boyden.

Eggers and Russ, along with sophomore Cal Booker and freshman Steve Christensen have an opportunity to extend their seasons by qualifying for the NCAA Eastern Regional finals at Penn State on April 7. All four are currently ranked in the top six in individual events, which is the qualifying standard. Final rankings will be announced on April 1.

UMass coach Roy Johnson took this meet as an opportunity to discuss what this years seniors have done for the UMass gymnastics program.

"I think they're definitely the best group of seniors I've had," Johnson said. "They really worked at trying to make everything go correctly.

"They've shown really good leadership by setting a standard of good work ethic in the gym," continued Johnson. "I've always felt I could trust them.

"They really know the program — hopefully the younger guys will follow the seniors."

As for the future effect on the gymnastics program, only time will tell.

"We'll have to replace them with some scores," Johnson said. "Hopefully some of the younger guys we have now and some of the recruits we have coming in can do that.

"They'll surely be missed."

For the seniors, this season has been somewhat of a letdown after last year's 9-2 finish.

"I would have liked to have done better — I wish we had all done better," Healey said. "Things happen, people have injuries — you have to just accept it."

Although Russ has the opportunity to close out his career with a trip to the NCAAs, the season wasn't all it could have been.

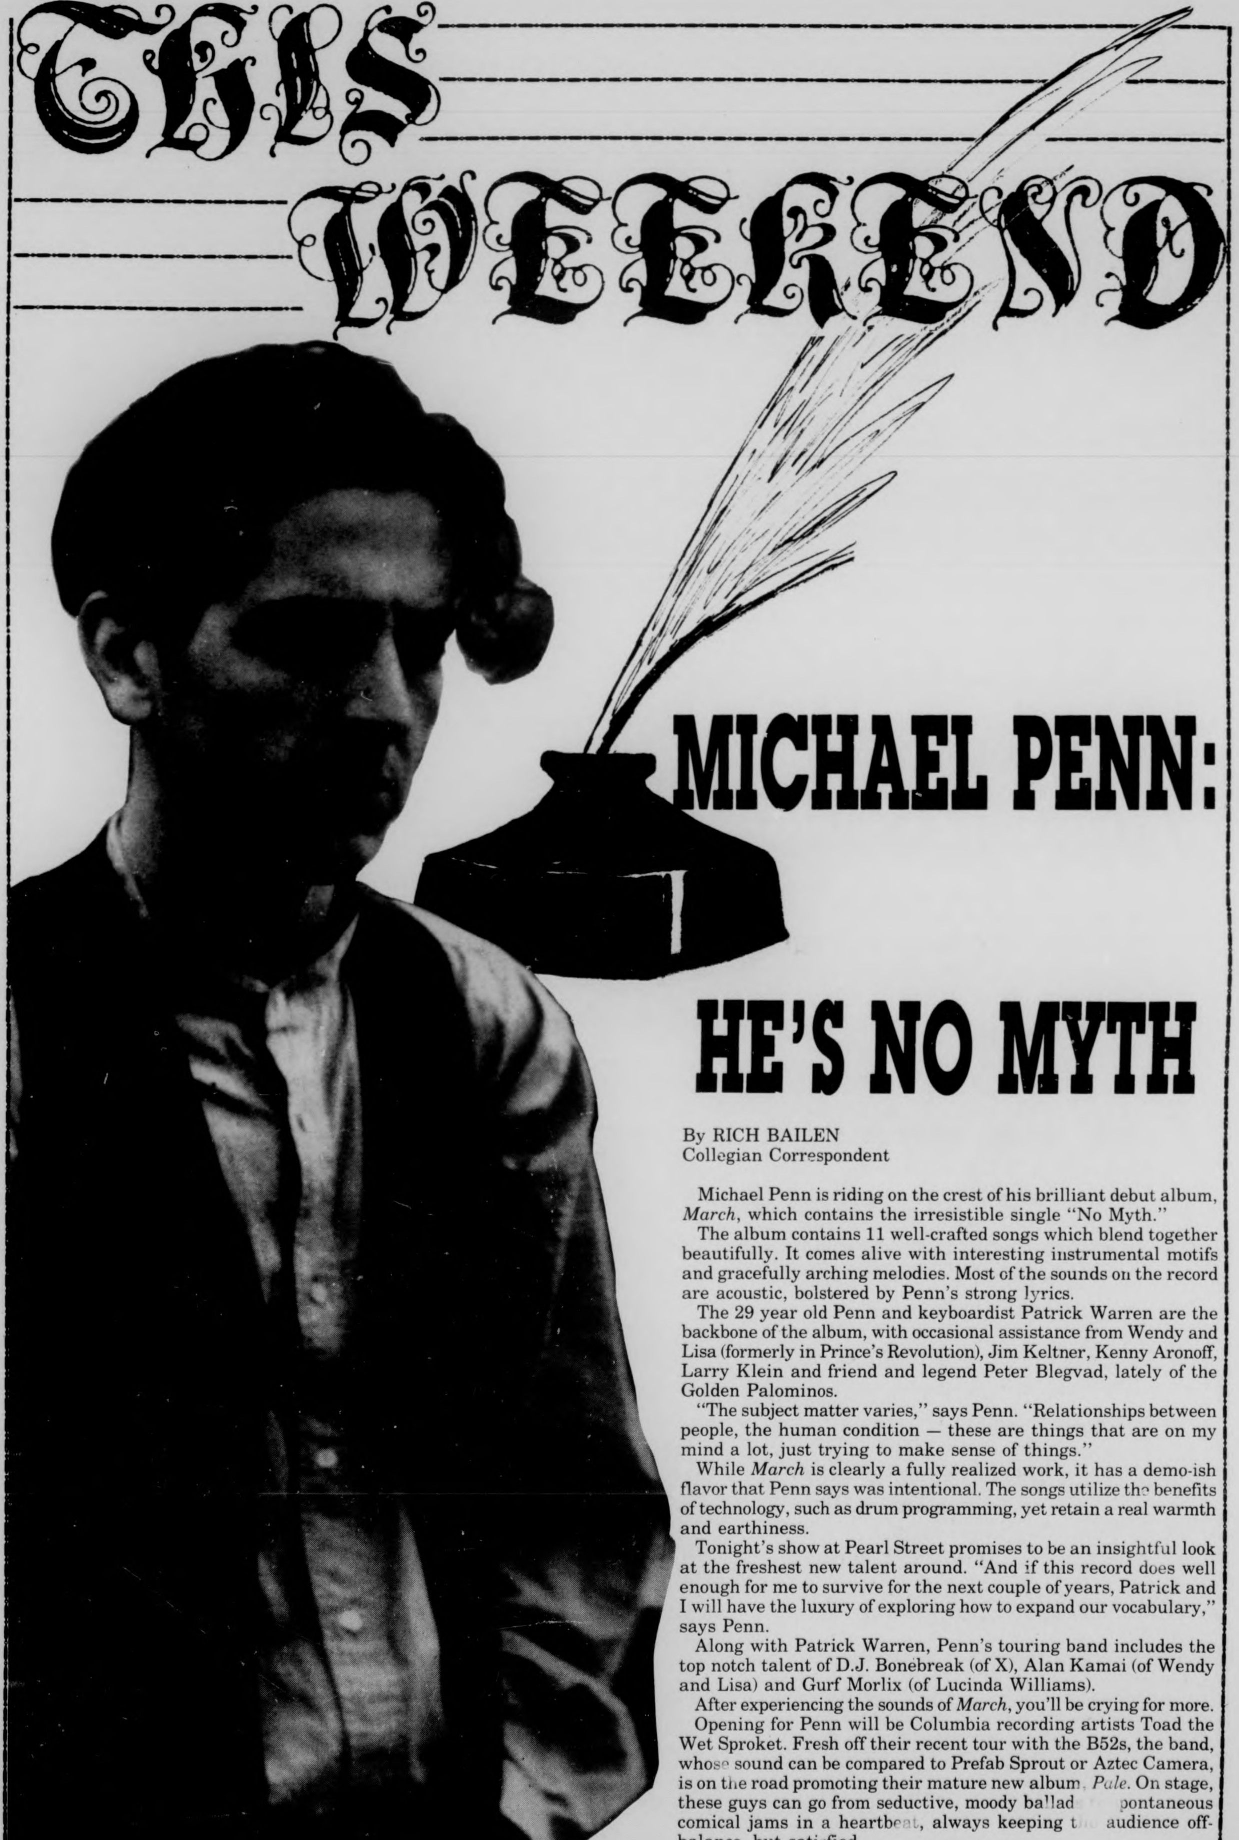
"(Gymnastics) is a team sport," Russ said. "It would have been nice if the team made it to Regionals."

"This season's been kind of a let-down after last year," continued Russ.

Whatever happens with the NCAAs, four fine performers will make their last competitive appearance at Boyden for UMass.

"I'm definitely going to miss it," Healey said.

This Weekend



MICHAEL PENN:

HE'S NO MYTH

By RICH BAILEN
Collegian Correspondent

Michael Penn is riding on the crest of his brilliant debut album, March, which contains the irresistible single "No Myth."

The album contains 11 well-crafted songs which blend together beautifully. It comes alive with interesting instrumental motifs and gracefully arching melodies. Most of the sounds on the record are acoustic, bolstered by Penn's strong lyrics.

The 29 year old Penn and keyboardist Patrick Warren are the backbone of the album, with occasional assistance from Wendy and Lisa (formerly in Prince's Revolution), Jim Keltner, Kenny Aronoff, Larry Klein and friend and legend Peter Blegvad, lately of the Golden Palominos.

"The subject matter varies," says Penn. "Relationships between people, the human condition — these are things that are on my mind a lot, just trying to make sense of things."

While March is clearly a fully realized work, it has a demo-ish flavor that Penn says was intentional. The songs utilize the benefits of technology, such as drum programming, yet retain a real warmth and earthiness.

Tonight's show at Pearl Street promises to be an insightful look at the freshest new talent around. "And if this record does well enough for me to survive for the next couple of years, Patrick and I will have the luxury of exploring how to expand our vocabulary," says Penn.

Along with Patrick Warren, Penn's touring band includes the top notch talent of D.J. Bonebreak (of X), Alan Kamai (of Wendy and Lisa) and Gurf Morlix (of Lucinda Williams).

After experiencing the sounds of March, you'll be crying for more.

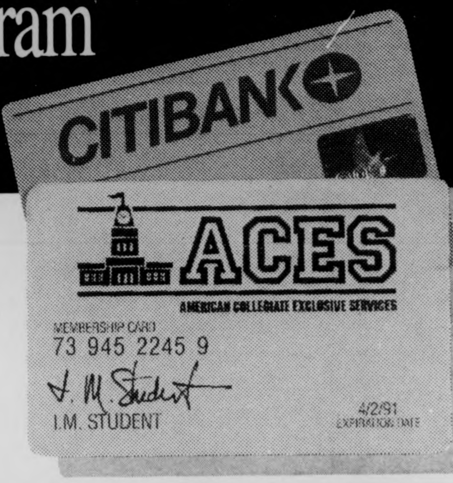
Opening for Penn will be Columbia recording artists Toad the Wet Sproket. Fresh off their recent tour with the B52s, the band, whose sound can be compared to Prefab Sprout or Aztec Camera, is on the road promoting their mature new album, Pale. On stage, these guys can go from seductive, moody ballads to spontaneous comical jams in a heartbeat, always keeping the audience off-balance, but satisfied.



Limited Introductory Offer

WHEN YOU JOIN ACES, GET
Up To 50% Off Discount Shopping
Cash Bonus Travel Program
Up To $3,000 In Savings

PLUS...An Opportunity To

Get A Major Credit Card In Your Name

ACES is a nationwide discount club for college students. As a member of ACES you will receive many time-saving and dollar-saving benefits, as well as an application from Citibank for a Citibank MasterCard or VISA Card, with credit based on your signature alone.* Even if you already have a credit card or do not want to apply for one, you still receive all of ACES' benefits for only $14.

- Discount Shopping—save up to 50% off respected manufacturers' list prices on over 250,000 top quality, brand name products; low price guarantee included.
- National Discount Book—with over 1,000 discount offers worth more than $3,000 in savings on hundreds of national and regional services like theatres, auto rentals, lodging, meals and special attractions across the USA including United Artists, Hertz, Holiday Inn, Sheraton, Six Flags, and Busch Gardens.
- Bonus Travel—reservations through this toll-free service automatically entitle you to the lowest airline fares available on scheduled flights; full service travel agency; up to 15% bonus discounts on many hotel and motel stays and three Cash Bonuses:
  - on scheduled airline ticket purchases
  - on the cost of lodging at every hotel or motel in the U.S.
  - on car rentals

ACT NOW! THE SOONER YOU JOIN, THE SOONER YOU CAN BEGIN RECEIVING THE BENEFITS OF ACES MEMBERSHIP! Introductory offer expires 4/30/90.

Money Back Guarantee If You Are Not Satisfied.

ACES
AMERICAN COLLEGIATE EXCLUSIVE SERVICES

ELIGIBILITY CONTINUES AFTER GRADUATION

☐YES, enroll me as a member of ACES (American Collegiate Exclusive Services) and rush my membership benefits and bank credit card application. Money back guarantee if I am not satisfied.

☐YES, enroll me as a member of ACES so I can enjoy all the benefits, but do not send me a bank card application.

(please type or print clearly)
Your name ______
Home address ______
City ______ State ______ Zip ______
Address at College ______
Street or box ______
City ______ State ______ Zip ______
Phone: School ( ) ______ Home ( ) ______
Date of birth ___/___/___ Major ______ Class of 19___

$14.00 Annual Membership Fee enclosed: [ ] check [ ] money order
DO NOT SEND CASH
Bill credit card #______ [ ] VISA [ ] MCard [ ] AmEx
Name as it appears on card ______
Expiration date ______
Cardholder's Signature ______

SEND TO: ACES
300 Frank Burr Blvd., Teaneck, New Jersey 07666
(201) 836-5920

You must be 18 or older and attending a four-year college to become a member.

Signature ______ Date ______

*Membership in ACES does not automatically guarantee the issuance of a credit card. Applications for bank credit cards will be considered by the issuing bank. If you are accepted, you will be billed separately by the bank for its annual cardmember fee, which is determined by the issuing bank.

ACES

Dancing to improve Hatian health

By JIM COHEN
Collegian Staff

Medical care is not affordable for most residents of the Caribbean island nation of Haiti but WMUA deejay Sister Wassi has the "strength to beg for them."

Sister Wassi, co-host of the Caribbean music program "One Love Radio," has organized a dance to benefit the Haitian health clinic L'Ospital St. Yves in Port-au-Prince, the Haitian capital. The second annual dance will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday, at Twister's Tavern.

The Zion Hi-Power Super Sound System will be performing at the dance which Sister Wassi said will be patterned after the public dances in Jamaica. "It is a very communal experience. Everyone in the village from eight years to 88 years comes."

Guest singers and rappers at this year's dance will be Major Jackson, Clarence Parks, General Echo, Ras Cooley and Deany Wonder. The artists' compensation for performing is the exposure that they receive. "This gives them a chance to break onto the local scene," Sister Wassi said. "No one receives a cent."

Last year New Horizon and Futu Futu played at the dance.

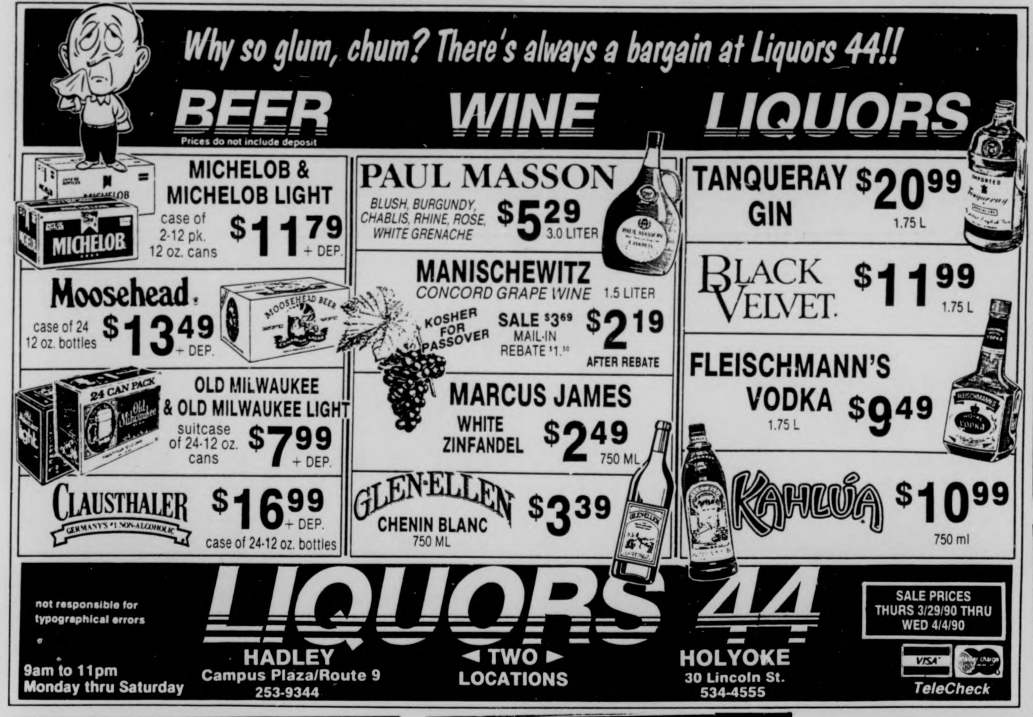
The situation in Haiti right now is very poor, said Sister Wassi, who visits the country often. "The stench of dead animals rises out of the city and it is difficult to breathe," she said.

One area that is especially inadequate is medical care, she said. "If you don't have the money then you are not cured. If an i.v. costs ten dollars and you only have $8.50, then you do not receive the i.v.."

Haiti is currently in the process of restructuring its government after deposing of dictator Lt. General Prosper Avril. An interim-president has been appointed to supervise Haiti's return to democracy. Avril ruled for about 18 months, during which conditions in the country continued to decline.

Collegian photo by John Woo

Sister Wassi with Zion Hi-Power Super Sound System



Why so glum, chum? There's always a bargain at Liquors 44!!

BEER WINE LIQUORS
Prices do not include deposit

MICHELOB & MICHELOB LIGHT case of 2-12 pk. 12 oz. cans $11.79 + DEP.
Moosehead. case of 24 12 oz. bottles $13.49 + DEP.
OLD MILWAUKEE & OLD MILWAUKEE LIGHT suitcase of 24-12 oz. cans $7.99 + DEP.
CLAUSTHALER GERMANY'S #1 NON-ALCOHOLIC $16.99 + DEP. case of 24-12 oz. bottles

PAUL MASSON BLUSH, BURGUNDY, CHABLIS, RHINE, ROSE, WHITE GRENACHE $5.29 3.0 LITER
MANISCHEWITZ CONCORD GRAPE WINE 1.5 LITER KOSHER FOR PASSOVER SALE $3.69 MAIL-IN REBATE $1.50 $2.19 AFTER REBATE
MARCUS JAMES WHITE ZINFANDEL $2.49 750 ML
GLEN-ELLEN CHENIN BLANC 750 ML $3.39

TANQUERAY GIN $20.99 1.75 L
BLACK VELVET. $11.99 1.75 L
FLEISCHMANN'S VODKA 1.75 L $9.49
KAHLÚA $10.99 750 ml

not responsible for typographical errors

LIQUORS 44

9am to 11pm
Monday thru Saturday

HADLEY
Campus Plaza/Route 9
253-9344

◄ TWO ► LOCATIONS

HOLYOKE
30 Lincoln St.
534-4555

SALE PRICES THURS 3/29/90 THRU WED 4/4/90

VISA
TeleCheck

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
TOLL FREE HOT LINE 800-351-0222
in Calif. (213) 477-8226
Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information
11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

A HEALTHY COMPLEXION AND BODY
begins with a deep pore cleansing treatment and a full body massage.
Improves how you look and feel
relaxing • refreshing revitalizing
also lash and brow tinting and hair waxing.
AESTHETICS
THERAPUTIC SKIN CARE AND MASSAGE
AMHERST ★ 253-9879

ENVIRONMENTAL LABORATORY OPPORTUNITIES

Ceimic, the country's fastest growing environmental testing laboratory, offers exciting career opportunities for highly qualified professionals. Ceimic's new laboratory is located on five oceanside acres adjacent to The University of Rhode Island's Bay Campus in Narragansett, RI.

Ceimic is a major contractor for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and provides quality analytical services to the nation's leading engineering and consulting firms.

Our unparalleled growth has created numerous opportunities at varied levels and shifts, all with advancement potential, for professionals with the following minimum qualifications:

- ENTRY LEVEL ANALYST
  B.S. or M.S. in Chemistry or the Physical Sciences.
- ANALYTICAL CHEMISTS
  B.S. or M.S. in Chemistry with academic concentration or prior experience with Organic or Inorganic analytical instrumentation.

Interviews will be held all day at the Mather Career Center on April 5, 1990. Interested students may sign up at the Mather Career Center.

Special Student & Youth Fares to
EUROPE, SOUTH AMERICA, ASIA
from New York on Scheduled Airlines!

DESTINATIONS	OW	RT
LONDON	$175	$350
PARIS	225	430
MADRID	235	450
ROME	275	550
STOCKHOLM/OSLO	250	500
COPENHAGEN	250	500
ZURICH	215	405
FRANKFURT	235	450
RIO	365	730
TOKYO	495	850

Add on fares Boston, DC, Chicago, Pittsburgh, other U.S. cities. Plus $6 dep. tax. $10 cust/immig. fee. $5 security fee may apply in ea. direction.
CALL OR WRITE FOR OUR SPECIAL FARES TO THE SOUTH PACIFIC, AUSTRALIA & AROUND THE WORLD ROUTINGS.
Eurail and Eurail Youth Passes available immediately.
1-800-777-0112 STA
212-986-9470
WHOLE WORLD TRAVEL
17 E. 45th St., Suite 805, New York, NY 10017
Part of the worldwide STA Travel Network

COME CLEAN WITH US!

Open 7 days a week 7 a.m.-10 p.m.

Campus Coin Op 107 Sunderland Rd. North Amherst

Speedwash, 11 Pray St., Amherst

South Towne Commons Laundromat
479 West St., South Amherst

When it's a matter of taste...
and your waist...
follow the Frozen Yogurt Leader

"Smooth & creamy
No Fat.
No Cholesterol."

"Indulge without the bulge!"

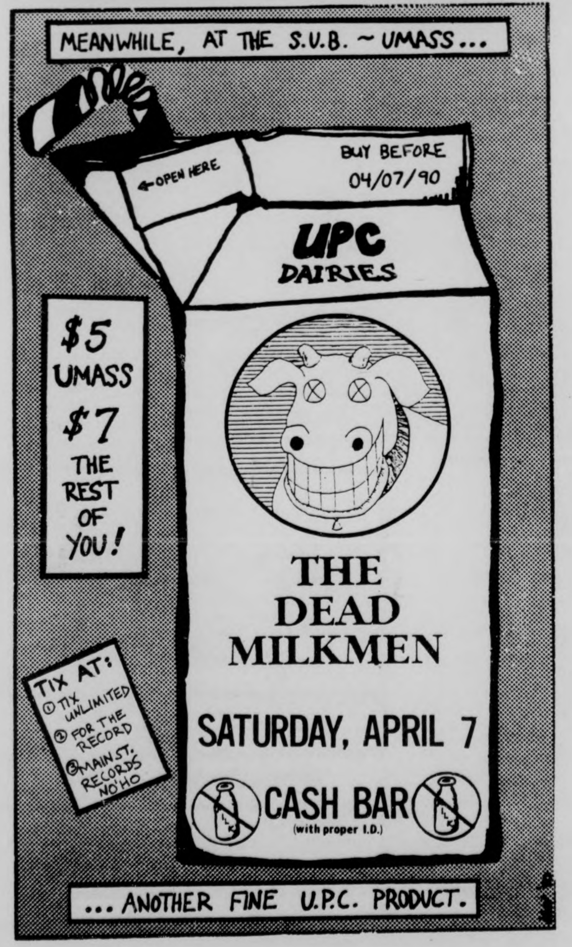
BANANARAMA
Northampton fabulous frozen YOGURT Amherst

TONIGHT
at
CHANGES
DANCE CLUB
50¢ Drafts
No Cover Charge
Free Hot Dogs
CHANGES is available for Private Parties
256-8284



MEANWHILE, AT THE S.U.B. ~ UMASS...
OPEN HERE
BUY BEFORE
04/07/90
UPC
DAIRIES
$5
UMASS
$7
THE REST OF YOU!
THE
DEAD
MILKMEN
SATURDAY, APRIL 7
TIX AT:
① TIX UNLIMITED
② FOR THE RECORD
③ MAIN ST. RECORDS NO'HO
CASH BAR
(with proper I.D.)
... ANOTHER FINE U.P.C. PRODUCT.

Clip & Curl
Phone: 665-2629
Tues.-Fri. 9-8
Sat. 9-4
Located on Rte. 116
in Sunderland
(Next to 7-11) on bus route
We sell & use Paul Mitchell's & Nexxus Products

Haircut with shampoo	$11.50
Perms, include haircut	$44-48
Colors	$20-25
Part Perms	$35
Frostings	$35
Eyebrow Waxing	$5

Long hair costs slightly more

HUNAN GOURMET
京 CHINESE RESTAURANT 湘
The aroma, sound & taste of authentic Chinese cuisine prepared Hunan, Szechuan, Mandarin or
Cantonese style—especially for you!

- Ample Free Parking
- Major Credit Cards Accepted
- Full Liquor License
- Open 7 Days A Week
- Take-Out Service Available
- No MSG

585-0202 261 King St., Northampton, MA

DON'T MISS IT...
BOOK SALE
25% off
the regular price of selected, recent titles
* Quantities are limited *
Sale located on the Campus Center Concourse, across from the University Store.
SALE DATES: March 28, 29, 30
UNIVERSITY STORE
Store Hours
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
Located on the
Campus Center
Concourse
UNIVERSITY STORE

Alternatives to Academics

THURSDAY

Juanita Ramos/Aurelio Font lead a presentation concerning Hispanic gays and lesbians in UMass Campus Center 168C. 5-7 p.m. FREE.

theatresomething, an improvisational exploration of comedy about the exploration of comedy, is held in the Hampshire College Greenwich Donut One. 8 p.m. $3 general public; $2.50 Five College students. Through Sunday.

theatresomething cast

Michael Penn, who has a sophisticated hit with "No Myth," plays an 18 and over show at Pearl Street. Toad the Wet Sprocket opens. 8 p.m. $9 in advance; $10 at the door.

Arthur James and the Truth play Sheehan's.

Ray Mason Band headline a UMass lacrosse party at Twister's. FREE with college ID.

Jon Stetson/Mark Scheff/Bill Campbell, three nationally known comedians, go for the laughs at Carbur's. 8:45 p.m.

Eric Bogle, Australian songwriter who penned "And the Band Played Waltzing Matilda" plays the Iron Horse. 7 p.m. $10.

Tatyana Tolstaya, Russian fiction writer and author of On the Gold Porch, discusses her work at Amherst College Octagon Babbott Room. 4 p.m. FREE.

Magical Triangle Jazz Series, featuring Wholly Trinity, who are trumpeter Jack Walrath, drummer Jimmy Madison and bassist Chip Jackson, play the UMass Hampden Theatre. 8 p.m. $7 general public; $5 students.

Lee Edwards, Umass English and Women's Studies professor, gives a lecture entitled Virginia Woolf and Bessie Head: Narratives of Madness, at Smith College McConnell Hall Auditorium. 7:30 p.m. FREE.

Pirosmani, a Soviet film that examines the life of Soviet Gergian folk artist Niko Pirosmanishvili, is screened at Mt. Holyoke Clapp Hooker Auditorium. 7:30 p.m. FREE.

Anything Goes, the Cole Porter musical, is presented by the ARHS Theater Company at the Amherst High School auditorium. 8 p.m. Also Friday and Saturday.

FRIDAY

P-Flag Panel, in celebration of Awareness Week, discusses the issue of parents and friends of lesbians and gays who become allies, is held in UMass Campus Center 911. 4-6 p.m. FREE.

Spring Coffeehouse, featuring acoustic guitarist Ari Vais, other musicians, comedians and jugglers and an open mike period, is held in the Bluewall. 7 p.m. FREE.

Equalites, local reggae favorites, play an 18 and over show at Pearl Street. 8:30 p.m.

The Hornets, a band with sting, buzz into Sheehan's.

Haydnfest Concert #1, featuring Julianne Baird, soprano and Malcolm Bilson, fortepianist, is held at Smith College Sage Hall. 8:30 p.m. $16 reserved seating; $13 general admission; $9 students and senior citizens.

Tom Paxson, a great songwriter and folk singer, takes the stage at the Iron Horse. 7 p.m. $10.

St. John Passion, by Johann Sebastian Bach, featuring the University of Massachusetts Chamber Choir and John Humphrey, directed by Wayne Abercrombie, is performed in the UMass Fine Arts Center Concert Hall. 8 p.m. $8 general public; $4 students and senior citizens.

Kevin Calhoun/Steve Bulyga, comedians, do it for laughs at Peking Garden. 8:30 p.m. $6. Also Saturday.

The Fools, the fun band from Boston, whose hits include "Life Sucks, Then You Die" and "World Dance Party," play Katina's.

Toyko Story, a Japanese film that examines the problem of generation gaps when an elderly couple visit their children, is screened in Smith College 7:30 p.m. FREE.

Joy Harjo, poet and author, speaks in celebration of American Indian Awareness Month at Amherst College Skinner Auditorium. 7 p.m. FREE.

Present Company Inc. present new dance theater works by choreographer/director Wendy Woodson and performance artists Court Dorsey, Roberta Levine and Jim Brown at the East Street Theater in Hadley. $6. Also Saturday.

SATURDAY

Reggae Dance Hall Night, featuring Zion Hi-Power Sound System, and benefitting Haitian health clinic L'Opital St. Yves, is held at Twister's. 8 p.m. $5.

The Movers do some shaking at Sheehan's.

Haydnfest Concert #2, featuring critically acclaimed fortepianist Steven Lubin, is held at Smith College Sage Hall. 8:30 p.m. $16 reserved seating; $13 general admission; $9 students and senior citizens.

New Horizons do some jammin' at the Hadley Pub. 9:30 p.m. $3.

Foolproof Follies perform theatricals, comedy and juggling in a Pioneer Valley Folklore Society presentation. 2 p.m. $3.

Boston Songwriters Showcase, featuring rising stars Ellis Paul, Jim Infantino, Trish Langois, Kathy Phipps and others, takes place at the Iron Horse. 7 p.m. $6.

LBG Film Festival, in celebration of Awareness Week, screens six films. Different From Others, a 1919 film, was the first film to openly discuss homosexuality and is shown at 11 a.m. Wings, a story of the bond two young men develop when they go off to war, screens at 11:30 a.m. Pandora's Box, a 1929 film that was the first to portray lesbian characters, plays at 1:45 p.m. Madchen in Uniform, a German film that depicts the love of a young girl for her female boarding school teacher, is shown at 3:45 p.m. A Taste of Honey, about a single pregnant woman who befriends a gay man, screens at 5:15 p.m. Darling, the story of a straight woman and gay man who travel to Italy together and fall for the same man, is shown at 7 p.m. The festival is held in in the UMass Leach TV Lounge in Northeast. FREE.

Ed Vadas and the Fabulous Heavyweights do it up at Pearl Street. 8:30 p.m.

SUNDAY

Coffee House, featuring singer/songwriter Monica Grant, and also including singer M'Liss, singing duo Joyce and Justina, poet Kol and actors Tony Nunes and Paul Specht, is held in honor of Awareness Week at the UMass Bluewall. 7 p.m. FREE.

Free Press headline a wacked out April Fool dance party at the Iron Horse. 7 p.m. $5.

Christie Balka, co-editor of Twice Blessed: On Being Lesbian, Gay and Jewish, speaks at the UMass Campus Center 101. 3 p.m. FREE.

Beyond the Valley of the Dolls, an interesting, stylized, funny soft-porn movie co-written by Roger Ebert and directed by Russ Meyer, is shown at Hampshire College Franklin Patterson Hall. 8 p.m. $1.

Coyote Builds North America, a music/theater/ dance production from Perserverance Theatre on many American Indian legends, is presented by New World Theater at UMass Bowker Auditorium. 8 p.m. $18, $16 general public; $9, $8 Five College Students.

Lucie Blue Tremblay, a Canadian musician, brings her bilingual love songs as part of Sundays at Eight series at Amherst College Frontroom. 8 p.m. $7 general public; $1 Amherst students.

Lucie Blue Tremblay

Sven Gali and Spoiled Rotten play an all ages show at Katina's. 3 p.m. $5; $7 under 21.

BUFFALO BILLS "NO BULL"
There's a new game in town
If this is you, come in
for a free meal.
"The only place that can satisfy Colin's HEALTHY appetite is Buffalo Bill's!"
50 Main Street, Amherst
253-9223
Open 7 Days at 11 am
'Til 2 am weekends
Breakfast 9-11 am Mon. ► Fri.

Everything You Always Wanted To Know About Contraception -
For Men Only
Condom
Foam Sponge
Spermicides Jelly/Cream
IUD ? Pill
Sterilization Suppository
Natural Family Planning
Diaphragm
Thurs., March 29, 7:00 PM
University Health Center, Room 302
All Men Are Welcome

J.S. BACH
ST. JOHN PASSION

Friday, 30 March, 8:00 p.m.
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall.

Jon Humphrey, Evangelist —
"...one of the great American singers of Bach's Evangelist roles..."
Robert Shaw, Music Director, Atlanta Symphony.

The University of Massachusetts Chamber Choir, Orchestra & Soloists
Wayne Abercrombie, conductor

University of Massachusetts, Amherst
$8 general admission, $4 students & senior citizens
Tickets available at Fine Arts Center Box Office
545-2511

The Foto Factory

Film in by 10 a.m.
Prints out by 4 p.m.

1 hour service available for Black & White Film (Northampton Only)

1 hour service available for Color Film (Amherst & Greenfield Only)

224½ Federal Street • Greenfield, MA 01301
774-5464
257 Triangle Street • Amherst, MA 01002
549-6490
62 King Street • Northampton, MA 01060
584-2274

Hey, Night Owls!
Whoooooo's open after midnight?
James H. McManus
is open Sun-Thurs 'til 3 A.M.. Fri & Sat ALL NIGHT
appetizers desserts
omelettes light dinners
juicy jumbo beefburgers
sandwiches pancakes
plus chicken, steak, buffalo wings, onion rings and so much more
OPEN SUN-THURS 6 A.M.-3 A.M. 24 HOURS FRIDAY & SATURDAY
James H. McManus eating place
SENIOR CITIZEN DISCOUNT 10% ANYTIME (not with coupon)
Next to Super Stop & Shop Rte. 9 Hadley/Amherst 256-6889

Buy one of our great omlettes and get one free
served with Home Fries and Toast
Offer Expires 4/4/90

Where can you go for quick, convenient walk-in service for car insurance?

Amherst Insurance Agency
253-5555
A Division Of THE NATHAN AGENCIES

Amherst Insurance Agency, Inc.
Amherst Real Estate Agency, Inc.
Amherst Financial Services Agency

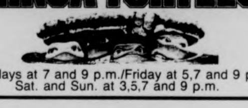
• Auto • Home • Renters • Life • Health
for personal and business
Is your VCR Insured?

20 GATEHOUSE ROAD, AMHERST, MA

TOWER Theaters
Two For One Every Monday
Student Discount Tues-Sunday
THE • VILLAGE • COMMONS
Across from Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley, Massachusetts. 413/533-2663

DRIVING MISS DAISY
Academy Award Winner!
Best Picture
Best Actress
Through April 12
weekdays at 7 and 9:05/Fri. at 5:45, 7:45 and 9:45
Sat. and Sun. at 3:30, 5:45, 7:45 and 9:45 p.m.

TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES



weekdays at 7 and 9 p.m./Friday at 5,7 and 9 p.m.
Sat. and Sun. at 3,5,7 and 9 p.m.

Pearl Street
10 PEARL ST. NORTHAMPTON, MA
413 584-7771

Thur., March 29-8:00 pm 18+
MICHAEL PENN
Toad the Wet Sprocket
(Advance Tickets)

Fri., March 30-8:30 pm 18+
Reggae Dance Party
THE EQUALITES

Sat., March 31-8:30 pm
ED VADAS & THE FABULOUS HEAVYWEIGHTS

Sun., April 1-8:00 pm
THE MALARIANS POSTPONED

Mon., April 2-8:30 pm
CLARENCE "GATEMOUTH" BROWN

Thur., Aril 5-8:30 pm 18+
Psychedelic Blues
BLUES TRAVELER

Fri., April 6-8:30 pm 18+
LUCKY 7
The Rent Party

Mon., April 9-8:00 pm 18+
World Beat Party
KANDA BONGO MAN

Thur., April 12-8:30 pm 18+
URBAN BLIGHT
The Ululators

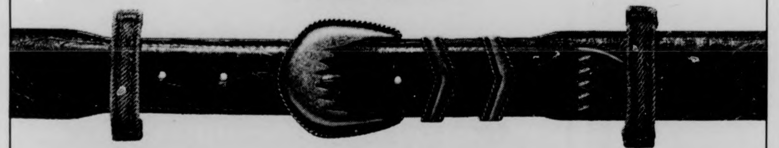
Fri., April 13-8:30 pm 18+
MIRACLE LEGION

Mon., April 16-7:30 pm 18+
THE HOOTERS
(Advance Tickets)

Coming:
4/20 HERETIX, IN THE FLESH
4/21 THE CHILLS, BLAKE BABIES
4/22 THE MIGHTY LEMON DROPS, CATERWAUL (Adv. Tix)
4/23 FIREHOSE, GRAVE GOODS

ADV. TIX. FROM: FOR THE RECORD IN AMHERST AND ALL TICKETRON OUTLETS 1-800-382-8080
RAPCITY IN BRATTLEBORO, STRAWBERRIES
10 Pearl St., Northampton 413-584-7771

Look out below



It's time you gave yourself a GSE™

If you're sexually active, you should know about the GSE. GSE stands for genital self-examination. It's a simple examination you can give yourself to check for any signs or symptoms of a sexually transmitted disease. Send for your free GSE Guide today. Because when it comes to sexual relationships, there are some important things to look out for.

To receive your free GSE Guide, simply fill out and return the coupon or call, toll-free, 1-800-234-1124.

Sponsored by Burroughs Wellcome Co. in conjunction with the American Academy of Dermatology, the American Academy of Family Physicians, the American College of General Practitioners in Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery, the American College Health Association, the American Osteopathic Association, and the American Social Health Association.

Copr. © 1989 Burroughs Wellcome Co. All rights reserved.

For your free GSE Guide, fill out this coupon and mail to: GSE, P.O. Box 4088, Woburn, MA 01888-4088
Name (please print)
Address
City State ZIP
☐ English version ☐ Spanish version
Are you over 18 years of age? ☐ Yes ☐ No
GSE GUIDE
CN

Haydn comes alive

Starting tonight and continuing through April 1, Smith College will be hosting a unique and exciting event, Haydnfest — a four day tribute to classical keyboardist Franz Joseph Haydn. Haydn was a highly skilled player of the clavichord, organ, harpsichord, and fortepiano during the Baroque period (1776-1806). He wrote many masterful, exquisite sonatas over a time period of 40 years.

Haydn's music will be celebrated in several ways. Tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. in Sage Hall the great Haydn interpreter Malcolm Bilson will perform rarely heard compositions of Haydn on the fortepiano. He will be joined on some numbers by soprano Julianne Baird.

Saturday, also at 8:30 p.m. in the Sage Hall, Steven Lubin, one of America's finest fortepianists, will perform his favorite Haydn sonatas.

Taking place on all four days at 11:30 a.m. are performances by keyboard artists Kenneth Fearn, Monika Jakuc and John van Buskirk; all members of the Smith College music staff. They are joined by Don Franklin of the University of Pittsburgh. In addition to the musical performances the sonatas's will be explored in depth during day time conference sessions by a distinguished panel of scholars and performers. Keynote addresses include that of Laszlo Somfai, author of two books concerning Haydn's music, and A. Peter Borne, who has also written about Haydn. There will also be an exhibit of musical instruments from the time of Haydn.

The price range for all of these events varies. Festival of Recital Passes are available. This includes admission to the two evening recitals and a guided tour of the exhibit of keyboards from the time of Haydn as well as a copy of the special program book. For more information call 527-7664, or 585-3150.

—REBECCA BARDIN

Singer Bogle waltzes to town

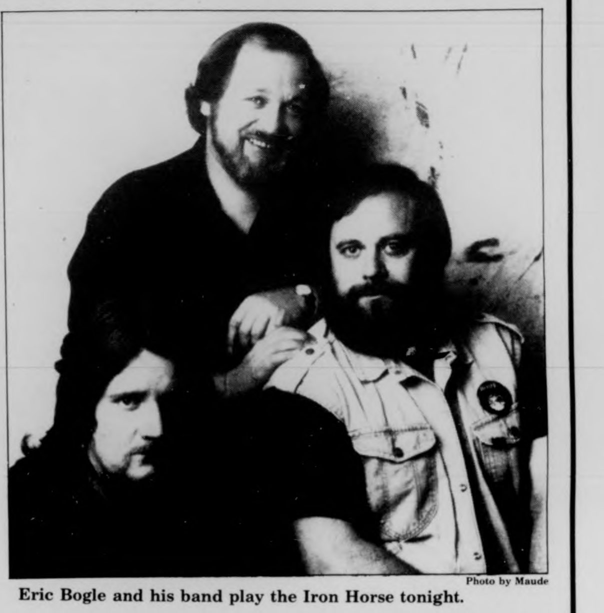


Photo by Maude

Eric Bogle and his band play the Iron Horse tonight.

Witty and powerful songwriter, Eric Bogle, will perform at the Iron Horse tonight at 7 p.m.. Winner of the Australian Peace Award in 1986, this Scottish-born recording artist has given the world some of its most powerful protest songs.

Eric is best known for "No Man's Land (The Green Fields of France)" and "And the Band Played Waltzing Matilda." The later, written in 1972, has become Australia's most recorded song, covered by artists as diverse as Rod McKuen and the Pogues. It has also become the largest-selling single in Irish history as recorded by Makem and Clancy.

Called by the critics, "One of the most important songwriters of the decade," this chubby, down-to-earth Scotsman might just pass this praise off with a laugh. As a happy medium, this artist has been described by the New York Times as "a social commentator, a comic raconteur, and an earthy sentimentalist all rolled into one."

This will be Eric's fourth tour of America. He is accompanied by Brent Miller on Bass guitar and Andy McGloin on guitar. Eric's latest album, Something of Value, has been released in the U.S. and Canada by Rounder records on their Philo label.

For some roaring comedy along with strong sincerity, don't miss this chance to see award-winning Eric Bogle.

—NICOLE GONZALEZ

"SATURDAY NIGHT LIVE'S"
DANA CARVEY
Eddie Farrell is a con man.
He's out of luck, out of time and out of money.
But he'll be ready when...
OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS
In the world of cons... Eddie's a pro.
IMAGINE ENTERTAINMENT Presents
A BRAD GREY/MELEDANDRI-GORDON COMPANY Production
A DONALD PETRIE Film DANA CARVEY
"OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS"
TODD GRAFF · JULIA CAMPBELL and
ROBERT LOGGIA Music Supervised By BECKY MANCUSO and
TIM SEXTON Executive Producer BRAD GREY
Written By MITCHEL KATLIN & NAT BERNSTEIN
Produced By MARK R. GORDON and CHRISTOPHER MELEDANDRI
Directed By DONALD PETRIE
IMAGINE PG-13 PARENTS STRONGLY CAUTIONED
A UNIVERSAL RELEASE
OPENS FRIDAY, MARCH 30TH AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU

Nancy Jane's
Restaurant & Bakery
Nancy Jane's
36 Main Street
Amherst, MA
"Across from Police Station"

SOUPS • SALADS • SANDWICHES
IN-HOUSE BAKERY
SPECIALS Everyday!

Open: M-F 6am - 6:30pm
Sat 7am - 5pm
Sun 8am - 2pm

FREE Chocolate Chip Cookie w/ this AD and a $3.00 purchase
Catering Available 253-3343

BREAKFAST ALL DAY SUNDAY!
Moderate Prices—Relaxed Atmosphere—Homestyle Cooking

Main St RECORDS
213 Main Street, Northampton, 586-5726

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

Amherst College presents
LUCIE BLUE TREMBLAY
FRENCH-CANADIAN SINGER/SONGWRITER

SUNDAY, APRIL 1
8 p.m.
$7 Public
$1 Amherst College

SUNDAYS AT EIGHT
A Sunday Evening Coffeehouse Series
In the Campus Center
Info: (413) 542-5773

★ April 8 - Paul GEREMIA ★ April 15 - Jonatha & Jennifer w/ Joe Keenan

METROPOLITAN BOOKSELLERS' BOOK FAIR
WAREHOUSE SALE

Marches on as

1,000'S OF NEW BOOKS ARRIVE!

Variety • Value • Savings

Top Quality Books From Major Publishers at Unbelievably Low Prices!

Publishers
Random House
Simon & Schuster
Harper & Row
Putnam
Morrow
Little Brown
Bantam/Doubleday
Prentice Hall
Viking
Scribner
MacMillan
Wiley
Bobbs Merrill

Fiction
Romance
Mysteries
Science Fiction
Fantasy
Suspense
Thrillers
Novels
Westerns
Sports

Non-Fiction
History
Film
Nature
Medical Health
Philosophy
Sociology
Hobbies
Literature

Children's Stories
Fairy Tales
Readers
General Interest
Educational

Authors
Stephen King
Isaac Asimov
Barbara Michaels
G.B. Trudeau
Colleen McCullough
Richard Condon
Louis Grizzard
John D McDonald
Vincent Bugliosi
Honore DeBalzac
Helen H. Santmyer
Alfred Hitchcock
Charles Schultz
William Buckley
Ruth Rendell
Bill Cosby

~~$16.95~~
Now
$3.99 ea

Many Books 70% Off! Original Publisher's List Price
Most Children's Books 50% Off! Original Publisher's List Price
All Other Books at Exceptional Values!

And The Savings Continue!

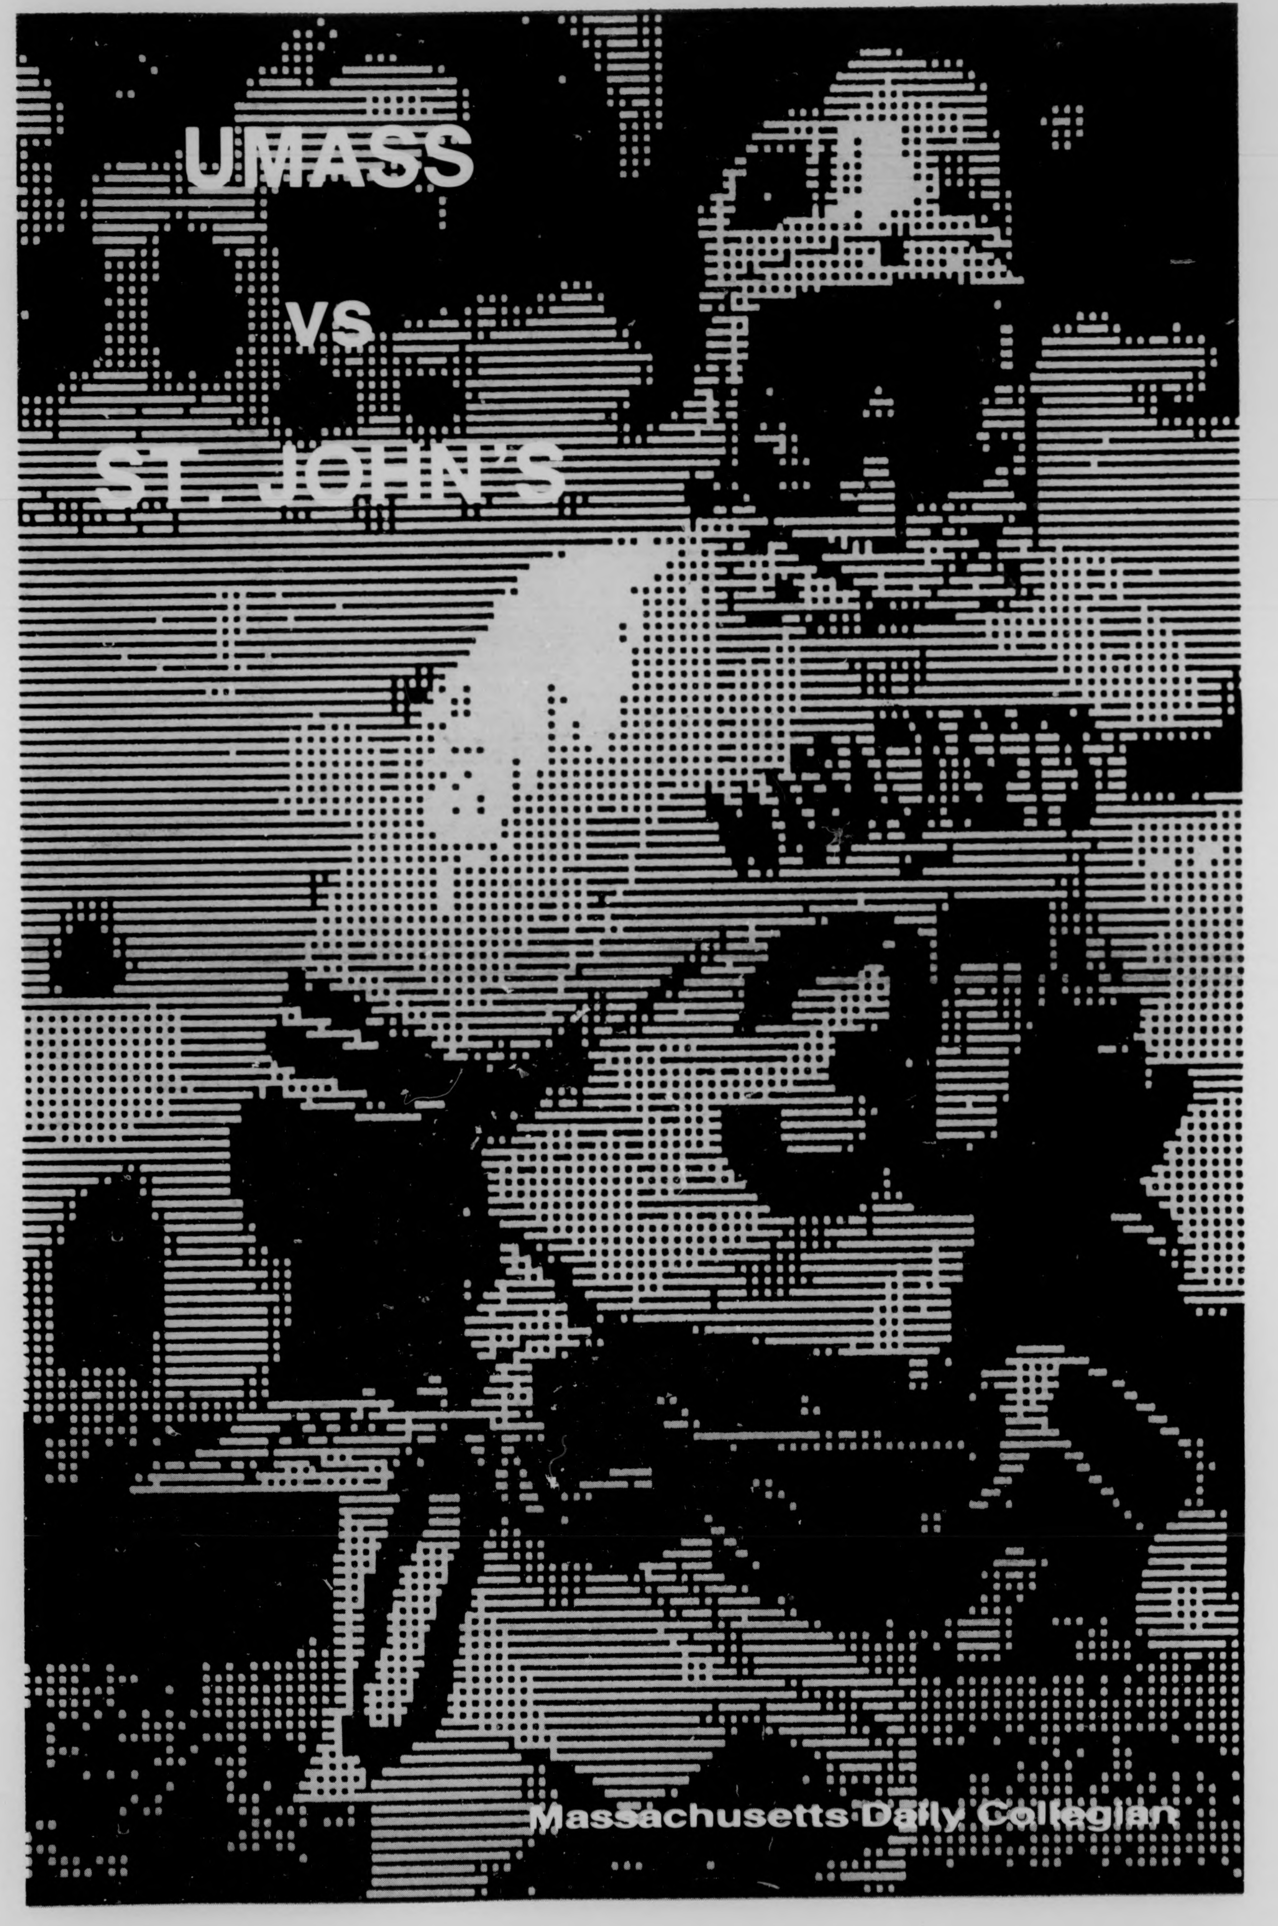
1340 Boston Rd., Springfield, MA

(1/2 Mile West of the Eastfield Mall, next to the International House of Pancakes)

IHOP 1340
BOSTON RD (rt 20)
rts 141 & 21

Hours: Mon-Sat. 10-9, Sunday 12-5

This extraordinary selection is available from publishers' overstocks, returns, special printings and liquidations.



UMASS

VS

ST. JOHN'S

Massachusetts Daily Collegian

The GYM
at mountain farms mall

RTE 9 ON THE AMHERST/HADLEY LINE

ON THE BUS ROUTE AND LOTS OF PARKING

584-2175

UNLIMITED
AEROBICS
CLASSES
$49.00
FOR THE REST OF
THE SEMESTER

EITHER MEMBERSHIP
SPECIAL IS FOR MEMBERSHIP THRU
MAY 31st

UNLIMITED
MEMBERSHIP
AT THE GYM
$59.00
FOR THE REST OF
THE SEMESTER

BUFFALO BILLS
50 Main Street, Amherst
253-9223
Now Open For Breakfast

STICK TO A GOOD DEAL

BUFFALO BILLS
BUY ONE SANDWICH—GET ONE FREE
Buy one sandwich & get a second sandwich of equal or lesser value FREE!
one coupon per purchase per customer Expires 4/6/90

BUFFALO BILLS
FREE FRIES
When you buy one sandwich
one coupon per purchase per customer Expires 4/6/90

DELANO'S
SUPPORTS UMASS 1990
LACROSSE TEAM
30
CATCH THE THRILL
ON THE HILL
and join us afterwards!
57 N. Pleasant Street, Amherst • 253-5141

Pizza & Bowl
Special
"Dugout Snack Shack"
Mon. & Wed. Nights
10 P.M. – Midnight
- 2 HOURS BOWLING
- ALL THE PIZZA YOU CAN EAT!

Only
$5.00/Person

College Special
with college ID
Every Thurs. Night 9:00 p.m.—12:00 a.m.
3 Games of Bowling and Shoe Rental for $4.00

Don't Miss Out
Call To Reserve Your Spot!
Northampton Bowl
525 Pleasant St.
584-4830

If you can't be there,
be here.

It's playoff time. And NESN can be your ticket to all the Bruins Stanley Cup Playoff action from Boston Garden.

NESN
Your Ticket to New England Sports

DIMENSION CABLE SERVICES
Something For All Of You.

Free NESN upgrade!—Call 256-4123 today!

UMASS 1990 ROSTER

No.	Name	Pos.		Hometown
1	Mario Guglianone	A	Fr.	Harrison, N.Y.
2	Ricky Mullins	D	So.	Concord, Mass.
3	Mark Millon	A	Fr.	Huntington, N.Y.
4	Vinny D'Angelo	M	Jr.	Lindenhurst, N.Y.
5	Gary Wood	D	So.	Exeter, N.H.
6	Marc Feinberg	M	Sr.	Hewlett Harbor, N.Y.
7	Scott Hiller	A	Sr.	Garden City, N.Y.
8	John Schlipf	M	So.	Merrick, N.Y.
9	Rob Codignotto	A	Sr.	Wantagh, N.Y.
10	Ted Kellerman	G	Jr.	Manhasset, N.Y.
11	Erich Carroll	M	Jr.	Northampton, Mass.
12	John Gonzales	M	Sr.	Great Neck, N.Y.
13	Jeff Suskin	D	Jr.	Huntington, N.Y.
14	Mario Lopez	D	So.	Amherst, Mass.
15	Kenny Randazzo	D	Fr.	Levittown, N.Y.
16	Jim Kushner	M	Jr.	N. Merrick, N.Y.
17	Jamie Bergan	M	Sr.	Camillus, N.Y.
18	Tom Brown	D	Jr.	Stony Brook, N.Y.
19	Frank Pepe	M	Jr.	Oceanside, N.Y.
20	Corey Cronin	D	So.	Babylon, N.Y.
21	Rich Senatore	M	Jr.	Lindenhurst, N.Y.
22	Ray Suris	G	So.	North Port, N.Y.
23	Eugene Haragsim	M	So.	Port Washington, N.Y.
24	Jim Panetta	D	Fr.	Glen Cove, N.Y.
25	Adam Cate	D	Fr.	S. Strafford, Vt.
26	Don Avena	A	Fr.	Manhasset, N.Y.
27	Hugh O'Callaghan	D	Sr.	Merrick, N.Y.
28	Robert Falvey	A	So.	Hingham, Mass.
29	Carl Faust	M	Fr.	Binghampton, N.Y.
30	Jim McAleavey	A	Jr.	Stewart Manor, N.Y.
31	Bill Begien	A	Jr.	Manchester, Mass.
32	Mike Cain	A	So.	Concord, Mass.
33	Tim Soudan	M	Sr.	Fairport, N.Y.
34	David Ray	D	Fr.	Auburn, Me.
35	John Villali	M	Fr.	Camillus, N.Y.
36	Matt Garber	M	Jr.	Rosemont, Pa.
37	Joe Flynn	M	Jr.	Dedham, Mass.
38	Pat DeBenedictis	D	Jr.	Syracuse, N.Y.
39	Todd Ackerman	G	Fr.	Weston, Mass.
40	Ed O'Callaghan	M	Jr.	Merrick, N.Y.
41	Khalid West	M	Fr.	Brooklyn, N.Y.
42	Joe Gillespie	D	Fr.	Massapequa, N.Y.
43	Jason Kercher	D	Fr.	Ipswich, Mass.

LSAT
GMAT
GRE

WHAT IF YOU
DON'T GET INTO THE GRAD
SCHOOL OF
YOUR CHOICE?

Sure, there are other schools. But why settle? Kaplan prep courses help students raise their scores and their chances of being admitted into their first-choice schools. Fact is, no one has helped students score higher!

358 No. Pleasant Street
549-5780

KAPLAN
STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD.
OTHER COURSES: MCAT, DAT, NCLEX, NTE, CPA, BAR REVIEW & OTHERS

Spee Dee
OIL CHANGE & TUNE-UP
RAPID • RELIABLE • REASONABLE
NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED

MIDWEEK SPECIALS*
Tues. - Wed. - Thurs. - ONLY

OIL CHANGE AND MORE.
FOR LESS.
$2 OFF
- Up to 5 qts. of Mobil • 10W30 or 10W40
- New Oil Filter
- Check & top off all essential fluids (up to ½ pint)
- Check tires
- Clean front & rear windows
- Vacuum vehicle interior
- Check wipers and air filter
- Validate new car warranties
- All work GUARANTEED

10W30/ 10W40
$19.95
Reg. $21.95
9 MINUTE OIL CHANGE/FILTER/LUBE.

TUNE-UP WITH A TIMELY SPECIAL.
$5 OFF
- New resistor spark plugs
- Idle speed adjustment
- Electronic ignition system check
- Inspection of Rotor, Distributor Cap, PVC Valve, Ignition Wires, Air EMC and Gas Filters
- Validate new care warranties
- 3 month/3,000 mile GUARANTEE

$40.95
Reg $45.95
4 Cyl.
COMPLETE 30 MINUTE TUNE-UP.

OFFICIAL MASS.
INSPECTION STATION #4518

Pleasant St. (Next to Car Wash) Northampton Mass
413-586-5640

Service while you wait - No Appointment Necessary- Store hours Mon.-Fri. 8 A.M.-6 P.M., SAT. 8 A.M.-5 P.M.
Offer good thru Tues.-Wed.-Thurs. only
Not valid with any other offer, No cash value — Each location independently Owned and Operated
*you must bring this ad with you

ST. JOHN'S 1990 ROSTER

No.	Name	Class	Pos.	Hometown
1	Adam Gerber	Sr.	M	S. Salem, N.Y.
2	Thomas Dean	Jr.	M	Massapequa Park, N.Y.
3	Brian Bugge	So.	A	Floral Park, N.Y.
4	Darrin Sanchez	Fr.	A	Smithtown, N.Y.
5	Andrew Bolger	Jr.	M	Levittown, N.Y.
6	Brian Fox	Jr.	M	Stony Brook, N.Y.
7	Dennis Kenefick	So.	M	Hicksville, N.Y.
8	Robert Carruba	Fr.	G	N. Massapequa, N.Y.
9	Alex Brennan	Sr.	D	Coram, N.Y.
10	Matt Grandinetti	Sr.	M	Bethpage, N.Y.
11	David Dobrindt	Fr.	D	Hicksville, N.Y.
12	Ken Sherman	Jr.	M	Elmont, N.Y.
14	Harold Dieters	Fr.	M	Mastic Beach, N.Y.
15	John Kolesar	Jr.	M	Haverstraw, N.Y.
16	Richard Makarick	Fr.	M	Port Jeff. Station, N.Y.
17	Joseph Reilly	Jr.	D	Munsey, N.Y.
18	Chris Johnston	So.	A	Massapequa, N.Y.
19	Michael O'Reilly	So.	A	Oceanside, N.Y.
20	David Graham	Sr.	A	Yorktown, N.Y.
21	James Mule	Sr.	G	East Meadow, N.Y.
22	Walter Gabrinowitz	Sr.	M	Bethpage, N.Y.
23	Daniel McEnroe	So.	M	Islip Terrace, N.Y.
24	Adam Greaves	So.	M	N. Merrick, N.Y.
25	Matthew Rossano	Fr.	D	Massapequa, N.Y.
26	Todd Miller	Sr.	M	Port Jeff. Station, N.Y.
28	Sal LoBosco	Sr.	G	West Islip, N.Y.
29	Martin Flood	Fr.	D	Massapequa Park, N.Y.
30	Anthony Lembo	Jr.	D	Deer Park, N.Y.
31	Anthony Frank	Fr.	D	Lindenhurst, N.Y.
35	Andrew Draghi	Jr.	D	Bethpage, N.Y.
41	Harold Dahlman	So.	D	Bellmore, N.Y.
43	Jerry Farrell	Sr.	D	Horsehead, N.Y.
48	Rod McMinn	Sr.	D	Massapequa, N.Y.

CUSTOM CAR SOUND
141 DAMON RD.
NORTHAMPTON, MA.
586-5258

WHEELIN'
and DEALIN'...
You'll like the sound of these!

UPGRADE YOUR STOCK SOUND
with stereo amplifiers from ALPHASONIC, ADS,
BLAUPUNKT & PYLE DRIVER
BLAUPUNKT NEWPORT
Cassette program search/NR noise reduction/24 station preset/many more features $249

SANYO ER-100
INSTALLED WITH SPEAKERS
$199

RADAR DETECTORS
Whistler, Bel, K-40, Uniden
Whistler BEL
K40 uniden
FROM $79

Auto Security
unGo BOX CLIFFORD ELECTRONICS, INC.
Chapman THUG-BUG
Installed FROM $149

THE OLDSMOBILE
EDGE

NEW
1990
PONTIAC
SUNBIRD LE

BUMPER TO BUMPER PLUS
3 YEAR/50,000 MILE WARRANTY

#6013
Auto., A/C, aluminum wheels, ETR stereo/cassette, tilt wheel, delay wipers, gauges, rear defogger,
luggage rack, sport accent pkg., much more.
SALE $9995.00
includes Rebate & 1st Time Buyer

UP TO $2000. REBATES— FINANCING AS LOW AS 4.8%
FEDOR OLDSMOBILE PONTIAC
228 Northampton St., Easthampton 527-4461 • 584-3544 • 536-5716

Scott's
LIQUORS
OPEN
8 a.m.-11 p.m.
Mon.-Sat.

UMass Lacrosse and
Scott's Liquors
A winning combination!

We want to be your favorite liquor store
All season
long!

Super Weekly & In Store Specials
Plus Many Rebate Specials

University Drive, Amherst — diagonally across from the UMass stadium — new home of Garber's Gorillas
549-2692 Open Mon.-Sat. 8 a.m.-11 p.m.

THE SPOKE
Keeping the Winning Tradition Alive
with
UMass Lacrosse & The Spoke

featuring:
Drink specials weekly
Beer specials monthly

A Drinkery:
To Meet, Relax & Enjoy

35 E. Pleasant Street
Proper ID Required

1st Time Buyers GET EASY FINANCING
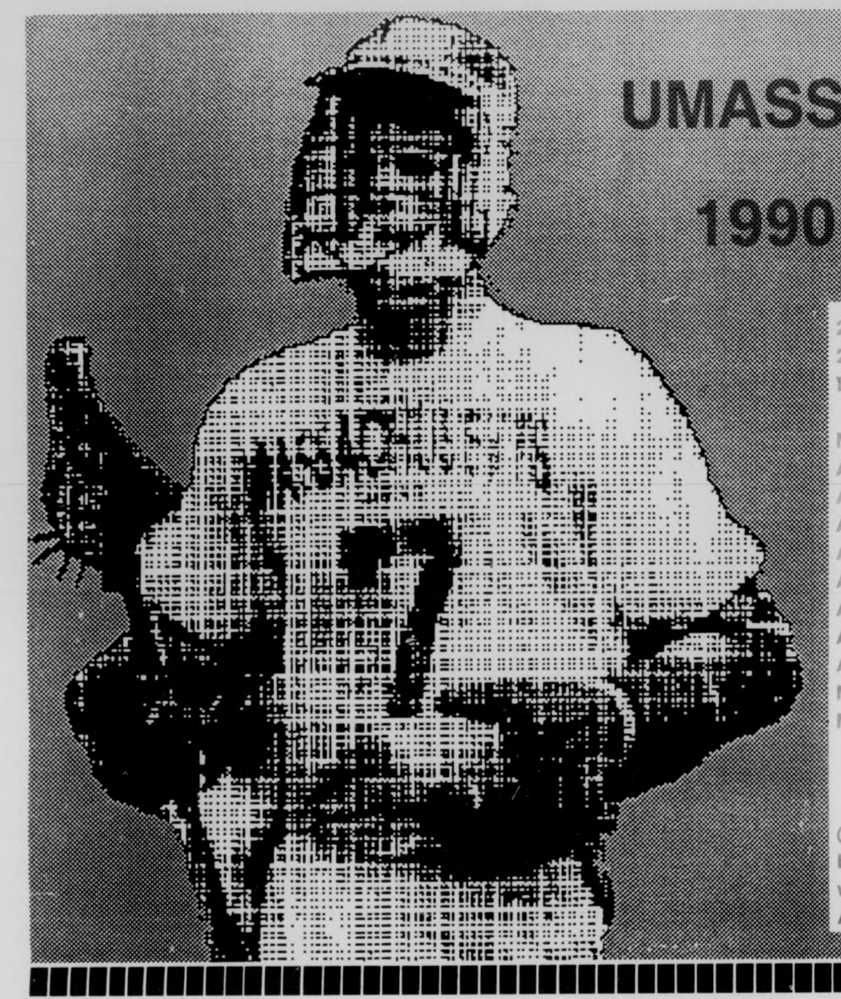
EXCLUSIVELY
ONLY AT NORTHAMPTON HONDA
736-1919 • 171 King St., Northampton, MA • 586-8626
Exit 18 off I-91 N • Exit 20 off I-91S



UMASS LACROSSE

1990 SCHEDULE

27	at Arizona	8
28	at Whittier	7
15	at Cornell	16
Mar. 31	ST. JOHN'S	1:00
Apr. 4	at Brown	7:00
Apr. 7	NEW HAMPSHIRE	1:00
Apr. 11	PROVIDENCE	3:00
Apr. 14	YALE	1:00
Apr. 18	at Dartmouth	3:00
Apr. 21	ARMY	1:00
Apr. 25	HARVARD	3:00
Apr. 28	at Rutgers	7:30
May 1	BOSTON COLLEGE	3:00
May 5	at Syracuse	2:00

Coach: Dick Garber

(All home games will bve played at Boyden Field except for Apr. 21, which will be played at Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium)

GO UMASS!!

99.3 WMUA HMP FM

WEATHER

Seventy percent chance of snow to blanket our region. The weekend must get better.

ARTS

The debut album from The Beautiful South gets four stars from our music critic. Page 11.

SPORTS

UMass baseball team defeated Siena College yesterday at Lorden Field, 6-5. Page 16.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY FRIDAY, MARCH 30, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 38

Schools plan movement against cuts

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts will participate in two days of action against state budget cuts to public higher education slated for April 11 and 12.

Representatives from the University of Massachusetts and twenty-eight other state colleges and universities have expressed full support, according to UMass Student Trustee-elect Angus McQuilken.

"Professors will devote the eleventh to a curriculum based on the tuition and fee hikes. However, it is left to the professor's discretion whether to do so," McQuilken said.

Cole said a curriculum dealing with the budget and effects on institutions of public higher education will be distributed to teaching assistants and professors next week.

On April 11 from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. there will be various workshops available to students, a noon rally on the steps of the Student Union Building, continued workshops from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., and finally a barbecue by the Campus Pond, McQuilken said.

The primary focal point of the two days will be April 12 when six buses of student lobbyists are slated to travel to the Statehouse in Boston. Buses will leave UMass at 7 a.m., and lobbying will be from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Tables will be set up on the Campus Center Concourse where students will be able to volunteer as representatives from their district. Those lobbying will participate in a workshop prior to leaving.

McQuilken said the ideal situation will be to have two representatives from each district volunteer to speak with their respective legislators.

In total, twenty buses are scheduled to take students to Boston.

Dave Varella, Framingham State College Student Government Association President said the concept for the days of action began last semester.

Varella said after some intensive rallies and several other events last fall, attempting to buffer Framingham State from the cuts became increasingly difficult. He said

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

HANGIN' OUT — Four UMass students hang out by the Fine Arts Center after returning from spring break.

Providing access to disabled difficult

Budget slashing, slow development at University cited

By BRIAN PURCELL
Collegian Staff

Providing a supportive environment for University of Massachusetts students and faculty with physical disabilities is a difficult task marked by slow development of accessibility plans and inadequate funding, according to Paul Appleby, director of Disability Services at UMass.

Appleby, director since 1976, said there has been major change toward an accessible campus, but many important plans have been delayed due to low funding.

"I've seen a lot of improvements in accessibility and attitudes toward people who have disabilities," he said, pointing out the recent name change of the Office of Handicapped Student Affairs to Disability Services, which Appleby said reflects an effort to avoid labeling people who have disabilities.

The University created Disability Services in 1973 in response to section 504 of the Federal Rehabilitation Act, which mandates that all federally assisted programs be accessible to people with disabilities. It also requires that no one be denied the benefits of a federally assisted university because of inaccessible facilities.

Appleby noted the act does not demand a renovation of every building on campus, but does insist that provisions be made to allow everyone to participate in classes, lectures, and other programs at UMass. This often requires Disability Services to work with the Registrar's office to relocate classes to accessible buildings.

John Findley, assistant director for maintenance and operations, said that when physical alterations of campus buildings are needed, they must meet the requirements of a transition plan created by the University in 1978. This plan has been the blueprint for transforming the campus into an environment that could support students with all types of disabilities, he said.

The plan requires that construction plans for all future buildings insure full accessibility, and any alterations to existing buildings meet some accessibility standards, he said.

"We're having to do less than we'd like to," Findley said,

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

Out-of-Staters fume over refusal of home licenses

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

Out-of-state students at the University of Massachusetts said yesterday they are being discriminated against because the state refuses to acknowledge their licenses as valid forms of identification.

Dami Ross, a senior accounting major and resident of Freehold, NJ, said although she is 22 and has a Massachusetts liquor ID, she believes it is "ridiculous" that the state does not recognize out-of-state IDs as valid.

"Twenty-two and 23-year-old UMass alumni have come up to visit me," she said, "and they couldn't get into bars uptown without a Massachusetts ID. It's just not fair at all."

Ross suggested that the University and the other schools issue IDs to students who are 21 or over to serve as legitimate Massachusetts identification.

According to George McCarthy, chairman of the Alcohol Beverage Control Commission, liquor stores and bars can only accept Mass. driver's licenses or liquor IDs in order to be protected by the state if a law suit were to occur.

Due to fake ID abuse by students, the Registry of Motor Vehicles said it stopped issuing Mass. liquor IDs last September. The only other way for out-of-state students to obtain a valid Mass. ID is to give up their home state licenses, get a Mass. driver's license and spend $70 in fees.

Store and bar owners who accept out-of-state IDs could be subject to the suspension of their liquor license, a substantial fine, a temporary shut-down or even a permanent closing of their business if an accident happens.

Local liquor stores and bars are split between willing to risk a shut-down by accepting out-of-state IDs, or simply refuse to accept anything but a Mass. ID

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

BOG space ideas protested

By DARREN GARNICK
Collegian Staff

Members of the Hispanic student organization, AHORA, protested a proposal last night by the Board of Governors to move them out of their office and move them to another space shared by Concepto Latino and the Central American Solidarity Association, two other Hispanic groups.

"We resent the fact that our organization has been ghettoized," said AHORA member Loyda Guzman. "We were never consulted. This act clearly demonstrates disregard for the Hispanic community."

Jose Touzon, another member of AHORA, added: "The BOG made a decision that all the Latinos will work together. They didn't contact us, they didn't ask us how we feel."

Space committee coordinator Matt Messinger said he did hear out AHORA members' concerns with phone and face-to-face talks.

According to the BOG's space allocation proposals, the Japan America Club is slated to occupy Student Union room 406F, AHORA's office for the past six years.

"This is not a strike against Ahora," Messinger said. "This office could be better utilized by the Japan America Club."

Phil Thorn of the UMass Ski Club also objected to the BOG's space proposals, which suggest moving his club's office from the fourth to the third floor in the Student Union.

Such an arrangement, Thorn said, makes the Ski Club's valuable equipment more vulnerable to theft. Third floor offices in the Student Union, at the ground level of campus, are easily accessible by window.

Addressing AHORA and the UMass Ski Club's concerns, Chairperson Sue Gordon cautioned that the BOG's proposals were not final decisions. The Board decided to postpone the approval of the space recommendations until next week.

Also last night, the BOG discussed a financial rift with the Student Government Association, which governors said could threaten the Board's existence.

BOG Treasurer Garron Carvalho said the SGA plans to reduce the BOG's funding by 70 percent next year. The Senate will debate this issue when they convene next Wednesday night.

In an emotional speech to the Board,

CONTINUED ON PAGE 5

For Your Information

For Your Information is a calendar listing of local announcements and upcoming events published daily by the Collegian as a public service. All submissions must be typed and submitted to the news room at least one full day beforehand. We reserve the right to edit for space.

Pregistration Guide — The Fall 1990 Pre-Registration Guide, which includes both a schedule of courses and course descriptions, will be distributed in the Campus Center Concourse on Monday, April 9, from 10 a.m. through 4 p.m. Copies will be available in the 2nd floor lobby of Whitmore beginning Tuesday, April 10. Only one copy will be available per student.

SATURDAY, MARCH 31, 1990

Dance — Delta Sigma Theta is sponsoring dance tonight from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. Admission $4/person (must have college IDs)

Party — Vietnamese Student Association is sponsoring a party tonight from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. in Campus Center room 168C. Admission: Free.

Presentation "The Magic Flute of Nguyen Dinh Nghia." Nguyen Dinh Nghia, the premier bamboo flutist of Vietnam, will present the several types of bamboo flutes he has crafted. He will perform solo and ensemble arrangements accompanied by his son on the gong and drum, and by his daughters on the monochord, sixteen-string zither, thirty-six-string dulcimer and the unique bamboo xylophone. 7 p.m. Knowlton basement.

SUNDAY, APRIL 1, 1990

Coffeehouse — The Lesbian Bisexual and Gay Alliance will be sponsoring a coffeehouse at the Bluewall Cafe at 7 p.m. Admission is free.

Seminar — The Boltwood Project is sponsoring a seminar from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at CC168C. Admission is free.

MONDAY, APRIL 2, 1990

Workshop — TO BE OR NOT TO BE...AN ARTIST? Monday, April 2, 4 to 6 p.m. at Bartlett 206. Free workshop for students in all art disciplines answers career questions about being an artist, including artist lifestyle issues, alternative professional opportunities for artists, and developing your own definition of success. Presented by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education and funded by the University Arts Council.

Speaker — VIC HERNANDEZ, sponsored by the Lesbian, Bisexual Gay Alliance, CC905-09, 4PM - 6PM, Admission free.

Speakers — STEVEN McCAULEY and LESLIE NEWMAN, sponsored by Lesbian, Bisexual Gay Alliance, CC904-08, 6 p.m. - 9 p.m., Free.

Senior Portraits — Sponsored by the Index, CC178, 8:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m., (daily thru April 6).

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 4, 1990

Workshop — TO MARKET, TO MARKET TO MAKE YOUR WORK KNOWN. There will be a free workshop on today from 4 to 6 p.m. at Bartlett 301 for students in all art disciplines teaches how to find and create professional artistic opportunities through basic marketing strategies. Learn to identify sponsors or buyers who want your artwork, develop different 'lines,' and determine how to get the competitive edge. Presented by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education and funded by the University Arts Council. Discussion: Women's Studies and the Pre-Medical Advisory Committee present an informative panel discussion entitled "Medical Careers for Women." The event will take place at 7:30 p.m. in Campus Center room 903. There will be ample time for questions and a reception will follow the program. The panel is open to the public. For more information contact Women's Studies at 545-1922.

THURSDAY, APRIL 5, 1990

Workshop: "How Will You Choose Your Major?", 4 p.m. in E-37 Machmer: Deciding what to study at UMass is closely connected to what you'll do when you graduate. Susan Hart and Ginger Goldsbury, career counselors from the Mather Career Center, will discuss important things to consider when choosing a major: skills, talents and values assessment, what interests you, and the job market.

SUNDAY, APRIL 8, 1990

Two films and discussion 3 to 4:30 p.m. in Campus Center room 168C. Buddhism: the Path to Enlightenment is filmed with the Sri Lanka. The life of the Buddha is traced from his birth as a prince, his search for a solution to life's sorrow, and his later years

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, 1990

Workshop — There will a free workshop TO MARKET, TO MARKET; THE SEQUEL today from 4 to 6 p.m. at Bartlett 301 for students in all art disciplines. This provides instruction in how to price your artwork and use promotional methods, advertising, public relations, and free publicity most effectively to get your work out there to audiences. Presented by the Arts Extension Service of the Divison of Continuing Edcuation and funded by the University Arts Council.

Recycle this newspaper

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief — Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor — George Austin
Editorial Editor — Minu Sebastian
News Editor — Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor — Jim Clark
Arts Editors — Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor — Dondi Ahearn
Women's Issues Editor — Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor — Alexander Nguyen
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor — Chris Muther
Business Manager — Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager — Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager — Martina Rios
Circulation Manager — Chris Baker
Subscription Manager — Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager — Donna Cusson
Production Managers — Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager — Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business — Lori Black, Brian Harrington, Maureen Majerowski
Graphics — Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

TOWER Theaters
Two For One Every Monday
Student Discount Tues-Sunday
THE·VILLAGE·COMMONS
Across from Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley, Massachusetts. 413/533-2663
DRIVING MISS DAISY
Academy Award Winner!
Best Picture
Best Actress
Through April 12
weekdays at 7 and 9:05/Fri. at 5:45, 7:45 and 9:45
Sat. and Sun. at 3:30, 5:45, 7:45 and 9:45 p.m.
TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES
weekdays at 7 and 9 p.m./Friday at 5,7 and 9 p.m.
Sat. and Sun. at 3,5,7 and 9 p.m.

Hair by Harlow
A salon for Men
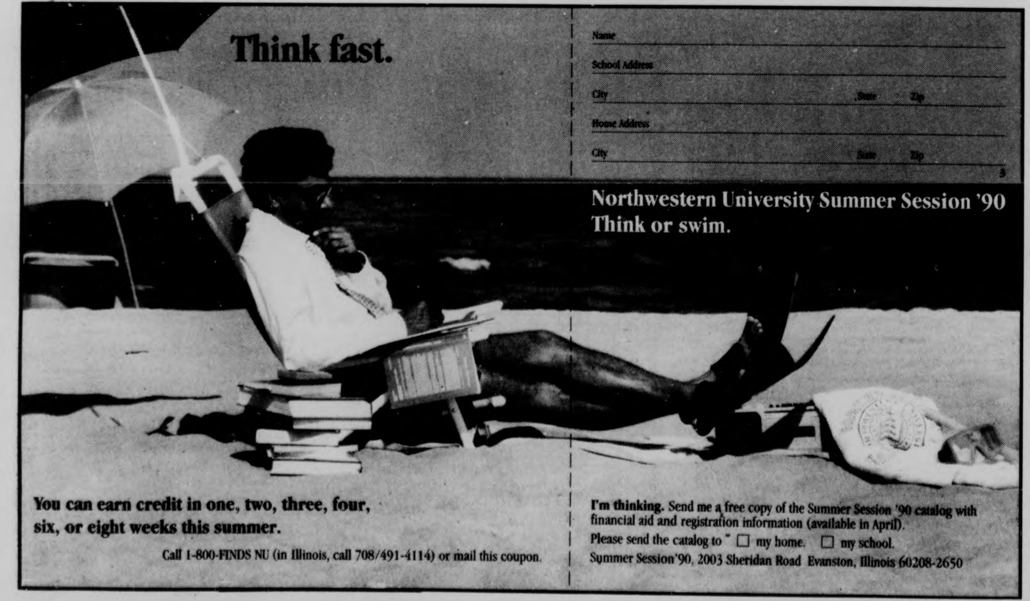
&
Women
★ Current Western Massachusetts Champions ★
239 Triangle St. Amherst
549-4412 Closed Mondays



Think fast.
Name
School Address
City State Zip
Home Address
City State Zip
Northwestern University Summer Session '90
Think or swim.
You can earn credit in one, two, three, four, six, or eight weeks this summer.
Call 1-800-FINDS NU (in Illinois, call 708/491-4114) or mail this coupon.
I'm thinking. Send me a free copy of the Summer Session '90 catalog with financial aid and registration information (available in April).
Please send the catalog to ☐ my home. ☐ my school.
Summer Session '90, 2003 Sheridan Road Evanston, Illinois 60208-2650

RENT A WRECK
New & Used Cars
Trucks & Vans Also Available
North Amherst Rent-A-Wreck
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-RENT

ROYAL CRANE ORIENTAL FOOD MARKET
360 College St., Amherst
253-5658
with a large variety of
AUTHENTIC ORIENTAL & INDIAN
• Produce • Sauces & Spices • Noodles • Frozen & Canned Goods • Cooking Implements & Supplies • Homemade take-out food
Sun-Fri 10:00-8:00
Sat 9:00-8:00

LOCAL

Career forum cautions candor in workplace

By CHRIS MUTHER
Collegian Staff

Lesbian, bisexual and gay students should be careful in disclosing personal information to employers, said a panel of lesbian and gay University of Massachusetts alumni.

Speaking at a career forum last night in the Campus Center as part of Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual Awareness Week, five graduates of the University stressed that students need to set their own boundries in coming out to their employers and co-workers.

Karen Shelley, a 1967 UMass graduate who is now assistant director for finances for UMass Housing Services said she did not come out to herself until she was in graduate school, and as a result stayed quiet to her employers.

"I didn't say anything because of the harassment I had already recieved as a woman and the idea made me uncomfortable," she said. "It absolutely never occurred to me to come out at work when I first started working."

Most people have no business knowing about your personal life, and your sexuality has nothing to do with your ability to perform at your job, she said.

"I'll be damned if I'll be employed or unemployed for anything besides my skills," she said.

According to Shelley, the University has required diversity training for employees which she said is "wonderful" when people know about the issues.

If you do not like, trust, or feel comfortable telling a person about your private life, she said the best thing to do is not say anything at all.

Susan Montague, a 1972 UMass graduate and a self-employed career counselor said the University is a very different place than the "real world."

'It took me 17 years to unlearn what I learned here," she said. "The world is a brutal, brutal place,."

Montague said people have to be extremely careful if they want to reveal their sexuality to their employers. She said several people she counsels have been fired as a result of coming out to employers.

"People who are different are just not making it in the traditional settings," she said.

She said she has never been open about her sexuality at a job and said she is much happier being self-employed like many other lesbians, bisexuals and gay men.

"Ethics are very important in deciding how open a person will be in the work place," she said. "People go through a juggling act of how much they want to compromise their principles."

Collegian photo by Richard DuCree

Four University of Massachusetts graduates discussed career planning for Lesbian, Bisexual, and Gay students last night. The forum was part of Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual Awareness week.

David Saint-Gelias, a 1975 graduate of the University who is self-employed as a computer consultant said being gay influenced his career pattern.

"I chose a profession where I could have my privacy," he said. "It never occurred to me to share my private life with my employers."

Students should be discreet and private about their personal lives, he said, because when going on interviews and sending resumes employers look for 'any excuse' not to hire a person.

Total disarmament possible due to progressive Europe

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

The rapid pace of events in Europe and around the world in the past six months has allowed the world an unprecedented opportunity to remove not only nuclear weapons but also chemical and conventional weapons, said the Swedish Ambassador for disarmament to the United Nations Maj Britt Theorin.

Speaking at Mount Holyoke College as part of the Five College Program in Peace and World Security Studies, Theorin opened her lecture "Beyond the Cold War: Disarmament in the 1990's" by quoting what she called a prophetic poem of the late Finnish poet Pentti Saarikoski.

A day in spring... could sit down for a while in the grove... and you would know that they were melting the cannons down to plowshares
yes, see the fields plowed anew brought to life.

Theorin said that "reality has outdone fiction" and has made her recall musician Bob Dylan's famous song about the change in United States in the 1960's.

"For the times they are a-changing — 1988 was the year peace broke out, 1989 was the year of democratization," she said. "And I am confident that the 1990s will be the decade of disarmament."

Theorin, speaking before a audience of about 40 people, outlined a ten-point agenda for the disarmament of East and West.

"In building peace, we must start to abolish the tools of war," she said. "We must promote and implement disarmament."

She said that the main justification for disarmament is economic. "Astronomical amounts of money have been and are still wasted each year on the arms race," she said.

Theorin, who has been a delegate to the United Nations since 1976, said that nuclear deterrence "has not been proven and cannot be proven" as a way of preventing war.

"Deterrence will have to be replaced with some other common security mechanism and at this time it has yet to be developed," she said.

She said the theory of deterrence has evolved as a sticking point in drafting treaties concerning nuclear weapons.

"You can't cooperate with someone by threatening to hit them," she said.

Theorin, who wore a silver peace emblem, said that political leaders must now plan for a new version of the world without nuclear weapons since she feels the Cold War is over.

"How do the political leaders envisage Europe and the world beyond the Cold War?" she asked. "War has always been planned for, but how about peace?"

"We can melt down cannons to plowshares," she said. "The times they are a-changing."

Hispanic Gays, Lesbians need unity

By JULIE MCKENNA
Collegian Correspondent

Hispanics must come together as a community first and then work as gays, lesbians, and bisexuals, according to Juanita Ramos and Aurelio Font, speakers from Hispanics United Gays and Lesbians, a New York-based organization.

Speaking at the Campus Center last night, Ramos and Font said Hispanic gays, lesbians and bisexuals have to become more active.

"You must come out of the closet to make progress because invisibility is our greatest enemy," Font said. "We don't realize the collective strength we possess because it is yet untapped."

Both speakers noted the two-fold pressure of being a homosexual and a minority.

Ramos said she found it difficult at first to accept her race, yet once she did it was easier for her to come out and become an activist.

"We are facing one struggle on many fronts," she said.

Both Ramos and Font said the gay, lesbian, bisexual rights movement is very painful for them because of the racism within it.

"When I became an activist in the movement I was shocked to find racism in a group I thought I could identify with," said Font.

Within the past three years there has been a coming together of the Hispanic homosexual community, Font said.

"In the last Puerto Rican Day parade in New York, we had over a hundred people march as a Latino homosexual contingent," he said. "It was great to see us gaining support.

"Now that we are gaining support, we must take it back into our communities and work to combat homophobia as a Hispanic group," he said. Ramos echoed this by stressing the importance of gaining support from and identifying with an ethnic group within your sexual orientation.

Both Font and Ramos said to become an activist in a Hispanic homosexual community one must be able to identify discrimination, have a strong sense of cultural identity, and have role models ethnically and sexually.

They also said the community should be doing more for Hispanic homosexual youth. "They need role models and a strong ethnic identity, because we are already losing 44 percent to suicide," Font said. "It's up to us to help them."

Collegian photo by K. A. Burke

LET'S SHAKE ON IT — Bilingual Collegiate Program director Ben Rodriguez, left, accepts a $1000 donation from Pastor John Stendahl of the Lutheran Church of Amherst on Tuesday. Stendahl said the money will go towards tutorial programs for Cambodian and other language-minority students in the community.

Vietnamese music explored at workshop

By ALEXANDER NGUYEN
Collegian staff

Traditional Vietnamese music performed by the Nguyen Dinh Nghia family will be introduced to the University of Massachusetts community in a two-week workshop lasting from Saturday, March 31 to Sunday, April 15, said Univerity of Massachusetts professor Lucy Nguyen.

The workshop will include classes teaching how to make and play traditional Vietnamese instruments such as the bamboo flute, the bamboo xylophone, the monochord, the 16-string zither, and the drum.

Nguyen Dinh Nghia is one of Vietnam's premier flutists. He was born in Saigon and came to the U.S. as a refugee in 1984. He is an important figure in the preservation of Vietnamese arts.

Nguyen taught at the National Conservatory in Saigon and later as a professor of traditional music at Van Hanh University in Saigon. He studied with traditional teachers of classical court music, learned folk musics in villages near his home, and received training in classical Western music at the conservatory. Nguyen retained a knowledge of most of these musics that have been destroyed in Vietnam.

The classes are free of charge. However professor Nguyen said that

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

Hampshire Mall
Hadley

Vision Showcase

36 State St.
Shelburne Falls

Your new glasses are ready and your second pair is... FREE!

Buy one pair of prescription eyeglasses at our regular price and get the second pair of the same prescription from our special selection... absolutely FREE.

Choose from hundreds of high quality frames in all of the latest styles, colors, shapes and sizes.

Eye exams on premises by Dr. Robert E. Delaney, Independent Doctor of Optometry 584-6888 (Hampshire Mall) • 625-2370 (Shelburne Falls)

Offer precludes previous discounts and expires April 4, 1990

WITH THIS COUPON

FREE Second Pair of EYEGLASSES

(WITH PURCHASE OF A COMPLETE PAIR)

Buy one pair of glasses at our regular price and get the second pair of the same prescription from our special selection, ABSOLUTELY FREE!
Includes first quality frames and single vision, clear, uncoated, 1st and 2nd division lenses. Offer precludes previous discounts.

Hampshire Mall
(across from K-Mart)
Hadley
584-8324

Vision Showcase

36 State St.
(near Bridge of Flowers)
Shelburne Falls
625-9898

Coupon expires April 4, 1990

MORE POWER TO YOU

NCAA at the TOP

Don't miss the Final Four in action on Saturday. The TOC Lounge will be televising both games.

Duke v. Arkansas
at 5:45 p.m.

Georgia Tech v. UNLV
30 min. after the completion of first game.

TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE
11th Floor • Campus Center
UMass at Amherst

Mon.-Fri.: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat. & Sun.: 5:00 pm-12:30 am

The end IS A LOT CLOSER THAN YOU THINK.
LAMBADA
QUICK MONEY
who's on your tail
grim crap

Paid Advertisement

OFF-CAMPUS RESIDENTS

Tired of Hassles?

Are you bored with the off-campus experience? Are you stuck with bad roommates or tired of always being the one who cleans the bathroom? Are you worried about your future living arrangements? Think about returning to the positive convenience and spirit of living on-campus. NOW IS THE TIME TO APPLY. Applications for residence hall rooms are available in the Housing Assignment Office, 235 Whitmore, and will be guaranteed for all whose applications are received June 1, 1990.

Questions? Call the Housing Assignment Office at (413) 545-2100, Monday through Friday, 8:30 am to 5:00 pm. Thank you!

accessibility

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

referring to the lack of state funding. He said the ideal renovation of any building should include a "top to bottom job."

He explained that full accessibility would mean that a person in a wheelchair could not only enter the doors to the first floor of a building, but could ride the elevators, and use all rooms, including restrooms.

Findley added that Disabilities Services is also working to provide services in the residential areas for those students who are visually or hearing impaired. These services include braille signs, smoke alarms with strobe lights, and telephones with hearing boosts, he said.

Disabilities Services also provides transportation both on and off-campus for students who are physically handicapped, note-takers and taped books for the visually impaired, and counseling for all students with disabilities.

Findley said that Brooks, Brett and Knowlton Residential Areas are fully accessible, while most other buildings are only partially accessible, meaning that students who are physically handicapped can use the first floor, but not other floors or the bathrooms.

"We would like to make all the the living options available in all the residence areas," Findley said. "I feel all the options should be there."

UMass sophomore Jerry Boyd, director of Abilities Unlimited and a person who uses a wheelchair, said he shares many of the concerns of Disabilities Services.

"The University says we're supposed to be so culturally diverse, but I can only live in certain dorms."

The senior architect for the Physical Plant, Marty Smith, said that low funding is also a problem for work on the academic buildings. She cited Bartlett Hall, which had an extensive accessibility plan and was ready to be up for bid, but was dropped due to low funds.

Smith said UMass is still one of the more accessible campuses in the country because Massachusetts state laws are stricter than many other states.

Boyd said being a disabled student and dealing with accessibility at the University requires a lot of self-initiative.

"The services here are very helpful, but it's like anything here ... there's a lot of red tape and we have to do a lot of work on our own."

BOG

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Gordon said she believed the BOG's integrity was endangered by the SGA's threats of reduced financial support. She said the SGA wanted to gain more power at the BOG's expense.

"[The SGA] is like a snake looking for something to chew, going after their tail," she said.

SGA Sen. John Dunlap, present during Gordon's speech, said he agrees with the existence of the BOG and "hopes it thrives with what ever funding it gets."

"The SGA is not a bunch of ogres on a power trip," he said. "We don't expect the BOG to be sympathetic, but we're just acting in the best interest of the students."

budget cuts

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

he grew frustrated after two of the organizations generally geared toward the budget crisis, the Student Advisory Council and the State Student Association of Massachusetts, offered him little support.

"I grew very impatient with the inaction of these two groups. I had a strong feeling that there should be a continuing effort," Varella said. "After contacting the Massacusetts Teachers Association, and they showed strong support, a meeting was called for in January."

During this meeting, five universities and colleges were brought together under the title of S.A.F.E. (Students and Faculty Alliance for Education) to create a plan for effective action. The five colleges were UMass at Amherst and Boston, Springfield Technical Community College, Lowell University, and Bridgewater State College.

With a $2500 sponsorship from the Fund for the Future, a sound system and stage will be provided at the Statehouse for representatives from the various 29 state schools, as well as hand-held radios for security.

WMUA will have live broadcasts from the Statehouse throughout the day, and broadcast several public radio announcements, said WMUA Chairperson Scott Lever.

UMass Chancellor Joseph Duffey said classes will not be cancelled on the eleventh or twelfth, but that the administration would do what it could to help in coordinating the event.

John Cole, president of the Faculty Union said the two days offer an ideal opportunity for students, faculty and staff to join together towards a common goal.

Recycle this (LISTEN!) newspaper

Effective Immediately

Free Rent!!

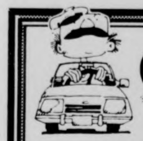
Cliffside Apartments is offering new reduced rental rates on our 1 and 2 bedroom apartments. This includes your last month of residency rent free!!
1 and 2 bedrooms from $400 including al utlilities, tennis, pool, free bus and more! Short-term, 6 month and yearly leases are available today.
Stop by our rental office at 248 Amherst Rd., Sunderland or call 665-3958.
(Offer extended to new residents only.)

THE BLACK SHEEP

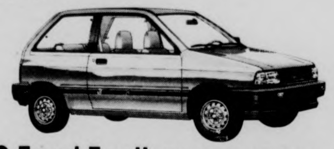
79 Main Street
Amherst
253-3442

58 Main Street
Northampton
586-3055

Now in Northampton—Open Tue., Wed., Thu. Until 9 p.m.!



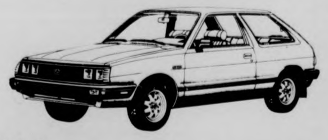
Great Little Cars At Super Prices



'89 Ford Festiva $4,995
Air Cond., Tape Deck, 7800 mi.
#7329
A great combination of performance, economy & comfort.

'86 Honda Wagon
5 Speed, Tape Deck
#8309
$4295⁰⁰

'88 Hyundai Excel GL
5 Speed, 3 dr. hatchback, air cond., tape deck. #8107
$3,695



'88 Subaru GL $4,750
Hatchback, 4 WD
Ready to go in mud or snow.
#6805

"Seventeen Years of Automotive Experience"

PELHAM AUTO SALES

Open Mon.-Fri.
8 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Sat. 9 a.m.-1:00 p.m.

1315 Federal St., Rt. 9 Belchertown/Amherst Line
(at Pelham Auto Service)
253-9811 or 253-5435

"Limited Inventory
UNLIMITED
Integrity"

BRUEGGER'S BAGEL BAKERY
Bagels • Bagel Sandwiches
Cookies • Brownies • Baked Fresh
All Day • Custom Cream Cheese
Open 7 Days
170 N. Pleasant St. • Amherst, MA
253-5713

elen's HAIR'UM SALON

A Creative Hair Salon Specializing in:
Wave Nouveau • Leisure Curl
Care Free Curl • Weaves • Extensions
Braids • Color • Permanent Waves
Design Cuts • We have ethnic make-up
228 Triangle Street • Amherst • 549-3999
139 Dwight Street • Springfield • 734-4234
Monday thru Saturday

Explanations of earth's beginnings similar

By MARC RITCHIE
Collegian Correspondent

The scientific and biblical theories of the origin of the universe are strikingly similar, Harvard University professor Owen Gingerich told a standing room only crown in the Campus Center Wednesday night.

Gingerich, senior astronomer at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory and professor of astronomy and the history of science at Harvard, pointed out the similarities between the scientific big-bang theory and the Bible's account of creation.

He said the big-bang theory, which states that the universe was created by an initial explosion, "bears a striking resonance with those succinct words of Genesis 1:3: 'And God said, Let there be light.

"The scientific picture sketches the creation of atoms, of galaxies, of stars, of life, even of man," he said. "Likewise, Genesis speaks of the sun and moon, of plants and animals, and of man."

Gingerich said the fundamental difference is that science looks at the question 'How?' and the Bible looks at the "motivations and designs of the 'Who.'"

He said people are mistaken when they take scientific explanations to be anti-God or atheistic, and are wrong to think that the Genesis account can substitute for the 'how' of scientific explanations.

In looking at the development of the earth, Gingerich said several billion years ago the earth's atmosphere would have consisted of carbon dioxide and water vapor from the outgassing of volcanoes. This caused the surface temperature of the earth to increase over the ages.

"Had the atmosphere stayed constant, our planet would now have a runaway greenhouse effect, something like that found on the planet Venus; the earth's oceans would have boiled away, leaving a hot, lifeless globe," he said.

Gingerich then asked the audience, 'How did our atmosphere change over to oxygen just in the nick of time?' He noted the timing of this complex configuration of circumstances, and asked, "can we not see here the designer's hand at work?"

In defending science, Gingerich said, "perhaps the ultimate truth is that the world was created only 6,000 years ago, but since the Creator has filled it with wonderful clues pointing back 10 or 20 billion years, I am content to do my science by building a coherent picture of a multibillion-year-old creation, even though that may be only a grand hypothesis."

Resident scalds hand

Flaming pan causes smoke damage

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

A resident of North Village apartments burned his hand Wednesday as he tried to put a cooking pot, which had burst into flames, into a sink, police said.

A cabinet was burned and there was smoke damage to the kitchen, police said. The Amherst Fire Department, Environmental Health and Safety and University of Massachusetts Department of Public Safety responded.

In other police reports:

The staff of the Worcester Dining Commons reported Wednesday that someone had entered the building during the night and had accessed the entire building, police said.

An inventory will be taken to determine if anything was stolen, police said.

ARRESTS

- Calvin R. Ingraham, 19, of Georgetown was arrested yesterday for operating under the influence, being a minor transporting alcohol and numerous motor vehicle charges.
- A automobile stopped on Massachusetts Avenue for defective equipment resulted in the arrest of Anhdung L. Nguyen, 21, of Springfield for operating without a license.

DISTURBANCES

- A victim in Southwest reported Wednesday several threatening phone calls. Police said it is under investigation.
- Northeast Residential Area staff reported that an employee lost a building key between Crabtree and Knowlton.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

WHEEL OF FORTUNE? – Ramona Freeport Crow, a Univeristy of Massachusetts graduate student, works on a pot at the Student Union craft shop.

THE PUB
fun, food + Spirits

Rack-A-Disc
entertainment
presents:

NCAA FINALS

10 foot video screen

MONDAY, APRIL 2

9:00 starting time

SINCE • 1968
15 EAST PLEASANT · AMHERST

Belotti questioned about past lobbying

BOSTON (AP) – Democratic candidate for governor Evelyn Murphy accused rival Francis Bellotti of working as a paid lobbyist to kill the state's pioneering universal health care law, but failed Thursday to back up the allegation.

Bellotti registered as a lobbyist for the Health Insurance Association of America in 1987, but, according to a news story distributed by Murphy's campaign, said at the time he was not trying to kill the bill.

But Murphy said Bellotti, a former attorney general, "took money from special interests who oppose health care."

"Less than a year after leaving office, Frank Bellotti took $20,000 from the insurance industry to use his years of inside connections to defeat health care for all," Murphy charged at a news conference at Boston City Hospital.

But an angry Bellotti said, "Let me put this as simply as I possibly can. I did not lobby against the universal health care law."

Bellotti said the Health Insurance Association of America supported the bill overall, but wanted to make sure that its member companies had a chance to compete for the health insurance business in Massachusetts that the law created.

Bellotti also said he provides health insurance for his campaign workers while Murphy initially did not.

"I support the universal health care bill and I put my money where my mouth is. I insure people in my campaign," Bellotti said.

At her conference Murphy described herself as the only candidate who supported universal health care.

■ liquors IDs

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

and lose the profits.

"I guess I'll get a Massachusetts license, but they're so expensive," said 20-year-old Antonio Acevedo, a junior economics major and resident of Guayama, Puerto Rico.

Acevedo, who said it was unfair for out-of-state students to pay more money for IDs, asked, "Why don't all of the bars [in downtown Amherst] buy that ID Checking Guide? It doesn't seem that expensive and they only have to check out the IDs."

Some stores check out-of-state licenses against the ID Checking Guide, a book picturing all U.S. licenses and is updated yearly.

Emily Cofky, a junior legal studies major and resident of Nutley, NJ, said she has "no idea" what she is going to do when she turns 21.

"I don't want to get a Massachusetts license and give up my New Jersey license because when I graduate I'm going back to New Jersey," she said. "I just don't think it's fair that even though I live here [in Amherst] 10 months out of the year I'm not allowed to go to bars."

"I'm 21 and I think that's all I should need," said senior marketing major Michele Goldberg, resident of Rutherford, NJ. "If I give my signature, social security number and a back-up UMass ID, why shouldn't I be accepted?"

SLACK FOR HAPPINESS
"BOGF" AND YOU RECEIVE

■ Vietnamese music

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

seats are limited and registration is accepted on a first come first served basis.

There will be three performances during the workshop. The first on Saturday, March 31 at 7 p.m. in the United Asian Cultural Center of UMass, the second on Friday, April 6 at 12:00 noon in the Durfee Conservatory of UMass, and the third performance, to conclude the workshop, is on Sunday, April 15 at the St. Joseph Church Parish hall in Springfield.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

A disruptive awakening

Perhaps if I was a better writer, I could take the images I have in my mind and magically transform them into words and phrases that would leave a deep and lasting impression on your mind. However, my memories of the concentration camp Sachsenhausen in Oranienburg, East Germany are so clouded by emotion that I find it only possible to record what I saw on that overcast day and let you formulate your own opinions.

Diane Olevsky

As we crossed from West to East Berlin at Checkpoint Charlie, a feat which only a few weeks ago would have been impossible for my West German friend, we celebrated the progress which Germany is currently witnessing.

In driving deeper into East Germany, I started to feel as though we were travelling back in time. The paved roads changed into cobblestone and the tall office buildings were replaced by vast territories of empty land separated every so often by a farmhouse.

After driving for about half an hour, we reached the small town Oranienburg. Naturally, there were signs pointing towards Sachsenhausen, as school groups and tourists from around the world visit this place daily. On this day though, there were few other people and I felt thousands of miles away from civilization.

Immediately, I became aware of a damp smell. Although this was just an average springtime scent, it seemed as if it had lingered for many years.

Upon entering the gates, we went into a small white cottage which was the building in which the Nazi doctors performed "autopsies." In actuality, this was where tattooed skin, gold teeth, hair and skulls were removed from dead bodies to be used for lampshades and other tokens.

I remember seeing a skull with lightbulbs built into the eye sockets which had been a favorite item of one of these so-called doctors.

Aside from the cottage, every other building in the camp was dark green. The grounds were surrounded by high fences with watch towers at each corner. Off in the distance stood a covered region where there had once been gas chambers, a wall against which prisoners were shot, and ovens where the dead bodies were eliminated.

These chambers had since been burned down, and in their place stood a memorial to those Soviet, German, French, Italian, Spanish, Greek, Polish and Yugoslavian people that had been exterminated in Sachsenhausen - 100,000 total between August 1936 and April 1945.

The dark green buildings were the prisoner's quarters. Five hundred people were crowded into a single room without beds sufficient to accommodate one hundred. There were about eight toilets.

In the middle of the camp, there stood a considerably larger building which contained a casino and a theater to keep the S.S. guards amused. These empty structures were all that there was to see, nothing else.

There were fresh flowers by the memorial and as we walked out of the gates. I noticed the sun trying to peer through the clouds. We drove a short distance out of the parking lot and had to stop at the train tracks as a train was just arriving at the Sachsenhausen station.

I couldn't help but think that just 25 short years before my birth, the people getting off this train were probably never going to leave Sachsenhausen.

Diane Olevsky is a UMass student

The 'Keener' category

People are constantly categorizing each other.

From "party animal" to "geek" to "loser" to "prep," all these judgments are made instinctively on the basis of appearances – enough so to make all people self-conscious.

So there I was, on Friday afternoon, riding on a bus to Montreal, Canada with a group of 40 or so people from both UMass and Northeastern for a weekend ski trip.

Felice Cohen

Having just returned a few hours earlier from Philadelphia, where I had been cheering on the UMass Men's Hoop team, I was a little tired. (But not half as tired as I discovered I would be upon returning from this trip.)

Plans were made at the end of last semester, and now it had finally arrived.

With the knowledge of a long drive ahead of us, I welcomed the opportunity to catch up on some sleep . . . but little did I know what was in store.

As the bus driver, who by the end of the trip was solely known as "Tom," drove down the highway, some of the group decided to start their weekend before we crossed the border.

With the noise from the loud music, I had a hard time keeping my eyes closed. I decided to people-watch with my friend.

Then it happened. The group divided.

Suddenly, there were about 15 kids chanting the theme from "The Brady Bunch," and in a flash we had party animals in one section, magazine/walkman people in another, and then the most interesting group – not nerds, not geeks . . . Puzzled, I asked my friend for help.

"I've never seen anyone like them before," she said.

For the time being, we decided to call them "Simpsons." I mean, some of them actually looked like the cartoon.

Arriving in Montreal, we were excited to escape the clutches of the Simpsons for the next 48 hours.

A friend who attends McGill College brought us to her favorite bar. It was among these Canadian college students that our search for a permanent replacement name for the Simpsons was discovered. In between dancing to Janet Jackson and sipping lemon slush puppy drinks (the next fad to replace Jell-o shots), we scanned the Montreal men.

"See those guys over there?" said one McGill senior, "they're Keeners.

"They're what?" I asked, figuring I had misunderstood what she said.

"You know, Keeners. Like people who start studying before school starts."

Then it hit me. This was the name I was searching for.

Keeners.

Since none of us had ever heard this expression before, it fit just right.

Sitting in the middle of a bar all the way in Canada, I thought about how relieved the students back home were going to be – they could now pick on others with a term that everyone would recognize: "Hey Keener, get outta my way!" or, "You're such a Keener!"

Soon, I imagined, "Keener-Mania" would be everywhere, eliminating all pseudonyms for loser, geek, nerd and dweeb.

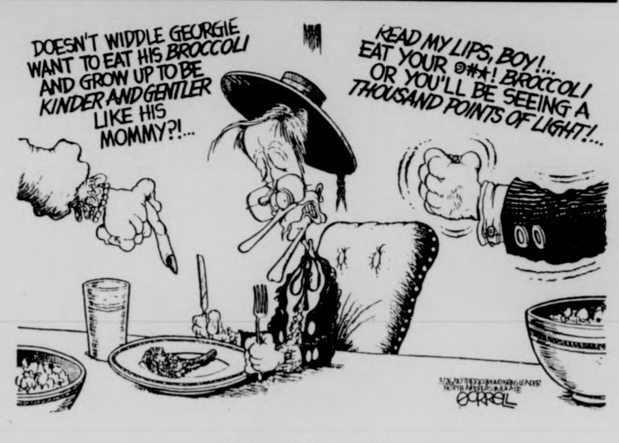
Riding back to UMass Sunday, attempting my homework, I happened to notice a few alterations in the seating arrangements.

The party animals from Friday were now sitting quietly, studying in the front, while the Keeners from Friday were making a ruckus and having a great time laughing and singing in the back.

Disoriented for the briefest of moments, I quickly collected my senses and stumbled upon yet another discovery.

This one has been around a lot longer than Keener, and thus holds more substance. And that is, you can't judge a book by its cover.

Felice Cohen is a Collegian correspondent



DOESN'T WIDDLE GEORGIE WANT TO EAT HIS BROCCOLI AND GROW UP TO BE KINDER AND GENTLER LIKE HIS MOMMY?!...
READ MY LIPS, BOY!... EAT YOUR @#★! BROCCOLI OR YOU'LL BE SEEING A THOUSAND POINTS OF LIGHT!...
SORRELL

THE MAKING OF A PRESIDENT

Broccoli ban Bush's plan

As you may know, President Bush recently announced that he doesn't like broccoli.

"I never liked broccoli," he said, "since I was a little kid my mother made me eat it, and I'm President of the United States and I'm not going to eat any more broccoli!"

Not wanting to see the President's stay in office go broccoli-less, I called the White House to try to change his mind.

Steve Brykman

"Mr. President," I started, "have you ever had broccoli with maybe some melted Velveeta on it? That's always a winner. Maybe you'll like that. What've you got to lose? Look at Gorbachev. He'll eat anything – Lithuania, Estonia, Armenia. He's got a real eating disorder. A lot of times he'll lie and say he hasn't eaten something, when, plain as day, you can see him sneaking bites under the table. Still won't drink Coke, though. Doesn't like the taste."

"Y'see, That's just it. He's him and I'm me. He doesn't like coke. I don't like broccoli. I got my reasons, y'know?"

"Let's hear 'em."

"Well, it's like this. When I look at a broccoli, I can't help thinking about those poor South American rainforests."

"How's that?"

"Look at a piece of broccoli. It looks just like a little tree – a little green one. I don't eat little Bonsai trees, why should I eat these green Bonsai just 'cause they're a little more squishy?

"If we want to save the rainforests, dammit, we've got to start at home. People who eat little trees have no difficulty moving on to big trees, that's what I say.

"It's the same with alcohol. You have a beer in high school, and before you know it, you're 35 years old, watching Monday Night Football in a Fruit o' the Loom undershirt, downing some brewskies, and singing a Polish song. I see it happen all the time."

"But, sir, think of what you're doing to the National Broccoli Foundation. Broccoli sales have plummeted 34 percent. Chinese restaurants nationwide are on the verge of bankruptcy. You can't just go out flatfooted like that and say that you don't like broccoli.

You've got a responsibility to the people. They look up to you. If the President says he doesn't like broccoli, it's like the Pope saying don't eat meat on Friday. Citizens across the country are putting down their little green trees and are switching to asparagus."

"I don't like asparagus either, y'know. It makes me think of Jack and the Beanstock."

"Mr. President, that's not the point. You've got to be oblique. You've got to say something like: 'Despite its high nutritional value and low caloric content, I, myself, have found that broccoli doesn't blend well with my own personal diet.'"

"A simple statement like that would've saved you. But no. You've got to be brash. You've got to be bold."

"Well, I just got fed up."

"That's it," I declared, "I'm putting my foot down. I'm gonna tell the public exactly how I feel. Damn the consequences. Damn the National Broccoli Foundation."

"Frankly, Mr. President, I think you're right. I applaud your daring. Unlike past presidents, you do not hide the truth with euphemisms and clever semantics. You, sir, are a man who is not afraid to come right out and tell the American people, in simple and honest terms, just exactly what is going on in the White House."

Steve Brykman is a UMass student

Inexcusable disregard for safety

On the Tuesday before spring break, my Managerial Economics class and I witnessed what I consider to be an absolutely astounding display of disregard for the safety of students on this campus by, would you believe it, our very own campus police.

Please try to suspend your disbelief for one moment as I relate this amazing tale.

During what I would say was a riveting lecture by our esteemed Professor Nakosteen in a classroom on the first floor of the School of Business Administration building, a small group of teenage skateboarders zipped around the corner on the walkway next to the building and worked their way towards the Fine Arts Center.

A few moments later, our entire class was stunned by the sight of a campus police cruiser literally flying around the corner of the building on the walkway in nearly full "Dukes of Hazzard on two wheels kicking lots of dust in the air" fashion.

The cruiser then accelerated along the walkway to what I would say, without exaggeration, was between 15 and 25 miles per hour.

Thoughtlessly passing not even five feet from the open front doors of the building, the cruiser made another belief-defying turn, sped to the sidewalk for yet another spectacular turn, and headed out of sight towards the Fine Arts Center in hot pursuit of the skateboarders.

I don't know what on earth those skateboarding teenagers could have done short of spraying the Newman Center with machine gun fire to warrant such a blatant disregard for the safety of students.

Anyone could have been walking on the blind side of the building or unknowingly stepping out of the front doors and into the oncoming front grill of a police cruiser doing 20 miles per hour.

Any more comments about the mentality of the officer behind the wheel of that cruiser could jeopardize my social well-being at UMass, so I'll leave such conclusions to the reader.

Joseph Mara
Amherst

THE COLLEGIAN NEEDS YOU

Railroad Stores
SALVAGE

LOOK FOR OUR COLORFUL 16 PAGE CIRCULAR
OVER 200 SPRINGTIME VALUES

finkel PATIO UMBRELLAS
7½' AMERICAN MADE
2000 Umbrellas in a Large Assortment of Colors. Crank Handle for Easy Operation
ALL FIRST QUALITY
YOUR CHOICE NOW $68
VALUES $180-$220

AMERICAN MADE DINETTES
OVER 40 STYLES
30% TO 50% OFF NORMAL PRICES
HERE'S JUST ONE EXAMPLE
VALUE $495
$288

SELF-PROPELLED LAWNMOWER
DELUXE 22" STEEL DECK
• 3½ HP Tecumseh Engine • Front Baffles
• 8" Marlex Wheels with 9-Position Height Adjustment
NOW $169.99
VALUE $269.95

CASUAL & GOLF SLACKS
100% COTTON POLY/COTTON DUCK CLOTH BELTED OR ELASTIC BACK TERRIFIC ASSORTMENT
MENS
Wm F Farah
HAGGAR
VALUES $35
NOW $13.00 EACH

MODEL #737
• WHILE 250 LAST
• READY TO ASSEMBLE
Turco SWINGSET
• 2⅜" Diameter Frame • Weather Fighter Protection
• Patented Safety Strap Swings • Tubular steel trapese
• 8' Slide with High Side Rails
VALUE $299.99
NOW $148

SMOOTH TOP SETS
INNERSPRING MATTRESS AND FOUNDATION
ALL FIRST QUALITY
TWIN SIZE $88.88 SET
FULL SIZE $98.99 SET

DEPT. STORE BUY-OUT
SPORTSCOATS
SOLID COLORS • LINEN LOOKS
PATCH AND FLIP POCKETS
Levi's MENSWEAR
SIZES 38-44
VALUE $90.00
NOW $37.00

1131 CAMPBELL AVE.
EXIT 43 OFF I-95
WEST HAVEN CONNECTICUT
MON-SAT 10-9
SUNDAY 10-6

ROUTE 5
EAST WINDSOR CONNECTICUT
MON-SAT 10-9
SUNDAY 10-6

ROUTE 184
GROTON CONNECTICUT
MON-SAT 10-9
SUNDAY 10-6

WEBSTER SQUARE
BERLIN CONNECTICUT
MON-SAT 10-9
SUNDAY 10-6

HAMPSHIRE MALL
ROUTE 9
HADLEY MASSACHUSETTS
MON-SAT 10-9
SUNDAY 12-5

1 CANAL STREET
TURNERS FALLS MASSACHUSETTS
MON-SAT 10-9
SUNDAY 12-6

739 MEADOW ST.
CHICOPEE MASSACHUSETTS
MON-SAT 10-9
SUNDAY 12-6

FINANCING AVAILABLE
CASH OR PERSONAL CHECK
VISA DISCOVER MasterCard
SALE ENDS APRIL 6TH

PROTECT YOUR FUTURE
TeresA's
KrYptic
TroUt
Efficient exterminating

AMHERST CINEMA
ROGER & ME
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week
$2.50 with student ID
253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA

THE WORLD FOR SALE

from NEW YORK	round trips from
LONDON	$390
BERLIN	470
PARIS	458
HELSINKI	578
TOKYO	749
CARACAS	318
RIO	730

Taxes not included. Restrictions apply. One ways available. Work/Stud abroadprograms. Int'l Student ID'. EURAIL PASSES ISSUED ON THE SPOT!
FREE Student Travel Catalog
Council Travel
79 So. Pleasant Street
Amherst
413-256-1261

ARTS & LIVING

The universal language of Passion play, at FAC

By NICK OSTIS
Collegian Correspondent

One of the greatest works in the literature of Western music, J.S. Bach's St. John's Passion, will be performed tonight at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall.

The passion play features nationally acclaimed singer and faculty voice teacher John Humphrey as the Evangelist, the UMass Chamber Choir and several Western Massachusetts high school choirs.

UMass professor Wayne Abercrombie, who is directing the performance, has, according to Humphrey, "taken untold hours to translate this into an English text so that it will relate to the audience much better because you can understand all the things that are happening in the passion."

Abercrombie himself endorses the highly regarded passion play like this: "Bach understood what music can do, how it can express what words cannot. There is something in Bach which speaks to us all. You can experience the St. John Passion on a religious level, or a humanitarian, sensual, musical or symbolic level."

Adds Humphrey, "[Bach] is an international communicator. The genius of Bach is that he brings the work far beyond it's religious implications. It is a piece that has appeal for all people."

Humphrey, who regards the work as one of the 20 greatest of all time, is fully aware that this is not traditionally popular entertainment for generations of American's raised on sit-coms, rock 'n' roll, and cops and robbers dramas.

How do you get the uninitiated to attend a show like this? What does it offer? How will it enrich you?

His thoughts: "Whether it might be music, theater, art, whatever — I think you owe it to yourself to take advantage of the fact that these great pieces are now here and you can see them."

Humphrey loves living and teaching in this idyllic corner of the world, but he also maintains an active and varied performing schedule. "I divide my time between teaching and performing, which gives me an opportunity to meet people all over the country. It also helps me to be a better teacher because I'm not seeing what's happening in the rest of the country to see what the tendencies are, in what direction things are going."

Abercrombie and Humphrey will be joined by a luminous cast. David Ripley's (Jesus) repertoire include French troubadour songs and romantic works by Schubert and Schumann. Bruce Fifer, Director of Productions at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York, is often heard in New York's major concert halls.

Johnson Flucker, choirmaster at St. John the Divine, brings wide experience in opera, ensemble and Oratorio to the production. Thomas Bogdan has woven classical and popular music into his career, having sung with James Taylor and Judy Collins.

Michelle Eaton, a former student of Humphrey's and a UMass graduate, is establishing herself as a professional singer in Boston and has performed extensively with the University Chamber Choir in works such as Handel's Messiah and Bach's Magnificat.

Featured instrumentalists are Alice Robbins on viola da gamba and Mark Dirksen on organ.

Tickets for the St. John Passion are available at the Fine Arts Center Box Office (545-2511). Prices are $8 for general admission and $4 for students and senior citizens. On April 8, a second performance will take place at South Congragational Church in Springfield.

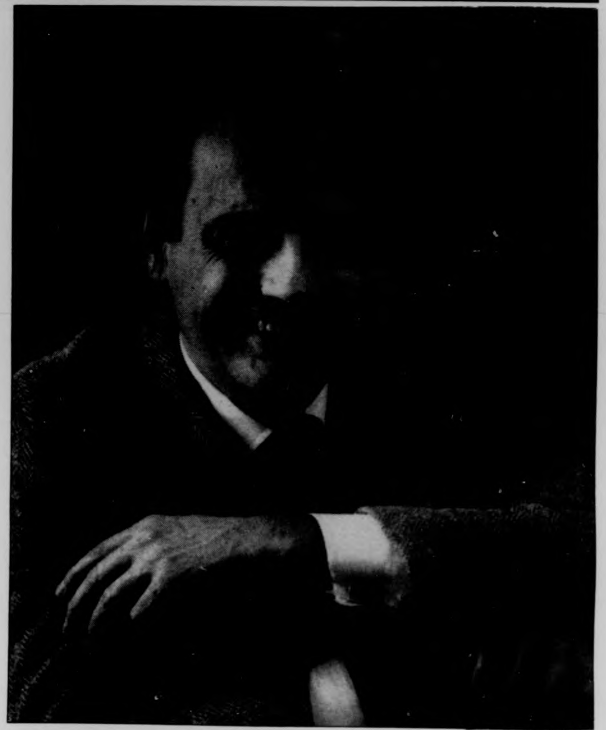

Photo courtesy of FAC

Jon Humphrey, soloist for tonight's performance of Bach's "St. John's Passion."

Recycle this newspaper

J.S. BACH
ST. JOHN PASSION

Friday, 30 March, 8:00 p.m.
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Jon Humphrey, Evangelist —
"...one of the great American singers of Bach's Evangelist roles..."
Robert Shaw, Music Director, Atlanta Symphony.

The University of Massachusetts Chamber Choir, Orchestra & Soloists
Wayne Abercrombie, conductor

University of Massachusetts, Amherst
$8 general admission, $4 students & senior citizens
Tickets available at Fine Arts Center Box Office
545-2511

Dance Stuff
220 N. Pleasant St. (Rear), Amherst, MA
For the Dancer, Gymnast, Fitness Minded
Fun Bodywear!
Great Shoes!
253-5201

Ben's Service, Inc.
BY THE BRIDGE IN SUNDERLAND
dial 665-3344
Mass. Insp. #925
Certified Mechanic in:
Alignments, Shocks, Tune-ups, Brakes, Lubes, Mufflers, Batteries, Tires
BEN'S LOT
24½ HOUR Local - Long Distance TOWING
Barre Tozloski

New Books at 40-80%
OFF List Price!
Paperback and Hardcover
Hundreds of new arrivals now being shelved. Over 40,000 used and discount new books
ALL AT 40-80% off
New List Price!
VALLEY BOOKS
Downtown Amherst
OPEN 7 days a week 256-1508
VISA/MC Check

the COMEDY ZONE
PEKING GARDEN RESTAURANT
Route 9 Hadley
Next to Hadley Subaru
FRI - SAT MAR. 30 - 31 8:30 p.m.
Come early for Dinner . . .
It's hard to laugh with a mouthful of food!
$6.00 Admission
From New Jersey
KEVIN CALHOUN
Co-headlines with Steve Bulyga
plus Special Guests
Monday - Thursday 5 - 8 p.m.
All you can eat
BUFFET
$5.99
COMEDY RESERVATIONS
586-1202 585-8615
11:30 - 3 p.m.
All You Can Eat
SUNDAY BRUNCH
$6.99
Sunday April 1
COMEDY OPEN STAGE
7:30 p.m. - 10 p.m.
Host: Izzy Gesell
All comics welcome
Sign up before 7:15
All Comedy Info
585-8615
20% OFF DINNERS FOR COMEDY PATRONS
All Ages - All shows

amc THEATRES
$3.50 TWILITE SHOW LIMITED TO SEATING
MT. FARMS 4 MT FARMS MALL 584-9153

JOE VERSUS THE VOLCANO
TOM HANKS
MEG RYAN
PG
Fri at (4:45 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:00
Sat at 2:30 (4:45 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:00
Sun at 12:15, 2:45 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30

Love...Hard To Find.
LOVE AT LARGE
PG13
Fri at (4:45 at 3.50) 7:00, 9:45
Sat at 2:15 (4:45 at 3.50) 7:00, 9:45
Sun at 12:00, 2:45 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:15
Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:15

DANA CARVEY
OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS
R
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 2:15 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:15, 2:30 (6:15 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (6:15 at 3.50) 8:30
Special Engagement - No Passes or Coupons Accepted

HOUSE PARTY
R
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 9:45
Sat at 2:00 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:15, 9:45
Sun at 12:00, 2:30 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:15
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:15

HAMPSHIRE 6 HAMPSHIRE MALL 584-7550

WHAT WENT WRONG?
LORD OF THE FLIES
R
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sat at 1:45 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sun at 12:30, 3:15 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45

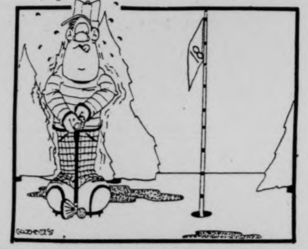
Glory Civil War Drama
R
Fri at (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 9:45
Sat at 1:15 (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 9:45
Sun at 12:00, 2:45 (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
Mon-Thurs at (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15

This Is No Cartoon!
TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES
PG
Fri at (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sat at 12:15, 2:15 (4:30 at 3.50) 7:30, 10:15
Sun at 11:45, 1:45, 3:45 (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
Mon-Thurs at (6:00 at 3.50) 8:45
Special Engagement - No Passes or Coupons Accepted

THE HUNT FOR RED OCTOBER
PG
Fri at (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 9:45
Sat at 1:15 (4:00 at 3.50) 7:00, 9:45
Sun at 12:00, 2:45 (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15
Mon-Thurs at (5:30 at 3.50) 8:15

DRIVING MISS DAISY
PG
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 1:30 (4:15 at 3,50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:15, 3:00 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30

PRETTY WOMAN
RICHARD GERE
JULIA ROBERTS
R
Fri at (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sat at 2:00 (4:15 at 3.50) 7:15, 10:00
Sun at 12:15, 3:00 (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Mon-Thurs at (5:45 at 3.50) 8:30
Special Engagement - No Passes or Coupons Accepted



INDOOR MINIATURE GOLF
THIS MAN IS PUTTING FOR:
A - BIRDIE
B - BOGEY
C - PAR

BRING THIS AD IN THURSDAY-SATURDAY
GIVE US THE RIGHT ANSWER & WIN A FREE
ROUND OF MINI-GOLF WITH A REGULAR
PURCHASE OF MINI-GOLF.
BIRDIES & BOGEYS
HOLYOKE MALL - LOWER LEVEL - 536-3765
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
OFFER EXPIRES MARCH 31. 1990

FOUR SEASONS
SPRING SPECIALS

BEER

BUD LIGHT 12 oz. CANS	10.99
ROLLING ROCK BAR BTLS.	10.99
PIELS 12 oz. BTLS.	6.99
BECKS 12 pk. BTLS.	8.99

AND...
THE NO MONEY LEFT AFTER SPRING BREAK SPECIAL
KNICKERBOCKER 12 oz. CANS
SIX PK. $1.99—12 PK. $3.95

LIQUOR

FOUR SEASONS VODKA AND GIN 1.75L	8.99
ABSOLUTE VODKA 750L	9.99
POPOV VODKA 1.75L	10.99
MYSTERY LABEL PEPPERMINT SCHNAPPS 1.75L	9.99

WINE

KORBEL BRUT and XDRY	8.99
WHITE ZIN SALE - YOUR FAVORITES	3.99
WHITE SUTTEL HOME, GLEN ELLEN AND NAPA RIDGE

JUST ARRIVED

1989 BEAUJOLAIS, GEORGE DUBOEUF	6.99

SHREDDERS ALERT!

Come out to Stratton Ski Area, March 30- April 1 and watch the best snowboarders in the country compete in the SUPPLEX U.S. Open Snowboarding Championships!

And...on Saturday, March 31, it's your chance to try snowboarding at the spectacular I SKI Boarderline Madness Day with FREE clinics, snowboard demos, fun races and much more!

I SKI Presents: I SKI Boarderline Madness!

WHEN: March 31st, 9AM Registration
WHERE: I SKI Tent - Base of Stratton Mtn.
Race: Tyrolian Trail
WHAT: FREE Clinics, Prizes, Demos, Fun Races and much more!

I SKI
Black Diamond

Stop by your local participating I SKI retailer for CLINIC TICKETS and sign up for the Grand Prize Sweepstakes for an all-expense-paid trip to Aspen, CO!

Summer Conference Housing

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Summer Conference Housing coordinates dormitory housing for 8,000 - 10,000 conferees during June, July and August. Employment with SCH provides work experience in an academic setting, an introduction to the hospitality industry and an opportunity to earn money.

OVER FIFTY POSITIONS AVAILABLE!!
The job titles include:

Registrar
Operations Co-Supervisor
Accommodations Supervisor
Operations Crew Member
Office Manager
Key Control Supervisor
Desk Clerk

Salary Range: $5.25 - $6.25 Per Hour
Work Schedules: Part & full time openings available, including all shifts, weekdays and weekends

APPLICATIONS AND
GENERAL INFORMATION AVAILABLE
FROM MARCH 27, 1990 - APRIL 10, 1990
AT
The University Conference Services Office
918 Campus Center (Ninth Floor)

APPLICATIONS ACCEPTED UNTIL:
4 p.m., Tuesday, April 10, 1990

The University of Massachusetts is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer

---

Beautiful South = beautiful song

By AL KAUFMAN
Collegian Staff

Welcome to the Beautiful South
The Beautiful South
Elektra
****

The Housemartins were great. They were fun, danceable, had incredible harmonies and were politically correct. Not many bands can get you itching to shake your booty while they bash Margaret Thatcher, as these British boys did on "The People Who Grinned Themselves to Death."

But alas, all good things must come to an end, and so did the Housemartins. Lead singer Paul Heaton wanted to take his beautiful vocals in a direction that the band did not. He wanted to expand. In The Beautiful South he gets that chance, and the results are breathtaking.

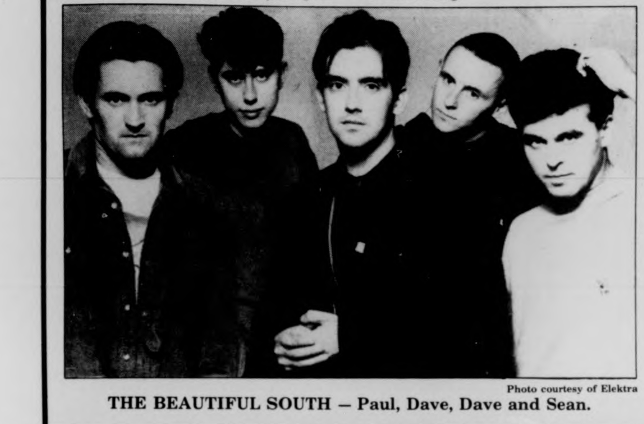

Photo courtesy of Elektra

THE BEAUTIFUL SOUTH — Paul, Dave, Dave and Sean.

For those who loved the Housemartins, be forewarned. Although the band is fronted by Heaton and former Housemartin drummer, Dave Hemmingway (who put down his sticks in favor of singing), songs such as the boppy gem "Happy Hour" are few and far between on Welcome to.... These songs are wonderful mini-masterpieces of voice that slowly grow on you.

"Woman on the Wall" is a prime example of the album's brilliance. Surrounded by a lush, melodic instrumentation that borrows from Paul Simon's Graceland, Heaton sings of the evils of alcoholism ("He was just a social drinker but social every night").

Equally as pretty is "I'll Sail this Ship Alone," a simple break-up song in which Heaton doesn't just sing the lyrics, he caresses them, allowing the song to reach heights that a singer of lesser talent could not.

But much of the Housemartin humor and sarcasm is still very much evident. One must only look at the title "I Love You (But You're Boring)" to realize this. But there's also the hook-filled "Love Is...," which ends with the Beatles' chorus of "She Love's You." Heaton eventually transforms the three words into "I love me." The song also has the infectious chorus of, "Whilst we love, please don't scream my name."

In "Song for Whoever," the sarcasm drips off of lines such as, "Oh Cathy, Oh Alison, Oh Phillipa, Oh Sue/You make me so much money I wrote this song for you."

Everything is fair game for Heaton's poison pen. He attacks the entertainment industry for utilizing too much sex and not enough talent in "Straight in at 37." With lines like, "It's low in the neckline and high in the charts," and "Behind over matter keeps the crowds delighted," it's clear that Heaton's pen is a venomous as a cobra.

The first single in the U.S., "You Keep it All In," which features the vocals of Briana Corrigan of the Anthill Runaways, is damn close to a Housemartin song with horns. Upbeat and bouncy, is a cute argument between a husband and wife that contains dark, Morrisey-esque humor.

The one song that really doesn't work is the cover of the Pebbles dance hit, "Girlfriend." The Beautiful South version is a bit leaden, but at least the idea was fun.

The greatest thing about this album is that for practically every song there is a line in it that will play in the back of your head for the rest of the day, begging you to sing it. It can lead to some embarrassing situations, but it's worth it just to hear these brilliantly sophisticated pop nuggets.

Albums are rated on a one to five star basis, with five stars being the highest rating.

Shakespeare trips up

By JON DRUKMAN
Collegian Correspondent

It's really pathetic. Music seems to be falling straight down the tubes. The major labels promote generic pop acts and the so-called "collegiate" scene is not better.

Take Scott Merritt's new album "Violet and Black." We are sick of these unimaginative guitar/bass/drum bands with their clean, airy vocals mouth "important" lyrics. Merritt sounds like Bruce Cockburn, except that Cockburn has written a few songs that we want to listen. We're sure that somebody out there likes this stuff because God knows people keep cranking it out like there's no tomorrow. Please, somebody help us...

DISC JUNKIE

The press for Trip Shakespeare's upcoming album says that it features the "superhuman harmonies of brothers Matt and Dan Wilson." Well, we've heard much better harmonies than these, which are distinctly second-rate. Their voices merge together and sound uncannily like...David Byrne, of all people, only not quite as good. What else do they claim? Oh yeah, " intricate, occasionally funny lyrics," "beautiful noise," and a "brilliant warped world view." Could've fooled us. It sounds kinda like second rate Simon and Garfunkel or something. The press kit also asks the immortal question "are you Shakespearienced?" If you're not, count your blessings; we plan to check into Health Services forthwith and see if maybe there's something they can do for us.

Finally, something we can sink our teeth into here. Renegade Soundwave's album, Soundclash, is fairly easy to locate, and we suggest that you do just that. Like all worthwhile pursuits, it takes a little bit of effort to get your brain adjusted to the RSE approach. Imagine the Fall meets Adrian Sherwood with a light dash of Pop Will Eat Itself thrown in for flavoring. Got it? We sincerely doubt it — you have to hear it to believe it. You want to talk "beautiful noise?" This is the real stuff here! Hip hop rhythms, slowed down and married to a dub bass so that it sounds vaguely like industrial reggae or something, combined with droned-out stream of consciousness vocals. Pretty much every song is interesting in some way or another, from the Western themed "Lucky Luke" to the mechanical pinging of "On TV." There's also an impossibly strange cover of "Can't Get Used To Losing You" with plucked strings reminiscent of Enya's "Orinoco Flow (Sail Away)."

Renegade Soundwave are clearly the winners in this week's Junkie sweepstakes. Take them with you everywhere you go and weird out the people around you. And that's an order, cheese!

THE FIGHT FOR ABORTION RIGHTS & REPRODUCTIVE FREEDOM
4th Annual Conference for Student Activists
APRIL 6-8. 1990
Hampshire College, Amherst, MA

Friday eve.: 7:30 p.m. Women speak about their abortion experiences, legal and illegal
Saturday: 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Speakers and workshops on a range of reproductive rights issues
Sunday: 9:30 a.m. Strategy meeting to discuss campus organizing

Sponsored by the Civil Liberties and Public Policy Program at Hampshire College

For more information call 413-549-4600 ext 645 or 719
All sessions are in Franklin Patterson Hall
FREE, OPEN TO PUBLIC

"SATURDAY NIGHT LIVE'S"
DANA CARVEY

Eddie Farrell is a con man.

He's out of luck, out of time and out of money.

But he'll be ready when...

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

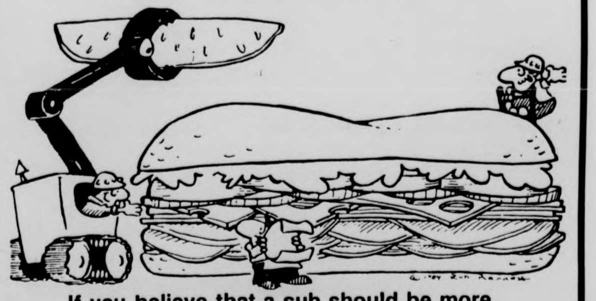
In the world of cons...
Eddie's a pro.

IMAGINE ENTERTAINMENT Presents
A BRAD GREY/MELEDANDRI-GORDON COMPANY Production
A DONALD PETRIE Film DANA CARVEY
"OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS"
TODD GRAFF · JULIA CAMPBELL and
ROBERT LOGGIA Music Supervised By BECKY MANCUSO and
TIM SEXTON Executive Producer BRAD GREY
Written By MITCHEL KATLIN & NAT BERNSTEIN
Produced By MARK R. GORDON and CHRISTOPHER MELEDANDRI
Directed By DONALD PETRIE

IMAGINE PG-13 PARENTS STRONGLY CAUTIONED
A UNIVERSAL RELEASE

OPENS FRIDAY, MARCH 30TH AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU

Can we build one for you?
serving "quality" foot long subs.



If you believe that a sub should be more than just a lot of bread. It's time to visit
THE AMHERST DELICATESSEN
Amherst Carriage Shops - 549-6314
open till 10 pm M, TU, & W - till 2 am TH, F, S ★ REMINDER - WE DELIVER ★

1 Week.
3 Credits.
1 Number.

617-891-2800

Bentley College just made it much easier to finish your degree requirements with new, intensive 1-week, 3-credit courses offered in May, June and July. The courses range from Advertising to Shakespeare and they're scheduled to give you plenty of time to enjoy your summer break. So take 5 minutes, make 1 call and learn how you can turn 1 week into 3 credits. Call 891-2800 today. Our first 1-week course begins May 14.

Bentley College
School of Continuing and Professional Studies
Waltham, MA 02154-4705

Don't forget to ask about our traditional 7-week summer courses.

AMHERST DROP ZONE
ARMY/NAVY STORE
at 103 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst ★ 256-0039
(behind Barts/Next to Panda East)

SHORTS IN STOCK!
Post-Break Specials!
German Fatique shorts $19.95
GI Fatigue shorts $9.95
ON SALE NOW!
OPEN 7 days a week
Mon-Sat 10-6pm Sun 12-5pm

ACADEMY of MUSIC NORTHAMPTON Opera House 584-8435
8TH WEEK—FILM ENDS THURS. APR. 5
(Note: NO SHOWING THIS SATURDAY)
Curtain at 7:00 and 9:00
BEST ACTOR DANIEL DAY-LEWIS
BEST SUPPORTING ACTRESS BRENDA FRICKER
"A TITANIC TRIUMPH! A MOTION PICTURE THAT EXPLODES WITH PASSION, HUMILITY AND LIFE." —REX REED
"ENORMOUSLY ENTERTAINING! TWO VERY ENTHUSIASTIC THUMBS UP!." —SISKEL&EBERT
Daniel Day-Lewis
MY LEFT FOOT
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

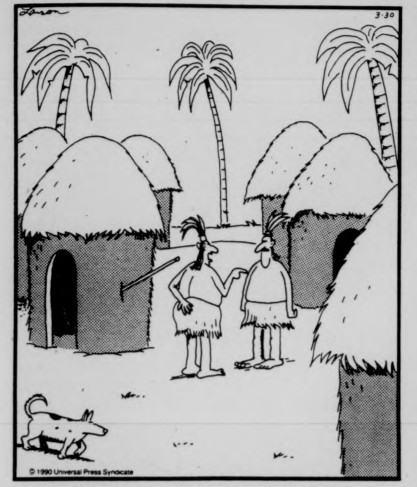
RUSSELL'S
DISCOUNT LIQUORS DISCOUNT
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Featuring IMPORTED Beers at Domestic Pricing

Kahlua $10.99 750 ml
Foster's Lager 3.99 six 14.95 cs.
$13.99 1.75 L Smirnoff 80°
Knickerbocker 8.95 cse. 16 oz.
Pilsner Urquell 4.99 six 18.99 cse.
Molson's 7.99 12 pk.
1/2 Kegs Beer $23.95 & up
Keystone $4.99 12 pk.
Beer of the Month
French Kronenbourg
$3.99 6 pk.; $14.99 cse.
Napa Ridge White Zinfandel 3 bots./$10.99
Busch Suitcase 9.99
Off Campus Delivery 253-5441
$3.70 6 pk. $13.99 cse. Hopfenperle
ALL BEERS PLUS DEPOSIT

WHERE?
...do I go to see the value-packed GIANT line of bikes?
Valley Bicycles!
...do I go to learn all about the new All-Terrain bikes?
Valley Bicycles!
...do I go for courteous, professional bicycle service?
VALLEY BICYCLES LTD.
319 Main Street, Amherst
256-0880
Store Hours: Monday-Saturday 10a.m.-6p.m.

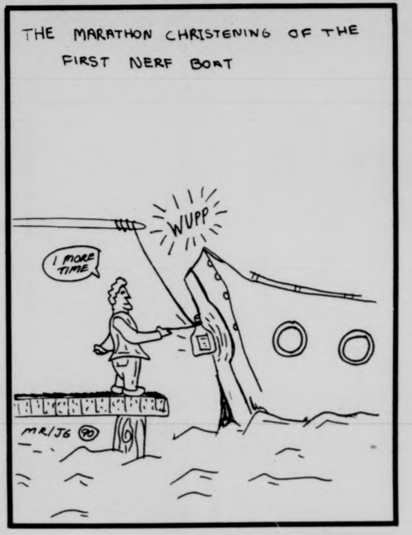
THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



Larson
3-30
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

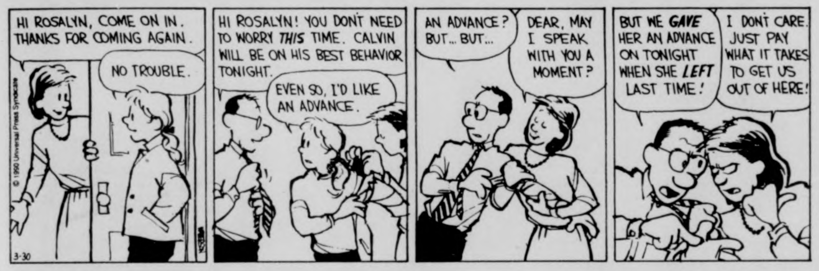
"OK, Zukutu -- that does it! Remember, those who live in grass houses shouldn't throw spears."

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



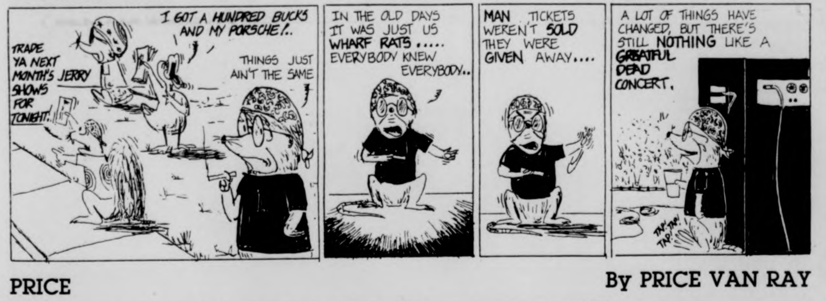
THE MARATHON CHRISTENING OF THE FIRST NERF BOAT
WUPP
1 MORE TIME
MR/JG 90

CALVIN AND HOBBES
By BILL WATTERSON



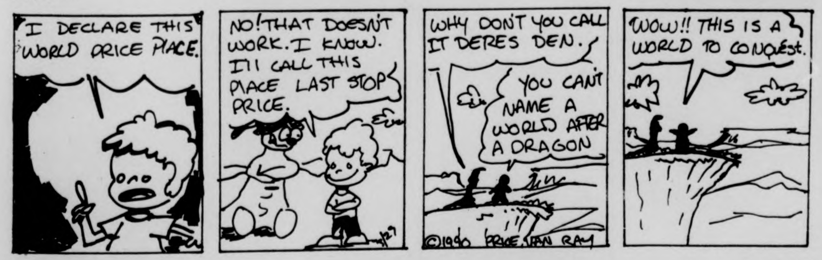
HI ROSALYN, COME ON IN. THANKS FOR COMING AGAIN.
NO TROUBLE.
HI ROSALYN! YOU DON'T NEED TO WORRY THIS TIME. CALVIN WILL BE ON HIS BEST BEHAVIOR TONIGHT.
EVEN SO, I'D LIKE AN ADVANCE.
AN ADVANCE? BUT... BUT...
DEAR, MAY I SPEAK WITH YOU A MOMENT?
BUT WE GAVE HER AN ADVANCE ON TONIGHT WHEN SHE LEFT LAST TIME!
I DON'T CARE. JUST PAY WHAT IT TAKES TO GET US OUT OF HERE!
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
3-30

IGGMAN
By DREW AQUILINA



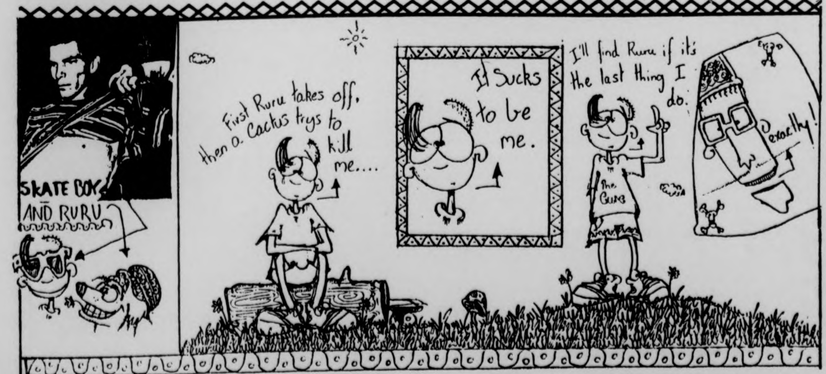
TRADE YA NEXT MONTH'S JERRY SHOWS FOR TONIGHT!
I GOT A HUNDRED BUCKS AND MY PORSCHE!..
THINGS JUST AIN'T THE SAME
IN THE OLD DAYS IT WAS JUST US WHARF RATS..... EVERYBODY KNEW EVERYBODY..
MAN TICKETS WEREN'T SOLD THEY WERE GIVEN AWAY....
A LOT OF THINGS HAVE CHANGED, BUT THERE'S STILL NOTHING LIKE A GREATFUL DEAD CONCERT.
TAP! TAP! TAP!

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



I DECLARE THIS WORLD PRICE PLACE.
NO! THAT DOESN'T WORK. I KNOW. I'll CALL THIS PLACE LAST STOP PRICE.
WHY DON'T YOU CALL IT DERES DEN.
YOU CAN'T NAME A WORLD AFTER A DRAGON
©1990 PRICE VAN RAY
WOW!! THIS IS A WORLD TO CONQUEST.

NIPPLE
By PITT



SKATE BOY AND RURU
First Ruru takes off, then a Cactus trys to kill me....
It Sucks to be me.
I'll find Ruru if it's the last thing I do.
The Gums
Exactly!

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

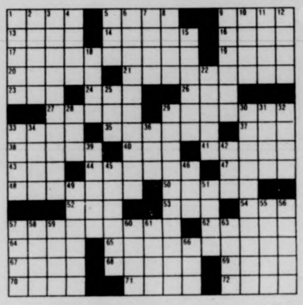
ACROSS
1 Slangy data
5 Pacific Coast valley
9 Hunk of cheese
13 Standard for a group
14 Slumber disturber
16 Fleshy fruit
17 Holiday treats
19 Baltic Sea feeder
20 Issues
21 Shrinking
23 Follower of 57 Across
24 Irving or Carter
26 — Lit. course
27 Seer's deck
29 Rescue site in Uganda
33 Foot lead-in
35 Claw
37 Boxing VIP
38 Guinness and Waugh
40 Angora
41 Incident
43 Baseball's Preacher
44 Artist's medium
47 Actor Richardson and others
48 Author Madame —: 1766-1817
50 Prepared a pippin
52 Printer's measures
53 Cuckoo's relative
54 Wide's companion
57 Musician in motley
62 1938 Nobelist in physics
64 Barren
65 Pomelo
67 Author Vidal
68 The south wind
69 — day's wonder
70 Unusual person
71 African fox
72 Soissons seasons

DOWN
1 Construe
2 Actress Shearer
3 Papaw and persimmon
4 Leave out
5 White House org.
6 — geometry
7 Dawdle
8 Brother of Eris
9 Type of cake
10 Napoleon victory site
11 So be it
12 Glacier's calf
15 Ancient ascetic
18 Autocrat
22 — nous
25 Swab
28 Former energy org.
29 Genus of algae
30 Bounty's cargo
31 British politician Tony Wedgwood —
32 Newts
33 Minstrel
34 Lotion ingredient
36 Certain vote
39 Rascal
42 Contest
45 Quit
46 Before committal
49 Former British air chief marshall
51 Jazz phrase
55 Ammonia compound
56 Ceremonies
57 Half of a Samoan island
58 Press
59 Green land
60 Indonesian craft
61 Diner sign
63 Osprey's cousin
66 Ending with Japan or Siam

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

B	O	S	C		H	O	P	E	S		S	T	A	G
O	M	A	R		O	B	E	A	H		P	O	U	R
R	I	C	E		T	E	R	R	E	H	A	U	T	E
S	T	R	A	F	E	S		S	P	A	R	R	O	W
		A	T	A	L	E			H	I	T
O	R	M	E	R	S		O	V	E	R	A	L	L	S
G	E	E	S	E		B	R	E	R		N	O	O	N
R	A	N			P	A	C	E	D			S	R	O
E	C	T	O		R	E	A	R		C	L	A	R	O
S	T	O	P	P	E	R	S		P	L	A	N	E	T
			P	E	T			A	L	O	N	G
I	M	P	O	S	E	S		S	A	D	D	E	S	T
C	A	R	S	O	N	C	I	T	Y		E	L	L	A
E	L	I	E		D	O	N	E	E		R	E	I	N
R	I	G	S		S	W	A	R	D		S	S	T	S

3/30/90



1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65 66 67 68 69 70 71 72

©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 3/30/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Deli ham on roll Quiche lorraine	Chinese beef and vegies Southern style scrod
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Garden chili Quiche lorraine	Spuds-fungi delight Southern style scrod

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Complete your shopping and household chores early in the day. An influential person pulls strings for you behind the scenes. Dress attractively to command attention tonight. A duo may be a mismatch.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Choose your words carefully and you will achieve the results you want. It is still smart to be thrifty. Private meetings could point out valuable changes you should make. A friend shares "inside" information.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A financial error is possible today; check stubs. Your goals will be easier to achieve if you team up with a friend or group. An introduction thrills you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A long-term goal can be realized now, probably through private means. Heed the advice of wise allies. People miles away can be wonderful assistants. Mix business with pleasure. Romance is delirious!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Check your budget before splurging. Confidential financial dealings can pay fine dividends. An agreement could blossom into a wonderful undertaking. Someone "in the know" makes a valuable new friend.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your financial instincts are excellent now. Acts of generosity will greatly enhance your popularity. Promote greater harmony at home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A partnership and your family life will be affected by today's events. It may take a crisis to show you what is best for a close relationship. Keep your sense of humor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A vibrant new professional relationship is featured now. Strengthen family ties by doing small but important things. A community campaign or political project is launched. Your ESP is right on target.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You are in a feisty mood! Save any criticism of others for another time. Postpone making major decisions and do something nice for yourself. Recheck schedules if traveling tomorrow. Romance is iffy.

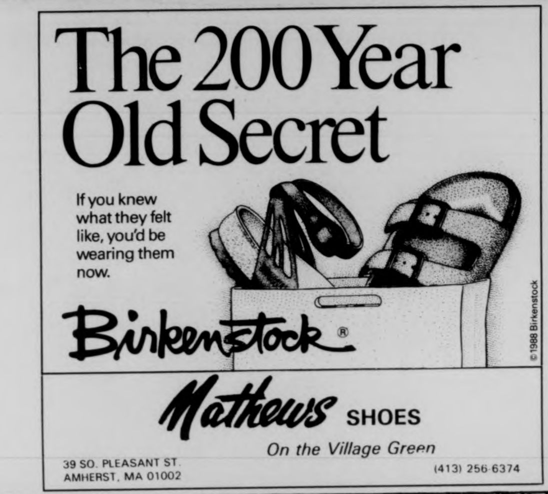
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You are on the same wavelength as your partner today. Time devoted to shared interests will strengthen family bonds. Pooling funds could enhance your pleasure. A relationship changes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Hasty purchases can cause regrets; be more practical. Look to newcomers for a promising plan of action. An older person will command your attention tonight. Be a good listener.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Special relationships need extra support. A shopping spree may be part of your plans. An act of charity will be richly rewarded. Dine out in an inexpensive restaurant tonight.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor..............Michael Wester
Copy Editor..............Gayle Long
Layout Technician..............Teri Stahma
Photo Technician..............Richard DuCree
Production Supervisor..............Terry Starmer
Typesetter..............Peter Leon
Production..............Dudely Doug, Manly Mike, Awesome Arnie, and Ferris makes a triumphant return as Terry goes God knows Ware.



The 200 Year Old Secret

If you knew what they felt like, you'd be wearing them now.

Birkenstock®

©1988 Birkenstock

Mathews SHOES
On the Village Green
39 SO. PLEASANT ST.
AMHERST, MA 01002
(413) 256-6374

SOMETHING IS ALWAYS HAPPENING AT THE HADLEY PUB
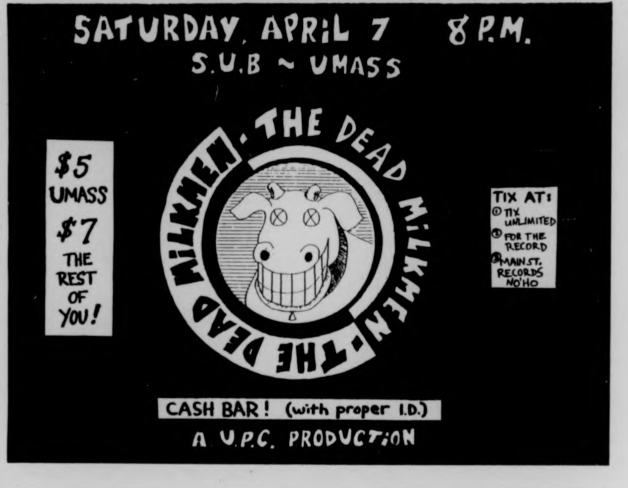
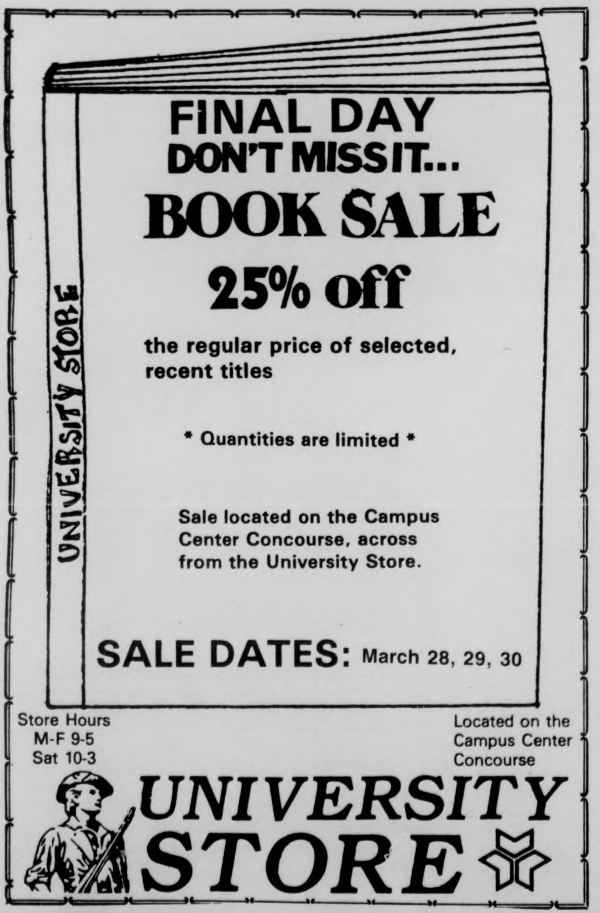
50¢ DRAFTS
REGGAE WEEK
Tonight: Arthur James and the Truth
Saturday Night: "New Horizons"

湘園
PANDA EAST
CHINESE RESTAURANT
We Bring Chinatown To You
OPEN HOURS: Mon.-Thurs. 11:30 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
Fri. & Sat. 11:30 a.m.-11:00p.m.
Sunday 2:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m.
LUNCH HOURS: Mon.-Sat. 11:30 a.m.-3:00 p.m.
103 N. Pleasant St. • Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 256-8923 (413) 256-8924



SATURDAY, APRIL 7 8 P.M.
S.U.B ~ UMASS
THE DEAD MILKMEN · THE DEAD MILKMEN · THE DEAD MILKMEN
$5 UMASS
$7 THE REST OF YOU!
TIX AT:
① TIX UNLIMITED
② FOR THE RECORD
③ MAIN ST. RECORDS NO'HO
CASH BAR! (with proper I.D.)
A U.P.C. PRODUCTION



FINAL DAY
DON'T MISS IT...
BOOK SALE
25% off
the regular price of selected, recent titles
* Quantities are limited *
Sale located on the Campus Center Concourse, across from the University Store.
SALE DATES: March 28, 29, 30
UNIVERSITY STORE
Store Hours
M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3
Located on the Campus Center Concourse
UNIVERSITY STORE

PUBLIC FORUM

Friday, March 30

2:30 p.m. in rooms 904-908 CC

Issues will include:

— The creation of a gay, lesbian, bisexual page
— Existing pages

MANDATORY for all Collegian staff members

---

men's gymnastics

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 16

— we were just starting to pull some events together.

"I'm looking forward to training for next year."

"We had a couple of days off (since EIGLs) — we needed a good rest during the season and we weren't able to get one," Russ said. "When I came here Monday, I felt good after having a few days off.

"This was just a fun meet to try to get some scores for guys who needed them," Russ said.

Russ was referring to the NCAA Regional finals at Penn State on April 7, where four UMass gymnasts have strong shots at qualifying. The top six individuals in each event qualify.

Russ, who is tied for sixth place in the east with teammate Eggers, scored a 9.5 on rings. He was originally awarded a 9.45, but the judges moved him up after a written protest by Johnson.

"It was on my mind, knowing I was right on the edge (of qualifying)," Russ said. "I was just trying to do the best routine I could."

Sophomore Cal Booker, ranked third in the east on floor and fifth on vaulting, scored a 9.4 on his vault routine, offsetting a somewhat disappointing 8.5 on floor.

"I was pleased, very pleased (with vaulting)," Booker said. "(NCAAs) were my whole motivation tonight, so I was psyched up for the meet because of that."

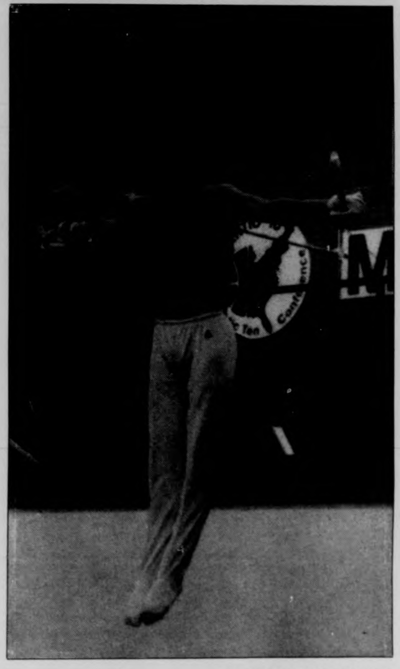
Freshman Steve Christensen, ranked sixth on pommel horse, solidified his chances of going to Penn State with a 9.5 on the horse. Christensen also showed that he is a big part of the Minuteman's future, scoring a 53.55 on all-around to lead the UMass effort.

Eggers, tied for sixth on still rings, scored a 9.35 on that event, slightly below his 9.43 average.

The night received a fitting finish when Balocki scored a dazzling 9.45 on high bar on the last routine of the meet.

Balocki seemed to speak for himself and his other senior teammates as a he exulted in the thrill of his performance.

"This is great — team competition is awesome," Balocki said. "I'll miss being with the team."



Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

UMass' men's gymnastics beat East Stroudsburg last night in Boyden gym.

B's clinch Adams title, best record

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins wrapped up the Adams Division title and clinched the NHL's best record as well last night as Craig Janney's goal with 3:09 left gave them a 3-2 victory over the Hartford Whalers.

Boston, which has had the best record in the league and the Adams Division lead since mid-January, is 46-25-7 and has 99 points. Calgary, with 95, can match that, but Boston would win a tiebreaker because it would have more wins.

Buffalo, 43-27-8 after beating Minnesota 4-2 last night, is in second place in the Adams Division with 94 points. All three teams have two games left in the regular season that ends Sunday.

The last time Boston had the NHL's best record was 1983. Its last Adams crown came the following season.

In a well-played preview of a first-round playoff series, Boston had the most scoring opportunities last night.

Janney's 24th goal of the season spoiled a spectacular performance by Hartford goalie Peter Sidorkiewicz, who faced 40 shots. Boston's Reggie Lemelin faced 22.

The winning goal followed a 50-foot shot by Brian Propp that Sidorkiewicz saved. The rebound bounced in front of the net. Sidorkiewicz skated out about 10 feet and poked the puck away.

But Janney, who had an apparent second-period goal waved off because the whistle had blown, got to it before the goalie could scramble back into position and lifted the puck into the upper left side of the net, giving Boston its first lead.

Hartford's Sylvain Cote and Boston's Cam Neely scored in the first period. In the second period, Scott Young scored for Hartford and Bob Sweeney scored for Boston.

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

ANIMAL RIGHTS COALITION meeting Sunday April 1 at 7 PM in Dukes meeting Room in the Student Union

HEY ORCHARD HILL
Come to Sweets & More for some real food -Subs!!

JUGGLING CLUB has a decent room this week (CC 174-76), so show up from 3-6 and learn how to juggle today!!

LOCAL MENSA GATHERING TOC Restaurant Tues. 4/3/90 6:30 PM

PAGAN STUDENTS weekly meeting Sunday April 1st Call 6-6283 for info

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BED AND BREAKFAST. Downtown Amherst. Ideal for visiting parents/friends. 549-5961

GREENOUGH SNACK BAR proudly introduces fantabulously delicious chicken cutlet and meatball subs. Hah! and you said we aren't progressive!

WE SCREENPRINT YOUR DESIGN or message on T-shirts, sweats, boxers...At low prices and fast delivery. "Call us collect" Connecticut Advertising 203-668-1158.

APARTMENT SPECIAL

A LIMITED TIME ONLY, Northwood Apts. is offering a 2 Bdr. apt. for the price of a 1 Bdr. For more information on this special offer, please call Lanice at 665-3856. Rent an apt. for March and receive $100.00 off our first months rent. We have student short term leases and free bus service every 15 minutes on weekdays to UMASS and Amherst. (Available to new residents only)

AUTO FOR SALE

$1,000'S SAVED! Government seized/surplus vehicles. Low as $100! BMW, Cadillac, Mercedes. Call now for more information 1-318-828-4989. Ext G1283 24 Hours

1981 AUDI 4000 Good condition
$1000 Call Adam at 549-0920

1981 CHEVY CHEVETTE
Runs good For info 256-6920

1983 FORD ESCORT WAGON 52000 miles excellent condition air cond recent tune-up 1800.00 256-0933

AMAZING 79 CHEVY CAPRICE
Classic. Only 81Kmi, new tires, brakes, engine belts, muffler, fine tuned transmission. Very well maintained. Must see. Only $1900 or Best Offer. Call Lori 549-4291.

CREDIT CARDS

VISA regardless of credit history. Fascinating recording reveals FREE info. (413) 549-6149, ext. C-100. ANYTIME.

CUT YOUR PHONE BILL IN HALF!

CALLING 508 AND 617. Join the Fone Home Club Today! Call Now! 549-3737

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR RENT

LARGE SOUTHWOOD TOWNHOUSE with new carpeting will sell furniture
Call 256-6829

MARTHA'S VINEYARD Oak Bluffs Tivoli Inn Bed and Breakfast. Reasonable rates, convenient location, charming rooms. 508-693-7928.

MOVE OFF CAMPUS into a great apartment. Take over our lease June 1st. New rugs and paint, partially furnished, cheap rent. Directly in front of bus stop. Southwood Townhouse. Call after ten weekdays 253-2566.

ONE ROOM FOR RENT in Puffton Village. Call 549-1809

QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR lease/security deposit deductions? Questions about subletting/assigning leases? Questions about the condition of your new house or apartment? Contact the Legal Services Center, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

ROOM IN 4BR. HOUSE, 2 car garage, pool, tennis court, fireplace. Shared kitchen & bath. $250 mo. Grad. student pref. Call Alison eves. 256-6930

FOR SALE

CASIO "BOSS" 64K data directory phone numbers, scheduling and memo functions among others. Pocket size great tool for faculty or student
Mint with instructions.
Was $220, asking $150.
Call Dave at 546-6402

CD HOLDERS holds 70 CD's handcrafted woodwork $29 Call Jen 549-5664

COMPUTER PRINTER for sale: Epson LX-80 Like new. $100 or BO 542-2917.

ELECTRIC GUITAR with hardcase and amplifier $250 Call 546-4297

MARSHALL STUDIO 15 all tube amp. exc. condition, new mesh-B. tubes. 546-6677 $320.

WOMEN OF SPRING BREAK
CALENDAR
limited signed edition
only $5.00!!
call 549-5317
546-9003

FOUND

FOUND LEATHER JACKET at Barsies on Sunday 3/25. Please call to identify. Eileen 253-0754

HELP WANTED

COUNSELORS coed camp in Berkshires 220 campers/85 staff has openings for head and assistant instructors in: Waterfront WSI, Head small crafts, Video filmaking, Tennis, Lacrosse, Arts & Crafts, Softball, Basketball, Computers, Hiking, Back packing, Drama, Radio station AM, Waterskiing, Sailing, Horseback riding (western), and bunk unit heads. Good salaries. Friendly atmosphere. June 19-Aug 20 Contact: Paul Krouner 617-964-1912. Call collect days 9-5

LIVE-IN HELPER for Cape Cod beach house. Dishwashing, cleaning, errands. Flexible hours. Room, board, and $150 a week. July 1 to September 1. For more information call collect 202-338-2950, Monday or Friday between 5PM and 8PM.

MODELS
2 yrs. to adult. No experience necessary. Selecting new faces for promotion to local and major advertisers. Presentations at 5 or 7 PM sharp on Weds., April 4 at Northampton Hilton I-91 Exit 18. Minors must be with legal guardian. Highlite modeling NYC & Scranton, PA (717) 346-3166

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SUMMER JOBS TO SAVE ENVIRONMENT Earn $2500-$3500. National campaign positions to pass Clean Air Act, stop toxic pollution, tighten pesticide controls and promote comprehensive recycling. Available in 18 states and D.C. Intvs on campus 4/3, 4/4. Call Kate at: 1-800-75-EARTH.

THERE'S A JOB FOR YOU IN A SUMMER CAMP
The American Camping Association (NY) will make your application avail. to over 300 camps in the Northeast. Exciting opportunities for college students and professionals. Positions avail: all land and water sports, kitchen, maintenance, arts and crafts, drama, music, dance, nature, tripping, R.N.'s, M.D.s College Credit Available. Call or write for application. American Camping Association, 12 West 31st Street, New York, NY 10001, 1-800-777-CAMP.

LOOK WHAT'S HERE

!!!LOOK WHAT'S HERE**!!!
UMASS Hospital Pants
Green & White
CHEAP!!!!!
Great Gift Call
Randee or Lisa
6-8897 Leave message

LOST

HAVE YOU SEEN my black cat? Lost this weekend she is fluffy, big green eyes, royal blue collar white rhinestones
Please call home Cleo 549-4268

LOST - small, round, tan purse. Tues morn btwn Lot 26 and Goessman. If found, Please call Sue - day 5-0683, night 586-4973. Keep money.

PAINTING, PAPERHANGING, POWERWASHING

A SPRING SPRUCE UP FOR YOUR HOME.
Painting-interior & exterior-, wallpapering; powerwashing for your wooden or vinyl homes - They'll look like new-
Call after 5, or weekends anytime. Fully insured, reasonable rates - Frank 1-413-467-3465 Granby

PERSONALS

ANDREA,
Happy one month!
The best month of my life!
I love you
Scott

BETH P. - Happy 21st Birthday!
Have a wonderful night and remember friend, we love ya! (but this doesn't mean we want to live w/you) -Jen, Kath & Ann

CHRISTINE DEVINE
Aloha from Hawaii
Happy belated 21st B-Day!
Miss ya!
Cindy

CHRISTINE NEFF
Has finally turned 21- Look for her at a bar near you! Happy Birthday
Love, Licia

COMPUTER WEEEIINNIEEES
De-nerdification Friday at 5:00
Be there or be a weeeiinieee
Rocks dirt and diseases welcome

DAVID
HAPPY 21ST BIRTHDAY!
I love you!
Jodi

DOWNTOWN TAMMY BROWN
Have a Happy 20th Birthday and drink plenty of 100% Natural Ice tea! This weekend will be awesome! Yeah-Party!
Love, Mare

FOR YOU SHANE - My tan is more savage than yours! We survived Waimea Bay! Yea!
Aloha, Sara

GREG G.
Happy Birthday!
Love, Petunia

HAPPY 21 BIRTHDAY TONI
-To a great friend and roommate. Good luck always. Love, Diana

HAPPY BIRTHDAY BETHIE!
In two years we'll have a drink!
Love, Janna

HAPPY BIRTHDAY BUTCH you must be a year...6 mo...5 mo...older then me!! Love

HAPPY BIRTHDAY ERIN!
Prepare for tonite
We love you!
Your VM Pals

HAPPY BIRTHDAY MICHELLE NIMS
March 31st is the big day!
This is going to be a definite luggage weekend! Get psyched for Montreal! We are all on the "HUNT" Love ya Nicole, Karyn and Wendy HEY EVERYONE! - Tomorrow is John Thompson's Birthday, don't forget to drop by Field to wish him a great day! We love you John...fonts and all!

Have a super day!

HEY MOE CIEMPA!
Happy 19th Birthday (Saturday)
You're a great friend
Love, Mich

JEANNE HAPPY BIRTHDAY! I love you, tons and forever! Bullet.

JOHN THOMPSON!!! You goof!!! Happy Birthday!!! From who else but Chris.

MARK KESSLER
1 year...WOW!
I love you!
Laura

ONE FROG JUMPED OVER THE FENCE, PLOP!

SO, TELL THE TRUTH, WAS IT JORDAN OR DEBBIE?

WHERE'S PEPE LOPEZ?

PAUL, HAPPY 20TH BIRTHDAY! Tonight is going to be awesome. See you at the end of the line. Love, Your Honey

SO I WASN'T GONNA say anything but today is Jen Tarlin's 21st B-day! Yeah
Have an awesome day! Love, Mand & Mel

WELLMAN, WELLMAN oh Wellman... signed anonymous

RIDE WANTED

GOING TO VIRGINIA? I need a ride way bad. Anytime. I'll pay gas. I'll pay tolls. I'll talk if you want me to. I won't if you don't. I'll even be willing to name my first-born child after you. Call 545-3500. Ask for Al.

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 BEDRM IN 2 BEDRM APT. in Sunderland $190/mn, on bus rt., 665-3403

ESCAPE FROM BABYLON: 2 available singles in a 4bdr. house. Female or male roommates wanted for summer and/or fall. Enjoy country living in beautiful Leverett. Call 548-9981 Ask for Larry or Jeff

LOOKING FOR FEMALE for 2 bedroom Apt in Southwood Apts., Sunny, next to bus stop, fully equipped kitchen, 1½ bathrooms, new carpet, great place, more info call 546-7354

ROOM AVAILABLE for fall '90.
Beautiful well kept house
Back yard w/deck
One mile from campus
$260/month-worth every penny!
Call 549-0920

ROOM AVAILABLE for fall '90
One mile from campus
Beautiful house - great food!
$240/month Call 549-0920

SERVICES

RESUMES! I will do your resumes for $10 to $30 less than the local print shops! Call me evenings! Rick 586-1642

SUMMER SUBLET

NEEDED 1-2 to sublet for summer
Mill Valley Apt behind Brittany
Call 256-1331

SUMMER SUBLET
2 bdrm fully furnished
Brandywine Apt.
Call now 549-4021

SUMMER SUBLET
Single bdrm in large furnished Townhouse apt. 225/month or BO
Call Craig at 549-4246

T'AI CHI

CHEN STYLE T'AI CHI class begins April 10 6:30 - 7:45 Tues. & Thurs. Free demo April 3 Call 585-8931

TAKE OVER OUR LEASE

AVAILABLE JUNE 1- Gorgeous, new split level house. Minutes from buses, four bedrooms, two full baths, large driveway and garage- great house in nice Amherst neighborhood- some furniture available also! Affordable & convenient- call us for info: 253-9105 - please leave message and number

TRAVEL

BACKROAD TOURS of Britain & Ireland from $299: Write for brochure 27 Peter St. Shepton Mallet Somerset BA4 5BL. ENGLAND

HEADING FOR EUROPE this summer? Jet there anytime for $160 or less with AIRHITCH as reported in NY Times, Consumer Reports and Let's Go! For info call: AIRHITCH 212-864-2000

LEARN TO SCUBA DIVE Earn credit
Basic course, Fall semester $195
Bonaire May 26 - June 2 $750
Key Largo Aug 26 - Sept 1 Sport Scuba $380, U/W Photography $395
Call Project Deep 256-6266

TOUR TO THE SOVIET UNION: Moscow, Leningrad, Black Sea, Caucasus Mts. June 28-July 12. $2795 Complete from New York. Call Prof. Jones, 253-7827, Evenings after 7:00.

TYPING

ACCURATE PROFESSIONAL TYPING.
$1.75/pg. Campus pick-up.
Gloria, 323-5140.

FAST ACCURATE TYPING
Spell check 1.75/pg
Call Ashley at 546-6756

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

BACK UP SINGERS needed Gigs lined up. Call ASAP 256-4602, Ask for Jon.

NEED GARAGE OR parking space close to UMASS campus. Call Ed at 546-1047.

ONE BEDROOM PUFFTON APARTMENT
We want to take over your lease. Call 549-1609 and leave a message.

TWO GIRLS LOOKING FOR an apartment to lease for the summer. Please call 546-4842 or 546-4350

SPORTS

Baseball bounces back to beat Siena

Comeau, Bright help power Minutemen, 6-5

By ADRIENNE MATT
Collegian Staff

Well, weather was permitting and so was Siena College as the University of Massachusetts baseball team walked away with a 6-5 win yesterday.

With the score tied 4-4 in the bottom of seventh inning, freshman Steve Corradi reached on Siena's shortstop Kevin Ward's error, only to steal second. Junior Ian Torres was walked by Jon Tellstone, the third pitcher for Siena.

Sophomore Brian Bright sacrificed to advance Corradi and Bright, and senior Drew Comeau cleaned up by hitting a double, bringing in two more for UMass for a 6-4 lead.

"There was no doubt in my mind that we were going to win this one," said head coach Mike Stone. "However, we did keep them in it when we should've blown them away."

Siena tried to rally but didn't find the umph it needed to tie. Sophomore Randy Ray singled to lead the eighth inning and advanced on a wild pitch. Gerry Faiola sacrificed in Ray. The scoring was finished at 6-5 for the game.

UMass freshman Scott Meaney took the win, Jerry Creamer got the save and Siena's sophomore Rob Coco vied for the loss. Siena sent in a total of four pitchers, UMass sent in three with Jim Telgheder starting.

"We saw some nice pitching in the first five innings," said Stone. "Comeau had a great hit in the seventh."

The scoring began in the bottom of the first inning as UMass co-captain Torres hit a single and stole second. With two outs ahead of Torres, Brian Bright hit a home run bringing Torres in for a score of 2-0.

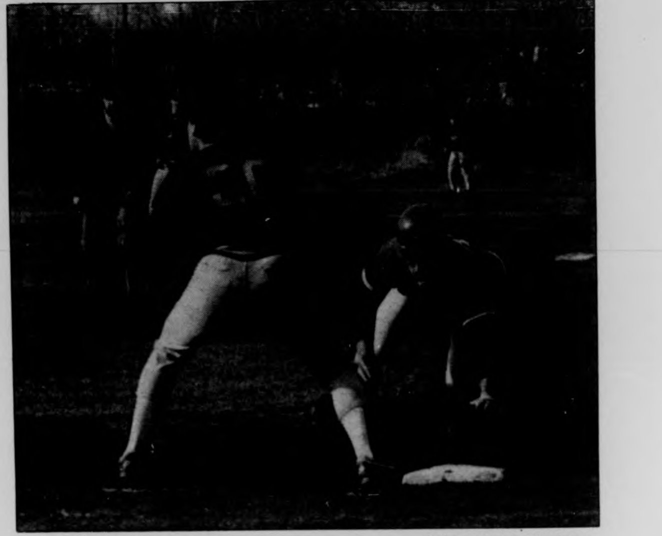
The score remained unchanged until the fourth inning when Siena's Ward popped a single to be advanced to third by Dan Saullo who hit a double. Tom Napoli singled bringing in Ward, leaving Saullo and himself on base.

UMass didn't answer in the fourth. Siena continued their mini rally as Mike Pilatich slammed a homer followed by senior Pasquale Arace's home run to bring the score up to 3-2.

Topping the lineup, junior Mike Tobin reached on a third baseman's error to steal second as Corradi was walked. After a wild pitch, Torres sacrificed to bring in Tobin, and Corradi stole second. Two outs later, Comeau singled to bring home Corradi.

"We haven't come close to our peak yet," Stone said.

Perhaps they can reach it against St. Joseph's with a pair of noon double-headers tomorrow and Sunday at Lorden Field.



Collegian photo by Elise Johnson

Drew Comeau dives back into first base during yesterday's action. Comeau drove in three runs to lead UMass past Siena, 6-5 at Lorden Field.

Senior gymnasts get a strong finish with victory over East Stroudsburg

By JASON GEORGE
Collegian Staff

Although the University of Massachusetts men's gymnastics team beat East Stroudsburg 261.7-249.15 last night at Boyden, the final result was lost in a flurry of other events.

Seniors John Eggers, Bart Balocki, Carl Russ, and Rich Healey were honored in a brief ceremony before the meet, their last at Boyden. The accomplishments of the four were read off before the sparse crowd of 30-40 fans.

Eggers, who has been a co-captain since 1987, received the team's Rookie of the Year award as a freshman. He has also been honored as Most Enthusiastic and Most Improved Gymnast for UMass.

Balocki, also a co-captain since 1987, has received the coaches Positive Mental Attitude Award and the Outstanding Student Leader Award.

Healey, a Dean's List student, was also a past recipient of the Positive Mental Attitude Award. Russ, who is known for his strong skills in rings (fourth on UMass' all-time list with a 9.45), was selected by the UMass coaches as Most Improved Gymnast in 1989.

Ironically, although the competitive part of the season ended with the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League (EIGL) finals on March 23-25, last night was one of UMass' strongest performances of the season.

"This meet was well worth having," UMass coach Roy Johnson said. "I'm disappointed the season wasn't longer

CONTINUED ON PAGE 15

Gorillas open home season tomorrow against St. John's

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

Who cares if the weather folks say it's supposed to snow and rain for the next three months. It's officially Spring, because the University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team opens its home schedule tomorrow.

Barring a need for Noah to visit campus, the game will go on as planned when the Gorillas host St. John's University at 1 p.m. at The Hill.

UMass is coming off Wednesday's tough 16-15 loss to Cornell, the lone blemish on its 2-1 season so far. The Redmen, like every other team in the universe, have played a few more games than the Gorillas to this point.

The latest was a big 13-10 win over C.W. Post on Wednesday which upped their record to 4-3 on the year. It was their third straight win after a 1-3 start, with the others coming against non-lacrosse entities Siena (22-2) and Santa Clara (20-2).

"I was surprised [they beat C.W. Post]," said UMass coach Dick Garber. "But they've got some talented players."

St. John's also beat Marist (21-1) to open the season before consecutive losses to Yale (15-6), Syracuse (26-9) and Hofstra (14-8). All three of those teams are in the Top 15 of this week's United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association poll.

Leading the way for the Redmen is senior attack David Graham, who has come alive to score 19 goals early in the season. Senior Matt Grandinetti (11 goals) and sophomore Chris Johnston (10) each have scored in double digits so far.

The midfield is paced by junior Andrew Bolger (3-14-17) and sophomore Brian Bugge (3-9-12). Senior Sal LoBosco is back in the pipes again, yielding 9.7 goals per game with a .558 save percentage.

UMass has never lost to the Redmen in four games dating back to 1986. But St. John's had its most impressive performance last season at Jamaica, N.Y. Trailing 6-5 after three quarters, the Redmen tied the game on Johnston's goal before UMass poured it on in the end for a 10-8 win. Last year's game also came on the heels of a one-goal loss to Cornell.

For that reason, the Gorillas have to be cautious to not take St. John's for granted. There will also have to be improvement on the attack, which had its problems in the second half of Wednesday's game.

After an eight-goal second quarter flurry gave UMass an 11-9 halftime edge, Cornell held the Gorillas scoreless for 17 minutes while taking control of the game.

One thing that worries Garber is what the weather can possibly do to the game. A wet field would not be ideal for a run-n-gun team like UMass, which would be a tremendous advantage to the visitors. Remember the UMass-Syracuse game last year and how the wet turf at the Stadium helped UMass slow the Orangemen down.

"Hopefully the weather will cooperate. We'd like to get a lot of people out here," Garber said.

Before the second half against Cornell, the Gorillas weren't very slow on offense by any means. They've racked up 70 goals in three games, led by junior attack Jim McAleavey (8-10-18) and senior attackmen Scott Hiller (10-3-13) and Rob Codignotto (5-8-13). Senior midfielder Tim Soudan (8-4-12) and sophomore attack Mike Cain (6-6-12) are also scoring in double figures.

In net, junior Ted Kellerman had a career-high 17 saves against Cornell, but eh and the defense did allow the most goals since the Syracuse game two years ago (23-8 loss).

On the injury front, senior midfielder Marc Feinberg sat out the second half of the Cornell game with a pinched nerve in his arm. Feinberg suffered the injury after laying a sick hit on Cornell midfielder Vince Angotti in the first half.

Softball set for tourney

Travels to Connecticut

By DAN SARAZEN
Collegian Staff

Having left behind the stiff competition of the West Coast, the University of Massachusetts softball team is now ready to enjoy the fruits of a tough road trip and play ball with teams this weekend at the Connecticut Tournament that are theirs for the taking, right? Wrong.

"We come out of a bloodbath in California and come right into one here," said coach Elaine Sortino.

Chances are that by the time you read this, the Minutewomen will already be playing their Penn State (New England region's fourth-ranked team) game that is starting at 11 this morning. That's right, 11 a.m. The Minutewomen will be battling for temporary bragging rights in the Atlantic 10 Conference (permanent bragging rights are earned only through the A-10 tournament).

Penn State's best pitcher is junior Kim Corbin. Corbin has a 2-4 record and a 1.41 ERA. Sophomore Joyce Tinner leads the Nittany Lions with a .280 batting average.

The rest of the schedule is no less difficult. Two-and-a-half hours after UMass starts the Penn State game, the Minutewomen take on powerhouse UConn.

UMass is ranked third and the number one team in the region is UConn. The Huskies are also ranked 18th in the country. However, not to take anything away from UConn, but they spent their spring in Florida where the top teams in the nation do not go. The Huskies did not travel to California and did not take on the likes of Fresno State, Cal-Berkeley, and San Jose State. The Minutewomen did.

The Huskies' record stands at 12-2, and they are led by pitchers Sue Rybczyk (yes, that's how it's spelled) who has a record of 6-1 with an ERA of 0.67 and is batting .381. Right behind Rybczyk is Kim Mizesko, also 6-1. Mizesko sports a 1.56 ERA.

UConn's top hitter is Vicki Bartolucci, who so far has clobbered opponents with a .389 average with two homers and nine RBI's. Sophmore Chris Wajda follows at .361 and eight RBI's.

Those games will happen today. Tomorrow the Minutewomen will face 5-6 Princeton.

In order to be successful, the Minutewomen will have to play their strength. "We have to play strong defense and put the ball into play," Sortino said. "Execute, execute, execute."

Practice this week has been aimed at some of the weaknesses that were present on their West Coast trip. "We've worked hard with a young outfield," said Sortino, "We've been working on their communication."

One other factor that may play a part in the weekend's contests is the weather. As of yesterday afternoon the weather forecast was one of rain or snow but definitely low temperatures.

The Minutewomen will try to turn up the heat.

YESTERDAY

WEATHER

You're already on campus, you jerk. If you don't know the weather by now, get a clue.

NEWS

For a synopsis of today's Collegian news, read yesterday's Hampshire Gazette.

EDITORIAL

The debate rolls on in Bob Boobala's column: Mennen Speed Stick or Brut 33?

THE MASSACHUSETTS DINKY SUNDAY, APRIL 1, 1990
COLLEGIAN
ALL THE NEWS THAT'S ALREADY BEEN IN THE GAZETTE LARGEST COLLEGE EGO PROBLEM IN NEW ENGLAND

Bush calls it quits

By M. EILEEN O'BRIEN
Herald Staff

WASHINGTON — President Bush resigned yesterday after angered broccoli lovers stormed the White House and pelted him with clumps of the vegetable.

Ap photo

Outgoing President Bush sweats because he is stressed out from issuing his resignation.

Saying he can "no longer serve as president in light of this [broccoli controversy]," Bush was seen leaving Washington with severe bruises on his face soon after Vice President Dan Quayle was sworn into office late Sunday night.

Bush, refusing to speak with reporters, issued a vague press release explaining his surprising move to resign.

"While I have never been one to ever quit anything in my life, I feel it is in the best interests of this nation that I step down and hand the reigns over to Dan," his statement said.

Quayle, speaking to a small crowd of reporters on the White House lawn last night said he was "dumbstruck and overwhelmed" by Bush's resignation.

"I didn't see it coming," he said. "And I have no idea what I'm going to do first except pray."

Marilyn Quayle, the president's wife, said she was "thrilled" with her husband's quick move up the career ladder.

"The first thing we're going to do [in the White House] though, is throw out all of that ugly furniture and get rid of those tacky curtains," she said.

Press Secretary Marlin Fitzwater refused to confirm or deny reports that Barbara Bush gave the president an ultimatum to resign or eat the broccoli she had made for the weekly Sunday dinner.

Soon after Quayle was sworn into office, thousands of people nationwide took to the streets in protest.

In New York City, an estimated 500,000 people, the largest showing in the country, burned candles and effigies of Quayle while chanting "Hey hey, ho ho, Dannyboy has got to go." No arrests or injuries were reported.

President Mikhail Gorbachev issued a statement saying, "I feel it was premature for Mr. Bush to resign over such a petty issue. I fear, now that Mr. Quayle is president, that his main agenda will simply center around the Professional Golf Association."

Gorbachev added that he will be available for a private golf match next week.

When asked whether the PGA will be a top priority for the Quayle administration, Quayle said: "Of course! But . . .don't say that. I, well, yeah, I guess, maybe you should ask Marilyn."

He said he has no plans to fire any Bush staff members, but hinted that Drug Czar William Bennett will be the only one asked to step down.

"Let's just say that I will be the only czar around here," Quayle said.

Classes canceled today

By MARIA SPAZTIK
Collegian Scoop

In what some administrators are calling a "bizarre abuse of his power," President/Chancellor Duffey announced yesterday that classes at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst are canceled for the rest of the week.

Sipping tea in the newly renovated conservatory in his campus mansion, Duffey said he "really hasn't felt like himself lately" and needs time off to recoup.

"Look, take some time off and relax," Duffey said. "I'm in touch with students. I know they need some more time off."

Classes will resume Monday if students say it's okay, he said.

UMass spokeswoman Karen Sherbert, who asked to be anonymous, said she expects 500,000 classes will be canceled this week.

Students and administrators at the Boston and Worcester campuses bitterly criticized Duffey's action today, saying that he was "playing favorites" with his home campus.

"I knew this was going to happen if Duffey got the job," said Professor I. Shouldagotit, who also wished to remain anonymous because he could be fired if his name is printed.

"He's playing favorites, it's pathetic," said a student who said we could use her name, no problem. "I think he's a jerk and I want to go on record as saying so."

Students at UMass/Amherst, however, said they thought the action was a "cool move" by the chancellor/president.

"This type of involvement is important, essential, necessary ... to an academic ... career," said the long-winded student trustee, whose name will not appear here because we are sick of seeing it in the paper.

"Are you serious? Psyched!" said a Ima Bonehead, who was found sleeping in Herter Hall tonight. "I didn't know, I'm waiting for my Spanish class to start.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

Southwest secedes from UMass . . . again

By PRESTON FOREHEAD and JULIE FLINTSTONE
Collegian Wiseasses

The Southwest Residential Area, home to 5,000 students, voted Friday to secede from the rest of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and the state.

Shake-a-Head Monaghan, president of Southwest Area Government, said he was not sure why the area voted to secede, but that it was probably his associate Fat Howard the Cold Cut King's idea.

"Actually, it was a boring weekend and we decided to look like the rest of the campus: under construction," Monaghan said in a telephone interview before the line mysteriously went dead.

The Collegian was unable to interview anyone in Southwest because the Swiss border guards prevented access to the area. When a Hampster Daily Gazette reporter tried to jump the fence, he was shot and killed.

Southwest officials said the action was made partly to insure that the "Southwest Way of Life" would continue to flourish.

Larry Monotonous, associate director of Housing Services, said that the "Southwest Way of Life" involves drinking excessively and "scooping up babes with way too much hair."

"Of course, I don't know this first hand," he said. "My spies, I'm sorry my resident assistants, tell me this in the reports. I'm much too anally retentive to enter dorms anymore."

Chancellor Joseph Dufflebags, who announced last week that he is leaving the University for the chancellorship of the University of Delaware, said he would make no effort to keep the University together.

"Thank God, I've got this new job," he said. "I'm so sick of this crap."

Provost Dick O'Brien, who is in Boston today fighting deportation to England, was unavailable for comment although his secretary said that if he was available he would say something "elitist, stupid and snotty."

Timid Mouse, an Orchard Hill senator said: "We would never do something like that. The University just yesterday announced that they were going to convert some unused rooms on the Hill into study cubicles. Wicked neat!"

Both Central and Northeast Area Governments said they would remain part of the University although they held open the chance to secede.

"They do one more thing to the alcohol policy and the fence goes up," said Drunken Weedy, a Northeast official.

The Collegian was unable to find the Sylvan Residential Area so no comment was available.

Naigelloc otohp yb Nomolos Leoj

This photo of the seceding Southwest Residential Area, was taken by an investigative photographer who risked his life skulking near the heavily-guarded area.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

WHO TO SUE

Lisa Shapiro, Maria Sacchetti, Jim Clark, Al Kaufman, Alexander Nguyen, Mike Wester, Terry Starmer, Chris Muther, Julie Livingstone, Preston Forman, John Woo, Darren Garnick, Meredith O'Brien, Peter Leon, Adrienne Matt(model), Joel Solomon, Pam Perrault, Kendra Pratt, and there must be someone lese and we feel terrible about forgetting them but we'll get over it.

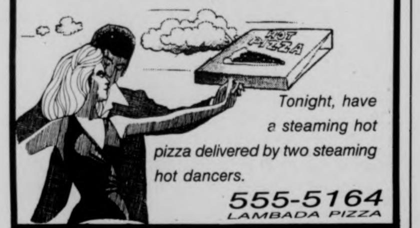
DISCLAIMER

If you haven't figured it out yet, this is a parody, a joke, it's bullshit (although of a different variety than what's regularly in the Collegian) You can sue us, but you won't win. We have sleazy lawyers who'll get us out of anything. If you have been truly offended, put all angry correspondence in a self-addressed, stamped envelope and drop it in the nearest mailbox. If not, we're sure a computer bulletin board will be established to discuss it. Hop on.

New England's largest daily masthead. Copulation: rarely. Published when we're not being occupied. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Rotten Stinking Organization at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. Eat me.

LAMBADA PIZZERIA

"We Really Deliver!"



Tonight, have a steaming hot pizza delivered by two steaming hot dancers.

555-5164
LAMBADA PIZZA

2-Tone reverse-weave ultra-thick water-resistant oversized UMass promotional chestwear
$59.95 plus $5 lab fee and $20 store restoration fee

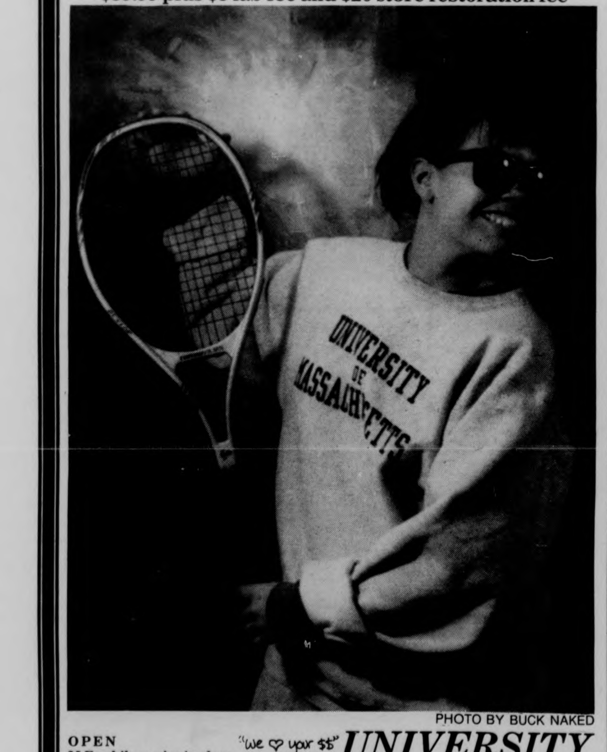


PHOTO BY BUCK NAKED

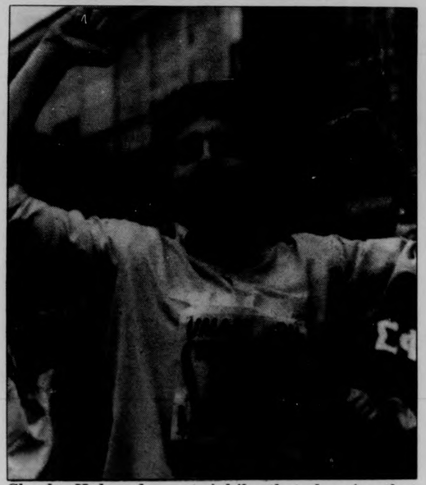
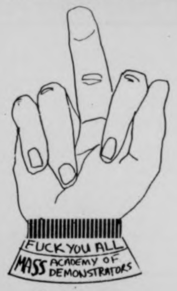
OPEN
M-F: while you're in class
Sat-Sun when you really need things: CLOSED

"We ♡ your $$" UNIVERSITY SWINDLERS $

Student honored for protesting



Charles Holcomb reacts jubilantly to hearing that he won the Massachusetts Academy of Demonstrators award.



The Trophy

By JOHN WHOOPS
Collegian Tripper

Charles Holcomb appeared at the annual Massachusetts Academy of Demonstrators awards dinner in Boston tonight to accept the prestigious "Protester of the Year" award, given annually to an individual who, in the eyes of the academy is "unconditionally devoted to the fine art of yelling, kicking and pissing people off for worthy causes."

Holcomb, a University of Massachusetts sophomore, logged a solid 37 class hours of protesting and an Academy record of 99.6 out of a possible 100 on the "indignation scale." Not far behind him were Binky Feldman and Professor John Cole, both also from UMass.

The Academy noted that it is unusual for a single university sweep the top three places in the polling. However, given UMass' number one rating on the Academy's "Best places to Vacation, 1989" the Academy said it was no real surprise.

Dick Lemming of Berkeley, Calif., a previous winner of the award, said: "I came to UMass last year during the strike and even brought the wife and kids. It was a helluva time."

Holcomb delivered his acceptance speech over cired of "hey hey, ho ho, Chuckie Hokie way to go" from his fans. Having just arrived from the Capitol after a four-day stint at the "Reproduction rights for Plants Rally," Holcomb was visibly tired but his spirit shone through.

"They're a bunch of suckers," he said, referring to the congressman who drafted the anti-reproduction statute last spring.

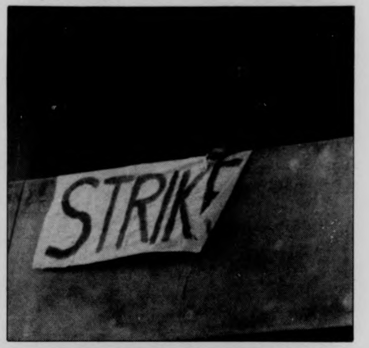
Holcomb expects to lend his services to other causes, and has expressed interest in heading out west with Cesar Chavez.

"The California circuit has traditionally been my forte, but this grape thing is the big league," he said. "It'll be a real fun time."

Spoken like a true protester. Fight the power, Chuck.

Chuckie at the student Union steps during the famed "ban the bricks" movement. Although unsuccessful, his effort to have aluminum siding installed on the outside of Tower Library was commendable.

Charles in action at last semester's farm feed protest, in which he fought valiantly to liberate several bales of hay trapped behind a chain link fence. At the protest, he led the crowd of almost fifteen in a chant of, "Hay, Hay, ho, ho, caged alfafa has got to go."



Charlie giving the "smell my pits" solidarity sign to the mob gathered below him during the deodorant boycott early this semester.

FUCK THE FLOWERS

The big "C" carrying a sign supporting his side of the "Gravel in the Garden" pro-pavement uprising, at which several hundred students occupied a garden in front of Memorial Hall and demanded a that a "bitchin' skate ramp" be installed.

BOG to debate ban on all breath mints

By D. MICHAEL GARNICK III
Minuteman Staff

The Board of Goons postponed a motion last night to create an ad-hoc committee to research the short and long-term implications of the sale of breath mints in the University Store.

"We don't have all the facts," said BOG Treasurer Garron Caramello. "Until the issue is debated in a proper, decent manner, we can't possibly arrive at a decision."

According to Caramello, anti-breath mint activists made a threatening phone call last Thursday to the BOG's secret headquarters at 400 Campus Center demanding that breath mints be unconditionally banned from campus.

The activists are against the mints because they are often used to mask the smell of alcohol on students' breath.

Chairgoon Sue Gordon-Liddy said the University of Massachusetts administration strongly advocates a campuswide breath mint ban.

"They are like an evil, ban-happy serpent looking to sink their fangs into something," she said. "After banishing cigarettes and alcohol, breath mints are the next logical step."

"The Whitmore aristocracy believes that selling odor-enhancing candies acknowledges that UMass students have smelly breath. This clearly creates bad publicity for the University," Gordon-Liddy said.

In other BOG high-level diplomacy last night:

- Goon Staggie Stagner demanded the bathroom signs in the Student Union be relabeled to read "Females" and "Non-Females." The old "Men's" and "Women's" room signs should be vaporized, Stagner said.

"We will define things on my terms," she said.

- Propaganda Chief Barry Belch unveiled the blueprints for the new BOG napkins. The napkins, hot pink with 14-carat gold trim, will be used at BOG banquets and keg parties. Estimated cost of the napkins is $46,000, Belch said.

- Goon Bill Screwitt issued a statement condemning recent Soviet policy in Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

"If Gorbachev sends tanks into Vilnius, his Campus Center privileges should be immediately revoked," Screwitt said.

- Leather Tupper, vice chairgoon, asked her fellow goons to give her more work.

"I feel empty," Tupper said. "I have a burning urge to be on more committees, to write some more proposals."

The BOG closed last night's meeting with most of the goons grooving to the Lambada. "I love the forbidden dance," said Goon Liz Liver.

MGM is moving in; UM to become theme park

By CAJUN ASIAN
Post staff

MGM/UA studios has absorbed the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and will begin construction of a new 'college theme park' this June, UMass administrators and MGM/UA annouced today.

"Now that we own University loyalties, programing for the 'theme park' will be in our control," said Lana Brooksfield, spokesperson for MGM/UA. MGM/UA plans to make this a place where people can come relive their 'glory days' of college.

"UMass can be a place where people can be part of that fraternity or sorority they always dreamed of, have that decision-making power in student government, be a football hero, live in Southwest, make good grades and graduate magna cum laude, join the 'Minuteman' organization and get that special person that slipped through their fingers," she said.

Brooksfield said it was an extremely competitive corporate takeover, but with the state budget cuts, MGM/UA is the biggest source of future pay raises. MGM/UA acquired 77 percent of UMass 'shares' from the state of Massachusetts, the Department of Defense and various smaller corporations, she said.

The 'shares' are not standard 'stocks' or 'bonds' sold by the state. Rather they are private 'shares' yielding high dividends, bonuses, benefits, and pension plans sold to top UMass and state officials from MGM/UA.

"Before, these 'shares' were divided between various organizations and we were able to coerce 77 percent of the top people with higher profits," Brooksfield said. "These people now sit on MGM/UA boards and the boards of our subsidiaries."

President Duffey said today that he "welcomes this new radical change of the Univeristy."

Provost Dick O'Brien said, "Hey, now I can drive a 'Rolls' for a company car. Besides, I've always wanted to be in the movies, acting was my first love."

O'Brien also said that it was "unfortunate the faculty will only receive 'Yugos' as company cars and MSP president John Cole only a tricycle."

A Japanese electronics firm was in second place for the takeover but discontinued its efforts. The firm's spokesperson said it felt the UMass administration belongs in Hollywood.

Ap photo, cut by Clarkie

WHAT NEXT FOR SUPERJOE? – Showing his incredible versatility, University of Massachusetts jack-of-all-trades Joe Duffey was named head coach of the Patriots yesterday. Duffey explained, saying, "Nothing happens around here on Sundays."

■ read me

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Wow, is the DC open?"

Professor John Cole (either of them) said he will take the matter before the Faculty Club to see if they can impeach Duffey.

"We are against it," he said. "We know this is an underhanded way to get the students to revolt against us. He's such a brownie."

A. Criminal, who said it was "absolutely critical" that his name not be used, said: "No way. He can't do this. WE'RE the radical ones here!!!"

Criminal promptly took over the Campus Center and is holding everyone in it hostage. Including you.

"This is un-American," said W. Matthew Whiner. "We pay to go here and I think, AAAAGH. . . "

Whiner was interrupted by an egg flying approximately 50 mph into the right side of his head. He was wrapped in a flag and carried to Health Services by his 'best friend' Ned Moronic.

A day in the life of Mr. Yawn

Peter Yawn

Good morning people. I know you've been waiting anxiously to find out what I've been doing since I last wrote to tell you of all the neat stuff I do and think. But fear not, for your wait is over. You will now know what to believe for the following week after reading my not-so-humble opinions.

****

Boy, am I miffed. Yesterday, Visa cancelled my credit card. Without getting into all that technical, banking talk, they said that I owed them $3,000 and hadn't made a payment in over a year. Now they want to take me to court. This is an outrage. It's time that credit card companies gave college students a break. I'm sure you'll all join me in ripping up your Visa cards as protest to this outrage. Together, we can beat 'em. Meet me for a rally at noon today on the Student Union steps. I'll be the one chanting "Hey hey, ho ho, Visa cards have got to go!"

****

I got a call from my old friend, Diblo, the other day. He said he was doing well and finally got over that cold he'd had for months. He said Fran and Cecilia are doing well also, except Fran's arthritis has been kicking up a bit. Hang tough Fran. Me and my thousands of faithful readers are pulling for you.

****

I should definitely rank on the SGA. It's such an easy thing to do and fills up a lot of space. Of course, I do have friends in the SGA, who also happen to be the only ones who get anything accomplished. The ones who aren't my friends are really mean and nasty and you should not like them.

****

My car broke down the other day. They just don't make cars like they used to, do they kids? It's gonna cost me $200 to fix it, but I won't be able to since I lost my Visa card. I know you all care about this very deeply.

****

I went to a party the other week. I drank a lot and met a bunch of other drunk people. I figured that parties are rare events in the UMass area that you would want to hear what I did when I went to one. That's why I'm taking up half of this page talking about things such as this.

****

Isn't it great that Mandela was freed? I know you all think so, I just wanted to let you know that I think so, too.

****

Don't you just hate people who so blatantly try to copy Mike Barnicle's I was just thinking... column? I know I do.

****

I noticed I haven't used any foreign words or mentioned that I've been to France yet. How else are you to know that I'm culturally aware? Oh well, que, sera sera.

****

Quote of the week: "I write, therefore you read."

— Peter Yawn.

****

Until next week folks, remember my word is the word of God.

Peter Yawn is a Collegian columnist who thinks people give a shit about what he writes.

'Guns'n'Roses' and 'New Kids on the Block' to rock the campus pond

By A. PRETENTIOUS CRITIC
Collegian Geek

In keeping with their tradition of acquiring diverse acts for the spring concert, Ari Weinerstein of UPC announced yesterday that two of the hottest bands around, Guns n' Roses and New Kids on the Block, will grace the pond with their presence this year.

"I've known about this for a while," boasted Weinerstein. "I just didn't want to tell anyone. Nah, nah, nah, nah, nah."

The two bands have never performed together before, although they have been known to party together. Said G'n'R lead guitarist Slash, while nursing some of the leftover fine wine from the American Music Awards, "That Jon — he's the cute one, ya' know — man, I saw him funnel an entire gallon of milk once."

Slash then passed out.

Axl Rose, sporting a New Kids shirt, shorts, cap, sneakers and sunglasses, then took some time out from saying racist and sexist slurs to compare his music to that of the New Kids'.

"If you fuckin' stop and actually fuckin' listen, you'll fuckin' realize that our fuckin' music is a fuckin' lot alike. We both fuckin' use the same two fuckin' chords. And their fuckin' messages are really fuckin' powerful. "Hangin' Fuckin' Tough." That pretty much fuckin' says it all, dude."

Then Slash puked.

Meanwhile, the New Kids, exhausted after a 19-hour day of posing for posters, lunch boxes and anything else that could make them a quick buck, said they thought it was "really neat" that they'd finally have a chance to play with their musical idols.

"I try to pattern my singing after Axl," said Donnie Wahlberg. "But he really could use a bit more gel in his hair. I guess he'll have to learn the hard way that 12-year-old girls don't fall at your feet unless your hair is perfect."

Wahlberg went on to say that the Kids have a lot of surprises planned for their first UMass appearance. The highlight of the show will be their first ever live performance of their upcoming single, "When Will I Hit Puberty?" Tiffany is featured as a guest vocalist on the record, but Axl Rose, who said he can "relate to the song mentally," will sing her part in concert.

The Kids will also set up a kissing booth before the show and, if the crowds don't get too out of hand, people will be able to kiss either Donnie, Danny, Jordan, Joe or Jon for only $10.

"We get to make a lot of money that way," said Wahlberg.

Wahlberg is excited about the show. "Just thinking about it makes me wet my pants," he said. "It's a good thing I'm still in diapers. Now, if you'll excuse me, Danny and Jordan are waiting for me in the sandbox."

Mass robbery strips Sylvan clean

By MARIO SANDRETTI
Collegian Speedster

There is no joy in Sylvan tonight.

In fact, there isn't anything in Sylvan tonight.

In what police are calling the most daring robbery in the history of Amherst, all three residence halls in the Sylvan Residential Area were stripped clean over spring break.

Police said "nothing, absolutely nothing is left."

Residents said they did not notice that anything was missing until yesterday.

Fred Clueless, a junior majoring in standard deviation, said: "I thought it was like, a cleaning service. I thought they'd bring the stuff back."

Police said they found signs of forced entry: the south wall of McNamara is missing, all the windows in Brown are shot out, and the doors were forcibly torn out of Cashin.

UMass police Lt. Stayback said he was "baffled" by the robbery. "There are no clues. Whoever did this knew what they were doing. They knew just where to plant the plastic explosives so that the wall would blow out cleanly."

In an exclusive Collegian interview, (ha ha, Gazette), one of the robbers, who is using the alias, Bob Rikash, said he masterminded the crime because advertising is down and he really can't afford to put out a newspaper, er, we mean, pay his bills.

Police said the incident is under investigation but noted that it probably won't yield anything because they will be devoting their time to following around members of the URSP to see if they will be taking over any buildings.

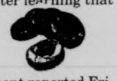
"We get paid more in overtime to watch them," Stayback said.

Spanking new lounge furniture, stereos, computers and the like are on sale TODAY ONLY in 113 Campus Center. Knock twice on the door and come in alone.

Amherst Towing rep: 'I'm not a thief'

By SLAM CLAM PAM and PRESTON P. FOREHEAD
Collegian Stiffs

Police last night arrested a man stealing an vehicle in Lot 44. After he was bullied and tortured, police investigated the man and released him after learning that he works for Amherst Towing.



In other police reports:

LARCENY

- A professor in the English department reported Friday that he lost his idea during lecture. The estimated value is tenure.

ARRESTS

- Five juveniles skateboarding at the Fine Arts Center were arrested yesterday for being general pains in the ass. Police said the juveniles had been the subject of a stake out for several weeks.

DISTURBANCES

- Amherst fire ambulance transported Al Kaufman, 22, of Coolige, from the Collegian office to Cooley Dickinson Hospital yesterday after he burned his hand touching an Associated Press Stylebook. Kaufman was released to the Pleasant Street Theater in Northampton later in the day in fair condition.
- Police responded to calls that ducks at the Campus Pond were copulating. After looking the word up in the dictionary, police handed out condoms and safe sex manuals to the offending ducks.

HOROSCOPE
By Omniscient Al

ARIES(March 21-April 19): Today will be perfect. You will meet the person of your dreams, get a great job, buy a new car, withdraw on your ATM card without the bank making a record of it, win a few lotteries and find out the meaning of life. Then you will wake up.

TAURUS(April 20-May 20): You will meet your future lifelong mate. This person will be a Gemini. The Gemini may not give in at first, but be persistent. You will be able to spot your Gemini because he or she will have red socks on.

GEMINI(May 21-June 20): Wear red socks. You will be hounded by an obnoxious Taurus all day. Tell that person to fuck off.

CANCER(June 21-July 22): Of course you will have no luck today. What do you expect? Your sign is a disease. Dogs will use you as fire hydrants. A rain cloud will follow you around all day. This will wash off the dog excretions, but cause you to catch pneumonia. You should probably stay in bed, only if you do, your bed will break.

LEO(July 23-Aug.22): You are the lion. You are strong and courageous – on every day except today. Today you will be weak and vulnerable. People will walk all over you and leave foot prints on your face. You will get beat-up hourly. You may wish to wear a bib as many people will be spitting on you.

VIRGO(Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You will spit on a lot of Leos. This will cause you to become completely dehydrated and rushed to the hospital. Because this will happen to every Virgo in the country, hospitals will become overcrowded with Virgos lacking in spit.

LIBRA(Sept. 23-Oct.22): You'll get stuck in an elevator for about 10 hours with a person who loves to talk about all their personal problems.

SCORPIO(Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You'll get sent on a trip today to a garbage dump in New Jersey. Because of this, you will stink for weeks and nobody will want to go near you, including skunks.

SAGITTARIUS(Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You suck.

CAPRICORN(Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You'll have a mad urge to do the Lambada today. But don't do it, for it is the forbidden dance and you will be arrested. Instead, hang out with a Taurus that has been brutally rejected by a Gemini. And whatever you do, stay away from Sagittarius. Boy, do they suck.

AQUARIUS(Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You'll have a piece of wilted spinach between your two front teeth all day. Boy, will you look foolish. But nobody ever really liked you anyway, so don't worry about it. Just go on living your useless life. The dawning of the age of Aquarius is over.

PISCES(Feb. 19-March 20): Today you are a fish out of water. You'll think people are staring at you all day, but they are really staring at the Aquarius behind you with the spinach stuck in his or her teeth. Also, beware of Taurus. They have been rejected by Capricorn and are truly desperate. Be like everyone else and tell them they are obnoxious fools and they should fuck off.

SGA slambook: Anasty to step down

By SALLY SNIFFER
Collegian Snot

In the last chapter of the Undergraduate Soap Opera Senate, acting Attorney General [read: If only I could legally prosecute] Jon Anasty announced he would not seek another interim term.

Anasty was appointed by former SGA Head Looney Spacy Davis in December when the office was vacated by someone who had simply just "outgrown SGA." Anasty's term terminates today, April Fool's Day, (how fitting).

But this was no ordinary strut to the podium from the always- confident, seemingly conservative Attorney General Anasty. This time, stripped of all signs of his material existence and clad exclusively in black leather, Anasty announced to the senate that he has turned in his penny loafers forever to rejoin his old group, the ultimate ABBA tribute band: DYS, Dapper Young Studs.

"I've been thinking about DYS a lot lately. Those were the good ole days, touring the clubs, brights lights, screaming chicks. I kinda miss it, and besides, I'm really sick of senate, they're really just a bunch of bufoons," Anasty said.

In a sappy and sentimental gesture, Anasty outfitted his "Special"[read: kiss up for no pay] Assistant Kefeifer Strident with his well-worn navy blue, gold buttoned blazer and wished him luck in seeking the appointment.

In other SGA gossip:

- Defeated SGA presidential loser Jon Slitheria called on Boss 'Can't Comment' Conduit, chair of the Creative Governmental 'Affairs' Commission to rerun the president and trustee elections.

"OK – you said I cheated and well. . .maybe I did – this just proves the elections were run unfairly. Let's just try it again guys. I promise I won't cheat," Slitheria whined.

Stripper and exotic dancer of the senate, Dare Cheastlicker called the entire senate to order with 15 strong hits of the gavel after it booed and laughed Slitheria out of the room.

Sen. Geoffrey 'Howdy Doody' Tricycle, co-chair of the swaying elections committee, said the ratification is final. "We all know who we wanted. We got them elected to office and that's where they're gonna stay."

Heterophobic scrawls found
Beer advertisement defaced on student's door

By CHRIS' MOTHER
Collegian Straight

A student in Washington Residence Hall reported a beer advertisement on his door had been defaced with a heterophobic remark Saturday night.

Butch Donatello, a sophomore physical education major, said a Budweiser advertisment hanging on his door was defaced with the statement 'Die Breeder' written in black ink over a female model's chest in the poster.

"I was like uhh . . . really pissed, ummm . . . it was a great picture, and now the chick's all covered up!" Donatello said.

He said he was 'shocked' by the action.

"I thought Southwest was a safe place to live, now I have to worry about diverse people all around," he said.

Southwest students had mixed reactions to the incident (those who can speak in full sentences).

Ima Ditz, a twelfth year freshman HRTA major, said she was upset because she missed last night's keg party in Brandywine.

"I was fixing my hair and it got so tall the hair spray can got, like, totally stuck in my hair, so I, like, called the police and the fire department and they, like, never came. So I sat in my room and got shitfaced. Like totally," she said.

Southwest Area Government President Bob Monaghan said this sounds like a good reason for SWAG to secede from the SGA again. (see related story and photo essay, page 30)

"This incident just proves Southwest has special needs, we should be independent so we can deal with these issues and party more without police intervention," he said.

Students protest veggie menu

By ALICE SCOOP
Collegian Stuck-up

Some 50 Stockbridge students protested in front of Earthfoods Friday, saying that the cafeteria's menu unfairly excludes carnivores and harms the meat industry.

Earthfoods is a student-run cooperative in the Student Union which serves vegetarian entrees and soups for weekly lunches.

"We are fed up with the bad rap that meat has on this campus," said protester Donald McDonald.

He said the purpose of the protest was to force Earthfoods to offer at least one meat entree a day. He said they would settle for only luncheon meat as an interim solution until a whole range of meat recipes are developed.

Several of the protesters dressed in costumes resembling the icons of the fastfood industry. McDonald was wearing a 'Colonel Sanders' costume and protester Sarah Cochen was in striped 'Hamburgler' garb.

Martin Lentil, an Earthfoods spokesman, said they would not yield to the protesters' 'terrorist' tactics by including meat in their menu.

"We at Earthfoods find ourselves at the mercy of a small group if radical student carnivores," Lentil said. "Why don't they just go downstairs and have a double bacon cheeseburger at the Hatch?"

McDonald said the protests will continue daily until the Earthfoods workers are ready to negotiate. He said local poultry and beef producers have offered special starting incentives to Earthfoods like reduced prices and free delivery.

Some Earthfood patrons said they would not want to buy meat entrees and soups because eating meat is contrary to their personal and religious beliefs. But other patrons said they would welcome a more varied menu.

"I'm not a big tofu fan personally," said patron Gerald Garcia.

CLASSIFIEDS

ALL CLASSIFIEDS BECOME COLLEGIAN PROPERTY SO WE CAN READ YOUR NAME OFF THE REAL RAUNCHY ONES AND TELL YOUR FRIENDS

ACTIVITIES

WORKSHOP: How to pummel the local press with obnoxious leters to the editor. Special instruction by J. Allain and Owen Broadhurst.

SPECIAL ENGAGEMENT**
Tonight in the Student Union Ballroom, ex-SGA Secretary of State Eric Nakajima will give tips on how to get your name in the newspaper as many times as possible.

MEETING TONIGHT- Schizophrenic Club. Held by Chancellor Duffey, no, I mean President Duffey, no I mean . . .

PSRU Plastic Explosives Workshop Monday 7 p.m. Cape Cod Lounge. Bring safety goggles . . .

PSRU Reporter Harrassment Workshop Guest speaker J. Leavitt will tutor on The "dirt in the face" technique.

Join the UMass Condom Club! Come share your condom experiences and short comings with other condom lovers. Meeting tonight at 12 in the Baker laundry room.

PSRU Lambada Workshop: Who says social awareness can't be fun? Meet at Bonducci's at Midnight.

New Kids on the Block Anti-defamation Club- Help! prevent needless NKOTB Bashing! Meeting Tuesday at 7 Maria Sacchetti's desk, Collegian Office.

Milli Vanilli Benefit Concert. Campus Center Pond. Come hear "Girl You Know Its True" for a good cause. Proceeds will go toward the Fund to Increase Campus Ignorance.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

SELECT BOARD BASH!
Come party down with Carolyn and Harry. Town Hall Monday Nights.

FOR SALE

WE LOVE THE FBI AND THE CIA Bumperstickers, $2.50, Call 555-DEATH

HELP WANTED

POSITIONS WANTED: 3 eager, well-trained professionals with excellent interpersonal skills willing to work outside Post Office and Baybanks for legitimate causes. Contact: The Springfield Foundation

Earn Millions At Home The Milli Vanilli-Lip Synching Technique—dazzle your friends! No talent necessary. Call now for your home package. 1-800-URA-STAR.

ATTENTION-HIRING! Government jobs-in your area as FBI sniper. NRA membership a plus. Earn $17,450-$69,900. Call 1-002-555-3629.

Does anyone really care about the SGA elections? Just curious.

PERSONALS

E. NAKAJIMA— I want to do the Lambada with you.
Love T. Davis

UMass Parking Office: Could you suck more money out of the student body? Could we possibly hate your guts more than we do now?
Love The UMass Community

WHOEVER SMEARED WOODSTAIN ON OUR MODELS YOU ARE A NO GOOD COWARDLY SCUM.
—The Mademoiselle GANG

We have normal healthy sex lives. We really do.
—Cyber Sex Community

DUFF
Did you ever know that you're my hero? You're everything I wish I could be. I can fly higher than an eagle, Joe. Because you are the wind beneath my wings.
—Provost O'Brien

DICK- You take two steps forward, I take two steps back. We come together because opposites attract.
—The Duffster

To the witty guy who came down to the office with April Fools ideas: We're sorry we ran out of space and lost your name. Please stop by so we can beg for your forgiveness.
—Collegian Staff

SERVICES

 * * Attention Senators * * ***
in need of SGA constitutional interpretation and application. Free consultation available in exchange for career opportunities and anything tye-dyed. Call Robbie Fadel 555-COOL.

I can turn your trashy prose into something magical. Call Dave's Ghostwriting service, 1-800-PLAGIARIZE

FREE BOOKLET "Do more with your joystick" How to get sexually aroused from your Nintendo game system. Write UMass Box CYBER.

WANTED

Be on the lookout for the maniacal rabbit who bangs on those stupid drums and interrupts television commercials. Last seen marching through Campus Center knocking over tables. Contact Amherst Police.

TOXIC WASTE IS YOUR FRIEND

WEATHER
Today it will be cloudy with a 50 percent chance of rain and highs of 45 to 50.

ARTS
A Chorus Line brings an incredible performance to the Fine Arts Center. Page 6.

SPORTS
The UMass men's LAX team takes out St. Johns as it wins home opener. Page 12.

MONDAY

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY MONDAY, APRIL 2, 1990
COLLEGIAN
VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 39

Groups debate special pages

By JULIE LIVINGSTONE
Collegian Staff

The debate on the future of the Collegian continued Friday in a public forum devoted to a proposal for a bi-weekly page for lesbian, bisexual, and gay issues. It was attended by about 40 Collegian staff members and some 20 community members.

It would be the fifth such page for historically-oppressed communities on campus if passed by a staff vote later this semester. The Collegian currently has Black Affairs, Multicultural Affairs, Third World Affairs and Women's Issues pages, each with respective editors.

Two of those editors, Dawn Pierce (Black Affairs) and Pratip Dastidar (Third World Affairs), said Friday that they were upset that they did not have votes on the Board of Editors, though both were editors.

Yesterday, editors voted Pierce and Dastidar as voting members of the board.

"This should have happened the moment we came down [to the Collegian]. I have a sense of disappointment that the mentality is such that it took so long," Dastidar said. "I do feel it reflects a positive step that will hopefully reflect on the issue of the pages."

At Friday's meeting, Chris Macek, member of a 12-person Collegian committee established last November to address concerns of diversity within the paper, said: "This is not Utopia. We must raise the trust level, but there is a process that must be gone through first. I hope it will not be like this forever," Macek said.

Editor in Chief Maria Sacchetti said the insitution of an additional page only serves to segregate the people it was supposed to represent. She also said it will not serve as an interim solution, as Macek expressed.

But several students at the meeting said the discussion could not be solely centered around diversity.

Business Manager Robert Bikash said the newspaper receives no money from the University. He said with additional pages, advertising space and therefore money would be lost.

"We have to take everybody's opinion into account: business, graphics and news," he said, referring to the Collegian's three departments.

Others said the more important focus is multiculturalism.

Editorial Editor Minu Sebastian, reading a statement from the editorial editors, said: "People have been speaking of the pages as if they are financial entities to be bought, sold and compromised. The pages are about people. The pages are a place where unique cultures, values and experiences are expressed in terms not accepted and understood by the mainstream."

Several people at the meeting said if the LBG page was not created that there would be "holy hell," with staff members needing to "prepare for a takeover."

Chris Muther, LBG issues editor, said he believes that with an LBG page, the community will recognize that lesbian, bisexual and gay people have a distinct lifestyle and need representation. Muther said he does not advocate takeovers. "I feel the meetings and forums are positive first steps. However, I would not become the editor of a page if it was given through a takeover."

A petition is scheduled to be circulated among staff members regarding the institution of an LBG page. It must obtain backing from two-thirds of the staff before it is [illegible] to a vote.

Rep criticizes handling of child abuse

BY JULIA SEREBRINSKY
Collegian Correspondent

The Massachusetts state legislature is taking steps to tackle the problem of increased child abuse, according to Amherst Rep. Stan Rosenberg.

Rosenberg was the keynote speaker at a rally yesterday afternoon at the Amherst Town Common to kick off Child Abuse Prevention Month.

Addressing a crowd of 50 people, Rosenberg blasted Massachusetts for not having a state law which clearly defines "child abuse" and outlines the penalties for the crime. Massachusetts is one of two states in the nation which does not presently have this legislation, he said.

However, a proposed bill currently in the legislature would give the courts clear provisions for penalizing the perpetrators of this crime, Rosenberg said.

Rosenberg also linked child abuse to the "cycle of poverty." Although the victims of child abuse come from all stratas of society, he said children who come from families "under economic pressure" are more likely to be abused.

"We live in the richest state in one of the richest countries in the world," Rosenberg said. "Yet, one-sixth of the children live in poverty and don't know whether or not they'll have dinner on their table."

Society, Rosenberg said, remains oblivious to the problem by exhibiting "extreme amount of self-centeredness and greed." People would rather spend money on luxuries such as VCR's rather than pay a tax increase to support child abuse programs, he said.

There has been a dramatic increase in reported child abuse cases over the past decade. Citing national statistics, Rosenberg said that in 1989, 71,000 cases of child abuse were reported, whereas in 1980 17,000 were reported.

Other speakers at the event, most victims of child abuse themselves, echoed Rosenberg's sentiments and expressed concern over the societal repercussions of child abuse.

Jennifer Giandalone, organizer of the rally, said that 90 percent of prisoners who commit violent crimes were abused, 70 percent of prostitutes were incest victims, and 60 percent of people in drug rehabilitation programs were neglected as children.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

Fitness becoming a fad at UMass

By JOSEPH M. MONTAGNA
Collegian Correspondent

Physical fitness on campus has become a popular activity for many students these days.

Walking, jogging, swimming, weight-lifting, gym classes with aerobic conditioning, team sports as well as going dancing are all ways some students have said that they get their exercise.

Peter Grahamn, a senior history major, gets in his exercise by taking a volleyball class and a tennis class.

Another way that some stay fit and have fun at the same time is by participating in team sports through the intramural program which can also be very competitive, however.

"It's pretty cutthroat out there," said Jared Bloc, also a senior history major who is organizing an intramural softball team.

Others, of course, have different reasons for working out.

"I just like to stay fit. It gives me more energy and I can take out my frustrations," said Rachel Galante, a senior English major, who does aerobics and weight-training.

Galante smiled and added, "Plus, I can build a better body."

According to the physical education department, there are more than 6,000 students taking gym classes this semester despite a policy that allows students to take a class only once.

Kristin Marucci, an aerobics instructor, thinks that there is more awareness among undergraduates in keeping fit and explained how aerobic classes have become increasingly overcrowded.

The overall view in the physical education department seems to be that students know more about fitness and

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

UM professor to publish Hemingway

By DAVID ALLEN FORRESTER
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts English professor Donald A. Junkins is bringing an unpublished Ernest Hemingway short story to light.

The story Junkins discovered in handwritten manuscripts in February 1989 is scheduled to appear with his critical analysis in the April issue of Ohio Northern University's Hemingway Review.

"The story is a good story," he said. "If it were just an ordinary story it would just be a lot of sound and fury signifying nothing."

Fellow Hemingway scholar James Steinke directed Junkins to two manuscripts in Boston's John F. Kennedy Library in the spring of 1988. He said he originally thought the story was a set of autobiographical notes.

Junkins said he carried copies of the manuscripts to Maine, Italy and Bimini before he realized one of them was actually a finished short story.

The 47-page story, set in Paris, untitled by the author, was named 'Philip Haines Was a Writer' by Junkins. The story is about a writer's breakup with his wife, Junkins said.

Although Hemingway went through a similar situation, the story isn't necessarily autobiographical, he said.

"All art transcends biography, and this does too," Junkins said.

Junkins estimated the story was written in 1959, two years before Hemingway's death. He said he does not know why Hemingway never published the story but, it adds to Hemingway's work in a positive way.

"I am fully confident that this does service to the literary career of Ernest Hemingway," Junkins said.

He said he feels the story is an example of Hemingway's versatility and "clarity of artistic vision."

Junkins said he owes much to the support of his department and the Dean of Humanities and Fine Arts, Murray Shwartz.

"I've received support in every situation and that has

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4

Collegian photo courtesy of UMass English department

Professor Donald A. Junkins

For Your Information

For Your Information is a calendar listing of local announcements and upcoming events published daily by the Collegian as a public service. All submissions must be typed and submitted to the news room at least one full day beforehand. We reserve the right to edit for space.

Pregistration Guide — The Fall 1990 Pre-Registration Guide, which includes both a schedule of courses and course descriptions, will be distributed in the Campus Center Concourse on Monday, April 9, from 10 a.m. through 4 p.m. Copies will be available in the 2nd floor lobby of Whitmore beginning Tuesday, April 10. Only one copy will be available per student.

MONDAY, APRIL 2, 1990

Workshop — TO BE OR NOT TO BE . . . AN ARTIST? Monday, April 2, 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. at Bartlett 206. Free workshop for students in all art disciplines answers career questions about being an artist, including artist lifestyle issues, alternative professional opportunities for artists, and developing your own definition of success. Presented by the Arts Extension Service of the Divison of Continuing Education and funded by the University Arts Council.

Speaker — VIC HERNANDEZ, sponsored by the Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Alliance, will speak in Campus Center room 905-09, from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Admission: free.

Speakers — STEVEN McCAULEY & LESLIE NEWMAN, sponsored by Lesbian, Bisexual Gay Alliance, will speak in Campus Center room 904-08 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Admission: Free.

Senior Portraits — Sponsored by the Index, CC178, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. (daily thru April 6).

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 4, 1990

Workshop — TO MARKET, TO MARKET TO MAKE YOUR WORK KNOWN. There will be a free workshop on today from 4 p.m.to 6 p.m. in Bartlett 301 for students in all art disciplines teaches how to find and create professional artistic opportunities through basic marketing strategies. Learn to identify sponsors or buyers who want your artwork, develop different 'lines,' and determine how to get the competitive edge. Presented by the Arts Extension Service of the Division of Continuing Education and funded by the University Arts Council.

Discussion: Women's Studies and the Pre-Medical Advisory Committee present a panel discussion entitled "Medical Careers for Women." The event will take place at 7:30 p.m. in Campus Center room 903. There will be ample time for questions and a reception will follow the program. The panel is open to the public. For more information contact Women's Studies at 545-1922.

Meeting — Senate meeting, sponsored by Senate Operations, Campus Center room 163C, from 7 p.m. to midnight.

Meeting — The Legal Services Center of UMass will hold a meeting for all those interested in Fall 1990 internships with Legal Services. University Internship Program staff will be available for questions as well as Legal Services staff. The meeting will take place today at 3:30 p.m. in Campus Center room 905. For more information, please call Alan at Legal Services, at 545-1995, or stop by Campus Center room 922.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief ... Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor ... George Austin
Editorial Editor ... Minu Sebastian
News Editor ... Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor ... Jim Clark
Arts Editors ... Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor ... Dondi Ahearn
Black Affairs Editor ... Dawn Pierce
Women's Issues Editor ... Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor ... Alexander Nguyen
Third World Affairs Editor ... Pratip Dastidar
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor ... Chris Muther
Business Manager ... Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager ... Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager ... Martina Rios
Circulation Manager ... Chris Baker
Subscription Manager ... Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager ... Donna Cusson
Production Managers ... Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager ... Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business ... Lori Black, Brian Harrington, Maureen Majerowski
Graphics ... Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

Survey Personnel Needed for PVTA Ridership Survey

In order to improve service, the ridership of all PVTA bus routes will be surveyed during the first and second weeks of May. Each bus route will be surveyed for one day for the entire time it runs. Surveyors will be paid $7.00 to $8.00 an hour to distribute survey forms, answer questions and collect survey forms. All shifts are available. Ability to speak Spanish a plus. For more information call 781-6045.

Pioneer Valley
Planning Commission
26 Central Street
West Springfield, MA 01089

An EOE/AA employer

Diamond Masterpieces
Invisible Setting of Quadrillion® cut diamonds
ALL DIAMONDS SPECIALLY PRICED DURING APRIL
silverscape designs
264 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-3324
3 Pleasant St., Northampton 584-3324

I WANT TO BE AN ARTIST...BUT

April 2, 4, and 11

Everything you need to know
About surviving as an artist
In 3 easy lessons! Free!

LESSON 1 - TO BE OR NOT TO BE...AN ARTIST?
Monday, April 2, 4 to 6 p.m. Bartlett 206
Understand how your own work, lifestyle and financial values relate to being an artist. Learn about alternative professional opportunities. Develop your own definition of success.

LESSON 2 - TO MARKET, TO MARKET, TO MAKE YOUR WORK KNOWN
Wednesday, April 4, 4 to 6 p.m., Bartlett 301
Learn to find and create professional opportunities right for you and your work. Identify your 'markets.'

LESSON 3 - TO MARKET, TO MARKET: THE SEQUEL
Wednesday, April 11, 4 to 6 p.m., Bartlett 301
Learn to set professional objectives. Make a marketing plan to get your artwork out there. Understand publicity and promotional tools and how to use them.

Seating is limited for this popular series!
To ensure your seat, call the Arts Extension Service, 545-2360.

Presented by the Arts Extension Service, Division of Continuing Education, University of Massachusetts with support from the University Arts Council.

THE FIGHT FOR ABORTION RIGHTS & REPRODUCTIVE FREEDOM

4th Annual Conference for Student Activists
APRIL 6-8. 1990
Hampshire College, Amherst, MA

Friday eve.: 7:30 p.m. Women speak about their abortion experiences, legal and illegal
Saturday: 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Speakers and workshops on a range of reproductive rights issues
Sunday: 9:30 a.m. Strategy meeting to discuss campus organizing

Sponsored by the Civil Liberties and Public Policy Program at Hampshire College

For more information call 413-549-4600 ext 645 or 719
All sessions are in Franklin Patterson Hall
FREE, OPEN TO PUBLIC

CASIAC Pre-Major Meetings 4:00 PM unless otherwise noted

BDIC	Tuesday April 3	119 Bartlett
Communication	Thursday April 5	104 Thompson
Economics	Tuesday April 3	W-15 Machmer
Engineering	Wed. April 4	15 Marston
Environmental Design	4:30 Mon. April 2	105 Hills Central
Family/Community Services	Wed. April 4	Skinner Lounge
Forestry	Wed. April 4	227 Holdsworth
Landscape Architecture	4:30 Mon. April 2	105 Hills Central
Leisure Studies	Thursday April 5	209 Hills North
Management	Thursday April 5	110 SBA
Pre-Med/Pre-Vet/Zoology	4:15 Wed. Apr. 4	330N Morrill

For further information, call 545-2191

WORKSHOP: "HOW WILL YOU CHOOSE YOUR MAJOR?," Thursday, April 5, 4:00 p.m., E-37 Machmer: Deciding what to study at UMass is closely connected to what you'll do when you graduate. Susan Hart and Ginger Goldsbury, career counselors from the Mather Career Center, will discuss important things to consider when choosing a major: skills, talents and values assessment, what interests you, and the job market.

LOCAL

Senator addresses education on campus

Lt. governor candidate speaks on budget, environment, abortion

Collegian photo by Richard DuCree
State Sen. Bill Golden

By TAMARA SILBERMAN
Collegian Correspondent

"Education must be the cornerstone of our economy," state Sen. Bill Golden, D-Weymouth, said in the Campus Center on Thursday.

In addition to education, Golden, a candidate for lt. governor, addressed the budget crunch, the environment and the upcoming abortion amendment.

The products of the high class education facilities are some of the reasons companies choose to locate in this state, he said.

Although he doesn't favor a cap on tuition increases, he sees the distribution of financial aid essential to ensuring that everyone gets an equal opportunity for higher education, Golden said. He believes "passionately" that everyone can get financial aid to go to school, he said.

Massachusetts fiscal growth has been substantially reduced as a result of the federal trend to reduce the amount of aid it gives states, Golden said. The U.S. Government has shied away from funding expensive, high growth programs such as the Clean Water Act of 1972, he said. At its inception, the federal government was funding 75 percent of the program; the budget for 1990 allocates no money.

The state budget has also been squeezed by the need to give more funding to local governments, Golden said. Since Proposition 2 1/2, property taxes have fallen from three percent of a house's value to one percent.

Recognizing the huge burden put upon local governments, Golden has sponsored a bill that would prohibit further cuts to local aid.

Golden said, without a sound economy, state educational facilities and state attempts to clean up and preserve the environment will suffer.

If another $500 million in local aid is not made up, many more people will be laid off, he said. This includes teachers and nursing home staff, both of which are heavily subsidized by the state.

In 1982, Golden initiated a historic lawsuit to clean Boston Harbor and Massachusetts Bay, sparking the public support for the economic, environmental and health issues associated with preserving and maintaining clean water.

Golden sees his campaign as more than just running to win the office of lt. governor. He sees it as "trying to pull up the democratic party to a position of leadership."

Book 'Twice Blessed' advocates Jewish gay community activism

By ALI WOOLWICH
Collegian Staff

"Gays and lesbians live in every Jewish family and every Jewish community in the world," said Christie Balka. Balka, a renouned Jewish Lesbian activist known for her work with such groups as New Jewish Agenda, came to the Campus Center yesterday evening to speak about and read excerpts from the book she co-edited, 'Twice Blessed—On Being Lesbian, Gay AND Jewish as part of Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual Awareness Week. Felice Yeskel, the director of the University of Massachusetts Program for Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Concerns and a contributor to the book, also read and spoke.

The book is a collection of writings by and about gay and lesbian Jews who are remaining within Judaism. Previously, there were thought to be only two choices for gay and lesbian Jews: either give up Judaism to live openly as gay people or hide their sexual preference in order to practice Judaism, Balka said. Twice Blessed provides an alternative by proposing an integration of the Jewish community with the lesbian and gay one.

Excerpts included a description of a gay male couple's commitment ceremony, the story of Jewish lesbian's working class roots and identity and the memories of an 80-year-old lesbian.

The book comes out of three movements — the feminist movement, the gay and lesbian liberation movement and the movement for Jewish renewal; this book came out of the ongoing process to make our existence as gays and lesbians within the Jewish community known, said Balka. Two important anthologies which preceded the publication of Twice Blessed that Balka noted were Nice Jewish Girls by Evelyn Torton Beck and Tribe of Dina.

Balka also talked about role models for the gay, lesbian, and bisexual community in the Bible's old testament — in the close relationships between Jonathan and David, and Rachel and Naomi.

In concluding, Balka shared part of the book's future suggestions for the Jewish community: Jewish agencies instituting strong non-discriminatory policies in support of their gay, lesbian, and bisexual employees, teaching children about homosexuality in schools and not presuming that all are heterosexual, and instituting 'coming out' schools that would teach the heritage of gay and lesbian Jews.

Speaker: homeless can blame DOD

Lecturer addresses homeless plight, DOD funding

By PETER SAKURA
Collegian Correspondent

"Homeless people are the present casualties of nuclear war and military research," said Vincent Eirene during a lecture at the University of Massachusetts Thursday, referring to the U.S. government's cutting of social programs in order to fund the military.

Eirene runs a Catholic Worker hospitality house for the homeless, in Pittsburgh and is part of the movement at Carnegie Mellon University. The U.S. Department of Defense pays for 70 percent of all research at CMU and now more money comes into CMU from the Pentagon than from student tuition, Eirene said. He said the Department pays the University scientists to develop software for nuclear weapons, B-1 bombers, F-15 fighter planes, Strategic Defense Initiative and battlefield management.

Eirene said, "The academic community is the cornerstone of the military. Nobody does it cheaper."

Eirene said that scientists at UMass and Carnegie Mellon have worked together on military research. He condemned a DOD-coordinated joint project of UMass engineering professor Clive Dym and Carnegie Mellon professor Steve Fenves to develop "a knowledge-based expert system" for military computers with decision-making capabilities.

Eirene has protested militarism through nonviolent acts of civil disobedience since 1977. Presently the Carnegie Mellon administration is bringing charges against Eirene. The administration said he was without "legitimate right" when he allegedly poured several boxes of ashes on the steps of a nuclear weapons research building on the anniversary of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima.

Eirene showed a video on military research at Carnegie Mellon and what people have done to resist it.

The lecture, attended by ten people, was sponsored by Peacemakers, a Registered Student Organization that, like People for a Socially Responsible University, opposes military research conducted at UMass and supports economic conversion.

Greeks promote education on rape, hazing

By JEAN CHISHOLM
Collegian Correspondent

Pledges from fraternities and sororities at the University of Massachusetts met at Herter Hall Saturday for the fourth Bi-annual Associate/Pledge Education Day.

The pledges participated in various workshops throughout the day dealing with mixing alcohol and sex, date rape, hazing and safe sex. Greek Area student and faculty leaders spoke on what it means to be a brother or sister.

Coordinators of the event were Lynn Robertson, a Delta Zeta sister and secretary of the Panhellenic Council, and Matt Benelli, secretary of the Interfraternity Council and Pi Kappa Alpha brother. Robertson said they "tried to pick major issues relevant to the Greek Area," and "the more the pledges know about these issues the better brothers and sisters they will make." She stressed the importance of the pledges knowledge of the hazards of hazing and alcohol. According to Robertson the purpose of the day was not only to make pledges aware of these issues but also to make them "realize that they are an important part of the community and the Greek Area."

The day began with an orientation and interpretations of the meaning of membership in the Greek system. Acting director of Greek Affairs Ed Korza said that there are responsibilities that go along with being a brother or sister. Through participation in the Greek system pledges will develop "important bonds, relationships and friendships that will last forever," Korza said.

President of the Interfraternity Council Ed Jewett said it is important for the Greek Area to "enhance the image of the Greek Community." "We are supposed to be role models for the University community," said Sigma Delta Tau pledge Kery Hagerty. She said that "fraternities and sororities have a bad reputation with some people on the issues of alcohol and sex" and that through education on these topics pledges could help eliminate the stereotypes.

Valley referral center for men's services offers counseling, education

By CRAIG ZELIZER
Collegian Correspondent

The Men's Resource Connection is a place for men to learn about getting in touch with their own feelings through understanding the roles that they have been socialized in by society and to develop positive roles, said Steve Botkin, one of the founders.

The organization provides a referral center for men's resources throughout the Pioneer Valley. It offers a variety of men's support groups and educational and counseling programs.

A range of workshops are provided on such issues as acquaintance rape, men's socialization, homophobia, feelings, spirituality and sexuality.

Many different support groups are run such as "Adult Male Survivors of Child Abuse" and a group for men who have lost friends or family to AIDS.

There is also individual and group counseling addressing men's violence against women. The weekly group looks at the roots of men's violence and tries to provide alternatives to their violent behavior by role playing and deep sharing.

The organization also does community outreach.

Botkin said this work is extremely important to change society's outlook on men and to get more men involved with changing themselves.

"As people change as individuals they change society," Botkin said.

The non-profit organization was created in 1982 because there was a strong need to connect various men's groups in the area in order to network, pool resources and share information, Botkin said.

On Friday, April 6, the Center is having a rally in support of the "Take Back the Night Rally," a rally for women to reclaim their autonomy for physical safety. The men's rally will start at 7 p.m. at the Red Room in Converse Hall at Amherst College.

fitness on campus

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

are in better shape.

Associate Professor Frank Wright, of the exercise science department, who also runs the Bodyshop fitness programs on campus, doesn't completely agree. He said that although students on the average may be more fit there is still room for improvement.

"I think they're more fit, but not because of their efforts," he said.

Wright feels that students are in shape not because they are particulary health conscious but because they are active and they're young. Students need to know more about other areas of health such as nutrition and emotional stability to deal with stress, according to Wright.

He did say however that there was an increased interest in aerobic and weight training classes.

"Those who come are very compliant, but what about the rest of the population," Wright said, meaning that there are still many students who do not work at staying physically fit.

Students who are interested in being more fit should start with aerobic conditioning, said Wright, but they should work slowly.

"No pain, no gain is going by the wayside," he said.

Health Services is also revising a pamphlet on fitness for students and for those who are more serious about exercise they can make an appointment with a sports medicine physician.

But why do students exercise?

"Because they want to look good," said Wright.

However, students achieve a lot more when they work for that "better body," according to Wright, since they can meet new friends and gain confidence in order to deal with pressures of college life.

In Wright's own words, perhaps the biggest reason why people keep physically fit is because, "The world is a better place after you exercise."

child abuse

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Liz Beach, a victim of child abuse and a recovering alcoholic, said her experience of being abused had life-long effects.

"It took me 30 years to put away the drugs and alcohol and start dealing with this," Beach said, urging other child abuse victims to also voice their experiences.

"Keep talking until somebody starts to listen," she said.

The rally lasted for three hours with people of all ages in attendance. Rather than paying attention to the somber speeches, some children chose to roll around on the lawn.

The melancholy tone of the event was reinforced by songs performed by local talent. The ballads included: "A Dirty Little Secret," "Who Will Save the Child?" and "How Long?"

A representative from "Necessities/Necesidades," a support group for battered women, also spoke at the rally, saying that child abuse and violence against women are interrelated.

Hemingway

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

made a lot of this possible," he said. Junkins is a charter member of the Hemingway Society, founded in 1980, the same year the Kennedy Library received some papers from Hemingway's wife.

He presents papers on Hemingway at the society's conferences which take place in famous Hemingway haunts every other year, he said.

MUNCHY'S SALE
HAMPDEN - WORCESTER - FRANKLIN M-F 8-9 SAT-SUN 12-8
All sale prices effective until April 7, 1990

Lender's Bagels assorted varieties 99¢ reg. $1.12	PHILADELPHIA Cream Cheese 3 oz. 49¢ reg. 59¢
KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes 12 oz. $1.49 reg. $1.86	Chips Ahoy Cookies 12 oz. $1.99 reg. $2.29
VERY FINE Juice & Drinks 10 oz. 2/89¢ reg. 55¢	CHICKEN OF THE SEA Chunk Light Tuna 6.5 oz. 99¢ reg. $1.11
Dial or Zest Soap 3.5 oz. Bar 2/$1.00 reg. 65¢ & 68¢	SWEET LIFE Facial Tissue 175 count 59¢ reg. 73¢
CRISTALLENE Spring Water ½ liter 2/$1.00 reg. 80¢	COUPON Store Purchase $2.00 OFF Sweatshirts Sale Items Excluded Valid until April 7, 1990 Coupon good in all Munchy and Mini Stores

EUROPE by CAR
RENT or BUY
LOWEST PRICES
FOR STUDENTS, TEACHERS
EUROPE BY CAR
One Rockefeller Plaza
New York, NY 10020
Phone (212) 581-3040
Mail this ad for Special Student/Teacher Tariff.
☐ RENTAL ☐ LEASE ☐ PURCHASE

Auto Glass Center
American & Foreign
- SAME DAY SERVICE
- BILLED DIRECTLY TO INSURANCE COMPANY
- WINDSHIELDS REPLACED

North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd.
North Amherst, MA
549-2880
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

AMHERST CINEMA
ROGER & ME
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week
$2.50 with student ID
253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted

Imposing majority opinion

It is fairly obvious that things have come to a head as far as the Pages are concerned. What is clear from Thursday's Editorial page (March 29), is that there is a concerted effort to destroy all the existing pages and regress, as it were, to the inglorious tradition of the past.

All this only confirms the suspicions of various minority groups on campus that their concerns, opinions, values and ideas are perceived as being unimportant and irrelevant, besides being inconvenient for the rest of the machine.

It is outrageous that allegedly responsible senior staff of the Collegian have gone to such lengths to justify their neat, but nevertheless warped logic. The entire paranoia about possible new "interest groups" leaping out of the bushes demanding more pages smacks of a certain reactionary mindset.

The "Pages and Beats" model is certainly an interim solution. In the current state of affairs, it is a necessary evil. The Pages may be seen as a form of segregation, but if this segregation is the last resort to force the Collegian to report minority issues, so be it.

The Pages can only go when the general atmosphere both inside and outside the Collegian is conducive to a balanced style of reporting which does justice to all concerned.

It is ridiculous to even dream that we are anywhere near that utopian state of affairs. It is absolutely clear that there is a lack of trust. Well, let's wait till that trust is established and then think about changes. You cannot even begin to solve a problem until, at least, you admit that it exists.

The fervor behind the attempt to nix the Pages is suspicious. Why this wanna-be corporate magazine attitude? The hypothesis about the Pages being part of the cause for a financial strain will not wash. There is no apparent basis for this assertion, and it is just an attempt to divert attention from the real issues at hand.

If you're hard up for cash, fire some of your cartoonists and also your astrologer. Face it, folks, if you're even dreaming that you have a halfway decent argument against the Pages, forget it.

One has to literally sift through weeks of garbage till one finds anything reasonably readable. This has been particularly true of some of your subcerebral pieces in the Ed/Op pages of yore. It was really funny to see your attempt at trying to portray yourselves as an investigative newspaper.

Finally, I hope that this whole issue is not treated as being a mere internecine squabble and that the public have a say in the outcome of the fracas. Otherwise, you're going to end up imposing the opinions of the majority of your editorial board on your large audience. I suppose that would help you achieve the consistency that you so desire, the consistency of dirt, methinks.

Jayanth Eranki
Amherst

One-sided journalism distorts event

In an effort to provide the campus community with an informative and interesting program, the Panhellenic Council welcomed quality and nationally recognized companies such as Mademoiselle, Clairol, Levis Strauss & Co. and Ban Antiperspirant to host an event at the University last Wednesday evening.

As the student voice on this campus, we look to the Collegian to take an active interest in providing balanced coverage of issues and events in the community.

The Collegian has a duty to be fair in reporting events by campus organizations. In this case, we feel these basic journalistic practices were overlooked.

By focusing the article on only the negative aspect of the event, the Collegian did a tremendous disservice to the readership of the newspaper. Neither Mademoiselle nor the Panhellenic Council was asked to comment on the incident and their positions were taken out of context in the March 29 article.

The article stated, "the show objectified women in terms of their appearance and in relation to men." It should be pointed out that the women and men who modeled in the fashion show were all student volunteers.

Participants were motivated by their own desire, and not by monetary coercion. Appearance was not a prerequisite in the selection of models.

It was obvious to those in attendance that the goal of the Mademoiselle team, the Panhellenic Council and the sponsoring companies was to provide the students of the University with an exciting and informative program.

It is disappointing that three months of preparation by the Panhellenic Council and the host companies were not addressed in the Collegian.

The Panhellenic Council enjoys providing the campus with programs that can include a cross-section of the campus.

In the future, we hope that the Collegian will take a more positive and fair look at all events sponsored by campus organizations.

The Panhellenic Council will continue to provide the campus with quality programming, and we hope that this isolated incident will not deter students from the events we sponsor.

Jeanne M. Bolduc
Vice President for Campus Affairs, Panhellenic Council
Karen T. Renaud
President, Panhellenic Council

Jealous of a serene life

I'm sitting here in my room in my Northampton apartment and I'm comtemplating the wonderfully serene life my cat Winslow has. I think I'm jealous.

How wonderful not to comprehend, or even see for that matter, the ugliness of what is happening on campus. How wonderful not to have need of such words as 'bias,' 'torment,' or 'persecution.'

Christine Bielak

I have been a part of the University, in one way or another, for the past 10 years, and I've seen some pretty strange and outrageous antics.

Streaking on Halloween half more than half a decade ago was funny. The change in the alcohol policy was annoying to a lot of my alumni friends. The ban on cigarettes was unique. The seemingly rash of homophobia is beyond disgusting — it's absolutely frightening.

I thought education was supposed to broaden our perspectives. I thought that youth held fewer biases than the older generation.

I thought that being exposed to a wide variety of peoples, lifestyles and cultures would keep us from becoming rigidly set in our own patterns — our eyes should never close to the different and the new.

I thought that after the University community pulled together over our budgetary problems we'd stay tight.

How can we fight to save our education and future when we're destroying ourselves from within?

Why are those of you out there who disagree with the life of homosexuals so adamant on tormenting them? What do you fear from them?

I don't threaten you because I think your lifestyle is offensive.

Let's face it, there are plenty of repugnant lifestyles out there: herds of young jerks hanging around in bars, in public . . . drinking way too much, making all sorts of obnoxious and loud comments and being generally complete morons; good-looking people who don't just ignore us "average" people but who have to let us know that we're 'dogs,' 'whales,' or 'geeks'; holier-than-thou people with money who don't even see us when they look right at us; the list goes on and on.

Hell, I'm only bringing up the superficial — never mind the rapists, abusers and other forms of humanity two steps lower on the ecological chain below pond scum.

Many a time I've wanted nothing more than to find an automatic weapon and end your misery, but it's your life and your choice so I refuse to acknowledge my homicidal tendencies.

I'm not asking or even suggesting that you go out and wave a banner for every group that practices a different lifestyle than you do.

I know that we'll never be able to love everyone for who and what they are — being human sort of gets in the way of that lofty ambition.

Learn to accept the choice another has made as just that — their choice. We're all jerks to someone so none of us can righteously throw stones at anyone.

If you can't learn to co-exist with your peers how can you expect to solve any of the other problems we as individuals and as a community have to deal with?

I'm very sad and confused these days.

The night can seem a little blacker and the wind a little colder as the clouds cover the sky and wind howls by my window tonight. Winslow has stopped playing with a walnut and is now curled up next to me purring.

I think I'm jealous.

Christine Bielak is a Collegian correspondent

"...YOU MAY RULE ALL THE PEOPLE SOME OF THE TIME; YOU CAN EVEN RULE SOME OF THE PEOPLE ALL OF THE TIME; BUT YOU CAN'T RULE ALL OF THE PEOPLE ALL OF THE TIME."

Credit rests on Sandinistas, not Washington policies

Nicaragua is in deep trouble. The euphoria of what may have been the cleanest election in the hemisphere's history has given way to tense, emotional confrontation and gloom over its future.

I returned early in March from a third visit to Nicaragua, this time as an invited observer of the election. I was disturbed to find in the United States media and in the Congress a mood of triumphalism, as if the Violeta Chamorro victory launched democracy in Nicaragua and vindicated U.S. interventionist policy over the last 10 years.

On the contrary, I found that the election was the end product of a democratic process, not its harbinger. Credit for its emergence rests with the Ortega government, which presided over the planning and execution of the most carefully monitored election in history. It's difficult to acknowledge that in the U.S.

It runs too directly counter to the villainous image of Daniel Ortega so assiduously cultivated by the Reagan and Bush administrations in order to justify their efforts to depose him.

Let's take a look at this election. First of all, it was carried out in a country devastated by seven years of war. The Nicaraguans felt they were in imminent danger of invasion. The nation has poor transport and communication facilities and a desperately impoverished electorate barely freed from illiteracy and trapped in a collapsing economy.

Perhaps observers in the U.S. might acknowledge retroactively that the Sandinistas did a good job with the elections, but then conclude that they mismanaged the economy egregiously and failed to bring peace to a war-weary people. For these failures the Nicaraguan people punished the party by repudiating the revolution and throwing the rascals out. This too I think is a misreading.

Stephen G. Cary

The vote was certainly punishment, but it was not a repudiation. The voter's wrath was directed at conditions that had become so intolerable that the people could no longer bear them.

When parents can't feed their children and their drafted sons are dying endlessly in the mountains, there comes a time when change, any change, is imperative. And change came, riding on the back of misery.

It's easy and comforting to blame Sandinista incompetence, and there was some of that, but the prime responsibility has to rest with calculated Washington policy.

The U.S. methodically destroyed the Nicaraguan economy with its trade embargo. U.S. massive military operations in Honduras forced the Sandinistas to divert resources to defense that were urgently needed elsewhere.

The U.S. devastated the country with a mercenary army recruited, trained and equipped by the CIA. It's all part of a Pentagon strategy called low-intensity warfare, the modern way of dealing with recalcitrant Third World countries. And it worked in Nicaragua. It took 10 years, but on February 25 the people finally cried uncle.

Shouldn't we pause and ask ourselves whether a policy that depends for its success on reducing millions of human beings in a poor and tiny country to a level of misery is one worthy of a great nation?

Bishop Fredrico Pagura of Argentina, president of the Latin American Council of Churches, raised this question on the day following the election when he said in Managua: "We fervently hope that this significant experience in Nicaragua will mark for the United States the end of an arbitrary and arrogant policy, which has no justification, not before God, not before the consciousness of humankind."

Wouldn't Americans do well to reflect on the Bishop's words?

Stephen G. Cary, chairperson of the American Friends Service Committee, monitored the recent Nicaraguan election as part of a Witness for Peace delegation

ARTS & LIVING

One singular sensation

A Chorus Line
FAC Concert Hall
Wednesday, Mar. 28

If God had attended, he would have been asking for autographs!

A Chorus Line director Randy Elkinson and his band of Guild disciples, fought off bouts with disbelievers and sickness on its way to performing a show-business miracle. In five weeks, the cast, crew and orchestra, parted the UMass red sea and put on a performance that even Broadway could pay homage to.

From start to finish this show was a polished, energetic, fun explosion of gold, glitz and group effort.

That was the key to this production. Teamwork. Hardass producer Nicole Chiasson was hard as hell to beat during her rendition of Tits and Ass. She had class in that . . .

Amy Spanger showed her amazing voice in the songs Nothing and What I Did for Love. Her talent especially shined during Mama Fat.

Gail Robicheau, Kris Golembeski (also technical coordinator), and Julia Sabol were "red hot" during At the Ballet while Tom "Super Mario" Berry made the audience weep real tears.

The funniest performers were Bill Larkin, Kate McCaleb, Kyle Nash and Lynn Steinberg who were all real, real bizarre and had the audience singing with piss-in-your-pants laughter.

Noreen MacDonald was the fiery, power-voiced dancer Cassie who kept the crowd in awe. Gina Johnson was graceful and stylish while Peter Garland was a gymnastic, frenzied ball of energy.

Also peppering the show with talent were toughguy Terrence Paraso during Sing, perky Dean Lapham during I Can Do That, and, Guy Smiley himself, Rich Dockery during Night Club Union. Betzi Hanc was multi-talented as the twirling Zach assistant Laurie. There was one guy who couldn't dance but I forgot his name.

Everything about this show was amazing. The costumes by L.A. Sweet were fabulous. The quality of the singing was excellent and vocal coach Kathy Engel deserves her own standing O. Chris LaCivita also put his soul into this production as musical director and should be commended. The chorus and tech were outstanding as was the orchestra.

The most incredible moment of the show happened in the finale as everything came together, the earth moved, and the golden face of the stage exploded into the magical sunburst of beauty that is A Chorus Line. The audience erupted with an ovation that shook the hills and was louder than the Big Bang.

All in all, the show was pretty okay.

Photo courtesy of FAC

The cast of A Chorus Line

Penn enjoyable in Pearl St. March

By RICH BAILIN
Collegian Correspondent

Michael Penn
Pearl Street
Thursday, March 29

Michael Penn played a 15-song set at Pearl Street that was enjoyed by all. He played all of the selections from his critically acclaimed debut album, March, some new material and an inspired cover of brilliant guitarist Richard Thompson's "Cry, Cry," which ended the show.

Surprisingly, Penn played his hit single, "No Myth" in the middle of the set and introduced it by saying, "As seen on TV."

All band members featured solos to show off their talents. An honorable mention goes out to bassist Alan Kamai, whose energetic gyrations made him the most enjoyable to watch. This may have something to do with the fact that he was formerly the bass player for the Prince protege duo, Wendy and Lisa. According to Kamai, he was "taking it easy" during Thursday's show because of a sore throat. If that's true, then at full force he must steal the spotlight from Penn even more than he did at Pearl Street.

Patrick Warren, who has been playing with Penn since 1981, is the best tanikaphonium player I've ever seen. For that matter, he's the only tanikaphonium player I've ever seen.

The only disappointment of the show was the inability to hear the lyrics. Penn has been lauded by critics for his songs' strong lyrical content. One had to really strain to catch each bit of wordplay. Penn should concentrate on putting his vocals front and center. Maybe turning the decibles down would help a bit. Penn's guitar playing, on the other hand, was excellent and proves that his talents aren't studio-generated.

After the show, Patrick Warren took time out to talk about the band and what direction it is going in. He said that right now the band is exclusively playing small venues to get used to playing live.

Warren also said that the "No Myth" single wasn't the band's first choice. "We've received lots of support from RCA, who got behind that single and really wanted to push it for us."

The infectious "This & That" is the second single and will be released shortly. "Michael has written four new songs."

This gives us something to look forward to.

HARVARD
SUMMER SCHOOL '90
June 25–August 17

Harvard Summer School offers open enrollment in hundreds of day and evening courses. The curriculum includes courses that fulfill college degree requirements and programs designed for personal and professional development.

Our international student body has access to Harvard's outstanding libraries, museums, laboratories, and cultural activities.

We feature a college-level program for secondary school juniors and seniors*, a Dance Center, and special programs in Drama, Writing, Ukrainian Studies, and English as a Second Language.

*For more information return the coupon below or call (617) 495-2494 (24-hour line). Please allow 3-4 weeks for delivery. (admission required)

☐ YES, please send the 1990 Harvard Summer School catalogue and/or an application form for the following programs:

☐ English as a Second Language ☐ Secondary School Program ☐ Dance Center

Name ____________________
Address ____________________
City, State, Zip ____________________

HARVARD UNIVERSITY SUMMER SCHOOL
Dept. 618, 20 Garden Street, Cambridge, MA 02138 USA

LSAT
GMAT
GRE

WHAT IF YOU DON'T GET INTO THE GRAD SCHOOL OF YOUR CHOICE?

Sure, there are other schools. But why settle? Kaplan prep courses help students raise their scores and their chances of being admitted into their first-choice schools. Fact is, no one has helped students score higher!

KAPLAN
STANLEY H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER LTD.

OTHER COURSES: MCAT, DAT, NCLEX, NTE, CPA, BAR REVIEW, & OTHERS

Classes Start:
LSAT April 4th-11th • GMAT April 5th-12th

358 No. Pleasant Street • 549-5780

Missile hits Hampshire

By WILLIAM GEORGIADES
Collegian Staff

King Missile and others
Hampshire College
Friday, March 30

Things got off to a bad start immediately when this reviewer's reviewer's pass was rejected in favor of five crisp bills. A mixed blessing however because there is no reason for impartiality. Here goes:

First off the half empty Saga dining commons was greeted to the screeching of two girls (drums, and inevitable guitar/vocalist) who called themselves "Prunella." As one astute critic nearby mentioned, "They've got too much hair and too much money." A closer attempt at catching the probably sensitive and brilliant lyrics was rendered impossible, due to the hoots of laughter that followed the lead screecher's rendition of the word "Satan," with accompanying rolled exorcist eyes. Imagine Joan Collins and feedback.

Next up was Zeke, introduced by MC Dave "Who put the acid in my ginger ale" Stacey as a legend. Sort of a punk Meatloaf, the singing and guitar playing were odes to the legend's obvious need for sex, love sex and more sex.

Then came S.W.A.T. distinguished by some near stunning guitar work by Mr. Stacey, that was extinguished by everyone else in the band, especially the vocalist whose blend of Morrisey and Axl Rose should stay in the shower where it almost belongs.

Azalia Snail, "a performance artist from New York," followed. The crowd sat around, cross legged, on the beer swilled floor, enacting a few decades old Coke commercial, or was it romper room? Suzanne Vega with a slide show projected in back of her to hide her endless knowledge of two chords, and a kid on some synthy gizmo who added some wonderfully relevant missed notes. It was, noted another soul, the insanity of repeating the same thing over and over and over and over again, to the same effect, a bubbly nauseous feeling.

Then came Sebadoh, best critiqued by the several yells of "Big fucking deal."

And then there was the fashion show, an unqualified success, with kudos going to Margaret's S&M get up, Dan's attempt at feminine submision and Alissia's left breast.

Finally after four hours of Hampshire indulgence, King Missile hit the stage for a 50 minute set, complete with pumpkin and, for a change that night, attitude and talent. Unfortunately several hours of exposure to the cream of the crop of what is sadly referred to as the Hampshire scene has a certain psyching out tendancy, that can destroy even the most dogmatic fan.

Still, "Jesus is Way Cool," was performed with all the gusto, charm and humor you'd expect, as was the encore of "Sensitive Artist," and most everything else on the bill. And no one else can make you dance, semi slam (Hampshire style), to Blondie. Good stuff, but the sand box was already soiled.

Collegian photo by Dondi Ahearn

Some trippy moments

Australian-Scottish songwriter Bogle mixes comedy with politics

By NICOLE GONZALEZ
Collegian Correspondent

Eric Bogle
Iron Horse
Thursday, March 29

"I was kinda hoping that nobody would know who he was," said an intense fan, "but . . .," he waved his hand around the packed room, shook his head, and sat down.

Eric Bogle, a Scottish songwriter who now lives in Australia, won the Australian Peace Award for his heartfelt protest songs. He is best known for "No Man's Land (The Green Fields of France)" and "And the Band Played Waltzing Matilda."

Always changing gears in his performance, Bogle went from comedy to politics in a heartbeat. After opening with "Feed the Children," a song that addresses world hunger, he looked at his rotund self, his other equally chubby band members and said, "That song might sound funny comin' from a group like us." Everyone laughed heartily. He then added, with a dark, mysterious look, "I hope you've enjoyed what you're eating." Nervous laughter spread around the room until Bogle smiled and confessed, "None of us have had dinner yet."

The next song, "The Name Song," was a satirical description of the band. "I'm surly and I'm Scottish," Bogle sang, "The boys call me wee short-ass." Bassist Brent Miller nodded and held up his hand, symbolizing Bogle's diminutive body structure.

It was then short-haired guitarist Andy McGloin's turn to get in on the act. He described himself as a rock 'n' roll hero wannabe. "I hate this boring folk crap," he sang. "But the money comes in handy."

Bassist Miller fought off the band's "cute" image, singing, "Some call us teddy bears . . . They got neither dinks nor brains."

Mercilessly, Bogle went on to describe the Australian Bicentennial Celebration of 1988. "The celebration annoyed me," he said.

He was particularly steamed that most of the performers, John Denver, Cliff Richard ("I thought he was dead,"), Peter Allen and Olivia "Neutron-Bomb," were not even born in Australia.

Fighting the superficiality of the event, Bogle wrote the song "Something of Value," which he sung at the celebration and at the Iron Horse. In the song, he described the suffering of the aborigines, saying, "They've been drowning in their tears for the last 200 years." He urged, "We must break through the chains in the past/To build something that will last."

The audience only chuckled softly at songs such as "Any Dead Cat Is a Friend of Mine." It was obvious they had come to hear "No Man's Land" and "Matilda." Everyone sang along, word for word, to the anti-war songs which garnered him his popularity.

Eric Bogle not only entertained us with jokes and sarcasm, but also inspired the crowd with his urgent messages on peace and justice for all peoples.

Hopefully, we will do more than just listen.

COMEDY NIGHT
TOP COMEDIANS
FROM
Comedy Clubs around the country
SPONSORED BY
The Board of Governors Program Council
APPEARING
Every Tuesday at 9:00 PM
the hatch
GROUND FLOOR STUDENT UNION

Do You Know Where your Calzones Are?
D.P. DOUGH
(FREE DELIVERY)

1. CHEESE $3.60
(ricotta, mozzarella, parmesan)
2. "VEGGIE" $3.60
(broccoli, mushroom, ricotta, mozzarella, parmesan)
3. SAUSAGE CALZONE $3.60
(sausage, peppers, mozzarella)
4. "RONI" $3.60
(pepperoni, mozzarella, ricotta, parmesan)
5. "THE SPINNER" $3.60
(spinach, mozzarella, parmesan, ricotta with a hint of garlic)
6. "OH ZONE!" $3.60
[illegible]
7. "SOUTHERN CAL...ZONE" $3.60
[illegible] and American cheese with Mexican seasoning)
8. "HAMZONE" $3.60 NEW!
[illegible]
9. "CHICKEN PARME-ZONE" $3.60
(breaded chicken with mozzarella and parmesan cheese)
10. "COMBO" $3.60 NEW!
(pepperoni, sausage, peppers, mushroom, mozzarella)
11. EGGPLANT" $3.60
(breaded eggplant, mozzarella and garlic

$1.00 OFF
ANY DELIVERY ORDER
Minimum of 2 Calzones
256-1616
with coupon Exp. 8-15-90 05% MASS SALES TAX

OPEN AT 4:00 PM

Trash room fire in Cashin second in week

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

Police and fire personnel responded early Friday morning to a trash can fire in the fifth floor trash room of the Cashin Residence Hall. It was the second trash room fire in a week in the building.

Fire Chief Victor Zumbrushi said that the fire appeared to be suspicious and is under investigation.

POLICE LOG

In other police reports:

LARCENY

- A woman reported the theft of her leather jacket Thursday while attending a fashion show in the Campus Center Auditorium. Personal property and $30 in cash were taken. The estimated value is $240.
- A woman in Whitmore Administration Building reported the theft of her wallet and checkbook Thursday. The estimated value is $40.
- A man reported the theft of his jacket and personal property Thursday from the men's room in Boyden Gym. The estimated value is $85.

VANDALISM

- Police were called to Patterson Thursday where derogatory graffiti was written on a wall in the stairwell.

DISTURBANCES

- Police and ambulance personnel were called to the Bluewall Snack Bar Thursday for a report of a woman undergoing a diabetic reaction. The woman was taken to University Health Services.

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

SITTING ON THE HILL — Fans gather at Boydem Field for the home opener of the University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse season.

Astronomer questions heavens

By DAWN POWERS
Collegian Correspondent

Astronomy Professor Thomas Arny has a lot of questions about our universe.

Why are the moon and earth so different from each other when they are the same distance from the sun? Why is the sun so big and so hot compared to the earth? These are some of Arny's questions.

Arny, who teaches Astromony 100 at the University of Massachusetts, is spending his time thinking about answers to these questions, and trying to get students interested in these same questions.

Arny first became interested in astronomy as a child when his grandfather would show him the rings of Saturn, the moons of Jupiter and the craters on the moon through a small telescope.

Later in high school, he and a friend would go star-gazing.

"I thought astronomy was interesting, it deals with interesting things," he said. "I like mathematics and it's a chance to combine things that have to do with math with things that you can see and that are pretty."

"There are also neat ideas in astronomy, things like black holes, things like where the universe came from, things like why there are clouds," he said. "These are all interesting questions and I wanted to participate in trying to understand them."

This interest led him to pursue an undergraduate degree in astronomy at Haverford College and then to go for a doctoral degree at the University of Arizona.

Arny completed one year of post-doctoral work before arriving at UMass, where he has taught for the past 23 years.

He currently spends nearly all of his time teaching.

"I like teaching, although it's got its ups and downs," he said. "It's like a hobby I want to share with other people."

"Because I like astronomy, I like to share my interest in it with other people," he said. "I find it is fun to talk with other people about what astronomy is like, to try to explain to people why things work the way they do.

"I think it's important for people to understand how we know things," he said. "I don't think its sufficient to simply tell people. I think it's important they understand how we can know that."

Although he enjoys sharing what he knows with his students, Arny would like to spend more time writing. He is currently working on two textbooks.

Arny, who has a strong interest in travel, said: "The planet is an amazing place, filled with fantastic change and I'd like to see as many as possible and share them with people."

Arny's main objective in teaching is to share his knowledge and interest in astronomy with others, he said.

"I'm torn in teaching between wanting people to come away from the course having learned something and also having good feelings toward the subject matter," he said. "I want them to have some sense of where they fit into the overall scheme of things in the universe."

ARE YOU CONCERNED ABOUT EATING PROBLEMS?
Anorexia Nervosa
Bulimia or
Compulsive Eating

If so, come find ways to help yourself or a friend.

Single Session
When: Thursdays, 5:30-6:30 p.m.
February 8 - May 11
Where: University Health Center,
Room 304
General information on eating disorders
Film
Information on resources and self help groups on and off campus.

10 week series
(Come to any one or all ten.)
When: Tuesdays, 4:00-5:00 p.m.
March 6 - May 1
Where: UMass Campus Center
Room 917
March 13 - Breaking the Binge/Purge Cycle
March 27 - Using Food Diaries
April 3 - Stress, Academic Pressures and Eating Behavior
April 10 - Exercise

Confidential and supportive atmosphere.
No Charge - No Registration - Just Drop-In
Programs Sponsored by University Health Services 549-2671 x 181.

RESUME
CONSULTATIONS & PRINTING

• SECRETARIAL SERVICES
• Resume Consultations & Printing
• Cover Letters
• Tax Preparation
• Manuscripts
• FAX Service

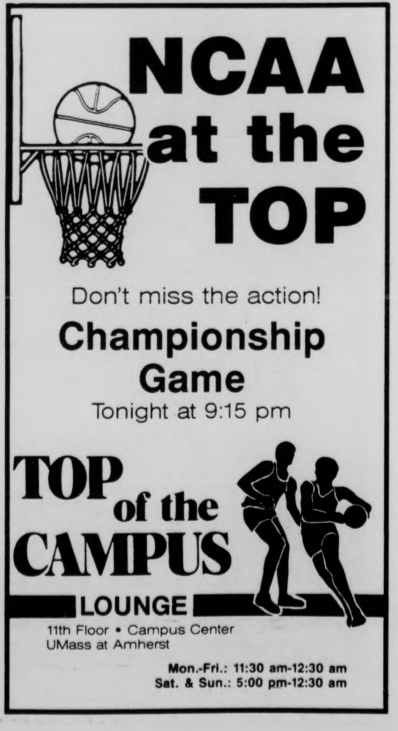
• TEMPORARY PERSONNEL
• Always Interviewing for full & part-time employment
• Flexible Hours
• Benefits

• BUSINESS MANAGEMENT SERVICES

DOVE
Business Associates, Inc.
79 So. Pleasant St., Amherst
256-1335 • 253-7480

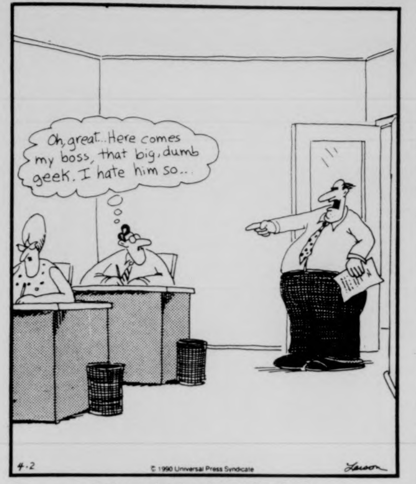
ACADEMY of MUSIC NORTHAMPTON Opera House 584-8435
8TH & FINAL WEEK - ENDS THURSDAY
Story of Christy Brown Irish Artist/Writer
CURTAIN DAILY 7:00 and 9:00
BEST ACTOR DANIEL DAY-LEWIS
BEST SUPPORTING ACTRESS BRENDA FRICKER
"A TITANIC TRIUMPH! A MOTION PICTURE THAT EXPLODES WITH PASSION, HUMILITY AND LIFE." —REX REED
"ENORMOUSLY ENTERTAINING! TWO VERY ENTHUSIASTIC THUMBS UP!." —SISKEL & EBERT
Daniel Day-Lewis
MY LEFT FOOT
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

TOMORROW!
UMass Dijon Summer Program in France informational meeting from 6:00 to 7:00 pm in Herter Hall 301. Study for six weeks in the beautiful Burgundy of eastern France.



NCAA at the TOP
Don't miss the action!
Championship Game
Tonight at 9:15 pm
TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE
11th Floor • Campus Center
UMass at Amherst
Mon.-Fri.: 11:30 am-12:30 am
Sat. & Sun.: 5:00 pm-12:30 am

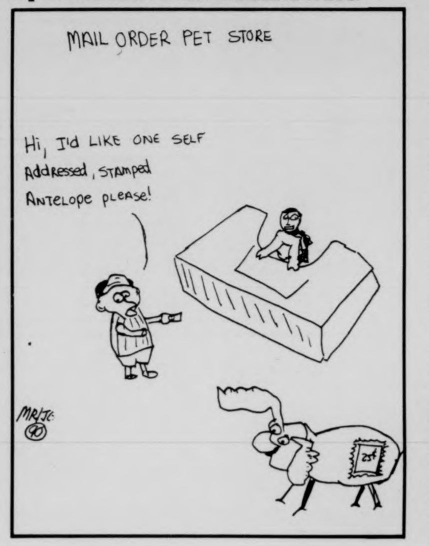
THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON



Oh, great... Here comes my boss, that big, dumb geek. I hate him so...
4-2
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate
Larson

"Oh, yeah? Lewis, you're fired! You apparently forgot this is a cartoon, and I can read every word you think!"

BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENZWEIG



MAIL ORDER PET STORE
Hi, I'd LIKE ONE SELF Addressed, STAMPED ANTELOPE PLEASE!
25¢
MR/JG 90

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

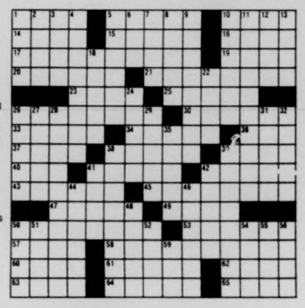
ACROSS
1 Biting remark
5 Furtive looks
10 Shoshonean Indians
14 Hautboy
15 Patois
16 Artist's subject
17 One who appears strong, but is weak
19 Ship's jail
20 Dagger
21 Enter
23 Guadeloupe and Martinique
25 Louis or Paul
26 Ready to fight
30 Gorgon slain by Perseus
33 Currency
34 Facilitated
36 Butter
37 "Gil —": Lesage novel
38 Manipulator
39 Sicilian landmark
40 Rebuke
41 — Fourche, Dak.
42 Tempests of a sort
43 Up
45 Sprinklers
47 Fellows
49 Signet
50 World of boxing
53 Afternoon nap
57 Precedes gram
58 Stop at nothing
60 Blue birds
61 Lower deck
62 Time past
63 Words of understanding
64 Fits into
65 Lambs' mothers

DOWN
1 Swats
2 "Like — out of hell"
3 Resembling a cord
4 Direct routes
5 Glib speech
6 Silkworm
7 Some are poached
8 Versifiers
9 Decoration
10 Loosen
11 Capsize
12 Redact
13 Utah state flower
18 Track event
22 —-a-terre
24 Kitchen emanation
26 Shadow
27 Certain bear
28 Highly unlikely!
29 Spanker and topgallant
31 More lucid
32 Collect
35 Percolates
38 Five-sided figure
39 Sharp watch
41 River of N and cen Bolivia
42 Chalice
44 Bristly
46 "— Fables"
48 Night sound
50 Suva is the capital
51 Lupino and Tarbell
52 Leatherworkers' tools
54 Evince
55 Ran
56 Matures
59 Torrid

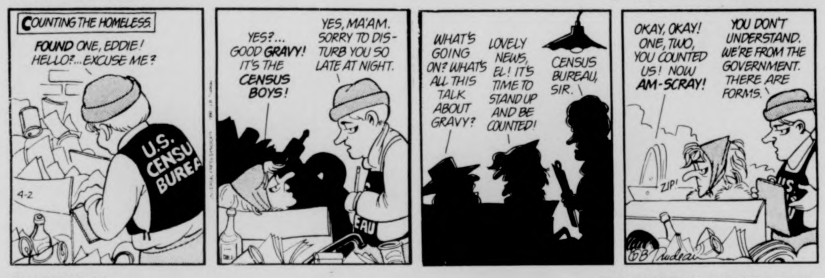
ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

M	A	N	N		J	A	M			S	T	A	S	H
E	D	I	E		I	W	O		N	E	A	R	T	O
L	E	T	U	S	B	E	T	H	A	N	K	F	U	L
T	A	R	T	E			I	O	N		E	S	N	E
	F	O	R	T	H	E	F	O	O	L	S
			O	T	I	S				O	I	L	E	R
A	S	I	N		T	E	O		B	O	N	I	T	O
B	U	T		F	O	R	T	H	E	M		M	O	O
B	O	B	B	I	N		T	O	N		D	E	N	T
A	R	E	A	S				P	E	P	E
			T	H	E	R	E	S	T	O	F	U	S
S	H	O	T		N	I	N			R	I	L	K	E
C	O	U	L	D	N	O	T	S	U	C	C	E	E	D
A	S	T	E	R	S		E	L	K		I	M	I	N
M	E	S	S	Y			R	Y	E		T	A	N	A

4/2/90

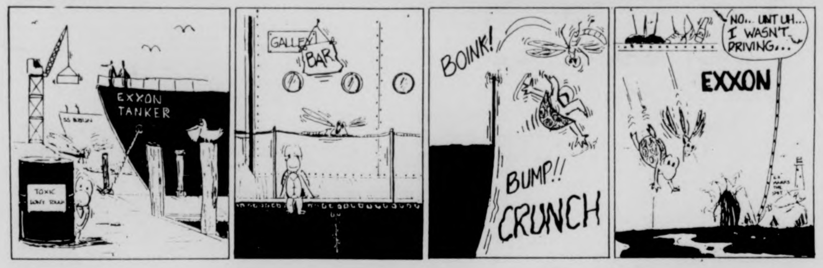


DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU

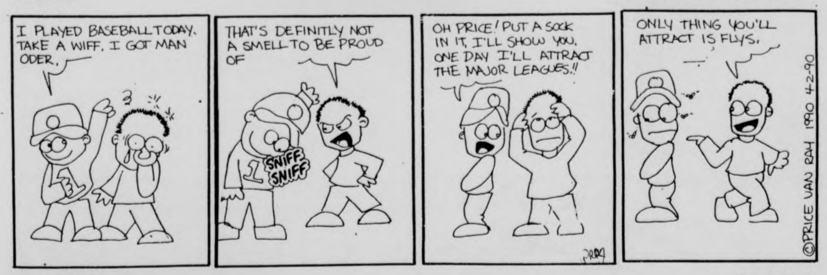


COUNTING THE HOMELESS.
FOUND ONE, EDDIE! HELLO?... EXCUSE ME?
U.S. CENSU BUREA
4-2
YES?... GOOD GRAVY! IT'S THE CENSUS BOYS!
YES, MA'AM. SORRY TO DISTURB YOU SO LATE AT NIGHT.
WHAT'S GOING ON? WHAT'S ALL THIS TALK ABOUT GRAVY?
LOVELY NEWS, EL! IT'S TIME TO STAND UP AND BE COUNTED!
CENSUS BUREAU, SIR.
OKAY, OKAY! ONE, TWO, YOU COUNTED US! NOW AM-SCRAY!
YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND. WE'RE FROM THE GOVERNMENT. THERE ARE FORMS.
ZIP!
GB Trudeau

IGGMAN
By DREW AQUILINA



PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



I PLAYED BASEBALL TODAY. TAKE A WIFF. I GOT MAN ODER.
THAT'S DEFINITLY NOT A SMELL TO BE PROUD OF SNIFF SNIFF
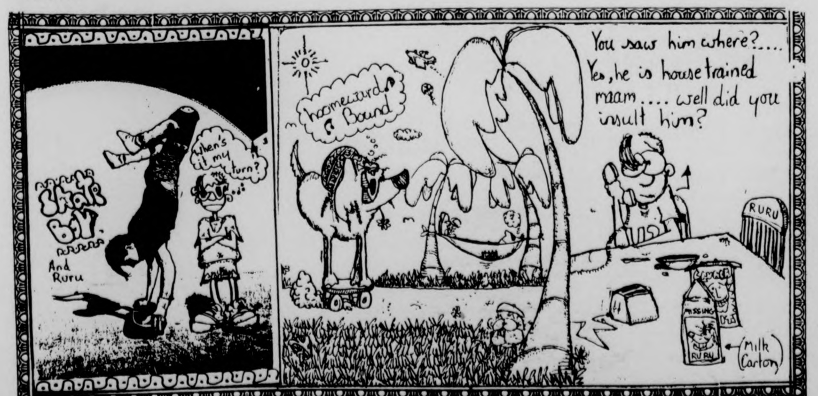
OH PRICE! PUT A SOCK IN IT. I'LL SHOW YOU. ONE DAY I'LL ATTRACT THE MAJOR LEAGUES!!
ONLY THING YOU'LL ATTRACT IS FLYS.
©PRICE VAN RAY 1990 4-2-90

NIPPLE
By PITT



MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Clam Roll Pizza	Pineapple Ham Steak Chicken Fajitas
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Clam Roll Pizza	Cheese Spinach Chicken Fajitas

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A candid chat with your mate or partner will clear the air. An optimistic friend lifts your spirits. Offer a helping hand to someone who may be shy about asking for assistance.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Seek quiet surroundings where you can work. A friend who likes to chatter can waste valuable time. Be kind but firm! Discuss a recent disappointment honestly. A new relationship needs nurturing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Keep a tighter rein on spending. Tackle the chores you most dread at the earliest opportunity. Your emotions will be on an even keel. Financial deals and real estate transactions are a top priority.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Be aggressive about displaying your skills to important people. A new project will benefit from your involvement and become a showcase for your creativity. Your social life accelerates.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You could be going through the process of assessing emotional connections. Try not to dwell on possible problems. Widen your social horizons by doing some entertaining. Limit spending.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You may be searching for security in a relationship bur have private doubts about where your true happiness lies. Work is excellent therapy. A decision higher-ups make today will bring you extra benefits.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Assume the role or peacemaker in a business flap. Others will reveal their motives without even realizing it. Keep the atmosphere at home happy and relaxed. Guard a friend's secret as you would your own.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You get a wonderful opportunity to put a new idea across. The time is right to push for a promotion. Rely on your mate or partner for help on a secret project.

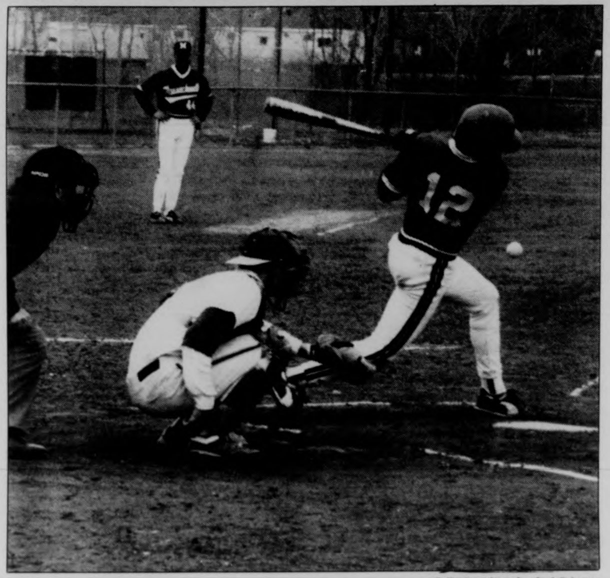
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Tact will help you settle a personnel problem. A troubled alliance can be salvaged if you surrender certain illusions. A chronic health problem responds to new treatment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Long-term plans are fueled and ready to soar. Obtaining widespread support or a public agreement could pay high returns. Stir things up! Action breeds success. Your home life is worth sharing tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Mishaps with money are still a possibility. Be thrifty and pay attention to detail. Keep track of the clock; time flies and you could be running late. A relationship begins to intensify.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A harmonious work environment makes this a good day for reaching agreements. You could win when joint profits are the topic. A stranger offers some timely tips on investing. Romance looks promising.

TODAY'S STAFF
Night Editor..........George Austin
Copy Editor..........Adrienne Matt
Layout Technician..........Rick Seto
Photo Technician..........Joel Solomon
Production Supervisor......Michelle Gemme
Typesetter..........Arnold Salvati
Production.........Mike Carvalho, Steve Fadden, Mike Scott WareWolf



Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

Freshman outfielder Steve Corradi fouls off a pitch during yesterday's sweep of St. Joseph's.

■ baseball

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

a run-scoring base hit by Ian Torres knotted the game.

The Minutemen took the lead for good when Dan Biagini knocked home Derek Dana. Torres scored the fourth UMass run in the fifth and the home team crossed the plate three more times in the sixth to seal the sweep.

"We just take them one game at a time," Stone said. "We're looking for the sweep [today]."

After 12 games the Minutemen are playing .500 ball and with a sweep today they could climb above the Mendoza line for the first time this season. More importantly is the fact that the Minutemen are playing inspired baseball, getting good pitching and timely hitting.

■ men's lacrosse

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

Making his first start in front of the home folks, Kellerman did his best to dispel the memories of Sal What's-his-name, coming up with 26 saves.

"Teddy played great. He came up with some big saves," Garber said.

Although the muddy field made for a fairly sloppy show, UMass still had its share of high-flying moments, having the better of the contest for the most part.

"Maybe 40 of the 60 minutes were good lacrosse. The other 20 were sort of blase," Garber said.

Remember though, that UMas has been outside for only two weeks. Just as the temperatures will be soaring in the future, the Gorillas will only improve as the season rolls along.

It would have been hard to imagine UMass playing any better than it did in the first five minutes, when it blew out the blocks for a quick 4-0 lead.

Soudan took a faceoff feed from Vinny D'Angelo and bolted straight downfield, whipping a shot past Redmen goalie Jim Mule just 15 seconds into the game.

Just over a minute later at 1:24, Codignotto hit McAleavey at the right post with a centering pass, and McAleavey had easy pickings for a 2-0 UMass edge.

McAleavey returned the favor at 3:57, picking up a ground ball and feeding Hiller for a breakaway goal. And when Codignotto one-timed a McAleavey pass on a man-up at 4:58, thoughts of a rout were circulating with a quick 4-0 bulge.

St. John's coach Bill Miltenberg wisely called time out to circle the wagons, and his team responded with three in a row to bring the game back to life. Thomas Dean, Andrew Bolger and David Graham all hit within three minutes to slice it to 4-3. Two of the three goals came with the Gorillas on the man-down.

"The key was, we kept fouling them," Garber said. "We work on poke checks [in practice], and then we get into a game and act like we don't know what a poke check is."

UMass did bounce back to lead 6-4 after one, as Soudan and sophomore attack Mike Cain (two goals) struck before period's end. Goals by senior midfielder John Gonzales, Codignotto and Cain had UMass flying again early in the second, 9-4. The lead stood at 10-6 at the half.

The first half was marred with penalties (six on each team), and while UMass was struggling with its man-up game, St. John's took advantage of the extra-man situations to stay alive.

"That's what kept them in the game," Garber said. "Four of their six goals were man-up. The problem was, they were hustle fouls. We were trying hard, but there's a fine line between being aggressive and committing stupid penalties."

St. John's made its last big run to start the second half, getting goals from Brian Bugge and John Kolesar to cut it to 10-8 at 4:33. But the Gorillas rattled off five straight to open it back up and finally deflate the Redmen for good.

Codignotto had a pair of goals in the run, while Soudan and junior midfielders Rich Senatore and Jim Kushner added one each.

On the other side, Chris Johnston and David Graham had three goals each for the Redmen, while Brian Bugge had two along with three assists and Andrew Bolger added a goal and four assists. Mule came up with 27 saves.

This week in UMass sports

Today:
Baseball vs. St. Joseph's (2), noon
Tomorrow:
Baseball vs. Holy Cross, 3 p.m.
Softball at Rhode Island (2), 3 p.m.
Women's lacrosse vs. Boston College, 3:30 p.m.
Wednesday:
Men's lacrosse at Brown, 7 p.m.
Women's lacrosse vs. Vermont, 3:30 p.m.
Men's tennis vs. Holy Cross, 3 p.m.
Thursday:
Baseball at Hartford, 3 p.m.
Softball vs. Hartford (2), 3 p.m.
Women's tennis at Connecticut, 3 p.m.
Friday:
Women's lacrosse vs. James Madison at Boston College, 3 p.m.
Saturday:
Men's lacrosse vs. New Hampshire, 1 p.m.
Baseball vs. Dartmouth (2), noon
Softball at St. Bonaventure (2), noon
Men's track at Dartmouth, noon
Women's track at Dartmouth, noon
Women's tennis at Providence, noon
Sunday:
Softball at Penn State (2), noon

CANS
NEWS PAPER HERE
BOTTLES

charlie's
1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11 a.m.
7 Days A Week • Call for Take Out
Kitchen Open 'till midnight
New Game Room with 2 Pool Tables
Tonight 10¢ Mozzarella Sticks
9:00 PM - 12:00 AM
Beer of the Month Amstel Light $1.75
Drink of the Week Gin & Tonic $1.75
FOOD GIVE-A-WAYS
Tues. 10¢ Buffalo Wings 9-12
Wed. 99¢ Nacho & Cheese Platters and 25¢ Cheese Pizza Silces 9-12
Sunday 10¢ Potato Skins 9-12
We accept MC/VISA/AMEX

Concert Security Workers—Summer '90

The Fine Arts Center is hiring students for concert security and site work at the Bright Moments Jazz Festival during the month of July. Concerts will be held on the Campus Pond lawn on the evenings of July 12, 19, 26. Applications are available in Room 207 Hasbrouck Lab from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. The Fine Arts Center is an AA/EOE. Applications will be accepted through June 15. Direct all inquiries to Barbara Aldrich or Mary Gannon, 545-0190. Earn money and experience in an enjoyable atmosphere.

The GYM at mountain farms mall
RTE 9 ON THE AMHERST/HADLEY LINE
ON THE BUS ROUTE AND LOTS OF PARKING
584-2175
UNLIMITED AEROBICS CLASSES $49.00 FOR THE REST OF THE SEMESTER
EITHER MEMBERSHIP SPECIAL IS FOR MEMBERSHIP THRU MAY 31st
UNLIMITED MEMBERSHIP AT THE GYM $59.00 FOR THE REST OF THE SEMESTER

Pizza & Bowl Special
"Dugout Snack Shack"
Mon. & Wed. Nights
10 P.M. – Midnight
• 2 HOURS BOWLING
• ALL THE PIZZA YOU CAN EAT!
Only $5.00/Person
College Special
with college ID
Every Thurs. Night 9:00 p.m.—12:00 a.m.
3 Games of Bowling and Shoe Rental for
$4.00
Don't Miss Out
Call To Reserve Your Spot!
Northampton Bowl
525 Pleasant St.
584-4830

NCAA contest leaders

OK, no more phone calls. Here are the favorites in HoopContest IV to win the three-month Karate Health and Fitness membership.

Everything hinges on tonight's championship game between UNLV and Duke, with 32 points at stake. Only two people can win, and each have both teams in the finals.

Hillary Steinberg leads with 98 points, and can win if UNLV wins. On the other hand, Tamir Lipton takes it all if Duke prevails.

One other person, James Doherty, also had UNLV beating Duke. But because he has 95 points, he cannot surpass Steinberg.

Five different people picked Duke to win it all, while numerous people have the Runnin' Rebs as the eventual champ.

CBS dumps Musburger

DENVER (AP) — Brent Musburger, the primary voice of CBS Sports during the 1980s, was fired by the network yesterday in a move that shocked officials at CBS and other networks.

Because the move was announced on April Fool's Day and one day before the NCAA basketball championship — which Musburger is scheduled to broadcast — many television officials at first dismissed it as a joke.

A worker at CBS Sports' studios in New York called The Associated Press insisting the announcement was not true, even while CBS Sports president Neal H. Pilson was discussing the move at the Final Four in Denver.

"It is not a joke," Pilson said. "It's a difficult decision. It's never easy to deal with individuals with whom you have personal or business relationships."

Musburger, whose 5 1/2-year contract expires in July, will broadcast tonight's championship game between UNLV and Duke as his final event for CBS.

"I was surprised, but it was a great run and I have a million memories, and I leave behind a lot of good friends," Musburger said in a statement read by Jimmy Tubbs, his personal assistant. "At this time, I'm going to take an extended vacation, and I'll be working again someday, somewhere."

Musburger, who has been with CBS Sports since 1975, was scheduled to become the main voice for CBS' baseball coverage, which begins April 14. He was also in line to be the host for the network's coverage of the 1992 and 1994 Winter Olympics.

Pilson said that negotiations for a new contract had been going on for several months between the network and Todd Musburger, who represents his brother.

"It wasn't right out of the blue," Tubbs said. "He knew for a couple of days that things were not going well in contract negotiations. Negotiations had been going on and they just broke off."

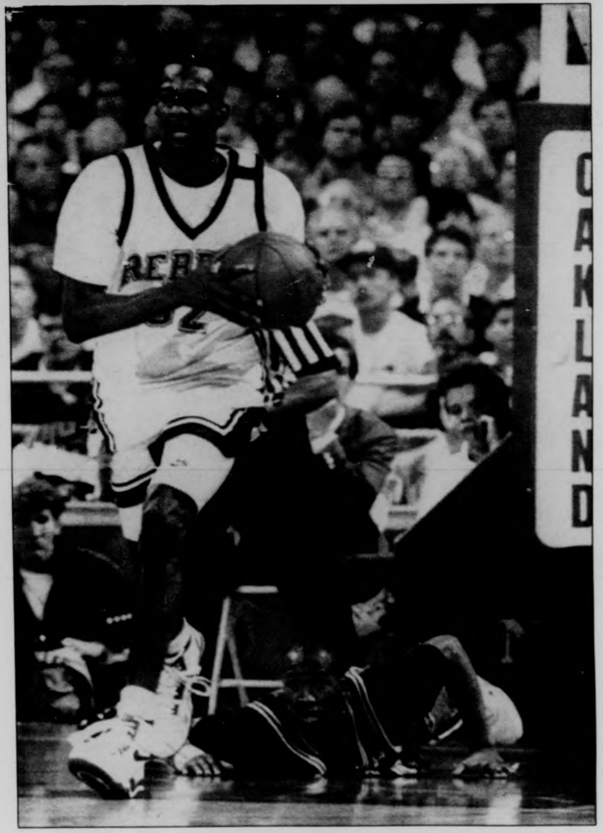
The first hint of the move came when CBS spokeswoman Susan Kerr read a terse two-paragraph statement.

"CBS Sports announced [yesterday] that it had declined to renew Brent Musburger's employment agreement, which expires within the next few months," the statement said. "Brent's final event for CBS Sports will be the NCAA men's championship game on Monday, April 2, 1990."

Musburger is in his sixth season as lead play-by-play man for the NCAA basketball tournament and has been host of "The NFL Today" since 1975. He has anchored the Masters golf tournament, the NBA finals, the Pan American Games and late-night coverage of the U.S. Open tennis tournament.

"We simply felt we wanted to give more opportunities to some of the younger people who currently work for us," said Pilson, who said CBS Sports executive producer Ted Shaker agreed with the decision.

"There's never a good time to have to announce a decision like this. We were asked by Brent's representative to make a decision, and that's what we did."



AP photo

Stacey Augmon and UNLV tip off against Duke tonight in the NCAA championship game at McNichols Sports Arena in Denver.

CLASSIFIEDS

COME TO THE COLLEGIAN OFFICE—CC 113 MON—THURS 8:30-3:30, FRI 8:30-2:30•DEADLINE 2 DAYS PRIOR TO PUBLICATION•CASH IN ADVANCE, 20¢/WORD/DAY FOR STUDENTS

ACTIVITIES

25 + CLUB MEETINGS TODAY: Business Meeting, 7 PM, and Support Group, 8 PM. Campus Center 911.

ATTENTION GOLDEN KEY MEMBERS
Golden Key General meeting
Tuesday April 3, 7:00
Campus Center 911-915

ATTENTION TRIATHLETES- Triathlon Club meetings every Tuesday 7 PM 249 Boyden Mike 6-6957

JAPAN AMERICA CLUB general meeting tonight! 7:00 PM Mary Lyon Basement Juggling performance and Japanese exercise program. Everyone is welcome!

LOCAL MENSA GATHERING TOC Restaurant Tues. 4/3/90 6:30 PM

WOCH GENERAL MEETING-Monday 4/2 9:30 PM in Grayson Main Lounge - Advertising staff needed! Bring your dues 546-6766 for more info.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

HEY ORCHARD HILL!
Come satisfy those late night munchies at SWEETS! Yes we have subs! Open 6 to midnight

APARTMENT SPECIAL

A LIMITED TIME ONLY, Northwood Apts. is offering a 2 Bdr. apt. for the price of a 1 Bdr. For more information on this special offer, please call Lanice at 665-3856. Rent an apt. for March and receive $100.00 off our first months rent. We have student short term leases and free bus service every 15 minutes on weekdays to UMASS and Amherst. (Available to new residents only)

AUTO FOR SALE

1981 AUDI 4000 Good condition $1000 Call Adam at 549-0920

1981 CHEVY CHEVETTE
Runs good For info 256-6920

1983 FORD ESCORT WAGON 52000 miles excellent condition air cond recent tune-up 1800.00 256-0933

* AMAZING 79 CHEVY CAPRICE *
Classic. Only 81Kmi, new tires, brakes, * engine belts, muffler, fine tuned * transmission. Very well maintained. Must see. Only $1900 or Best Offer. Call Lori
* 549-4291. *

"ATTENTION-GOVERNMENT SEIZED vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus buyers guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. A7627"

CHEVY MALIBU 74. Runs well $400 or B.O. Call Mark 253-5381

CREDIT CARDS

VISA regardless of credit history. Fascinating recording reveals FREE info. (413) 549-6149, ext. C-100. ANYTIME.

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW BEAT DJ'S $150.00 house progressive requests 256-0920

FOR A GOOD TIME CALL

RACK-A-DISC ENTERTAINMENT. disc jockeys, lights, rentals. 256-8526.

FOR RENT

LARGE SOUTHWOOD TOWNHOUSE with new carpeting will sell furniture
Call 256-6829

LG RM IN 2 BDRM for rent from May 29-July 29 $100/mnth Ask for Jim at 548-9323

ONE ROOM FOR RENT in Puffton Village. Call 549-1809

SUMMER SUBLET w/fall option
1 bdm in 4 bdm Swiss Village Apt
Only 250/Mo inc. everything
Sec. deposit thrown in free
Call 546-7250

FOR SALE

CD HOLDERS holds 70 CD's handcrafted woodwork $29 Call Jen 549-5664

FOR SALE--Cannondale Racing frame 3.0 never ridden; blue. $275 or B/O Call 253-9169 between 5-6 PM.

MARSHALL STUDIO 15 all tube amp. exc. condition, new mesh-B. tubes. 546-6677 $320.

FOUND

FOUND BLACK PURSE in CC Ladies Rm 3/29/90 if its yours call Bridget 549-7255

HELP WANTED

ACT FAST FOR a great summer job opportunity earn 6-18K this summer running your own business! Call today for more info 1-800-922-5579

"ATTENTION: EARN MONEY Reading Books! $32,000/year income potential. Details 1-602-838-8885 Ext. Bk 7627."

ATTENTION-HIRING! Government jobs-in your area. $17,840-$69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885. Ext R 7627

COUNSELORS coed camp in Berkshires 220 campers/85 staff has openings for head and assistant instructors in: Waterfront WSI, Head small crafts, Video filmaking, Tennis, Lacrosse, Arts & Crafts, Softball, Basketball, Computers, Hiking, Back packing, Drama, Radio station AM, Waterskiing, Sailing, Horseback riding (western), and bunk unit heads. Good salaries. Friendly atmosphere. June 19-Aug 20 Contact: Paul Krouner 617-964-1912. Call collect days 9-5

EARN $300 TO $500 per week. Reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B281

LIVE-IN HELPER for Cape Cod beach house. Dishwashing, cleaning, errands. Flexible hours. Room, board, and $150 a week. July 1 to September 1. For more information call collect 202-338-2950, Monday or Friday between 5PM and 8PM.

MODELS
2 yrs. to adult. No experience necessary. Selecting new faces for promotion to local and major advertisers. Presentations at 5 or 7 PM sharp on Weds., April 4 at Northampton Hilton I-91 Exit 18. Minors must be with legal guardian. Highlite modeling NYC & Scranton, PA (717) 346-3166

MODEL SEARCH—No experience necessary. Male and Female 562-9048 or 1-401-723-2900.

SUMMER JOBS TO SAVE ENVIRONMENT Earn $2500-$3500. National campaign positions to pass Clean Air Act, stop toxic pollution, tighten pesticide controls and promote comprehensive recycling. Available in 18 states and D.C. Intvs on campus 4/3, 4/4. Call Kate at: 1-800-75-EARTH.

THERE'S A JOB FOR YOU IN A SUMMER CAMP
The American Camping Association (NY) will make your application avail. to over 300 camps in the Northeast. Exciting opportunities for college students and professionals. Positions avail: all land and water sports, kitchen, maintenance, arts and crafts, drama, music, dance, nature, tripping, R.N.'s, M.D.s College Credit Available. Call or write for application. American Camping Association, 12 West 31st Street, New York, NY 10001, 1-800-777-CAMP.

INTERNSHIP INFORMATION

INFORMATION SESSION for those interested in Internships with the Legal Services Center at UMASS. Wednesday, April 4th, 3:30 PM in Campus Center room 905. Be there! For more information, drop by room 922 CC or call 545-1995.

LOOK WHAT'S HERE

!!!*LOOK WHAT'S HERE****!!!
UMASS Hospital Pants
Green & White
CHEAP!!!!!
Great Gift Call
Randee or Lisa
6-8897 Leave message

LEAVING PUFFTON?

WE WANT TO TAKE over your lease. Will pay for summer months. Call 546-1235.

LOST

KEY ON A BRASS key chain with a D initial If found please call Amanda at 546-5476

LOST
Gold bracelet-has 3 thin ropes
Great sentimental value! Reward given if found-call 546-9480

THIN RIMMED BROWNISH gold framed reading glasses. Between JQA and FAC. If found please call Rusty at 6-8474

THURSDAY MARCH 28 4 PM
White cashmere scarf near Internship Office in Curry Hicks if found please call Barb 546-5510 Cash Reward

NATASHA DIEPHUIS

CONGRATULATIONS to Natasha Diephuis, newly elected SGA President. Don't worry - you'll get to Costa Rica some day soon - this will be worth it. Good luck and always remember to carry a grape between your teeth, a coffee filter (for those emergency situations) and never, ever forget to phone home again!!
Love always, Lisa and Randi

PAINTING, PAPERHANGING, POWERWASHING

A SPRING SPRUCE UP FOR YOUR HOME.
Painting-interior & exterior-, wallpapering; powerwashing for your wooden or vinyl homes - They'll look like new-
Call after 5, or weekends anytime. Fully insured, reasonable rates - Frank 1-413-467-3465 Granby

PERSONALS

CONGRATULATIONS NATASHA- The new SGA President. It's well deserved. We wish you the best of luck. Love, the Sisters of SDT

DOUG B. Spring Break was the "O" word!
Thanks for all the "dehydration" advice in Florida. We wouldn't have survived without you!
Your Brothers- Darryl and Darryl

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TODD RUGGIERO! Hope you have a great day. Love Lauren & Heather

JAYME RADDING Hope you have an awesome 20th Birthday! Love, Heather & Lauren MM THE FIRST few months have been awesome. I hope it continues. Looking forward to Vermont and Cali??

Love ya Jeffrey

OWLGGER-
I love you bigger than a breadbox.
-Poohbit

SIR LOINK ALOT:
We can't wait to see you get marinated Wednesday night. By the way, can you get crunchberries and Pepsi to fit in a vial if you aim right? You may be in the top 7 but we think you're #1, so we'll tell you our fluffenutter phantasies if you tell us yours! Happy 21! Love the Deadbeat Club!
P.S. Don't kill us or we'll make provisions in our wills to make public the truth concerning the millions.

TAMMY HANNON! Happy Birthday!
I hope this year be especially happy for you!
Love, Mami

THE HOT BABES at 138D Brittany
In case you're wondering - I'm still alive. I'm trying to figure out what will happen first; you guys having me for dinner, or Hell freezing over! My number is in the book.
Love ya- Marci from Medford

TOBY!! Iwa L'Ewa - You are beauty

TODAY IS KAREN E. ANDERSON'S Birthday! Although she may not look it, she's finally 21! Someone please take her out for a drink. Luv, Lisa

RIDE WANTED

GOING TO VIRGINIA? I need a ride way bad. Anytime. I'll pay gas. I'll pay tolls. I'll talk if you want me to. I won't if you don't. I'll even be willing to name my first-born child after you. Call 545-3500. Ask for Al.

I NEED A RIDE anywhere in Southern Maine for Easter weekend. Will share expenses. Call Jenna 549-9325

ROOM FOR RENT

LARGE ROOM IN a 3 bedroom apt. available stop by Puffton Village No.63 or Call 256-1901

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 BEDRM IN 2 BEDRM APT. in Sunderland $190/mn, on bus rt., 665-3403

SERVICES

LEGAL QUESTIONS? The Legal Services Center offers free legal assistance to fee-paying students. Contact us at 922 Campus Center, 545-1995.

RESUMES! I will do your resumes for $10 to $30 less than the local print shops! Call me evenings! Rick 586-1642

SEND LITTLE PERSON a letter from the Easter Bunny! Lauren 546-6564 Leave message

SUMMER SUBLET

2 LARGE FURNISHED singles 132.50 each. Colonial Village. Females preferred. June-August. Call 256-4167

BRANDYWINE APT available, very clean, furnished. Call 549-8226

NEEDED 1-2 to sublet for summer
Mill Valley Apt behind Brittany
Call 256-1331

SUMMER SUBLET
Single bdrm in large furnished
Townhouse apt. 225/month or BO
Call Craig at 549-4246

T'AI CHI

CHEN STYLE T'AI CHI class begins April 10 6:30 - 7:45 Tues. & Thurs. Free demo April 3 Call 585-8931

TAKE OVER OUR LEASE

AVAILABLE JUNE 1- Gorgeous, new split level house. Minutes from buses, four bedrooms, two full baths, large driveway and garage- great house in nice Amherst neighborhood- some furniture available also! Affordable & convenient- call us for info: 253-9105 - please leave message and number

TRAVEL

LEARN TO SCUBA DIVE Earn credit
Basic course, Fall semester $195
Bonaire May 26 - June 2 $750
Key Largo Aug 26 - Sept 1 Sport Scuba $380, U/W Photography $395
Call Project Deep 256-6266

TYPING

FAST ACCURATE TYPING
Spell check 1.75/pg
Call Ashley at 546-6756

TYPING/PRO

DISSERTATIONS, CASES, PAPERS
On-Campus, Affordable, Grammar/Spelling Reviewed. 584-7924 Nancy

WANTED

BACK UP SINGERS needed Gigs lined up. Call ASAP 256-4602, Ask for Jon.

ONE BEDROOM PUFFTON APARTMENT
We want to take over your lease. Call 549-1609 and leave a message.

NON-TRADITIONAL STUDENT seeks single room in Amherst immediately! Will take over entire lease if necessary! Pref. Amity Place-call 549-1675

SPORTS

Gorillas roll past St. John's, 16-11

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

Sophomore attack Mike Cain (right) battles St. John's defender Alex Brennan for a ground ball during Saturday's 16-11 Gorilla win at The Hill.

Codignotto nets five goals for UMass in home opener

By JIM CLARK
Collegian Staff

It appears some of you who may have taken a stroll past Boyden Field early Saturday afternoon were surprised to see on the scoreboard that the University of Massachusetts men's lacrosse team was losing.

Hah. Joke's on you, and it really had nothing to do with yesterday's holiday (at least we don't think it did). The part of the board that shows the 10's part of the UMass score wasn't functioning properly.

So rest assured that the Gorillas won their home opener, knocking off St. John's University, 16-11. Honest.

It may not have been a typically warm spring day on The Hill, but that couldn't stop UMass from continuing its sizzling scoring ways.

The run-n-gun Gorillas (3-1) are averaging better than 21 goals per game at this early stage in the season. Saturday's frozen crowd of 2,022 got treated to another offensive show.

As senior attack Rob Codignotto said, "We were hot."

And Codignotto was hottest of them all, chipping in a career-high five goals and adding a pair of assists to pace the usual balanced Gorilla assault. Senior midfielder Tim Soudan had four goals and an assist, while junior attack Jim McAleavey picked up five assists along with a goal.

"Both go to the goal hard 1-on-1," said UMass coach Dick Garber of Codignotto and Soudan. "Soudo has just a great shot, and 'Notto goes well from the wing."

The Redmen were able to hold UM's top gun, senior attack Scott Hiller to a single goal, but didn't have enough to stop everyone.

"We're counting on that. There's good distribution on this team," Garber said.

But UMass could have been in trouble had it not been for a stellar performance by junior goalie Ted Kellerman.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10

Baseball gains sweep of St. Joseph's

Minutemen, Hawks to meet again at noon

By TAMIR LIPTON
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts baseball team opened their Atlantic 10 campaign with one dramatic, and one well-played, well-pitched contest, each resulting in victories.

Snow on Friday postponed play between UMass and St. Joseph's scheduled for Saturday. The two teams did however, manage to play ball yesterday at Lorden Field. In game one, UMass sophomore Brian Bright smacked a lead off seventh inning home run over the left field fence to give the Minutemen a 5-4 win.

"Brian's homer gave us a push," said UMass coach Mike Stone. "We came from behind [to win the game]." But more importantly, the homer gave UMass the momentum going into the second game, which the Minutemen won, 7-3.

The same two teams take the field again today at noon for another double dip.

In game one, UMass surrendered a 3-2 lead in the top half of the fifth inning when Mike Migliarese doubled hard off the wall against UMass pitcher Rich Graham. Migliarese's double knocked home two runs and put the Hawks ahead 4-3.

The Minutemen (6-6 overall, 2-0 in the A-10) rebounded in their half of the fifth when Steve Frank committed a costly error (his first of the season). Bright reached on the error and eventually scored on a nubber down the first base line which was botched by St. Joseph's pitcher Mike Mangano. If Mangano had fielded the ball cleanly, the inning would have been over, and the Minutemen may have lost the game, but . . .

Graham was spectacular as he threw all seven innings, surrendering just six hits and striking out 10. The win improved Graham's record to 2-2. Clearly, Graham is Stone's ace at this point in the season. The sophomore has hurled a team high 24 innings and currently has a 3.75 earned run average.

UMass did most of its damage in the second, when they touched Mangano up for three runs on five hits. The Minutemen then scored a run in the fifth and a run in the seventh to win the game.

In the top of the fifth inning, St. Joseph's protested the game because UMass did not provide official A-10 balls. Apparently, the balls being used had higher seams than the normal balls. The Hawks also protested the second game and probably will protest the two games to be played today.

"It [the protest] won't hold up," Stone said. "Our balls are all A-10 balls. I'm on the protest committee anyway. A ball is a ball."

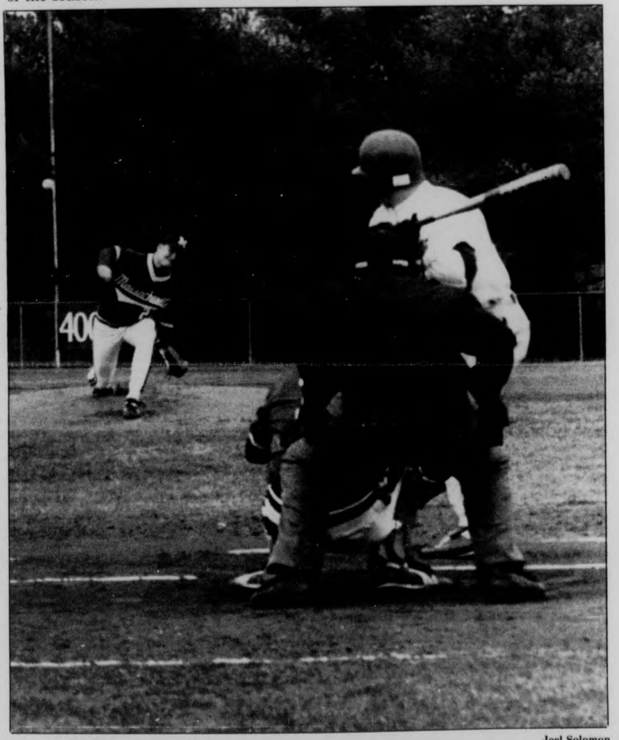
Protest and all the second game saw the Minutemen defeat the Hawks 7-3. John Russell pitched 5⅓ innings of two-hit ball to ignite the Minutemen.

Russell won his first game of the season and although he gave up three runs, none were earned. Stone pulled the righty in the sixth and brought in the Goose Gossage of the bullpen, lefty Jerry Creamer. Creamer came in and fanned three of the four batters that he faced, picking up his third save of the season.

The Minutemen trailed early 2-0 after a mammoth first inning dinger by Migliarese which landed some 20 feet in back of the fence. To their credit, the boys of spring came back in the third to tie the game.

A single by Mike Tobin (4-for-7 on the day), an RBI double by Steve Corradi, and

CONTINUED ON PAGE 10



Joel Solomon

Freshman righthander John Russell got the win on the mound for UMass in the second game of yesterday's sweep of St. Joseph's at Lorden Field.

Women gymnasts in NCAAs; softball, women's lax scrubbed

The University of Massachusetts women's gymnastics team, which finished the regular season at 13-2 and placed second in last weekend's Atlantic 10 Championships at Curry Hicks Cage, officially accepted a bid to the NCAA Northeast Regionals yesterday.

The Minutewomen will be seeded second in the seven-team field of the competition, which begins Thursday at Ohio State. Penn State, which captured the A-10 title, was seeded first. The University of New Hampshire is third and host Ohio State fourth.

This weekend's softball action at the University of Connecticut Tournament was cancelled because of inclement weather and poor field conditions. After the threat of bad weather, the University of North Carolina withdrew late last week, and Penn State University dropped out after Saturday's action was postponed.

The UMass women's lacrosse team also had its home opener postponed by Friday's rain. The Gazelles were supposed to face Brown University Friday at Totman Field. That game has been rescheduled for next Sunday at Totman. Game time was unknown as of yesterday.

WEATHER

It's going to be another day of cool, raw and rainy weather again. They call this Spring??

NEWS

A preview of the second Nonfiction Writers Conference, which kicks off today. Page 3.

WOMEN'S ISSUES

A University student tells her story of placing her child for adoption. Page 8.

TUESDAY

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY TUESDAY, APRIL 3, 1990

COLLEGIAN

VOLUME CXXIV LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY IN NEW ENGLAND ISSUE 40

Documents show UM holdings linked to S. Africa

University reportedly does nearly $1 million in business with companies tied to Apartheid

By PRATIP DASTIDAR
Collegian Staff

The University will not invest in any company or lending institution which either directly or through its subsidiaries or affiliates does business in or with the Republic of South Africa or in countries with similar apartheid racial policies. CLAUSE 2-A: University of Massachusetts' current investment policy.

Thirteen years have passed since the 1977 decision by the University to divest from the Republic of South Africa (RSA). However, documents received this week by the Collegian indicate that UMass endowment funds may be invested in companies that continue to do business with the RSA despite the official commitment to divestment.

The clause quoted above directs UMass not to invest in companies that: a) Own any direct or indirect corporate assets in the RSA (equity holdings); b) Conduct business with the RSA by any means such as licensing, franchise or distribution agreements (non-equity holdings).

The most recent (Aug. '89) UMass investment portfolio was cross-checked against a list of United States companies doing business in the RSA. The list was compiled by the New York-based American Committee on Africa.

The analysis reveals that UMass owns stock or bonds in the following entities that have dealings with South Africa:

- Baxter International Inc., which has a licensing and distribution agreement with Keagrams Ltd. (SA).
- Eaton Corp., an automotive company which has a distribution agreement with CHI Control Limited (SA).
- The following companies committed money in loans and underwritings to South African businesses ('72-'84): Sears Roebuck & Co. ($267.5 million); Morgan Stanley Group Inc. ($660.3 million); and Merchants National Corp., ($50 million).
- Digital Equipment Corp., which has a distribution agreement with Olivetti, a computer company operating in the RSA.
- Boeing Corp., which continues to sell spare parts in the RSA according to Johannesburg-based papers such as Business Day, The Financial Mail and Export News.
- Allegheny International Inc., which distributes its "Sunbeam" matches via a subsidiary of Lion Match Company (SA).
- Delta Airlines Inc., whose subsidiary, Western Airlines Inc., has a sales agent in the RSA.
- The State of Israel, which has business and military links to the RSA.

The net book value of the UMass stock invested in these companies is $956,346.79. This is about five percent of the total book value of all UMass investments ($20.32 million).

When asked yesterday to respond to the documentation, UMass spokeswoman Karin Sherbin refused to comment on the alleged infractions until they were verified.

"The treasurer's office monitors the investments made by the equity managers. If a discrepancy arises in the South Africa policy, the University requests the managers to sell the stocks. It is a good faith effort," she said.

She later contacted the Collegian to summarize her subsequent conversation with the UMass treasurer, Robert Brand, who was not available for comment.

Sherbin said Brand informed her that his office checks a monthly summary of investments with a directory of U.S. businesses in South Africa to ensure that the divestment policy is adhered to. She said the directory is compiled by a non-profit group called Investors Responsibility Research Center.

According to Sherbin, Brand claimed that UMass had decided to sell its stocks in DEC and Morgan Stanley this March.

He also claimed that the other companies cited above were not on the IRRC's list of companies linked to the RSA, she said. Sherbin said the treasurer's office is attempting to sell the Israeli bonds because they do not conform to the divestment policy.

Phil Marquis, the associate treasurer said yesterday: "The decision to depend on

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Galligan case still unresolved

By SARAH DEMASTER
Collegian Staff

Investigators searching for answers to the Dec. 18 slaying of Sharon Galligan remain discouraged because of a lack of substantial information, said Massachusetts State Police Lt. Edward Harrington.

"We're seeking any and all help, even if people don't think the information would be helpful," Harrington said yesterday.

He added that information about knives and articles of Galligan's clothing and clothing from several possible subjects are still being processed in the criminal laboratory in Boston.

Investigators believe that none of the knives sent to the laboratory are the murder weapon, he said.

A chemist who came to the mall to process Galligan's car is compiling information along with results from tests on the clothing and knives, he said.

"The information could help us tie somebody in once we identify someone, but won't help us identify anyone," he said.

Galligan, a University of Massachusetts junior psychology major, was stabbed to death in the Hampshire Mall parking lot. She was found the following day in her car by a shopper.

Harrington said citizens from throughout the area have continued to call Hampshire-Franklin County District Attorney Judd Carhart's office with information about the slaying.

The calls range from descriptions of people who fit a composite sketch released in January, to people who have acted in a negative manner toward women, he said.

As far as eliminating any possible subjects from the more than 100 people the office has on file, Harrington said, "We're not getting the right call at this time."

Harrington said members of the UMass community have not contacted the district attorney's office with as much information as investigators had hoped.

Although he said he did not wish to disclose what information the University has supplied about Galligan, Harrington said, "We're becoming aware that students and administrators have information that we didn't have. We hope that people on campus would have called."

"Unrelated persons" housing law questioned

By DARREN GARNICK
Collegian Staff

The Amherst Town Planning Board will hold a public forum tonight at the Town Hall to discuss the "four unrelated persons bylaw," a housing rule opponents say is designed to keep students from living in affluent Amherst neighborhoods.

According to the Amherst zoning bylaws, landlords must rent their property out to a 'family." Sections 12.091 - 12.093 of the bylaws define a family as: An individual residing in one dwelling unit; or a group of people related by marriage, blood and/or a group of unrelated individuals, not to exceed four, residing cooperatively in one dwelling unit.

Under this strict definition of "family," it is technically illegal for more than four unrelated people to live together in the same house or apartment. Because this restriction is easily ignored by 'ghost-tenants' — a people who secretly live in a residence without signing a lease — the town finds the bylaw difficult to to enforce.

Tonight, two citizen petitions to remove the "four unrelated person" clause from the books will be reviewed by the Planning Board. The petitions, filed by Amherst residents Richard Gold and Vince O' Connor, will be later adopted or rejected at the Amherst Town Meeting on April 23.

According to Gold, the Town Meeting usually votes in favor of the Planning Board's recommendations.

Gold, a former Select Board candidate, made the bylaw a key issue in last month's town election, charging that it discriminates against students. However, Gold is an Amherst landlord, a factor he said causes many local residents to be suspicious of his motives.

"Anytime I speak, I'm labeled as a landlord," Gold said. "People accuse me of having some financial interest [in the repeal of the bylaw]."

Calling the four unrelated persons law a civil rights issue, Gold said he hopes at least 20 students show up to the Planning Board meeting to voice their concerns.

O' Connor, an Amherst tenant for 15 years, said the word "family" was a sociological term and had nothing to do with renting property.

He urged that a representative from the UMass Off-Campus Housing Office attend the meeting as well as any student who has been threatened with eviction for not being on a lease.

"We need people there who understand the way students are victimized," O'Connor said. "It would be useful to have some contrary opinion [at the meeting]."

UM sorority helps Amherst soup kitchen

By RUSSELL SKELTON
Collegian Correspondent

The kitchen of the First Congregational Church in Amherst was a busy place Sunday as 30 volunteers from Chi Omega sorority served meals to people at Not Bread Alone, a soup kitchen in the church basement.

The 81 sisters and pledges of Chi Omega, rather than eating supper at the sorority house, served their dinner to some 40 people who visited the soup kitchen.

Allyson Lemerman, the Chi Omega philanthropy chairperson and a sophomore pre-education major, said the Sunday's activity was an outreach of the sorority's purpose.

"Chi Omega is geared toward community service," she said. "Also, we like to have a local orientation."

"We take so much for granted," she said. "We don't realize how fortunate we are. I joined Chi Omega for more than social reasons. I wanted to reach out."

LeeAnn Devlin, a senior economics major, echoed Lemerman's sentiments.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Collegian photo by Joel Solomon

Meg White, a junior Communications Education major, and Pamela Haddad,a senior Electrical Engineering major, prepare apple pies at Not Bread Alone Sunday.

■ soup kitchen

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"I was surprised to find that Amherst had a soup kitchen," she said. "This was a chance to help the community."

Stephanie Goldberg, a junior business major, explained that this kind of experience was not unusual for her. She has cooked dinner one night a week since January at the Helen Mitchell House, a shelter for homeless women and children near the center of Amherst.

Another sorority member, Pamela Jean Lovely, a senior communications major, said, "This is the best philanthropic thing Chi Omega has done. It was incredible how popular it was when it was first proposed."

Lemerman said that in addition to the sisters and pledges working in the kitchen, 20 others helped with flyers and publicity.

She added the sorority also conducted a drive to collect canned goods and basic personal items to donate to the soup kitchen.

Not Bread Alone provides lunch every Saturday and Sunday under the direction of Kim McDonald of the Center for Human Development, a local human services agency.

■ South Africa

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

the IRRC list [for investments] was made at the level of the [UMass] board of trustees."

Marquis said only some of the companies which manage UMass stocks consult the IRRC's list, conceding that this could lead to discrepancies between University policy and actual business transactions. "Such discrepancies can only be detected during the periodic updates [at UMass]," which occur monthly, he added.

Rob Jones, projects director at the American Committee on Africa, was contacted at the New York headquarters yesterday and checked the 1989 list issued by IRRC. He confirmed that Baxter International Inc. is listed as having non-equity transactions with the RSA.

"The [UMass, treasurer's office is not accurately monitoring all investments," he said.

Jones pointed out that the IRRC list has no record of the other South African connections named here. However, he checked the companies with ACA files, and verified that the connects listed above exist.

Jones said the IRRC maintains two separate listings, one for companies with direct investments and employees in the RSA and the other for companies with non-equity transactions. "The issue of universities neglecting non-equity transactions has been around for three years. The IRRC has only started examining such involvements this year," he said. "It is the business of the University to ensure that it accesses accurate lists and monitors transactions effectively."

Students reacted strongly to the allegations. Sekhulumi Ntsoaole, a South African student at UMass said: "I am shocked by the attitude reflected by this neglect."

Guillermo Iranzo, a Puerto Rican student added: "It is hypocritical for the school to invite Nelson Mandela here while ignoring divestment laws."

THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
COLLEGIAN
113 Campus Center, Amherst, MA, 01003.
Phone (413) 545-3500 FAX (413) 545-1592

STAFF

Editor in Chief........Maria Sacchetti
Managing Editor........George Austin
Editorial Editor........Minu Sebastian
News Editor........Lisa Shapiro
Sports Editor........Jim Clark
Arts Editors........Will Georgiades, Al Kaufman
Photography Editor........Dondi Ahearn
Black Affairs Editor........Dawn Pierce
Women's Issues Editor........Amy Henry
Multicultural Affairs Editor........Alexander Nguyen
Third World Affairs Editor........Pratip Dastidar
Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay Issues Editor........Chris Muther
Business Manager........Robert J. Bikash
Advertising Manager........Jennifer Ronan
Finance Manager........Martina Rios
Circulation Manager........Chris Baker
Subscription Manager........Joya Faretra
Promotions Manager........Donna Cusson
Production Managers........Terry Starmer, Mike Wester
Ad Manager........Rory Evans

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

Business........Lori Black, Brian Harrington
Maureen Majerowski
Graphics........Andrea Belanger

New England's largest college daily newspaper. Circulation: 21,000. Published every weekday during the calendar semester. The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is a Registered Student Organization of the University of Massachusetts.

AMHERST CINEMA
ROGER
&
ME
Fri., Sat. & Sun.
7 & 9:15
7:30 during the week
$2.50 with student ID
253-5426
30 Amity Street
Amherst, MA

Survey Personnel Needed for PVTA Ridership Survey

In order to improve service, the ridership of all PVTA bus routes will be surveyed during the first and second weeks of May. Each bus route will be surveyed for one day for the entire time it runs. Surveyors will be paid $7.00 to $8.00 an hour to distribute survey forms, answer questions and collect survey forms. All shifts are available. Ability to speak Spanish a plus. For more information call 781-6045.

Pioneer Valley
Planning Commission
26 Central Street
West Springfield, MA 01089

An EOE/AA employer

a unique opportunity for Math/Science
(Majors/Minors/Aptitudes)

For you and for the world. Peace Corps will combine your education with training to prepare you for a volunteer position in: • Education • Fisheries • Health • Agriculture • Forestry or other areas. You'll meet new people, learn a new language, experience a new culture and gain a whole new outlook. And while you're building your future, you'll be helping people in developing countries learn the basics of technological advancement.

Peace Corps
12 Draper Hall
UMASS
545-2105

Diamond Masterpieces
Invisible Setting of ...ion® cut diamonds
ALL DIAMONDS SPECIALLY PRICED DURING APRIL
silverscape designs
264 N. Pleasant St., Amherst 253-3324
3 Pleasant St., Northampton 584-3324

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
78 Old Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs and Reconditioning
Most Major Credit Cards Accepted

Spectacular! Summer at Northeastern University.

This summer let Northeastern University spark your imagination with:

- 70 part-time undergraduate degree programs
- Nearly 700 courses in Business Administration, Health Professions and Sciences, Liberal Arts, Criminal Justice and Security, and Engineering Technology
- Seven convenient locations including Main Boston, Liberty Square, Burlington, Dedham, Framingham, Marshfield, and Weymouth
- Courses offered on 10-week, 5-week, and 4-week schedules starting June 18

Yes, I want to spark my imagination this summer!
NAME
ADDRESS
CITY STATE ZIP
Send this coupon to Northeastern University, University College, P.O. Box 154, Boston, MA 02117-0154, or call 617-437-2400.
UA
Northeastern University
Part-time Undergraduate Programs
An equal opportunity/affirmative action university

Photographs & Memories last a lifetime.
1 Hour Color Service Available
Come in for our daily specials
Passport Photos Available
The Foto Factory
257 Triangle Street in Amherst
549-6490

LOCAL

Nonfiction writers highlight conference

By MEREDITH O'BRIEN
Collegian Staff

Nine top American non-fiction writers will attend this week's two-day Writer's Conference at the University of Massachusetts. This marks the second such conference in two years.

Norman Sims, chairman of the journalism department, began planning the conference last year. He said although he has the usual "pre-conference anxieties" about attendance, he believes the pool of "truly great writers" will draw quite a crowd.

> "Very few conferences take place about nonfiction. It has not been recognized as a literary form. We hope to shine the spotlight on literary nonfiction."
> – NORMAN SIMS

"We are really lucky, in the current economic crisis, to be able to bring these people here all the way from places like New York City, Los Angeles and Milwaukee," he said.

The conference — sponsored by the journalism department, Five Colleges Inc., the dean of humanities and fine arts and the Smith College American Studies Fund — aspires to explore artistic qualities in non-fiction writing.

"Very few conferences take place about non-fiction," Sims said. "It has not been recognized as a literary art form. We hope to shine the spotlight on literary non-fiction."

The conference will kick off at 7:30 p.m. today in Memorial Hall with a benefit concert for the Everywoman's Center.

Itabari Njeri, reporter for the Los Angeles Times and former Miami Herald reporter, will give a performance/reading from her memoir Every Good-bye Ain't Gone: Family Portraits and Personal Escapades.

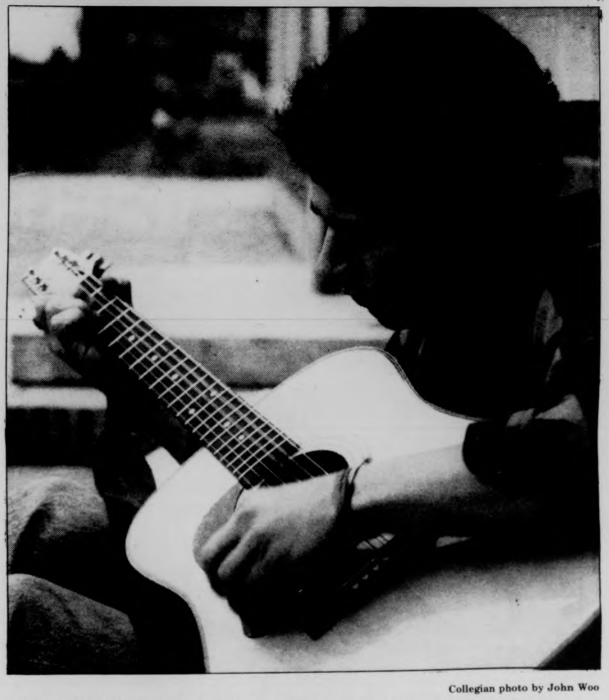
Though admission is free, donations to the Center are encouraged. The Jeffery Amherst Bookstore will be selling Njeri's book donating 10 percent of its sales to the Center.

Sims said Njeri's performance promises to be "exciting and different."

This year's ensemble of writers will speak on a variety of subjects including how writers actually report/research their topics and how they support themselves when working on long-term projects, Sims said.

Some of the speakers will include: Henry "Buzzy" Bissinger III, Pulitzer Prize Winning reporter for his series "Disorder in the Courts;" Tracy Kidder, Pulitzer Prize winning author of the books The Soul of a New Machine, House and Among Schoolchildren; and Anna Quindlen, New York Times columnist.

The four seminars will run from Wednesday to Thursday in Memorial Hall with sessions from 10 a.m.-12 p.m. and 1:30-3 p.m. each day.



Collegian photo by John Woo

THE STRUMMIN'BLUES – UMass junior Chris Houston sings away a cloudy day with his brand new six string, outside the Student Union.

Student busted for possession of marijuana

By PRESTON P. FORMAN
Collegian Staff

Police were called to Baker Residence Hall early yesterday morning after a strong marijuana odor was reported. Officers subsequently arrested Michael W. Condon, 21, of Marston Mills, for possession of a Class D substance.

LARCENY

- Staff of John Adams Residence Hall reported Friday that a washing machine on the third floor was broken into and money stolen. No estimate was available.
- A man in Cashin Residence Hall reported his 10-speed bike was stolen Friday. The bike was valued at $214.

ARRESTS

- A motor vehicle stop Saturday on Massachusetts Ave. for no inspection sticker resulted in the arrest of Rony M. Henry, 20, of Sharon, on an outstanding warrant held by the MDC Police in Boston.
- Melanie M. Mann, 22, of West Stockbridge, was arrested Saturday for operating under the influence of alcohol.
- Donald Dominique, 21, of Brooklyn, NY, for arrested Saturday for operating after suspension of license.
- Michael P. Shea, 20, of Hyannis, was arrested Saturday in Lot 50 for being a minor carrying alcohol.
- Thomas S. Signorello, 19, of Chelmsford, and Eugene T. Schwamb, 19, also of Chelmsford, were arrested Saturday for being minors in possession of alcohol.
- James J. Driscoll, Jr., 19, of James Residence Hall, was arrested Saturday for operating after suspension.
- A stop Sunday for an illegal U-turn at the intersection of Massachusetts Ave. and Commowealth Ave. resulted in the arrest of Kenneth D. Hambleton, 20, of Sunderland for operating after suspension.
- Karl M. Runte, 20, of West Springfield, was arrested Sunday for operating under the influence and being a minor transporting alcohol.
- Rehoboth, Mass. police arrested David A. Costa, 23, of Attleboro, on a University of Massachusetts police warrant for motor vehicle charges on Sunday.

A call for strengthening the LBG

Gay Rights Speaker suggests considering ethnic concerns

By CHRIS MUTHER
Colegian Staff

People should be aware of different races within the lesbian, bisexual and gay community in order to strengthen the community as a whole and increase sensitivity according to Vic Hernandez, a representative of the gay rights group ACT.

Speaking in the Campus Center yesterday as part of Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual Awareness Week, Hernandez said people of color who are also lesbian, bisexual and gay have additional hardships because they have difficulties identifying with their ethnic background in addition to the gay culture.

"The struggles and hardships of homosexuals who are also people of color are seldom recognized and tools of support are rarely recognized," he said.

No matter what ethnicity a person is, Hernandez said racism will be encountered, adding that education is the most important way to combat all forms of "homoracism."

"Understanding doesn't necessarily mean you agree with someone, it just means you're willing to listen and build trust," he said. "In order to get people to think, you need to arm them with education."

One way to get people to open up and understand issues is increased dialogue, Hernandez said. People should not be afraid to talk about issues that are important.

"People are ignorant because no one is talking about gay people of color and there is no vocabulary that people of color agree on," he said.

The term "minority" is not accurate, Hernandez said, because there are many catagories under the division. The language "serves to disarm networking and creates divisions that serve no purpose other than to build distrust and alienation," he said.

He said everybody has a different concept of their own ethnicity. People identify with some parts of their background and not others, while they also identify with other cultures and ethnic backgrounds, he said.

"The issues of language, ethnic difference, misunderstanding, homophobia and sexism wreak havoc for many gay and lesbian persons of color,' Hernandez said.

People of color have the difficulty of first working out the problems with their race and then work out being lesbian, bisexual or gay, he said.

Many times this leads to feelings of alienation because people feel they do not fit in with either group and as a result commit "ethnocide," surpressing certain ethnic characteristics in order to fit in, Hernandez said.

Tokenism is also a problem within ethnic groups, Hernandez said, because often gay organizations will "all but ignore" people of color, accept for appeasement. He said to remedy the problem, supressed groups need to start networking, refuse to accept social indignities and make themselves visable.

Profs question role of women managers

By LAVINIA GAMMON
Collegian Correspondent

Women don't fit the mold of top management which is perfectly fine, according to a University of Massachusetts School of Management professor, but what they are trying to do is break the mold.

"Right now women in management are women fit into *man*agement," Linda Smircich said.

Smircich and Marta Calas, also a UMass School of Management professor, gave an inconclusive presentation entitled: "Is a Woman-Centered Theory of Management Possible?" at Smith College last night.

The presentation is the first in the series: "Gender, Authority, and Leadership" sponsored by the Smith College Project on Women and Social Change.

Smircich and Calas's presentation questioned what role women do and should play in today's world of management.

Smircich and Calas attempted to design a theory that would fit today's changing management world. They wanted this theory to provide an acceptable way for professional women to reach the top of the managerial corporate ladder without compromising their feminine identity.

This problem in today's management world brought Smircich and Calas to pose the question: "What kind of organization and managment theory is appropriate for current conditions in society?"

They offered the audience four theories that created different managerial environments to answer the question. They refuted the theories saying they did not improve the situation of today's management.

"Right now there is not a theory that fits today's changing and diverse society," Smircich and Calas both said.

This conclusion left the audience slightly confused, but Smircich and Calas opened the floor to discussion so they could clarify their presentation.

The audience of about 70 women and four men asked questions attempting to solidify the theories. Smircich and Calas did not give concrete answers to the questions because they were trying to stress that at this time there are no conclusive solutions.

"We don't have all the answers," Smircich said.

Calas added:"If we did, we would be so arrogant we wouldn't be giving this presentation."

Limited Introductory Offer

WHEN YOU JOIN ACES, GET
Up To 50% Off Discount Shopping
Cash Bonus Travel Program
Up To $3,000 In Savings

CITIBANK

ACES
AMERICAN COLLEGIATE EXCLUSIVE SERVICES
MEMBERSHIP CARD
73 945 2245 9
I.M. STUDENT
4/2/91
EXPIRATION DATE

PLUS. . . An Opportunity To

Get A Major
Credit Card
In Your Name

ACES is a nationwide discount club for college students. As a member of ACES you will receive many time-saving and dollar-saving benefits, as well as an application from Citibank for a Citibank MasterCard or VISA Card, with credit based on your signature alone.* Even if you already have a credit card or do not want to apply for one, you still receive all of ACES' benefits for only $14.

- Discount Shopping—save up to 50% off respected manufacturers' list prices on over 250,000 top quality, brand name products; low price guarantee included.
- National Discount Book—with over 1,000 discount offers worth more than $3,000 in savings on hundreds of national and regional services like theatres, auto rentals, lodging, meals and special attractions across the USA including United Artists, Hertz, Holiday Inn, Sheraton, Six Flags, and Busch Gardens.
- Bonus Travel—reservations through this toll-free service automatically entitle you to the lowest airline fares available on scheduled flights; full service travel agency; up to 15% bonus discounts on many hotel and motel stays and three Cash Bonuses:
  - on scheduled airline ticket purchases
  - on the cost of lodging at every hotel or motel in the U.S.
  - on car rentals

ACT NOW! THE SOONER YOU JOIN, THE SOONER YOU CAN BEGIN RECEIVING THE BENEFITS OF ACES MEMBERSHIP! Introductory offer expires 4/30/90.

Money Back
Guarantee If
You Are
Not Satisfied.

ACES
AMERICAN COLLEGIATE EXCLUSIVE SERVICES

ELIGIBILITY CONTINUES AFTER GRADUATION

☐YES, enroll me as a member of ACES (American Collegiate Exclusive Services) and rush my membership benefits and bank credit card application. Money back guarantee if I am not satisfied.

☐YES, enroll me as a member of ACES so I can enjoy all the benefits, but do not send me a bank card application.

(please type or print clearly)
Your name ____________
Home address ____________
City ____________ State ______ Zip ______
Address at College ____________
Street or box ____________
City ____________ State ______ Zip ______
Phone: School ( ) ________ Home ( ) ________
Date of birth ___/___/___ Major ________ Class of 19___

$14.00 Annual Membership Fee enclosed: [ ] check [ ] money order
DO NOT SEND CASH
Bill credit card #____________ [ ] VISA [ ] MCard [ ] AmEx
Name as it appears on card ____________
Expiration date ____________
Cardholder's Signature ____________

SEND TO: ACES
300 Frank Burr Blvd., Teaneck, New Jersey 07666
(201) 836-5920

You must be 18 or older and attending a four-year college to become a member.

____________ Signature ______ Date

*Membership in ACES does not automatically guarantee the issuance of a credit card. Applications for bank credit cards will be considered by the issuing bank. If you are accepted, you will be billed separately by the bank for its annual cardmember fee, which is determined by the issuing bank.

ACES

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the University unless otherwise noted.

Biases continue to prevail

VMI — Better Dead Than Coed

While the U.S. military has made strides to achieve some semblance of sexual equality in its ranks, it still has a long way to go.

Though there was a bill introduced in Congress calling for a four-year experiment where women will be allowed to engage in combat, strong biases continue to prevail.

Meredith O'Brien

Cadets in the Virginia Military Institute, for instance, consider themselves engaged in an on-going "war." The "war" is the struggle with women's groups to deny females entrance into the Institute.

A public institute that is funded with tax payer's money, VMI has continued to decry that if women were allowed to be cadets, the Institute would crumble and die. They would destroy the camaraderie. Women would wreck everything.

A senior at VMI recently told Newsweek magazine that, "There's a feeling of brotherhood. Women would drive a wedge of division between us."

In March, the Justice Department filed a civil rights suit against VMI to force them to admit women into its corp of cadets.

The chairman of the Institute's Citadel, the governing body, said, "If we admit women, our uniqueness will no longer exist. We'll become just another institution."

VMI administrators insist that their style of vigorous and sometimes brutal methods of training cadets would have to be eliminated if women were there. Example of techniques that would be in danger are:

- The infamous "rat line," which forces new cadets to live in a foreboding building with no phones, televisions, no curtains on the windows and no locks on the doors;
- "Sweat parties" where upperclassmen force new cadets to exercise until they collapse; and
- The practice of continually denigrating and harassing new cadets, stripping them of their humility and pride.

Not that any person in their right mind would want to attend such a ridiculously harsh and conformist Institute. But if they do, it is their right to do so.

Despite all of the so-called "traditions" that would be lost if women were allowed entrance, a publicly-funded establishment has no business taking our money and spending it with sexist (or racist) dogmas in mind.

Whether VMI likes it or not, they will have to swallow their sexist, machismo male pride and be forced to admit women.

It was not very long ago that these narrow-minded institutions had the notion that if Blacks, Jews or other minorities were admitted into their ranks, their "traditional way of life" would be destroyed.

Well, maybe tradition isn't all it's cracked up to be. Our nation's history is permeated by traditions of every negative and violent "ism" that exists.

Dare a "tradition" be purged for ostensible equality?

VMI has considered whether it should make the move into the private sector so it cannot be forced to admit those pesky women, but tabled the idea due to a lack of funds.

But should an institution, public or private, be allowed to discriminate in order to preserve its "sanctity?" Should the owners of institutions be allowed to choose who works for them, attends their school or shops in their store?

Even colleges and institutions that are set up to aid those who have been historically oppressed discriminate. How can we point to traditionally oppressive institutions and cry sexism or racism while taking part in another form of discrimination?

Discrimination against anyone is wrong, but a world without discrimination will only be found in a utopia.

Meredith O'Brien is a Collegian columnist

Renters must heed legal advise

I am presently entering into a legal dispute that may interest many of my fellow UMass students, particularly those who are renting apartments in the area.

Reading the Student Rights Advocate last semester, I discovered that my apartment was being billed illegally for the rental of a hot water heater and by our landlord for town water and sewer fees which they had already paid.

According to the Student Rights Advocate (October 1989), the State Sanitary Code "requires a landlord to provide the facilities to heat and hot water without exception. . .and to provide water and sewer services, and makes no provision for shifting the costs of such services to the tenant."

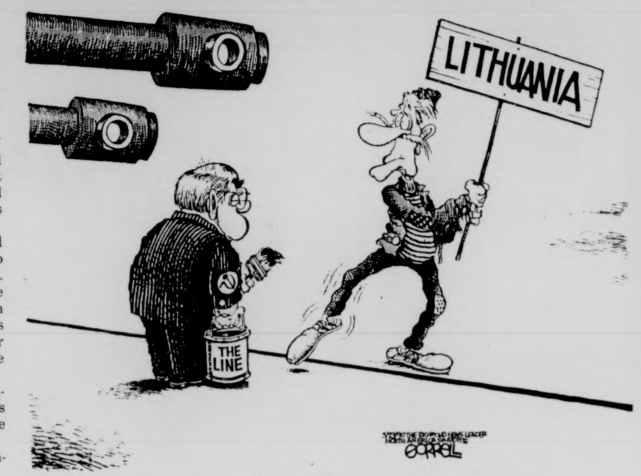
The lease we signed included the payment of these utilities, but according to Massachusetts General Laws (Chapter III, Section 127K), a landlord who includes these terms is in violation of the Consumer Protection Act.

I wrote a letter to my landlord, D.H. Jones, explaining our refusal to pay for these utilities. Not only did they not back down, but they spat in the face of the town of Amherst.

In the words of Joan B. Archambault, property manager for D.H. Jones, "The town of Amherst has interpreted [the Sanitary Code] to mean that the landlord must also pay for [the facilities for water and sewer and hot water]. We are in disagreement with the Town's position. As far as we are concerned, the water and sewer charges and hot water heater bills are still due and payable by you and your roommates."

Please try to keep a close eye on your landlords, because something is rotten at 31 Pray Street. I refuse to let my landlord take advantage of me and my housemates, and I sincerely hope that anyone else who is being taken advantage of loses no time in getting down to UMass Legal Services to take immediate action.

Stephen Johnson
Amherst



The game's almost over

Many seniors I've talked to think this is a fitting description of our final months at the University of Massachusetts:

It's like we're the UMass basketball team of a couple years ago, down by 35 with four minutes to play. We know how the game is going to end, but we have to play those last few minutes.

David R. Mark

For some, of course, it could be like the UMass team of this year, up by 35 against St. Bonaventure, etc., etc.

The worst thing: seniors who like my analogy aren't sure which of the above teams they'd play for.

For some, the game will go into overtime — graduate school — and those students will have a chance to win or lose the game all over again.

***

Before this game ends, however, I hope some things get done here at UMass.

I was talking to Senate Speaker John Dunlap the other day and asked why no one has suggested memorial scholarships in the names of Sharon Galligan and Joel Mangion. In the four years I've been here, the SGA has said they have been misunderstood — that they really work hard on behalf of the students. Here's a chance for them to prove it.

If every senator were able to raise one hundred dollars, then the SGA would be able to provide several students each year with 1,000-dollar scholarships. What better way is there to work for the students, while at the same time honoring two late members of our community?

***

In a same vein of working together for a better UMass in these final minutes, thanks to the seniors who are currently pledging money to benefit the library. Through Sunday, more than 20,000 dollars had been pledged for an endowment to help buy 1,650 periodicals the library had to cut from its budget because of the budget cuts. Last year, the seniors raised 40,000 dollars for another worthy cause on campus. This year's seniors should top that number easily.

For the seniors who weren't able to give, hopefully you'll find it in your hearts to give as alumni.

The kickoff for the drive to benefit the library was at a party for seniors last Thursday in the Campus Center. The party was fun, and the drinks and music and talk were good. The feelings of sentiment were bad. The whole time we were partying (and especially after my third fuzzy navel) I felt like I was at a high school reunion.

I felt like a relic.

How many days are there until graduation? Any way we could slow this UMass thing down?

***

For those seniors opting for the graduate school game (and feeling the rejection blues), top this: I've applied to 60 newspapers for a position as an entry-level reporter. To date, I've had five papers talk with me, another five that claim they are interested (though not hiring me this year) and about 35 that have rejected me, some because they weren't hiring, others because. . .

Well, I don't really know why.

I've had days when I was rejected by four papers. It's enough to make one have a panic attack, but I take it in stride. Somebody will want me somewhere. Hopefully, if you're in a similar boat, you'll come to the same conclusion.

We can all be winners if we work hard and remain optimistic.

David R. Mark is a Collegian columnist

Women in combat roles pose questions on equality of sexes

Congresswoman Patricia Schroeder (D-Colorado) is currently pushing a proposal to have the military forces of the United States conduct a four-year experiment in which the prohibition against women serving in combat roles would be lifted.

I have noticed a small amount of discussion about this proposal. However, I am frankly surprised that there has not been a great deal more. Ms. Schroeder's proposal penetrates to the very heart of the debate over equal rights for women.

Why is it that societies dominated by men have proliferated throughout history all over the world? Could it be because it is men, for the most part, who fight and die to provide society with protection and security?

The Trojan warrior Sarpedon in Homer's Iliad asks, "Why is it you and I (both men) are honored before others with pride of place, the choice meats and filled wine cups in Lykia, and all men look on us as if we were immortals. . .?" Sarpedon answers that it is because "these are no ignoble men who are lords of Lykia. . . since they fight in the forefront."

Further evidence that superior warriors attain preeminent social positions comes from the testimony of a 16th century Brazilian chief to the French aristocrat Montaigne. Montaigne asked to be told about what the privileges were of a chief in their country. The Indian, himself a chief, said: "He's the first man to march off to war."

Russell Skelton

These examples are far from contemporary. Yet with regard to the relationship between society and its military institutions, has there been much substantial change between them and now?

Can women have truly equal social status with men, even be rulers, if they are not allowed to fight and die in combat? If the answer to this question is no and the aim of providing equality of the sexes is worthy of pursuit, then it seems that Ms. Schroeder's proposal should be enacted.

The nature of the proposed experiment is such that it is not without risk though. Inclusion of women in combat roles may appreciably enhance or detract from the strength of America's military, or it may have no significant impact at all.

Are we, who depend upon our military for protection and security, then willing to expose ourselves to whatever danger may arise should the inclusion of women in combat roles actually be a significant impairment?

Assuming for the time being that the answer to this question is yes, there seem to be other issues which should be addressed. Should women be integrated into combat units with men? Some argue that such an arrangement would weaken the strength of the units, because the men would pay more attention than they should to protecting the women and not enough to defeating their enemy. Perhaps combat units composed only of women should be formed to avoid this possible problem?

One other thorny question is the overall international state of affairs under which this experiment would take place. Should provision be made to abort the experment if American military forces are called upon to engage in substantial combat operations?

Ms. Schroeder's proposal touches upon elemental issues in the area of equality of the sexes.

Her proposal deserves to be vigorously and thoroughly discussed and debated.

Russell Skelton is a Collegian correspondent

Welcome to the IBM PS/2 Fair
IBM
IBM
IBM
IBM
STATE
hogarth

Come to the IBM PS/2® Fair. Have some fun with the IBM Personal System/2.® Try it—see how you can get more done in less time. Then ask about:

- easy-to-use, preloaded software
- special student prices*
- affordable loan payments*

PS/2 it!

The IBM PS/2 Fair is a fun way to learn some valuable lessons for college and beyond.

Don't miss the IBM PS/2 Fair!
On campus, April 3 and 4 in the Campus Center from 9:00 a.m. — 4:00 p.m.

UNIVERSITY STORE

ARTS & LIVING

British comedy plays for laughs

By ANTONIA MAGUIRE
Collegian Correspondent

When the late Stephan Joseph asked Alan Ayckbourn to write Relatively Speaking he asked him for "a play which would make people laugh when their seaside summer holidays were spoiled by rain and they came into the theater to dry off before trudging back to their landladies."

I'm not sure about the landladies but Ayckbourn certainly succeeded in writing a hilarious farcical adventure into the lives and loves of four Brits which would keep the soggiest of sightseers in smiles.

The fast moving action of this play starts in the London apartment of Ginny — a single woman in her mid-twenties. She is supposed to be going to visit her parents in their country home and is leaving behind her sulky boyfriend Greg for the day. The hints that something is amiss start early in the play when Greg discovers a pair of slippers under the bed which clearly do not belong to him. An abundance of flowers and the discovery of numerous boxes of chocolates in the apartment lead Ginny into some very unconvincing cover-up lies and Greg into an even bigger sulk, as he convinces himself that there is someone else in her life.

In his desperation he follows her by train out to the address that she claims is her parents. Needless to say she is not going to her parents house, but to sort out a personal matter which may or may not have to do with the mysterious pair of slippers.

From here the play ascends into the realms of the truly comic, as the mistaken identities of the four become even more mistaken and the dialogue enters the truly absurd. The play ends with a romantic triangle gone truly awry, with still no clue as to who owns the slippers.

Photo by Stephen Long

Relatively Speaking opens tonight.

Often described as the "English Neil Simon," Ayckbourn's command of comic characterisation and his verbal virtuosity make Relatively Speaking a classic of British humor.

Relatively Speaking will be performed in the Curtain Theater of the Fine Arts Center April 3-7 at 8 p.m. There will be a Saturday matinee on April 7 at 2 p.m. Admission is $4 for the general public and $3 for students and senior citizens. Tickets are available at the Fine Arts Center Box Office 545-2511.

GLB show a success

By RICH BAILEN
Collegian Correspondent

GLB Coffee House
Bluewall
Sunday, April 1

Monica Grant, a talented singer/songwriter who combines humor and song to explore issues relevant to the lesbian, bisexual, gay community, was featured in the Bluewall this past Sunday night.

Grant, who hails from the West Coast, has been touring various women's festivals on her first tour of the Northeast. She started her skit with a humorous monologue that entertained all.

"I have a hard time with relationships. There's a point when you gain consciousness," she said.

Grant then donned her acoustic guitar and played a funny and insightful six-song set. The songs dealt with such topics as coming out to family members, a lover leaving to date and eventually marry someone of the opposite sex and a tribute to politically correct wannabees.

Grant ended her performance with the sing-a-long "At the Sperm Bank," sung to the tune of "Under the Boardwalk." Grant's performance was engaging and the crowd appreciated her wry wit and bold dealing with important issues in a humorous tone.

UMass students Tony Nunes and Paul Specht started things off with a funny sketch about two men who meet through a dating service and encounter initial discomfort in trying to get to know each other. Each came to the initial meeting with a questionnaire in hand and the result was a hilarious confrontation. To both men's dismay, they discover that their meeting was accidental, for the names on the questionnaire were for someone else. But they both decide they'd like to meet again.

Also performing were poet Kol, singers Joyce and Justina and singer M'Liss from Indigo.

DELANO'S
57 North Pleasant Street
253-5141
APRIL
BEER OF THE MONTH
Miller Genuine Draft $1.25
DRINK OF THE WEEK
Captain Morgan & Coke $1.75
Featuring Jell-o Shots Thurs., Fri., & Sat. Nights!
Proper Identification a Must

BANDS WANTED!
FOR SO. WEST WEEK '90
MAY 1-4
APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE:
THE SWAG OFFICE
545-0960
SOUTHSIDE ROOM
HAMPDEN STUDENT CENTER
* APPLICATIONS DUE: MONDAY, APRIL 9th *
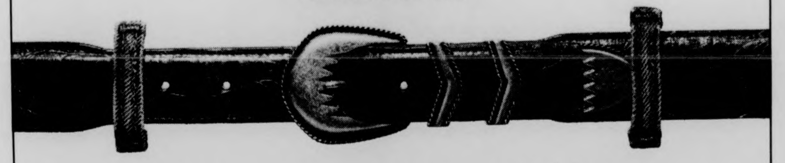
ANOTHER SWAG PRODUCTION



Look out below

It's time you gave yourself a GSE™

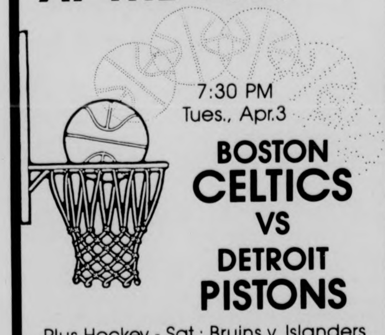
If you're sexually active, you should know about the GSE. GSE stands for genital self-examination. It's a simple examination you can give yourself to check for any signs or symptoms of a sexually transmitted disease. Send for your free GSE Guide today. Because when it comes to sexual relationships, there are some important things to look out for.

To receive your free GSE Guide, simply fill out and return the coupon or call, toll-free, 1-800-234-1124.

Sponsored by Burroughs Wellcome Co. in conjunction with the American Academy of Dermatology, the American Academy of Family Physicians, the American College of General Practitioners in Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery, the American College Health Association, the American Osteopathic Association, and the American Social Health Association

Copr © 1989 Burroughs Wellcome Co. All rights reserved.

For your free GSE Guide, fill out this coupon and mail to: GSE, P.O. Box 4088, Woburn, MA 01888-4088
Name (please print)
Address
City State ZIP
☐ English version ☐ Spanish version
Are you over 18 years of age? ☐ Yes ☐ No
GSE GUIDE
CN



CATCH THE TOP AT THE TOP!
7:30 PM
Tues., Apr.3
BOSTON CELTICS VS DETROIT PISTONS
Plus Hockey - Sat.: Bruins v. Islanders at 7:30; Sun.: Bruins v. Whalers at 7:00
TOP of the CAMPUS LOUNGE
Monday-Friday
11:30 a.m. to 12:30 a.m.
Saturday & Sunday
5:00 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.
11th FLOOR CAMPUS CENTER

WOMEN'S ISSUES

Student tells of placing her baby for adoption

By AMY HENRY
Collegian Staff

The following is an interview with a woman who placed her child for adoption. The woman did not wish to be identified and will be referred to as Laura.

Laura, a University of Massachusetts student made a very difficult decision in January, 1989.

Laura found out she was pregnant and she knew from the beginning that she would place the child for adoption.

Being an adopted child made her realize that her biological mother could not offer her as much time and love as a mother who was prepared to be a parent. She said this helped her make the decision to put her child up for adoption.

"We (she and her boyfriend) both felt at this point in life we weren't ready to give the baby what it needed,"she said.

In September of 1989, Laura gave birth at Cooley Dickinson Hospital in Northampton. She had been going to UMass full-time and she went to school the day the child was delivered.

> "Immediately when someone knows that you've placed a child for adoption it is assumed that you're pro-life. I particularly feel that as a feminist having the choice is what being a woman is about."
> – Laura

When it came time to place the child for adoption at the United Way of Springfield, Laura was able to have an unusually personal part in the picking of the parents of her child.

She studied profiles of couples looking for characteristics such as stability, security and a sense of family.

Laura said a woman interested in becoming the new mother of her child wrote her a letter that told about her and her husband's values, hobbies and life experience.

She said the couple had traveled around the world and seemed to be educated.

Laura chose the couple and later met with the woman who would become her child's mother.

"Meeting the mother alleviates wondering every time I see a woman with her baby if it is ours," she said.

Laura said she was very distraught when she left her child at the nursery to be given to the new family.

"I felt like someone was taking my heart out and smashing it into a million pieces," she said.

"It was the hardest thing I've ever had to do in my life," she said.

It is taking her a long time to heal from the decision she made.

"I am content with my decision although at times it seems very overwhelming,"she said.

An adoption can be a very political decision, Laura said.

"Immediately when someone knows that you've placed a child for adoption it is assumed that you're pro-life," she said. "I particularly feel that as a feminist having the choice is what being a woman is about."

Laura said adoption has been given negative connotations by the press and media.

"There is an emphasis on having your own child as opposed to adopting," she said. "Genetic engineering has influenced and is an outcome of this."

Laura is planning to double major in psychology and women's studies.

"This whole incident made me much more aware of women's roles, and place in society," she said.

Laura said that ever since the placement she has been a lot more academically motivated.

"I have been given a lot of motivation to succeed and be more assertive," she said.

Laura said she is not worried about her daughter's future with her new family.

"I know that she has a wonderful family and life of opportunity," she said. "I think that adoption for some women can be a very viable alternative."

Free pregnancy counseling offered

By DIANE OLEVSKY
Collegian Correspondent

Located discreetly underneath Logos Bookstore at 190 Main street, Northampton is "Alternatives," a free pregnancy counseling center.

Carol Soules, executive director of the center, said it opened in 1987 as a result of the abundance of female college students and career women in the area who needed the support and services "Alternatives" offers.

The 25 volunteer-counselors are trained to examine all the issues involved with having and keeping a baby such as adoption, abortion and attaining financial support to keep the baby.

"We recognize that the decision in this matter is the woman's decision," Soules said. "We respect the individual's rights and beliefs. All information presented is factual and is presented with love and compassion for the individual's situation."

"We are not here to rally around the political issues, just to help people," she said.

The center primarily supports women who had unplanned pregnancies. Parents, boyfriends and others involved can also benefit from the services offered by Alternatives.

Services offered by the center include: pregnancy tests, counseling on a person's options, childbirth classes, new parent groups, assistance with housing, referrals and post abortion counseling.

"Whatever decision a person makes they will be able to better live with it if they have grappled with all of the options," Soules said.

The center offers several pamphlets and videos about child development beginning at the time of conception.

"Until recently we mainly saw people of college age, but because of the state cutbacks in teen services we have seen more teens lately," Soules said.

"We often see women in their second or third trimester who have just been hit with the reality of impending birth staring them in the face and just need someone to talk to," said Soules.

Soules has a Master's Degree in social work and is a licensed independent social worker with her own private practice.

Some of her job requirements include heading publicity, fundraising, reviewing records, and referring clients.

Alternatives is open Monday through Saturday, with evening hours Monday and Thursday. Appointments can be made at 586-3000.

Abortion fund aids women

By LAVINIA GAMMON
Collegian Staff

As abortion remains a central issue in American society, groups such as the Abortion Rights fund of Western Massachusetts, dedicated to ensuring that abortion remains financially accessible to all women, are emerging throughout the United States.

The Abortion Rights Fund offers interest free loans to financially needy women seeking abortions.

"The fund really steps in where funding is not available," said Susan Lowensteine a head coordinator of the group.

The fund began in the spring of 1987, when Sarah Buttenweiser, the group's phone and loan operator, and Marlene Freide, the fund's coordinator, became aware that even though abortion is legal it is not available to all women, Buttenweiser said.

"If you don't have the money for an abortion, then abortion is essentially illegal to you" she said.

A woman went to Buttenweiser and Freide needing money for an abortion, they said. This woman had been told that the two might be able to help her, and enough money was raised for a loan.

"We felt at that moment it became clear to us that even with Medicaid many women still needed funding." Buttenweiser said.

The fund has about 20 members and raised $25,000 in individual donations, which was loaned to women seeking abortions.

The group works solely on donations from private citizens, sometimes in large amounts but often in gifts of $10 or $20. The group's staff is entirely volunteer, said Lowensteine.

"We don't get any money from this, we just want to make sure that abortion is accessible to every women," said Lowensteine.

Once a year the group does a mail solicitation to raise money. Benefit concerts and auctions have also raised a lot of money for the fund, she said.

Since the organizers assumed their loans would not always be paid back, they have constantly sought new donations, Lowensteine said.

"We have a form that makes the loan look official, and the women are supposed to pay us back, but most don't," she said.

The fund donates $2,000 to family planning for free pregnancy testing. The organizers co-sponsor a post abortion support group at the University of Massachusetts with the Everywoman's Center. They also offer safe escort to abortion clinics in Springfield.

"We decided we wanted to take more action than just funding," said Lowensteine.

"These other services back up what we do," she said.

Women are referred to the Abortion Rights Fund of Western Massachusetts by abortion clinics, Buttenweiser said.

She assesses each woman's financial situation to ensure that other sources will not pay for her abortion. Buttenweiser said, if no other route for payment is found the fund sends a check to the abortion clinic for the amount of the services needed.

Lowensteine said she has seen many women in America not eligible for Medicaid, and without insurance or enough money for an abortion.

"If you're working poor you're up the creek," said Lowensteine.

She said the fund has helped over 100 women in its three years of operation.

Women's Issues needs women with alternative perspectives

Women's Forum

Tuesday, April 3, 1990
Benefit— Itabari Njeri, writer for L.A. Times, will read from her novel "Every Good-bye Ain't Gone", at 7:30 p.m. at UMass's Memorial Hall. The Jeffery Amherst bookshop will donate 10 percent of sales from Njeri's book to the UMass Everywoman's Center and the battered women's center Necessities/Necesidades.

Tuesday, April 3, 1990
"Glass Ceiling, Revolving Door or Springboard: Corporations and Women in the Nineties"— a panel discussion from 9:00am to 11:00 a.m. at Smith College's Neilson Library Browsing Room.

Wednesday, April 4, 1990
"Medical Careers for Women"— A lecture followed by a discussion at 7:30 p.m. in the Campus Center room 903.

Lecture— on the affects of pornography and misogyny will be held at Butterfield Hall at 7:30 p.m. This is sponsored by the Van Meter Women's Center

Thursday, April 5, 1990
Clay Lady Productions presents Ronnie Gilbert at the Iron Horse at 7:00 p.m.

Friday, April 6, 1990
Take Back the Night March— a women's rally to protest violence agaist women is at 6:00 p.m. at the UMass Student Union.
The men will rally at 7:00 p.m. at Amherst college's Red Room. Men will join women for a vigil at the Amherst Common at 8:00 p.m.

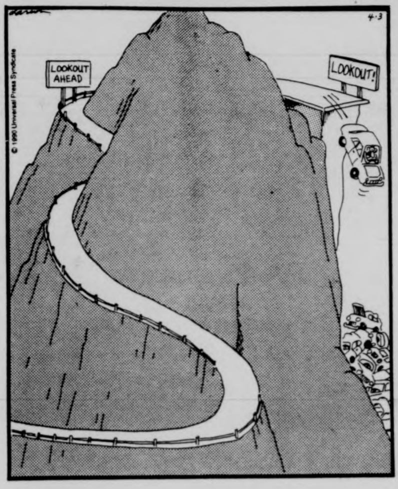
"Breaking Silences: An abortion Speak-Out"— Women who have had abortions, illegal and legal, will talk about their experiences, at Hampshire College's Franklin Patterson Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Saturday, April 7, 1990
"Speaking out for Reproductive Freedom"— Activists discuss reproductive freedoms in the U.S. and internationally, from 9:00 a.m. to noon, at Hampshire College's Franklin Patterson Hall.

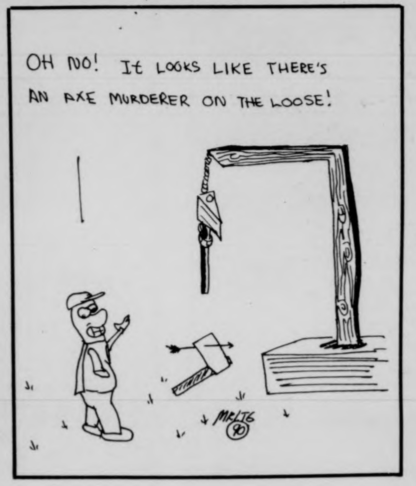
Sunday, April 8, 1990
Planning Meeting— At Hampshire College in Franklin Patterson Hall pro-choice activists will discuss future activities and sharing organizing experiences from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Announcements
If anyone is interested in joining an adoption support group contact the women's issues desk at the Collegian.

THE FAR SIDE
By GARY LARSON

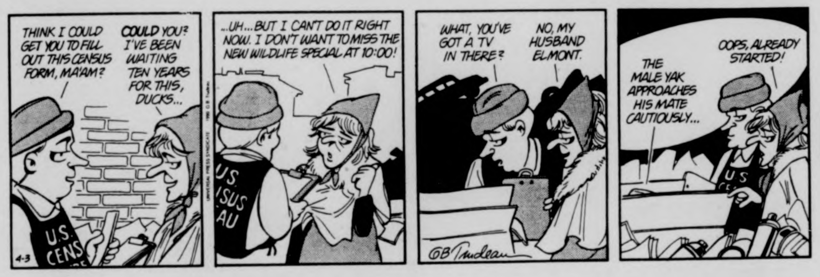


BONES IN THE BARREL
By J. GELLER & M. ROSENWEIG



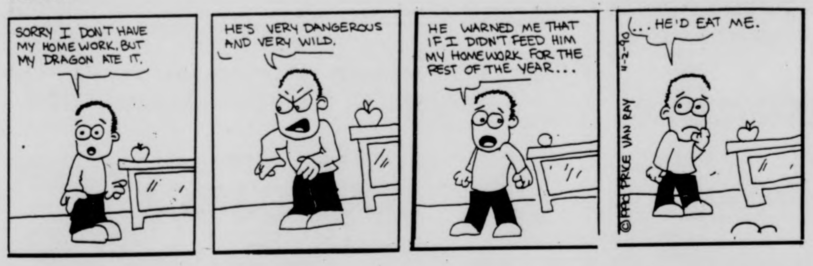
OH NO! It LOOKS LIKE THERE'S AN AXE MURDERER ON THE LOOSE!
MRLTG 90

DOONESBURY
By GARRY TRUDEAU



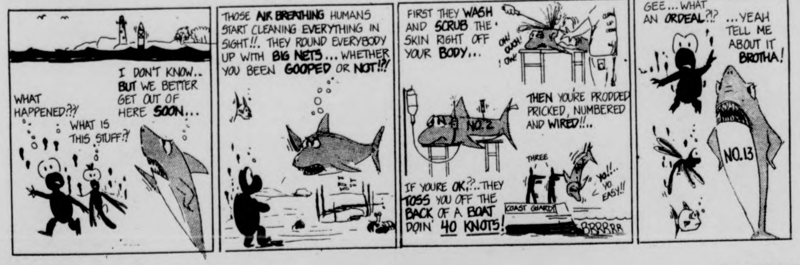
THINK I COULD GET YOU TO FILL OUT THIS CENSUS FORM, MA'AM?
COULD YOU? I'VE BEEN WAITING TEN YEARS FOR THIS, DUCKS...
U.S. CENS
4-3
...UH... BUT I CAN'T DO IT RIGHT NOW. I DON'T WANT TO MISS THE NEW WILDLIFE SPECIAL AT 10:00!
U.S. ISUS AU
WHAT, YOU'VE GOT A TV IN THERE?
NO, MY HUSBAND ELMONT.
GB Trudeau
THE MALE YAK APPROACHES HIS MATE CAUTIOUSLY...
OOPS, ALREADY STARTED!

PRICE
By PRICE VAN RAY



SORRY I DON'T HAVE MY HOMEWORK, BUT MY DRAGON ATE IT.
HE'S VERY DANGEROUS AND VERY WILD.
HE WARNED ME THAT IF I DIDN'T FEED HIM MY HOMEWORK FOR THE REST OF THE YEAR...
4-2-90
© PRICE VAN RAY
... HE'D EAT ME.

IGGMAN
By DREW AQUILINA



WHAT HAPPENED??!
WHAT IS THIS STUFF?!
I DON'T KNOW.. BUT WE BETTER GET OUT OF HERE SOON...
THOSE AIR BREATHING HUMANS START CLEANING EVERYTHING IN SIGHT!!. THEY ROUND EVERYBODY UP WITH BIG NETS... WHETHER YOU BEEN GOOPED OR NOT!?!
FIRST THEY WASH AND SCRUB THE SKIN RIGHT OFF YOUR BODY...
OH! OUCH! OW!
NO.2
THEN YOU'RE PRODDED PRICKED, NUMBERED AND WIRED!!..
IF YOU'RE OK;?.. THEY TOSS YOU OFF THE BACK OF A BOAT DOIN' 40 KNOTS!
THREE COAST GUARD
YO!!.. YO EASY!!
BRRRRR
GEE... WHAT AN ORDEAL?!?
...YEAH TELL ME ABOUT IT BROTHA!
NO.13

NIPPLE
By PITT

SKATER OF THE MONTH
I Can't Believe

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited By TRUDE MICHEL JAFFE

ACROSS
1 Riga native
5 Find the sum
10 Map
14 Long for 15 Extinguish
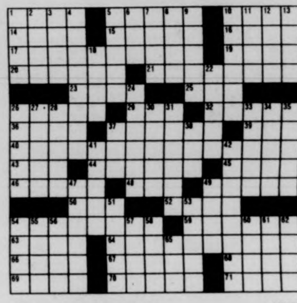
16 Bug
17 Describing diner fare
19 King of comedy
20 Dread
21 Lamb, for instance
23 Vexes
25 Palindromic animal
26 High
29 Fala, to FDR
32 Debate
36 Delhi garb
37 Prom attendee
39 Barbecue buttinsky
40 Diner fare
43 Siouan-speaker
44 Last
45 At an end, in Berlin
46 Hint
48 Red or Coral
49 Cooking utensil
50 Gibbon
52 "Man and Superman" playwright
54 Volunteer
59 Reddish-yellow
63 Hoodlum
64 Diner fare
66 Will's wife
67 La Douce et al.
68 Leave out
69 Roe or doe
70 Irish county
71 Thank-you —

DOWN
1 Tie down
2 Mimic
3 Mythical hammer-thrower
4 Great!
5 Love
6 Beetle
7 Cool cat
8 Applications
9 As such
10 Lord's —
11 Caron role
12 Too bad!
13 Pavilion
18 Legal matter
22 Oscar, for one
24 Pays out
26 Neckpiece
27 Actress Christine
28 Mythical hunter
30 Follow
31 Royal headwear
33 With joy
34 Aunt's husband
35 Heavens
37 Capitol Hill VIP
38 "A Chorus Line" song
41 Retains
42 "The —": 1967 J. Wayne flick
47 Type of dive
49 "M*A*S*H" cast member
51 Set of values
53 Word with mother or wife
54 Mild oath
55 Zip
56 Solitary
57 Actor James — Jones
58 Poet Lazarus
60 Verne captain
61 Courage
62 Villa d'—
65 Saloon

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

B	A	R	B	■	P	E	E	P	S	■	U	T	E	S
O	B	O	E	■	A	R	G	O	T	■	N	U	D	E
P	A	P	E	R	T	I	G	E	R	■	B	R	I	G
S	T	Y	L	E	T	■	S	T	E	P	I	N	T	O
■	■	■	I	L	E	S	■	S	A	I	N	T	■	■
U	P	I	N	A	R	M	S	■	M	E	D	U	S	A
M	O	N	E	Y	■	E	A	S	E	D	■	R	A	M
B	L	A	S	■	P	L	I	E	R	■	E	T	N	A
R	A	P	■	B	E	L	L	E	■	G	A	L	E	S
A	R	I	S	E	N	■	S	P	A	R	G	E	R	S
■	■	G	E	N	T	S	■	S	E	A	L	■	■	■
F	I	S	T	I	A	N	A	■	S	I	E	S	T	A
I	D	E	O	■	G	O	W	H	O	L	E	H	O	G
J	A	Y	S	■	O	R	L	O	P	■	Y	O	R	E
I	S	E	E	■	N	E	S	T	S	■	E	W	E	S

4/3/90



©1990 Los Angeles Times Syndicate 4/3/90

MENU

LUNCH	DINNER
Sloppy Joe Grilled turkey Swiss sandwich	Spaghetti/Italian sausage Fisherman's plate
BASICS LUNCH	BASICS DINNER
Tofu sloppy Joe Grilled turkey Swiss sandwich	Spaghetti/tofu balls Fisherman's plate

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
By JEANE DIXON

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Finances require careful handling. Back an emotional decision logical arguments. Spending more time with family members will bring you the affection and sympathy you seek.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You are entering a period of big changes. Grab every opportunity that comes your way. New professional alliances are indicated. Patience will help reduce stress in a personal relationship.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Happily, your energy level is highest in late morning. Schedule interviews and auditions accordingly. Mull over your long-term goals. Realize that, to forgive, you have to forget.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Heed your intuitive feeling about a monetary matter. Unusual ideas arouse the interest of important people. A promotion or pay raise is in the offering. Be very careful who you share confidences with.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A great day for career and business matters. Avoid haste. An influential higherup is impressed by your conservative approach. You meet someone new in the most unlikely place. Finances should be looking good.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): An aggressive manner pays off in business, but not in romance. Consideration and understanding are your greatest allies of the heart. Play your cards carefully. Loved one may be testing you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Get out and about today. Make the most of influential social contacts. The support of a prominent associate convinces you that are on the right track at last. Look ahead with confidence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be wary of too many coincidences where a financial matter is considered. Make a special effort to repay a past favor. A friend who discusses personal problems really wants sympathy, not advice.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A financial question must be resolved without delay. A creative project could boost your income. A creative project could boost your income. Get in touch with influential friends who might help you. A relationship needs overhauling.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A no-nonsense attitude will sit well with those who matter most right now. Give top priority to insurance and tax matters. A new friend pays you a well-dressed compliment. Accept it gracefully.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A work project should get top priority today. Curb an urge to rest on your laurels and daydream. A change of plans may irritate mate or partner. Explain the urgency of the situation.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A conversation with a warmhearted relative cheers you. Someone who cares will urge you to be more adventuresome. Think about it. Inspiration could come from an unusual experience. Romance is thrilling.

TODAY'S STAFF

Night Editor............................Beth Gately
Copy Editor.......................Will Georgiades
Layout Technician...................Rory Evans
Photo Technician.......................John Woo
Production Supervisor...........Tricia Hanley
Typesetter...............................Kim Frisino
Production............Mike Atkins, Jenna Dye, Jodi O'Rourke, Carolyn Mills

家酒園南湖
Hunan Garden
Restaurant
MANDARIN/SZECHUEN CUISINE

The Best Chinese Buffet

MANDARIN/SZECHUAN CUISINE
WE DELIVER IN AMHERST 5-9:30 EVERYDAY
Minimum $15 plus $2 delivery charge

BUFFET & SUNDAY BRUNCH
Buffet served 5-8 p.m. Sun.-Thurs.
Brunch served Sunday 11:30 a.m.-3 p.m.
NEW
ALL YOU CAN EAT $5.99
Children under 10 - $3.00

1) Hot and Sour Soup
2) Chicken Fingers
3) Chicken Wings
4) Vegetable Chow Mein
5) Pan Fried Ravioli
6) Beef with Green Peppers
7) House Special Chicken
8) Sweet and Sour Chicken
9) Roast Pork Fried Rice
10) Vegetable Fried Noodle
11) Chinese BBQ Pork
12) Broccoli with Oyster Sauce

ADVOCATE BEST of the VALLEY 1987

TAKE-OUT SERVICE—FULL COCKTAIL MENU
10 Belchertown Rd. at Rte. 9, Amherst 256-0252

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

Legal Services has positions available for legal assistant interns for the Fall 1990 semester. This is a challenging opportunity for students from a variety of majors and disciplines to gain valuable legal experience.

Responsibilities include:
- client interviewing
- attendance at hearings
- preparation of court forms
- maintenance of continuing caseload
- investigations and research

Legal-Services-Center
university of massachusetts, amherst, ma. 01003

Up to 15 credits may be earned. Apply early! Contact Legal Services, 922 Campus Center, 545-1995. Start the application process today!

LEGAL ASSISTANTS WANTED

Summer Conference Housing

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Summer Conference Housing coordinates dormitory housing for 8,000 - 10,000 conferees during June, July and August. Employment with SCH provides work experience in an academic setting, an introduction to the hospitality industry and an opportunity to earn money.

OVER FIFTY POSITIONS AVAILABLE!!
The job titles include:

Registrar
Operations Co-Supervisor
Accommodations Supervisor
Operations Crew Member
Office Manager
Key Control Supervisor
Desk Clerk

Salary Range: $5.25 - $6.25 Per Hour
Work Schedules: Part & full time openings available, including all shifts, weekdays and weekends

APPLICATIONS AND
GENERAL INFORMATION AVAILABLE
FROM MARCH 27, 1990 - APRIL 10, 1990
AT
The University Conference Services Office
918 Campus Center (Ninth Floor)

APPLICATIONS ACCEPTED UNTIL:
4 p.m., Tuesday, April 10, 1990

The University of Massachusetts is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer

BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN

WE ARE LOOKING TO FILL THE POSITION OF ASSISTANT MANAGER ON OUR STUDENT MANAGEMENT STAFF.

THE POSITION REQUIRES A MATURE, ENERGETIC AND FLEXIBLE PERSON WITH FOOD SERVICE EXPERIENCE.

JOB DESCRIPTIONS AND APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE THRU APRIL 10th AT BUTTERFIELD KITCHEN OFFICE, CLARK HILL ROAD

charlie's

1 Pray St., Amherst—549-5403 • Open 11 a.m.
7 Days A Week • Call for Take Out
Kitchen Open 'till midnight

New Game Room with 2 Pool Tables
Tonight 10¢ Buffalo Wings
9:00 PM - 12:00 AM

Drink of the Week:
Gin & Tonic $1.75

Beer of the Month:
Amstel Light $1.75

FOOD GIVE-A-WAYS
Mon. Night 10¢ Mozzarella Sticks 9-12
Wed. 25¢ Pizza Slices & 99¢ Nacho & Cheese Platters 9-12
Sunday Night 10¢ Potato Skins 9-12

THE
EDWIN M. ROSSMAN
ALUMNI CAREER FORUMS

ECONOMICS

DATE: WEDNESDAY, APRIL 4, 1990
TIME: 8:00 PM
LOCATION: CAMPUS CENTER 165-169

SPONSORED BY:
MATHER CAREER CENTER
ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS

This is an opportunity to meet with alumni and discuss their experiences in the working world. Don't miss this important panel discussion!

ALUMNI PANELISTS:

Mr. Richard Kobayashi B.A. UMass 1967, M.P.A. Northeastern 1975	Senior Program Manager for Planning Massachusetts Water Resources Authority Boston
Mr. Joseph Armstrong B.A. UMass 1984	Multifamily Specialist U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development Boston
Mr. Daniel Sanford B.A. UMass 1986	Survey Instructor Women's Technical Institute Boston
Mr. Robert Waddell B.A. UMass 1988	Account Control Administrator State Street Bank and Trust Co. Boston

For more information, please contact:
Mather Career Center
545-2224

HAPPY 21ST BIRTHDAY MEREDITH O.
Yipee!! Celebrate!!! with the big boys!!
AND HOW CAN WE FORGET
MIKE ATKINS (21)
TRICIA HAWLEY (20)

EAST HEAVEN TUB Co.
Luxurious Private Hot Tub
Room Rentals
33 West St. 586-6843 Northampton

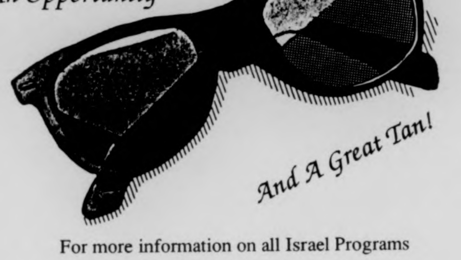
Ben's Service, Inc.
BY THE BRIDGE IN SUNDERLAND
dial 665-3344

Mass. Insp. #925
Certified Mechanic in:
Alignments, Shocks,
Tune-ups, Brakes, Lubes,
Mufflers, Batteries, Tires

BEN'S LOT

24½ HOUR Local - Long Distance
TOWING

Barre Tozloski



ISRAEL
A Land
A People
An Opportunity

And A Great Tan!

For more information on all Israel Programs
call:
1-800-27-ISRAEL or 212-750-7773
or write:
Israel Program Center/AZYF
515 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10022

Worried about your thesis or dissertation? We know you'll probably be up late, and so will we - we're open from 8 am till midnight, every Mon.-Friday, and we have convenient weekend hours too: Sat 9-5 & Sun 11-5. And our acid free paper is just one penny extra!

COLLECTIVE COPIES
COPIES IN A FLASH
256-6425
